7443	Hecht v. Components Int'l, Inc., 22 Misc. 3d 360, 370, 867 N.Y.S.2d 889, 899 (Sup. Ct. 2008)	29	Interference with information stored on a computer may give rise to trespass to chattel if plaintiff is dispossessed of the information or the information is impaired as to its condition, quality, or value. Restatement (Second) of Torts S 217 et seq.	Interference with information stored on a computer may give rise to trespass to chattel if plaintiff is dispossessed of the information or the information is impaired as to its condition, quality or value.	Can interference with information stored on a computer give rise to a trespass to chattel claim?

7445	Foremost Ins. Co. v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n of Missouri, 985 S.W.2d 793, 797 (Mo. Ct. App. 1998)	12	Trespass to a chattel may be committed by intentionally intermeddling with a chattel in the possession of another, and the intention required is present when an act is done for the purpose of using or otherwise intermeddling with a chattel or with knowledge that such an intermeddling will, to a substantial certainty, result from the act.	A trespass to a chattel may be committed by intentionally intermeddling with a chattel in the possession of another, and the intention required is present when an act is done for the purpose of using or otherwise intermeddling with a chattel or with knowledge that such an intermeddling will, to a substantial certainty, result from the act.	Does the tort of trespass to chattel require intentional conduct?
7446	Thurston Motor Lines v. Gen. Motors Corp., 258 N.C. 323, 325, 128 S.E.2d 413, 415 (1962)	2	In general cause or right of action accrues, so as to start running of statute of limitations, as soon as right to institute and maintain a suit arises.	In general a cause or right of action accrues, so as to start the running of the statute of limitations, as soon as the right to institute and maintain a suit arises, * * *.	Does a cause of action accrue as soon as the right to institute and maintain a suit arises?
7447	Webster v. Rushing, 316 So. 2d 111, 114 (La. 1975)	1	Affirmative defense raises new matter which, assuming allegations in petition to be true, constitutes defense to action and will have effect of defeating plaintiff's demand on its merits. LSA-C.C.P. arts. 1003, 1005; LSA-R.S. 13:3601(2).	An affirmative defense raises new matter which, assuming the allegations in the petition to be true, constitutes a defense to the action and will have the effect of defeating plaintiff's demand on its merits.	Will an affirmative defense have the effect of defeating the plaintiffs demand on merits?
7448	Greer v. Buzgheia, 141 Cal. App. 4th 1150, 1156 (2006)	4	A motion in limine is not expressly authorized by statute, but is within the trial court's inherent power to entertain and grant.	The motion in limine is not expressly authorized by statute, but is within the trial court's "inherent power to entertain and grant."	Is a motion in limine expressly authorized by statute or is it within the trial courts inherent power to entertain and grant such motions?
7449	CMS Energy Corp. v. Attorney Gen., 190 Mich. App. 220, 228, 475 N.W.2d 451, 455 (1991)	4	Public Service Commission had authority to fix and regulate reasonable rates, but it is not owner of regulated utility's property, and is not clothed with general power of management incident to ownership.	The PSC has authority to fix and regulate reasonable rates. However, the PSC is not the owner of a regulated utility's property, and the PSC is not clothed with the general power of management incident to ownership.	Is the Public Service Commission (PSC) clothed with the general power of management incident to ownership?
7450	CompuServe Inc. v. Cyber Promotions, 962 F. Supp. 1015, 1022 (S.D. Ohio 1997)	2	Plaintiff can sustain action for trespass to chattels, as opposed to action for conversion, without showing a substantial interference with its right to possession of that chattel.	A plaintiff can sustain an action for trespass to chattels, as opposed to an action for conversion, without showing a substantial interference with its right to possession of that chattel.	Can an action for trespass to chattels be sustained without showing a substantial interference with the right to possession?
7451	Morrow v. First Interstate Bank of Oregon, N.A., 118 Or. App. 164, 168 (1993)	2	In contrast to conversion, in which the interference with the chattel is so great that the actor can justly be required to pay its full value, the gist of the lesser claim of trespass to chattels is the disturbance of the plaintiff's possession.	In contrast to conversion, in which the interference with the chattel is so great that the actor can justly be required to pay its full value, Laursen v. Morris, 103 Or.App. 538, 543, 799 P.2d 648 (1990), rev. den. 311 Or. 150 (1991), the gist of the lesser claim of trespass to chattels is the disturbance of the plaintiff's possession.	Is trespass to chattels a lesser claim than the tort of conversion?

7452	Westinghouse Elec. Supply Co. v. Brookley, 176 Neb. 807, 819, 127 N.W.2d 465, 472 (1964)	7	Whether at law or in equity, cause of action arises only when aggrieved party has right to apply to proper tribunal for relief.	So whether at law or in equity, the cause of action arises when, and only when, the aggrieved party has a right to apply to the proper tribunal for relief.	Does cause of action arise only when aggrieved party has right to apply to proper tribunal for relief?
7454	In re Dow Corning Corp., 287 B.R. 396, 411 (E.D. Mich. 2002)	3	While there is presumption against extraterritorial application of United States law, that presumption does not apply in bankruptcy, if ignoring the bankruptcy court's orders would have substantial effects within United States.	The Court agrees that generally, there is a presumption against extraterritorial application of United States law as argued by the Australian Claimants. However, in the bankruptcy context, that presumption does not apply if ignoring the bankruptcy court orders would have "substantial effects within the United States."	"While there is presumption against extraterritorial application of United States law, does that presumption apply in bankruptcy?"
7455	Dewey v. Dewey, 163 Neb. 296, 296, 79 N.W.2d 578, 579 (1956)	3	Whether at law or in equity, cause of action arises when, and only when, the aggrieved party has the right to apply to the proper tribunal for relief.	So whether at law or in equity, the cause of action arises when, and only when, the aggrieved party has a right to apply to the proper tribunal for relief.	"Does cause of action arise when, and only when, the aggrieved party has the right to apply to the proper tribunal for relief?"
7456	Coconino Cty. v. Lewis, 76 Ariz. 88, 91, 259 P.2d 256, 258 (1953)	2	The office of clerk of court, whose duties are to keep records, enter judgments and orders as directed by court, issue process, and otherwise perform clerical work required by statute and required by court to keep its records, is essentially ministerial and not judicial.	The clerk's office is essentially ministerial and not judicial. His duties are to keep the records, enter judgments and orders as directed by the court, issue process, and otherwise perform the clerical work required by the statute and required by the court to keep its records.	What are the duties of a court clerk?
7459	Flacke v. Onondaga Landfill Sys., Inc., 127 Misc. 2d 984, 991, 487 N.Y.S.2d 651, 658 (Sup. Ct. 1985)	9	Where warrantless and unannounced inspections are necessary for effective enforcement of regulatory scheme, valid statute may serve as substitute for warrant.	In effect, where, as here, warrantless and unannounced inspections are necessary for effective enforcement of such a regulatory scheme, a valid statute may serve as a substitute for the warrant	"Can a statute serve as a valid substitute for a warrant, where warrantless and unannounced inspections are necessary?"
7461	Wilhite v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 150 W. Va. 747, 149 S.E.2d 273 (1966)	4	Mere fact that a product which is usually dispensed by or sold by a utility to the public is being furnished does not make every person, firm or corporation selling such product a public utility; if such product is sold under private contract and the seller does not hold himself out to sell such product to the public or render some service to the public he is not a "public utility". Code, 24-1-1.	Mere fact that a product which is usually dispensed by or sold by a utility to the public is being furnished does not make every person, firm or corporation selling such product a public utility; if such product is sold under private contract and the seller does not hold himself out to sell such product to the public or render some service to the public he is not a "public utility". Code, 24-1-1.	Does the mere fact of selling things ordinarily sold by public utilities render the seller a public utility?

7462	Application of Crusader Coach Lines, 213 Neb. 53, 54, 327 N.W.2d 98, 99 (1982)	6	Issue of public convenience and necessity is ordinarily one of fact and where there is evidence in record to sustain Public Service Commission's order, the Supreme Court cannot say that it is unreasonable and arbitrary.	The issue of public convenience and necessity is ordinarily one of fact, and where there is evidence in the record to sustain the Public Service Commission's order, this court cannot say that it is unreasonable and arbitrary.	Is the issue of public convenience and necessity one of fact?
7465	Samuel J. Lansberry v. Pennsylvania Pub. Util. Comm'n, 66 Pa. Cmwlth. 381, 387-88 (1982)	2	Where proposed common carrier services are different, inadequacy of existing service need not necessarily be established to secure a certificate of public convenience and necessity and proof of public necessity alone may support the certificate, but where the proposed services are identical to existing services, a showing of inadequacy is required. 66 Pa.C.S.A. SS 1103, 1103(a).	This distinction has dictated that, where the proposed services are different, inadequacy of existing service need not necessarily be established in order to secure a certificate of public convenience. Rather, proof of public necessity for the service alone may support the certificate. See Gettysburg Tours; Pennsylvania Railroad. But, where the proposed services are identical to existing 835 services, a showing of *388 inadequacy is required.	Should an applicant establish inadequacy of an existing service to secure a certificate of public convenience if the proposed service is different from the existing service?
7466	Wolters v. Am. Republic Ins. Co., 149 N.H. 599, 601, 827 A.2d 197, 200 (2003)	9	In any subrogation case, the burden of proving entitlement is on the subrogee, which generally must prove the existence and applicability of equitable principles or contractual provisions as to subrogation and reimbursement.	In any subrogation case, the burden of proving entitlement is on [the] subrogee, which generally includes proof of: [t]he existence and applicability of equitable principles or contractual provisions as to subrogation and reimbursement."	"Is the burden of proving entitlement on the subrogee, which generally includes proof of the existence and applicability of the equitable principle?"
7469	Multiplex Concrete Mach. Co. v. Saxer, 310 Mich. 243, 258 (1945)	11	Evidence of disposition of mortgaged property after replevin by mortgagee is immaterial in replevin action, the rights of the parties being fixed by situation at time the writ was issued.	Evidence of the disposition of the mortgaged property after replevin by the mortgagee is immaterial, in a replevin action, the rights of the parties being fixed by the situation at the time the writ was issued.	Is evidence of the disposition of mortgaged property after replevin by mortgagee immaterial in a replevin action?
7470	Mem'l Hosp. v. Heckler, 706 F.2d 1130, 1136 (11th Cir. 1983)	6	A court should apply the law in effect at time it renders its decision unless doing so would result in manifest injustice or there is statutory direction or legislative history to the contrary.	A court should apply the law in effect at the time it renders its decision, unless doing so would result in manifest injustice or there is statutory direction or legislative history to the contrary.	Should the court apply the law in effect at time of the decision?
7471	Fraser v. Wright, 54 R.I. 422, 173 A. 544, 545 (R.I. 1934)	3	Answer must set up every ground and circumstance on which defendant intends to rely as defense, either entire or partial, and defenses not set up are waived.	A respondent who answers must set up every ground and circumstance on which he intends to rely as a defense, either entire or partial, and defenses not set up are deemed waived.	Should a defendant who answers must set up every ground and circumstance on which he intends to rely as a defense?

7472	State Mut. Life Assur. Co. of Worcester, Mass. v. Heine, 141 F.2d 741, 744 (C.A.6 1944)	4	The courts have concurrent jurisdiction in equity and at law and equitable defenses are available to a law action, but laches is a defense at law only when a plaintiff is seeking to enforce some equitable right and where enforcement lies within the conscience of the chancellor.	The courts have concurrent jurisdiction in equity and at law, and equitable defenses are available to a law action, but laches is a defense at law only when a plaintiff is seeking to enforce some equitable right, and where enforcement lies within the conscience of the Chancellor.	Do the courts have concurrent jurisdiction in equity and at law?
7473	Edward Balf Co. v. Town of E. Granby, 152 Conn. 319, 323, 207 A.2d 58, 60 (Conn. 1965)	2	Right to relief in action for declaratory judgment or injunction, since remedy sought is prospective, is determined by situation which has developed at time of trial, not by that existing at time action was begun.	On the other hand, in the case of actions praying for a declaratory judgment or injunctive relief, since the remedy sought is prospective, the right to such relief is determined by the situation which has developed at the time of trial and not by that existing at the time the action was begun.	"In action for declaratory judgment, should the rights be determined upon the facts in existence when the case is tried?"
7474	People v. Boguszewski, 220 Ill. App. 3d 85, 87 (1991)	1	To sustain conviction for burglary, State must prove either that defendant entered building without authority and with intent to commit felony or theft, or that she remained within building without authority and with intent to commit felony or theft.	To sustain a conviction for burglary, the State is required to prove either that the defendant entered the building without authority and with the intent to commit a felony or theft, or that she remained within the building without authority and with the intent to commit a felony or theft.	What must the State prove to sustain a conviction for burglary?
7475	Boulanger v. Town of Old Lyme, 51 Conn. Supp. 636, 666, 16 A.3d 889, 908 (Super. Ct. 2010)	19	Although property may be taken without any actual appropriation or physical intrusion, there is no taking in a constitutional sense unless the property cannot be utilized for any reasonable and proper purpose, as where the economic utilization of the land is, for all practical purposes, destroyed. C.G.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 11.	Although property may be taken without any actual appropriation or physical intrusion ... there is no taking in a constitutional sense unless the property cannot be utilized for any reasonable and proper purpose ... as where the economic utilization of the land is, for all practical purposes, destroyed....	What does the word taken imply under the taking laws?
7476	Feigenbaum v. Guaracini, 402 N.J. Super. 7, 20 (App. Div. 2008)	15	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed " 'where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.' "	Should the doctrine of equitable subrogation be imposed where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract?
7477	First Tr. Co. of Lincoln v. Airedale Ranch & Cattle Co., 136 Neb. 521, 286 N.W. 766, 769 (1939)	1	When an action is in equity, relief will be administered as the nature of the case and the facts, as they exist at the close of the litigation, demand, rather than as in actions at law where judgment is limited to the facts as they existed at the commencement of the action.	Differing from the rule in actions on the law side of the court, which limits the judgment to the facts as they existed at the commencement of the action, when the action is in equity, relief will be administered as the nature of the case and the facts, as they exist at the close of the litigation, demand."	"When an action is in equity, will relief be administered as the nature of the case and the facts demand?"

7478	Propst v. Bd. of Educ. Lands & Funds, 156 Neb. 226, 227 (1952)	9	Relief granted in equity is generally what nature of the case, facts, and law require at time decree is rendered, not at beginning of litigation.	The relief granted in equity is generally what the nature of the case, the facts, and the law require not at the beginning of the litigation but at the time the decree is rendered.	"Is relief granted in equity generally what nature of the case, facts, and law require at time decree is rendered?"
7479	United States v. Hawaii Cty., 473 F. Supp. 261, 264–65 (D. Haw. 1979)	2	Generally, a court is to apply a law in effect at the time it renders its decision unless doing so would result in manifest injustice or there is statutory direction or legislative history to the contrary.	A court should apply the law in effect at the time it renders its decision, unless doing so would result in manifest injustice or there is statutory direction or legislative history to the contrary.	Should a court apply a law as it exists at the time of a decision?
7480	Water Res. Comm'n v. Connecticut Sand & Stone Corp., 170 Conn. 27, 31, 364 A.2d 208, 211 (1975)	1	In usual case in which injunctive relief is sought it is court which determines existence of facts which justify extraordinary remedy of injunctive relief, and thus court will usually grant such relief only in light of situation as court finds it to exist at time of trial.	It is true that in the usual case where injunctive relief is sought a court will grant such relief only in light of the situation as the court finds it to exist at the time of trial. Jones v. Foote, 165 Conn. 516, 521, 338 A.2d 467. It is also true, however, that in the usual case it is the court which determines the existence of facts which justify the extraordinary remedy of injunctive relief.	Can a court grant injunctive relief in light of the situation as the court finds it to exist at the time of trial?
7481	Rohm & Haas Co. v. Permutit Co., 114 F. Supp. 846, 848 (D. Del. 1953)	3	A plaintiff's right to recovery depends upon his right at inception of suit and non-existence of cause of action when suit is brought is a fatal defect which cannot be cured by accrual of cause of action pending suit.	[3] The general rule of law is that a plaintiff's right to recovery depends upon his right at the inception of the suit and the non-existence of a cause of action when the suit is brought is a fatal defect which cannot be cured by the accrual of a cause of action pending suit.	Does a plaintiff's right to recovery depend upon his right at the inception of the suit?
7482	Frankfurt v. D.C., 65 A.2d 197, 200 (D.C. 1949)	4	In a possessory action to recover rented premises, rights of the parties and condition of plaintiff's claim are to be tested by the facts as they existed on the date the suit was filed.	We have recently held that in a possessory action the rights of the parties and the condition of plaintiff's claim are to be tested by the facts as they existed on the day the suit was filed.	"In a possessory action to recover rented premises, are the rights of the parties and condition of plaintiff's claim to be tested?"
7483	E. M. Loew's Enterprises v. Int'l All. of Theatrical Stage Emp., 127 Conn. 415, 418–19, 17 A.2d 525, 527 (Conn. 1941)	4	An action for an "injunction" being equitable, whether a plaintiff is entitled to relief is determined not by the situation existing when action was begun, but by that which has developed at the trial, since injunctions fall within the field of "equitable remedies", and not "equitable rights", and are necessarily prospective in their operation.	However that may be, injunctions fall within the *419 field of equitable remedies and not equitable rights; they are necessarily prospective in their operation. An action for an injunction being equitable, whether or not a plaintiff is entitled to relief is determined, not by the situation existing when it is begun, but by that which is developed at the trial.	"An action for an ""injunction"" being equitable, is the question of whether a plaintiff is entitled to relief determined by that which has developed at the trial?"

7485	Bertelsen v. Cooney, 213 F.2d 275, 276–77 (5th Cir. 1954)	3	The power of Congress, under the Constitution, to raise and support Armies, to maintain a Navy, and to draft personnel for service therein, exists in peacetime as well as in war, and is plenary, and it is not for the judiciary to review the legislative branch on question of what military strength is necessary for safety of Nation, nor as to how the forces shall be raised, nor of what elements they shall be composed. Universal Military Training and Service Act, S 4(i) (1, 2) as amended 50 U.S.C.A.Appendix, S 454(i) (2); U.S.C.A.Const. art. 1, S 8; Amends. 5, 13.	Petitioner concedes, as indeed he must in the light of the adjudicated cases, that under *277 Art. 1, sec. 8, of the Constitution, Congress has the power to raise and support armies, to maintain a Navy, and to draft personnel for service therein. This power exists in peace time as well as in war. The power is plenary. It is not for the judiciary to review the legislative branch on the question of what military strength is necessary for the safety of the Nation, nor how the forces shall be raised, nor of what elements they shall be composed.	Do the courts have the power to review the legislative branch on its power to raise and support armies?
7490	Rokeby-Johnson v. Aquatronics Int'l, Inc., 159 Cal. App. 3d 1076, 1084, 206 Cal. Rptr. 232, 237 (Ct. App. 1984)	2	When surety seeks recovery against third persons in weighing equities, which includes consideration of negligence of its insured and third persons, burden is upon surety to establish its superior equity.	When a surety seeks recovery against a third person in weighing the equities, which includes consideration of the negligence of its insured and the third person, the burden is upon the surety to establish its superior equity.	"Under the doctrine of superior equities, does the surety has the burden to establish its superior equity in seeking recovery against a third party?"
7491	Allstate Indem. Co. v. ADT LLC, 110 F.Supp.3d 856, 862 (N.D.Ill., 2015)	5	Under Illinois law, subrogation waivers are not true exculpatory provisions, but, rather, they merely allocate risk of loss; they do not immunize the wrongdoer from all liability, nor do they require the injured parties to give up all their claims or leave them uncompensated.	As the Bastian and Hartford courts explained, subrogation waivers are not true exculpatory provisions. They merely allocate risk of loss; they do not immunize the wrongdoer from all liability, nor do they require the injured parties to give up all their claims or leave them uncompensated.	Are waivers of subrogation exculpatory provisions?
7492	Frago v. Sage, 737 S.W.2d 482, 483 (Mo. App. 1987)	5	Burden is placed upon party seeking subrogation to substantiate by clear and convincing evidence that, as between himself at another party, the other party, in equity, should endure the loss.	The burden is placed upon the party seeking subrogation to substantiate by clear and convincing evidence that as between himself and another party, the other party, in equity, should endure the loss.	Should a party seeking equitable subrogation prove by clear and convincing evidence that equity requires another party to bear the loss?

7494	Holder v. Indus. Comm'n of Arizona, 125 Ariz. 366, 368, 609 P.2d 1066, 1068 (Ct. App. 1980)	1	The underlying thrust of Workmen's Compensation Law was to relieve individual workman and his dependents from loss sustained by industrial injury and place burden upon industry as a whole; the theory is to compensate workman for financial loss and loss of earning capacity and thus prevent him and his dependents from becoming public charges, but the Workmen's Compensation Laws were not intended to provide general health and accident insurance coverage or life insurance coverage. A.R.S. S 23-901 et seq.	The underlying thrust of Workmen's Compensation law was to relieve the individual workman and his dependents from the loss sustained by industrial injuries and place the burden upon industry as a whole. Hannon v. Industrial Commission, 9 Ariz.App. 231, 451 P.2d 44 (1969). The theory is to compensate the workman for financial loss and loss of earning capacity. Maness v. Industrial Commission, 102 Ariz. 557, 434 P.2d 643 (1967); Inspiration Consolidated Copper Co. v. Smith, 78 Ariz. 355, 280 P.2d 273 (1955), and thus prevent him and his dependents from becoming public charges. Powell v. Industrial Commission, 104 Ariz. 257, 451 P.2d 37 (1969). However, the Workmen's Compensation laws were not intended to provide general health and accident insurance coverage or life insurance coverage.	Is workers' compensation laws enacted to place the burden of industrial injury and death on industry?
7495	Serna v. Webster, 908 S.W.2d 487, 490 (Tex. App. 1995)	6	To bring appeal by writ of error, appeal must be brought within six months after judgment was signed, by party to suit who did not participate in actual trial, and error must be apparent from face of record.	The requirements for bringing an appeal by writ of error are: (1) the appeal must be brought within six months after the judgment was signed; (2) by a party to the suit; (3) who did not participate in the actual trial; and (4) the error must be apparent from the face of the record.	What are the requirements for bringing an appeal by writ of error?
7496	United States v. Holmes, 387 F.2d 781, 784 (7th Cir. 1967)	5	Power of Congress to raise armies and to take effective measures to preserve their efficiency is not limited by either the Thirteenth Amendment or the absence of military emergency. Universal Military Training and Service Act, S 12, 50 U.S.C.A. App. S 462; U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 13.	The power of Congress to raise armies and to take effective measures to preserve their efficiency, is not limited by either the Thirteenth Amendment or the absence of a military emergency.	Is the power of congress to raise armies limited by the thirteenth amendment?
7497	Comer v. Micor, 436 F.3d 1098, 1101 (9th Cir. 2006)	2	Nonsignatories of arbitration agreement may be bound by agreement under ordinary contract and agency principles, including: (1) incorporation by reference; (2) assumption; (3) agency; (4) veil-piercing/alter ego; and (5) estoppel.	Prudential Bache Securities, Inc., 802 F.2d 1185 (9th Cir.1986), we explained that "nonsignatories of arbitration agreements may be bound by the agreement under ordinary contract and agency principles." Id. at 1187-88. 5 Among these principles are "1) incorporation by reference; 2) assumption; 3) agency; 4) veil-piercing/alter ego; and 5) estoppel." Thomson-CSF, S.A.	Can nonsignatories of arbitration agreements be bound by the agreement under ordinary contract and agency principles?

7498	Bank Leumi Tr. Co. of New York v. Bally's Park Place, 528 F. Supp. 349, 354 (S.D.N.Y. 1981)	3	Under New York law, although death of maker of check or note does not terminate his liability, it does revoke authority of payee to collect from drawee-bank and relegates payee to status of general creditor of estate of the deceased. McKinney's N.Y. Uniform Commercial Code S 4-405(1).	Furthermore, although the death of the maker of a check or note does not terminate his liability, it does revoke the authority of the payee to collect from the drawee-bank and relegates the payee to the status of a general creditor of the estate of the deceased.	Does the death of the maker of a check or instrument terminate his liability?
7501	Brown v. Garcia, 2 Misc. 3d 915, 917, 771 N.Y.S.2d 837 (Civ. Ct. 2004)	3	Generally, a party cannot be compelled to litigate a claim and, absent special circumstances, a motion for leave to discontinue should be granted. McKinney's CPLR 3217.	Generally, a party cannot be compelled to litigate a claim and, absent special circumstances, a motion for leave to discontinue should be granted.	Can a party be compelled to litigate a claim and should a motion for leave to discontinue be granted absent special circumstances?
7503	Granda v. State Farm Mut. Ins. Co., 935 So. 2d 698, 703 (La. App. 2006)	9	A utility company has no general obligation to guard against rare exigencies such as an out-of-control vehicle leaving a traveled roadway.	A utility company has no 7 general obligation to guard against rare exigencies such as an out-of-control vehicle leaving a traveled roadway.	Does a utility company have an obligation to guard against rare exigencies like an out-of-control vehicle leaving a traveled roadway?
7507	Jones v. Ayers, 212 Cal. App. 2d 646, 659-60, 28 Cal. Rptr. 223, 232 (Ct. App. 1963)	14	Pre-trial hearing and order are intended to facilitate, not to impair or impede, trial and where an issue has been stated in its larger aspect in pre-trial order it is not necessary for court to enumerate its constituent elements as issues still in case.	The pre-trial hearing and order are intended to facilitate the trial, *660 not to impair or impede it. We think that it is unnecessary where an issue has been stated in its larger aspect in the pre-trial order for the court to then enumerate its constituent elements as issues still in the case.	What do the pre-trial hearings and order intend to facilitate?
7510	Hodge v. Myers, 255 S.C. 542, 547-48, 180 S.E.2d 203, 206 (1971)	3	The purposes of pretrial conferences are to expedite trials or shorten the actual period of trial, to narrow or simplify the issue, to eliminate the doing of useless things, and to facilitate the attainment of justice between the parties. Circuit Court Rules, rule 43.	'The purposes of pretrial conferences are to expedite trials or shorten the actual period of trial, to narrow or simplify the issues, to eliminate the doing of useless things and to facilitate the attainment of justice between the parties.	Is pretrial practice designed to facilitate attainment of justice between parties?
7511	Peoples City Bank v. John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co., 353 Pa. 123, 130 (1945)	4	The rules for pretrial conference provide for a method of simplifying issues and controlling trial procedure, but they were not intended to displace the bill of discovery. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 212, 12 P.S.Appendix, 17 P.S. SS 282, 283.	While the rules for pre-trial conference provide a method of simplifying issues, and controlling trial procedure, there is nothing to indicate that they were intended to displace the bill of discovery; they do not provide for the compulsory disclosure of evidence by the opposing party under oath-one of the essentials of discovery.	Do the rules for pretrial conference provide for a method of simplifying issues and controlling trial procedure?
7512	King v. Zimmerman, 266 Mont. 54, 66 (1994)	15	Purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on basis of pretrial orders.	The purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	"Is the purpose of the pretrial order to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit the parties to prepare for trial?"

7513	Pulse v. Hill, 217 Cal. App. 2d 301, 304, 31 Cal. Rptr. 765, 767 (Ct. App. 1963)	4	Principal purposes of pretrial are to find out what lawsuit is about, to simplify and define issues, to determine how trial may proceed most expeditiously and to give notice of matters not necessarily revealed by pleadings where such matters may be issues in case. Cal.Rules of Court, rules 210(c), 214(1), 216	The principal purposes of pretrial are to find out what the lawsuit is about, to simplify and define the issues to be litigated, and to determine how the trial may proceed most expeditiously. It is also to give notice of matters not necessarily revealed by the pleadings where such matters may be issues in the case.	What is principal purpose of pretrial?
7516	Beckham v. William Bayley Co., 655 F. Supp. 288, 291 (N.D. Tex. 1987)	6	Parties' failure to use phrases or terms ordinarily included in arbitration clause is evidence that they did not agree to arbitrate all issues arising out of their business relationship. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	The parties' failure to use phrases or terms ordinarily included in an arbitration clause is evidence that they did not agree to arbitrate all the issues arising out of their business relationship.	What do courts infer when the parties fail to use phrases or terms ordinarily included in an arbitration clause?
7517	Caribbean S.S. Co., S. A. v. Sonmez Denizcilik Ve Ticaret A. S., 598 F.2d 1264, 1266-67 (2d Cir. 1979)	4	One cannot make arbitrable claim out of nonarbitrable one by assigning it to person having broad "any dispute" arbitration contract with party against whom the claim lies, at least in absence of evidence showing that parties to arbitration contract intended such a result.	One cannot make an arbitrable claim out of a non- arbitrable one by assigning it to a person *1267 having a broad "any dispute" arbitration contract with the party against whom the claim lies, at least in the absence of evidence showing that the parties to the arbitration contract intended such a result.	Can a party make an arbitrable claim out of a nonarbitrable agreement by assigning it to another?
7518	People v. Kwok, 63 Cal. App. 4th 1236, 1256, 75 Cal. Rptr. 2d 40, 53 (1998)	19	Laws against burglary are primarily designed not to deter trespass or the supporting theft or felony intended by burglar but rather to forestall germination of situation dangerous to personal safety.	Laws against burglary are primarily designed not to deter trespass or the supporting theft or felony intended by the burglar, but rather " '... to forestall the germination of a situation dangerous to personal safety.' "	Is the burglary statute primarily designed to deter trespass?
7521	Harris Cty. Appraisal Dist. v. Wittig, 881 S.W.2d 193, 194 (Tex. App. 1994)	1	Plaintiff has absolute right to nonsuit of its case at moment plaintiff files motion with clerk or makes motion in open court.	A plaintiff has an absolute right to a non-suit of its case at the moment the plaintiff files the motion with the clerk or makes a motion in open court.	Does a plaintiff have an absolute right to nonsuit of its case at a moment a plaintiff files a motion with a clerk or makes a motion in open court?
7522	Fields Bros. Gen. Contractors v. Ruecksties, 288 Ga. App. 674, 676, 655 S.E.2d 282, 284-85 (2007)	2	A pretrial order is to be construed liberally to allow the consideration of all questions fairly within the ambit of contested issues.	"A pretrial order is to be construed liberally to allow the consideration of all questions fairly within the ambit of contested 285 issues."	Is a pre-trial order to be construed liberally to allow the consideration of all questions fairly within the ambit of contested issues?
7524	In re Big Horn River Sys., 2004 WY 21, 85 P.3d 981, 995-96 (Wyo. 2004)	10	For the judicial system to operate efficiently, courts must have authority to establish scheduling orders governing litigation before them.	For our judicial system to operate efficiently, courts must have authority to establish scheduling orders governing *996 litigation before them.	"For the judicial system to operate efficiently, should courts have the authority to establish scheduling orders governing litigation before them?"
7525	Whitehawk v. Clark, 238 Mont. 14, 19, 776 P.2d 484, 487 (1989)	4	Purpose of pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare for trial on basis of pretrial order.	The purpose of the pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	"Can pretrial order prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare for trial on basis of pretrial order?"

7526	Bump v. Firemens Ins. Co. of Newark, N.J., 380 N.W.2d 268, 273 (Neb. 1986)	2	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case, and issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case. Issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	Does issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and constitute the issues on which the case is tried?
7528	In re W.D.W., 173 S.W.3d 607, 614 (Tex. App. 2005)	9	The purpose of rule requiring pretrial disclosure of expert witnesses is to give the opposing party sufficient information about the expert's opinions to prepare for cross-examination of the expert and to present rebuttal evidence from its own experts. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 194.2.	The purpose of rule 194 requiring pretrial disclosure of expert witnesses is to give the opposing party sufficient information about the expert's opinions to prepare for cross-examination of the expert and to present rebuttal evidence from its own experts.	What is the purpose of pretrial disclosure rule with regard to expert witness and experts opinions?
7530	Cooper v. Rosser, 232 Ga. 597, 598, 207 S.E.2d 513, 515 (1974)	3	Pretrial order should be liberally construed to allow consideration of all questions fairly within ambit of contested issues and where question of precluding issues is raised, matter is within discretion of trial judge. Code, S 81A-116.	A pre-trial order should be liberally construed to allow the consideration of all questions fairly within the ambit of the contested issues. Where the question of precluding issues is raised the matter is within the discretion of the trial judge.	Is preclusion of issues by the pretrial order within the discretion of the trial court?
7531	Itron v. Consort Inc., 109 A.3d 583, 587-88 (Del. Ch. 2015)	5	A court also may relieve counsel from any statement or stipulation made during a pretrial conference in order to prevent injustice.	"[A] court also may relieve counsel from any statement or stipulation made during a conference in order to prevent injustice.	Can a court relieve counsel from any statement or stipulation made during a pretrial conference in order to prevent injustice?
7533	In re Sears, Roebuck & Co., 146 S.W.3d 328, 332 (Tex. App. 2004)	6	Although some requested documents may be relevant, a discovery request may still be overbroad as phrased or impose an unreasonable expense. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 192.4.	However, though some requested documents may be relevant, a discovery request may still be overbroad as phrased or impose an unreasonable expense.	"Although some requested documents may be relevant, may a discovery request still be overbroad as phrased or impose an unreasonable expense?"
7534	Klinghoffer v. Barasch, 4 Cal. App. 3d 258, 261, 84 Cal. Rptr. 350, 352 (Ct. App. 1970)	1	Where no affirmative relief has been sought in the pleadings, privilege of dismissing belongs to plaintiff, and may be exercised by him without knowledge of parties or consent of court. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. SS 387, 581, subds. 1, 5.	In a case coming within this statute, where no affirmative relief has been sought in the pleadings, the privilege of dismissing belongs to the plaintiff, and may be exercised by him without the knowledge of the parties or the consent of the court.	"Where no affirmative relief has been sought in the pleadings, does the privilege of dismissing belong to a plaintiff?"
7535	Dean v. Lehman, 143 Wash. 2d 12, 38, 18 P.3d 523, 537 (2001)	19	A "tax" is an enforced contribution of money, assessed or charged by authority of sovereign government for the benefit of the state or the legal taxing authorities; it is not a debt or contract in the ordinary sense, but it is an exaction in the strictest sense of the word.	As the majority correctly observes, a tax is: an enforced contribution of money, assessed or charged by authority of sovereign government for the benefit of the state or the legal taxing authorities[,] [and i]t is not a debt or contract in the ordinary sense, but it is an exaction in the strictest sense of the word.	What is a tax in the strictest sense of the word?

7536	NetJets Aviation v. Guillory, 207 Cal. App. 4th 26, 41 (2012)	7	Every system of taxation consists of two parts, which are (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection; the former is a legislative function, while the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	Every system of taxation consists of two parts: (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection. The former is a legislative function; the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	Are the steps taken for tax assessment and collection a part of every system of taxation?
7539	In re Bethlehem Steel Corp., 390 B.R. 784, 790 (S.D.N.Y. 2008)	3	Even with broad form arbitration clause, if claims present no questions in respect of parties' rights and obligations under agreements, they are outside purview of arbitration clause and are not arbitrable.	However, even with a broad form clause, if the claims present "no questions in respect of the parties' rights and obligations under [the agreements]," they are outside the purview of the arbitration clause and are not arbitrable.	Can claims be arbitrable if they do not present questions in respect to the rights and obligations under the agreement?
7542	U.S. v. Buenrostro, 781 F.3d 864, 868 (7th Cir. 2015)	2	The $5,000 element of federal bribery statute pertains to subject matter of bribe, which must be valued at $5,000 or more; in other words, the business or transaction sought to be influenced must have a value of $5,000 or more. 18 U.S.C.A. § 666(a)(2).	The $5,000 element of § 666 pertains to "the subject matter of the bribe," which "must be valued at $5,000 or more." United States v. Robinson, 663 F.3d 265, 271 (7th Cir.2011). In other words, the "'business' or 'transaction' sought to be influenced must have a value of $5,000 or more." Id., quoting 18 U.S.C. § 666(a)(2).	"Under the bribery statute, must the business or transaction sought to be influenced have a value of $5,000 or more?"
7544	Coley v. N. Carolina Nat. Bank, 41 N.C. App. 121, 125–26, 254 S.E.2d 217, 220 (1979)	3	To sufficiently plead fraudulent misrepresentation, it is not sufficient to conclusively allege that corporation made fraudulent misrepresentations; pleader in such situation must allege specifically the individuals who made the misrepresentations of material fact, time the alleged misstatements were made, and place or occasion at which they were made. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 9(b), G.S. § 1A-1.	The defendant North Carolina National Bank is a corporation; Ipso facto, any fraudulent misrepresentations attributable to it would necessarily have been made by natural persons acting as its agents. It is not sufficient to conclusoryly allege that a corporation made fraudulent misrepresentations; the pleader in such a situation must allege specifically the individuals who made the misrepresentations of material fact, the time the alleged misstatements were made, and the place or occasion at which they were made.	Is it sufficient to conclusoryly allege that a corporation made fraudulent misrepresentations?
7545	Brousseau v. Jarrett, 73 Cal. App. 3d 864, 872, 141 Cal. Rptr. 200, 205 (Ct. App. 1977)	9	Complaint's conclusory characterization of defendant physician's conduct as intentional, wilful and fraudulent was patently insufficient statement of "oppression, fraud, or malice, express or implied" within meaning of statute authorizing recovery of punitive damages. West's Ann.Civ.Code, § 3294.	We need not reach that issue because the second count's conclusory characterization of defendant's conduct as intentional, wilful and fraudulent is a patently insufficient statement of "oppression, fraud, or malice, express or implied," within the meaning of section 3294.	"Is the conclusory characterization of conduct as intentional, wilful, and fraudulent sufficient?"

7547	In re Thompson's Estate, 416 Pa. 249, 261 (1965)	12	While "fishing expeditions" are not to be countenanced under guise of discovery, requests for discovery must be considered with liberality as the rule rather than the exception. 20 P.S. S 2080.742; Orphans' Court Rules, S 3, rule 6.	While 'fishing expeditions' are not to be countenanced under the guise of discovery, requests for discovery must be considered with liberality as the rule rather than the exception	"While ""fishing expeditions"" are not to be countenanced under guise of discovery, must requests for discovery be considered with liberality as the rule rather than the exception?"
7549	Haddock v. J & J Roofing Co., 700 P.2d 935, 936 (Colo. App. 1985)	3	Where party fails to comply with pretrial order, trial court has broad discretion in determining sanctions to be imposed.	Where a party fails to comply with the pre-trial order, the trial court has broad discretion in determining the sanctions to be imposed.	"Where a party fails to comply with the pretrial order, does a trial court has broad discretion in determining the sanctions to be imposed?"
7550	Halpern v. Gunn, 57 A.2d 741, 741 (D.C. 1948)	1	"Voluntary nonsuit" by plaintiff is a withdrawal or abandonment of his case with costs adjudged against him, with no adjudication on the merits, and with the right to file a new action, leaving the situation as though action had never been filed.	Under the long-established practice in this jurisdiction a voluntary nonsuit by plaintiff is a withdrawal or abandonment of his case, with costs adjudged against him, with no adjudication on the merits, and with the right to file a new action. It leaves the situation as though suit had never been filed.	Does a nonsuit leave the situation as if the suit had never been filed?
7551	Whitmore v. Mut. Life Ins. Co. of N. Y., 122 Vt. 328, 328, 173 A.2d 584, 586 (1961)	1	Subsequent course of action in trial of a cause is controlled by agreement or admission made at pretrial conference. County Court Rules, rule 3A.	Our rule on procedure is that the subsequent course of action in the trial of a cause is controlled by agreement or admissions made at the pretrial conference.	Is a subsequent course of action in a trial of a cause controlled by agreement or admission made at a pretrial conference?
7552	Dance v. Manning, 207 N.C. App. 520, 524, 700 S.E.2d 145, 147 (2010)	3	Any orders entered in a first, voluntarily dismissed lawsuit have no relevance to the newly filed lawsuit, as the dismissal carries down with it previous rulings and orders in the case.	Any orders entered in the first lawsuit have no relevance to the newly filed lawsuit, as the dismissal " 'carries down with it previous rulings and orders in the case.'	Do orders entered in the first lawsuit have relevance to the newly filed lawsuit as the dismissal carries down with it previous rulings and orders in the case?
7553	Wynder v. Lonergan, 153 Ind. App. 92, 98, 286 N.E.2d 413, 417 (1972)	7	Pretrial order stipulation is conclusive on the parties and court unless stipulation is withdrawn, amended or supplemented as provided by rules. Rules TR. 15(B), 16(l, j) (Rules of Civil Procedure), IC 1971, 34-5-1-1, Rules 15(b), 16(i, j).	A pre-trial order stipulation is conclusive upon the parties and the judicial tribunal unless the stipulation is withdrawn, amended or supplemented as provided by Indiana Rules of Procedure.	"Is a pretrial order stipulation conclusive on the parties and court unless stipulation is withdrawn, amended or supplemented as provided by rules?"
7557	United States v. Lynch, 807 F. Supp. 2d 224, 232 (E.D. Pa. 2011)	11	Bribery requires a specific intent to perform a quid pro quo, and while this intended exchange need not be made explicit between the parties, the Government must allege and prove some facts from which a jury can infer that there was a specific intent to perform an exchange.	The critical holding of Kemp is that bribery requires a specific intent to perform a quid pro quo. Id. While this intended exchange need not be made explicit between the parties, see United States v. Antico, 275 F.3d 245, 257 (3d Cir.2001) the Government must allege and prove some facts from which a jury can infer that there was a specific intent to perform an exchange.	How can a jury infer that there was a specific intent to perform an exchange in a bribery case?

7560	Doe v. Doe, 122 Md. App. 295, 358, 712 A.2d 132, 163 (1998)	22	Allegations of fraud or characterizations of acts, conduct or transactions as fraudulent, without alleging facts which make them such, are conclusions of law insufficient to state a cause of action.	Furthermore, "[a]llegations of fraud or characterizations of acts, conduct or transactions as fraudulent ... without alleging facts which make them such, are conclusions of law insufficient to state a cause of action."	"Are characterizations of acts, without alleging facts, conclusions of law?"
7561	Succession of Guidry v. Bank of Terrebonne & Tr. Co., 193 So. 2d 543, 545 (La. Ct. App. 1966)	1	Allegation of fraud or bad faith is merely a conclusion of law necessitating averment of clear and definite facts and circumstances which, if established by competent evidence, support allegation.	An allegation of fraud or bad faith, however, is merely a conclusion of law necessitating averment of clear and definite facts and circumstances which, if established by competent evidence, support the conclusion advanced.	Is an allegation of bad faith a mere conclusion of law?
7562	Goodman v. Kennedy, 18 Cal. 3d 335, 349, 556 P.2d 737, 746 (1976)	16	It is generally an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect in the pleading can be cured by amendment. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. S 472c.	Generally it is an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect can be cured by amendment.	QuestionIs it an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect can be cured by amendment?
7563	Stilwell v. Stilwell S. Walls, 711 So. 2d 103, 105 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1998)	2	Trial court's authority to impose sanction for failure to comply with pretrial order is not unbridled, and sanction imposed must be commensurate with the offense.	The trial court's authority to impose sanctions for failure to comply with a pretrial order "is not unbridled; the sanction imposed must be commensurate with the offense."	Is the Trial court's authority to impose sanction for failure to comply with pretrial order unbridled?
7564	Jones v. John's Cmty. Hosp., 624 S.W.2d 330, 332 (Tex. App. 1981)	3	Absence of material witness is "sufficient cause" for granting motion for continuance only if proper diligence has been used to procure testimony of witness. Vernon's Ann.Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 251, 252.	While the absence of a material witness is "sufficient cause" for granting the motion, that is true only if proper diligence has been used to procure the testimony of the witness.	"Is the absence of a material witness sufficient cause for continuance, but only if proper diligence has been used to procure testimony of such witness?"
7565	Contreras By & Through Contreras v. Carbon Cty. Sch. Dist. No. 1, 843 P.2d 589, 592 (Wyo. 1992)	2	Trial court has discretion to waive requirements contained in its pretrial orders, and ruling which excuses failure to observe pretrial order will not be overturned on appeal unless there has been abuse of discretion.	We have stated that a trial court has discretion to waive the requirements contained in its pretrial orders. We will not overturn the trial court's ruling excusing a failure to observe its pretrial order unless there has been an abuse of discretion.	Will a ruling which excuses failure to observe pretrial order be overturned on appeal unless there has been an abuse of discretion?
7566	Dodd v. Steele, 14 N.C. App. 632, 634, 442 S.E.2d 363, 365 (1994)	2	Neither dismissal of case nor filing of appeal deprives trial court of jurisdiction to hear Rule 11 motions. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 11, G.S. S 1A-1.	Furthermore, neither the dismissal of a case nor the filing of an appeal deprives the trial court of jurisdiction to hear Rule 11 motions.	Does the dismissal of a case or the filing of an appeal deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to hear Rule 11 motions?
7568	Larson v. Karagan, 979 N.E.2d 655, 660 (Ind. Ct. App. 2012)	6	The party seeking to withdraw admissions has the burden of demonstrating the presentation of the merits will be subverted by withdrawal, and the party who obtained the admissions has the burden of demonstrating it will be prejudiced if the trial court permits withdrawal. Trial Procedure Rule 36(B).	The party seeking withdrawal has the burden of demonstrating the presentation of the merits will be subverted by withdrawal, and the party who obtained the admissions has the burden of demonstrating it will be prejudiced if the trial court permits withdrawal. Id.; T.R. 36(B).	Does the party seeking to withdraw admissions have the burden of demonstrating the presentation of the merits will be subverted by withdrawal?

7571	Nelson v. QHG of S.C. Inc., 354 S.C. 290, 302 (Ct. App. 2003)	3	Unless otherwise stated in the notice of dismissal or stipulation, the voluntary dismissal of an action by a plaintiff with the consent of the opposing party is without prejudice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a)(1)(A).	Unless otherwise stated in the notice of dismissal or stipulation, the voluntary dismissal of an action by a plaintiff with the consent of the opposing party is without prejudice.	Is the voluntary dismissal of an action by a plaintiff with the consent of the opposing party without prejudice?
7572	Grosch v. Tunica Cnty., Mississippi, 569 F. Supp. 2d 676, 677 (Miss. 2008)	1	Under Mississippi law, difference between trespass to chattels and conversion is primarily one of degree; trespass to chattels involves interference or damage that is of less serious or substantial nature, but conversion claims involve substantial interference or damage.	"The difference between trespass to chattels and conversion is primarily one of degree. Trespass to chattels in modern tort law involves interference or damage that is of a less serious or substantial nature. Conversion claims involve substantial interference or damage.	Is the difference between trespass to chattels and conversion primarily one of degree?
7573	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	10	The employer has interest in workmen's compensation award, and in light of end sought to be achieved by Workmen's Compensation Act, there is public interest as well. K.S.A. 44-531.	Inherently, the employer-respondent has an interest in the award, and in the light of the end sought to be achieved by the workmen's compensation act, there is a public interest as well.	"Does the employer have an interest in the workmens compensation award and is there a public interest as well, in light of the end sought to be achieved by the Workmens Compensation Act?"
7574	Rosser v. Terminix Int'l Co., 143 Ohio App. 3d 157, 160 (2001)	3	Generally, rulings and orders preceding a voluntary dismissal are essentially eradicated and therefore have no res judicata effect. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(A)(1).	And, generally, as a result, rulings and orders preceding the voluntary dismissal are essentially eradicated and therefore have no res judicata effect.	Are rulings and orders preceding a voluntary dismissal essentially eradicated and therefore have no res judicata effect?
7575	U.S. v. 52 Drums Maple Syrup, 110 F.2d 914, 915 (2d Cir. 1940)	3	The intended use to which adulterated food is to be put after it has been shipped in interstate commerce is immaterial on the question of the government's right to forfeit because of such shipment. Pure Food and Drug Act S 7, subd. 5, and S 10, 21 U.S.C.A. S 8, subd. 5, and S 14.	The intended use to which adulterated food is to be put after it has been shipped in interstate commerce is immaterial on the question of the government's right to forfeit because of such shipment.	Do the government has a right to forfeit adulterated food or drug after it has been shipped in interstate commerce?
7576	Doe v. Garrett, 903 F.2d 1455, 1462 (C.A.11 (Fla.),1990)	3	Military officer's expectation of continued military employment does not rise to level of property interest unless it is rooted in some statute, regulation, or contract. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	It is well established that a military officer's expectation of continued military employment does not rise to the level of a property interest unless it is rooted in some statute, regulation, or contract.	Does a military officer's expectation of continued military employment rise to level of property interest?
7579	Taylor v. Bd. of Ed. of Cabell Cty., 152 W. Va. 761, 767 (1969)	1	General rule is that pension granted by public authority is not contractual obligation but is gratuitous allowance, in continuance of which pensioner has no vested right, and, accordingly, pension is terminable or alterable at will of grantor.	The general rule, supported by the clear weight of authority, is that a pension granted by a public authority is not a contractual obligation but is a gratuitous allowance, in the continuance of which the pensioner has no vested right, and accordingly, the pension is terminable or alterable at the will of the grantor.	Is pension granted by public authorities a contractual obligation?

7580	In re Marriage of Brown, 15 Cal. 3d 838, 842, 544 P.2d 561, 562-63 (1976)	1	Pension rights, whether or not vested, represent property interest, and to extent that such rights derive from employment during coverture, they comprise community asset subject to division in dissolution proceedings; overruling French v. French, 17 Cal.2d 775, 112 P.2d235.	Pension rights, whether or not vested, represent 635 563 a property interest; to the extent that such rights derive from employment during coverture, they comprise a community asset subject to division in a dissolution proceeding.	Does a pension right represent a property interest?
7582	Time Warner v. Gonzalez, 441 S.W.3d 661, 666 (Tex. App. 2014)	9	Ordinarily, the burden of showing good cause and no undue prejudice lies with the party seeking withdrawal of deemed admissions. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 198.3.	Ordinarily, the burden of showing good cause and no undue prejudice lies with the party seeking withdrawal of deemed admissions.	Does the burden of showing good cause lie with the party seeking withdrawal of deemed admissions?
7584	Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Deggs, 968 S.W.2d 354, 357 (Tex. 1998)	3	In considering motion to withdraw deemed admissions, delay of trial is factor in determining prejudice against a nonmoving party. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 169, subd. 2.	Undue prejudice bars withdrawal of deemed admissions. TEX.R. CIV. P. 169(2); Stelly, 927 S.W.2d at 622. Delay of trial is considered a factor in determining prejudice against a party.	"In considering a motion to withdraw deemed admissions, is delay of trial a factor in determining prejudice against a nonmoving party?"
7585	State ex rel. Rosen v. Smith, 241 S.W.3d 431, 432-33 (Mo. Ct. App. 2007)	3	In non-jury cases, plaintiff may voluntarily dismiss his suit without a court order at any time prior to the introduction of evidence at trial, and, once plaintiff has done so, it is as if the suit were never brought. V.A.M.R. 67.02(a)(2).	[1] [2] [3] [4] [5] In non-jury cases, a plaintiff may voluntarily dismiss his or her suit without a court order at any time prior to the introduction of evidence at trial. Rule 67.02(a)(2). Once a plaintiff does so, "it is as if the suit were never brought." *433 Liberman v.	"Once a plaintiff has voluntarily dismissed an action, is it as if the suit had never been filed?"
7587	Kohl v. United States, 226 F.2d 381, 384 (7th Cir. 1955)	3	Direct taxes bear directly upon persons, upon their possession and enjoyment of rights, whereas indirect taxes are levied upon happening of an event, such as an exchange or transmission of property. U.S.C.A. Const. art. 1, SS 2, 9.	Such taxes bear directly upon persons, upon their possession and enjoyment of rights, whereas indirect taxes are levied upon the happening of an event such as an exchange or transmission of property.	Do direct taxes bear directly upon persons?
7588	Xerox Corp. v. Cnty. of Orange, 66 Cal. App. 3d 746, 756, 136 Cal. Rptr. 583, 589 (Ct. App. 1977)	8	Sales tax law imposes a tax at a fixed rate upon the gross receipts and not on the individual sales, and fact that law authorizes a bookkeeping method to compute the amount of tax separately from the sales price does not change the character of the tax. West's Ann.Rev. & Tax.Code, S 6051.	The law imposes a tax at a fixed rate upon the gross receipts and not on the individual sales, and the fact that the law authorizes a bookkeeping method to compute the amount of the tax separately from the sales price does not change the character of the tax.	Can bookkeeping change the nature or incidence of a tax?
7590	Com. v. Clarke, 311 Pa. Super. 446, 449, 457 A.2d 970, 972 (1983)	4	Under section of crimes code proscribing bribery in official and political matters, once offer to confer proscribed benefit or agreement is made, the crime is complete, and there need be no waiting for benefit to actually be conferred. 18 Pa.C.S.A. SS 4701, 4701(a)(3).	Under the section of the Crimes Code proscribing bribery in official and political matters, once the offer to confer the proscribed benefit, or once an agreement is made, the crime is complete. There need be no waiting for the benefit to actually be conferred.	"Under section of crimes code proscribing bribery in official and political matters, when is the crime complete?"
7592	D. & J. Mineral & Min. v. Wilson, 456 So. 2d 1099, 1100-01 (Ala. Civ. App. 1984)	2	Generally, court owes no duty to notify party of setting of case or to continue case because of absence of party or other engagements of his attorney.	Generally, the court owes no duty to notify a party of the setting of a case or to continue a case *1101 because of the absence of a party or other engagements of his attorney.	Does a court owe duty to notify party of setting of case or to continue case because of absence of party or other engagements of his attorney?

7594	TBF Fin., L.L.C. v. Stone, 213 S.W.3d 231, 233 (Mo. App. S. Dist. 2007)	3	Admissions by party to civil action by failure to respond to request for admissions, like admissions in pleadings, eliminate any need to further prove such matters. V.A.M.R. 59.01.	A party who fails to respond to requests for admissions admits those matters. No further sanction is necessary or available to the proponent, who instead can use the admissions in dispositive motions or at trial, and a court must consider such admissions in deciding a motion for a directed verdict. Lee v. Ofield, 847 S.W.2d 99, 101 (Mo.App.1992). Such admissions, like admissions in pleadings, eliminate any need to further prove such matters.	"Do admissions by the party to a civil action by failure to respond to a request for admissions, like admissions in pleadings, eliminate any need to further prove such matters?"
7595	Norrell v. Giles, 343 Ark. 504, 506 (2001)	1	When a party fails to timely answer requests for admission, or otherwise fails to object to them, the requested matters are deemed admitted. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(a).	*506 In interpreting Rule 36, this court has consistently held that when a party fails to timely answer requests for admission, or otherwise fails to object to them, the requested matters are deemed admitted.	"When a party fails to timely answer requests for admission, or otherwise fails to object to them, are the requested matters deemed admitted?"
7596	Reynolds Aluminum Bldg. Prod. Co. v. Leonard, 395 Mass. 255, 259 (1985)	4	Under Dist./Mun.Cts.R.Civ.P.Rule 36, 43A M.G.L.A., failure to respond to request for admissions conclusively established truth of admissions for the instant case, regardless of importance of matters thus deemed admitted.	36 (1975), Reynolds' failure to respond to the Leonards' request for admissions conclusively established the truth of those admissions for this case. This remains true regardless of the importance of the matters thus deemed to be admitted.	Does failure to respond to a request for admissions conclusively establish the truth of admissions for the instant case?
7600	Fabick & Co. v. Schaffner, 492 S.W.2d 737, 743 (Mo. 1973)	2	Name, purpose, designation or character given by legislative body to particular tax in statute or ordinance imposing it is not conclusive upon court in determining nature or purpose of exaction.	[T]he name, purpose, designation or character given by the legislative body to a particular tax in the statute or ordinance imposing it is not conclusive upon the Court in determining the nature or purpose of the exaction.'	Is the designation made by legislature given some weight in determining the nature of tax?
7603	Etheridge Motors v. Haynie, 103 Ga. App. 676, 679, 120 S.E.2d 317, 320 (1961)	3	Unless petition affirmatively shows otherwise that person charged with having actual knowledge of a certain condition does not in fact possess such knowledge, an allegation that he knew or had knowledge of a certain state of facts is not demurrable as a conclusion.	Unless the petition affirmatively shows otherwise that the person charged with having actual knowledge of a certain condition does not in fact possess such knowledge, an allegation that a party knew or had notice of a certain state of facts is not demurrable as a conclusion.	"Is the allegation that a party knew certain facts, a conclusion?"
7604	In re the Marriage of Perkal, 77 Cal. App. 3d 413, 418, 143 Cal. Rptr. 575, 577 (Ct. App. 1978).	2	Conflicts in attorney's schedule must be brought to court's attention promptly if such conflicts are to be considered as adequate grounds for continuance.	if is fundamental that conflicts in an attorney's schedule must be brought to the court's attention promptly if such conflicts are to be considered as adequate grounds for continuance.	Can conflicts in attorney's schedule be brought to a court's attention promptly if such conflicts are to be considered as adequate grounds for continuance?

7605	Karat Enterprises v. Marriott Corp, 196 Ga. App. 769, 769 (1990)	2	Burden is on one failing to answer request for admissions to take initiative and file motion to withdraw or amend admissions. O.C.G.A. S 9-11-36(b).	The burden is on the one failing to answer to take the initiative and file a motion under OCGA 9-11- 36(b) to withdraw or amend the admissions.	Is the burden on one failing to answer request for admissions to take initiative and file motion to withdraw or amend admissions?
7606	Bruenderman v. Bruenderman, 220 So. 3d 204, 208 (Miss. Ct. App. 2017)	5	Burden is on the movant to request a continuance to pursue discovery matters, and failure to do so constitutes waiver. URCCC 4.04; Miss. R. Civ. P. 37.	It is well established that the burden is on the movant to request a continuance to pursue discovery matters, and failure to do so constitutes waiver.	"Is the burden on the movant to request a continuance to pursue discovery matters, and failure to do so constitutes waiver?"
7607	Jones v. Gillen, 504 So. 2d 575, 577 (La. App. 5th Cir. 1987)	2	Admissions may be used to establish uncontradicted facts or controversial issues which constitute crux of matter in litigation, and when party receiving request for admissions fails to respond to it by any means, fact is deemed admitted.	Admissions may be used to establish uncontradicted facts or controversial issues which constitute the crux of the matter in litigation. La. C.C.P. art. 1467; Succession of Rock v. Allstate Life Ins. Co., 340 So.2d 1325 (La.1976); Remondet v. Reserve Nat. Ins. Co., 433 So.2d 792 (La.App. 5th Cir.1983), writ denied, 441 So.2d 216 (La.1983). When the party receiving the request for admissions fails to respond to the request by any means, the fact is deemed admitted.	Can admissions be used to establish uncontradicted facts or controversial issues which constitute the crux of the matter in litigation?
7608	Bray v. Miller, 397 S.W.2d 103, 106 (Tex. Civ. App. 1965)	7	Trial judge does not abuse his discretion in overruling motion for continuance based on absence of witness when allegations of motion are nothing more than mere conclusions of pleader and do not allege specific facts to which absent witness could testify. Rules of Civil Procedure, rules 251, 252.	It is well settled by the decisions of the courts of Texas that a trial judge does not abuse his discretion in overruling a motion for continuance based on the absence of a witness when the allegations of the motion are nothing more than mere conclusions of the pleader and do not allege the specific facts to which the absent witness would testify.	"Is an application for a continuance, which failed to show any reason for not taking the deposition of an absent witness, properly overruled?"
7609	Bator v. Hungarian Com. Bank of Pest, 194 Misc. 232, 234, 87 N.Y.S.2d 700, 703 (Sup. Ct.)	2	Upon an application to take testimony of witnesses outside the state, court has discretion to determine whether testimony should be taken under open commission or oral examination rather than upon written interrogatories. Civil Practice Act, SS 288, 292, 301, 302	Upon an application of this nature, the Court has discretionary power to determine whether the testimony of witnesses outside the state shall be taken under open commission on oral examination, rather than upon written interrogatories.	Does a trial court have the discretion to direct whether the interrogatories should be written or oral?

7610	Glisson v. Carlin, 204 A.2d 285, 287 (Pa. 1964)	2	Right to take deposition of witness more than 100 miles from courthouse by written interrogatories may be abrogated only when court exercises its discretion to order taking of deposition by oral examination. Pa.R.C.P. Nos. 4003(a)(2), 4004(e), 4008, 12 P.S.Appendix.	4003(a)(2) provides that a deposition by written interrogatories for use at trial may be taken of a witness more than one hundred miles from the courthouse as a matter of right, the only requirement being due notice to the opposing party of parties. The right to take the deposition of such witnesses by written interrogatories may be abrogated only when the court exercises its discretion to order the taking of the deposition by oral examination under the provisions of Pa.R.C.P. 4003(a)(2), which provides generally for oral examination; Pa.R.C.P. 4004(e), which provides that the court may order that the deposition not be taken by oral examination; and Pa.R.C.P.	Does a trial court have the discretion to direct whether the interrogatories should be written or oral?
7611	Wimberly v. Derby Cycle Corp., 56 Cal. App. 4th 618, 634, 65 Cal. Rptr. 2d 532, 542 (1997)	18	If defendant denies a request for admission submitted by plaintiff, he cannot be forced to admit the fact prior to trial despite its obvious truth.	In the event, however, that the defendant denies a request for admission submitted by the plaintiff, he cannot be forced to admit the fact prior to trial despite its obvious truth.	"Can a defendant be forced to admit the fact prior to trial, despite its obvious truth?"
7612	Kerner v. Superior Court, 206 Cal. App. 4th 84, 120 (2012)	22	The purpose of the requirement for a court order for discovery of a defendant's net worth to support a claim for punitive damages is to protect defendants' financial privacy and prevent defendants from being pressured into settling nonmeritorious cases in order avoid disclosure of their financial information. West's Ann.Cal.Civ.Code S 3294(c).	The purpose of this requirement is to protect defendants' financial privacy and prevent defendants from being pressured into settling nonmeritorious cases in order to avoid disclosure of their financial information. (Jabro v. Superior Court (2002) 95 Cal.App.4th 754, 757, 115 Cal.Rptr.2d 843 (Jabro).)	What is the purpose of the requirement for a court order for discovery of a defendant's net worth?
7614	Vellanti v. United States, 119 Fed. Cl. 570, 576 (2015)	3	The Military Pay Act confers on an officer the right to the pay of the rank he was appointed to up until he is properly separated from the service. 37 U.S.C.A. S 204.	The Act "confers on an officer the right to the pay of the rank he was appointed to up until he is properly separated from the service."	Does the Military Pay Act confer on an officer the right to the pay of the rank he was appointed to up until he is properly separated from the service?
7615	Otten v. Works, 516 S.W.2d 291, 292 (Tex. Civ. App. 1974)	1	Check on the face of which appears the word "loan" is an instrument containing the contract of the payee to repay the money borrowed.	A check on the face of which appears the word 'loan' is an instrument containing the contract of the payee to repay the money borrowed. The payee by endorsing the check assumes the obligation of the loan and the check becomes written evidence of the contract to repay.	"Does a check, on the face of which the word loan appears, constitute an instrument containing a contract to repay the money borrowed?"

7616	People v. Charles, 61 N.Y.2d 321, 326, 462 N.E.2d 118, 120 (1984)	3	"Colorable" authority exists when bribe is offered to public official to act corruptly in matter to which he bears some official relation, though act itself may be technically beyond his official powers or duties. McKinney's Penal Law S 200.10.	The decisions hold that "colorable" authority exists when a bribe is offered to a public official "to act corruptly in a matter to which he bears some official relation, though the act itself may be technically beyond his official powers or duties"	"When does ""colorable authority"" exist for purposes of bribery of a public official?"
7617	State v. Pigques, 310 S.W.2d 942, 945 (Mo. 1958)	4	Entry of space within building with intent to steal is necessary to completed crime of burglary, but any entry, however slight, by any part of the body, procured by breaking, with intent to steal or to commit another crime therein, is sufficient. Section 560.070 RSMo 1949, V.A.M.S.	An entry of a building, that is, an entry (with intent to steal) of the space within the building, is necessary to a completed crime of burglary; but any entry, however slight (by and part of the body), procured by breaking, with intent to steal (or to commit another crime therein, as the charge may be) is sufficient.	Is entry necessary for burglary?
7620	Holz v. Lyles, 287 Ala. 280, 284 (Ala. 1971)	4	Rule that one maintaining a continuing public nuisance cannot defend against a suit to abate the nuisance because of lapse of time applies to obstruction of public highways.	But one maintaining a continuing public nuisance cannot defend against a suit to abate the nuisance because of lapse of time, and such rule applies to obstruction of public highways, of detriment to the public.	Can one continuing public nuisance defend against a suit to abate the nuisance because of lapse of time?
7623	Fredricksen v. Bethlehem Steel Co, 17 F.R.D. 307, 307 (E.D.N.Y. 1955)	1	General rule in state courts is that party seeking discovery or examinations must show propriety thereof.	While this may be technically correct, the general rule in the State courts appears to be that the party seeking discovery, or examinations, must show the propriety thereof.	Is the rule in state courts that the party seeking discovery or examinations must show propriety thereof?
7624	George v. Wiseman, 98 F.2d 923, 929 (10th Cir. 1938)	3	The matter of permitting an amendment during the trial, and of thereafter allowing or denying a continuance, rests in the District Court's sound discretion, the exercise of which will not be disturbed on appeal except for an abuse thereof.	The matter of permitting an amendment during the trial, and of allowing or denying a continuance as the result rests in the sound discretion of the trial court; and its action will not be disturbed on appeal unless there was an abuse of discretion.	Does the matter of permitting an amendment during the trial rest in the District Court's sound discretion?
7626	Kenney v. Providence Gas Co., 118 R.I. 134, 142, 372 A.2d 510, 514 (1977)	6	In the event the party objecting to amendment of pleadings needs time to meet new evidence, trial judge may grant a continuance. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 15.	In the event the objecting party needs time to meet such new evidence, the trial justice may grant a continuance.	Will a trial justice grant a continuance in the event the objecting party needs time to meet new evidence?
7627	Dixon v. Coffey, 161 Neb. 487, 488, 73 N.W.2d 660, 662 (1955)	8	Amendments of pleadings should be allowed whenever amendments appear to be in furtherance of justice, and when such amendments make a continuance necessary, or otherwise increase the costs, such terms should be imposed as are just under the circumstances. R.R.S.1943, S 25-852.	Amendments of pleadings should be allowed whenever such amendments appear to be in furtherance of justice and when such amendments make a continuance necessary or otherwise increase the costs, such terms should be imposed as are just under the circumstances.	"When the trial judge in the furtherance of justice permit necessary amendments to the pleadings, should it appear necessary in the furtherance of justice to grant a continuance?"

7628	Foster v. Foster, 149 S.W.3d 575, 578 (Mo. Ct. App. 2004)	2	The grant or denial of continuance for good cause shown is largely within the trial court's discretion; this is true even in cases where the request for a continuance is based upon a party's illness. V.A.M.R. 65.01.	The trial court has the power to grant a continuance "[f]or good cause shown." The grant or denial of such a continuance is largely within the trial court's discretion. This is true even in cases where the request for a continuance is based upon a party's illness.	Will the plaintiff be granted subsequent continuance based on illness?
7631	In re NHC--Nashville Fire Litig., 293 S.W.3d 547, 564 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	11	Unlike filed discovery, pretrial depositions, interrogatories, and other discovery materials not filed with the court are not public components of a civil trial.	Unlike filed discovery, pretrial depositions, interrogatories, and other discovery materials not filed with the court "are not public components of a civil trial."	"Are pretrial depositions, interrogatories, and other discovery materials not filed with the court not public components of a civil trial?"
7632	Woodward v. Heritage Const. Co., 887 N.E.2d 994, 1000 (Ind. Ct. App. 2008)	11	The purpose of a pre-trial order is to recite agreements made by the parties during the pre-trial hearing and, once entered, a pre-trial order shall control the subsequent course of action unless modified thereafter to prevent manifest injustice. Trial Procedure Rule 16(J).	[T]he purpose of a pre-trial order is to recite agreements made by the parties during the pre-trial hearing and ..., once entered, a pre-trial order shall control the subsequent course of action unless modified thereafter to prevent manifest injustice."	What is the purpose of a pre-trial order?
7633	People v. Baker, 20 N.Y.3d 354, 359–60, 984 N.E.2d 902, 905 (2013)	4	A person may be guilty of disorderly conduct only when the situation extends beyond the exchange between the individual disputants to a point where it becomes a potential or immediate public problem. McKinney's Penal Law S 240.20(3).	Thus, "a person may be guilty of disorderly conduct only when the situation extends beyond the exchange between the individual disputants to a point where it becomes a potential or *360 immediate public problem"	Does the law hold a person guilty of disorderly conduct when his acts affect public?
7635	Bell v. Nat'l Life & Acc. Ins. Co., 41 Ala. App. 94, 97, 123 So. 2d 598, 599–600 (Ala. Ct. App. 1960)	2	It is sometimes permissible and necessary for a pleader to draw conclusions where facts are alleged that tend to support such conclusion, and it is only "mere conclusions" or "bald conclusions" without supporting facts which are objectionable in pleading.	It is sometimes permissible and necessary for a pleader to draw conclusions where facts are alleged that tend to support the 600 conclusion. Birmingham Ry., Light & Power Co. v. Gonzalez, 183 Ala. 273, 61 So. 81, Ann.Cas.1916A, 543. It is only 'mere conclusions' or 'bald conclusions,' without supporting facts which are objectionable in pleading.'	"Are only mere conclusions or bald conclusions without supporting facts, objectionable in pleading?"
7636	Colonial Tr. Co. v. Alexander, 251 A.D. 856, 856, 296 N.Y.S. 918, 919 (App. Div. 1937)	4	Technical rules relating to examinations before trial are not adhered to in cases involving fiduciary relationship, such as where applicants are infant beneficiaries of trust. Civil Practice Act, S 288.	The respondents, who are infant beneficiaries of the trust, are entitled to have the rules relaxed rather than restricted. The technical rules relating to examinations before trial are not adhered to in cases involving a fiduciary relationship.	Are technical rules relating to examinations before trial not adhered to in cases involving a fiduciary relationship?
7637	In re Bump's Estate, 171 Kan. 442, 446 (1951)	2	If a continuance is to a day certain, that day controls, but, in absence of express stipulation, a general order of continuance is treated as postponing cause to next term of court.	If a continuance is to a day certain, that day controls. But in the absence of an express stipulation a general order of continuance is treated as postponing the cause to the next term of the court.	"Is an order of continuance treated as postponing cause to next term of court, in absence of express stipulation?"

7642	Brake v. Murphy, 693 So. 2d 663, 666 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1997)	6	Trial court does not abuse its discretion in conditioning eve of trial continuance on payment of attorney fees caused by delay.	[T]here is no abuse of discretion in conditioning an eve of trial continuance on payment of attorney's fees caused by delay.	Will a court be abusing its discretion in conditioning eve of trial continuance on payment of attorney fees caused by delay?
7644	O'Dell v. Freightliner Corp., 10 Cal. App. 4th 645, 659, 12 Cal. Rptr. 2d 774, 781 (1992)	11	Plaintiff in lawsuit has absolute right to dismiss, and neither clerk nor trial court has any discretion in matter. West's Ann.Cal.C.C.P. S 581, subd. (b)(1).	First, the plaintiff in a lawsuit has an absolute right to dismiss. (Code Civil Proc., § 581, subd. (b)(1).) Neither the clerk nor the trial court has any discretion in the matter.	Do a plaintiff in a lawsuit has an absolute right to dismiss and does the clerk or the trial court has any discretion in the matter?
7647	Evans v. United States, 504 U.S. 255, 256 (U.S.Ga., 1992)	2	Offense of extortion under color of official right in violation of Hobbs Act is completed at time when public official receives payment in return for his agreement to perform specific official acts, and fulfillment of the quid pro quo is not an element of offense. 18 U.S.C.A. S 1951.	"[T]he offense is completed at the time when the public official receives a payment in return for his agreement to perform specific official acts; fulfillment of the quid pro quo is not an element of the offense."	Is the fulfillment of the quid pro quo an element of the offense of bribery?
7648	Marin v. Exxon Mobil Corp., 2009-2368 (La. 10/19/10), 48 So. 3d 234, 260	21	Lessee does not necessarily have duty to restore land to its pre-lease condition, particularly where, unlike dredged canals, subsurface contamination is not overt and cannot be considered wear and tear.	However, that does not necessarily mean that the lessee has a duty to restore the land to its pre-lease condition, particularly where, unlike dredged canals, subsurface contamination is not overt and cannot be considered "wear and tear."	Does a lessee have a duty to restore the land to its pre-lease condition?
7649	Marrs v. R.R. Comm'n, 142 Tex. 293, 303 (1944)	7	Every landowner or oil and gas lessee is entitled to fair chance to recover oil or gas in or under his land, or their equivalent in kind, and any denial of such chance amounts to "confiscation".	Every owner or lessee is entitled to a fair chance to recover the oil or gas in or under his land, or their equivalent in kind, and any denial of such fair chance amounts to confiscation. Gulf Land Co.	Is every owner or lessee of land entitled to a fair chance to recover the oil and gas in or under his land?
7650	Life Care Centers of America v. Charles Town Associates Ltd. Partnership, 79 F.3d 496, 503 (6th Cir. 1996)	4	"Limited partnerships" are business organizations in which limited partners are precluded by law from participating in operation of partnership; in exchange for their abstention from participating in management of business, law provides limited investors with limited liability for debts of partnership.	Limited partnerships are business organizations in which the limited partners are precluded by law from participating in the operation of the partnership. See generally Revised Uniform Limited Partnership Act (1975). In exchange for their abstention from participating in the management of the business, the law provides limited investors with limited liability for the debts of the partnership.	Can a limited partner participate in the management of the business and have limited liability for the debts of the partnership at the same time?
7651	Raven v. Panama Canal Co., 583 F.2d 169, 171 (5th Cir. 1978)	5	Acts of Congress may treat aliens differently than citizens without such treatment being considered "invidious" or in violation of the equal protection clause. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 14.	The United States Supreme Court has recognized that Acts of Congress may treat aliens differently than citizens without such treatment being considered "invidious" or in violation of the Equal Protection clause. A legitimate distinction exists between citizens and aliens to warrant different treatment.	Is an Act of Congress that treats aliens differently than citizens considered invidious?

7652	Barham v. Grant, 185 Ga. 601, 602, 196 S.E. 43, 46 (1937)	3	County authorities cannot lawfully discontinue a public road, either in whole or in part, except in manner provided by law, after application and notice of registration in proper office. Code 1933, S 95-207.	The county authorities cannot lawfully discontinue a public road, either in whole or in part, except in the manner provided by law, after application, and notice of registration in the proper office. Code, 95-207;	Can county authorities lawfully discontinue a public road?
7653	Taylor v. Bd. of Ed. of Cabell Cty., 152 W. Va. 761, 767 (1969)	1	General rule is that pension granted by public authority is not contractual obligation but is gratuitous allowance, in continuance of which pensioner has no vested right, and, accordingly, pension is terminable or alterable at will of grantor.	[1] The general rule, supported by the clear weight of authority, is that a pension granted by a public authority is not a contractual obligation but is a gratuitous allowance, in the continuance of which the 154 pensioner has no vested right, and accordingly, the pension is terminable or alterable at the will of the grantor.	Is pension granted by public authority or is it a contractual obligation?
7654	Reynolds v. Reynolds, 14 Cal. App. 2d 481	8	When a deposition is taken upon written interrogatories, opposing party or his counsel have right to be present, and exclusion of defendant and her counsel from taking of deposition of plaintiff on written interrogatories voided the procedure, even if it were otherwise valid. Code, S 38-2101.	It is clear from this provision, in connection with other provisions *245 of the discovery mechanism of the adopted Federal Rules, that when a deposition is taken upon written interrogatories, the opposing party or his counsel have the right to be present. The exclusion of the defendant and her counsel from the taking of the deposition of the plaintiff on written interrogatories would void the procedure, if otherwise valid.	Do the exclusion of defendant and a counsel from taking of deposition of plaintiff on written interrogatories make void the procedure even if it were otherwise valid?
7657	Finks v. Middleton, 795 S.E.2d 789, 795 (N.C. App. 2016)	8	Standing concerns the trial court's subject matter jurisdiction and is therefore properly challenged by a motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction. N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1).	"Standing concerns the trial court's subject matter jurisdiction and is therefore properly challenged by a Rule 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss." *	"Is standing, which is properly challenged by motion to dismiss, a necessary prerequisite to a court's proper exercise of subject matter jurisdiction?"
7658	Messner v. Am. Union Ins. Co., 119 S.W.3d 642, 649 (Mo. Ct. App. 2003)	11	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract; thus, contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option "where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract." 7 Id. at 503-04[9]. This means, inter alia, that contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Is subrogation or equitable subrogation applicable where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract?

7659	Bidart Bros. v. California Apple Comm'n, 73 F.3d 925, 931 (9th Cir. 1996)	3	Three primary factors for determining whether assessment is "tax" under Tax Injunction Act (TIA) include: entity that imposes assessment; parties upon whom assessment is imposed; and whether assessment is expended for general public purposes, or used for regulation or benefit of parties upon whom assessment is imposed. 28 U.S.C.A. S 1341.	The San Juan Cellular test calls for the consideration of three primary factors in determining whether an assessment is a tax: (1) the entity that imposes the assessment; (2) the parties upon whom the assessment is imposed; and (3) whether the assessment is expended for general public purposes, or used for the regulation or benefit of the parties upon whom the assessment is imposed.	Is San Juan Cellular test used to determine whether an assessment is a tax?
7662	Marler v. Moultrie-Shelby Farm Serv., 11 Ill. App. 3d 204, 207 (1973)	3	To become binding upon parties, custom or usage must have antiquity, uniformity and universality and must have continued for sufficient length of time that parties must have contracted in relation to it.	A custom or usage to become binding upon the parties must have antiquity as well as uniformity and universality and have continued for a sufficient length of time that the parties must have contracted in relation to it.	"In order for a custom or usage to be binding, must it have antiquity, uniformity and universality?"
7668	LaSalle Nat. Bank v. City of Highland Park, 344 Ill. App. 3d 259, 274-75 (2003)	15	Illinois is a fact-pleading state; accordingly, a pleader is required to set out the ultimate facts that support his or her cause of action, and legal conclusions unsupported by allegations of specific facts are insufficient.	Accordingly, a pleader is required to set out the ultimate facts that support his or her cause of action, *275 and legal conclusions unsupported by allegations of specific facts are insufficient.	Is the pleader required to set out ultimate facts that support his or her cause of action?
7669	Youssef v. Jones, 77 Ohio App. 3d 500, 509, 602 N.E.2d 1176, 1181-82 (1991)	10	Even if requesting party is able to prove matter requested to be admitted, responding party should not be charged for cost of proving issue, since denial based on belief that matter was disputable is good reason for not admitting matter. Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 36(A), 37(C); R.C. S 2335.06.	Even if the requesting party is then able to prove 1182 the matter requested to be admitted, the responding party should not be charged for the cost of proving that issue under Civ.R. 37(C) since his denial based on a belief that the matter was disputable was a good reason for not admitting the matter.	"Should a party who unjustifiably fails to admit the truth of a matter requested, pay petitioning party ""the reasonable expenses incurred in making that proof?"
7670	Black & White Cab Co. v. Doville, 221 Ark. 66, 69, 251 S.W.2d 1005, 1007 (1952)	4	The granting of a continuance is within the sound discretion of the trial court, and it is not an abuse of discretion to refuse to continue a cause on account of the absence of a witness when there appears no reasonable assurance of finding that witness.	The granting of a continuance is within the sound discretion of the trial court; and it is not an abuse of discretion to refuse to continue a cause on account of the absence of a witness when there appears no reasonable assurance of finding the witness.	Will a refusal of continuance on ground of absence of witnesses be an abuse of discretion?
7672	R.C. Const. Co. v. Nat'l Office Sys., 622 So. 2d 1253, 1255 (Miss. 1993)	3	On motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, all allegations of complaint, together with reasonable inferences flowing therefrom, are accepted as true.	On a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, all allegations of the complaint, together with reasonable inferences flowing therefrom, are accepted as true.	"On a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, are all allegations of the complaint accepted as true?"
7674	In re Knight's Estate, Knight, 31 Wash. 2d 813, 817, 199 P.2d 89, 91 (1948)	5	An inheritance tax, like any other tax, is a legal imposition exclusively of statutory origin and, consequently, any liability for payment thereof must be found in the statute, or else it does not exist. Rem.Supp.1945, S 11201.	An inheritance tax, like any other tax, is a legal imposition exclusively of statutory origin and consequently, any liability for payment thereof must be found in the statute, or else it does not exist.	Is tax a legal imposition exclusively of statutory origin?

7675	Jenkins v. Weyerhaeuser Co., 143 Wash. App. 246, 253, 177 P.3d 180, 184 (2008)	1	Under the Industrial Insurance Act (IIA), which is the product of a compromise between employers and workers, employers accepted limited liability for claims that might not have been compensable under the common law and, in exchange, workers forfeited common law remedies. West's RCWA 51.04.010 et seq.	Industrial Insurance Act [1] [2] 13 "The IIA is the product of a compromise between employers and workers. Under the IIA, employers accepted limited liability for claims that might not have been compensable under the common law. In exchange, workers forfeited common law remedies."	"Under the Industrial Insurance Act, what did the employers accept and what did the workers forfeit?"
7676	Piersall v. Winter, 507 F. Supp. 2d 23, 29 (D.D.C. 2007)	1	Under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, military commanders can punish service personnel through judicial proceedings-taking the form of general, special, or summary courts martial-or by imposing non-judicial punishment ("NJP"). 10 U.S.C.A. S 815.	Under the Uniform Code of Military Justice, military commanders can punish service personnel through judicial proceedings-taking the form of general, special, or summary courts martial-or by imposing non-judicial punishment ("NJP").	Can military commanders punish service personnel through judicial proceedings?
7677	United States v. O'Brien, 994 F. Supp. 2d 167, 184 (D. Mass. 2014)	23	Generally, in a bribery case, whether wages are bona fide and paid in the usual course of business are questions of fact for the jury. 18 U.S.C.A. S 666(c).	99-797, at 30 (1986), reprinted in 1986 U.S.C.C.A.N. 6138, 6153). Generally, whether wages are "bona fide" and paid "in the usual course of business" are questions of fact for the jury.	"In relation to an exception to bribery statute, the question whether wages are bona fide and paid in the usual course of business are questions of fact for the jury?"
7679	Sun Operating Ltd. P'ship v. Oatman, 911 S.W.2d 749, 757 (Tex. App. 1995)	17	When surface is separated from minerals, adverse possession of mineral rights is accomplished by drilling and producing for statutory period of time.	When the surface is separated from the minerals, adverse possession of mineral rights is accomplished by drilling and producing for the statutory period of time.	"When the surface is separate from the minerals, may adverse possession be accomplished by drilling and producing for the statutory period of time?"
7681	Drumm Corp. v. Wright, 326 Ga. App. 41, 41, 755 S.E.2d 850, 852 (2014)	3	To the extent that defendant's evidence alleging lack of personal jurisdiction controverts the allegations of the complaint, plaintiff may not rely on mere allegations, but must also submit supporting affidavits or documentary evidence.	And "to the extent that defendant's evidence controverts the allegations of the complaint, plaintiff may not rely on mere allegations, but must also submit supporting affidavits or documentary evidence."	Does a defendant who files a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction have the burden of proving lack of jurisdiction?
7684	Johnston v. Johnston, 825 N.E.2d 958, 962 (Ind. Ct. App. 2005)	6	Challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as affirmative defense in answer to complaint, or in motion to dismiss.	Furthermore, a challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss.	"Can a challenge to personal jurisdiction be raised either as affirmative defense in answer to complaint, or in motion to dismiss?"

7686	Venetian Salami Co. v. Parthenais, 554 So. 2d 499, 502 (Fla. 1989)	3	Plaintiff may seek to obtain jurisdiction over nonresident defendant by pleading the basis for service in the language of the statute, without pleading supporting facts; defendant's filing of motion to dismiss on grounds of lack of jurisdiction over the person does nothing more than raise legal sufficiency of the pleadings and, defendant wishing to contest the allegations of the complaint concerning jurisdiction or to raise a contention of minimum contacts must file affidavits in support of his position. West's F.S.A. S 48.193; West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.070(i)	Initially, the plaintiff may seek to obtain jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant by pleading the basis for service in the language of the statute without pleading the supporting facts. Fla.R.Civ.P. 1.070(i); Jones v. Jack Maxton Chevrolet, Inc., 484 So.2d 43 (Fla. 1st DCA 1986). By itself, the filing of a motion to dismiss on grounds of lack of jurisdiction over the person does nothing more than raise the legal sufficiency of the pleadings. Elmex Corp. v. Atlantic Fed. Savings & Loan Ass'n, 325 So.2d 58 (Fla.4th DCA 1976). A defendant wishing to contest the allegations of the complaint concerning jurisdiction or to raise a contention of minimum contacts must file affidavits in support of his position.	"If only the motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction is filed, then does the defendant merely raise the legal sufficiency of the pleadings?"
7688	Maddox v. Stone, 174 Md. App. 489, 507 (2007)	11	Scheduling orders must be given respect as orders of the circuit court, and the court may, under appropriate circumstances, impose sanctions upon parties who fail to comply with the deadlines in scheduling orders. Md.Rule 2-504.	Scheduling orders must be given respect as orders of the circuit court, and the court may, under appropriate circumstances, impose sanctions upon parties who fail to comply with the deadlines in scheduling orders.	Should scheduling orders be given respect as orders of the circuit court?
7691	Nashville, C. & St. L. Ry. v. Wallace, 288 U.S. 249, 268 (1933)	11	Taxing power does not depend upon taxpayer's enjoyment of any special benefit from use of funds raised by taxation. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14.	194), and the constitutional power to levy taxes does not depend upon the enjoyment by the taxpayer of any special benefit from the use of the funds raised by taxation.	Does the taxing power depend upon taxpayer's enjoyment of benefit from use of funds raised by taxation?
7692	Twp. of Holmdel v. New Jersey Highway Auth., 190 N.J. 74, 87, 918 A.2d 603, 610 (2007)	2	All real property within New Jersey is subject to taxation unless expressly exempted by the Legislature. N.J.S.A. Const. Art. 8, S 1, par. 2; N.J.S.A. 54:4-1.	All real property within New Jersey is subject to taxation, N.J.S.A. 54:4-1, unless expressly exempted by the Legislature, see N.J. Const. art. VIII, 1, 2 (authorizing legislative tax exemptions).	Is all real property within state subject to taxation unless expressly exempted by the Legislature?
7693	Gulf States Underwriters of Louisiana v. Bennett, 260 Ga. App. 699, 704 (2003)	13	Workers' Compensation Act constitutes complete code of laws upon subject, and recoverability of workers' compensation benefits is strictly matter of statutory construction, because there is no common law right to such benefits. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 34-9-1 et seq.	"The Workers' Compensation Act constitutes a complete code of laws upon the subject, and the recoverability of workers' compensation benefits is strictly a matter of statutory construction, because there is no common law right to such benefits."	Is the Workers Compensation Act a complete code of laws?

7696	United States v. Anderson, 517 F.3d 953, 961 (7th Cir. 2008)	7	If the payer's intent is to influence or affect future actions, then the payment is a "bribe," within the meaning of the Sentencing Guidelines; if, on the other hand, the payer intends the money as a reward for actions the payee has already taken, or is already committed to take, then the payment is a "gratuity." U.S.S.G. SS 2C1.1, 2C1.2, 18 U.S.C.A.	Thus, we have distinguished bribes from gratuities as follows: "If the payer's intent is to influence or affect future actions, then the payment is a bribe. If, on the other hand, the payer intends the money as a reward for actions the payee has already taken, or is already committed to take, then the payment is a gratuity."	"When a payor intends to influence an official's future actions, what does the payment constitute?"
7698	NCNB Texas Nat. Bank, N.A. v. West, 631 So. 2d 212, 223 (Ala. 1993)	5	"Nonownership" theory of gas ownership, because it recognizes migratory nature of oil and gas, requires actual possession to establish ownership of resource, and right held by landowner is right to reduce oil and gas to possession or to sever right for economic consideration.	The nonownership theory of gas ownership, because it recognizes the migratory nature of oil and gas, requires actual possession to establish ownership of the resource, and the right held by the landowner is "the right to reduce the oil and gas to possession or to sever this right for economic consideration." Id.	Does the non-ownership theory recognize the migratory nature of oil and gas and require actual possession to establish ownership?
7699	In re Marriage of Peck, 242 Ariz. 345, 349, 395 P.3d 734, 738 (Ct. App. 2017)	13	If the petitioner's claim and the non-resident defendant's forum-related activities are not sufficiently connected, dismissal based on lack of jurisdiction is warranted.	If the petitioner's claim and the non-resident defendant's forum-related activities are not sufficiently connected, dismissal is warranted.	"If a petitioner's claim and the non-resident defendant's forum-related activities are not sufficiently connected, is dismissal based on lack of jurisdiction warranted?"
7700	Laflamme v. Goodwin, 911 N.E.2d 660, 664 (Ind. Ct. App. 2009)	8	A challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss, and in either case, once the party contesting jurisdiction challenges the lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff must present evidence to show that there is personal jurisdiction over the defendant.	A challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss. Johnston v. Johnston, 825 N.E.2d 958 (Ind.Ct.App.2005). In either case, once the party contesting jurisdiction challenges the lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff must present evidence to show that there is personal jurisdiction over the defendant.	Can a challenge to personal jurisdiction be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss?
7701	Gray v. Winthrop, 115 Fla. 721, 727 (1934)	7	State taxation is authorized, limited, and regulated by state Constitution and statutes enacted thereunder, subject only to applicable and controlling federal law, and state Constitution may designate or authorize statutory designations of classes of property exempt from taxation when organic property rights, secured by Federal Constitution, are not thereby violated.	Subject only to applicable and controlling federal law, state taxation is authorized, limited, and regulated by the state Constitution and by statutes enacted thereunder. The state Constitution may itself designate or may authorize statutory designations of classes of property that shall be taxed or that shall be exempt from taxation when organic property rights secured by the Federal Constitution are not thereby violated.	Can state constitution designate or authorize statutory designations of classes of property?

7703	Chacha v. Transp. USA, 78 So. 3d 727, 730 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2012)	1	A trial court has the inherent authority to dismiss a plaintiff's entire case when there is clear and convincing evidence that the plaintiff has committed a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings.	A trial court has the inherent authority to dismiss a plaintiff's entire case when there is clear and convincing evidence that the plaintiff has committed "a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings."	Does a trial court have the inherent authority to dismiss a suit when the plaintiff commits a fraud on the court?
7704	Clapper v. Oregon State Police, 228 Or. App. 172, 178, 206 P.3d 1135, 1139 (2009)	4	Where a case becomes moot, dismissal is the appropriate disposition, and, typically, when a judgment dismisses the complaint, the defending party is considered the prevailing party.	Where a case becomes moot, dismissal is the appropriate disposition, and, "[t]ypically, when a judgment dismisses the complaint, the defending party is considered the prevailing party.	Is dismissal the appropriate disposition where a case becomes moot and is the defending party considered the prevailing party when the complaint is dismissed?
7705	Dixie Fuel Co. v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., 171 F.3d 1052, 1057 (6th Cir. 1999)	3	Defendant who seeks to have a case dismissed as moot must demonstrate that there is no reasonable expectation that the alleged wrongs will be repeated.	The defendant who seeks to have a case dismissed as moot must demonstrate that "there is no reasonable expectation that the alleged wrongs will be repeated,"	"Should a defendant who seeks to have a case dismissed as moot, demonstrate that there is no reasonable expectation that the alleged wrongs will be repeated?"
7708	United Computer Sys. v. AT & T Corp., 298 F.3d 756, 765 (9th Cir. 2002)	16	Arbitration rights are subject to constructive waiver if three conditions are met: (1) the waiving party must have knowledge of an existing right to compel arbitration; (2) there must be acts by that party inconsistent with such an existing right; and (3) there must be prejudice resulting from the waiving party's inconsistent acts.	In the Ninth Circuit, arbitration rights are subject to constructive waiver if three conditions are met: (1) the waiving party must have knowledge of an existing right to compel arbitration; (2) there must be acts by that party inconsistent with such an existing right; and (3) there must be prejudice resulting from the waiving party's inconsistent acts.	When are arbitration rights subject to constructive waiver?
7709	Whitehall Oil Co. v. Heard, 197 So. 2d 672, 675 (La. Ct. App.), writ refused, 250 La. 924, 199 So. 2d 923 (1967)	3	A landowner cannot create a single servitude or mineral royalty right on two or more noncontiguous tracts, and if this is attempted by a single instrument, there are nevertheless as many servitudes or royalty interests as there are noncontiguous tracts of land.	Thus, for instance, a landowner cannot create a single servitude or mineral royalty right on two or more non-contiguous tracts; and if this is attempted by a single instrument, there are nevertheless as many servitudes or royalty interests as there are non-contiguous tracts of land.	Can a single mineral servitude be created on two or more noncontiguous tracts of land?
7711	Bowes v. Perkins, 169 Misc. 624, 627, 8 N.Y.S.2d 525, 528 (Sup. Ct. 1938)	5	The purpose of soldier's pension is to promote the soldier's comfort, to secure to him the bounty of the government free from the claims of creditors, and to insure him and his family a safe, although modest, maintenance so long as their needs require it.	The obvious purpose of the pension which the Judgment-Debtor receives is: 'to promote the comfort of the soldier; to secure to him the bounty of the government, free from the claims of creditors; and to insure him and his family a safe, although modest, maintenance so long as their needs required it.'	What is the purpose of a soldiers pension?

7712	Rodriguez v. Yenawine, 556 S.W.2d 410, 415 (Tex. Civ. App. 1977)	15	Pleading may be upheld when technical elements of cause of action, without allegations of ultimate facts to be proved, are alleged in petition. Rules of Civil Procedure, rules 45, 47.	Texas courts have upheld the pleading when the technical elements of a cause of action, without allegations of ultimate facts to be proved, were alleged in the petition. Pleadings have been held sufficient alleging "failure to keep a proper lookout," that "defendant is liable to plaintiff under the doctrine of discovered peril," and that defendant "failed to exercise the means then and there at his command to avert said collision."	"Should pleadings be upheld when technical elements of cause of action, without allegations of ultimate facts to be proved, are alleged?"
7715	Stephen Slesinger v. Walt Disney Co., 155 Cal. App. 4th 736, 758–59 (2007)	3	Because courts should hear only actual disputes, and should prevent harassment of defendants, California courts possess the inherent authority to dismiss cases that are fraudulent or vexatious.	Second, because courts should hear only actual disputes, and should prevent harassment of defendants, California courts *759 possess the inherent authority to dismiss cases that are fraudulent or "vexatious."	Does a court possess the inherent authority to dismiss cases that are fraudulent or vexatious?
7716	State ex rel. Gaylor v. Goodenow, 125 Ohio St. 3d 407, 410 (2010)	2	It is not the duty of a court to answer moot questions, and when, pending proceedings, an event occurs, without the fault of either party, which renders it impossible for the court to grant any relief, it will dismiss the action.	"It is not the duty of the court to answer moot questions, and when, pending proceedings * * * in this court, an event occurs, without the fault of either party, which renders it impossible for the court to grant any relief, it will dismiss the petition * * *."	Is it the duty of a court to answer moot questions?
7717	Kessler v. Lauretz, 39 Cal. App. 3d 441, 446–47, 114 Cal. Rptr. 42, 45 (Ct. App. 1974)	1	Court has inherent power by summary means to prevent abuse of its process and peremptorily to dispose of sham causes of action.	A court has inherent power by summary means to prevent an abuse *447 of its process and peremptorily to dispose of sham causes of action.	Does court have power to prevent abuse of its process and peremptorily to dispose of sham causes of action?
7719	Farrell v. Theriault, 464 A.2d 188, 192 (Me. 1983)	6	Party requesting continuance must make known to presiding justice substantial reasons why granting of continuance would serve to further justice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 40(b).	[T]he law has long required that the party requesting a continuance make known to the presiding justice substantial reasons why the granting of the continuance would serve to further justice.	Should a party seeking a continuance make known to the presiding justice substantial reasons why granting the continuance would serve to further justice?
7720	Wright v. Allen, 611 So. 2d 23, 24 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1992)	1	Ultimate sanction of dismissal may be appropriate in aggravated situations, but this generally requires deliberate and insubordinate disregard of court's authority, so as to amount to willful abuse of the process. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(b).	While this ultimate sanction may be appropriate in aggravated situations, see e.g., Johnson v. Landmark First National Bank, 415 So.2d 161 (Fla. 4th DCA 1982), this generally requires a deliberate and insubordinate disregard of the court's authority, so as to amount to a willful abuse of the process.	Can the ultimate sanction of dismissal be appropriate in aggravated situations?

7723	Gilbert v. Eckerd Corp. of Florida, 34 So. 3d 773, 776 (Fla. App. 2010)	9	The mere conflict between discovery depositions, interrogatories and records disclosed during the discovery process should not warrant dismissal on the basis of fraud on the court.	The mere conflict between discovery depositions, interrogatories and records disclosed during the discovery process should not warrant dismissal.	"Should the mere conflict between discovery depositions, interrogatories and records disclosed during the discovery process not warrant dismissal on the basis of fraud on the court?"
7724	Bogan v. Byrom, 151 So. 2d 718, 721 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	3	The court has the right and power to order a litigant to perform some act, procedural in character, and, upon his failure or refusal to do so, to dismiss his suit. LSA-C.C.P. art. 933.	And, it is settled in this State that the court has the right and power to order a litigant to perform some act, procedural in character, and upon his failure or refusal to do so, to dismiss his suit. LSA-C.C.P. Article 933; St.	"Can a court order a litigant to perform some action, procedural in character, and on his refusal to do so dismiss the suit?"
7725	State v. Fattorusso, 228 So. 2d 630, 633 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1969)	1	Trial court has inherent right to dismiss an action because of noncompliance with its orders in interests of orderly administration of justice.	We recognize the inherent right of the trial court to dismiss an action because of non-compliance with its orders in the interests of the orderly administration of justice.	Does a trial court have an inherent right to dismiss an action because of noncompliance with its orders in interests of orderly administration of justice?
7727	Flores v. Georgeson, 191 Cal. App. 4th 881, 887 (2011)	3	A court has inherent power, upon a sufficient factual showing, to dismiss an action shown to be sham, fictitious or without merit in order to prevent abuse of the judicial process.	A court has inherent power, upon a sufficient factual showing, to dismiss an action "shown to be sham, fictitious or without merit in order to prevent abuse of the judicial process."	Do courts have inherent power to dismiss a case which is collusive?
7729	Goodman v. Goodman, 165 S.W.3d 499, 501 (Mo. Ct. App. 2005)	4	A defendant may seek to have a civil action involuntarily dismissed for failure of the plaintiff to comply with any order of the court. V.A.M.R. 67.03.	A defendant may seek to have a civil action involuntarily dismissed for failure of the plaintiff to comply with "any order of the court." Rule 67.03.	Can a defendant seek to have a civil action involuntarily dismissed for failure of the plaintiff to comply with any order of the court?
7730	Reichert v. Union Fid. Life Ins. Co., 360 N.W.2d 664, 667 (Minn. Ct. App. 1985)	1	An action may be dismissed with prejudice for failure to prosecute, for noncompliance with the rules of civil procedure, or with an order of the court. 48 M.S.A., Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41.02(1).	An action may be dismissed with prejudice for a failure to prosecute, or for noncompliance with the Rules of Civil Procedure, or with an order of the court. Minn.R.Civ.P. 41.02(1).	"Can an action be dismissed with prejudice for failure to prosecute, for noncompliance with the rules of civil procedure, or with an order of the court?"
7731	Solak v. Sarowitz, 153 A.3d 729, 746 (Del. Ch. 2016)	17	It is inappropriate to dismiss a complaint based on an affirmative defense unless the plaintiff can prove no set of facts to avoid it.	65 It is inappropriate to dismiss a complaint based on an affirmative defense unless "plaintiff can prove no set of facts to avoid it:"	Would it be appropriate to dismiss a complaint based on an affirmative defense unless the plaintiff can prove no set of facts to avoid it?
7732	Hagan v. Fairfield, 16 Cal. Rptr. 14, 21 (1961)	12	Court has inherent power to dismiss action shown to be sham, fictitious, or without merit, so that there shall be no abuse of judicial process.	While a court has inherent power to dismiss an action when it is shown to be sham, fictitious or without merit, to the end that there shall be no abuse of the judicial process.	Does a court have inherent power to dismiss an action which is clearly shown to be sham and without merit?
7736	Denisen v. Milwaukee Mut. Ins. Co., 360 N.W.2d 448, 450 (Minn. Ct. App. 1985)	1	Minnesota workers' compensation law establishes an exclusive system of compensation in all but certain designated employments for injuries which result in disability or death to employees and which arise out of and in course of their employment. M.S.A. S 176.031.	The Minnesota workers' compensation law establishes an exclusive system of compensation in all but certain designated employments for injuries which result in disability or death to employees and which arise out of and in the course of their employment.	Is the workers compensation an exclusive system of compensation for injuries to the employees?

7737	Cty. of La Crosse v. Wisconsin Employment Relations Comm'n, 182 Wis. 2d 15, 29, 513 N.W.2d 579, 583 (1994)	4	Workers' Compensation Act represents legislative compromise between interests of employers, employees and public in resolving compensation disputes regarding work-related physical or mental harms arising in industrial society. W.S.A. 102.01 et seq.	The Worker's Compensation Act (Act) represents the legislative compromise between the interests of employers, employees and the public in resolving compensation disputes regarding work-related physical or mental harms arising in our industrial society.	What does the Workers Compensation Act represent?
7738	Mendoza v. Monmouth Recycling Corp., 288 N.J. Super. 240, 246 (App. Div. 1996)	4	Conceptual basis of workers' compensation system is substitution of statutory remedy for common-law right of action, with statutory remedy becoming integral component of contract of employment.	The conceptual basis of the workers' compensation system is the substitution of the statutory remedy for a common-law right of action, the statutory remedy becoming an integral component of the contract of employment.	Is the conceptual basis of workers compensation the substitution of a statutory remedy for common law?
7745	Weaver v. The Ctr. Bus., 578 So. 2d 427, 429 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1991)	2	Almost any discovery effort filed of record will preclude dismissal for failure to prosecute, unless effort is patently repetitious; court will no longer inquire how well effort advances cause. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(e).	Almost any discovery effort filed of record (unless patently repetitious) will preclude dismissal and a court can no longer inquire how well it advances the cause.	Are discovery efforts sufficient to preclude dismissal unless they are patently repetitious?
7747	Jones v. Vowell, 258 S.W.3d 383, 385 (2007)	3	The availability of dismissal for inaction or failure to prosecute is a tool for trial courts to dispose of cases "filed and forgotten." Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	The availability of dismissal for "inaction" or failure to prosecute is a tool for trial courts to dispose of cases "filed and forgotten."	"Is the rule governing dismissal of a suit for failure to prosecute, a tool for trial courts to dispose of cases filed and forgotten?"
7748	Goldberg v. Brooks, 409 Ill. App. 3d 106, 112, 948 N.E.2d 1108, 1114 (2011)	11	While affirmative matter in motion for involuntary dismissal must be more than evidence offered to refute a well-pleaded fact, if facts within an affidavit dispute the allegations of the complaint and are not contradicted by a counteraffidavit, the court must accept the facts in the affidavit as true. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	While affirmative matter must be more than evidence offered to refute a well-pleaded fact, if facts within an affidavit dispute the allegations of the complaint and are not contradicted by a counteraffidavit, the court must accept the facts in the affidavit as true.	When can the court accept the facts in the affidavit as true?
7749	Fillmore v. Walker, 2013 IL App (4th) 120533, ¶ 28, 991 N.E.2d 340, 345	2	If an affirmative defense already is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defendant need not plead the affirmative defense as an affirmative defense but instead may challenge the legal sufficiency of the complaint. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	If the affirmative defense already is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defendant need not plead the affirmative defense as an affirmative defense but instead may challenge the legal sufficiency of the complaint...	Would the defendant plead the affirmative defense if an affirmative defense is apparent on the face of the complaint?
7750	O'Callaghan v. Satherlie, 2015 IL App (1st) 142152, ¶ 18 (2015)	8	Although a defendant generally must plead an affirmative defense or face forfeiture, a defendant need not do so and instead may raise the affirmative defense in a motion to dismiss on the pleadings if the affirmative defense is apparent from the face of the complaint. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	Similarly, although a defendant generally must plead an affirmative defense or face forfeiture, a defendant need not do so and instead may raise the affirmative defense in a section 2-615 motion if the affirmative defense is apparent from the face of the complaint.	Would the defendant plead the affirmative defense if an affirmative defense is apparent on the face of the complaint?

7751	Fillmore v. Walker, 2013 IL App (4th) 120533, ¶ 28, 991 N.E.2d 340, 345	2	If an affirmative defense already is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defendant need not plead the affirmative defense as an affirmative defense but instead may challenge the legal sufficiency of the complaint. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	If the affirmative defense already is apparent on the face of the complaint, the defendant need not plead the affirmative defense as an affirmative defense but instead may challenge the legal sufficiency of the complaint...	What will the defendant need to do if an affirmative defense is apparent on the face of the complaint?
7752	Schroeder v. RGIS, Inc., 992 N.E.2d 509, 516 (Ill. App. 1st Dist. 2013)	1	When proceeding under Code of Civil Procedure section allowing dismissal of complaint when claim asserted is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim, the legal sufficiency of the complaint is admitted. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	A motion to dismiss brought pursuant to section 2-619(a)(9) of the Code allows for the involuntary dismissal of a complaint when the "claim asserted against defendant is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim." 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9) (West 2010). When proceeding under section 2-619 of the Code, the legal sufficiency of the complaint is admitted.	When will the legal sufficiency of the complaint be admitted?
7753	Trzop v. Hudson, 2015 IL App (1st) 150419, ¶ 63, 43 N.E.3d 178, 187	2	A motion to dismiss based upon certain defects or defenses admits the legal sufficiency of the plaintiffs' complaint, but asserts an affirmative defense or other matter that avoids or defeats the plaintiffs' claim. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	63 "A motion to dismiss, pursuant to section 2-619 of the Code, admits the legal sufficiency of the plaintiffs' complaint, but asserts an affirmative defense or other matter that avoids or defeats the plaintiffs' claim."	Will a motion for involuntary dismissal based on an affirmative matter admit the legal sufficiency of the complaint?
7756	Vaswani v. Ganobsek, 402 So. 2d 1350, 1351 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1981)	1	On motion to dismiss trial court must look solely to allegations of complaint; thus, if face of complaint contains allegations which demonstrate existence of affirmative defense, such defense can be considered on motion to dismiss, otherwise, affirmative defense may not be considered on motion to dismiss complaint. 30 West's F.S.A. Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 1.110(d).	The law is well-settled that on a motion to dismiss a trial court must look solely to the allegations of the complaint. Id. If the face of the complaint contains allegations which demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense, then such defense can be considered on a motion to dismiss. Fla.R.Civ.P. 1.110(d). Otherwise an affirmative defense may not be considered on a motion to dismiss a complaint.	When will a defense be considered on a motion to dismiss?
7758	McDevitt & St. Co. v. Trammell, 193 Ga. App. 646, 647, 389 S.E.2d 3, 5 (1989)	1	Workers' compensation law is statutory in origin and procedure, and the State Board of Workers' Compensation possesses only the jurisdiction, power, and authority granted to it by the legislature.	Workers' compensation law is statutory in origin and procedure, Continental Ins. Co. v. McDaniel, 118 Ga.App. 344, 345, 163 S.E.2d 923, and " [t]he [full board] is an administrative body and it possesses only the jurisdiction, power, and authority granted to it by the legislature.'	"Is the full board under the workers compensation law an administrative body that possesses only the jurisdiction, power, and authority granted to it by the legislature?"

7760	State v. Kouba, 319 N.W.2d 161, 163 (N.D. 1982)	2	Use of public highways is not absolute right which everyone has, and of which person cannot be deprived; it is instead a privilege which person enjoys subject to control of the state in its valid exercise of its police power.	The use of the public highways is not an absolute right which everyone has, and of which a person cannot be deprived; it is instead a privilege which a person enjoys subject to the control of the State in its valid exercise of its police power.	Is right to use the public highways an absolute right?
7761	Palmer v. Crews, 203 Miss. 806, 818 (1948)	1	A "royalty" is an interest in real estate entitling the royalty owner to a share in the production of oil, gas or other minerals therefrom.	In the outset, it is to be conceded that a royalty is an interest in real estate, entitling the royalty owner to a share in the production of oil, gas, or other minerals therefrom.	"Is a royalty an interest in real estate entitling the royalty owner to a share in the production of oil, gas, or other minerals?"
7764	Bertrand v. State ex rel. Dep't of Transp. & Dev., 2002-1163 (La. App. 3 Cir. 2/5/03), 838 So. 2d 136, 141 (2003)	4	Any step taken by plaintiff after three-year abandonment period has run is ineffective to prevent judgment of dismissal from being granted. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561, subd. A(1).	Additionally, any step taken by a plaintiff after the three-year period has run is ineffective to prevent a judgment of dismissal from being granted.	Is any step taken by a plaintiff after three-year abandonment period has run ineffective to prevent judgment of dismissal from being granted?
7769	Riddle v. State Highway Comm'n, 184 Kan. 603, 603-04 (1959)	4	Legislature has plenary power over highways and their use may be limited, controlled and regulated in the exercise of police power whenever necessary to promote the safety and general welfare of the people.	The legislature has plenary power over highways and their use may be limited, controlled and *604 regulated in the exercise of the police power whenever necessary to promote the safety and general welfare of the people.	Can there be limitation or exception on the plenary power of the legislature over highways?
7771	Smith v. Kowalski, 223 Mich. App. 610, 616 (1997)	10	When reviewing grant of summary disposition on ground that claim is barred by governmental immunity, Court of Appeals considers all documentary evidence submitted by the parties. MCR 2.116(C)(7).	When reviewing a grant of summary disposition on the ground that the claim is barred by governmental immunity, this Court considers all documentary evidence submitted by the parties.	Is summary disposition appropriate if a claim is barred because of immunity granted by law?
7773	Bilodeau v. Oliver Stores Inc., 116 N.H. 83, 87, 352 A.2d 741, 744 (1976)	3	Nature and extent of compensation to injured employee as well as the extent and manner by which a compensation payor can be reimbursed is governed by the express statutory language and that which can be fairly implied therefrom. RSA 281:1 et seq., 281:14.	The nature and extent of compensation to the injured employee as well as the extent and manner by which a compensation payor can be reimbursed is governed by the express statutory language and that which can be fairly implied therefrom.	What is the nature and extent of compensation to an injured employee governed by?
7774	Cantwell v. State of Connecticut, 310 U.S. 296, 308 (1940)	15	The state has power to prevent or punish when clear and present danger of riot, disorder, interference with traffic upon public streets, or other immediate threat to public safety, peace or order, appears, but state may not unduly suppress free communication of views, religious or other, under guise of conserving desirable conditions.	When clear and present danger of riot, disorder, interference with traffic upon the public streets, or other immediate threat to public safety, peace, or order, appears, the power of the state to prevent or punish is obvious. Equally obvious is it that a state may not unduly suppress free communication of views, religious or other, under the guise of conserving desirable conditions.	"Can the state unduly suppress free communication of views, religious or other, under guise of conserving desirable conditions?"

7775	City of Cleveland v. Egeland, 26 Ohio App. 3d 83, 86, 497 N.E.2d 1383, 1387 (1986)	1	One who voluntarily lies in street with knowledge that he will thereby divert traffic and without legal privilege to do so is not acting in lawful manner. R.C. S 4511.74.	One who voluntarily lies in the street with knowledge that he will thereby divert traffic and without a legal privilege to do so is not acting in a "lawful" manner. See R.C. 4511.74.	Whether a person who lays on the street with knowledge that he will divert traffic acts in lawful manner?
7776	Haegert v. McMullan, 953 N.E.2d 1223, 1231 (Ind. App. 2011)	11	Complaints made by a current student pursuant to a university anti-harassment policy are protected by an absolute privilege and cannot serve as the basis for civil liability to a person who is the subject of the complaint.	"[C]omplaints made by a current student pursuant to a university anti-harassment policy are protected by an absolute privilege and cannot serve as the basis for civil liability to a person who is the subject of the complaint."	Are complaints made by students protected by an absolute privilege?
7778	Kruse v. Schieve, 61 Wis. 2d 421, 431 (1973)	3	Allegations of alternative theories in a single count are construed as pleading only the least, rather than the greatest allegation, and are fatally defective if the least delegation does not state a cause of action.	The commingling of theories is in effect an allegation of alternative theories in a single count. Such allegations are construed as pleading only the least, rather than the greatest allegation, and are fatally defective if the least allegation does not state a cause of action.	Are allegations of alternative theories in a single count construed as pleading only the least?
7780	Lowery v. Lowery, 654 So. 2d 1218, 1219 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1995)	1	Motion to dismiss is not to be used as substitute for motion for judgment on the pleadings or motion for summary judgment; motion to dismiss is designed to test legal sufficiency of complaint but not to determine issues of fact.	We must again note that a motion to dismiss is not to be used as a substitute for a motion for judgment on the pleadings or a motion for summary judgment. Mettler, Inc. v. Ellen Tracy, Inc., 648 So.2d 253, 255 (Fla. 2d DCA 1994); Holland v. Anheuser Busch, Inc., 643 So.2d 621 (Fla. 2d DCA 1994). A motion to dismiss is designed to test the legal sufficiency of a complaint, not to determine issues of fact.	Is the purpose of a motion to dismiss is to test the legal sufficiency of a complaint and not to determine factual issues?
7791	Kurt Orban Co. v. Angeles Metal Sys., 573 F.2d 739, 740 (2d Cir. 1978)	4	Language of arbitration demands should not be subjected to same strict standards of construction that would be applied in formal court proceedings.	The language of arbitration demands should not be subjected to the same strict standards of construction that would be applied in formal court proceedings.	Is the language of arbitration subject to the same strict standards of construction that would applied in formal court proceedings?
7793	Ellsworth v. U.S. Bank, N.A., 908 F. Supp. 2d 1063, 1083 (N.D. Cal. 2012)	22	Under California law, payments of illegal claims enforced by duress, coercion, or compulsion, when the payor has no other adequate remedy to avoid it, will be deemed to have been made involuntarily and may be recovered, but the payment must have been enforced by coercion and there must have been no other adequate means available to prevent the loss.	"Payments of illegal claims enforced by duress, coercion or compulsion, when the payor has no other adequate remedy to avoid it, will be deemed to have been made involuntarily and may be recovered, but the payment must have been enforced by coercion and there must have been no other adequate means available to prevent the loss."	When is a payment deemed to be involuntary?

7795	Hampton v. Metro. Water Reclamation Dist. of Greater Chicago, 2016 IL 119861, 57 N.E.3d 1229, 1238 (Ill. 2016)	11	The critical inquiry in determining whether a pleading should be dismissed is whether the allegations, when construed in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, are sufficient to establish a cause of action upon which relief may be granted.	"The critical inquiry in determining whether a pleading should be dismissed * * * is whether the allegations, when construed in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, are sufficient to establish a cause of action upon which relief may be granted."	What is the critical inquiry in deciding a motion to dismiss on the pleadings?
7799	Lake Meredith Reservoir Co. v. Amity Mut. Irr. Co., 698 P.2d 1340, 1344 (Colo. 1985)	8	In absence of showing by plaintiff of mitigating circumstances or reasonable excuse for delay, unusual delay in prosecution justifies exercise of trial court's discretion in dismissing action. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b)(1, 2).	In the absence of a showing by the plaintiff of mitigating circumstances or a reasonable excuse for the delay, however, an unusual delay in prosecution justifies an exercise of the trial court's discretion in dismissing an action.	Does unusual delay in prosecuting action justify dismissal with prejudice?
7807	Cultum v. Heritage House Realtors, 103 Wash. 2d 623, 632, 694 P.2d 630, 636 (1985)	9	An agent has the duty to obey all reasonable instructions and directions given by the principal and to adhere faithfully to those instructions in all cases where they ought to be properly applied and in which they can be obeyed by the exercise of reasonable and diligent care.	It is the duty of an agent to obey all reasonable instructions and directions given by the principal and to adhere faithfully to them in all cases where they ought properly to be applied and in which they can be obeyed by the exercise of reasonable and diligent care.	Is an agent bound to obey all the reasonable duties given to him by the principal?
7810	Rodash v. AIB Mortg. Co., 16 F.3d 1142, 1144 (11th Cir. 1994)	3	Congress intended Truth in Lending Act (TILA) to create system of private attorneys general to aid its enforcement; thus, to further its remedial purpose, Court of Appeals liberally construes language in favor of consumer. Truth in Lending Act, S 102 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601 et seq.	Congress intended the statute to create a system of private attorneys general to aid its enforcement; thus, to further its remedial purpose, we liberally construe its language in favor of the consumer. McGowan v. King, Inc., 569 F.2d 845, 848 (5th Cir.1978).	How does Truth in Lending Act (TILA) favour the consumers or the borrowers?
7811	Schwen v. Kaye, 155 Cal. App. 3d 949, 951-52, 202 Cal. Rptr. 374, 375-76 (Ct. App. 1984)	1	Doctrine of estoppel by deed generally precludes grantor of real property from asserting, as against grantee, any right or title in derogation of deed; policy behind doctrine is to protect unwitting grantee who relies upon good title of grantor when latter does not possess legal or perfect title to property.	Civil Code section 1106 has as its genesis the common law doctrine of estoppel by deed. That doctrine generally precludes a grantor of real property from asserting, 376 as against the grantee, any right or title in derogation of the deed. (6A Powell, The Law of Real Property (1982) ¶ 927, p. 84-112.) The policy behind the doctrine is to protect an unwitting grantee who relies upon the good title of the grantor when the latter does not possess *952 legal or perfect title to the property.	Does the doctrine of estoppel by deed preclude a grantor of real property from asserting any right in derogation of the deed?

7812	Butler v. City of Eupora, 725 So. 2d 158, 160 (Miss. 1998)	1	While after-acquired title doctrine is founded upon premises of equitable estoppel, doctrine of equitable estoppel cannot be applied against state or its counties where acts of their officers were unauthorized. Code 1972, S 89-1-39; Rules App.Proc., Rule 8(c).	As the Court stated in Buchanan, 335 So.2d at 913, "the after-acquired title doctrine is founded upon premises of equitable estoppel." But it is also a well- established rule in Mississippi that the doctrine of equitable estoppel cannot be applied against the state or its counties where the acts of their officers were unauthorized.	Is the after-acquired title doctrine founded upon premises of equitable estoppel?
7813	Thormodsgard v. Wayne Twp. Bd. of Sup'rs, 310 N.W.2d 157, 159 (S.D. 1981)	1	Abandonment of section line right-of-way cannot be established solely by evidence that highway has never been open, improved or traveled, but rather, appropriate governing board must act affirmatively to vacate or abandon section line right-of-way. SDCL 31-3-1, 31-18-1.	Abandonment of a section line right-of-way cannot be established solely by evidence that the highway has never been open, improved, or traveled. Costain v. Turner County, 72 S.D. 427, 36 N.W.2d 382 (1949); Pederson v. Canton Township, 72 S.D. 332, 34 N.W.2d 172 (1949). The appropriate governing board must act affirmatively to vacate or abandon a section line right-of-way.	"Can the abandonment of a section line right-of-way be established by evidence that the highway has never been open, improved, or traveled?"
7814	Rodgers v. Whitley, 282 Ill. App. 3d 741, 746 (1996)	1	In considering and reviewing motion to dismiss, all well-pleaded facts must be taken as true and considered in light most favorable to plaintiffs. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	In considering and reviewing a section 2-615 motion to dismiss, all well-pleaded facts must be taken as true and considered in the light most favorable to the plaintiffs.	"In considering and reviewing motion to dismiss, should all well-pleaded facts be taken as true and considered in a light most favorable to plaintiffs?"
7815	Chen v. Lowe, 521 S.W.3d 587, 591 (Ky. Ct. App. 2017)	2	A trial court may properly consider matters outside of the pleadings in making its decision on a motion to dismiss.	A trial court "may properly consider matters outside of the pleadings in making its decision [on a motion to dismiss].	Can a trial court properly consider matters outside of the pleadings in making its decision on a motion to dismiss?
7816	Yellam v. Woerner, 77 Wash. 2d 604, 608, 464 P.2d 947, 949 (1970)	3	Rule providing for dismissal for want of prosecution is punitive or administrative in nature and every reasonable opportunity should be afforded to permit the parties to reach the merits of the controversy. CR 41(b) (1), (b) (2) (C).	The rule providing for dismissal for want of prosecution is punitive or administrative in nature and every reasonable opportunity should be afforded to permit the parties to reach the merits of the controversy.	Are dismissals for want of prosecution punitive or administrative in nature?
7817	Petroleum Ref. Co. v. McGlothlin, 429 S.W.2d 676, 678 (Tex. Civ. App. 1968)	2	A court has right to dismiss suit for failure to prosecute it with due diligence, despite fact that party whose suit is dismissed had no intention to abandon case and hoped to settle it.	It is now established law that a court has the right to dismiss a suit for failure to prosecute it with due diligence, despite the fact that the party whose suit is dismissed had no intention to abandon the case and hoped to settle it.	Can a court dismiss a case for want of prosecution even when the plaintiff states that he never intended to abandon suit and that he is currently ready for trial?
7818	Philadelphia Indem. Ins. Co. v. Pace Suburban Bus Serv., 2016 IL App (1st) 151659, ¶ 22, 67 N.E.3d 556, 564	6	When a motion to dismiss is based on facts not apparent from the face of the complaint, the movant must support its motion with affidavits or other evidence. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	"When a motion to dismiss is based on facts not apparent from the face of the complaint, the movant must support its motion with affidavits or other evidence."	"When a motion to dismiss is based on facts not apparent from the face of the complaint, should the movant support its motion with affidavits or other evidence?"

7819	Burton v. Dominion Nuclear Connecticut, 129 Conn. App. 203, 212–13, 21 A.3d 824, 829 (2011)	10	A motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts; if a resolution of a disputed fact is necessary to determine the existence of standing when raised by a motion to dismiss, a hearing may be held in which evidence is taken.	"[A] motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.... If a resolution of a disputed fact is necessary to determine the existence of standing when raised by a motion to dismiss, a hearing *213 may be held in which evidence is taken."	Does a motion to dismiss admit all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion?
7821	Acme Oil v. Vasatka, 465 So. 2d 1314, 1318 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1985)	8	The actions of an agent performing within scope of his real or apparent authority are binding upon his principal, regardless of whether principal had knowledge of the agent's action.	The actions of an agent performing within the scope of his real or apparent authority are binding upon his principal, regardless of whether the principal had knowledge of the agent's action.	Can an act of an agent performed within the scope of his real or apparent authority bind the principal?
7824	Beaudry v. TeleCheck Services, Inc., 579 F.3d 702, 706 (6th Cir. 2009)	2	Any actual damages sustained by a consumer as a result of a failure to comply with the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act are available as an alternative to the recovery of statutory damages. Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, S 813(a), 15 U.S.C.A. S 1692k(a).	[A]ny actual damage[s] sustained by [a consumer] as a result of [a] failure" to comply with the Fair Debt Collection Protection Act are available as an alternative to the recovery of statutory damages, suggesting that such damages are not a necessary precondition to suit.	Does a consumer have to suffer actual damages to recover statutory damages under the Fair Debt Collection Protection Act (FDCPA)?
7825	LVNV Funding, LLC v. Mavaega, 527 S.W.3d 128, 136 (Mo. Ct. App. 2017)	6	Under the Truth In Lending Act (TILA), a creditor is required to send periodic statements to a debtor at the end of each billing cycle where there is an outstanding balance or where a finance charge was imposed. Truth in Lending Act S 127, 15 U.S.C.A. S 1637(b).	Under TILA, "a creditor is required to send periodic statements to a debtor at the end of each billing cycle where there is an outstanding balance or where a finance charge was imposed."	Should a creditor send periodic statements to debtor where a finance charge was imposed?
7827	Forney 921 Lot Dev. Partners I v. Paul Taylor Homes, Ltd., 349 S.W.3d 258, 268 (Tex. App. 2011)	8	"Quasi-estoppel," or "estoppel by contract," is a term applied to certain legal bars, such as ratification, election, acquiescence, or acceptance of benefits.	Quasi-estoppel (estoppel by contract) is a term applied to certain legal bars, such as ratification, election, acquiescence, or acceptance of benefits.	"Is quasi-estoppel applied to certain legal bars, such as ratification, election, acquiescence, or acceptance of benefits?"
7828	H.R.B. v. J.L.G., 913 S.W.2d 92, 96 (Mo. App. 1995)	7	In reviewing dismissal of petition, reviewing courts must allow pleading its broadest intendment, treating all facts alleged as true and construing petition's allegations favorably to plaintiff.	In reviewing the dismissal of a petition, reviewing courts must allow the pleading its broadest intendment, treating all facts alleged as true and construing the petition's allegations favorably to the plaintiff.	Does a review of dismissal of a petition allow pleadings their broadest intendment?
7831	Seip v. Rogers Raw Materials Fund, 408 Ill. App. 3d 434, 440 (2011)	2	Facts contained in an affidavit in support of a motion to dismiss which are not contradicted by a counteraffidavit must be taken as true for purposes of the motion.	As we have held before, facts contained in an affidavit in support of a motion to dismiss which are not contradicted by a counteraffidavit must be taken as true for purposes of the motion.	Should facts contained in an affidavit in support of a motion to dismiss which are not contradicted by a counteraffidavit be taken as true for purposes of the motion?

7833	Branscum v. Am. Cmty. Mut. Ins. Co., 984 P.2d 675, 680 (Colo. App. 1999)	16	As a general rule, the acts performed or statements by an agent within the scope of real or apparent authority are binding on the principal regardless of whether the principal has actual knowledge of the agent's act.	As a general rule, the acts performed or statements by an agent within the scope of real or apparent authority are binding on the principal regardless whether the principal has actual knowledge of the agent's act.	Is the principal bound regardless of having actual knowledge of agents act?
7834	People v. Schupper, 140 P.3d 293, 298 (Colo. App. 2006)	12	The critical elements of attempt to influence a public servant are (1) an attempt to influence a public servant (2) by means of deceit or by threat of violence or economic reprisal (3) with the intent to alter or affect the public servant's decision or action. West's C.R.S.A. S 18-8-306.	The critical elements of this offense are (1) an attempt to influence a public servant (2) by means of deceit or by threat of violence or economic reprisal (3) with the intent to alter or affect the public servant's decision or action.	What are the critical elements of attempt to influence a public servant?
7835	Gwinn v. State, 201 Ind. 420, 166 N.E. 769, 770 (1929), overruled by Rohlfing v. State, 227 Ind. 619, 88 N.E.2d 148 (1949)	1	Probable cause for issuing search warrant may be shown by positive allegations of facts in affidavit or by sworn testimony.	Probable cause for issuing the search warrant may be shown to the issuing magistrate either by positive allegation of facts in the affidavit ¹ or by sworn testimony.	Can probable cause for issuing search warrant be shown by positive allegations or by sworn testimony?
7837	Epperson v. State of Ark., 393 U.S. 97, 106, 89 S. Ct. 266, 271, 21 L. Ed. 2d 228 (1968)	6	The First Amendment does not permit a state to require that teaching and learning be tailored to principles or prohibitions of any religious sect or dogma. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 1.	There is and can be no doubt that the First Amendment does not permit the State to require that teaching and learning must be tailored to the principles or prohibitions of any religious sect or dogma.	Does the First Amendment permit the State to require that teaching and learning be tailored to the principles or prohibitions of any religion?
7840	Ground Improvement Techniques v. Merchants Bonding Co., 707 So. 2d 1138, 1139 (Fla. App. 1998)	4	Any defendant seeking dismissal of suit based upon forum non conveniens must support motion by affidavit or other evidence offered under oath; only exception would be where complaint itself shows on its face that transfer is warranted. West's F.S.A. S 47.122; West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.061.	To be clear: any defendant seeking dismissal of a suit based upon Rule 1.061 forum non conveniens must support the motion by affidavit or other evidence offered under oath. The only exception would be where the complaint itself shows on its face that a forum non conveniens transfer is warranted.	Is the procedure to be followed under the forum non conveniens rule the same as the procedure to be followed under the forum non conveniens statute?
7841	Carl J. Herzog Found. v. Univ. of Bridgeport, 41 Conn. App. 790, 793, 677 A.2d 1378, 1380 (1996)	1	Motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	A motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	Does a motion to dismiss admit all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies a motion?
7843	DaCosta v. Trade-Winds Env't Restoration, Inc., 61 A.D.3d 627, 628, 877 N.Y.S.2d 373, 375 (2009)	3	On a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action, the court may consider affidavits submitted by the plaintiff to remedy any defects in the complaint. McKinney's CPLR 3211(a)(7).	On a motion to dismiss pursuant to CPLR 3211(a)(7), the court may consider affidavits submitted by the plaintiff to remedy any defects in the complaint	"When considering a motion to dismiss, can a court freely consider affidavits submitted by the plaintiff to remedy any defects in the complaint?"
7844	State v. Collie, 108 Ohio App. 3d 580, 583 (1996)	2	Generally, under menacing laws, state does not need to prove offender's ability to carry out threats or any movement toward carrying it out. R.C. SS 2903.21, 2903.22.	Generally, under the menacing laws, the state does not need to prove the offender's ability to carry out the threat or any movement toward carrying it out.	"Under menacing laws, does the state need to prove the offender's ability to carry out threats?"

7847	Rotert v. Faulkner, 660 S.W.2d 463, 468 (Mo. Ct. App. 1983)	2	Instruments that are not negotiable may, like negotiable instruments, be transferred by assignment, but the assignee of note that is not negotiable takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against note prior to notice of assignment. V.A.M.S. S 400.3-202(3).	Instruments that are not negotiable, such as the note here, may, like negotiable instruments, be transferred by assignment. Kaw Valley State Bank & Trust v. Commercial Bank of Liberty, 567 S.W.2d 710 (Mo.App.1978). The assignee of a note that is not negotiable, however, takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against the note prior to notice of the assignment.	Does an assignee of a nonnegotiable instrument take it subject to all defenses that the maker has against the instrument prior to notice of the assignment?
7848	Rotert v. Faulkner, 660 S.W.2d 463, 469 (Mo. Ct. App. 1983)	8	Even though note does not possess quality of negotiability, its owner may nonetheless, by assignment, transfer his interest to another, and any language, however informal, if it shows intention of owner of chose in action to transfer it, and sufficiently identifies subject matter, is sufficient to vest property therein in assignee.	It is thus established in Missouri that even though a note does not possess the quality of negotiability, its owner may nonetheless, by assignment, transfer his interest to another. Any language, however informal, if it shows the intention of the owner of a chose in action to transfer it, and sufficiently identifies the subject matter, is sufficient to vest the property therein in the assignee.	Is the intention of the owner sufficient to identify the subject matter?
7850	Greer v. Carter Oil Co., 373 Ill. 168, 176-77 (1940)	15	"Estoppel" is an impediment or bar to the assertion of a right of action arising by means of one's own act, or where he is forbidden to speak against his own act, and extends to and binds privies in blood, privies in estate, and privies in law.	an estoppel is defined to be an impediment or bar to the *177 assertion of a right of action arising by means of a man's own act or where he is forbidden to speak against his own act and extends to and binds privies in blood, privies in estate and privies in law.	"Is an estoppel an impediment to the assertion of a right, arising as a result of a man's own act?"
7851	State ex rel. Koster v. Morningland of the Ozarks, 384 S.W.3d 346, 351 (Mo. Ct. App. 2012)	13	While Missouri is a fact-pleading state, a motion for a more definite statement inherently concedes a cause of action, and a motion to dismiss is a more appropriate vehicle in contesting the sufficiency of a petition. V.A.M.R. 55.27(d).	" 'While Missouri is a fact-pleading state, ... a motion for a more definite statement inherently concedes a cause of action and a motion to dismiss is a more appropriate vehicle in contesting the sufficiency of a petition.' "	Does a motion for a more definite statement inherently concede a cause of action?
7852	In re Frost Nat. Bank, 103 S.W.3d 647, 649 (Tex. App. 2003)	4	The trial court loses its plenary power 30 days after it signs an order granting non-suit, or 75 days after it signs an order if a motion for new trial is filed.	The trial court loses its plenary power 30 days after it signs the order granting the non-suit (if no motion for new trial is filed), or 75 days after it signs the order (if a motion for new trial is filed).	Does the trial court lose its plenary power 30 days after it signs an order granting non-suit?
7854	Hicks v. Oxford, 113 Ga. App. 593, 593, 149 S.E.2d 192, 193 (1966)	1	Effect of a nonsuit is to promptly terminate the whole case, putting plaintiff out of court and leaving him at liberty to bring it again.	The effect of a nonsuit is to abruptly terminate the whole case, putting the plaintiff out of court and leaving him at liberty to bring it again.	"Is the effect of a nonsuit to promptly terminate the whole case, putting a plaintiff out of court and leaving him at liberty to bring it again?"

7855	Fisher v. Eckert, 94 Cal. App. 2d 890, 894, 212 P.2d 64, 67 (1949)	4	A dismissal of an action with prejudice is a final decision of the action and has the effect of terminating it and rights of the parties are affected by it to extent that it is "final judgment" in favor of defendants and defendants are entitled to recover costs. Code Civ.Proc. S 1032.	A dismissal of an action with prejudice is a final decision of the action and has the effect of terminating it and the rights of the parties are affected by it and in effect it is a final judgment in favor of defendants and defendants are entitled to recover their costs.	Is a dismissal of an action with prejudice a final decision of the action and has the effect of terminating it?
7857	Franck v. Farmers New World Life Ins. Co., 445 F. Supp. 2d 954, 962 (Ill. 2006)	7	Under Illinois law, four factors to determine whether an intermediary is an agent for a party: (1) who first set the intermediary in motion; (2) who could control his action; (3) who was to pay him; (4) and whose interests he was there to protect.	Illinois courts analyze four factors to determine whether an intermediary is an agent for a party: (1) who first set the intermediary in motion; (2) who could control his action; (3) who was to pay him; (4) and whose interests he was there to protect.	What are the factors used to determine whether an intermediary is an agent?
7860	Morris v. Ohio Cas. Ins. Co., 35 Ohio St. 3d 45, 50 (1988)	7	Unauthorized signature does not operate as signature of named payee, and, accordingly may not act to pass title to instrument or relieve drawer of his obligation to pay payee. R.C. SS 1301.01(QQ), 1303.40(A).	Thus, an unauthorized signature does not operate as the signature of the named payee and, accordingly, may not act to pass title to an instrument or relieve the drawer of his obligation to pay the payee.	Is a drawer of an instrument relieved of his obligation to pay the payee in cases where the signature on the instrument is unauthorized?
7861	Bernardo v. Anello, 61 Ohio App. 3d 453, 459, 573 N.E.2d 126, 129 (1988)	6	Unauthorized signature does not operate as signature of named payee and accordingly may not act to pass title to instrument or relieve drawer of his or her obligation to pay payee. R.C. S 1303.40(A).	Hence, an unauthorized signature does not operate as the signature of the named payee and accordingly may not act to pass title to an instrument or relieve the drawer of his obligation to pay the payee.	Is a drawer of an instrument relieved of his obligation to pay the payee in cases where the signature on the instrument is unauthorized?
7863	Rodgers v. RAB Invs., Ltd., 816 S.W.2d 543, 548 (Tex. App. 1991)	10	Every partner has inherent power to dissolve partnership even though dissolution would violate partnership agreement; dissolution may breach partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Every partner has the inherent power to dissolve a partnership even though the dissolution would violate the partnership agreement. Karrick v. Hannaman, 168 U.S. 328, 334–35, 18 S.Ct. 135, 138, 42 L.Ed. 484 (1897); Infusaid Corp. v. Intermedics Infusaid, Inc., 739 F.2d 661, 667 (1st Cir.1984); Woodruff v. Bryant, 558 S.W.2d 535, 539 (Tex.Civ.App.—Corpus Christi 1977, writ ref'd n.r.e.). The dissolution may breach the partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Does every partner have inherent power to dissolve a partnership even when the dissolution would violate the partnership agreement?
7866	Kohlenberger v. Tyson's Foods, 256 Ark. 584, 590 (1974)	6	Facts constituting cause of action must be averred by stating them in direct and positive allegations, and not by way of argument, inference or belief.	The facts constituting the cause of action must be averred by stating them in direct and positive allegations, and not by way of argument, inference or belief.	"Should facts constituting the cause of action be averred by way of argument, inference or belief?"

7867	Conte v. R & A Food Servs., 644 So. 2d 133, 133 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994)	2	Pleader may raise affirmative defense appearing on face of complaint as basis of motion to dismiss for failure to state cause of action. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.110(d).	We recognize that Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.110(d) permits a pleader to raise an affirmative defense appearing on the face of a complaint as a basis of a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action.	Can a pleader raise affirmative defense appearing on face of complaint?
7868	Lehnig v. Bornhop, 859 S.W.2d 271, 272 (Mo. Ct. App. 1993)	3	For affirmative defense to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss, defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiffs' pleadings.	For an affirmative defense to be sustained upon a bare motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiffs' pleadings.	Should defense be irrefutably established by plaintiffs' pleadings for affirmative defense to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss?
7869	Anthony v. Tidwell, 560 S.W.2d 908, 909 (Tenn. 1977)	1	Complaint is subject to dismissal for failure to state claim if affirmative defense clearly and unequivocally appears on face of complaint; it is not necessary for defendant to submit evidence in support of motion to dismiss when facts on which he relies to defeat plaintiff's claim are admitted by plaintiff in his complaint. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 12.02(6).	A complaint is subject to dismissal under rule 12.02(6) for failure to state a claim if an affirmative defense clearly and unequivocally appears on the face of the complaint. It is not necessary for the defendant to submit evidence in support of his motion when the facts on which he relies to defeat plaintiff's claim are admitted by the plaintiff in his complaint.	Will the defendant have to submit evidence in support of motion to dismiss when facts are admitted by plaintiff in his complaint?
7871	Kharrubi v. Bd. of Educ. of City of New York, 133 A.D.2d 457, 457, 519 N.Y.S.2d 671, 672 (1987)	2	On motion to vacate dismissal for failure to prosecute, affidavit of merit must be submitted by party with personal knowledge of facts; attorney's affirmation is hearsay and insufficient.	On a motion to vacate a dismissal pursuant to CPLR 3404, an affidavit of merit must be submitted by a party with personal knowledge of the facts. An attorney's affirmation is hearsay and insufficient	"On motion to vacate dismissal for failure to prosecute, should an affidavit of merit be submitted by a party with personal knowledge of facts?"
7872	Conway v. Castro, 321 S.W.3d 558, 561 (Tex. App. 2010)	1	Dismissal of an inmate's litigation claim with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits and operates as if the case had been fully tried and decided. V.T.C.A., Civil Practice & Remedies Code S 14.003(a).	Dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits and operates as if the case had been fully tried and decided.	Does a dismissal of an inmate's litigation claim with prejudice constitute an adjudication on the merits and operate as if the case had been fully tried and decided?
7873	Mullins v. Estelle High Sec. Unit, 111 S.W.3d 268, 274 (Tex. App. 2003)	17	The proper remedy, when a trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, is to dismiss the case without prejudice.	Generally, the proper remedy, when a court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, is to dismiss the case without prejudice.	"Is the proper remedy, when a trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, to dismiss the case without prejudice?"
7875	Ricketts v. Ricketts, 113 S.W.3d 255, 257 (Mo. Ct. App. 2003)	4	If the motion to dismiss stated no ground on which a dismissal of any of plaintiff's petition counts could be predicated or if the motion did not seek that relief, then the dismissal is not effective as to those counts.	"It also follows, of necessity, that if the motion stated no ground on which a dismissal of any of the petition counts could be predicated or if the motion did not seek that relief, then the dismissal was not effective as to those counts."	"If the motion to dismiss stated no ground on which a dismissal of any of plaintiff's petition counts could be predicated or if the motion did not seek that relief, then is the dismissal not effective as to those counts?"

7876	Crofts v. Court of Civil Appeals for Eighth Supreme Judicial Dist., 362 S.W.2d 101, 104 (Tex. 1962)	2	A dismissal is not an adjudication of the rights of the parties and merely places the parties in the position that they were in before the court's jurisdiction was invoked just as if the suit had never been brought.	It is elementary that a dismissal is in no way an adjudication of the rights of parties; it merely places the parties in the position that they were in before the court's jurisdiction was invoked just as if the suit had never been brought.	Is a dismissal not an adjudication of the rights of the parties and merely places the parties in the position they were in before the court's jurisdiction was invoked?
7877	Stacey O v. Donald P, 137 A.D.2d 965, 967, 525 N.Y.S.2d 385, 386 (1988)	1	Court has discretion to specify whether its order dismissing a claim is to have res judicata effect. McKinney's CPLR 3216(a), 5013.	A court has discretion to specify whether its order dismissing a claim is to have res judicata effect	Does a court have discretion to specify whether its order dismissing a claim is to have a res judicata effect?
7878	Household Fin. Corp. v. Avery, 476 S.W.2d 165, 168 (Mo. App. 1972)	6	When facts constituting defense affirmatively appear on face of petition, defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without necessity of specific motion or answer. V.A.M.R. Civil Rules 55.05, 55.33.	Nevertheless, a pleader may literally plead himself out of court, and when facts constituting a defense affirmatively appear upon the face of the petition, the defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without the necessity of a specific motion or answer.	Will the defense be interposed by motion to dismiss without the necessity of a specific motion or answer?
7879	Jones v. Alfa Mut. Ins. Co., 875 So. 2d 1189, 1193 (Ala. 2003)	2	The standard for granting a motion to dismiss based upon the expiration of the statute of limitations is whether the existence of the affirmative defense appears clearly on the face of the pleading.	"Next, the standard for granting a motion to dismiss based upon the expiration of the statute of limitations is whether the existence of the affirmative defense appears clearly on the face of the pleading."	What is the standard for granting a motion to dismiss an affirmative defense?
7880	Braggs v. Jim Skinner Ford, 396 So. 2d 1055, 1058 (Ala. 1981)	2	Standard for granting motion to dismiss based upon expiration of statute of limitations is whether existence of affirmative defense appears clearly on face of pleading.	Next, the standard for granting a motion to dismiss based upon the expiration of the statute of limitations is whether the existence of the affirmative defense appears clearly on the face of the pleading.	What is the standard for granting a motion to dismiss an affirmative defense?
7881	Caywood v. Gossett, 382 Ill. App. 3d 124, 129, 887 N.E.2d 686, 691 (2008)	4	Dismissal of complaint is allowed when the claim asserted is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619(a)(9).	A section 2-619(a)(9) motion to dismiss permits involuntary dismissal where "the claim asserted against defendant is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim." 735 ILCS 5/2- 619(a)(9).	Can a complaint be dismissed when the claim asserted is barred by other affirmative matter avoiding the legal effect of or defeating the claim?
7884	Smith v. Foodmaker, 928 S.W.2d 683, 688 (Tex. App. 1996)	5	General rule under California law is that where franchise agreement gives franchisor right of complete or substantial control over franchisee, agency relationship exists.	ANALYSIS UNDER CALIFORNIA AUTHORITY [5] [6] [7] [8] "The general rule is where a franchise agreement gives the franchisor the right of complete or substantial control over the franchisee, an agency relationship exists." Cislav v.	Do franchise agreements establish a principal-agent relationship between the franchisee and franchisor when the franchisor has the right of complete or substantial control over the franchisee?

7885	Thomas v. Ross & Hardies, 9 F. Supp. 2d 547, 556 (D. Md. 1998)	11	Under basic agency law, principal is liable for torts committed by its agent if agent acts with apparent authority, and this is true even if agent's act of fraud is committed solely to benefit agent.	Under basic agency law, a principal is liable for torts committed by its agent if the agent acts with apparent authority. See American Soc. of Mech. Engineers, Inc. v. Hydrolevel Corp., 456 U.S. 556, 565–66, 102 S.Ct. 1935, 72 L.Ed.2d 330 (1982). This is true even if the agent's act of fraud is committed solely to benefit the agent.	Is the Principal liable for fraud committed by an agent to solely benefit the agent?
7889	In re Mario S., 38 Misc. 3d 444, 450–51, 954 N.Y.S.2d 843, 849 (Fam. Ct. 2012)	7	Under the current special immigrant juvenile (SIJ) provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), in order to be eligible to petition the federal government for SIJ status, the resident alien must be under age 21 and unmarried, he or she must have been declared dependent upon a state juvenile court, and the juvenile court must have made two additional findings: (1) that reunification with one or both of the alien's parents is not viable due to abuse, neglect, abandonment, or a similar basis found under state law, and (2) that it would not be in the alien's best interest to be returned to the alien's or parent's previous country of nationality or country of last habitual residence. Immigration and Nationality Act, S 101(a)(27)(J), 8 U.S.C.A. S 1101(a)(27)(J)	Accordingly, under the current SIJ provisions enacted in 2008, in order “[t]o be eligible to petition the federal government for SIJ status, the resident alien must be under age 21 and unmarried. The child must have been declared dependent upon a state juvenile court ... [a]nd the juvenile court must have made two additional findings: (1) that reunification with one or *451 both of the immigrant's parents is not viable due to abuse, neglect, abandonment, or a similar basis found under State law; and (2) that it would not be in the alien's best interest to be returned to the alien's or parent's previous country of nationality or country of last habitual residence”	Is it required than an alien be under the age of 21 in order to be eligible for Special Immigrant Juvenile (SIJ) status?
7890	In re Mario S., 38 Misc. 3d 444, 450–51, 954 N.Y.S.2d 843, 849 (Fam. Ct. 2012)	7	Under the current special immigrant juvenile (SIJ) provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), in order to be eligible to petition the federal government for SIJ status, the resident alien must be under age 21 and unmarried, he or she must have been declared dependent upon a state juvenile court, and the juvenile court must have made two additional findings: (1) that reunification with one or both of the alien's parents is not viable due to abuse, neglect, abandonment, or a similar basis found under state law, and (2) that it would not be in the alien's best interest to be returned to the alien's or parent's previous country of nationality or country of last habitual residence. Immigration and Nationality Act, S 101(a)(27)(J), 8 U.S.C.A. S 1101(a)(27)(J).	Accordingly, under the current SIJ provisions enacted in 2008, in order “[t]o be eligible to petition the federal government for SIJ status, the resident alien must be under age 21 and unmarried. The child must have been declared dependent upon a state juvenile court ... [a]nd the juvenile court must have made two additional findings: (1) that reunification with one or *451 both of the immigrant's parents is not viable due to abuse, neglect, abandonment, or a similar basis found under State law; and (2) that it would not be in the alien's best interest to be returned to the alien's or parent's previous country of nationality or country of last habitual residence”	Does an alien have to be unmarried in order to be eligible for Special Immigrant Juvenile (SIJ) status?

7892	CSX Transp. v. Dir., Div. of Taxation, 393 N.J. Super. 235, 247, 923 A.2d 252, 259 (App. Div. 2007)	1	Franchise taxes are of two types, organization taxes, i.e., fees imposed upon the grant of corporate powers, and excises levied periodically, usually annually, upon the franchise or privilege of corporations to do business in the State.	"Franchise taxes are of two types, organization taxes, i.e., fees imposed upon the grant of corporate powers, and excises levied periodically, usually annually, upon the franchise or privilege of corporations to do business in the State.	What are the different types of franchise taxes?
7893	Rodgers v. RAB Invs., Ltd., 816 S.W.2d 543, 548 (Tex. App. 1991)	10	Every partner has inherent power to dissolve partnership even though dissolution would violate partnership agreement; dissolution may breach partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Every partner has the inherent power to dissolve a partnership even though the dissolution would violate the partnership agreement. Karrick v. Hannaman, 168 U.S. 328, 334–35, 18 S.Ct. 135, 138, 42 L.Ed. 484 (1897); Infusaid Corp. v. Intermedics Infusaid, Inc., 739 F.2d 661, 667 (1st Cir.1984); Woodruff v. Bryant, 558 S.W.2d 535, 539 (Tex.Civ.App.—Corpus Christi 1977, writ ref'd n.r.e.). The dissolution may breach the partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Does every partner have the inherent power to dissolve a partnership even when the dissolution would violate the partnership agreement?
7895	Household Fin. Corp. v. Avery, 476 S.W.2d 165, 168 (Mo. App. 1972)	6	When facts constituting defense affirmatively appear on face of petition, defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without necessity of specific motion or answer. V.A.M.R. Civil Rules 55.05, 55.33.	Nevertheless, a pleader may literally plead himself out of court, and when facts constituting a defense affirmatively appear upon the face of the petition, the defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without the necessity of a specific motion or answer.	When can a defense be interposed by motion to dismiss without necessity of specific motion or answer?
7896	Hatcher v. TDCJ-Institutional Div., 232 S.W.3d 921, 925 (Tex. App. 2007)	6	If an order dismissing a case does not state the grounds on which it was granted, the party seeking reinstatement must negate all possible grounds for dismissal.	"If an order dismissing a case does not state the grounds on which it was granted, the party seeking reinstatement must negate all possible grounds for dismissal."	"If an order dismissing a case does not state the grounds on which it was granted, should the party seeking reinstatement negate all possible grounds for dismissal?"
7899	Columbia Gulf Transmission Co. v. Bridges, 2008-1006 (La. App. 1 Cir. 6/25/09), 28 So. 3d 1032, 1038, writ denied, 2010-0249 (La. 4/5/10), 31 So. 3d 369, and writ denied, 2010-0116 (La. 4/5/10), 31 So. 3d 371	16	The "sales tax" is a tax imposed on the buyer's use or consumption of the item sold, that is passed on to the buyer or consumer through the addition of the sales tax to the purchase price. LSA-R.S. 47:302(A).	The sales tax is a tax imposed on the 8 buyer's use or consumption of the item sold, that is passed on to the buyer or consumer through the addition of the sales tax to the purchase price.	"Is a ""sales tax"" a tax imposed on the buyer's use or consumption of the item sold, that is passed on to the buyer or consumer?"

7900	Baker v. Forest Pres. Dist. of Cook Cty., 2015 IL App (1st) 141157, ¶ 39, 33 N.E.3d 745, 752	15	Special districts, like a county's Forest Preserve District (FPD), are creations of the Legislature and the statutes granting power to them are to be strictly construed and their powers are not to be enlarged by construction. S.H.A. Const. Art. 7, S 8.	Special districts, like the FPD, are creations of the legislature and the "[s]tatutes granting power to them are to be strictly construed and their powers are not to be enlarged by construction." Forest Preserve District v. Jirsa, 336 Ill. 624, 628, 168 N.E. 690 (1929); Ill. Const., 1970, art. VII 8.	Are Forest Preserve District (FPD) creations of the legislature and should the statutes granting power to them be strictly construed?
7901	Bolton v. Great Atl. & Pac. Tea Co., 245 So. 2d 452, 454 (La. Ct. App. 1971)	2	Although business is not hazardous per se, employee is covered by Workmen's Compensation Act when he is regularly exposed to or frequently brought in contact with hazardous feature of the business. LSA-R.S. 23:1035.	Although a business is not hazardous per se, an employee is nevertheless covered by the workmen's compensation act where he is regularly exposed to or frequently brought in contact with a hazardous feature of the business.	"If a business is not hazardous per se, is an employee covered by the workmens compensation act?"
7904	Clark v. Jesuit High Sch. of New Orleans, 572 So. 2d 830, 831 (La. Ct. App. 1990)	1	For school to be strictly liable for injuries caused by dangerous or hazardous condition on its premises, school authority must have had actual or constructive knowledge of unreasonably hazardous condition.	For a school to be strictly liable for injuries caused by a dangerous or hazardous condition on its premises, the school authority must have had actual or constructive knowledge of the unreasonably hazardous condition.	Schools has to have actual or constructive knowledge of the unreasonably hazardous conditions for it to be liable?
7905	Haven Homes v. Raritan Twp., 19 N.J. 239, 244-45 (1955)	2	The owner of land bounded on street or highway is presumed to own soil in front of his lot to middle of street, subject to easement of public highway, and nothing short of intention expressed in ipsis verbis, to exclude soil of highway, can exclude it.	And the same learned jurist, in an earlier case, held it to be established principle that 'the owner of land bounded *245 on a street or highway, is presumed to own the soil in front of his lot to the middle of the street, subject to the easement of the public highway.' Nothing short 'of an intention expressed In ipsis verbis, to 'exclude' the soil of the highway, can exclude it.'	Is the owner of land bounded on a street or highway presumed to own the soil in front of his lot to the middle of the street?
7906	Antenucci v. Hartford Roman Catholic Diocesan Corp., 142 Conn. 349, 356, 114 A.2d 216, 219 (Conn. 1955)	6	Owners of property adjoining highway have right to every use and profit which can be derived from it consistent with easement of public, and soil of highway descends to heirs and passes to grantees as an appurtenant to land adjoining, and whenever highway is discontinued, adjoining proprietors hold land discharged of easement.	The adjoining proprietors have a right to every use and profit which can be derived from it consistent with the easement. The soil of a highway descends to heirs and passes to grantees as an appurtenant to the land adjoining, and whenever the highway is discontinued, the adjoining proprietors hold the land discharged of the easement.	Do adjoining proprietors hold the land discharged of an easement when a highway is discontinued?
7907	Wayne v. Staples, Inc., 135 Cal. App. 4th 466, 476, 37 Cal. Rptr. 3d 544, 551 (2006)	4	The mere fact a contract involves shifting and distributing risk of loss does not necessarily mean the agreement constitutes an insurance contract for purposes of statutory regulation. West's Ann.Cal.Ins.Code S 22.	The mere fact a contract involves shifting and distributing risk of loss, however, " 'does not necessarily mean the agreement constitutes an insurance contract for purposes of statutory regulation.' "	Do all contracts involving risk shifting and risk distribution constitutes an insurance contract?

7908	Mackintosh-Hemphill Int'l v. Gulf & W., 451 Pa. Super. 385, 392 (1996)	1	Request to open judgment of non pros is by way of grace and not of right, and its grant or refusal is peculiarly a matter for lower court's discretion.	A request to open a judgment of non pros is by way of grace and not of right and its grant or refusal is peculiarly a matter for the [lower] court's discretion.	Is a request to open judgment of non pros by way of grace and not of right?
7911	Jackson v. Hous. Auth. of New Orleans, 478 So. 2d 911, 913 (La. Ct. App. 1985)	6	Amendment of suit after dismissal or final judgment should not be permitted; nevertheless, pleadings should be liberally construed so as to give pleader opportunity to present his evidence and to achieve substantial justice. LSA-C.C.P. art. 865.	[6] Amendment of a suit after dismissal or final judgment should not be permitted. Nevertheless, pleadings should be liberally construed so as to give the pleader an opportunity to present his evidence and to achieve substantial justice.	Should pleadings be liberally construed so as to give pleader opportunity to present his evidence and to achieve substantial justice?
7912	Friends of Everglades v. Bd. of Cty. Comm'rs of Monroe Cty., 456 So. 2d 904, 915 (Fla. App. 1984)	9	If facts in complaint appear amenable to amendment, dismissal without leave to amend may result in an abuse of discretion.	It is a well settled rule that if the facts in a complaint appear amenable to amendment, a dismissal without leave to amend may result in an abuse of discretion.	"If facts in complaint appear amenable to amendment, can dismissal without leave to amend result in an abuse of discretion?"
7914	Bobbin v. Sail the Sounds, 153 Conn. App. 716, 726, 107 A.3d 414, 420 (2014)	6	The ultimate determination regarding a motion to dismiss for lack of diligence is within the sound discretion of the trial court. Practice Book 1998, S 14-3(a).	"The ultimate determination regarding a motion to dismiss for lack of diligence is within the sound discretion of the court."	Is the ultimate determination regarding a motion to dismiss for lack of diligence within the sound discretion of the trial court?
7917	Foss Mar. Co. v. City of Seattle, 107 Wash. App. 669, 674 (2001)	3	A court of general jurisdiction has the inherent power to dismiss actions for lack of prosecution, but only when no court rule or statute governs the circumstances presented. CR 41(b)(1).	"A court of general jurisdiction has the inherent power to dismiss actions for lack of prosecution, but only when no court rule or statute governs the circumstances presented."	Does a court of general jurisdiction have the inherent power to dismiss actions for lack of prosecution?
7918	Bowman v. Slade, 501 So. 2d 1236, 1237 (Ala. Civ. App. 1987)	3	Dismissal of party's case and subsequent refusal to set aside dismissal for want of prosecution rests largely within sound discretion of trial court.	Finally, we note that the dismissal of a party's case and the subsequent refusal to set aside the dismissal for want of prosecution rests largely within the sound discretion of the trial court.	Is the dismissal for want of prosecution a matter within the discretion of trial court?
7919	Coven v. Heatley, 715 S.W.2d 739, 740 (Tex. App. 1986)	3	Court has inherent power to dismiss lawsuit for failure to prosecute with due diligence, separate and apart from statutory or rule authority.	A court has inherent power to dismiss a lawsuit for failure to prosecute with due diligence, separate and apart from statutory or rule authority.	Does the court have inherent power to dismiss lawsuit for failure to prosecute with due diligence?
7921	Little v. State Indus. Comm'n, 1936 OK 817	5	Forgery statute is aimed primarily at safeguarding confidence in genuineness of documents relied upon in commercial and business activity; such purpose underlies not only prohibition against forging false instrument but also against possessing or uttering such an instrument. W.S.A. 943.38.	A forgery statute is "aimed primarily at safeguarding confidence in the genuineness of documents relied upon in commercial and business activity." LaFave & Scott, Handbook on Criminal Law, p. 671 (1972). This purpose underlies not only the prohibition against forging a false instrument but also that against possessing or uttering such an instrument.	Is forgery primarily aimed at safeguarding confidence in the genuineness of documents used in commercial and business activities?

7923	AAA Disposal Sys. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., 355 Ill. App. 3d 275, 288 (Ill. App. 2005)	27	An "insurance policy" is a contract whereby one undertakes to indemnify another against loss, damage, or liability arising from an unknown or contingent event and is applicable only to some contingency or act to occur in the future.	An insurance policy is "[a] contract whereby one undertakes to indemnify another against loss, damage, or liability arising from an unknown or contingent event and is applicable only to some contingency or act to occur in [the] future.'	What kinds of acts are insurance policies applicable to?
7924	Simpson v. State, 26 Wash. App. 687, 691 (1980)	6	Pleadings are to be construed liberally; if complaint states facts entitling plaintiff to some relief it is immaterial by what name action is called.	Pleadings are to be construed liberally; if a complaint states facts entitling the plaintiff to some relief it is immaterial by what name the action is called.	"If a complaint states facts entitling the plaintiff to some relief, is it immaterial by what name the action is called?"
7925	Ellett v. Ellett, 542 S.E.2d 816, 817 (Va. App. 2001)	1	Appellate court will sustain demurrer if the plaintiff's complaint, considered in light most favorable to plaintiff, fails to state a valid cause of action, and in conducting its review, the court considers as true facts alleged in complaint, as well as reasonable inferences that can be drawn from such facts.	On appeal, we will sustain the demurrer if the husband's complaint, considered in the light most favorable to the husband, fails to state a valid cause of action. McDermott v. Reynolds, 260 Va. 98, 100, 530 S.E.2d 902, 903 (2000). In conducting our review, we consider as true the facts alleged in husband's complaint as well as the reasonable inferences that can be drawn from such facts.	"Will a demurrer be sustained if the complaint, considered in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, fails to state a valid cause of action?"
7926	Williams Studio Div. of Photography by Tallas, Inc. v. Nationwide Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 380 Pa. Super. 1, 7, 550 A.2d 1333, 1336 (1988)	2	After satisfying proper criteria, plaintiff may open judgment of non pros and institute another suit based on same cause of action. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 1037, 42 Pa.C.S.A.	However, after satisfying the proper criteria, a plaintiff may open a judgment of non pros and may institute another suit based on the same cause of action.	"After satisfying proper criteria, can a plaintiff open judgment of non pros and institute another suit based on a same cause of action?"
7927	Chrysler Fin. Servs. Americas v. Benjamin, 325 Ga. App. 579, 580, 754 S.E.2d 157, 158–59 (2014)	1	A trial court's order of dismissal for failure to prosecute is discretionary and is subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion.	At the outset, we note that a trial court's order of dismissal for failure to prosecute is discretionary and "is subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion."	Is a court's order of dismissal for failure to prosecute discretionary and subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion?
7932	Reich v. Lopez, 858 F.3d 55, 63 (2d Cir. 2017)	18	Owning property in forum does not alone establish domicile; one may have more than one residence in different parts of country or world, but person may have only one domicile.	Owning property in a forum does not alone establish domicile. "One may have more than one residence in different parts of this country or the world, but a person may have only one domicile."	"Can one have more than one residence in different parts of country or world, but a person may have only one domicile?"
7933	State v. Salas, 400 P.3d 251, 262 (Ct. App. 2017)	35	Double jeopardy protections generally do not apply in habitual offender proceedings because the proceedings do not have the hallmarks of a trial of guilt or innocence. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	We agree that "double jeopardy [protections] generally [do] not apply in ... habitual offender proceedings" because the proceedings do not have "the hallmarks of a trial of guilt or innocence[.]"	Do double jeopardy protections apply in habitual offender proceedings because the proceedings do not have the hallmarks of a trial of guilt or innocence?

7934	People v. Brandon, 40 Cal. App. 4th 1172, 1175, 47 Cal. Rptr. 2d 383, 385 (1995)	4	Although right to request mistrial or proceed to conclusion with same jury is fundamental right, law does not require that it be personally waived by accused nor does law require that accused be admonished concerning nature of right.	Although the right to request a mistrial or proceed to a conclusion with the same jury is a fundamental right, the law does not require that it be personally waived by an accused, nor does the law require that an accused be admonished concerning the nature of the right.	Is the right to request mistrial or proceed to conclusion with same jury a fundamental right?
7937	State v. Tolliver, 839 S.W.2d 296, 299 (Mo. 1992)	9	Generally, double jeopardy clause of Fifth Amendment bars retrial if judge grants mistrial without defendant's request or consent. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Generally, the double jeopardy clause bars retrial if a judge grants a mistrial without the defendant's request or consent.	"If the trial court declares a mistrial without the defendant's request for or consent to a mistrial, does the double jeopardy clause bar retrial of the defendant?"
7939	State v. Berger, 235 N.W.2d 254, 255 (N.D. 1975)	3	Double jeopardy clause does not prohibit retrial in every instance when first trial has terminated prior to verdict. NDCC 29-01-07; Const. S 13; U.S.C.A.Const. Amends. 5, 14.	The double jeopardy clause does not prohibit retrial in every instance when the first trial has terminated prior to a verdict or decision.	Does double jeopardy not prohibit retrial in every instance when a first trial has terminated prior to verdict?
7940	State Nat. Bank of Corpus Christi v. Morgan, 135 Tex. 509, 517 (Comm'n App. 1940)	5	A "bonus" as applied to an oil and gas lease is a sum of money paid by lessee in consideration for execution of lease as distinguished from a "return" or "royalty" reserved by the lessor which must be paid by the lessee throughout the term of the lease.	... "bonus" as applied to an oil and gas lease is thus defined: "A sum of money paid by a lessee to the lessor in consideration for the execution of a lease, as distinguished from the return or royalty reserved by the lessor to be paid by the lessee through the term of the lease."	Is a distinction between a bonus and a royalty that royalties are paid through the term of the lease?
7941	Hayes v. Vill. of Middleburgh, 140 A.D.3d 1359, 1361, 34 N.Y.S.3d 659, 661 (2016)	1	In order to vacate a dismissal for failure to appear, a plaintiff is required to demonstrate a reasonable excuse for his or her failure to appear and a potentially meritorious cause of action. N.Y.Ct.Rules, S 202.27(a).	"In order to vacate a dismissal pursuant to 22 NYCRR 202.27, [a] plaintiff [is] required to demonstrate a reasonable excuse for [his or her] failure to appear and a potentially meritorious cause of action"	In order to vacate a dismissal for failure to prosecute is a plaintiff required to demonstrate a justifiable excuse for her default?
7943	In re Commercial Money Ctr., 350 B.R. 465, 484 (9th Cir. 2006)	26	For purposes of determining whether a transaction is a sale or a loan for security, one useful factor is who is economically at risk.	For purposes of determining whether a transaction is a sale or a loan, one useful factor is who is economically at risk.	"For purposes of determining whether a transaction is a sale or a loan for security, is one useful factor who is economically at risk?"
7944	Price v. Drexel Burnham Lambert, Inc., 791 F.2d 1156, 1158 (5th Cir. 1986)	3	Although burden on one seeking to prove waiver of arbitration is a heavy one, waiver will be found when party seeking arbitration substantially invokes judicial process to the detriment or prejudice of the other party.	Although "[t]he burden on one seeking to prove a waiver of arbitration is a heavy one," Sibley v. Tandy Corp., 543 F.2d 540, 542 (5th Cir.1976), cert. denied, 434 U.S. 824, 98 S.Ct. 71, 54 L.Ed.2d 82 (1977), "[w]aiver will be found when the party seeking arbitration substantially invokes the judicial process to the detriment or prejudice of the other party."	Is there a heavy burden of proof on one seeking to prove a waiver of arbitration?

7947	State v. Picot, 98-2194 (La. App. 4 Cir. 11/10/98), 724 So. 2d 236, 238 (1998)	1	Habitual Offender Law creates no independent offense, but rather prescribes conditions under which there is enhanced penalty for current offense, and does not violate constitutional prohibitions against double jeopardy. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Habitual Offender Law creates no independent offense, but rather prescribes the conditions under which there is an enhanced penalty for the current offense and does not violate constitutional prohibitions against double jeopardy.	Does Habitual Offender Law create no independent offense?
7948	United States v. Rohde, 159 F.3d 1298, 1300 (10th Cir. 1998)	1	For double jeopardy purposes, the consideration of related but uncharged criminal conduct in calculating a sentence, or the enhancement of a sentence for obstructing justice by failing to appear at a hearing, do not constitute "punishment." U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	For double jeopardy purposes, the consideration of related but uncharged criminal conduct in calculating a sentence, or the enhancement of a sentence for obstructing justice by failing to appear at a hearing, do not constitute "punishment."	What do not constitute as punishment for double jeopardy purposes?
7950	Fields v. Palmdale Sch. Dist., 427 F.3d 1197, 1200 (9th Cir. 2005)	1	There is no fundamental due process right of parents to be the exclusive provider of information regarding sexual matters to their children, either independent of their right to direct the upbringing and education of their children or encompassed by it. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14.	We agree, and hold that there is no fundamental right of parents to be the exclusive provider of information regarding sexual matters to their children, either independent of their right to direct the upbringing and education of their children or encompassed by it.	Do parents have a constitutional right to teach their children about sexual matters?
7951	In re Lunan Family Restaurants, 194 B.R. 429, 450 (N.D. Ill. 1996)	71	Lease is not bona fide lease when it imposes obligations and confers rights significantly different from those arising out of ordinary landlord-tenant relationship.	A "lease" is not a bona fide lease when it imposes obligations and confers rights significantly different from those arising out of the ordinary landlord/ tenant relationship.	Is a lease a bona fide lease if it imposes obligations and confers rights significantly different from those arising from the landlord tenant relationship?
7952	Davis v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment of City of La Porte, 853 S.W.2d 650, 652 (Tex. App. 1993)	1	Trial court has inherent authority to dismiss lawsuit for party's failure to prosecute it with due diligence, even without statutory or rule authority.	A court has the authority to dismiss a suit for failure to prosecute it with due diligence even without statutory or rule authority.	Does the trial court have inherent power and authority to dismiss lawsuit for party's failure to prosecute suit with due diligence?
7953	Cox v. Cox, 976 So. 2d 869, 874 (Miss. 2008)	3	The power to dismiss for failure to prosecute is granted not only by rule, but is part of a trial court's inherent authority and is necessary for the orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	The power to dismiss for failure to prosecute is granted not only by Rule 41(b), but is part of a trial court's inherent authority and is necessary for "the orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket.	Is it a court's inherent authority to dismiss an action for plaintiff's failure to prosecute?
7954	Pelfrey v. Oconee Cty., 207 S.C. 433, 439-40 (1945)	1	The basic purpose of the Compensation Act is the inclusion of employers and employees and not their exclusion, and doubts of jurisdiction must be resolved in favor of inclusion rather than exclusion.	[T]hat the basic purpose of the Compensation Act is the inclusion *440 of employers and employees, and not their exclusion; 300 and we add that doubts of jurisdiction must be resolved in favor of inclusion rather than exclusion.'	"Under the Compensation Act, should doubts of jurisdiction be resolved in favor of inclusion rather than exclusion?"

7957	State v. Munoz, 11 Neb. App. 266, 273 (2002)	4	Under Nebraska Constitution, jeopardy attaches when judge, hearing case without jury, begins to hear evidence as to guilt or innocence of defendant. Const. Art. 1, S 12.	Under Neb. Const. art. I, & 12, jeopardy attaches when a judge, hearing a case without a jury, begins to hear evidence as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.	Is jeopardy attached when judge begins to hear evidence as to guilt or innocence of defendant?
7959	Sorum v. State, 526 S.W.3d 50, 57 (2017)	9	The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that no person shall be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb for the same offense. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that no person shall be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb for the same offense.	Does the law provide that no person shall be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb for the same offense?
7960	State v. Worthington, 582 S.W.2d 286, 291 (Mo. Ct. App. 1979)	10	To support defense of double jeopardy, it must be shown that person has been subjected to prosecution for same offense after prior acquittal for that offense. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 5.	To support the defense of double jeopardy it must be shown that a person has been subjected to a prosecution for the same offense after a prior acquittal for that offense.	"To support defense of double jeopardy, should it be shown that a person has been subjected to a prosecution for a same offense after prior acquittal for that offense?"
7961	Kleigman v. Justs. of Supreme Ct., Kings Cnty., 285 A.D.2d 646, 647, 728 N.Y.S.2d 761, 763 (2001)	1	Generally, double jeopardy will bar retrial when a mistrial is granted over the defendant's objection, or without his or her consent, unless the mistrial is granted as the product of manifest necessity; in determining whether such manifest necessity exists, there must be a high degree of necessity before concluding that a mistrial is appropriate, the reasons underlying the grant of a mistrial must be necessitous, actual and substantial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Generally, double jeopardy will bar retrial when a mistrial is granted over the defendant's objection, or without his or her consent, unless the mistrial is granted "as the product of manifest necessity" (Matter of Davis v. Brown, 87 N.Y.2d 626, 630, 641 N.Y.S.2d 819, 664 N.E.2d 884; see, People v. Ferguson, 67 N.Y.2d 383, 388, 502 N.Y.S.2d 972, 494 N.E.2d 77; Matter of Enright v. Siedlecki, 59 N.Y.2d 195, 199–200, 464 N.Y.S.2d 418, 451 N.E.2d 176; Matter of Rubinfeld v. Appelman, 230 A.D.2d 911, 646 N.Y.S.2d 879; Matter of Cohen v. Hanophy, 210 A.D.2d 327, 620 N.Y.S.2d 293). In determining whether such manifest necessity exists, there must be a high degree of necessity before concluding that a mistrial is appropriate, i.e., the reasons underlying the grant of a mistrial must be "necessitous, actual and substantial"	"Is a ""high degree"" of necessity sufficient to conclude that a mistrial is appropriate?"

7962	State v. Flenoy, 968 S.W.2d 141, 143 (Mo. 1998)	1	United States Constitution's Fifth Amendment Double Jeopardy Clause contains two distinct protections for criminal defendants: (a) protection from successive prosecutions for same offense after either acquittal or conviction, and (b) protection from multiple punishments for same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The United States Constitution's double jeopardy clause provides that no person shall be "subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb." The clause contains two distinct protections for criminal defendants: (a) protection from successive prosecutions for the same offense after either an acquittal or a conviction and (b) protection from multiple punishments for the same offense.	What are the two distinct protections given to a criminal defendant by the double jeopardy clause?
7963	State v. Bitzas, 164 A.3d 1091, 1109 (App. Div. 2017)	21	Jeopardy attaches to a defendant when he or she is put on trial in a court of competent jurisdiction upon a valid indictment and a jury is impaneled and sworn to determine the issue of his or her guilt or innocence of the crime charged. U.S. Const. Amendments. 5, 14; N.J. Const. art. 1, par. 11.	It is well-settled that "jeopardy attaches to a defendant when he [or she] is put on trial in a court of competent jurisdiction upon a valid indictment and a jury is impaneled and sworn to determine the issue of his guilt or innocence of the crime charged."	When would jeopardy attach to a defendant?
7965	Lamka v. KeyBank, 250 Or. App. 486, 492 (2012)	2	A party may amend a complaint once as a matter of right before a responsive pleading is served, even if the court has dismissed the complaint; it is only if the trial court grants a motion to dismiss after the plaintiff has already filed an amended complaint or the defendant has filed a responsive pleading, that the plaintiff must file a motion for leave to file an amended complaint. Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 21, 23.	Reading ORCP 23 A and ORCP 21 A together, we conclude that a party may amend a complaint once as a matter of right before a responsive pleading is served, even if the court has dismissed the complaint. It is only if the trial court grants a motion to dismiss after the plaintiff has already filed an amended complaint or the defendant has filed a responsive pleading, that, under ORCP 21 A, the plaintiff must file a motion for leave to file an amended complaint.	"Can a party amend a complaint once as a matter of right before a responsive pleading is served, even if the court has dismissed the complaint?"
7969	People v. Leske, 957 P.2d 1030, 1039 (Colo. 1998)	11	Statutory penalty enhancement provision, or penalty enhancer, is not substantive element of charged offense for purposes of double jeopardy and merger analysis. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's Const. Art. 2, S 18.	A statutory penalty enhancement provision, or "penalty enhancer," is not a substantive element of the charged offense for purposes of double jeopardy and merger analysis. See, e.g., Armintrout, 864 P.2d at 580 ("[A] sentence enhancement provision is not an element of the offense charged."); Henderson, 810 P.2d at 1064 (same).	Is a penalty enhancer a substantive element of the charged offense for purposes of double jeopardy analysis?
7970	State ex rel. Canterbury v. Paul, 205 W. Va. 665, 670 (1999)	6	As court costs are not punishment or part of the penalty for committing a crime, constitutional double jeopardy protections do not apply. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; Code, 59-2-11.	As costs are not punishment or part of the penalty for committing a crime, constitutional double jeopardy protections do not apply.	"As court costs are not punishment or part of the penalty for committing a crime, do constitutional double jeopardy protections not apply?"

7971	Cooper v. State, 2017 WL 5623582	2	Where a trial court declares a mistrial sua sponte or at the request of the prosecution, the mistrial must be the result of "manifest necessity" for the defendant to be subject to retrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Where a trial court declares a mistrial sua sponte or at the request of the prosecution, the mistrial must be the result of "manifest necessity" for the defendant to be subject to retrial.	Is the manifest necessity standard applicable when determining whether double jeopardy attaches following a trial court's sua sponte declaration of mistrial?
7972	Bergen Cty. v. Borough of Paramus, 158 N.J. Super. 512, 515, 386 A.2d 878, 879 (App. Div. 1978)	3	Because any impairment of taxing power affects lifeblood of government, claims for tax exemption have to stand scrutiny and show that they serve public purpose; burden of proof rests upon one asserting tax exemption to establish right.	Because "(a)ny impairment of the taxing power affects the lifeblood of government * * * claims for tax exemption have to stand scrutiny to show that they serve a public purpose." Id. at 44, 106 A.2d at 7. The burden of proof rests upon the one asserting a tax exemption to establish the right.	Should claims for tax exemption stand scrutiny to show that they serve a public purpose?
7973	Lawrence v. Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n, 759 F.2d 767, 773 (9th Cir. 1985)	4	For purposes of Commodity Exchange Act, if person intentionally does act which is prohibited, irrespective of evil motive or reliance on erroneous advice, or acts with careless disregard of statutory requirements, violation is willful. Commodity Exchange Act, SS 1-23, as amended, 7 U.S.C.A. SS 1-26.	For purposes of the Act, however, it is well settled that: [i]f a person 1) intentionally does an act which is prohibited, - irrespective of evil motive or reliance on erroneous advice, or 2) acts with careless disregard of statutory requirements, the violation is willful.	"In order to prove a willful violation of Commodity Exchange Act, must the evil motive of the defendant be proved?"
7978	Friends of P.S. , Inc. v. Jewish Home Lifecare, 146 A.D.3d 576, 578, 46 N.Y.S.3d 540, 544, aff'd sub nom. Friends of P.S. 163, Inc. v. Jewish Home Lifecare, 30 N.Y.3d 416, 90 N.E.3d 1253 (2017)	10	In arriving at conclusions under State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA), an agency may rely on consultants to conduct the analyses that support their environmental review of proposed projects. 6 NYCRR 617.9(b)(5)(v).	In arriving at its conclusions, "[a]n agency may rely on consultants to conduct the analyses that support their environmental review of proposed projects [citations omitted].	"When conducting an environmental review of a project, may an agency rely on consultants to conduct analyses, and exercise discretion when considering conflicting expert testimony? "
7981	Rhodehouse v. CVS Pharmacy, Inc., 151 A.D.3d 771, 772, 56 N.Y.S.3d 228, 229 (2017)	1	A court may not dismiss an action based on neglect to prosecute unless the statutory preconditions to dismissal are met. McKinney's CPLR 3216.	"A court may not dismiss an action based on neglect to prosecute unless the statutory preconditions to dismissal, as articulated in CPLR 3216, are met"	Can a court dismiss an action based on neglect to prosecute unless the statutory preconditions to dismissal are met?
7983	Oshana v. FCL Builders, Inc., 994 N.E.2d 77, 82 (Ill. App. 1st Dist. 2013)	2	A motion for involuntary dismissal based on certain defects or defenses admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint and raises defects, defenses, or other affirmative matters that defeat the claim. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	Furthermore, a section 2-619 motion to dismiss admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint and raises defects, defenses, or other affirmative matters that defeat the claim.	"Can a motion for involuntary dismissal raise defects, defenses, or other affirmative matters that defeat the claim? "
7987	Burns v. California Fair Plan, 152 Cal. App. 4th 646, 653, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809, 813 (2007)	6	The indemnity principle underlies the insurance contract, and it can never, without violence to its essence and spirit, be made by the assured a source of profit, its sole purpose being to guarantee against loss or damage.	It is a contract of indemnity. [] 'This principle underlies the contract, and it can never, without violence to its essence and spirit, be made by the assured a source of profit, its sole purpose being to guarantee against loss or damage.'	What is the underlying principle in all insurance contracts?

7988	Peachtree Dev. Co. v. Paul, 67 Ohio St. 2d 345, 350 (1981)	1	Test for determining whether action of legislative body is legislative or administrative is whether action taken is one enacting a law, ordinance or regulation, or executing or administering a law, ordinance or regulation already in existence.	"The test for determining whether the action of the legislative body is legislative or administrative is whether the action taken is one enacting a 1092 law, ordinance or regulation, or executing or administering a law, ordinance or regulation already in existence." Donnelly v.	How is it determined whether an action of a legislative body is legislative or administrative?
7991	People v. Stevenson, 12 N.E.3d 179, 186 (2014)	7	While oral motions in limine are permitted, a written motion should be used whenever complicated or sensitive evidence is at issue; this allows the movant to carefully identify the evidence sought to be excluded and articulate his or her argument in support, and prevents confusion and misunderstanding by defining the evidence at issue and capturing the movant's arguments.	While oral motions in limine are permitted, a written motion should be used whenever complicated or sensitive evidence is at issue. This allows the movant to carefully identify the evidence sought to be excluded and articulate his or her argument in support. A written motion prevents confusion and misunderstanding by defining the evidence at issue and capturing the movant's arguments.	"To prevent confusion and misunderstanding during trial, should the motion in limine be in writing?"
7992	City of Blue Springs, Mo. v. Cent. Dev. Ass'n, 684 S.W.2d 44, 51 (Mo. Ct. App. 1984)	10	Granting of certificate of convenience and necessity is mandate of utility's duty to serve all persons in franchise area it has undertaken to serve.	The granting of a certificate of convenience and necessity is a mandate of the utility's duty to serve all persons in the franchise area it has undertaken to serve.	Is granting a certificate of convenience and necessity a mandate of the utility's duty to serve all the people in the franchise area it has undertaken to serve?
7996	Whitmore v. Mut. Life Ins. Co. of N. Y., 122 Vt. 328, 328, 173 A.2d 584, 586 (1961)	1	Subsequent course of action in trial of a cause is controlled by agreement or admission made at pretrial conference. County Court Rules, rule 3A.	Our rule on procedure is that the subsequent course of action in the trial of a cause is controlled by agreement or admissions made at the pretrial conference.	Is a subsequent course of action in trial of case controlled by agreement or admissions made at a pretrial conference?
7997	In re Bennett, 960 S.W.2d 35, 38 (Tex. 1997)	3	Signing of order dismissing case, not filing of notice of nonsuit, determines when trial court's plenary power expires. Vernon%22s Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	However, the signing of an order dismissing a case, not the filing of a notice of nonsuit, is the starting point for determining when a trial court's plenary power expires.	Is the signing of an order dismissing a case the starting point for determining when a trial court's plenary power expires?
7998	Goodman v. Kennedy, 18 Cal. 3d 335, 349, 556 P.2d 737, 746 (1976)	16	It is generally an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect in the pleading can be cured by amendment. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. S 472c.	Generally it is an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect can be cured by amendment.	Is it an abuse of discretion to sustain a demurrer without leave to amend if there is any reasonable possibility that the defect can be cured by amendment?
7999	Arens v. United States, 24 Cl. Ct. 407, 414 (1991)	1	Claims Court will give great deference to military when reviewing matters which impinge upon military affairs and national defense.	This court believes it should give great deference to the military when reviewing matters which impinge upon military affairs and national defense.	Does the court accord great deference to military when reviewing matters which impinge upon military affairs and national defense?

8000	Marshall v. Vise, 767 S.W.2d 699, 700 (Tex. 1989)	1	Unanswered requests for admissions are automatically deemed admitted, unless court on motion permits their withdrawal or amendment. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 169.	Unanswered requests for admissions are automatically deemed admitted, unless the court on motion permits their withdrawal or amendment.	"Are unanswered requests for admissions deemed admitted, unless the court on motion permits their withdrawal or amendment?"
8001	Ballard v. United States, 430 A.2d 483	3	Elements required to establish offense of carnal knowledge or statutory rape are sexual intercourse with a female child under age of 16 regardless of whether force was used or assent given. D.C.C.E. S 22-2801.	while the elements required to establish the offense of carnal knowledge or statutory rape are (1) sexual intercourse with a female child, (2) under the age of sixteen regardless of *486 whether force was used or assent given.	Is carnal knowledge an element of rape?
8003	Laflamme v. Goodwin, 911 N.E.2d 660, 664 (Ind. Ct. App. 2009)	8	A challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss, and in either case, once the party contesting jurisdiction challenges the lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff must present evidence to show that there is personal jurisdiction over the defendant.	A challenge to personal jurisdiction may be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer to the complaint or in a motion to dismiss. Johnston v. Johnston, 825 N.E.2d 958 (Ind.Ct.App.2005). In either case, once the party contesting jurisdiction challenges the lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff must present evidence to show that there is personal jurisdiction over the defendant.	Can a challenge to personal jurisdiction be raised either as an affirmative defense in the answer or in a motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction over the person?
8004	Gestetner Holdings, PLC v. Nashua Corp., 784 F. Supp. 78, 82 (S.D.N.Y. 1992)	3	Where claims may be understood to raise an arbitrable issue, arbitration must be compelled even if claims can also be characterized another way.	Chung makes it clear that where claims may be understood to raise an arbitrable issue, arbitration must be compelled, even if the claims can also be characterized another way.	Do courts compel arbitration when claims raise an arbitrable issue even if the claims can also be characterized another way?
8008	Feuchter v. Bzurto, 22 Ariz. App. 427, 429, 528 P.2d 178, 180 (1974)	2	Opponent to a motion for summary judgment does not raise an issue of fact by merely stating in his affidavit that an issue of fact exists, but rather he must show that evidence is available which would justify a trial of that issue.	However, it is elementary that an opponent to a motion for summary judgment does not raise an issue of fact by merely stating in his affidavit that an issue of fact exists, but rather he must show that evidence is available which would justify a trial of that issue.	Is it fundamental that the affidavit present sufficient materials to show that there is a triable issue of material fact?
8009	Cirillo v. Slomin's Inc., 196 Misc.2d 922, 925, 768 N.Y.S.2d 759, 762 (Sup. Ct. 2003)	1	In ruling upon a motion to dismiss, the Court must accept the facts alleged as true and accord plaintiffs the benefit of every possible favorable inference. McKinney's CPLR 3211.	In ruling upon a motion to dismiss, the Court must accept the facts alleged as true and accord plaintiffs the benefit of every possible favorable inference.	"In ruling upon a motion to dismiss, can the court not address the merits of the complaint or any of its factual allegations?"

8012	Mahler v. Szucs, 135 Wash. 2d 398, 411 (1998)	1	"Subrogation" is an equitable doctrine the essential purpose of which is to provide for a proper allocation of payment responsibility; it seeks to impose ultimate responsibility for a wrong or loss on the party who, in equity and good conscience, ought to bear it.	. Subrogation is an equitable doctrine the essential purpose of which is to provide for a proper allocation of payment responsibility. It seeks to impose ultimate responsibility for a wrong or loss on the party who, in equity and good conscience, ought to bear it.	What is the purpose of Subrogation?
8018	Howard Univ. v. Metro. Campus Police Officer's Union, 512 F.3d 716, 720 (D.C. Cir. 2008)	6	Arbitration is a matter of consent; if a party submits to arbitration without objecting to the arbitrator's jurisdiction, then it may fairly be said to have consented to the arbitration, and the other party, having gone forward with the proceeding, may fairly be said to have relied upon that consent.	First, arbitration is a matter of consent; if a party submits to arbitration without objecting to the arbitrator's jurisdiction, then it may fairly be said to have consented to the arbitration, and the other party, having gone forward with the proceeding, may fairly be said to have relied upon that consent.	"If a party submits to arbitration without objecting to the arbitrator's jurisdiction, does he consent to the arbitration? "
8019	Cooney v. Osgood Mach., Inc., 81 N.Y.2d 66, 75, 612 N.E.2d 277, 282 (1993)	9	General scheme of workers' compensation acts is that an employer, regardless of culpability, is required to make specified payments to injured employee, and in exchange, law immunizes employer from further liability.	The general scheme of workers' compensation acts is that an employer regardless of culpability is required to make specified payments to an injured employee and in exchange, the law immunizes the employer from further liability.	What is the general scheme of the workers' compensation act?
8020	Eldridge v. Felec Servs., 920 F.2d 1434, 1436 (9th Cir. 1990)	3	Alaska Workers' Compensation Act creates substantial rights and duties which apply to all employment relationships and may not be waived by any employee. AS 23.30.005 et seq.	The Act creates substantial rights and duties which apply to all employment relationships 1 and may not be waived by any employee.	Does the Workers' Compensation Act create substantial rights and duties which apply to all employment relationships and which cannot be waived by any employee?
8022	State v. Cheek, 361 P.3d 679, 694 (2015)	25	The merger doctrine does not apply before trial, because the double jeopardy protections attach only when an accused is put on trial and a jury has been sworn and impaneled. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	However, "[t]he merger doctrine does not apply before trial because the double jeopardy protections attach only when an accused is put on trial ... and a jury has been sworn and impaneled."	Do the double jeopardy protections attach only when an accused is put on trial and a jury has been sworn and impaneled?
8023	Haire v. Smith, Currie & Hancock LLP, 925 F. Supp. 2d 126, 130 (D.D.C. 2013)	2	To the extent there are conflicts between state arbitration law and the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) that would contravene the pro-arbitration policies embodied in the FAA, the FAA applies and preempts such state laws. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	To the extent there are conflicts between state arbitration law and the FAA that would contravene the pro-arbitration policies embodied in the FAA, the FAA applies and preempts such state laws.	Does the FAA pre-empt state law when state arbitration laws contravene the pro-arbitration policies embodied in the FAA?
8024	Am. Sterling Bank v. Johnny Mgmt. LV, 126 Nev. 423, 428 (2010)	6	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy that requires a court to balance the equities based on the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	However, equitable subrogation is also an equitable remedy that requires the court to balance the equities based on the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	Does equitable subrogation requires court to balance the equities based on the facts and circumstances of each particular case?

8025	Szymczak v. Holland Cmty. Hosp., 187 Mich. App. 142, 146 (1991)	2	Benefits and liabilities arising out of workers' compensation statute do not create rights protected by contract clause of Federal or State Constitutions. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10, cl. 1; M.C.L.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10.	However, the Supreme Court has repeatedly held that benefits and liabilities arising out of the workers' compensation statute do not create rights protected by the Contract Clause . Romein v. General Motors Corp., 436 Mich. 515, 533, 462 N.W.2d 555 (1990); Selk v. Detroit Plastic Products, 419 Mich 1, 12, 345 N.W.2d 184 (1984); Lahti v.	Do the benefits and liabilities arising out of a workers' compensation statute create rights protected by the contract clause of the constitution?
8027	Caterpillar v. Usinor Industeel, 393 F. Supp. 2d 659, 669–70 (N.D. Ill. 2005)	4	Under Illinois law, test for agency is whether alleged principal has right to control manner in which work is carried out by alleged agent, and whether alleged agent can affect legal relationships of principal.	Under Illinois law, 15 the test for agency is whether the alleged principal has the right to control the manner in which work is carried out by the alleged agent, *670 and whether the alleged agent can affect the legal relationships of the principal.	Is the right to control the manner in which work is carried out by the agent a test of agency?
8028	Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. v. Price, 364 S.W.2d 260, 262 (Tex. Civ. App. 1963)	9	Phrase " cause of action or a part thereof accrued" means right to institute and maintain the suit, and, whenever one person may sue another, a cause of action has accrued.	" 'As a general rule, the accrual of a cause of action means the right to institute and maintain a suit, and whenever one person may sue another, a cause of action has accrued and the statute of limitations begins to run.' " Id.	"What does the phrase ""cause of action or a part thereof accrued"" mean?"
8029	Eckert Intern., Inc. v. Govt. of Sovereign Democratic Republic of Fiji, 834 F. Supp. 167, 171 (E.D. Va. 1993)	5	Purpose of act of state doctrine is to prevent judicial pronouncements that would disrupt foreign relations of United States.	The doctrine's purpose is to prevent judicial pronouncements that would disrupt this country's foreign relations.	Is the act of state doctrine's purpose to prevent judicial pronouncements that would disrupt the foreign relations of the United States?
8032	ACE Am. Ins. Co. v. Sandberg, Phoenix & Von Gontard, PC., 900 F. Supp. 2d 887, 893 (S.D. Ill. 2012)	2	In broad terms, "subrogation" is the substitution of a person or entity in place of a creditor to whose rights he succeeds in relation to a debt.	In broad terms, subrogation is the substitution of a person or entity in place of a creditor to whose rights he succeeds in relation to a debt.	Is subrogation the substitution of a person in place of a creditor to whose rights he succeeds in relation to a debt?
8033	Hoke ex rel. Reidenbach v. Elizabethtown Area Sch. Dist., 833 A.2d 304, 313 (Pa. 2003)	7	A court is not supposed to be a "super" school board and substitute its own judgment for that of the school district, and therefore, in the absence of a gross abuse of discretion, courts will not second-guess school policies; however, courts can intervene if schools act outside their statutory authority.	It is true that a court is not supposed to be a "super" school board and substitute its own judgment for that of the school district; therefore, in the absence of a gross abuse of discretion, courts will not second-guess school policies. However, courts can intervene if schools act outside their statutory authority.	"Can a court act as a ""super"" school board and substitute its own judgment for that of the school district?"
8034	Nadeau v. Nadeau, 10 Haw. App. 111, 111 (1993)	4	Request for continuance based on unavailability of crucial witness may be denied when requesting party could have obtained testimony of crucial witness in form of deposition or when denial is not prejudicial.	A request for a continuance based on the unavailability of a crucial witness may properly be denied when (1) the requesting party could have obtained the testimony of the crucial witness in the form of a deposition or (2) when the denial is not prejudicial.	Should a request for continuance based on unavailability of crucial witness be denied?

8037	Penn Cent. Transp. Co. v. Martin, 170 Ind. App. 519, 521, 353 N.E.2d 474, 476 (1976), holding modified by Fraley v. Minger, 829 N.E.2d 476 (Ind. 2005)	1	In order to establish title by adverse possession, adverse claimant must show that such possession was actual, visible, open and notorious, exclusive, under claim of ownership, hostile and continuous for the statutory period and in addition that the adverse claimant paid all taxes falling due on the land during the period he possessed such land adversely. IC 1971, 32-1-20-1.	In order to establish title by adverse possession, Martin had to show that such possession was (1) actual, (2) visible, (3) open and notorious, (4) exclusive, (5) under claim of ownership, (6) hostile, and (7) continuous for the statutory period. Longabaugh v. Johnson (1975), Ind.App., 321 N.E.2d 865, 868 (transfer denied); Cooper v. Tarpley (1942), 112 Ind.App. 1, 7, 41 N.E.2d 640, 642; Abel v. Love (1924), 81 Ind.App. 328, 336, 143 N.E. 515. In addition, an adverse possessor must show that he paid all taxes falling due on the land during the period he claims to have possessed such land adversely.	What requirements need to be fulfilled in order to claim a title under adverse possession?
8038	People v. Mau, 377 Ill. 199, 202 (1941)	1	At common law "forgery" is the false making or materially altering with intent to defraud of any writing, which, if genuine, might apparently be of legal efficacy or the foundation of a legal liability.	Common law forgery is defined in Bishop's New Criminal Law, volume 2, paragraph 523, as follows: 'Forgery, at the common law, is the false making or materially altering, with intent to defraud of any writing which, if genuine, might apparently be of legal efficacy or the foundation of a legal liability.	Does false making fall within the ambit of common law forgery?
8039	Rutland v. Georgia Power Co., 286 Ga. App. 14, 16 (2007)	6	"Implied notice" is that notice which is inferred or imputed to a party by reason of his knowledge of facts or circumstances collateral to the main fact, of such a character as to put him upon inquiry, and which, if inquiry were followed up with due diligence, would lead him directly to the knowledge of the main fact.	Implied notice is that notice which is inferred or imputed to a party by reason of his knowledge of facts or circumstances collateral to the main fact, of such a character as to put him upon inquiry, and which, if inquiry were followed up with due diligence, would lead him directly to the knowledge of the main fact.	What are the kinds of notices recognized by law?
8040	E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. v. Rhone Poulenc Fiber & Resin Intermediates, S.A.S., 269 F.3d 187, 194 (3d Cir. 2001)	3	The liberal policy favoring arbitration agreements is at bottom a policy guaranteeing the enforcement of private contractual arrangements, and under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), a court may only compel a party to arbitrate where that party has entered into a written agreement to arbitrate that covers the dispute. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	The liberal policy "favoring arbitration agreements ... is at bottom a policy guaranteeing the enforcement of private contractual arrangements," id., and under the FAA, "a court may only compel a party to arbitrate where that party has entered into a written agreement to arbitrate that covers the dispute."	Do courts have authority to mandate arbitration?

8042	Booth v. Hume Pub., 902 F.2d 925, 932 (11th Cir. 1990)	7	Purpose of Federal Arbitration Act is to relieve congestion in courts and to provide parties with alternative method for dispute resolution that would be speedier and less costly than litigation. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Our circuit has noted that "[t]he purpose of the Federal Arbitration Act was to relieve congestion in the courts and to provide parties with an alternative method for dispute resolution that would be speedier and less costly than litigation."	What is the purpose of the Federal Arbitration Act?
8043	Int'l Longshoremen's Ass'n, AFL-CIO v. W. Gulf Mar. Ass'n, 594 F. Supp. 670, 677-78 (S.D.N.Y. 1984)	7	Parties contracting for arbitration must be content with its informalities, but procedures followed cannot be so informal or chaotic that court called upon to confirm award has no real assurance that award in fact was made, and significance of what in fact occurred under unique procedure of arbitration panel was for arbitration panel in the first instance to determine with full appreciation of all facts and circumstances. 9 U.S.C.A. S 10(d).	While it is true that "parties contracting for arbitration must be content with its informalities," see Western Canada Steamship Co. Ltd. v. Cia De Nav. San Leonardo Anglo Canadian Shipping Co., Ltd., 105 F.Supp. 452, 453 (S.D.N.Y.1952), the procedures followed cannot be so informal or chaotic that a court called upon to confirm an award has no real assurance that an award in fact was made. The significance of what in fact occurred under the EHP's unique procedure is for the EHP in the first instance to determine with a full appreciation of all the facts and circumstances.	"When parties opt for arbitration, should they be content with its informalities?"
8044	Commerce Tr. Co. v. Air 1st Aviation Companies, 366 Ill. App. 3d 135, 142, 851 N.E.2d 131, 137 (2006)	5	Where a party moves to strike an affidavit, its failure to obtain a ruling on its motion to strike operates as a waiver of the objections to the affidavit.	Where, as here, a party moves to strike an affidavit, its failure to obtain a ruling on its motion to strike operates as a waiver of the objections to the affidavit.	"When a party moves to strike an affidavit, will its failure to obtain a ruling on its motion to strike operate as a waiver of the objections to the affidavit?"
8045	Gooch v. United States, 297 U.S. 124, 128 (1936)	4	That penal statutes are narrowly construed does not require rejection of sense of words best harmonizing with context and end in view.	And, while penal statutes are narrowly construed, this does not require rejection of that sense of the words which best harmonizes with the context and the end in view.	Are penal statutes construed in that sense of the words which best harmonizes with the context and its end purpose?
8047	Stephens Boat Company v. Barge ORR 1, 791 F. Supp. 145, 147 (E.D. La. 1992)	3	Contract that falls outside admiralty jurisdiction of United States cannot give rise to maritime lien.	A contract that falls outside the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States cannot give rise to a maritime lien.	"Can a contract, that falls outside the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States, give rise to a maritime lien?"
8048	Gateway Western Railway Company v. American River Transportation Company, 887 F. Supp. 201, 202 (Ill. 1995)	3	In case of two vessels colliding, if vessel is total loss, standard measure of damages is market value of ship plus interest in freight pending salvage value.	In the case of two vessels colliding, if a vessel is a total loss, the standard measure of damages is the market value of the ship plus interest and freight pending her salvage value.	How are damages measured when two vessels collide?

8049	Signal International LLC v. Miss. DOT, 579 F.3d 478, 500 (5th Cir. 2009)	32	In maritime cases, award of prejudgment interest is the rule, rather than the exception, and trial court has discretion to deny prejudgment interest only where peculiar circumstances would make award inequitable.	"[I]n maritime cases the award of prejudgment interest is the rule, rather than the exception, and the trial court has discretion to deny prejudgment interest only where peculiar circumstances would make such an award inequitable."	Can a court deny prejudgment interest in admiralty case?
8051	Ne. Concerned Citizens v. City of Hickory, 143 N.C. App. 272, 276 (2001)	6	Corporation has standing to challenge zoning ordinance in declaratory judgment action if corporation has a specific legal interest directly and adversely affected by zoning ordinance, and corporation has standing to challenge zoning ordinance by writ of certiorari if corporation is an aggrieved party. G.S. S 160A-388(e).	It thus follows a corporation has standing to challenge a zoning ordinance in a declaratory judgment action if the corporation has a specific legal interest directly and adversely affected by the zoning ordinance; and a corporation has standing to challenge a zoning ordinance by writ of certiorari if the corporation is an "aggrieved party" under section 160A-388(e)	Can a zoning ordinance be challenged by certiorari?
8052	United States v. Bajakajian, 524 U.S. 321, 334–35, 118 S. Ct. 2028, 2036–37, 141 L. Ed. 2d 314 (1998)	8	A punitive forfeiture violates the Excessive Fines Clause if it is grossly disproportionate to the gravity of a defendant's offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 8.	We now hold that a punitive forfeiture violates the Excessive Fines Clause if it is grossly disproportionate to the gravity of a defendant's offense.	Does a punitive forfeiture violate the Excessive Fines Clause if it is grossly disproportionate to the gravity of a defendant's offense under the Eighth Amendment?
8057	Murray v. Bateman, 315 Mass. 113, 115 (1943)	2	"Good will" is generally understood to mean the advantages that accrue to a business on account of its name, location, and reputation, which tends to enable it to retain the patronage of its old customers.	Good will is generally understood to mean the advantage that accrues to a business on account of its name, location and reputation, which tends to enable it to retain the patronage of its old customers.	"Is goodwill an advantage on the business as a result of name, location and reputation?"
8060	Cty. Council of Prince George's Cty. v. Brandywine Enterprises, 350 Md. 339, 342, 711 A.2d 1346, 1347 (1998)	1	The Regional District Act is the exclusive source of zoning authority in those areas of county which it covers. Code 1957, Art. 28, SS 1-101 to 8-127.	The Regional District Act, Maryland Code (1957, 1997 Repl.Vol., 1997 Supp.), Art. 28, 1-101 through 8-127, is the exclusive source of zoning authority in those areas of Prince George's County which it covers.	Is Regional District Act considered to be the exclusive source of zoning authority?
8062	Michigan Dep't of Env'tl. Quality v. U.S. E.P.A., 318 F.3d 705, 708 (6th Cir. 2003)	2	The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has the discretion to relax or modify its procedural rules, adopted for the orderly transaction of business before it, when in a given case the ends of justice require it. 40 C.F.R. S 124.19.	Although the EPA "has the discretion to relax or modify its procedural rules adopted for the orderly transaction of business before it when in a given case the ends of justice require it," Spitzer, 173 F.3d at 415 n. 3, its decision not to relax or modify its rule in this case was not an abuse of discretion.	Can an agency relax or modify its procedural rules in order to meet the ends of justice?
8066	Christensen v. Hoover, 643 P.2d 525, 529 (Colo. 1982)	11	Even a gratuitous bailee must exercise reasonable care to protect bailor's property, i.e., that which a person of common prudence would use under the circumstances.	In our view, even a gratuitous bailee must exercise reasonable care to protect the bailor's property, i.e., that which a person of common prudence would use under the circumstances.	Does a gratuitous bailee have any duty to protect the bailors property?

8067	Landon v. Kroll Lab'y Specialists, Inc., 91 A.D.3d 79, 83, 934 N.Y.S.2d 183, 188 (2011), aff'd, 22 N.Y.3d 1, 999 N.E.2d 1121 (2013)	13	Professionals, common carriers, and bailees may be subject to tort liability for failure to exercise reasonable care, irrespective of their contractual duties.	In this regard "[p]rofessionals, common carriers and bailees, for example, may be subject to tort liability for failure to exercise reasonable care, irrespective of their contractual duties"	Is a bailee subject to tort liability for his failure to exercise reasonable care?
8071	Opals on Ice Lingerie v. Bodylines Inc., 320 F.3d 362, 369 (2d Cir. 2003)	7	The Federal Arbitration Act's (FAA) proarbitration policy does not operate without regard to the wishes of the contracting parties. 9 U.S.C.A. 5 1 et seq.	The Federal Arbitration Act's " 'proarbitration policy does not operate without regard to the wishes of the contracting parties	Does the proarbitration policy of Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) operate against the wishes of the contracting parties?
8072	Birdsboro & Birdsboro Mun. Auth. v. Dep't of Envtl. Protec., 795 A.2d 444, 447–48 (Pa. Cmmw. 2002)	4	Environmental Hearing Board (EHB) need not provide specific reasons for finding one witness credible over another.	Additionally, the EHB need not provide specific reasons for finding one witness credible over another.	Does the Environmental Hearing Board (EHB) need to provide specific reasons for finding one witness credible over the other?
8073	Sunoco v. Dep't of Envtl. Prot., 865 A.2d 960, 969 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2005)	2	It is within the sole province of the Environmental Hearing Board, as fact finder, to make all determinations regarding matters of credibility and evidentiary weight.	It is within the sole province of the EHB, as fact finder, to make all determinations regarding matters of credibility and evidentiary weight.	"Does the Environmental Hearing Board (EHB), as the fact finder, make all the determinations of credibility and evidentiary weight?"
8077	Wilen v. Falkenstein, 191 S.W.3d 791, 798 (Tex. App. 2006)	11	Concerning the intent element of the tort, trespass requires only proof of interference with the right of possession of real property, and the only relevant intent is that of the actor to enter the property or to aid, assist, advise, or encourage another to enter the property; the actor's subjective intent or awareness of the property's ownership is irrelevant.	Concerning the intent element of the tort, trespass requires only proof of interference with the right of possession of real property; the only relevant intent is that of the actor to enter the property. Accord Trinity Universal Ins. Co. v. Cowan, 945 S.W.2d 819, 827 (Tex.1997).The actor's subjective intent or awareness of the property's ownership is irrelevant.	Does the element of intent need to be proven to establish trespass?
8078	In re Methyl Tertiary Butyl Ether (MTBE) Prod. Liab. Litig., 725 F.3d 65, 119 (2d Cir. 2013)	54	To be liable under New York, a trespasser is not required to have intended or expected the damaging consequence of its intrusion, but it must intend the act which amounts to or produces the unlawful invasion, and the intrusion must at least be the immediate or inevitable consequence of what it willfully does, or what he does so negligently as to amount to willfulness.	"[W]hile the trespasser, to be liable, need not intend or expect the damaging consequence of his intrusion, he must intend the act which amounts to or produces the unlawful invasion, and the intrusion must at least be the immediate or inevitable consequence of what he willfully does, or [what] he does so negligently as to amount to willfulness."	Is a trespasser required to intend to trespass to be held liable?
8080	In re Bayside Marina, 282 B.R. 285, 289 (E.D.N.Y. 2002)	2	Under New York law, when landlord and tenant enter into a contract for sale of property, or when tenant exercises an option to purchase property under lease, relationship between parties is generally converted to that of vendor and vendee, and landlord-tenant relationship merges with vendor-vendee relationship.	In general, when a landlord and tenant enter into contract for the sale of real property, or the tenant exercises an option to purchase real property pursuant to a lease, the relationship between the parties is converted to that of vendor and vendee and the landlord-tenant relationship "merges" with the vendor- vendee relationship.	Do the vendor and vendee share the relation of a landlord- tenant?

8081	Carter v. Butts Cnty., Ga., 821 F.3d 1310, 1322 (11th Cir. 2016)	25	Where former owners of real property remain in possession after a foreclosure sale, they become tenants at sufferance; when this occurs, a landlord-tenant relationship exists between the legal title holder and tenant at sufferance, and statutory dispossessory procedures provide the exclusive method by which landlord may evict. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 44-7-50.	It is true that under Georgia law, "[w]here former owners of real property remain in possession after a foreclosure sale, they become tenants at sufferance." Steed v. Fed. Nat'l Mortg. Corp., 301 Ga.App. 801, 689 S.E.2d 843, 848 (2009). When this occurs, a landlord-tenant relationship exists between the legal title holder and a tenant at sufferance, and dispossessory procedures set forth in O.C.G.A. 44-7-50 provide the exclusive method by which a landlord may evict the tenant.	What is the exclusive method available to a landlord to evict a tenant?
8082	State v. Raley, 100 Ohio App. 75, 82 (1954)	6	Sedition and treason against the United States as a sovereign entity are necessarily offenses also against every sovereign state of the federal union. U.S.C.A.Const. art. 4, S 2; 18 U.S.C.A. S 2385; R.C. SS 103.31-103.38, 103.34.	Sedition and treason against the United States as a sovereign entity are necessarily offenses also against every sovereign state of the federal Union.	Is treason against the United States as a sovereign entity necessarily an offense against every sovereign state of the federal Union?
8083	Paramedics Electromedicina Comercial, Ltda v. GE Med. Sys. Info. Techs., 369 F.3d 645, 654 (2d Cir. 2004)	10	Federal policy favoring liberal enforcement of arbitration clauses applies with particular force in international disputes.	The federal policy favoring the liberal enforcement of arbitration clauses (as discussed above) applies with particular force in international disputes.	Does federal policy favoring the liberal enforcement of arbitration clauses apply in international disputes?
8084	Weaver v. Fla. Power & Light Co., 172 F.3d 771, 774 (11th Cir. 1999)	8	Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), by ensuring the enforceability of contractual arbitration provisions and subjecting the resulting arbitrations to only a very limited degree of judicial review, embodies a federal policy favoring arbitration, and that policy rules out any judicial suspicion of the desirability of arbitration and of the competence of arbitral tribunals. 9 U.S.C.A. SS 1-16.	The Act—by ensuring the enforceability of contractual arbitration provisions and subjecting the resulting arbitrations to only a very limited degree of judicial review—embodies a federal policy favoring arbitration. See Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp., 460 U.S. 1, 24, 103 S.Ct. 927, 941, 74 L.Ed.2d 765 (1983). That policy rules out any "judicial suspicion of the desirability of arbitration and of the competence of arbitral tribunals,"	What amount of judicial review do contractual arbitration provisions enforced under the Federal Arbitration Act receive?
8085	Cooper v. MRM Inv. Co., 367 F.3d 493, 498 (6th Cir. 2004)	2	Generally applicable state-law contract defenses like fraud, forgery, duress, mistake, lack of consideration or mutual obligation, or unconscionability, may invalidate arbitration agreements under Federal Arbitration Act (FAA). 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	Thus, generally applicable state-law contract defenses like fraud, forgery, duress, mistake, lack of consideration or mutual obligation, or unconscionability, may invalidate arbitration agreements.	Do courts consider the federal policy favoring arbitration when applying state law?
8086	Kuehner v. Dickinson & Co., 84 F.3d 316, 319 (9th Cir. 1996)	3	Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) not only reversed judicial hostility to enforcement of arbitration contracts, but also created rule of contract construction favoring arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	The FAA not only reversed the judicial hostility to the enforcement of arbitration contracts, but also created a rule of contract construction favoring arbitration.	Did the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) create rules of contract construction favoring arbitration?

8088	FERC v. Electric Power Supply Ass'n, 136 S.Ct. 760, 774, 577 U.S. 260, 277 (U.S., 2016)	1	Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) has the authority under the FPA, and, indeed, the duty, to ensure that rules or practices affecting wholesale electricity rates are just and reasonable.	That means FERC has the authority—and, indeed, the duty—to ensure that rules or practices “affecting” wholesale rates are just and reasonable.	Does Federal Energy Regulatory Commission have the duty to ensure that rules or practices affecting wholesale electricity rates are just and reasonable?
8089	Moore v. Com., Dep't of Envtl. Res., 660 A.2d 677, 680 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 1995)	1	To find de facto taking, court must consider whether governmental entity, clothed with power of eminent domain, has by its conduct substantially deprived property owner of use and enjoyment of property.	In order to find a de facto taking, a court must consider whether a governmental entity, clothed with the power of eminent domain, has by its conduct substantially deprived the property owner of the use and enjoyment of the property.	What is a de facto taking?
8090	Brakke v. Iowa Dep't of Nat. Res., 897 N.W.2d 522, 545 (Iowa 2017)	26	The classic government taking requiring compensation is a direct appropriation of physical property, or the functional equivalent of a practical ouster of the owner's possession. U.S. Const. Amend. 5; Iowa Const. art. 1, § 18.	The classic government taking requiring compensation is a direct appropriation of physical property, "or the functional equivalent of 'a practical ouster of [the owner's] possession.' "	Is a taking requiring just compensation a direct appropriation of physical property?
8092	Grider v. City of Auburn, 628 F. Supp. 2d 1322, 1352 (Ala. 2009)	35	Alabama courts allow claims for malicious prosecution when a citation is issued that forces a defendant to appear in court to defend against a criminal charge, even if no formal arrest was made.	Alabama courts allow claims for malicious prosecution when a citation is issued that forces a defendant to appear in court to defend against a criminal charge, even if no formal arrest was made.	When will the courts allow a malicious prosecution claim?
8093	Quebedeaux v. Dow Chem. Co., 820 So. 2d 542, 545 (2002)	3	When the employer and employee are silent on the terms of the employment contract, the civil code provides the default rule of employment-at-will. LSA-C.C. art. 2747.	When the employer and employee are silent on the terms of the employment contract, the civil code provides the default rule of employment-at-will.	When the employer and employee are silent on the terms of an employment contract does the civil code provides any default rule of employment-at-will?
8094	Poseidon Dev. v. Woodland Lane Estates, 152 Cal. App. 4th 1106, 1117 (2007)	14	A court determining the sufficiency of a complaint against demurrer may take judicial notice of something that cannot reasonably be controverted, even if it negates an express allegation of the pleading; this includes recorded deeds.	"In determining the sufficiency of a complaint against demurrer a court will consider matters that may be judicially noticed." A court may take judicial notice of something that cannot reasonably be controverted, even if it negates an express allegation of the pleading. This includes recorded deeds.	Are matters judicially noticed considered in determining the sufficiency of a complaint?
8097	Robinson v. McPherson, 602 So. 2d 352, 354 (Ala. 1992)	3	Mere fact that plaintiff in malicious prosecution action arising from criminal charge was acquitted of charge does not prove that there was no probable cause to believe him guilty at time warrant was issued.	The mere fact that the plaintiff in a malicious prosecution action arising from a criminal charge was acquitted of the charge does not prove that there was no probable cause to believe him guilty at the time the warrant was issued.	Does acquittal evidence a lack of probable cause in malicious prosecution claim?

8103	Marks One Car Rental v. Auto Club Grp. Ins. Co., 55 F. Supp. 3d 977, 987 (E.D. Mich. 2014)	8	Under Michigan law governing defamation, where a party makes a communication and such communication is prompted by a duty owed either to the public or to a third party, or the communication is one in which the party has an interest and it is made to another having a corresponding interest, the communication is privileged if made in good faith and without actual malice.	As explained in Zanley v. Hyde, Where a party makes a communication and such communication is prompted by a duty owed either to the public or to a third party, or the communication is one in which the party has an interest and it is made to another having a corresponding interest, the communication is privileged if made in good faith and without actual malice.	What is a privileged communication?
8104	Garner v. Kovalak, 817 N.E.2d 311, 314 (Ind. Ct. App. 2004)	7	The intention which is required to make the actor liable for trespass on land is an intention to enter upon the particular piece of land in question, irrespective of whether the actor knows or should know that he is not entitled to enter.	The intention which is required to make the actor liable under the rule stated in this Section is an intention to enter upon the particular piece of land in question, irrespective of whether the actor knows or should know that he is not entitled to enter.	Should an actor know that he is not entitled to enter a certain piece of land or property to commit trespass?
8105	MacKenna v. Jay Bern Realty Co., 30 A.D.2d 679, 679, 291 N.Y.S.2d 953, 954 (1968)	1	To recover punitive damages for trespass on realty, plaintiff must prove actual malice, which involves intentional wrongdoing, or such conduct as may be deemed tantamount to wanton and willful or reckless disregard of plaintiff's rights.	We subscribe to the principle that, in order to recover punitive damages for a trespass on real property, a plaintiff has the burden of proving (1) actual malice, which involves an intentional wrongdoing, or (2) such conduct as may be deemed to be tantamount to a wanton and willful or a reckless disregard of plaintiff's rights	When is the issue of willful trespass to realty of significance?
8106	Brand v. Mathis & Assocs., 15 S.W.3d 403, 406 (Mo. Ct. App. 2000)	4	Trespasser is liable for all damages proximately caused by his trespass, whether or not he acted in good faith and with reasonable care, or whether he acted in ignorance of plaintiff's rights, or under mistake of fact or law.	"A trespasser is liable for all damages proximately caused by his trespass, whether or not he acted in good faith and with reasonable care, or whether he acted in ignorance of plaintiff's rights, or under mistake of fact or law."	Can a trespasser be held liable for all damages proximately caused by his trespass?
8107	Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency of Buckhorn, Kentucky v. Nelson Cty. Bd. of Adjustment, 185 F. Supp. 2d 716, 722 (W.D. Ky. 2001)	12	An administrative agency acts in a judicial capacity when it hears evidence, gives parties an opportunity to brief and argue their versions of the facts, and gives parties an opportunity to seek court review of these findings.	An agency acts in a judicial capacity when it hears evidence, gives parties an opportunity to brief and argue their versions of the facts, and gives parties an opportunity to seek court review of these findings.	When is an administrative agency said to have acted in judicial capacity?
8108	Ex parte Trombley, 31 Cal. 2d 801, 810, 193 P.2d 734, 740 (1948)	11	An employer who knows that wages are due, has ability to pay them and still refuses to pay them acts against good morals and fair dealings and necessarily intentionally does an act which prejudices rights of his employee and such conduct amounts to a "case of fraud" within exception to constitutional prohibition against imprisonment for debt and may be punished by statute. Labor Code, S 216(a); Const. art. 1, S 15.	An employer who knows that wages are due, has ability to pay them, and still refuses to pay them, acts against good morals and fair dealing, and necessarily intentionally does an act which prejudices the rights of his employee. Such conduct amounts to a 'case of fraud' within the meaning of the exception to the constitutional prohibition and may be punished by statute.	Are wages ordinary debts?

8109	Walton Elec. Membership Corp. v. Snyder, 270 Ga. 62, 63, 508 S.E.2d 167, 169 (1998)	3	The statutory scheme giving rise to electric membership corporations (EMC) is similar to the grant of a franchise from the state to operate a utility for the benefit of the citizenry, and this grant imposes a duty to the public.	The statutory scheme giving rise to EMCs is similar to the grant of a franchise from the state to operate a utility for the benefit of the citizenry, and this grant imposes a duty to the public.	What duties does an Electric Membership Corporation owe to the public?
8110	City of Austin v. Liberty Mut. Ins., 431 S.W.3d 817, 827 (Tex. App. 2014)	19	When property damage is an unintended result of the government's act or policy, it cannot be said that the property was taken or damaged for public use. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; Vernon's Ann.Texas Const. Art. 1, S 17.	When property damage is an unintended result of the government's act or policy, it cannot be said that the property was "taken or damaged for public use.	"When property damage is an unintended result of the government's act or policy, can it be said that the property was taken or damaged for public use?"
8112	Barbier v. Shearson Lehman Hutton Inc., 948 F.2d 117, 120 (C.A.2 (N.Y.), 1991)	2	Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) applies when there is federal subject matter jurisdiction, i.e., diversity jurisdiction, and when contract calling for arbitration evidences transaction involving interstate commerce. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	The FAA applies when there is federal subject matter jurisdiction, i.e., diversity jurisdiction, see Moses H. Cone Memorial Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp., 460 U.S. 1, 25 n. 32, 103 S.Ct. 927, 942 n. 32, 74 L.Ed.2d 765 (1983), and when the contract calling for arbitration "evidenc[es] a transaction involving interstate commerce." 9 U.S.C. § 2.	Does the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) apply when there is diversity jurisdiction?
8113	Am. Bankers Ins. Co. of Florida v. Inman, 436 F.3d 490, 492–93 (5th Cir. 2006)	3	Purpose of the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) is to reverse the longstanding judicial hostility to arbitration agreements that existed at English common law, as was adopted by American courts, and to place arbitration agreements upon the same footing as other contracts. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Congress enacted the FAA in order to "reverse the longstanding judicial hostility to arbitration agreements that had existed at English common law and had been adopted by American courts, and to place arbitration agreements upon the same footing as other contracts."	What was the purpose of enacting the Federal Arbitration Act?
8116	Espinal v. Nw. Airlines, 90 F.3d 1452, 1455–56 (9th Cir. 1996)	3	Congress enacted RLA, which was extended to cover airline industry in 1936, to promote stability in labor-management relations by providing comprehensive framework for resolving labor disputes. Railway Labor Act, S 1 et seq., 45 U.S.C.A. S 151 et seq.	Congress enacted the RLA, which was extended to cover the airline industry in *1456 1936, "to promote stability in labor-management relations by providing a comprehensive framework for resolving labor disputes."	What was the Congress' purpose in passing the Railway Labor Act (RLA)?
8117	First Mercury Ins. Co. v. Great Divide Ins. Co., 241 F. Supp. 3d 1028, 1041 (N.D. Cal. 2017)	13	The aim of equitable subrogation under California law is to place the burden for a loss on the party ultimately liable or responsible for it and by whom it should have been discharged, and to relieve entirely the insurer or surety who indemnified the loss and who in equity was not primarily liable therefor.	"The aim of equitable subrogation is to place the burden for a loss on the party ultimately liable or responsible for it and by whom it should have been discharged, and to relieve entirely the insurer or surety who indemnified the loss and who in equity was not primarily liable therefor."	What is the aim of equitable subrogation?

8120	Jo-Mark Sand & Gravel Co. v. Pantanella, 139 Conn. 598, 601 (Conn. 1953)	3	A "lease" is more than a mere license; it is a contract for possession and profits of lands and tenements on one side, and recompense of grant or other income on the other, or, in other words, a conveyance to a person for life, or years, or at will, in consideration of a return or other recompense.	A lease is more than a mere license; it is a contract for the possession and profits of lands and tenements on the one side, and a recompense of rent or other income on the other; or, in other words, a conveyance to a person for life, or years, or at will, in consideration of a return of rent or other recompense.'	Is a lease more than a mere license?
8124	Dangerfield v. WAVY Broad., 228 F. Supp. 3d 696, 704 (E.D. Va. 2017)	18	Under Virginia law, a court may determine either (1) that a statement is defamatory as a matter of law, i.e., "per se defamatory", or (2) that a statement is capable of a defamatory meaning, with the jury ultimately determining whether the statement harmed the plaintiff's reputation.	The Court may determine either (1) that a statement is defamatory as a matter of law ("per se defamatory"), or (2) that a statement is capable of a defamatory meaning, with the jury ultimately determining whether the statement harmed the Plaintiff's reputation.	What is the role of the Court and jury in determining the defamatory meaning of a statement?
8126	In re Monaco, 514 B.R. 477, 485 (W.D. Tex. 2014)	10	Under Texas law, the general purpose of equitable subrogation is to prevent unjust enrichment of the debtor that owed the debt being paid.	The general purpose of equitable subrogation is "to prevent the unjust enrichment of the debtor who owed the debt that is paid."	Is the general purpose of equitable subrogation to prevent unjust enrichment of the debtor that owed the debt being paid?
8129	Nueces Cty. Water Improvement Dist. No. 1 v. Spring, 162 S.W.2d 155, 156 (Tex. Civ. App. 1942)	2	A public utility corporation cannot refuse to render the service which it is authorized by its charter or by law to furnish, because of some collateral matter not related to that service.	It is well settled that "a public utility corporation can not refuse to render the service which it is authorized by its charter (or by law) to furnish, because of some collateral matter not related to that service.	Can a public utility corporation refuse to render the service authorized by its charter to furnish?
8130	Rader Family Ltd. P'ship, L.L.L.P. v. City of Columbia, 307 S.W.3d 243, 252 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	25	An action for inverse condemnation arising from nuisance requires a showing of notice and unreasonable operation; and injury, damage, and causation are essential elements required for recovery on the basis of nuisance.	An action for inverse condemnation arising from nuisance requires a showing of notice and unreasonable operation. "Injury, damage, and causation are essential elements required for recovery on the basis of nuisance."	What are the elements of an inverse condemnation action based on nuisance?
8132	Booker v. Special Sch. Dist. No. 1, Minneapolis, Minn., 585 F.2d 347, 354 (8th Cir. 1978)	5	In certain contexts, separate classification and treatment of Indians as a race is constitutionally permissible in the light of unique status of Indians in the country and in light of history and policy.	There is no question that in certain contexts separate classification and treatment of Indians as a race are constitutionally permissible in the light of the unique status of Indians in this country, and in the light of history and policy.	Is separate classification and treatment of Indians as a race constitutionally permissible?
8134	Rothschild v. World-Wide Automobiles Corp., 24 A.D.2d 861, 861, 264 N.Y.S.2d 705, 706-07 (1965), aff'd, 18 N.Y.2d 982, 224 N.E.2d 724 (1966)	3	Mere conclusory allegations of conspiracy without showing of unlawful or wrongful acts by defendant do not create cause of action.	Moreover, mere conclusory allegations of a conspiracy without a showing of unlawful or wrongful acts by Dretzin do not create a cause of action (Jennings v. Burlington Industries, Inc., 19 A.D.2d 877, 244 N.Y.S.2d 219).	Do allegations of a conspiracy without a showing of wrongful or unlawful acts create a cause of action?

8135	Estate of Swift v. Ne. Hosp. of Philadelphia, 456 Pa. Super. 330, 337, 690 A.2d 719, 723 (1997)	8	Pleadings must define the issues, and thus every act or performance essential to that end must be set forth in complaint.	In this Commonwealth, the pleadings must define the issues and thus every act or performance essential to that end must be set forth in the complaint.	Should a complaint set forth every act or performance essential to define the issues?
8136	Navajo Nation v. Urban Outfitters, 191 F. Supp. 3d 1238, 1242 (D.N.M. 2016)	4	In the context of federal statutes, like the Indian Arts and Crafts Act (IACA), courts must construe such statutes liberally in favor of Native Americans, with ambiguous provisions interpreted to their benefit. 25 U.S.C.A. § 305 et seq.	In the context of federal statutes, like the IACA, courts must construe such statutes "liberally in favor of Native Americans, with ambiguous provisions interpreted to their benefit.	Will the courts construe the statutes liberally in favor of the Indians Tribes?
8138	Aaron v. Dausch, 313 Ill. App. 524, 533 (Ill. App. Ct. 1942)	8	Generally, a mere averment that an act was done with a certain purpose or intent, without a statement of the facts showing such purpose or intent, is a "conclusion of law".	... a mere averment that an act was done with a certain purpose or intent, without a statement of the facts showing such purpose or intent, is a conclusion of law.	"Are statements of purpose or intent without facts showing such purpose or intent, conclusions of law?"
8139	Norkin v. U. S. Fire Ins. Co., 237 Cal. App. 2d 435, 437, 47 Cal. Rptr. 15, 16 (Ct. App. 1965)	2	Fraud must be pleaded in specific language descriptive of the acts relied upon to constitute fraud, and it is not sufficient to allege fraud in general terms or terms amounting to mere conclusions.	Initially it is to be noted that 'It is a cardinal rule of pleading that fraud must be pleaded in specific language descriptive of the acts which are relied upon to constitute fraud. It is not sufficient to allege it in general terms, or in terms which amount to mere conclusions.' (Hannon v. Madden, 214 Cal. 251, 267, 5 P.2d 4, 11.)	Is it sufficient to allege fraud in general terms?
8140	Ileto v. Glock, 565 F.3d 1126, 1141 (9th Cir. 2009)	5	Although a cause of action is a species of property, a party's property right in any cause of action does not vest until a final unreviewable judgment is obtained. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14.	Plaintiffs' premise is incorrect: "We have squarely held that although a cause of action is a species of property, a party's property right in any cause of action does not vest until a final unreviewable judgment is obtained."	Does a party's property right in any cause of action vest until a final unreviewable judgment is obtained?
8142	Glenwood TV, Inc. v. Ratner, 103 A.D.2d 322, 330, 480 N.Y.S.2d 98, 103 (1984), aff'd, 65 N.Y.2d 642, 481 N.E.2d 252 (1985)	5	Propriety of warrantless administrative inspection scheme is measured by balancing of enforcement goals and needs against privacy and regulatory guarantees within statutory framework. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 4.	The propriety of a warrantless administrative inspection scheme is measured by a balancing of enforcement goals and needs against the privacy and regulatory guarantees within the statutory framework (Marshall v. Barlow's, Inc., supra.).	How is the propriety of a warrantless administrative inspection scheme measured?
8144	People v. Hancock, 2014 IL App (4th) 131069, ¶ 123 (2014)	1	No actual prejudice is inflicted by the denial of a motion in limine, in itself, because the ruling is always subject to reconsideration during trial.	No actual prejudice is inflicted by the denial of a motion in limine, in itself, because the ruling "is always subject to reconsideration during trial."	"Is actual prejudice inflicted by the denial of a motion in limine, in itself, because the ruling is always subject to reconsideration during trial?"
8145	People v. Carpenter, 385 Ill. App. 3d 156, 161 (2008)	8	Generally, a trial court's decision to grant a motion in limine will not be reversed on appeal unless the trial court abused its discretion; however, where the issue on appeal is purely a question of law, appellate court's review is de novo.	Generally, a trial court's decision to grant a motion in limine will not be reversed on appeal unless the trial court abused its discretion. Where the issue on appeal is purely a question of law, however, our review is de novo.	Does a trial judge have discretion in granting a motion in limine and a reviewing court will not reverse a trial court's order allowing or excluding evidence unless that discretion was clearly abused?

8149	Home Ins. Co. v. Cincinnati Ins. Co., 213 Ill. 2d 307, 316 (2004)	8	"Indemnification" differs from "subrogation" in that the entity seeking indemnification does so in its own right, while in the latter the subrogee succeeds to another's right to payment.	Indemnification differs from subrogation in that the entity seeking indemnification does so in its own right, while in the latter the subrogee succeeds to another's right to payment.	"Does indemnification differ from subrogation in that the entity seeking indemnification does so in its own right, while in the latter the subrogee succeeds to another's right to payment?"
8150	JPMorgan Chase Bank v. Cook, 318 F. Supp. 2d 159, 165 (S.D.N.Y. 2004)	2	"Equitable subrogation" essentially provides that the guarantor of another's obligation may seek reimbursement from the obligor.	Equitable subrogation essentially provides that the guarantor of another's obligation may seek reimbursement from the obligor.	Does equitable subrogation essentially provide that the guarantor of another's obligation may seek reimbursement from the obligor?
8151	Nat'l Am. Ins. Co. v. United States, 498 F.3d 1301, 1306 (Fed. Cir. 2007)	4	A payment bond surety that discharges a contractor's obligation to pay a subcontractor is equitably subrogated to the rights of both the contractor and subcontractor.	Accordingly, it has been well-established that a payment bond surety that discharges a contractor's obligation to pay a subcontractor is equitably subrogated to the rights of both the contractor and subcontractor.	Is a payment bond surety that discharges a contractor's obligation to pay a subcontractor equitably subrogated to the rights of both the contractor and subcontractor?
8153	Com. v. Hawkins, 549 Pa. 352, 368–69, 701 A.2d 492, 500 (1997)	4	Specific intent to kill can be proven where defendant knowingly applies deadly force to another person. 18 Pa.C.S.A. § 2502(d).	Specific intent to kill can be proven where the defendant knowingly applies deadly force to the person of another.	Can specific intent to kill be proven where the defendant knowingly applies deadly force to the person of another?
8154	Givens v. Sellars, 273 N.C. 44, 48 (1968)	1	Office of a demurrer is to test sufficiency of a pleading, admitting, for the purpose, truth of factual averments well stated and such relevant inferences of fact as may be deduced therefrom.	The office of a demurrer is to test the sufficiency of a pleading, admitting, for the purpose, the truth of factual averments well stated and such relevant inferences of fact as may be deduced therefrom.	Does a demurrer test the sufficiency of a pleading?
8155	Furlough v. Union Pac. R.R. Co., 766 So. 2d 751, 757 (La. App. 2000)	9	Motions in limine provide both plaintiffs and defendants with a vehicle to have evidentiary issues decided prior to trial.	Motions in limine provide both plaintiffs and defendants with a vehicle to have evidentiary issues decided prior to trial.	Do motions in limine provide both plaintiffs and defendants with a vehicle to have evidentiary issues decided prior to trial?
8156	City of Mission Hills v. Sexton, 284 Kan. 414, 417, 160 P.3d 812, 817–18 (2007)	32	Courts employ a two-part test to evaluate alleged violations of a motion in limine: (1) whether there was a violation of the order in limine and (2) if the order in limine was violated, whether the testimony substantially prejudiced the defendant.	Courts employ "a two-part test to evaluate alleged violations of a motion in limine: (1) Was there a violation of the order in limine and (2) if the order in limine is violated, did the testimony substantially prejudice the defendant?"	Do courts employ a two-part test to evaluate alleged violations of a motion in limine?
8157	Dep't of Transp. v. Wallace Enterprises, 234 Ga. App. 1, 4 (Ga. 1998)	11	Grant of motion in limine excluding evidence is judicial power which must be exercised with great care.	In light of that absolute, the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence is a judicial power which must be exercised with great care."	Is the grant of motion in limine excluding evidence a judicial power which must be exercised with great care?
8160	Cunningham v. Millers Gen. Ins. Co., 227 Ill. App. 3d 201, 206, 591 N.E.2d 80, 83 (1992)	11	Purpose of in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create trap which results in new trial if court in retrospect determines rule was violated.	The purpose of an in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create a trap which results in a new trial if the court in retrospect determines the rule was violated.	Is the purpose of an order in limine to exclude inadmissible evidence?

8162	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	3	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle by which to attempt to preclude a claim or defense; it is not equivalent to, or a substitute for, a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle to use to attempt to preclude a claim or defense. It is not equivalent to or a substitute for a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	Should a motion in limine be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense or as a substitute for a motion for summary judgment?
8164	Cannon v. William Chevrolet/Geo, 341 Ill. App. 3d 674, 681 (2003)	9	When a motion in limine is made, the trial judge has broad discretion to grant or deny the motion or choose not to entertain the motion at all.	Furthermore, when a motion in limine is made, the trial judge has broad discretion to grant or deny the motion or choose not to entertain the motion at all.	Does the trial judge have broad discretion to grant or deny the motion or choose not to entertain the motion at all when a motion in limine is made?
8165	Am. Petroleum Prod. v. Mom & Pop Stores, 231 Ga. App. 1, 7, 497 S.E.2d 616, 622 (1998)	11	Grant of motion in limine excluding evidence is judicial power which must be exercised with great care.	In light of that absolute, the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence is a judicial power which must be exercised with great care."	Is the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence a judicial power which must be exercised with great care?
8166	Elliott v. State, 215 S.W.3d 88, 92 (Mo. 2007)	3	A ruling in limine is interlocutory only and is subject to change during the course of the trial; additional information produced at trial may prompt the trial court to alter its pretrial ruling and admit the evidence, therefore, an objection must be made at trial when the evidence is offered or the reference made, preferably outside the hearing of the jury, in order to preserve for appellate review the ruling made thereon.	"A ruling in limine is interlocutory only and is subject to change during the course of the trial." State v. Purlee, 839 S.W.2d 584, 592 (Mo. banc 1992). "[A]dditional information produced at trial may prompt the trial court to alter its pretrial ruling and admit the evidence. Therefore, an objection must be made at trial when the evidence is offered or the reference made, preferably outside the hearing of the jury, in order to preserve for appellate review the ruling made thereon."	Is a pre-trial ruling excluding evidence an interlocutory decision subject to change during trial?
8167	Drago v. Tishman Const. Corp. of New York, 4 Misc. 3d 354, 359–60, 777 N.Y.S.2d 889, 893 (Sup. Ct. 2004)	6	A "motion in limine" challenges evidence which is claimed to be inadmissible, immaterial, or prejudicial, or requests a limitation on the use of evidence.	A motion in limine challenges evidence which is claimed to be inadmissible, immaterial, or prejudicial, or requests a limitation on the use of evidence (State of New York v Metz, 241 AD2d 192, 198 [1st Dept 1998]).	"Does a motion in limine challenge evidence which is claimed to be inadmissible, immaterial, or prejudicial, or requests a limitation on the use of evidence?"
8170	Benschoter v. First Nat. Bank of Lawrence, 218 Kan. 144, 154, 542 P.2d 1042, 1050 (1975)	14	After making payment on promissory note, guarantor of promissory note and security agreement became subrogated to rights of bank as a secured party. K.S.A. 84-1-201(40), 84-9-504(5).	After making the August 9, 1972, payment, Kuhn Company, as guarantor of the note and security agreement became subrogated to the rights of the bank as a secured party.	"After making payment on promissory note, does a guarantor of a promissory note and security agreement become subrogated to the rights of a bank as a secured party?"
8171	Am. Gen. Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 76 So. 3d 183, 186 (Miss. Ct. App. 2011)	4	A cause of action accrues when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested.	¶ 8. The Mississippi Supreme Court and this Court have long recognized that "a cause of action 'accrues' when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested." Forman v. Miss. Publishers Corp., 195 Miss. 90, 14 So.2d 344, 346 (1943).	"Does a cause of action accrue when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested?"

8174	Krusi v. S.J. Amoroso Constr. Co., 81 Cal. App. 4th 995, 1005, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 294, 301 (2000), as modified (June 29, 2000), as modified (July 18, 2000)	1	Cause of action for damage to real property accrues when the defendant's act causes immediate and permanent injury to the property or, put it another way, when there is actual and appreciable harm to the property.	It is clear that a cause of action for damage to real property accrues when the defendant's act causes "immediate and permanent injury" to the property or, to put it another way, when there is "[a]ctual and appreciable harm" to the property. (CAMSI IV v. Hunter Technology Corp., supra, 230 Cal.App.3d at p. 1534, 282 Cal.Rptr. 80.)	"Does a cause of action for negligence in the design, engineering, or construction of buildings accrue when damage or physical injury to property occurs?"
8176	Marini v. Borough of Wanaque, 37 N.J. Super. 32, 38 (App. Div. 1955)	4	Generally a cause of action is deemed to accrue when facts exist which authorize one party to maintain an action against another.	And generally a cause of action is deemed to accrue when facts exist which authorize one party to maintain an action against another.	Does a cause of action accrue when facts exist which authorize one party to maintain an action against another?
8177	New York Times Co. v. Conner, 291 F.2d 492, 495 (5th Cir. 1961)	3	Under Alabama law, "accrue," in connection with accruing of cause of action, means becoming complete so that aggrieved party can begin and prosecute such action.	Practically every decision with which we are familiar has construed the word 'accrue' in connection with the accruing of a cause of action as meaning becoming complete so that the aggrieved party can begin and prosecute such action.	"Does ""accrue,"" in connection with accruing of cause of action, mean becoming complete so that aggrieved party can begin and prosecute such action?"
8178	Silvestrone v. Edell, 721 So. 2d 1173, 1175 (Fla. 1998)	1	When a malpractice action is predicated on errors or omissions committed in the course of litigation, and that litigation proceeds to judgment, the statute of limitations does not commence to run until the litigation is concluded by final judgment, that is, until the final judgment becomes final. West's F.S.A. S 95.11(4)(a).	After reviewing this section, we agree with the reasoning of the Second District Court of Appeal that when a malpractice action is predicated on errors or omissions committed in the course of litigation, and that litigation proceeds to judgment, the statute of limitations does not commence to run until the litigation is concluded by final judgment. To be specific, we hold that the statute of limitations does not commence to run until the final judgment becomes final.	Does a cause of action for legal malpractice in the litigation context accrue before the litigation is concluded by final judgment?
8181	United States v. Dimora, 750 F.3d 619, 625 (6th Cir. 2014)	4	Bribery and kickbacks involve the intent to exchange money or other things of value in return for official action.	On the other side of the coin, the jurors heard that bribery and kickbacks involve "the intent to ... exchange ... money or other thing[s] of value in return for official action." Id.	Do bribery and kickbacks involve the intent to exchange money or other things of value in return for official action?
8182	Klein v. May Stern & Co., 144 Pa. Super. 470, 474 (1941)	6	Liability for acts of a subagent is imposed on principal only by his express or implied agreement or by the usages or customs of the business, even though it is contemplated by the parties that acts will be performed through representatives of the agent.	In the comment following each of the above sections it is indicated that liability for the acts of a subagent is imposed on the principal only by his express or implied agreement or by the usages or customs of the business, even though it is contemplated by the parties that the acts will be performed through representatives of the agent.	"Where it is usual custom of trade to employ a subagent, is it presumed that a principal consented to the appointment of a subagent by its agent?"

8183	Weidner v. State, Dep't of Transp. & Pub. Facilities, 860 P.2d 1205, 1212 (Alaska 1993)	15	Theory of prescriptive easement does not grant state affirmative authority to take property without just compensation. Const. Art. 1, § 18; U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The theory of prescriptive easement does not grant the State affirmative authority to take property without just compensation.	Does the theory of prescriptive easement grant the State affirmative authority to take property without just compensation?
8185	United States v. Sum of $70,990,605, 991 F. Supp. 2d 154, 168 (D.D.C. 2013)	27	The party raising the act of state doctrine as a defense bears the burden to affirmatively show that an act of state has occurred.	"[T]he party raising the [act of state doctrine as a] defense bears the burden to affirmatively show that an act of state has occurred,"	Does the party raising the act of state doctrine as a defense bear the burden to affirmatively show that an act of state has occurred?
8186	Hourani v. Mirtchev, 796 F.3d 1, 12 (D.C. Cir. 2015)	13	The act of state doctrine operates as a rule of judicial restraint in decisionmaking, not a jurisdictional limitation like the political question doctrine.	The "text of the Constitution does not require the act of state doctrine." As such, it operates as a rule of judicial restraint in decisionmaking, not a jurisdictional limitation like the political question doctrine.	"Does the act of state doctrine operate as a rule of judicial restraint in decision making, not a jurisdictional limitation like the political question doctrine?"
8187	In re Philippine Nat'l. Bank, 397 F.3d 768, 773 (9th Cir. 2005)	5	Generally, act of state doctrine applies to official acts of foreign sovereigns performed within their own territory.	Generally, the act of state doctrine applies to official acts of foreign sovereigns "performed within [their] own territory."	"Generally, do act of state doctrine apply to official acts of foreign sovereigns performed within their own territory?"
8188	In re Adoption of Doe, 58 A.D.3d 186, 194, 868 N.Y.S.2d 40, 46 (2008), aff'd, 14 N.Y.3d 100, 923 N.E.2d 1129 (2010)	1	The act of state doctrine requires that the acts of foreign sovereigns taken within their own jurisdictions shall be deemed valid.	The doctrine "requires that ... the acts of foreign sovereigns taken within their own jurisdictions shall be deemed valid." (W. S. Kirkpatrick & Co. v Environmental Tectonics Corp., Int'l, 493 US 400, 409 [1990].)	Does the act of state doctrine require acts of foreign sovereigns taken within their own jurisdiction to be deemed valid?
8189	Films by Jove v. Berov, 341 F. Supp. 2d 199, 212–13 (E.D.N.Y. 2004)	6	Comity is applied more broadly than act of state doctrine; while doctrine applies only to acts of foreign state committed within its own territory, comity can generally relate to extraterritorial effects of foreign legal system.	Comity is applied more broadly than the act of state doctrine. If the act of *213 state doctrine applies only to acts of a foreign state committed within its own territory, comity, on the other hand, can generally relate to extraterritorial effects of a foreign legal system.	Is comity applied more broadly than the act of state doctrine?
8190	Loftus v. Primero Mining Corp., 230 F. Supp. 3d 1209, 1229 (C.D. Cal. 2017)	12	The act of state doctrine in its traditional formulation precludes courts from inquiring into the validity of the public acts a recognized foreign sovereign power committed within its own territory.	"The act of state doctrine in its traditional formulation precludes the courts of this country from inquiring into the validity of the public acts a recognized foreign sovereign power committed within its own territory."	What does the Act of State doctrine do in its traditional formulation?
8193	Alberswerth v. Alberswerth, 184 S.W.3d 81, 99 (Mo. Ct. App. 2006)	24	"In limine" is defined as in or at the beginning and a motion in limine is traditionally used as a way of suppressing testimony or evidence at the beginning of litigation.	"In limine" is defined as "in or at the beginning" and a motion in limine is traditionally used as a way of suppressing testimony or evidence at the beginning of litigation.	Is in limine defined as in or at the beginning and a motion in limine is traditionally used as a way of suppressing testimony or evidence at the beginning of litigation?
8196	Butler ex rel. Estate of Butler v. Kokomo Rehab. Hosp., 744 N.E.2d 1041, 1046 (Ind. Ct. App. 2001)	1	Grant or denial of pretrial motion on evidentiary issues is within the sound discretion of the trial court.	The grant or denial of a pretrial motion on evidentiary issues is within the sound discretion of the trial court.	Is the grant or denial of pretrial motion on evidentiary issues within the sound discretion of the trial court?

8197	Hopper v. Carey, 716 N.E.2d 566, 570 (Ind. Ct. App. 1999)	2	Granting of a motion in limine is an adjunct of the inherent power of trial courts to admit and exclude evidence.	The granting of a motion in limine is an adjunct of the inherent power of trial courts to admit and exclude evidence.	Is granting of a motion in limine an adjunct of the inherent power of trial courts to admit and exclude evidence?
8198	Forsyth Cty. v. Martin, 279 Ga. 215, 221 (2005)	9	A "motion in limine" is a pretrial method of determining the admissibility of evidence; by its very nature, the grant of a motion in limine suggests that there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial.	A motion in limine is a pretrial method of determining the admissibility of evidence.... By its very nature, the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence suggests that there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial.	"By its very nature, does the grant of a motion in limine suggest that there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial?"
8199	Westfield Ins. Companies v. Econ. Fire & Cas. Co., 623 N.W.2d 871, 876 (Iowa 2001)	6	An appeal challenging the district court's adjudication of law points is confined to a determination of legal matters on uncontroverted pleadings.	Moreover, an appeal challenging the district court's "adjudication of law points is confined to a determination of legal matters on uncontroverted pleadings." Mortensen v. Heritage Mut. Ins. Co., 590 N.W.2d 35, 38 (Iowa 1999); see Iowa R. Civ. P. 116.	Are adjudication of law points confined to a determination of legal matters on uncontroverted pleadings?
8200	Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. v. Am. Centennial Ins. Co., 74 Ohio Misc. 2d 263, 265–66 (Ohio Com. Pl. 1995)	1	Motion in limine is designed to avoid injection into trial of potentially prejudicial matter which is not relevant and is inadmissible.	A motion in limine is designed "to avoid the injection into a trial of a potentially prejudicial matter which is not relevant and is inadmissible..	Is a motion in limine designed to avoid injection into trial of potentially prejudicial matter which is not relevant and is inadmissible?
8201	Bernal v. Lindholm, 133 Ohio App. 3d 163, 188, 727 N.E.2d 145, 163 (1999)	20	A pretrial ruling on motion in limine is a preliminary precautionary ruling by a court in anticipation of its ruling on evidentiary issues at trial.	A pretrial ruling on such a motion is a preliminary precautionary ruling by a court in anticipation of its ruling on evidentiary issues at trial.	Is a pretrial ruling on a motion in limine a preliminary precautionary ruling by a court in anticipation of its ruling on evidentiary issues at trial?
8202	Montz v. Hill-Mont Land Co., 329 N.W.2d 657, 657 (Iowa 1983)	2	An application for separate adjudication of law points is properly considered only when questions of law arise from uncontroverted pleadings, and is inappropriate when material facts are disputed. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 105.	An application for separate adjudication of law points is properly considered only when the questions of law arise from uncontroverted pleadings. The application is inappropriate when material facts are disputed.	When is the application for separate adjudication of law points properly considered?
8206	Kapil v. Ass'n of Pennsylvania State Coll. & Univ. Faculties, 504 Pa. 92, 99 (1983)	1	True test for determining when cause of action arises or accrues is to establish time when plaintiff could have first maintained cause of action to a successful conclusion.	The true test in determining when a cause of action arises or accrues is to establish the time when the plaintiff could have first maintained the action to a successful conclusion.	Does a cause of action arise when one can first maintain an action to a successful conclusion?
8207	Anchor Packing Co. v. Grimshaw, 115 Md. App. 134, 155, 692 A.2d 5, 16 (1997)	8	Cause of action arises in negligence or strict liability case when facts exist to support each element.	A cause of action arises in a negligence or strict liability case "when facts exist to support each element."	Does cause of action arise in negligence or strict liability case when facts exist to support each element?

8210	Brown v. St. Paul Travelers Companies, 559 F. Supp. 2d 288, 291 (W.D.N.Y. 2008)	3	When arbitration policy is condition of employment, employee will be deemed to have accepted arbitration agreement when she continues to work after arbitration policy's promulgation. 9 U.S.C.A. S 3.	"[W]hen an arbitration policy is a condition of employment, ... an employee 'will be deemed to have accepted' an arbitration agreement when she continues to work after the promulgation of the arbitration policy."	Will an employee be deemed to have accepted an arbitration agreement when she continues to work after the promulgation of the arbitration policy if an arbitration policy is a condition of employment?
8213	Yahoo!, Inc. v. La Ligue Contre Le Racisme et L'Antisemitisme, 169 F. Supp. 2d 1181, 1192 (N.D. Cal. 2001), rev'd, 379 F.3d 1120 (9th Cir. 2004), on reh'g en banc, 433 F.3d 1199 (9th Cir. 2006), and rev'd and remanded, 433 F.3d 1199 (9th Cir. 2006)	11	Extent to which the United States, or any state, honors the judicial decrees of foreign nations is a matter of choice, governed by the comity of nations; comity is neither a matter of absolute obligation, on the one hand, nor of mere courtesy and good will, upon the other.	The extent to which the United States, or any state, honors the judicial decrees of foreign nations is a matter of choice, governed by "the comity of nations." Hilton v. Guyot, 159 U.S. 113, 163, 16 S.Ct. 139, 40 L.Ed. 95 (1895). Comity "is neither a matter of absolute obligation, on the one hand, nor of mere courtesy and good will, upon the other." Hilton, 159 U.S. at 163-64, 16 S.Ct. 139 (1895).	"Is comity neither a matter of absolute obligation on the one hand, nor of mere courtesy and good will, upon the other?"
8215	Riggs Nat. Corp. & Subsidiaries v. C.I.R., 163 F.3d 1363, 1367 (D.C. Cir. 1999)	1	"Act of state doctrine" directs United States courts to refrain from deciding case when outcome turns upon legality or illegality, whether as matter of United States, foreign, or international law, of official action by foreign sovereign performed within its own territory.	Riggs Bank primarily relies on the act of state doctrine. The doctrine directs United States courts to refrain from deciding a case when the outcome turns upon the legality or illegality (whether as a matter of U.S., foreign, or international law) of official action by a foreign sovereign performed within its own territory.	Does the act of state doctrine direct United States courts to refrain from deciding a case when the outcome turns upon the legality or illegality of official action by a foreign sovereign performed within its own territory?
8216	Flatow v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 999 F. Supp. 1, 24 (D.D.C. 1998)	26	Like foreign sovereign immunity, head of state immunity is matter of grace and comity, rather than matter of right.	Like foreign sovereign immunity, head of state immunity is a matter of grace and comity, rather than a matter of right.	"Like foreign sovereign immunity, is head of state immunity a matter of grace and comity, rather than matter of, right?"
8217	Helmerich & Payne Int'l Drilling Co. v. Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, 971 F. Supp. 2d 49, 62 (D.D.C. 2013)	9	The party raising the act of state doctrine as a defense bears the burden to affirmatively show that an act of state has occurred and that no bar to the doctrine is applicable under the factual circumstances.	Similarly, the party invoking the act of state doctrine bears the burden to prove its applicability. ("[T]he party raising the defense bears the burden to affirmatively show that an act of state has occurred and 'that no bar to the doctrine is applicable under the factual circumstances.' "	Does the party invoking the act of state doctrine have the burden of establishing factual predicate for doctrine's applicability?
8218	In re Grand Jury Proceedings, Doe No. 700, 817 F.2d 1108, 1110 (4th Cir. 1987)	1	Under the head-of-state immunity doctrine, head of state is immune from jurisdiction of foreign state's courts, at least as to authorized official acts taken while ruler is in power.	Generally speaking, the doctrine maintains that a head of state is immune from the jurisdiction of a foreign state's courts, at least as to authorized official acts taken while the ruler is in power.	"Under the head-of-state immunity doctrine, is ahead of state is immune from jurisdiction of foreign state's courts?"
8219	In re Vitamin C Antitrust Litig., 584 F. Supp. 2d 546, 550 (E.D.N.Y. 2008)	2	Any censure of another country's acts within its own territory is reserved to diplomatic channels and does not come within the purview of the courts.	Thus, any censure of another country's acts within its own territory is reserved to diplomatic channels and does not come within the purview of the courts.	Is censure of another country's acts within its own territory reserved to diplomatic channels instead of the courts?

8223	United States v. Sum of $70,990,605, 234 F. Supp. 3d 212, 238-39 (D.D.C. 2017)	18	The act of state doctrine, under which federal and state courts in the United States must presume the validity of an official act of a foreign sovereign performed within its own territory, applies only when a court must decide, that is, when the outcome of the case turns upon, the effect of official action by a foreign sovereign.	Under the act of state doctrine, federal and state courts in the United States must “presume the validity of an ‘official act of a foreign sovereign performed within its own territory.’ . . . As exemplified by each of these cases, the act of state doctrine applies only “when a court must decide—that is, when the outcome of the case turns upon—the effect of official action by a foreign sovereign.”	"Under act-of-state doctrine, does a court presume validity of foreign state's laws within that state's territory?"
8225	Amtower v. Photon Dynamics, 158 Cal. App. 4th 1582, 1595 (Cal. App. 2008)	8	In spite of the drawbacks to the use of in limine motions to dispose of a claim, trial courts have the inherent power to use them in this way. West's Ann.Cal.C.C.P. S 128.	In spite of the obvious drawbacks to the use of in limine motions to dispose of a claim, trial courts do have the inherent power to use them in this way.	"Despite the drawbacks to the use of in limine motions to dispose of a claim, do trial courts have the inherent power to use them?"
8227	Amtower v. Photon Dynamics, 158 Cal. App. 4th 1582, 1593 (Cal. App. 2008)	2	In limine motions are designed to facilitate the management of a case, generally by deciding difficult evidentiary issues in advance of trial.	In limine motions are designed to facilitate the management of a case, generally by deciding difficult evidentiary issues in advance of trial.	Are motions in limine designed to decide difficult evidentiary issues in advance of trial?
8231	Montz v. Hill-Mont Land Co., 329 N.W.2d 657, 657 (Iowa 1983)	2	An application for separate adjudication of law points is properly considered only when questions of law arise from uncontroverted pleadings, and is inappropriate when material facts are disputed. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 105.	An application for separate adjudication of law points is properly considered only when the questions of law arise from uncontroverted pleadings. The application is inappropriate when material facts are disputed.	When is an application for separate adjudication of law points properly considered?
8233	Ball v. Rao, 48 S.W.3d 332, 339 (Tex. App. 2001)	11	The purpose of a motion in limine is to prevent opposing parties from asking prejudicial questions and introducing prejudicial evidence in front of the jury.	The purpose of such a motion is to prevent opposing parties from asking prejudicial questions and introducing prejudicial evidence in front of the jury.	Is the purpose of a motion in limine to prevent parties from introducing prejudicial evidence in front of the jury?
8234	Pullum v. Robinette, 174 S.W.3d 124, 136–37 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2004)	13	Courts may make pre-introduction rulings on evidence that are conditional or provisional in nature, and, where such conditions do not occur at trial, may change an earlier ruling regarding the admissibility of the evidence.	State courts may make pre-introduction rulings on evidence that are conditional or provisional in nature, and, where such conditions do not occur at trial, may change an earlier ruling regarding the admissibility *137 of the evidence.	Can the courts change an earlier ruling regarding the admissibility of evidence?
8235	Teleconnect Co. v. US W. Commc'ns, 508 N.W.2d 644, 647 (Iowa 1993)	2	"Filed tariff doctrine" conclusively presumes that both utility and its customer know contents and effects of published tariffs.	The filed tariff doctrine conclusively presumes that both a utility and its customers know the contents and effects of published tariffs.	Does the filed tariff doctrine conclusively presume that the utility and its customers know the content and effects of published tariffs?
8236	Nat'l Union Fire Co. of Pittsburgh, PA. v. Toland, 164 F. Supp. 3d 1330, 1337 (D. Wyo. 2016)	6	In Wyoming, causes of action for damage or injury to persons and property survive and are assignable, and consequently can be the subject of a claim for conventional subrogation.	"[I]n Wyoming, causes of action for damage or injury to persons and property survive and are assignable, and consequently can be the subject of a claim for conventional subrogation.	Is the assignment of a cause of action for personal injury subject to a subrogation claim?

8237	Paulus v. Lawyers Sur. Corp., 625 S.W.2d 843, 846 (Tex. App. 1981)	5	Where surety pays debt of principal, it may sue in assumpsit or on debt and is subrogated to rights of creditor it paid.	Where a surety pays the debt of a principal, it may sue in assumpsit or on the debt and is subrogated to the rights of the creditor it paid.	When a surety pays the debt of a principal may it sue in assumpsit or on debt and is it subrogated to rights of the creditor it paid?
8238	Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. Addison Ins. Co., 448 S.W.3d 818, 831–32 (Mo. 2014)	27	A right to equitable subrogation belongs to one, not a volunteer, who pays another's debt, to recover the amount paid, which in good conscience should be paid by the one primarily responsible for the loss.	A right to equitable subrogation belongs to "one, not a volunteer, who pays another's debt, to recover the amount paid, which in good conscience should be paid by the one primarily responsible for the loss."	Does a right to equitable subrogation belong a volunteer?
8239	Pennsylvania Pub. Util. Comm'n v. Philadelphia Elec. Co., 501 Pa. 153, 159 (1983)	2	Absent express legislative authority, the Public Utility Commission is powerless to interfere with the general management decisions of public utility companies.	It is well established that, absent express legislative authority, the PUC is powerless to interfere with the general management decisions of public utility companies.	Does the Public Utilities Commission have the power to interfere with the general management decisions of the public utilities without express legislative authority?
8240	State v. Craig, 498 S.W.3d 459, 467 (Mo. Ct. App. 2016)	7	Attempted statutory rape in the first degree occurs where a subject, with the purpose of committing the offense, takes a substantial step towards having sexual intercourse with another person who is less than fourteen years old. Mo. Ann. Stat. SS 564.011, 566.032.	"Attempted statutory rape in the first degree occurs where a subject, with the purpose of committing the offense, takes a substantial step towards having 'sexual intercourse with another person who is less than fourteen years old.' "	Will it become statutory rape if one had sexual intercourse with a person less than fourteen years old?
8241	Omnibus Int'l v. AT & T, 111 S.W.3d 818, 826 (Tex. App. 2003)	9	For liability for trespass to chattels to attach, the wrongful interference must either be accompanied by actual damage to the property or deprive the owner of its use for a substantial period.	Trespass to Chattels [30] As to the trespass-to-chattels claim, for liability to attach, the wrongful interference with the chattel must have caused actual damage to the property or deprived the owner of its use for a substantial period.	Is actual damage to the property required for an owner to be entitled to damages for trespass to chattels?
8242	People v. Pettis, 104 Ill. App. 3d 275, 277 (1982)	1	Knowledge is an essential element of criminal trespass to a vehicle, and therefore, the state is required to prove that defendant knowingly entered vehicle of another without his consent. S.H.A. ch. 38, P 21-2; U.S.C.A.Const.Amend. 6.	Knowledge is an essential element of this criminal offense, and therefore, the State is required to prove that the defendant knowingly entered the vehicle of another without his consent.	Is knowledge an element of criminal trespass to a vehicle?
8243	Chittenholm v. Giffin, 357 Pa. 616, 619, 55 A.2d 324, 326 (1947)	1	It is the breach of duty that gives rise to the cause of action and also starts the running of statute of limitations.	It is well settled that it is the breach of duty that gives rise to the cause of action, and also starts the running of the statute of limitations.	Is it the breach of duty that gives rise to the cause of action and also starts the running of statute of limitations?
8244	Konecny v. United States, 388 F.2d 59, 64–65 (8th Cir. 1967)	9	Generally, a cause of action is deemed to have accrued when facts exist which enable one party to maintain an action against another.	This Circuit has held that 'generally, a cause of action is deemed to have accrued when facts exist which enable one party to maintain an action against another * * *' Great American Ins.	Does a cause of action accrue when facts exist which enable one party to maintain an action against another?

8245	Preite v. Charles of the Ritz Grp., Ltd. Pension Plan, 471 F. Supp. 2d 1271, 1283 (M.D. Fla. 2006)	7	A cause of action accrues when the events upon which it is based occur, but in the context of an ERISA claim, a cause of action does not become an enforceable demand until a claim is denied. Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, S 502(a), 29 U.S.C.A. S 1132(a).	"A cause of action accrues when the events upon which it is based occur, but in the context of an ERISA claim, a cause of action does not become an enforceable demand until a claim is denied."	Does a cause of action accrue when the events upon which it is based occur?
8246	Luling Oil & Gas Co. v. Humble Oil & Ref. Co., 144 Tex. 475, 482, 191 S.W.2d 716, 721 (1945)	5	The "accrual of a cause of action" means the right to institute and maintain a suit, and whenever one person may sue another a cause of action has "accrued".	The accrual of a cause of action means the right to institute and maintain a suit, and whenever one person may sue another a cause of action has accrued.	"Does the ""accrual of a cause of action"" gives the right to institute and maintain a suit?"
8247	Thune v. United States, 41 Fed. Cl. 49, 52 (1998)	8	To constitute a "taking," property loss must have been the direct, natural, or probable result of an authorized activity and not the incidental or consequential injury inflicted by the action; an accidental or negligent impairment of the value of property is not a "taking," but, at most, a tort; thus, the probability and foreseeability of the damage is a primary determinative element in whether a taking or a tort occurred.	The property loss "must have been the direct, natural, or probable result of an authorized activity and not the incidental or consequential injury inflicted by the action." Id. "An accidental or negligent impairment of the value of property is not a taking, but, at most, a tort." Id. at 452, 132 F.Supp. at 710. Thus, "the probability and foreseeability of the damage is a primary determinative element in whether a taking or a tort occurred."	Is an accidental or negligent impairment of the value of private property a taking?
8248	United States v. Bredimus, 234 F. Supp. 2d 639, 647 (N.D. Tex. 2002)	8	Congress has power to regulate conduct of American citizens beyond the territorial boundaries of the United States.	Congress has the power to regulate the conduct of American citizens beyond the territorial boundaries of the United States.	Does Congress have power to regulate conduct of American citizens beyond the territorial boundaries of the United States?
8249	United States v. Belfast, 611 F.3d 783, 809 (11th Cir. 2010)	18	An absent United States citizen is personally bound to take notice of the laws of the United States that are applicable to him and to obey them.	The Supreme Court made clear long ago that an absent United States citizen is nonetheless "personally bound to take notice of the laws [of the United States] that are applicable to him and to obey them."	Is an absent United States citizen personally bound to take notice of the laws of the United States that are applicable to him and obey them?
8250	Greer v. Buzgheia, 141 Cal. App. 4th 1150, 1156 (2006)	6	The purpose of a motion in limine is to avoid the unfairness caused by the presentation of prejudicial or objectionable evidence to the jury, and the obviously futile attempt to "unring the bell."	Its purpose is to avoid the unfairness caused by the presentation of prejudicial or objectionable evidence to the jury, and the 'obviously futile attempt to "unring the bell." ' "	"Is the purpose of a motion in limine to avoid the obviously futile attempt to ""unring the bell""?"
8253	Miller v. CitiMortgage, 970 F. Supp. 2d 568, 589 (N.D. Tex. 2013)	45	Under Texas law, to recover for trespass to personalty, plaintiff must prove that defendant, with or without the use of force, unlawfully injured or interfered with the possession plaintiff's personal property.	To recover for trespass to personalty, Plaintiff must prove that Defendant, with or without the use of force, unlawfully injured or interfered with the possession Plaintiff's personal property.	What must a plaintiff prove to recover for trespass to personalty?

8254	Porter v. Ogden, Newell & Welch, 241 F.3d 1334, 1338 (11th Cir. 2001)	4	Under Florida law, cause of action for negligence generally does not accrue until (1) existence of redressable harm or injury has been established, and (2) injured party knows or should know either of injury or of negligent act.	Under Florida law, "[g]enerally, a cause of action for negligence does not accrue until the existence of a redressable harm or injury has been established and the injured party knows or should know of either the injury or the negligent act."	When does a cause of action for negligence accrue under law?
8255	W. Am. Ins. Co. v. Sal E. Lobianco & Son Co., 69 Ill. 2d 126, 129-30, 370 N.E.2d 804, 806 (1977)	1	Cause of action based on tort accrues only when elements of duty, breach, and resulting injury or damage are present.	It seems well established that a cause of action based on tort accrues only when all elements are present duty, breach and resulting injury or damage.	"Is duty, breach, and resulting injury or damage essential elements for a tort cause of action to accrue?"
8256	City of New York v. State, 138 Misc. 2d 768	7	Claimant's cause of action does not accrue until it possesses the legal right to be paid and to enforce its right to payment in court.	As these cases also establish, a claimant's cause of action does not accrue until it possesses the legal right to be paid and to enforce its right to payment in court.	Does a claimant's cause of action accrue until it possesses the legal right to be paid and to enforce its right to payment in court?
8257	Jones v. Young, 539 S.W.2d 901, 907 (Tex. Civ. App. 1976)	8	A right of action accrues, as a general rule, whenever facts come into existence which give rise to the cause of action.	A right of action accrues, as a general rule, whenever facts come into existence which give rise to a cause of action.	Does a right of action accrue whenever facts come into existence which give rise to the cause of action?
8260	Ellis v. Henderson, 204 F.2d 173, 175 (5th Cir. 1953)	5	Although "conclusive presumption" as rule of evidence without logical basis might be constitutionally invalid, if the rule of substantive law so created would be constitutional, the form of words used in stating the rule is immaterial.	A 'conclusive presumption' as a rule of evidence without logical basis might be constitutionally invalid, but if the rule of substantive law would be constitutional, the form of words used in stating the rule is immaterial.	What is a conclusive presumption in the rule of evidence under the Negotiable Instruments Act?
8261	Quirk v. Town of New Boston, 140 N.H. 124, 131 (1995)	17	Where landowner possesses full bundle of property rights, destruction of one strand of bundle is not taking, as aggregate must be viewed in its entirety. Const. Pt. 1, Art. 12.	"At least where an owner possesses a full 'bundle' of property rights, the destruction of one 'strand' of the bundle is not a taking, because the aggregate must be viewed in its entirety."	"Where an owner possesses a full bundle of property rights, is the destruction of one strand of the bundle a taking?"
8262	Application of Schroetlin, 210 Neb. 508, 508-09, 315 N.W.2d 630, 631 (1982)	4	The determination of what is consistent with the public interest, or public convenience and necessity, is one that is peculiarly within the determination of the Public Service Commission and, if there is evidence to sustain the finding of the Commission, the Supreme Court cannot intervene.	The determination of what is consistent with the public interest, or public convenience and necessity, is one that is peculiarly for the determination of the Public Service Commission. If there is evidence to sustain the finding of the commission, this court cannot intervene.	"Is the determination of what is consistent with the public interest, or public convenience and necessity peculiarly for the Public Service Commission?"

8264	In re iPhone Application Litig., 844 F. Supp. 2d 1040, 1069 (N.D. Cal. 2012)	26	While a harmless use or touching of personal property may be a technical trespass, an interference not amounting to dispossession is not actionable, under California law, without a showing of harm; even where injunctive relief is sought, the plaintiff must ordinarily show that the defendant's wrongful acts threaten to cause irreparable injuries, ones that cannot be adequately compensated in damages.	"[W]hile a harmless use or touching of personal property may be a technical trespass (see Rest.2d Torts, 217), an interference (not amounting to dispossession) is not actionable, under modern California and broader American law, without a showing of harm." Even where injunctive relief is sought, "the plaintiff must ordinarily show that the defendant's wrongful acts threaten to cause irreparable injuries, ones that cannot be adequately compensated in damages."	"Can an interference, not amounting to dispossession, be actionable as trespass to chattels?"
8265	Neely v. Johnson-Barksdale Co., 194 Miss. 529, 12 So. 2d 924, 925 (Miss. 1943)	8	The rules of admissibility of evidence applicable in civil actions generally apply to proceedings to enforce subrogation.	The rules as to the admissibility of evidence applicable in civil actions generally apply to proceedings to enforce subrogation, 60 C.J.	Do the rules of admissibility of evidence applicable in civil actions generally apply to proceedings to enforce subrogation?
8266	Turner v. Hunt, 131 Tex. 492, 497, 116 S.W.2d 688, 691 (Comm'n App. 1938)	11	Except in case of extreme delay, a delay which works no injury or no disadvantage to another is not such "laches" as will bar a right.	Except in case of extreme delay like that in Dull v. Blum, supra, delay, which works no injury or no disadvantage to another, is not such laches as will bar a right.	"Except in case of extreme delay, is a delay which works no injury or no disadvantage to another not such laches as will bar a right?"
8267	Castonguay v. Plourde, 46 Conn. App. 251, 266–67 (Conn. App. 1997)	34	Granting of injunction rests within sound discretion of trial court and, in exercising its discretion, court may consider and balance injury complained of with that which will result from interference by injunction.	The granting of an injunction rests within the sound discretion of the trial court and "[i]n exercising its discretion, the court ... may consider and balance the injury complained of with that which will result from interference by *267 injunction."	Is the granting of injunction within the sound discretion of the court?
8268	Bourbeau v. Jonathan Woodner Co., 549 F. Supp. 2d 78, 86 (D.D.C. 2008)	12	Plaintiff's right to any recovery depends upon its right at the inception of the suit, and the nonexistence of a cause of action when the suit was started is a fatal defect, which cannot be cured by the accrual of a cause pending suit.	Townsend, 61 A.2d 478 (D.C.1948), the Court assumes that Woodner has in mind the proposition that a "[p]laintiff's right to any recovery depend[s] upon its right at the inception of the suit, and the nonexistence of a cause of action when the suit was started is a fatal defect, which cannot be cured by the accrual of a cause pending suit."	"If plaintiff has no valid cause of action on facts existing at the time of filing suit, can a defect be remedied by accrual of cause while suit is pending?"
8270	Werber v. Atkinson, 84 A.2d 111, 113 (D.C. 1951)	1	A plaintiff's right to recover depends upon his right at inception of suit, and nonexistence of a cause of action when suit was begun is a fatal defect which cannot be cured by accrual of a cause of action pending suit.	A plaintiff's right to recover depends upon his right at the inception of the suit, and the non-existence of a cause of action when the suit was begun is a fatal defect which can not be cured by the accrual of a cause of action pending suit.	Does a plaintiff's right to recover depend upon his right at inception of the suit?

8271	Water Res. Comm'n v. Connecticut Sand & Stone Corp., 170 Conn. 27, 31, 364 A.2d 208, 211 (1975)	1	In usual case in which injunctive relief is sought it is court which determines existence of facts which justify extraordinary remedy of injunctive relief, and thus court will usually grant such relief only in light of situation as court finds it to exist at time of trial.	It is true that in the usual case where injunctive relief is sought a court will grant such relief only in light of the situation as the court finds it to exist at the time of trial. Jones v. Foote, 165 Conn. 516, 521, 338 A.2d 467. It is also true, however, that in the usual case it is the court which determines the existence of facts which justify the extraordinary remedy of injunctive relief.	Will a court grant relief only in light of the situation as the court finds it to exist at the time of trial?
8272	Erwin v. Lee Lumber Co., 111 So. 673, 675, 163 La. 191, 197 (La. 1927)	3	Relief will be denied where suitor, before proceedings, permits lapse of time, so that evidence becomes obscure or lost.	On the subject of laches and stale demands, we quote the following: 'Where a suitor, before proceeding, permits such a lapse of time that the evidence has become obscured or lost, relief will be denied because of the difficulty of doing justice.	"Will relief be denied where suitor, before proceedings, permits lapse of time, so that evidence becomes obscure or lost?"
8275	Lyerly v. Yeadon, 199 S.C. 363, 19 S.E.2d 648, 654 (1942)	5	A long lapse of time before commencing action considered with other circumstances may create a presumption that a valid right never existed, or that if it existed it has been satisfied or lost by abandonment, waiver, acquiescence or equitable estoppel.	A long lapse of time, however, especially when taken with other circumstances, may create a presumption that a valid right never existed; or that if it existed it has been satisfied, or lost by abandonment, waiver, acquiescence, or equitable estoppel.	Does the lapse of years without any attempt to enforce a demand create a presumption against its original validity?
8276	Edward Balf Co. v. Town of E. Granby, 207 A.2d 58, 319 (Conn. 1965)	2	Right to relief in action for declaratory judgment or injunction, since remedy sought is prospective, is determined by situation which has developed at time of trial, not by that existing at time action was begun.	On the other hand, in the case of actions praying for a declaratory judgment or injunctive relief, since the remedy sought is prospective, the right to such relief is determined by the situation which has developed at the time of trial and not by that existing at the time the action was begun.	Does the court grant equitable relief only on the situation as it exists at the time of trial?
8277	Bowles v. Senderowitz, 65 F.Supp. 548, 551 (D.C.Pa. 1946)	2	The nonexistence of a cause of action when suit is commenced is fatal, and defect cannot be cured by ahppening of events thereafter which create or mature a good cause of action.	The non-existence of a cause of action when suit is commenced is fatal, and the defect cannot be cured by the happening of events thereafter which create or mature a good cause of action.	Can a plaintiff recover without the existence of the facts which constituted his cause of action at the time of the lawsuit?
8279	Stark v. Indep. Sch. Dist. No. 640, 938 F. Supp. 544, (D. Minn. 1996)	6	When circumstances in public schools arise that directly and sharply implicate constitutional values, court must intervene.	When circumstances arise that directly and sharply implicate constitutional values, a court must intervene.	"When circumstances arise in public schools that directly and sharply implicate constitutional values, should the court intervene?"

8280	In re V. Pangori Sons, Inc., 53 B.R. 711, 717 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1985)	7	Surety's rights of equitable subrogation and reimbursement did not come within purview of Uniform Commercial Code.	Likewise, we hold that the surety's rights of equitable subrogation and reimbursement do not come within the purview of the Uniform Commercial Code.	Does a surety's rights of equitable subrogation and reimbursement come within the purview of the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC)?
8281	Jones v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., 26 Cal. App. 4th 1717, 1723, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 291, 295 (1994)	9	Under doctrine of superior equities, pertaining to right of subrogation, burden is upon surety to establish its superior equity in seeking recovery against third party.	Under the doctrine of superior equities, followed in California, the burden is upon the surety to establish its superior equity in seeking recovery against a third party.	Is burden upon the surety to establish its superior equity in seeking recovery against a third party under the doctrine of superior equities?
8282	Mountain States Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Vowell Const. Co., 161 Tex. 432, 436 (1960)	2	The gist of "trespass" to personalty is an injury to, or interference with, possession, unlawfully, with or without exercise of physical force, and destruction of, or injury to, personal property, regardless of negligence, may be a "trespass".	The gist of trespass to personalty is an injury to, or interference with, possession, unlawfully, with or without the exercise of physical force.' 'Destruction of, or injury to, personal property, regardless of negligence, may be a trespass.'	Can trespass to personalty be committed without the exercise of physical force?
8285	Int'l Photo Recording Machines v. Microstat Corp., 269 A.D. 485, 490, 56 N.Y.S.2d 277, 282 (App. Div. 1945)	5	In an action at law, plaintiff may recover only for claims existing at the commencement of the action whereas in equity the court renders judgment as of the date of trial.	It is also to be noted that in an action at law, plaintiff may recover only for claims existing at the commencement of the action (Boissevain v. Boissevain, 252 N.Y. 178, 181, 169 N.E. 130, 131), whereas in equity the court renders judgment as of the date of trial.	"In an action at law, can a plaintiff recover only for claims existing at the commencement of the action?"
8286	Mitsubishi Motors v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, 473 U.S. 614, 615 (1985)	1	There is no warrant in the Arbitration Act (9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.) for implying in every contract within its ken a presumption against arbitration of statutory claims.	There is no warrant in the Arbitration Act for implying in every contract within its ken a presumption against arbitration of statutory claims.	Is there a warrant in the Arbitration Act for implying in every contract within its ken a presumption against arbitration of statutory claims?
8287	Tabb Lakes, Ltd. v. United States, 26 Cl. Ct. 1334, 1345 (1992)	3	Although in order to state a claim for permanent regulatory taking, plaintiff must have applied for, and been denied, a permit, denial of a permit may not be essential to temporary taking claim. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Although it is indisputable that in order to state a claim for a permanent regulatory taking, plaintiff must have applied for and been denied a permit, Riverside Bayview Homes, 474 U.S. at 127, 106 S.Ct. at 459, "denial of a permit may not be essential to a temporary taking claim...."	Is denial of a permit essential to a temporary taking claim?
8288	Juhnke v. Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan, 6 Kan. App. 2d 744, 744 (1981)	1	Primary purpose of pretrial conference is to establish legal issues which will be tried during course of trial and resolve as many questions as possible at that time; as practical matter, many issues of law should not be decided until such time as some evidence has been presented which would give trial court basis upon which to rule. Rules Civ.Proc., K.S.A. 60-216.	The primary purpose of K.S.A. 60-216 is to establish the legal issues that will be tried during the course of the trial and to resolve as many questions as possible at that time. [2] As a practical matter, many issues of law should not be decided until such time as some evidence has been presented which would give the trial court a basis upon which to rule.	What is the primary purpose of pretrial conference and how is it established during the course of trial?

8289	Water & Wastewater Bd. of City of Madison v. Anderson, 850 So. 2d 1230, 1238 (Ala. 2002)	5	There are conditions precedent to obligation of public utility to serve any particular applicant; applicant must submit to such reasonable conditions as utility sees fit to impose.	Further, as this Court stated in Miller, "[t]here are ... conditions precedent to the obligation of a public utility to serve any particular applicant. The applicant must submit to such reasonable conditions as the utility sees fit to impose." 273 Ala. at 271, 139 So.2d at 340.	Should an applicant submit to such reasonable conditions as the utility sees fit to impose?
8290	Turner v. Ohio Bell Telephone, 118 Ohio St. 3d 215, 220, 2008 Ohio 2010 (Ohio 2008)	3	Utility companies do not enjoy unfettered discretion in the placement of their poles within the right-of-way of road, for they are required to obtain approval from the owner of the right-of-way. R.C. SS 4939.03, 5515.01, 5547.04.	Nevertheless, utility companies do not enjoy unfettered discretion in 1163 the placement of their poles within the right-of-way, for they are required to obtain approval from the owner of the right-of-way. R.C. 4939.03, 5515.01, and 5547.04.	Do utility companies enjoy unfettered discretion in the placement of the poles within the right-of-way?
8291	Messner v. American Union Insurance Co., 119 S.W.3d 642, 649 (Mo. Ct. App. 2003)	11	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract; thus, contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option "where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract." 7 Id. at 503-04[9]. This means, inter alia, that contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Can you contractually waive common law subrogation rights?
8292	Industrial Risk v. Garlock Equipment, 576 So. 2d 652, 656 (Ala. 1991)	1	Purpose of waiver of subrogation clause is to require one party to contract to provide property insurance for all parties.	The purpose of a waiver of subrogation clause is to require one party to the contract to provide property insurance for all of the parties.	Is the purpose of a waiver of subrogation clause meant to require one party to contract to provide property insurance for all parties?
8293	Halpin v. Frankenberger, 231 Kan. 344, 350 (Kan. 1982)	7	"Subrogation" contemplates one person stepping into shoes of another; as applied to guarantor, it implies that guarantor takes place of, or inures to all of rights of creditor.	Subrogation, as the term is defined, contemplates one person stepping into the shoes of another. As applied to a guarantor, it implies that the guarantor takes the place of, or inures to all of the rights of the creditor.	Does subrogation contemplate one person stepping into the shoes of another?
8294	Messner v. American Union Insurance Co., 119 S.W.3d 642, 649 (Mo. Ct. App. 2003)	11	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract; thus, contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Subrogation based upon the common law, i.e., legal subrogation, is not an option "where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract." 7 Id. at 503-04[9]. This means, inter alia, that contract provisions waiving subrogation rights are valid and enforceable.	Is subrogation based upon the common law an option where it would be inconsistent with the terms of the contract?
8295	Gerow v. Sinay, 28 Misc. 3d 990, 998, 905 N.Y.S.2d 827, 834 (Sup. Ct. 2010)	11	The movant on a equitable subrogation claim must establish all elements of the doctrine, including a lack of knowledge concerning another lien on the property.	As the movant on the equitable subrogation claim, U.S. Bank must establish all elements of the doctrine, including a lack of knowledge concerning another lien on the property.	Should the movant on an equitable subrogation claim establish all elements of the doctrine?

8297	Spear & Co. v. Chem. Corn Exch. Bank, 148 N.Y.S.2d 296, 299 (Sup. Ct. 1955)	3	In an equity action, the decree is accommodated to the facts shown as existing at time of trial, rather than at time of complaint.	In an equity action the decree, of course, is accommodated to the facts shown as existing at time of trial rather than at time of complaint.	"In an equity action, is the decree accommodated to the facts shown as existing at the time of trial, rather than at the time of complaint?"
8298	Pagano v. Pagano, 207 Misc. 474, 479, 139 N.Y.S.2d 219, 224 (Sup. Ct. 1955), aff'd, 2 A.D.2d 756, 153 N.Y.S.2d 722 (1956)	8	Court of Equity should administer such relief as exigencies of case demand at close of trial and should render such decree as equity and good conscience require under the circumstances as presented at time of trial.	It is clear that a court of equity should administer such relief as the exigencies of the case demand at the close of the trial. The court should render such decree as equity and good conscience requires under the circumstances as presented at the time of the trial.	Should a court of equity render decree as equity and good conscience requires under the circumstances as presented at the time of the trial?
8300	In re No Place Like Home, Inc., 559 B.R. 863, 876 (W.D. Tenn. 2016)	14	Under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), an arbitration provision is severable from the remainder of the contract, such that its validity is subject to initial court determination, but if the arbitration provision is valid, the validity of the remainder of the contract is left for the arbitrator to decide. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Under the FAA, an arbitration provision is severable from the remainder of the contract, such that its validity is subject to initial court determination; but if the arbitration provision is valid, the validity of the remainder of the contract is left for the arbitrator to decide.	Can an arbitrator decide on the validity of the remainder of a contract if the court finds that the severed arbitration provision is valid?
8301	Bradley v. Milliken, 484 F.2d 215, 246 (6th Cir. 1973)	5	The public school system is a state function and local school districts are instrumentalities of the state created for administrative convenience. M.C.L.A.Const.1963, art. 8, S 2.	As held by the District Court, it is well established under the Constitution and laws of Michigan that the public school system is a State function and that local school districts are instrumentalities of the State created for administrative convenience.	Is the public school system a state function and local school districts instrumentalities of the state created for administrative convenience?
8302	Bd. of Regents of Ky. Cmty. & Technical Coll. Sys. v. Farrell, 443 S.W.3d 12, 20 (Ky. Ct. App. 2014)	2	"Common schools," as the term is used in the Kentucky Constitution, means a school taught in a district laid out by authority of the school laws, under the control of trustees elected under those laws, by a teacher qualified according to law to teach. Const. S 183.	"Common schools," as the term is used in the Kentucky Constitution, means a "school taught in a district laid out by authority of the school laws, under the control of trustees elected under those laws, by a teacher qualified according to law to teach."	What does common schools mean?
8304	Singh v. Becher, 249 A.D.2d 154-155, 154, 672 N.Y.S.2d 60, 61 (1998)	4	Mortgage is generally considered to be personal property, and assignment of existing mortgage, rather than execution of new mortgage or foreclosure of existing mortgage, would not affect underlying real property for venue purposes. McKinney's CPLR 507.	A "mortgage is generally considered to be personal property" (77 N.Y.Jur.2d, Mortgages, § 3, at 375), and the assignment of an existing mortgage, rather than the execution of a new mortgage or the foreclosure of an existing mortgage, would not affect the underlying real property.	Are mortgages generally considered to be personal property?
8305	McGillis v. Aida Engineering, Inc., 161 Mich. App. 370, 372 (Mich. Ct. App. 1987)	1	Every employer subject to Workers' Disability Compensation Act is liable for compensation awarded to its injured employees. M.C.L.A. S 418.101 et seq.	Every employer subject to the Workers' Disability Compensation Act is 818 liable for compensation awarded to its injured employees.	Is every employer that is subject to the workers disability compensation act liable for compensation awarded to its injured employees?

8306	Geochem Laboratories, Inc. v. Brown & Ruth Laboratories, Inc., 689 S.W.2d 288, 289–90 (Tex.App. 1 Dist.,1985)	1	When special exceptions are sustained, pleader has two options, to wit, he may, as matter of right, amend his petition, or he may refuse to amend and thereby test validity of ruling on appeal; if pleader refuses to amend his pleading, trial court may by further order either strike objectionable portion of pleading, or dismiss if remaining allegations in petition fail to state cause of action.	It is well settled that when special exceptions are sustained, the pleader has two options: (1) he may, as a matter of right, amend his petition, or (2) he may *290 refuse to amend and thereby test the validity of the ruling on appeal. Davis v. Quality Pest Control, 641 S.W.2d 324, 328 (Tex.App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1982, writ ref'd n.r.e.). If the pleader refuses to amend his pleading, the trial court may by further order either strike the objectionable portion of the pleading, see Ship Ahoy, Inc., v. Whalen, 347 S.W.2d 662, 663 (Tex.Civ.App.—Houston 1961, no writ), or dismiss the suit if the remaining allegations in the petition fail to state a cause of action.	What options does the pleader have when special exceptions are sustained?
8307	State ex Rel. Moore v. Lawson, 105 Idaho 164, 165 (1983)	6	Appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals is limited to those cases in which appeals have been timely filed under rules promulgated by the Supreme Court.	5, 9, of the Idaho Constitution to "review upon appeal, any decision of the district courts." However, we view our appellate jurisdiction as being limited to those cases in which appeals have been timely filed under rules promulgated by the Supreme Court.	Is appellate jurisdiction limited to those cases in which appeals have been timely filed under rules promulgated by the Supreme Court?
8308	In re James B., 109 Cal. App. 4th 862, 868, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 461 (2003)	4	Because auto burglary can be committed only by entering a locked vehicle without the owner's consent, it is only accomplished by altering the vehicle's physical condition; at worst, by smashing a window, at best, by illegally unlocking it. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code § 459.	Therefore, "because auto burglary can be committed only by entering a locked vehicle without the owner's consent, it is only accomplished by altering the vehicle's physical condition; at worst, by smashing a window, at best, by illegally unlocking it.	How is auto burglary committed?
8309	Wall v. State Bd. of Edn., 2015-Ohio-1418, ¶ 34, 29 N.E.3d 1024, 1033	13	A misdemeanor conviction can serve as the basis to revoke a teaching license for conduct unbecoming to the teacher's position. R.C. § 3319.13(B)(1).	A misdemeanor conviction can serve as the basis to revoke a teaching license for conduct unbecoming to the teacher's position.	Can a misdemeanor conviction serve as the basis to revoke a teaching license for conduct unbecoming to the teacher's position?
8310	South Sutter, LLC v. LJ Sutter Partners, L.P., 193 Cal.App.4th 634, 665 (2011)	22	In common law, a "retraxit" was "a voluntary renunciation by plaintiff in open court of his suit and cause thereof, and by it plaintiff forever loses his action," and in California, the same effect is now accomplished by a dismissal with prejudice.	"In common law, a retraxit was 'a voluntary renunciation by plaintiff in open court of his suit and cause thereof, and by it plaintiff forever loses his action.' [Citations.] In California, the same effect is now accomplished by a dismissal with prejudice.	What is a retraxit in common law?

8311	City of Palos Heights v. Village of Worth, 29 Ill. App. 3d 746, 749, 331 N.E.2d 190 (Ill. App. Ct. 1975)	3	Upon proper notice of payment of costs, plaintiff has absolute right to dismiss his action before trial or hearing has begun and trial court has no discretion to interfere with exercise of that right. S.H.A. ch. 110, SS 52, 52(1).	Upon proper notice and payment of costs, a plaintiff has an absolute right to dismiss his action before a trial or hearing has begun, and the trial court has no discretion to interfere with the exercise of that right.	Does a plaintiff have an absolute right to dismiss an action?
8313	Crane v. Leclere, 216 N.W. 622, 624 (Iowa 1927)	1	Statute prohibiting dismissal of action after final submission will not be extended to include cases not within its express terms.	The statute prohibiting the dismissal of an action after final submission of the case is in derogation of the common law, and it will not be extended so as to prohibit the dismissal of a case not falling within its express terms.	Can a statute prohibiting the dismissal of an action after final submission of the case be extended to prohibit the dismissal of a case not falling within its express terms?
8314	Moseley v. Behringer, 184 S.W.3d 829, 832 (Tex. App. 2006)	2	In the ordinary case, absent special statutory provisions, plaintiff has an absolute right to take a nonsuit. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	"[I]n the ordinary case, absent special statutory provisions, a plaintiff has an absolute right to take a nonsuit."	"In the ordinary case, absent special statutory provisions, does a plaintiff have an absolute right to take a nonsuit?"
8315	Arciniega v. Bank of San Bernardino, 52 Cal. App. 4th 213, 228, 60 Cal. Rptr. 2d 495, 504-05 (1997)	6	Difference between "retraxit" and "nonsuit" is that nonsuit is plaintiff's default and neglect, and he is thus allowed to bring suit again, upon payment of costs; conversely, retraxit is open and voluntary renunciation of suit in court, by which plaintiff forever loses his action.	Continuing further, " 'A retraxit differs from a nonsuit, in that the one is negative, and the other positive: the nonsuit is a default and neglect of the plaintiff, and therefore he is allowed to begin his suit again, upon payment of costs; but a retraxit is an open and voluntary renunciation of his suit, in court, and by this he for[] ever loses his action.'	"Is ""retraxit"" an open, voluntary renunciation of a claim in court?"
8316	Cook v. Lichtblau, 176 So. 2d 523, 533 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1965)	4	Plaintiff may not terminate action as matter of right by taking nonsuit whether voluntary or involuntary. 30 F.S.A. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 1.35.	1.35, as amended, a plaintiff may not terminate an action as a matter of right by taking a nonsuit whether voluntary or involuntary under prior Florida practice.	Can a plaintiff terminate action as matter of right by taking nonsuit whether voluntary or involuntary?
8318	Carter v. Clegg, 557 So. 2d 1187, 1190 (Miss. 1990)	1	When considering whether to grant voluntary dismissal, trial court must consider effect action will have on defendant and other plaintiffs, if there are any; moreover, court must assure fairness and protection for those affected by dismissal. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41.	When considering whether a dismissal should be granted, the trial court must consider the effects the action will have on the defendant and other plaintiffs, if there are any. Moreover, the trial court must assure fairness and protection for those affected by the dismissal.	"When considering whether to grant voluntary dismissal, should a trial court consider the effect an action will have on a defendant and other plaintiffs, if there are any?"
8320	Lachmar v. Trunkline LNG Co., 753 F.2d 8, 10 (2d Cir. 1985)	1	Under New York law, assignee of rights under a bilateral contract is not bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract unless he expressly assumes to do so.	Under New York law, made applicable by the parties, the assignee of rights *10 under a bilateral contract is not bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract unless he expressly assumes to do so.	Is an assignee of rights under a bilateral contract bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract?

8321	Rice Co. v. Precious Flowers, 523 F.3d 528, 536 (5th Cir. 2008)	14	Where some written agreement to arbitrate exists, federal courts recognize six theories for binding a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement: (1) incorporation by reference, (2) assumption, (3) agency, (4) veil-piercing/alter ego, (5) estoppel, and (6) third-party beneficiary.	Where "some written agreement to arbitrate" exists, federal courts have recognized "[s]ix theories for binding a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement ...: (a) incorporation by reference; (b) assumption; (c) agency; (d) veil-piercing/alter ego; (e) estoppel; *537 and (f) third-party beneficiary."	Can arbitration agreements apply to nonsignatories?
8322	Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 105 S.Ct. 3346, 3358, 473 U.S. 614, 635 (U.S. Puerto Rico, 1985)	9	Importance of private damages remedy in antitrust dispute does not compel conclusion that resolution may not be sought outside an American court by means of arbitration.	The importance of the private damages remedy, however, does not compel the conclusion that it may not be sought outside an American court.	Does the importance of the private damages remedy compel the conclusion that it may not be sought outside an American court?
8323	DuBray v. Warner Bros. Recs., 236 A.D.2d 312, 314, 653 N.Y.S.2d 592, 594 (1997)	2	Motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent order of court or to enable plaintiffs to do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly.	It is also true, however, that a motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent an order of the court (Schultz v. Kobus, 15 A.D.2d 382, 384, 224 N.Y.S.2d 372), or to enable plaintiffs to "do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly" (Katz v Austin, 271 App Div 217, 218, lv denied 271 App Div 773; but see, De Laurentis v Bercowitz, 27 AD2d 869).	Can a motion for discontinuance be used to circumvent an order of the court or to enable plaintiffs to do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly?
8324	Rooth v. Kusel, 278 Ill. App. 152, 156 (1934)	4	A complainant can dismiss his bill at any time, except where a bill is filed on behalf of complainant and others, and such others have intervened and have been made parties complainant.	*156 It has long been the settled rule in this State with some exceptions, that a complainant can dismiss his bill at any time. Among these exceptions is where a bill is filed on behalf of the complainant and others, and such others have intervened and have been made parties complainant.	"Can a complainant dismiss his bill at any time, except where a bill is filed on behalf of complainant and others, and such others have intervened and have been made parties complainant?"
8325	Earl v. Winne, 34 N.J. Super. 605, 610-11 (Law Div. 1955)	2	The pretrial order supersedes the pleadings when inconsistent therewith and controls subsequent course of action unless modified at or before the trial or during trial to prevent manifest injustice. R.R. 4:29-1.	The pretrial order supersedes the pleadings when inconsistent therewith and controls the subsequent course of action unless modified at or before the trial or during *611 the trial to prevent manifest injustice.	Does a pretrial order supersede pleadings inconsistent therewith?
8326	State v. Edmonds, 323 Conn. 34, 69 (2016)	20	Suspect's standing in a private parking lot for a few seconds does not constitute loitering, particularly without any indication that suspect is engaged in otherwise improper conduct or has been asked to leave the premises.	Nor does standing in a private lot for a few seconds constitute loitering, particularly without any indication that the person is engaged in otherwise improper conduct or has been asked to leave the premises.	Does standing in a private parking lot constitute loitering?
8327	Ballay v. Legg Mason Wood Walker, Inc., 878 F.2d 729, 733 (3d Cir. 1989)	3	Although Federal Arbitration Act establishes presumption in favor of arbitrability when arbitrability is in doubt, it does not prevent parties from agreeing to exclude matters from arbitration if they so desire. 9 U.S.C.A. §§ 1-15.	Although the Federal Arbitration Act establishes a presumption in favor of arbitrability when arbitrability is in doubt, it does not prevent parties from agreeing to exclude matters from arbitration if they so desire.	Does the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) prevent parties from agreeing to exclude matters from arbitration?

8328	Hersman, Inc. v. Fleming Cos., Inc., 19 F. Supp. 2d 1282, 1285 (M.D. Ala. 1998)	7	Key element in determining whether tort claims are subject to an arbitration provision is the relationship between the claims asserted and the underlying contractual obligations.	The key element in determining whether tort claims are subject to an arbitration provision is the relationship between the claims asserted and the underlying contractual obligations.	What key element determines if tort claims are subject to an arbitration provision?
8329	U.S. v. Alfisi, 308 F.3d 144, 149 (2d Cir. 2002)	3	The "corrupt" intent necessary to a bribery conviction is in the nature of a quid pro quo requirement; that is, there must be a specific intent to give something of value in exchange for an official act. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(1)(A).	The "corrupt" intent necessary to a bribery conviction is in the nature of a quid pro quo requirement; that is, there must be "a specific intent to give ... something of value in exchange for an official act."	What is the corrupt intent required by the bribery statute?
8331	People v. Watson, 24 Ill. App. 3d 237, 239 (1974)	1	In order to sustain conviction for possession of burglary tools, State must prove that defendant possessed tools adapted and designed for breaking and entering and that they were possessed with knowledge of their character and with intent to commit felony or theft.	In order to sustain a conviction for possession of burglary tools, the State must prove that the defendant possessed tools adapted and designed for breaking and entering and that they were possessed with knowledge of their character and with the intent to commit a felony or theft.	Can intent be proved by circumstantial evidence for the charge of possession of burglars tools?
8332	Farris v. U.S. Fidelity Guaranty, 273 Or. 628, 631 (Or. 1975)	1	Except in instances of dismissal for lack of prosecution, there is no statutory authorization for judgments or orders of dismissal in law actions; statutory scheme indicates that, in equity, the correct terminology is dismissal and, in law, the correct terminology is nonsuit, voluntary or involuntary. ORS 18.210, 18.250.	Except in instances of dismissal for lack of prosecution, there is no statutory authorization for judgments or orders of dismissal in law actions. The statutory scheme in Deady's Code and at present indicates that in equity the correct terminology is 'dismissal' and in law the correct terminology is 'nonsuit,' voluntary and involuntary.	"Except in instances of dismissal for lack of prosecution, is there a statutory authorization for judgments or orders of a dismissal in law actions?"
8333	Ferber v. Brueckl, 322 Mo. 892, 900 (Mo. 1929)	1	"Voluntary discontinuance" is voluntary action by plaintiff, whereby his case goes out of court without decision on merits.	A voluntary discontinuance is a voluntary action on the part of plaintiff whereby his case goes out of court without a decision on the merits.	"Is a ""voluntary discontinuance"" a voluntary action by a plaintiff, whereby his case goes out of court without a decision on merits?"
8334	Rumph v. Rister, 211 Ga. 312, 312 (1955)	2	Plaintiff in any action, in any court, may dismiss his action either in vacation or term time, if he shall not thereby prejudice any right of defendant. Code, S 3-510.	The plaintiff in any action, in any court, may dismiss his action either in vacation or term time, if he shall not thereby prejudice any right of the defendant'. Code, 3-510;	May a plaintiff in any action dismiss his action either in vacation or term time?
8336	Zanca v. Exhibition Contractors Co., 614 So. 2d 325, 329 (La. Ct. App. 1993)	6	Trial court has wide discretion to provide for implementation of pretrial order and to insure the terms of pretrial order are enforced. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1551.	Pursuant to the provisions of La.C.C.P. art. 1551, a court has wide discretion to provide for implementation of a pre-trial order and to insure that the terms of the pre-trial order are enforced.	Does the trial court have wide discretion to provide for implementation of pretrial order and to insure the terms of pretrial order are enforced?
8337	Nentwig v. United Industry, 256 Mont. 134, 138-39 (Mont. 1992)	2	Purpose of pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit parties to prepare for trial.	The purpose of the pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify the *139 issues, and permit the parties to prepare for trial.	"Is the purpose of a pretrial order to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit parties to prepare for trial?"

8339	State ex Rel. State Fund v. Berg, 279 Mont. 161, 180 (1996)	19	Purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare case for trial on basis of pretrial order. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 16(e).	The purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify the issues and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	Is permitting counsel to prepare case for trial on basis of pretrial order the purpose of pretrial orders?
8340	Velez v. Tuma, 283 Mich. App. 396, 409, 770 N.W.2d 89, 98 (2009), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, 492 Mich. 1, 821 N.W.2d 432 (2012)	10	A trial court has the authority to set deadlines in pretrial order for the filing of motions, and trial court also has the discretion to decline to consider motions filed after the deadline. MCR 2.401(B)(2).	Under MCR 2.401(B)(2), a trial court has the authority to set deadlines for the filing of motions. The trial court also has the discretion to decline to consider motions filed after the deadline.	Does a trial court have the authority to set deadlines in pretrial order for the filing of motions?
8341	Kallgren v. Chadwick, 134 N.H. 110, 114 (N.H. 1991)	2	Purpose of pretrial statement is to apprise parties and court, unambiguously and accurately, of all uncontested and contested facts.	We note in passing, however, that the purpose of the pretrial statement is to apprise the parties and the court, unambiguously and accurately, of all uncontested and contested facts.	"Is the purpose of a pretrial statement to apprise parties and the court, unambiguously and accurately, of all uncontested and contested facts?"
8343	Citizens' Tr. Co. of Utica v. R. Prescott & Son, 221 A.D. 420, 422, 223 N.Y.S. 184, 187 (App. Div. 1927)	7	Under Civil Practice Act, §§ 288, 296, 322 et seq., and Rules of Civil Practice, rules 120-133, 140 et seq., proceedings for discovery of books, documents, other papers and property are separate and apart from proceedings for examination of parties and witnesses.	Proceedings for the discovery of books, documents, other papers, and property are separate and apart from that for examination of parties and witnesses. Civil Practice Act, § 296; Civil Practice Act, § 322 et seq.; Rules of Civil Practice, 140 et seq.	"Are proceedings for discovery of books, documents, other papers and property separate and apart from proceedings for examination of parties and witnesses?"
8346	Economy Fire Casualty Co. v. Warren, 71 Ill. App. 3d 625, 629, 390 N.E.2d 361 (Ill. App. Ct. 1979)	5	Motion for continuance on ground of ill health of one of two party defendants is insufficient if there is no showing that party's absence from trial jeopardized his case.	A motion for a continuance on the ground of ill health of one of two party defendants is insufficient where there is no showing that his absence from trial jeopardized his case.	Is a motion for continuance insufficient where there is no showing that absence of witness would jeopardize case?
8348	Linton v. Jones, 462 S.W.2d 636, 637 (Tex. Civ. App. 1971)	1	Matter of granting or refusing a continuance is generally addressed to sound discretion of trial court, and an order of the trial court will not be disturbed on appeal unless there was an abuse of discretion. Rules of Civil Procedure, rules 251, 252.	It is a well settled rule that the matter of granting or refusing a continuance is generally addressed to the sound discretion of the trial court, and the order *638 of the trial court will not be disturbed on appeal unless there was an abuse of discretion. Rules 251, 252, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure;	Is a motion for continuance for want of testimony addressed to the trial court's sound discretion?
8351	Grace v. St. Louis Cnty., No. ED94746, 2011 WL 1660653, at *3 (Mo. Ct. App. May 3, 2011)	8	"Taxes" are proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs; taxes are not payments for a special privilege or a special service rendered.	Taxes are "proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs." Leggett v. Missouri State Life Ins. Co., 342 S.W.2d 833, 875 (Mo. banc 1960) (quotations omitted). "Taxes are not payments for a special privilege or a special service rendered." Leggett, 342 S.W.2d at 875 (quotations omitted).	Are taxes proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs?

8352	Taylor v. Gehner, 329 Mo. 511, 515 (1932)	1	"Taxes" are proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs.	Taxes are proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs.	Are taxes proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs?
8353	Weisblat v. City of San Diego, 176 Cal. App. 4th 1022, 1039–40, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 366, 378 (2009)	6	A tax is a "special tax" whenever expenditure of its revenues is limited to specific purposes; this is true even though there may be multiple specific purposes for which the revenues may be spent.	"[A] tax is special whenever expenditure of its revenues is limited to specific purposes; this is true even though there may be multiple specific purposes for which [the] revenues may be spent." (City of Roseville, supra, 106 Cal.App.4th at p. 1185, 132 Cal.Rptr.2d 1.)	"Is a tax a ""special tax"" whenever expenditure of its revenues is limited to specific purposes?"
8354	Netjets Aviation, Inc. v. Guillory, 207 Cal.App.4th 26, 41 (Cal. Ct. App. 2012)	7	Every system of taxation consists of two parts, which are (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection; the former is a legislative function, while the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	Every system of taxation consists of two parts: (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection. The former is a legislative function; the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	"Are elements which enter into the imposition of tax, a part of every system of taxation?"
8355	In re Olde Florida Investments, Ltd., 272 B.R. 779, 783 (M.D. Fla. 2001)	5	Under Florida law, a "tax" is an enforced burden of contribution imposed by sovereign right for the support of the government, the administration of the law, and to execute the various functions the sovereign is called on to perform.	In Klemm, the Florida Supreme Court stated: A "tax" is an enforced burden of contribution imposed by sovereign right for the support of the government, the administration of the law, and to execute the various functions the sovereign is called on to perform.	Is tax a burden imposed by a sovereign right?
8357	Clean Water Coal. v. The M Resort, 127 Nev. 301, 316 (Nev.,2011)	14	When it appears from a legislative act itself that revenue is its main objective, and the amount of the tax supports that theory, the enactment is a "revenue measure."	when it appears from the Act itself that revenue is its main objective, and the amount of the tax supports that theory, the enactment is a revenue measure.'	"Is the enactment a ""revenue measure"" when it appears from a legislative act itself that revenue is its main objective, and the amount of the tax supports that theory?"
8359	Standard Oil Co. v. Johnson, 316 U.S. 481, 484 (1942)	3	That the establishment and control of army post exchanges have been in accordance with War Department regulations, rather than specific statutory directions, does not alter their status as "arms of the government", since authorized War Department regulations have the force of "law". Act July 15, 1870, 16 Stat. 315, 319; Act March 1, 1875, 18 Stat. 337.	That the establishment and control of post exchanges have been in accordance with regulations rather than specific statutory directions does not alter their 1170 status, for authorized War Department regulations have the force of law. 5 3 Act July 15, 1870, 16 Stat. 315, 319; Act March 1, 1875, 18 Stat. 337.	Do War Department regulations have the force of law?

8360	Thomas v. United States, 122 Fed. Cl. 53, 68 (2015)	8	Military administrators are presumed to act lawfully and in good faith like other public officers, and the military is entitled to substantial deference in the governance of its affairs.	"[M]ilitary administrators are presumed to act lawfully and in good faith like other public officers, and the military is entitled to substantial deference in the governance of its affairs."	Are military administrators presumed to act lawfully and in good faith?
8361	Smith v. United States, 114 Fed. Cl. 691, 700 (2014)	17	Court of Federal Claims may review a military decision when the plaintiff argues that the military did not comply with a governing statute or regulation; however, plaintiff's claim must be "justiciable," that is, it must be within the competency of the court to decide the issue, and there must be tests or standards that inform the court of the measure against which the conduct of the military is to be evaluated.	The court may review a military decision when the plaintiff argues that the military did not comply with a governing statute or regulation. See Roth v. United States, 378 F.3d 1371, 1385 (Fed.Cir.2004). But, plaintiff's claim must be justiciable. That is, it must be within the competency of the court to decide the issue, and there must be "tests or standards" that inform the court of the measure against which the conduct of the military is to be evaluated.	Can courts review military decisions when the military did not comply with a governing statute or regulation?
8362	Eisenhuth v. United States, 59 Fed. Cl. 460, 463 (Fed.Cl.,2004)	1	Although the Court of Federal Claims cannot review the merits of a decision committed wholly to the discretion of the military, it may review a challenge to the particular procedure followed in rendering a military decision.	Although the court cannot review "the merits of a decision committed wholly to the discretion of the military," it may review "a challenge to the particular procedure followed in rendering a military decision."	Can the merits of a decision committed wholly to the discretion of the military be subjected to judicial review?
8363	Allen v. Devon Energy Holdings, L.L.C., 367 S.W.3d 355, 391, (Tex. App. 2012)	46	While a limited partner does not normally owe a fiduciary duty, such a duty springs into existence when a limited partner, wearing a different hat, exerts operating control over the affairs of the limited partnership.	While a limited partner does not normally owe a fiduciary duty, such a duty "spring[s] into existence when a limited partner ... wearing a different hat, exerts operating control over the affairs of the limited partnership."	Does a limited partner owe a fiduciary duty in the partnership?
8364	Stroock & Stroock & Lavan v. Beltrami, 157 A.D.2d 590, 591, 550 N.Y.S.2d 337, 337 (1990)	1	Leave to amend a pleading is freely granted as matter of discretion in the absence of prejudice or surprise, but leave may not be granted where the amended pleading fails to state a cause of action.	While, as Supreme Court recognized, leave to amend a pleading is freely granted as a matter of discretion in the absence of prejudice or surprise (Loomis v. Civetta Corinno Constr. Corp., 54 N.Y.2d 18, 444 N.Y.S.2d 571, 429 N.E.2d 90; Fahey v. County of Ontario, 44 N.Y.2d 934, 408 N.Y.S.2d 314, 380 N.E.2d 146) leave may not be granted where the amended pleading plainly fails to state a cause of action and, thus, lacks merit (Crimmins Contr. Co. v City of New York, 74 NY2d 166; Daniels v Empire-Orr, Inc., 151 AD2d 370).	Will leave to amend be denied where the pleading fails to state a cause of action?

8365	Di Santo v. City of Warrenville, 59 Ill. App. 3d 931, 937 (Ill. App. Ct. 1978)	6	General conclusions of fraud are not sufficient in a pleading and fraud is never presumed but must be shown by allegation of facts from which fraud is a necessary or probable inference.	It is axiomatic, of course, that general conclusions of fraud are not *938 sufficient in a pleading and that fraud is never presumed but must be shown by allegation of facts from which fraud is a necessary or probable inference.	Must fraud be shown from allegations of facts from which it is a necessary or probable inference?
8367	Yeager v. Schulze, Phillips & Chase, 2007-Ohio-5626, ¶ 17, 173 Ohio App. 3d 466, 471, 878 N.E.2d 1100, 1104	6	A plaintiff has an absolute right to file one voluntary dismissal under applicable rule, and when the plaintiff does so, the case is dismissed without prejudice, unless otherwise indicated, and the trial court is divested of jurisdiction. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(A)(1)(a).	A plaintiff has an absolute right to file one dismissal under Civ.R. 41(A)(1)(a), and when the plaintiff does so, the case is dismissed without prejudice, unless otherwise indicated, and the trial court is divested of jurisdiction.	"Are court-ordered voluntary dismissals unless otherwise stated, without prejudice?"
8368	Trent v. Franco, 253 Ga. App. 104, 106, 558 S.E.2d 66 (Ga. Ct. App. 2001)	1	The renewal statute is remedial in nature, and it is construed liberally to allow renewal where a suit is disposed of on any ground not affecting its merits. O.C.G.A. § 9-2-61.	In that regard, [t]he renewal statute is remedial in nature; it is construed liberally to allow renewal where a suit is disposed of on any ground not affecting its merits.	Is the renewal statute construed liberally to allow renewal where a suit is disposed of on any ground not affecting its merits?
8370	Gallagher Bassett v. Phillips, 991 So. 2d 697, 700 (Ala. 2008)	3	The effect of a voluntary dismissal of an action is to render the proceedings a nullity and leave the parties as if the action had never been brought. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a)(1).	" '[T]he effect of a voluntary dismissal ... is to render the proceedings a nullity and leave the parties as if the action had never been brought.' "	Is the effect of a voluntary dismissal of an action to render the proceedings a nullity and leave the parties as if the action had never been brought?
8371	Atkins v. Atkins, 177 Cal. App. 2d 207, 211, 2 Cal. Rptr. 104, 106 (Ct. App. 1960)	2	Pretrial order determining issues did not do away with power of trial court to permit amendments to conform to proof.	We do not believe that it was intended that the pretrial order should do away with the power of the trial court to permit amendments to conform to the proof.	Does a pretrial order determining issues do away with power of a trial court to permit amendments to conform to proof?
8372	De Stackelberg v. Lamb Transp. Co., 168 Cal. App. 2d 174, 180, 335 P.2d 522, 526-27 (1959)	4	Pre-trial conference order supersedes the pleadings to the extent of any inconsistencies and controls the subsequent course of the case. Superior Court Rules, rule 8.8.	The pre-trial conference order supersedes the pleadings to the extent of any inconsistencies and controls the subsequent course of the case. Rules for the Superior Courts, rule 8.8; Baird v. Hodson, 161 Cal.App.2d 687, 327 P.2d 215	Does a pre-trial conference order supersede the pleadings to the extent of any inconsistencies and controls the subsequent course of the case?
8373	Mack v. Union Pac. R. Co., 2012 Ark. App. 115, ¶¶ 5-6 (2012)	8	A nonsuit is not effective upon filing; a court order is necessary to grant a nonsuit and the judgment or decree must be entered to be effective.	No order of nonsuit was entered by the trial court. A nonsuit is not effective upon filing; a court order is necessary to *6 grant a nonsuit and the judgment or decree must be entered to be effective.	Is a court order necessary to grant a nonsuit and the judgment or decree must be entered to be effective?
8374	2nd Roc-Jersey Associates v. Town of Morristown, 158 N.J. 581, 592 (N.J. 1999)	4	Traditionally, differences between assessment and tax include: assessment supports local improvements, while tax finances general operations; assessment is one-time charge, while tax is annual; and assessment requires that benefit be direct, while tax requires no such direct benefit.	Traditionally, the differences between an assessment and a tax include: an assessment supports local improvements, while a tax finances general operations; an assessment is a one-time charge, while a tax is annual; and an assessment requires that the benefit be direct, while a tax requires no such direct benefit.	"Is assessment a one-time charge, while tax is annual?"

8375	City of San Antonio v. San Antonio Independent School District, 683 S.W.2d 67, 70 (Tex. App. 1985)	4	Mere fact that revenues are put into a general fund and used for public purposes does not necessarily make them "taxes."	The mere fact that revenues are put into a general fund and used for public purposes, as were the payments in the case at hand, does not necessarily make them taxes.	"Does the fact that revenues are put into a general fund and used for public purposes make them ""taxes""?"
8376	Wetzel Cnty. Solid Waste Auth. v. W. Virginia Div. of Nat. Res., 195 W. Va. 1, 5, 462 S.E.2d 349, 353 (1995)	3	Character of tax is determined not by its label but by analyzing its operation and effect and, thus, it is difficult to categorize assessment as fee or tax, as courts have not adopted universal definitions of those terms.	As this Court has held: "The character of a tax is determined not by its label but by analyzing its operation and effect." Syllabus point 2, City of Fairmont v. Pitrolo Pontiac-Cadillac, 172 W.Va. 505, 308 S.E.2d 527 (1983), cert. denied, 466 U.S. 958, 104 S.Ct. 2169, 80 L.Ed.2d 553 (1984). Therefore, it is difficult to categorize an assessment as a fee or a tax because the courts have not adopted universal definitions of these terms.	Is the character of a tax determined by analyzing its operation and effect?
8377	Multnomah County v. Luihn, 180 Or. 528, 542 (Or. 1947)	9	Taxation proceeds upon the theory that the existence of government is a necessity, that it cannot continue without means to pay its expenses, and that for those means it has the right to compel all citizens and property within its limits to contribute.	Taxation proceeds 'upon the theory that the existence of government is a necessity; that it cannot continue without means to pay its expenses; and that for those means it has the right to compel all citizens and property within its limits to contribute'.	What theory does taxation proceed upon?
8378	Blizek v. Eagle Signal Company, 164 N.W.2d 84, 85 (Iowa 1969)	2	One major function of Workmen's Compensation Act is to provide prompt payment to a covered employee in the event of injury arising out of and in the course of employment. I.C.A. S 85.34, subd. 2(c, f, g, u).	One of the major functions of our Workmen's Compensation Act is to provide prompt payment to a covered employee in the event of injury arising out of and in the course of employment.	What is one major function of the Workmens Compensation Act?
8379	Smith v. Lannert, 429 S.W.2d 8, 12 (Mo. Ct. App. 1968)	1	The Workmen's Compensation Act is substitutional and the exclusive remedy for injuries arising out of and sustained in the course of employment.	The Missouri Workmen's Compensation Act is substitutional and the exclusive remedy for injuries arising out of and sustained in the course of the employment.	Is the Workmens Compensation Act both a substitutional and the exclusive remedy for injuries arising out of and sustained in the course of employment?
8380	United States v. Hawkins, 37 F. Supp. 3d 964, 969 (N.D. Ill. 2014)	7	Accepting or agreeing to accept a payment for the performance of official government duties is bribery, whether or not the recipient ultimately earns the bribe by taking official action; acceptance of the bribe is the violation of the statute, not performance of the illegal promise.	Accepting or agreeing to accept a payment for the performance of official government duties is bribery, whether or not the recipient ultimately "earns" the bribe by taking official action; "acceptance of the bribe is the violation of the statute, not performance of the illegal promise.	"In bribery prosecution, does the government need to show that the defendant fulfilled the illegal bargain?"
8382	Wisniewski v. Clary, 46 Cal. App. 3d 499, 505, 120 Cal. Rptr. 176, 180 (Ct. App. 1975)	8	Although court may not compel a litigant to settle a case, it may direct him to engage personally in settlement negotiations, provided that conditions for such negotiations are otherwise reasonable. Cal. Rules of Court, rule 207.5.	A court may not compel a litigant to settle a case, but it may direct him to engage personally in settlement negotiations, provided the conditions for such negotiations are otherwise reasonable.	Can a court direct a litigant to engage personally in a settlement negotiation?

8384	Powers v. Professional Rodeo Cowboys Ass'n, 832 P.2d 1099, 1102 (Colo. App. 1992)	2	Request for voluntary dismissal without prejudice generally should be granted unless dismissal would result in legal prejudice to defendant. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a)(2).	A plaintiff's request for a voluntary dismissal under C.R.C.P. 41(a) (2) "generally should be granted unless a dismissal would result in legal prejudice to the defendant."	Should a request for voluntary dismissal without prejudice generally be granted unless a dismissal would result in legal prejudice to a defendant?
8385	Gen. Agents Ins. Co. of Am. v. El Naggar, 340 S.W.3d 552, 557 (Tex. App. 2011)	5	A nonsuit does not vitiate a decision on the merits unless the decision on the merits is set aside by the trial court; once a judge announces a decision that adjudicates a claim, that claim is no longer subject to the plaintiff's right to nonsuit. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	A nonsuit does not vitiate a decision on the merits, including a partial summary judgment, unless the decision on the merits is set aside by the trial court. "Once a judge announces a decision that adjudicates a claim, that claim is no longer subject to the plaintiff's right to nonsuit."	"Is a decision on the merits, including a summary judgment in the defendant's favor, vitiated by a nonsuit by the plaintiff?"
8386	Richter v. Prairie Farms Dairy, Inc., 2016 IL 119518 (Ill. 2016)	26	A voluntary dismissal terminates the entire action and renders immediately appealable all final orders entered therein that were not previously appealable. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-1009.	A voluntary dismissal pursuant to section 2-1009 terminates the entire action and renders immediately appealable all final orders entered therein that were not previously appealable.	Does a voluntary dismissal terminate an action in its entirety and render all final orders immediately appealable?
8387	Cyr v. Cote, 396 A.2d 1013, 1016 (Me., 1979)	4	Where issues raised by pleadings have been modified by a pretrial order, order and not pleadings controls question of whether litigants have right to jury trial. M.R.S.A.Const. art. 1, S 20.	Accordingly, we hold that where the issues raised by the pleadings have been modified by a pre-trial order, the order and not the pleadings controls the jury trial question. See Craig v. Hamilton, 213 Kan. 665, 518 P.2d 539 (1974).	"Where the issues raised by the pleadings have been modified by a pretrial order, is the order and not the pleadings that control the question of whether litigants have right to a jury trial?"
8388	Evans v. Dreyfuss Brothers, 971 A.2d 179, 186 (D.C. 2009)	10	A "dismissal without prejudice" renders the proceedings a nullity and leaves the parties as if the action had never been brought.	"[A] dismissal without prejudice 'renders the proceedings a nullity and leaves the parties as if the action had never been brought.' "	"Does a ""dismissal without prejudice"" render the proceedings a nullity and leaves the parties as if the action had never been brought?"
8389	Dafco, Inc. v. Reynolds, 9 Ohio App. 3d 4, 5 (Ohio Ct. App. 1983)	4	Before sanctions can be enforced for violation of a pretrial order, order must be properly announced and formally entered in case. Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 37, 37(D).	In Sexton, it was held that before sanctions can be enforced pursuant to Civ.R. 37 for violation of a pretrial order, an order must be properly announced and formally entered in the case.	"Before sanctions can be enforced for violation of a pretrial order, must an order be properly announced and formally entered in case?"
8390	Lewis v. City of Savannah, 336 Ga. App. 126, 129 (Ga. Ct. App. 2016)	4	The unqualified dismissal of a case terminates the action, divests the trial court of jurisdiction to take further action in the case, and renders all orders entered after the dismissal a mere nullity.	Under Georgia law, the unqualified dismissal of a case terminates the action, divests the trial court of jurisdiction to take further action in the case, and renders all orders entered after the dismissal a mere nullity.	Does the dismissal of a lawsuit generally deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to take further action in a case?
8391	Simmons v. Patrick, 211 Cal. App. 2d 383, 390, 27 Cal. Rptr. 347, 352 (Ct. App. 1962)	16	The effect of a pre-trial order should not be so restricted that power of trial court to do justice between parties is completely abrogated.	But sometimes it is required that the effect of a pretrial order be not so restrictive that the power of a trial court to do justice between the parties is completely abrogated.	Should the effect of a pre-trial order be so restricted that power of a trial court to do justice between parties is completely abrogated?

8392	Himmelfarb v. Allain, 380 S.W.3d 35, 40 (Tenn. 2012)	8	A voluntary dismissal is an adjudication on the merits of the case only if the order states that it is an adjudication on the merits or if the plaintiff has twice previously voluntarily dismissed actions based on or including the same claim. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41.01(2).	Pursuant to Tennessee Rule of Civil Procedure 41.01(2), a voluntary dismissal is an adjudication on the merits of the case only if the order states that it is an adjudication on the merits, or if the plaintiff has twice previously voluntarily dismissed actions based on or including the same claim.	When can a voluntary dismissal be adjudication on the merits of the case?
8393	Moore v. Pate, 112 N.C. App. 833, 837 (N.C. Ct. App. 1993)	5	Once party takes voluntary dismissal, no valid order can be entered thereafter except as to collateral matters. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a)(1, 2), G.S. S 1A-1.	In fact, once a party takes a voluntary dismissal no valid order can be entered thereafter except as to collateral matters.	"Once a party takes a voluntary dismissal, can a valid order be entered thereafter except as to collateral matters?"
8395	State ex Rel. Richard, v. Cuyahoga Cty. Commrs, 100 Ohio App. 3d 592, 596 (1995)	3	Voluntary dismissal is effective upon filing, and no further entry by court is necessary to trigger end of litigation. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(A)(1).	A voluntary dismissal is effective upon filing, and no further entry by the court is necessary to trigger the end of the litigation. Civ.R. 41(A)(1).	"Is voluntary dismissal effective upon filing, and no further entry by court is necessary to trigger the end of litigation?"
8396	In re Bennett, 960 S.W.2d 35, 38 (Tex. 1997)	3	Signing of order dismissing case, not filing of notice of nonsuit, determines when trial court's plenary power expires. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	However, the signing of an order dismissing a case, not the filing of a notice of nonsuit, is the starting point for determining when a trial court's plenary power expires.	Does the filing of notice of nonsuit determine when a trial court's plenary power expires?
8397	Sanford v. Dudley, 196 So. 3d 1106, 1110 (Miss. Ct. App. 2016)	5	For the trial court to exercise its discretion to permit withdrawal of admission, the party seeking to withdraw an admission must first file a motion requesting that relief. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36.	For the trial court to exercise its discretion to permit withdrawal, the party seeking to withdraw an admission must first file a motion requesting that relief.	Should a party who is seeking to withdraw deemed admissions file a proper motion for relief?
8398	Stroman v. Tautenhahn, 465 S.W.3d 715, 717 (Tex. App. 2015)	2	A plaintiff's nonsuit does not affect an opponent's pending claims for affirmative relief, attorney fees, or sanctions. Tex. R. Civ. P. 162.	A plaintiff's nonsuit does not affect an opponent's pending claims for affirmative relief, attorney's fees, or sanctions.	"Does a plaintiff's nonsuit affect an opponent's pending claims for affirmative relief, attorney fees, or sanctions?"
8399	Hurst v. Capital Cities Media, Inc., 323 Ill. App. 3d 812, 822 (2001)	18	A plaintiff is permitted one, and only one, refiling of an action, even though the applicable statute of limitations has not expired. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/13-217.	Accordingly, a plaintiff is permitted one, and only one, refiling of an action, even though the applicable statute of limitations has not expired.	"Is a plaintiff permitted one, and only one, refiling of an action, even though the applicable statute of limitations has not expired?"
8400	Polansky v. Berenji, 393 S.W.3d 362, 367 (Tex. App. 2012)	4	Although the nonsuit immediately renders the merits of the case moot, the trial court need not immediately dismiss the suit when notice of nonsuit is filed. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	Although the nonsuit immediately renders the merits of the case moot, the trial court need not immediately dismiss the suit when notice of nonsuit is filed. Id.	Should a trial court immediately dismiss the suit when notice of nonsuit is filed?

8402	Renshaw v. U.S. Pipe Foundry Co., 30 N.J. 458, 465 (N.J. 1959)	1	The basic purpose of workmen's compensation is to shoulder on industry the expense incident to the hazards of industry, to lift from the public the burden to support those incapacitated by industry and to ultimately pass on to the consumers of the products of industry such expense.	It has been frequently and appropriately said that the basic purpose of workmen's compensation is 'to shoulder on industry the expense incident to the hazards of industry; to lift from the public the burden to support those incapacitated by industry and to ultimately pass on to the consumers of the products of industry such expense.'	What is the basic purpose of workmens compensation?
8403	Lewis v. Horace Mann Ins. Co., 410 F. Supp. 2d 640, 653 (N.D. Ohio 2005)	14	Under Ohio law, a voluntary dismissal, otherwise than on the merits, leaves the parties in the same position as if the action had never been commenced.	In addition, under Ohio law, a voluntary dismissal, otherwise than on the merits, leaves the parties in the same position as if the action had never been commenced.	"Does a voluntary dismissal, otherwise than on the merits, leave the parties in the same position as if the action had never been commenced?"
8404	Perpich v. Department of Defense, 496 U.S. 334, 335 (1990)	3	Militia Clauses of the United States Constitution do not constrain powers of Congress to provide for the common defense, raise and support armies, make rules for governance of Armed Forces, and enact necessary and proper laws for such purposes but in fact provide additional grants of power to Congress. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 8, cls. 15, 16.	349, which held that the Militia Clauses do not constrain Congress' Article I, 8, powers to provide for the common defense, raise and support armies, make rules for the governance of the Armed Forces, and enact necessary and proper laws for such purposes, but in fact provide additional grants of power to Congress. Pp. 2427-2428	Does the Militia Clause suppress the powers of the Congress?
8405	Ward v. United States, 133 Fed. Cl. 418, 431 (2017)	15	Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) lacks the authority to determine whether or not a soldier is fit for duty, a determination that falls exclusively within the purview of the armed forces.	The VA lacks the authority to determine whether or not a soldier is fit for duty, a determination that falls exclusively within the purview of the armed forces.	Does the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) have the authority to determine whether or not a soldier is fit for duty?
8406	Doe v. the United States, 132 F.3d 1430, 1434 (Fed. Cir. 1997)	2	Men and women in armed forces do not leave constitutional safeguards and judicial protection behind when they enter military service.	That being said, "men and women in the Armed Forces do not leave constitutional safeguards and judicial protection behind when they enter the military service."	Do men and women leave behind constitutional safeguards when they enter military services?
8408	Kraffert v. Shea Homes, No. D036923, 2002 WL 44262, at *4 (Cal. Ct. App. Jan. 14, 2002), as modified on denial of reh'g (Feb. 5, 2002)	2	A dismissal without prejudice is not a final adjudication, because it does not preclude the plaintiff from refiling her claims in another action.	Further, regardless of whether a judgment is entered, a dismissal without prejudice is not a final adjudication because it does not preclude the plaintiff from refiling her claims in another action.	Is a dismissal without prejudice a final adjudication because it does not preclude the plaintiff from refiling the claims in another action?
8409	Brandt v. Joseph F. Gordon Architect, Inc., 998 P.2d 587, 591, 1999 OK 67 (Okla. 1999)	2	Party against whom a summary judgment is sustained can no longer, as a matter of right, dismiss his claim without prejudice; the decision is effectively final for that party and he must appeal to the trial court's discretion. 12 Okl.St. Ann. S 683.	Similar to Hutchison, we find a party against whom a summary judgment is sustained can no longer, as a matter of right, dismiss his claim without prejudice. The decision is effectively final for that party and he must appeal to the trial court's discretion.	"Can a party against whom a summary judgment is sustained no longer, as a matter of right, dismiss his claim without prejudice?"

8414	Auch v. Andres, 289 Mich. 206, 210 (Mich. 1939)	4	Generally, renewal notes given in lieu of others past-due upon which no payment has been made is not "payment" of original notes, even though original notes are surrendered.	The general rule is, that renewal notes given in lieu of others past due, upon which no payment has been made, is not payment of the original notes, even though the original notes are surrendered.	"Can renewal notes given in lieu of others past due, upon which no payment was made, be treated as payment of the original notes?"
8415	Le v. Kilpatrick, 112 S.W.3d 631, 633 (Tex. App. 2003)	4	A trial court's venue determination, and any decision on the merits, such as a summary judgment or partial summary judgment, are not vitiated by a nonsuit. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	However, Le points out that a trial court's venue determination and any decision on the merits, such as a summary judgment or partial summary judgment, are not vitiated by a nonsuit.	"Are a trial court's venue determination, and any decision on the merits, such as a summary judgment or partial summary judgment, vitiated by a nonsuit?"
8416	City of Muncie v. Peters, 709 N.E.2d 50, 54–55 (Ind.App.,1999)	5	Even if the conditions for withdrawal of admissions are satisfied , the court is not compelled to grant withdrawal ; rather, the court may, in its discretion, permit withdrawal . Trial Procedure Rule 36(B).	Further, even if both of these conditions are satisfied , the rule does *55 not compel the trial court to grant a request to withdrawal admissions ; rather, the court may, in its discretion, permit withdrawal .	"Even if the conditions for withdrawal of admissions are satisfied, is the court compelled to grant withdrawal?"
8418	Diversified Commc'ns, Inc. v. Godard, 549 A.2d 362, 363 (Me. 1988)	3	On proper motion , trial court can permit withdrawal or amendment of deemed admissions if there is no showing of prejudice to other party . Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(b) .	Although the District Court could on motion have permitted withdrawal or amendment of the deemed admissions if there were no showing of prejudice to the plaintiff , see Rule 36(b) , the defendant made no such motion.	"On proper motion, can a trial court permit withdrawal or amendment of deemed admissions if there is no showing of prejudice to the other party?"
8420	Lawyers' Ass'n, St. Louis v. City, 294 S.W.2d 676, 682 (Mo. Ct. App. 1956)	8	The name, purpose, designation or character given by legislative body to particular tax in statute or ordinance imposing it is not conclusive on court in determining nature or purpose of exaction, though entitled to due weight and consideration; determination of purpose, nature and effect of tax being for court in final analysis, regardless of its apparent legislative designation .	* * * (Emphasis ours.) We recognize that the name, purpose, designation or character given by the legislative body to a particular tax in the statute or ordinance imposing it is not conclusive upon the Court in determining the nature or purpose of the exaction. Yet it is entitled to due weight and consideration. In the final analysis it is for the Court to determine the purpose, nature and effect of a particular tax, regardless of its apparent legislative designation .	"Is a legislative declaration that a tax shall be of a particular character, conclusive?"
8421	Mercer v. Rockwell Intern. Corp., 24 F. Supp. 2d 735, 740 (W.D. Ky. 1998)	6	Under Kentucky law, three basic elements for negligent trespass are that (1) defendant must have breached its duty of due care, (2) defendant must have caused a thing to enter land of plaintiff and (3) the thing's presence must have caused harm to the land . Restatement (Second) of Torts § 165.	[6] For our purposes, the Restatement requires three basic elements for a negligent trespass: (1) the defendant must have breached its duty of due care (negligence); (2) defendant caused a thing to enter the land of plaintiff and (3) the thing's presence causes harm to the land . The Court has *741 already found Defendant negligent as a matter of law , so the first requirement is met.	What are the elements of negligent trespass?

8423	Wisconsin v. Ho-Chunk Nation, 564 F. Supp. 2d 856, 862 (W.D. Wis. 2008)	7	Fact that a claim may be a separate federal cause of action does not override the parties' agreement to arbitrate the issue.	The fact that such a claim may also be a separate federal cause of action does not override the parties' agreement to arbitrate the issue.	"Whether an arbitration claim, which is a separate federal cause of action, would override the parties agreement to arbitrate the issue?"
8425	People v. Trowers, 215 Ill. App. 3d 862, 866 (1991)	3	Act of offering or promising tender of prohibited commodity or act is sufficient to constitute completed offense of bribery. S.H.A. ch. 38, P 33-1(a).	The act of offering or promising the tender of a prohibited commodity or act is sufficient to constitute the completed offense of bribery.	Is act of offering or promising tender of prohibited commodity or act sufficient to constitute completed offense of bribery?
8426	In re James B., 109 Cal. App. 4th 862, 869, 135 Cal. Rptr. 2d 457, 461 (2003)	6	Automobile burglary statute is to be construed flexibly in light of the legislative objective to make it more serious to break into the interior sections of locked cars than merely stealing from them. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code § 459.	Therefore, "[w]e must use a liberal and commonsense approach to ascertain if a particular act constitutes a vehicle burglary within the confines of Penal Code section 459. [Citation.] This criminal statute is to be construed flexibly in light of the legislative objective to make it more serious to break into the interior sections of locked cars than merely stealing from them. [Citations.]" (People v. Allen, supra, 86 Cal.App.4th at pp. 915–916, 103 Cal.Rptr.2d 626.)	How is the automobile burglary statute construed?
8428	Siggelkow v. Siggelkow, 643 P.2d 985, 988 (Alaska 1982)	3	Prejudice resulting from a party's lack of diligence in securing an attorney does not afford a basis to obtain continuance.	Prejudice resulting from a party's lack of diligence in securing an attorney does not afford a basis to obtain a continuance.	Does prejudice resulting from a party's lack of diligence in securing an attorney afford a basis to obtain continuance?
8429	In re Posadas USA, Inc., 100 S.W.3d 254, 258 (Tex. App. 2001)	12	When the ground for a continuance is withdrawal of counsel, the movant must show that the lack of counsel is not due to movant's own fault or negligence.	However, when the ground for continuance is the withdrawal of counsel, the movants must show that the failure to be represented at trial was not due to their own fault or negligence.	"When the ground for a continuance is withdrawal of counsel, must the movant show that the lack of counsel is not due to movant's own fault or negligence?"
8430	Withrow v. Withrow, 278 Ga. 525, 525, 603 S.E.2d 276, 277–78 (2004)	3	The absence of a party's counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement.	Moreover, "[t]he absence of a [party's] counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement. [Cit.]" Davis v. Barnes, 158 Ga.App. 89, 90, 279 S.E.2d 330 (1981).	"Is the absence of a party's counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts no ground for continuance or postponement?"
8432	Ordonez v. Solorio, 480 S.W.3d 56, 62 (Tex. App. 2015)	6	Service on an attorney before that attorney becomes the party's attorney of record is not valid service, and a request for admissions so served is neither properly served nor deemed admitted. Tex. R. Civ. P. 21a, 198.1, 198.2(c).	Service on an attorney before that attorney becomes the party's attorney of record is not valid service under Rule 21a, and a request for admissions so served is neither properly served under Rule 198.1 nor deemed admitted under Rule 198.2(c).	Is service on an attorney before that attorney becomes the party's attorney of record not valid service?

8433	Shankle v. Shankle, 289 N.C. 473, 484-85 (1976)	4	General rule is that attorney's withdrawal on eve of trial of civil case is not ipso facto grounds for continuance. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 40(b), G.S. S 1A-1.	In this regard, the general rule is that an attorney's withdrawal on the eve of the trial of a civil case is not ipso facto grounds for a continuance. See Annot.; ' *485 Withdrawal or discharge of counsel in civil case as a ground for continuance,' 48 A.L.R.2d 1155 (1956); 17 C.J.S.	Is an attorney's withdrawal on the eve of trial of civil case not ipso facto grounds for continuance?
8435	Tavakolian v. Agio Corp., 304 Ga. App. 660, 666 (2010)	16	A party's failure to timely respond to requests for admission conclusively establishes as a matter of law each of the matters addressed in the requests.	To be sure, "a party's failure to timely respond to requests for admission conclusively establishes as a matter of law each of the matters addressed in the requests."	Does a party's failure to timely respond to requests for admission conclusively establish as a matter of law each of the matters addressed in the requests?
8436	East Haven Builders Supply, Inc. v. Fanton, 80 Conn. App. 734, 744 (Conn. App. Ct. 2004)	4	A failure to respond timely to a request for admissions means that the matters sought to be answered were conclusively admitted. Practice Book 1998, S 13-22 et seq.	Similarly, a failure to respond timely to a request for admissions "means that the matters sought to be answered were conclusively admitted."	Does a failure to respond timely to a request for admissions mean that the matters sought to be answered were conclusively admitted?
8438	Dolgencorp of Texas, Inc. v. Lerma, 241 S.W.3d 584, 592 (Tex. App. 2007), review granted, judgment rev'd, 288 S.W.3d 922 (Tex. 2009)	7	Although absence of counsel is generally not good cause for a continuance, the court has discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 253.	Generally, absence of counsel is not good cause for a continuance. TEX.R. CIV. P. 253; Rehabilitation Facility v. Cooper, 962 S.W.2d 151, 155-56 (Tex.App.-Austin 1998, no pet). The court does, however, have discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown.	"Although absence of counsel is generally not good cause for a continuance, does the court have discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown?"
8439	Smith v. Home Indem. Co., 683 S.W.2d 559, 562 (Tex. App. 1985)	2	If a party fails to respond to a request for admissions, he will be precluded from offering summary judgment proof contradictory to them. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 169.	Where a party fails to respond to a request for admissions, "he will be precluded from offering summary judgment proof contradictory to those admissions." Henke, 658 S.W.2d at 347.	"Where a party fails to respond to a request for admissions, will he be precluded from offering summary judgment proof contradictory to those admissions?"
8442	People v. Salemme, 2 Cal. App. 4th 775, 781, 3 Cal. Rptr. 2d 398, 402 (1992)	2	Person who enters a structure enumerated in burglary statute with intent to commit a felony therein is guilty of burglary, unless he has unconditional possessory right to enter as occupant of that structure, or unless he is invited in by occupant, who knows of and endorses his felonious intent. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code §§ 459, 460.	We learn from these cases that, since burglary is a breach of the occupant's possessory rights, a person who enters a structure enumerated in section 459 with the intent to commit a felony is guilty of burglary except when he or she (1) has an unconditional possessory right to enter as the occupant of that structure or (2) is invited in by the occupant who knows of and endorses the felonious intent.	Does entry into a structure with intent to commit any felony constitute burglary?

8444	In re D.E.G., 228 N.C. App. 381, 386 (2013)	8	Where attorney has given his client no prior notice of intent to withdraw as counsel, trial judge has no discretion and must grant party affected reasonable continuance or deny attorney's motion for withdrawal.	However, "[w]here an attorney has given his client no prior notice of an intent to withdraw, the trial judge has no discretion" and "must grant the party affected a reasonable continuance or deny the attorney's motion for withdrawal."	Does the withdrawal of an attorney not give the client an absolute right to a continuance?
8445	Richey v. Richey, 704 So. 2d 343, 345 (La. Ct. App. 1997)	1	Often, when litigant's lawyer withdraws at or near trial, that litigant may be entitled to continuance to employ another attorney. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1601.	Often, when a litigant's lawyer withdraws at or near trial, that litigant may be entitled to a continuance to employ another attorney.	"When litigant's lawyer withdraws at or near trial, is that litigant entitled to continuance to employ another attorney?"
8447	Bryant v. Kimmons, 430 S.W.2d 73, 76 (Tex. Civ. App. 1968)	5	Requests for admissions directed to one defendant, whether answered, or admitted by reason of failure to answer, are not evidence against other defendants in same case.	The rule is firmly established that admissions directed to one defendant, whether answered, or admitted by reason of failure to answer, are not evidence against other defendants in the same case.	"Are admissions directed to one defendant, whether answered, or admitted by reason of failure to answer, evidence against other defendants in the same case?"
8452	Roob v. Von Bereghshasy, 866 S.W.2d 765, 766 (Tex. App. 1993)	2	Trial court has no discretion to reject uncontroverted facts set out by party in a sworn motion for continuance.	The trial court has no discretion to reject uncontroverted facts set out by a party in a sworn motion for continuance.	Does a trial court have no discretion to reject uncontroverted facts set out by a party in a sworn motion for continuance?
8453	Thongchoom v. Graco, 117 Wn. App. 299, 117 Wash. App. 299, 308, 71 P.3d 214 (Wash. Ct. App. 2003)	21	A continuance is not justified if the party fails to support the request with an explanation of the evidence to be obtained through additional discovery. CR 56(f).	"A continuance is not justified if the party fails to support the request with an explanation of the evidence to be obtained through additional discovery."	Is continuance justified if a party fails to support request with explanation of evidence to be obtained through additional discovery?
8454	Southland Amusements v. Rourk, 143 N.C. App. 88, 93 (2001)	2	Litigants are required to respond to pleadings, interrogatories, and requests for admission with timely, good faith answers.	"Litigants in this state are required to respond to pleadings, interrogatories and requests for admission with timely, good faith answers."	"Are litigants required to respond to pleadings, interrogatories, and requests for admission with timely, good faith answers?"
8455	Hotel Co. v. L.M. Buick Co., 104 Ohio App. 69, 69, 146 N.E.2d 879 (Ohio Ct. App. 1957)	2	The eight days permitted by statute for continuance of action is merely the maximum period of continuance which may be allowed without bond, and within that period, length of continuance is within discretion of trial court. R.C. S 1923.08.	The eight days permitted by Section 1923.08, Revised Code, for a continuance of an action is merely the maximum period of a continuance which may be allowed without bond, and, within that period, the length of continuance is within the discretion of the trial court.	What is the maximum period of continuance that can be allowed without bond?

8459	People v. Northbrook Sports Club, 53 Ill. App. 3d 331, 334 (1977)	5	Allegations of legal conclusions and allegations of evidence constitute merely formal defects and not defects of substance in pleadings; thus conclusory allegation does not impair informational function or sufficiency of pleading. S.H.A. ch. 110, SS 1-94, 33(1, 3), 42(2).	But since "allegations of legal conclusions and allegations of evidence constitute merely formal defects and not defects 667 116 of substance" (Browning v. Heritage Insurance Co. (1975), 33 Ill.App.3d 943, 947, 338 N.E.2d 912, 915), a conclusory *335 allegation does not impair the informational function or sufficiency of the pleading.	Are allegations of legal conclusions and allegations of evidence merely formal defects?
8461	Miller v. Ritchie, 45 Ohio St. 3d 222, 224 (Ohio 1989)	1	Trial court is not obligated sua sponte to ascertain whether party needs more time to prepare for trial.	A trial court is not obligated to sua sponte ascertain whether a party needs more time to prepare for trial.	Is a trial court obligated sua sponte to ascertain whether a party needs more time to prepare for trial?
8462	Hatton v. Chem-Haulers, 393 So. 2d 950, 952 (Ala. 1980)	1	Whether failure to respond admits matter contained in request for admissions is discretionary with trial court. Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 36(a, b).	* * * Whether the failure to respond admits the matter contained in the request for admissions is discretionary with the trial court.	Is the question of whether failure to respond admits matter contained in request for admissions discretionary with a trial court?
8466	Breaux v. Laird, 230 La. 221, 232 (La. 1956)	2	Amendments to pleading should be permitted where they tend to further justice, cause no injury, and are without prejudice to the right of the other party, and, if the other party pleads surprise, he may obtain time to prepare adequate defense.	It is well settled in our jurisprudence that amendments to pleadings should be permitted where they tend to further justice, cause no injury and are without prejudice to the right of the other party. Should the other party plead surprise, he may obtain time to prepare adequate defense.	"Should amendments to pleading be permitted where they tend to further justice, cause no injury, and are without prejudice to the right of the other party?"
8467	Slattery v Parsons, 17 N.Y.S.2d 6, 10 (Sup Ct, Jan. 25, 1940)	4	Fact that information sought by examination of adverse party before trial may be obtained from other sources does not deprive the applicant of his right to the examination. Civil Practice Act, S 288.	The fact that the information may be obtained from other sources does not deprive the applicant of his right to examine the adverse party concerning such matters.	Does the fact that the information may be obtained from other sources deprive the applicant of his right to examine the adverse party concerning such matters?
8468	Slatten v. City of Chicago, 12 Ill. App. 3d 808, 811 (1973)	1	Supreme Court Rules authorize both evidence and discovery depositions and do not set a time within which discovery must be completed. Supreme Court Rules, rule 201, S.H.A. ch. 110A, S 201.	Clearly the Supreme Court rules authorize both evidence and discovery depositions, and do not set a time within which discovery must be completed.	Does any rules authorize both evidence and discovery depositions without setting a time within which discovery must be completed?
8470	Green v. Spriggs, 930 So. 2d 1052, 1055 (La. App. 2006)	1	Law gives court wide discretion to provide for implementation of a pretrial order and to insure that the items of the pretrial order are enforced. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1551.	La. C.C.P. art. 1551 gives a court wide discretion to provide for implementation of a pretrial order and to insure that the items of the pretrial order are enforced.	Does law give courts wide discretion to provide for implementation of a pretrial order?
8472	Whitehawk v. Clark, 238 Mont. 14, 19, 776 P.2d 484, 487 (1989)	4	Purpose of pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare for trial on basis of pretrial order.	The purpose of the pretrial order is to prevent surprise, simplify issues and permit counsel to prepare for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	"Are the purposes of the pretrial order to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit the parties to prepare for trial?"

8476	Bank Leumi Trust Co. v. Bally's Park Place, Inc., 528 F. Supp. 349, 354 (S.D.N.Y. 1981)	3	Under New York law, although death of maker of check or note does not terminate his liability, it does revoke authority of payee to collect from drawee-bank and relegates payee to status of general creditor of estate of the deceased. McKinney's N.Y. Uniform Commercial Code S 4-405(1).	Furthermore, although the death of the maker of a check or note does not terminate his liability, it does revoke the authority of the payee to collect from the drawee-bank and relegates the payee to the status of a general creditor of the estate of the deceased.	When does the holder or payee acquire the status of a general creditor?
8478	County et al. v. Moody, 116 Tex. 299, 289, 300, S.W. 381 (Tex. 1926)	9	Legislature has full discretion to adopt method of taxing all properties in county at assessed values for cost of highway to be improved within it.	is decisive of the proposition that the Legislature has full discretion to adopt the method of taxing all properties in a county at assessed values for the cost of a highway to be improved within the county.	Can the legislature tax the properties in a county for the cost of a highway to be improved within the county?
8479	Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. et al. v. Chitwood, 261 Ind. 86, 91, 300 N.E.2d 335 (Ind. 1973)	3	It is when a party objects to evidence because it is outside the issues raised by pleadings that question of utility of a continuance arises.	It is when a party objects to evidence because it is outside the issues raised by the pleadings that the question of the utility of a continuance arises.	Is it when a party objects to evidence because it is outside the issues raised by pleadings that a question of utility of a continuance arises?
8480	Shankle v. Shankle, 289 N.C. 473, 474 (1976)	3	Before ruling on motion to continue, judge should hear evidence pro and con, consider it judicially and then rule with a view to promoting substantial justice. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 40(b), G.S. S 1A-1.	Further, before ruling on a motion to continue the judge should hear the evidence pro and con, consider it judicially and then rule with a view to promoting substantial justice.	Should a judge hear the evidence pro and con before ruling on a motion to continue?
8481	Stroup v. Career Academy of Dental Technology, 38 Wis. 2d 284, 289 (1968)	6	Discovery examination of a party, whether in aid of pleading or otherwise, is an assumption and exercise of personal jurisdiction over the party.	However, discovery examination of a party, whether in aid of pleading or otherwise, is an assumption and exercise of personal jurisdiction over the party.	"Is discovery examination of a party, whether in aid of pleading or otherwise, an assumption and exercise of personal jurisdiction over the party?"
8482	Lawson v. Kurtzhals, 792 N.W.2d 251, 259 (Iowa 2010)	15	A party defending a claim is clearly entitled upon appropriate pretrial request to be informed of the amount of the claim; this includes discovery of amounts claimed for separate elements of damages.	"A party defending a claim is clearly entitled upon appropriate pretrial request to be informed of the amount of the claim." Gordon v. Noel, 356 N.W.2d 559, 564 (Iowa 1984). This *260 includes discovery of amounts claimed for separate elements of damages.	Is a party defending a claim clearly entitled upon appropriate pretrial request to be informed of the amount of the claim?
8483	Brown v. Daisy Mfg. Co., 129 A.D.2d 995, 996, 514 N.Y.S.2d 300, 301 (1987)	2	Discovery of similar subsequent accidents was permissible where such proof could be admissible at trial to establish existence of a defect.	Discovery of similar subsequent accidents is permissible because such proof may be admissible at trial to establish the existence of a defect (Carnibucci v. Marlin Firearms Co., 51 A.D.2d 1067, 380 N.Y.S.2d 807)	Is the discovery of a similar subsequent accident permissible as such proof may be admissible at trial to establish the existence of a defect?

8484	Maliades v. Maliades, 31 Misc. 2d 944, 945, 221 N.Y.S.2d 709, 710 (Sup. Ct. 1961)	2	A plaintiff is entitled to examine defendant concerning allegations in complaint which plaintiff must prove and which are controverted by a general denial and fact that plaintiff may have knowledge of such facts is no reason to refuse examination.	The plaintiff is entitled to examine the defendant concerning allegations in the complaint which she must prove and which are controverted by a general denial. (Pierce v. Morris, 192 App.Div. 502, 505, 182 N.Y.S. 132, 135; see also Israelson v. Gersing, 234 App.Div. 706, 251 N.Y.S. 969; Royce v. Ziegfeld, 224 App.Div. 651, 229 N.Y.S. 22.) The fact that plaintiff may have knowledge of these facts is no reason to refuse such an examination.	Is a party entitled to examine the other party concerning allegations in the complaint or answer which the party must prove and which are controverted by a general denial?
8485	Arcata Graphics v. Heidelberg Harris, 874 S.W.2d 15, 22 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1994)	5	When trial court grants motion to amend, opposing party must request continuance if it believes it has been prejudiced; if continuance is not requested, party against whom amendment was granted may not complain on appeal. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 15.01.	When the trial court grants a motion to amend, the opposing party must request a continuance if it believes it has been prejudiced. Allstate Ins. Co. v. Fox, 1990 WL 8058 at *12 (Tenn.App. 6 Feb. 1990). If a continuance is not requested, the party against whom the amendment was granted may not complain on appeal.	"If a continuance is not requested, can the party against whom the amendment was granted later complain on appeal?"
8486	Bielawski v. Edgewater Recreation, Inc., 177 A.D.2d 1060, 1060, 578 N.Y.S.2d 301, 302 (1991)	3	Defendant should be afforded opportunity to conduct discovery with respect to allegations raised by amendment to bills of particulars.	Defendants, however, should be afforded the opportunity to conduct discovery with respect to the allegations raised by the amendment to the bills of particulars (see, Risucci v. Homayoon, 122 A.D.2d 260, 505 N.Y.S.2d 176; Bernas v. Kepner, 36 A.D.2d 58, 319 N.Y.S.2d 283; Maasch v. Edward Corning Co., 29 A.D.2d 774, 287 N.Y.S.2d 116; De Veaux v. Wide World Photos, 20 A.D.2d 787, 248 N.Y.S.2d 166)	Should a defendant be afforded an opportunity to conduct discovery with respect to the allegations raised by an amendment to the bills of particulars?
8490	Grp. Health Plan v. BJC Health Sys., 30 S.W.3d 198, 203 (Mo. App. 2000)	16	All information relating to arbitration is regarded as part of settlement negotiations and is not discoverable unless it is "otherwise discoverable or obtainable." V.A.M.S. S 435.014, subd. 2.	Under Missouri law, then, all information relating to the Unity Arbitration is regarded as part of settlement negotiations and is not discoverable unless it is "otherwise discoverable or obtainable."	"Is all information relating to arbitration regarded as part of settlement negotiations and is not discoverable unless it is ""otherwise discoverable or obtainable""?"
8493	Joyner v. State, 267 Ga. App. 309, 310 (2004)	2	The requisite intent necessary for commission of burglary need not be formed at the precise moment of entry, but can be formed thereafter while the perpetrator is remaining on the premises; moreover, intent may be inferred from, and usually of necessity must be proved by, circumstantial evidence. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 16-7-1(a).	The requisite intent necessary for commission of burglary, pursuant to OCGA 16-7-1(a), need not be formed at the precise moment of entry, but can be formed thereafter while the perpetrator is remaining on the premises. Moreover, intent may be inferred from, and usually of necessity must be proved by, circumstantial evidence.	Does intent for burglary need to be formed at the precise moment of entry?

8495	Long v. Magnolia Petroleum Co., 166 Neb. 410, 417–18 (1958)	5	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify the issues; amend the pleadings, when necessary; and avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial. Rules of Supreme Court, Pre-Trial Procedure Rule 2.	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify the issues; amend the pleadings, when necessary; and avoid unnecessary proof of facts at the trial.	Is one of the purpose of pretrial conference is to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at the trial?
8497	Sutherland v. Shoemaker, 6 Neb. App. 157, 160 (1997)	2	Plaintiff may dismiss his action without prejudice as matter of right at any time before final submission; it is a statutory right and not a matter of judicial grace or discretion. Neb.Rev.St. S 25-601.	Additionally, "[i]t is well settled in Nebraska that a plaintiff may dismiss his action without prejudice as a matter of right at any time before final submission. It is a statutory right and not a matter of judicial grace or discretion." Koll v.	Is the right of a plaintiff to voluntary dismissal ia matter of judicial grace or discretion?
8498	McDonough v. Widnall, 891 F. Supp. 1439, 1446 (D. Colo. 1995)	12	It is matter of discretion within province of President as Commander in Chief to grant commissions to military officers.	It is "a matter of discretion within the province of the President as Commander in Chief" to grant commissions to military officers.	Is it a matter of discretion within province of President as Commander in Chief to grant commissions to military officers?
8500	Ex Parte Puccio, 923 So. 2d 1069, 1077 (Ala. 2005)	16	Even though a defendant timely files a motion to dismiss, a plaintiff may be entitled to discovery solely on the issue of personal jurisdiction raised in the motion to dismiss.	However, even though a defendant timely files a motion to dismiss, a plaintiff may be entitled to discovery solely on the issue of personal jurisdiction raised in the motion to dismiss.	Can a plaintiff be entitled to discovery on the issue of personal jurisdiction?
8502	Amer. Surety Co. v. Bethlehem Bank, 314 U.S. 314, 317 (1941)	5	A surety is a special kind of "secured creditor" since its claim against the principal is secured by its right of subrogation to the remedies of the creditor which it has been compelled to pay.	The surety is a special kind of secured creditor. For its claim against the principal is secured by its right of subrogation to the remedies of the creditor which it has been compelled to pay.	Is a suretys claim against the principal secured by its right of subrogation to the remedies of the creditor which it has been compelled to pay?
8503	Rotert v. Faulkner, 660 S.W.2d 463, 468 (Mo. Ct. App. 1983)	2	Instruments that are not negotiable may, like negotiable instruments, be transferred by assignment, but the assignee of note that is not negotiable takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against note prior to notice of assignment. V.A.M.S. S 400.3-202(3).	Instruments that are not negotiable, such as the note here, may, like negotiable instruments, be transferred by assignment. Kaw Valley State Bank & Trust v. Commercial Bank of Liberty, 567 S.W.2d 710 (Mo.App.1978). The assignee of a note that is not negotiable, however, takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against the note prior to notice of the assignment.	Can the assignee of note that is not negotiable takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against note prior to notice of assignment?
8505	People ex Rel. Schmulbach v. L. N.R.R, 404 Ill. 381, 385 (1949)	1	The power of the Commissioner of Highways to impose a tax is limited, must be strictly construed and must be exercised in accordance with those provisions of statute designed for protection of taxpayer. S.H.A. ch. 121, SS 62, 62a, 62b, 62c.	The power of the commissioner of highways to impose a tax is limited, must be strictly construed, and must be exercised in accordance with those provisions of the statute designed for the protection of the taxpayer.	Is the power of the Commissioner of Highways to impose a tax limited?
8507	In re Lipsky, 460 S.W.3d 579, 590, 58 Tex. Sup. Ct. J. 707 (Tex. 2015)	13	Under notice pleading, a plaintiff is not required to set out in his pleadings the evidence upon which he relies to establish his asserted cause of action. Tex. R. Civ. P. 45, 47.	Moreover, under notice pleading, a plaintiff is not required to "set out in his pleadings the evidence upon which he relies to establish his asserted cause of action."	Should the plaintiff set out in his pleadings the evidence upon which he relies to establish his asserted cause of action?

8508	Bowen v. Robinson, 227 S.W.3d 86, 91 (Tex. App. 2006)	4	The fair notice requirement of Texas pleading relieves the pleader of the burden of pleading evidentiary matters with meticulous particularity.	The "fair notice" requirement of Texas pleading relieves the pleader of the burden of pleading evidentiary matters with meticulous particularity.	Does the fair notice pleading relieves the pleader of the burden of pleading evidentiary matters with meticulous particularity?
8512	Accelerated Christian Educ v. Oracle, 925 S.W.2d 66, 70 (Tex. App. 1996)	5	Motion to dismiss is proper mechanism to enforce forum selection clause that selects another state as proper forum for litigation.	We conclude that a motion to dismiss is a proper mechanism to enforce a forum selection clause that selects another state as the proper forum for litigation.	Is a motion to dismiss the proper procedural mechanism for enforcing a forum selection clause that selects another state as proper forum for litigation?
8514	Feigenbaum v. Guaracini, 402 N.J. Super. 7, 20 (App. Div. 2008)	15	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed " 'where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.' "	Is subrogation or equitable subrogation applicable where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract?
8515	2nd Roc-Jersey Associates v. Town of Morristown, 158 N.J. 581, 592 (N.J. 1999)	4	Traditionally, differences between assessment and tax include: assessment supports local improvements, while tax finances general operations; assessment is one-time charge, while tax is annual; and assessment requires that benefit be direct, while tax requires no such direct benefit.	Traditionally, the differences between an assessment and a tax include: an assessment supports local improvements, while a tax finances general operations; an assessment is a one-time charge, while a tax is annual; and an assessment requires that the benefit be direct, while a tax requires no such direct benefit.	"Does assessment require that the benefit be direct, while a tax requires no such direct benefit?"
8518	Commonwealth v. Hayes, 311 Mass. 21, 27, 40 N.E.2d 27 (Mass. 1942)	11	A gift or gratuity will not support an indictment for soliciting or accepting a bribe unless the thing accepted or requested was something of value to the person seeking or obtaining it. G.L.(Ter.Ed.) c. 268, § 8 (M.G.L.A.).	A gift or gratuity will not support an indictment for soliciting or accepting a bribe unless the thing requested or accepted was something of value to the person seeking or obtaining it.	Under what condition will a gift or gratuity support an indictment for soliciting or accepting a bribe?
8519	People v. Vollmann, 73 Cal. App. 2d 769, 786, 167 P.2d 545, 554–55 (1946)	9	The offer or solicitation of a bribe need not be stated in express language as such, it being sufficient that words used carry import of bribe and were evidently intended to bear that meaning. Pen.Code, § 68.	'The offer or solicitation of a bribe need not be stated in express language as such; it is sufficient that the words used carried the import of a bribe and were evidently intended to bear that meaning. * * *' 11 C.J.S., Bribery, § 2, p. 843.	Should offer or solicitation of a bribe be stated in express language?
8522	Standing Rock Sioux Tribe v. U.S. Army Corps of Eng'rs, 255 F. Supp. 3d 101, 152 (D.D.C. 2017)	59	The Mineral Leasing Act (MLA) was enacted by Congress to promote wise development of the nation's natural resources and to obtain for the public a reasonable financial return on assets that belong to the public. 30 U.S.C.A. § 185.	The Mineral Leasing Act was enacted by Congress in 1920 "to promote wise development of [the nation's] natural resources and to obtain for the public a reasonable financial return on assets that 'belong' to the public."	What was the Mineral Leasing Act intending to promote?
8525	Graco Robotics v. Oaklawn Bank, 914 S.W.2d 633, 642 (Tex. App. 1995)	22	Requested admissions are deemed admitted unless, within 30 days after service of request, party to whom request is directed serves written answer or objection. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 169, subd. 1.	Requested admissions are deemed admitted unless, within thirty days after service of the request, the party to whom the request is directed serves a written answer or objection. TEX.R.CIV.P. 169(1).	Are requests for admission neither answered nor objected within 30 days deemed admitted?

8527	Thomas v. Beckley Music Elec. Co., 146 W. Va. 764, 770 (1961)	3	Rule governing continuances applies to motions to postpone to later date but courts will sometimes more readily exercise their discretion to postpone than to continue case for term.	The rule governing continuances applies to motions to postpone to a later day, but courts will sometimes more readily exercise their discretion to postpone than to continue the case for the term.'	Can courts sometimes exercise their discretion to postpone than to continue the case for the term?
8528	Al Parker Buick Co. v. Touchy, 788 S.W.2d 129, 131 (Tex. App. 1990)	2	Information regarding net worth is discoverable in cases in which punitive or exemplary damages may be awarded.	Information regarding net worth is discoverable "in cases in which punitive or exemplary damages may be awarded."	Is information regarding net worth discoverable in cases in which punitive or exemplary damages may be awarded?
8531	Surplus Co. v. Pleasants, Sheriff, 264 N.C. 650, 654 (1965)	6	Counties are instrumentalities and agencies of state government and are subject to its legislative control, and possess only such powers and delegated authority as General Assembly may deem fit to confer upon them.	Counties are instrumentalities and agencies of the State government and are subject to its legislative control; they possess only such powers and delegated authority as the General Assembly may deem fit to confer upon them.	To what extent does the state's possession of inherent power to tax be exercised?
8532	Hoechst Celanese Corp. v. Franchise Tax Bd., 25 Cal. 4th 508, 538, 22 P.3d 324, 344 (2001)	26	The state's power to tax an individual's or corporation's activities is justified by the protection, opportunities, and benefits the state confers on those activities.	In limiting a state's taxing power, courts "are guided by the basic principle that the State's power to tax an individual's or corporation's activities is justified by the 'protection, opportunities and benefits' the State confers on those activities." (Allied-Signal, supra, 504 U.S. at p. 778, 112 S.Ct. 2251, quoting Wisconsin v. J.C. Penney Co. (1940) 311 U.S. 435, 444, 61 S.Ct. 246, 85 L.Ed. 267.)	"Is the state's power to tax an individual's or corporation's activities justified by the protection, opportunities, and benefits the state confers on those activities?"
8533	Bullock v. Marathon Oil Co., 798 S.W.2d 353, 359 (Tex. App. 1990)	8	Legislature's selection of subjects for taxation is to be presumed to rest on rational basis if any facts would support that basis.	The legislature's selection of the subjects of taxation is presumed to rest on a rational basis if any facts would support that basis.	Does the legislatures selection of subjects for taxation presumed to rest on rational basis if any facts would support that basis?
8534	Lang v. Nissan North America, Inc., 170 S.W.3d 564, 572 (Tenn. 2005)	22	Workers' compensation law constitutes a complete substitute for previous remedies in tort on the part of an employee.	In order to preserve this balance, workers' compensation law "constitutes a complete substitute for previous remedies in tort on the part of an employee."	Does the workers compensation law constitute a complete substitute for previous remedies in tort on the part of an employee?
8535	McDowell v. Jackson Energy RECC, 84 S.W.3d 71, 75 (Ky. 2002)	7	Workers' compensation is a creature of statute, and when an employer and employee submit themselves to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act, their rights and liabilities are henceforth to be measured by the terms of the Act. KRS 342.0011 et seq.	Eastern Coal Corp., Ky., 952 S.W.2d 696 (1997), "[w]orkers' compensation is a creature of statute," and "[w]hen an employer and employee submit themselves to the provisions of the act, their rights and liabilities are henceforth to be measured by the terms of the act.	Is workers compensation a creature of statute and when an employer and employee submit themselves to the provisions of the Act?

8536	Randolph-Sheppard Vendors of Am. v. Weinberger, 795 F.2d 90, 103 (D.C. Cir. 1986)	3	Where Congress has created arbitration scheme as administrative method for enforcing statutory right, there is strong presumption that it is exclusive.	Thus, where Congress has created an arbitration scheme as the administrative method for enforcing a statutory right, there is a strong presumption that it is exclusive.	Is there a strong presumption of exclusivity when Congress creates an arbitration scheme for enforcing a statutory right?
8537	Belke v. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, 693 F.2d 1023, 1026 (11th Cir. 1982)	4	When arbitrable and nonarbitrable claims are inextricably intertwined, the district court should deny arbitration as to the arbitrable claims in order to protect the jurisdiction of federal court and avoid any possible preclusive effect.	When arbitrable and nonarbitrable claims are "inextricably intertwined," the rule in this circuit is that the district court should deny arbitration as to the arbitrable claims in order to protect the jurisdiction of the federal court and avoid any possible preclusive effect.	Do courts deny arbitration when arbitrable and non arbitrable claims are inextricably intertwined?
8538	Danieli C. Officine Meccaniche S.P.A. v. Morgan Const. Co., 190 F. Supp. 2d 148, 155 (D. Mass. 2002)	7	Principle underlying authority of a district court to preserve status quo pending arbitration is moving party's right to retain its remedies during such proceedings.	The principle underlying the authority of a district court to preserve the status quo pending arbitration is the moving party's right to retain its remedies during such proceedings.	Do courts have jurisdiction to preserve the status quo of a pending arbitration dispute?
8539	United States v. Kincaid-Chauncey, 556 F.3d 923, 939 (Court of Appeals, 9th Circuit 2009)	14	Honest services fraud occurs when an employee deprives his employer of its right to have its affairs conducted free from deceit, fraud, dishonesty, conflict of interest, and self-enrichment, and consistent with the employee's fiduciary duties to the employer. 18 U.S.C.A. S 1343.	Honest services fraud occurs when an employee deprives his employer of its right to have its affairs conducted "free from deceit, fraud, dishonesty, conflict of interest, and self-enrichment," and consistent with the employee's fiduciary duties to the employer.	What is honest services fraud?
8540	United States v. Robinson, 663 F.3d 265, 275 (Court of Appeals, 7th Circuit 2011)	5	Language of business or transaction clause in federal-funds bribery statute is broad enough to include bribes offered to influence intangible business or transactions of federally funded organization, such as law-enforcement "business" of police department that receives federal funds. 18 U.S.C.A. S 666(a).	We agree with our sister circuits that the language of the business or transaction clause in 666(a) is broad enough to include bribes offered to influence the intangible business or transactions of a federally funded organization, such as the law-enforcement "business" of a police department that receives federal funds.	Does bribery include items that are intangible?
8543	Colorado Interstate Gas Co. v. Sears, 362 S.W.2d 396, 399 (Tex. Civ. App. 1962)	2	Owners and lessees of small tracts are entitled to oil and gas well on their tracts as matter of law where there is no other way to give them fair chance to recover oil and gas under their land.	This means that the owners and lessees of some small tracts are entitled to a well on their tracts as a matter of law because *400 there is no other way to give them a fair chance to recover the oil and gas under their land.	are the owners and lessees of some small tracts entitled to a well on their tracts?

8545	Union Producing Co. v. Pittman, 245 Miss. 427, 427, 146 So. 2d 553 (Miss. 1962)	2	In absence of further rights expressly conveyed or reserved, rights of owners of minerals are limited to so much of surface and such use thereof as is reasonably necessary to properly mine and carry away minerals; these rights are also subject to limitations that mineral owner does not use surface in such a way as necessarily to destroy or injure it; the right to remove minerals by usual or customary method of mining exists, even though surface of ground may be wholly destroyed as result thereof.	We therefore recognize that in the absence of further rights expressly conveyed or reserved, the rights of owners of minerals are limited to so much of the surface and such use thereof as is reasonably necessary to properly mine and carry away the minerals. These rights are also subject to the limitations that the mineral owner does not use the surface in such a way as unnecessarily to destroy or injure it. The right to remove minerals by the usual or customary method of mining exists, even though the surface of the ground may be wholly destroyed as a result thereof.	What are mineral estate owners rights limited to?
8546	Gilberton Contracting Company v. Hook, 255 F. Supp. 687, 693 (E.D. Pa. 1966)	1	Under Pennsylvania law, culm or refuse severed from its original place is personal property which may be abandoned when deposited on land of another with intention of abandoning it.	The well established law of Pennsylvania is that culm or refuse severed from its original place is personal property, which may be abandoned when deposited on the land of another with the intention of abandoning it.	Is culm or refuse severed from its original place personal property?
8547	BP America Production Co. v. Marshall, 342 S.W.3d 59, 69 (Tex. 2011)	13	A mineral estate, even when severed from the surface estate, may be adversely possessed under the various statutes of limitations, so long as the statutory requirements are met. V.T.C.A., Civil Practice & Remedies Code S 16.021(1).	"A mineral estate, even when severed from the surface estate, may be adversely possessed under the various statutes of limitations," so long as the statutory requirements are met.	"Can a mineral estate, even when severed from the surface estate, be adversely possessed?"
8548	Buxbom v. Smith, 23 Cal. 2d 535, 542, 145 P.2d 305, 308 (1944)	4	In the construction of a pleading for purpose of determining its effect, its allegations must be liberally construed with a view to substantial justice between the parties. Code Civ.Proc. §§ 452, 475, 580; Const. art. 6, § 4 1/2.	Since the enactment of section 452 of the Code of Civil Procedure in 1872, it has been generally recognized that in the construction of a pleading for the purpose of determining its effect. 'its allegations must be liberally construed, with a view to substantial justice between the parties.'	Should allegations in a pleading be liberally construed for the purpose of determining its effect?
8549	Rabkin v. Philip A. Hunt Chemical Corp., 498 A.2d 1099, 1104 (Del. 1985)	1	Complaint need only to give general notice of claim asserted and will not be dismissed unless it is clearly without merit, either as matter of law or as fact.	A complaint need only give general notice of the claim asserted and will not be dismissed unless it is clearly without merit, either as a matter of law or fact.	Must the complaint only give a general notice of the claim asserted?
8552	First Horizon Merchant Serv. v. Wellspring, 166 P.3d 166, 179 (Colo. App. 2007)	37	The regulation of pretrial discovery on the issue of personal jurisdiction, including the denial of discovery, is within the trial court's discretion.	"[T]he regulation of pretrial discovery on the issue of personal jurisdiction, including the denial of discovery, is within the trial court's discretion"	Is the regulation of pretrial discovery on the issue of personal jurisdiction within the trial court's discretion?

8554	McGrath v. VRA I Ltd. Partnership, 244 S.W.3d 220, 224 (Mo. Ct. App. 2008)	1	A motion to dismiss should be granted where it appears, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the circuit court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.	Standard of Review [1] [2] A motion to dismiss should be granted where it appears, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the circuit court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.	Should a motion to dismiss be granted where it appears that the circuit court lacks subject matter jurisdiction?
8555	Voltz v. Dyess, 148 So. 3d 425, 428 (Ala. 2014)	6	A trial court is required to give plaintiffs at least 14 days' notice before dismissing an action against a defendant on whom service was not effected. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 4(b).	We hold, therefore, that a trial court is required to give plaintiffs at least 14 days' notice before dismissing an action against a defendant on whom service was not effected. See Rule 4(b), Ala. R. Civ. P.; Moffett, 909 So.2d at 826	Is a trial court required to give plaintiffs at least 14 days' notice before dismissing an action?
8557	Taylor v. Mazda Motor of America, 934 So. 2d 518, 521 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	7	A litigant should not be punished for fault on the part of her counsel by such a severe sanction as striking her witnesses for non-compliance with a pre-trial order.	Moreover, a litigant should not be punished for fault on the part of her counsel by such a severe sanction as striking her witnesses for non-compliance.	Should a litigant not be punished for fault on the part of her counsel by such a severe sanction as striking her witnesses for non-compliance with a pre-trial order?
8559	Arbogast v. City of St. Louis, 285 S.W.3d 790, 795 (Mo. Ct. App. 2009)	1	Dismissal for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction is appropriate when it appears, by suggestion of the parties or otherwise, that the court is without jurisdiction. V.A.M.R. 55.27(g)(3).	Dismissal for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction is appropriate when it appears, by suggestion of the parties or otherwise, that the court is without jurisdiction.	"Is a dismissal for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction appropriate when it appears, by suggestion of the parties or otherwise, that the court is without jurisdiction?"
8561	Mbakpuo v. Ekeanyanwu, 738 A.2d 776, 781 (D.C. 1999)	6	Trial court has broad discretion in refusing to admit evidence which was required to be disclosed in pretrial statement. Civil Rule 16(e)(5).	16(e)(5), 11 "[a] trial court has broad discretion ... in refusing to admit evidence *782 which was required to be disclosed in a pretrial statement"	Does a trial court have broad discretion in refusing to admit evidence which was required to be disclosed in a pretrial statement?
8562	Gray v. Bryant, 189 N.C. App. 527, 528 (2008)	2	A claim is frivolous, so as to require its dismissal, if a proponent can present no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of it.	A claim is frivolous if a proponent can present no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of [it].	"Is a claim frivolous, if a proponent can present no rational argument based upon the evidence or law in support of it?"
8563	Commonwealth Edison v. State, 189 Mont. 191, 217, 615 P.2d 847 (Mont. 1980)	8	The state's taxing power cannot be set aside or limited on weightless statements that federal policy is being frustrated.	This power cannot be set aside or limited on weightless statements that a federal policy is being substantially frustrated.	Can the state's taxing power be set aside or limited on weightless statements that federal policy is being frustrated?
8564	Cal-Roof Wholesale v. Tax Com, 242 Or. 435, 449, 410 P.2d 233 (Or. 1966)	6	Constitutional power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce carries with it power to regulate state taxation of intrastate activities if such tax affects interstate commerce. Interstate Commerce Tax Act, S 101, 15 U.S.C.A. S 381.	The constitutional power of Congress to regulate inter- state commerce carries with it the power to regulate state taxation of intra-state activities if such tax affects inter- state commerce.	Does the constitutional power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce carries with it power to regulate state taxation of intrastate activities?
8566	Gutierrez v. Dold Foods, 40 Kan. App. 2d 1135, 1136 (2009)	1	The availability of workers compensation benefits to injured employees arises under statutes, not under the court-made common law. West's K.S.A. 44-501 et seq.	The availability of workers compensation benefits to injured employees arises under statutes, not under the court- made common law.	"Does the availability of workers compensation benefits to injured employees arise under statutes, and not under the court-made common law?"

8567	Richard v. Missouri Dept. of Corrections, 162 S.W.3d 35, 39 (Mo. Ct. App. 2005)	5	Workers' compensation law is entirely a creature of statute, and court is guided by the general rules of statutory construction in interpreting it.	Workers' compensation law is entirely a creature of statute. Therefore, we are bound by the general rules of statutory construction in interpreting the workers' compensation law.	"Is workers compensation law entirely a creature of statute, and what is the court guided by when interpreting it?"
8568	Clean Sweep Prof. Parking Lot Maintenance v. Talley, 267 Va. 210, 210, (Va. 2004)	3	The rights and remedies provided in the Workers' Compensation Act are exclusive of all other rights and remedies of an employee or his estate at common law or otherwise. West's V.C.A. S 65.2-309, subd. A.	The rights and remedies provided in the Act are exclusive of all other rights and remedies of an employee or his estate at common law or otherwise.	Are the rights and remedies provided in the Workers Compensation Act exclusive of all other rights and remedies of an employee or his estate at common law or otherwise?
8570	Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp. v. Amgen, Inc., 882 F.2d 806, 812 (3d Cir. 1989)	3	District court has authority to grant injunctive relief in arbitrable dispute, provided that traditional prerequisites for such relief are satisfied.	Therefore, we hold that a district court has the authority to grant injunctive relief in an arbitrable dispute, provided that the traditional prerequisites for such relief are satisfied.	Do courts have the authority to grant injunctive relief in an arbitrable dispute without satisfying the traditional prerequisites for such relief?
8571	Marie v. Allied Home Mortg. Corp., 402 F.3d 1, 16 (1st Cir. 2005)	19	An employer cannot waive its right to arbitration by failing to raise the arbitration defense with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) or by failing to initiate arbitration during the pendency of the EEOC proceedings. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	We reaffirm that an employer cannot waive its right to arbitration by failing to raise the arbitration defense with the EEOC or by failing to initiate arbitration during the pendency of the EEOC proceedings.	Can an employer waive its right to arbitration by failing to raise the arbitration defense with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC)?
8572	Youngs v. Am. Nutrition, Inc., 537 F.3d 1135, 1142 (10th Cir. 2008)	12	There is no set rule as to what constitutes a waiver or abandonment of arbitration agreement; question depends on facts of each case and usually calls for finding by trier of facts.	"There is no set rule as to what constitutes a waiver or abandonment of the arbitration agreement; the question depends upon the facts of each case and usually calls for a finding by the trier of the facts." Id. at 1153.	Is there a set of rules to determine what constitutes a waiver or abandonment of an arbitration agreement?
8573	Inter. Pa. v. Schwabedissen Maschinen, 206 F.3d 411, 418 (4th Cir. 2000)	13	A nonsignatory is equitably estopped from refusing to comply with an arbitration clause when it receives a direct benefit from a contract containing an arbitration clause.	In other words, "[a] nonsignatory is estopped from refusing to comply with an arbitration clause when it receives a 'direct benefit' from a contract containing an arbitration clause."	Can a nonsignatory be estopped from refusing to comply with an arbitration clause when it receives a direct benefit from a contract containing an arbitration clause?
8576	U.S. v. Kelley, 461 F.3d 817, 826 (6th Cir. 2006)	4	Under the fear of economic harm theory for conviction under Hobbs Act, the defendant receives payment from the victim because the victim believes that the defendant can exercise his or her power to the victim's economic detriment; fear need not be the product of the defendant's actions, it is enough if the fear exists and the defendant intentionally exploits it. 18 U.S.C.A. S 1951.	Under the "fear of economic harm" theory, the defendant receives payment from the victim because the victim believes that the defendant can exercise his or her power to the victim's economic detriment. "The fear need not be the product of the defendant's actions. 'It is enough if the fear exists and the defendant intentionally exploits it.	What must the prosecution prove the defendant received from the victim under the fear of economic harm theory for a conviction under the Hobbs Act?

8579	Hyshaw v. Dawkins, 483 S.W.3d 1, 9 (Tex. 2016)	16	A "fractional royalty interest" in a mineral estate conveys a fixed share of production and remains constant regardless of the amount of royalty contained in a subsequently negotiated oil and gas lease; in comparison, a "fraction of royalty interest," as a percentage of production, varies in accordance with the size of the landowner's royalty in a mineral lease and is calculated by multiplying the fraction in the royalty reservation by the royalty provided in the lease.	A fractional royalty interest conveys a fixed share of production and "remains constant regardless of the amount of royalty contained in a subsequently negotiated oil and gas lease." In comparison, a fraction of royalty interest (as a percentage of production) varies in accordance with the size of the landowner's royalty in a mineral lease and "is calculated by multiplying the fraction in the royalty reservation by the royalty provided in the lease."	Can royalty interests be conveyed as a fractional royalty?
8583	Milot v. Dep't of Transp., 318 Mich. App. 272, 275 (2016)	1	A defendant is entitled to summary disposition if the plaintiff's claims are barred because of immunity granted by law. MCR 2.116(C)(7).	A defendant is entitled to summary disposition under MCR 2.116(C)(7) if the plaintiff's claims are barred because of immunity 250 granted by law.	Is a defendant entitled to summary disposition if the plaintiff's claims are barred because of immunity granted by law?
8584	Cadet-Duval v. Gursim Holding, Inc., 147 A.D.3d 718, 720, 45 N.Y.S.3d 585, 587 (2017)	6	Dismissals for pleading deficiencies or for failure to timely serve process are not on the merits and are without prejudice. McKinney's CPLR 306(b).	Dismissals for pleading deficiencies or for failure to timely serve process are not on the merits and are without prejudice (see Komolov v. Segal, 96 A.D.3d 513, 947 N.Y.S.2d 14; Avins v. Federation Empl. & Guidance Serv., Inc., 67 A.D.3d 505, 889 N.Y.S.2d 34; CPLR 306[b]).	Are dismissals for pleading deficiencies or for failure to timely serve process not on the merits and are without prejudice?
8586	Coppola v. Coppola, 243 Conn. 657, 662, 707 A.2d 281 (Conn. 1998)	2	Once action has been brought by service of process on defendant, trial court may thereafter dismiss action for failure to return service of process within mandated time period. C.G.S.A. S 52-46a.	[O]nce an action has been brought by service of process on the defendant, a trial court may thereafter dismiss the action for failure to return the service of process within the mandated time period..	"Although an action can be commenced through the service of process for statute of limitations purposes, is the action subject to dismissal if the plaintiff fails to return that service in a timely manner?"
8589	JVA Enterprises, I, LLC v. Prentice, 48 So. 3d 109, 113 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2010)	4	While a trial court has discretion to dismiss an action for fraud on the court, it should exercise this severe sanction only in extreme circumstances.	While a trial court has discretion to dismiss an action for fraud on the court, it should exercise this severe sanction "only in extreme circumstances."	"Although a trial court has discretion to dismiss an action for fraud on the court, should it exercise this severe sanction only in extreme circumstances?"
8590	First Republic Corp, America v. Hayes, 431 So. 2d 624, 626 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1983)	1	Trial court is authorized to impose appropriate sanctions for violations of orders relating to pretrial conference. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.200(b).	From these decisions, we conclude that the trial court is authorized to impose appropriate sanctions for violations of orders relating to the pretrial conference.	Is a trial court authorized to impose appropriate sanctions for violations of orders relating to a pretrial conference?

8591	Daily Press, Inc. v. Commonwealth, 285 Va. 447, 452, 739 S.E.2d 636, 639 (Va. 2013)	3	Whenever it appears or is made to appear that there is no actual controversy between the litigants, or that, if it once existed, it has ceased to do so, it is the duty of every judicial tribunal not to proceed to the formal determination of the apparent controversy, but to dismiss the case.	Whenever it appears or is made to appear that there is no actual controversy between the litigants, or that, if it once existed, it has ceased to do so, it is the duty of every judicial tribunal not to proceed to the formal determination of the apparent controversy, but to dismiss the case.	Will a case be dismissed as moot if there is no actual controversy?
8592	Metro Transp. v. Public Utility Com'n, 128 Pa. Commw. 223, 228 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1989)	3	Although case is apparently moot, dismissal is not an absolute, if the issue raised is of recurring nature, is of important public interest, or is capable of repeatedly avoiding review, case will not be dismissed.	Although a case is apparently moot, dismissal is not an absolute. If the issue raised is of a recurring nature, is of important public interest, or is capable of repeatedly avoiding review, the case will not be dismissed.	Will a case be dismissed as moot if question involved possesses sufficient public importance to warrant decision?
8593	Lifeguard Corp. v. U.S. Home Corp., 429 So.2d 94, 95 (Fla.App. 2 Dist.,1983)	1	While a trial court clearly has power to dismiss a case as a sanction for plaintiff's failure to comply with a court order, dismissal is a drastic remedy which should be used only in extreme situations.	While a trial court clearly has the power to dismiss a case as a sanction for the plaintiff's failure to comply with a court order, e.g., Surrency v. Winn & Lovett Grocery Co., 160 Fla. 294, 34 So.2d 564 (1948); Ramos v. Sanchez, 375 So.2d 51 (Fla. 2d DCA 1979), dismissal is a drastic remedy which should be used only in extreme situations.	Is dismissal a drastic remedy which should be used only in extreme situations?
8594	Lowery v. Campbell, 185 N.C. App. 659, 663 (2007)	3	The Workers' Compensation Act does not take away common law rights that are unrelated to the employer-employee relationship. West's N.C.G.S.A. S 97-1 et seq.	"The [Workers' Compensation Act] does not take away common law rights that are unrelated to the employer-employee relationship." N.C.	Does the Workers Compensation Act take away any common law rights that are unrelated to the employer-employee relationship?
8595	Thomas v. Giant, 174 Md. App. 103, 113 (2007)	5	Workers' compensation benefits are a creature of statute, and when the controlling enactments are clear, they must guide the outcome. West's Ann.Md.Code, Labor and Employment, S 9-101 et seq.	Thomas characterizes this result as a boon to Giant, which need not pay Workers' compensation benefits are a creature of statute, however, and when the controlling enactments are clear, they must guide the outcome.	"Are workers compensation benefits a creature of statute, and when the controlling enactments are clear, must they guide the outcome?"
8596	One Beacon Ins. Co. v. Hughes, 269 Ga. App. 390, 392 (Ga. Ct. App. 2004)	2	The Workers' Compensation Act constitutes a complete code of laws on the subject, and the entitlement to workers' compensation benefits is strictly a matter of statutory construction, because there is no common law right to such benefits. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 34-9-1 et seq.	In construing the statutes at issue, we note that the Workers' Compensation Act constitutes a complete code of laws on the subject, and the entitlement to workers' compensation benefits is strictly a matter of statutory construction because there is no common law right to such benefits.	"In workers compensation, what is strictly a matter of statutory construction?"
8598	U.S. v. Orenuga, 430 F.3d 1158, 1166 (D.C. Cir. 2005)	12	Whether a district court properly instructed the jury on the standard for bribery presents a question of law that is reviewed de novo. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(2)(A).	Whether the District Court properly instructed the jury on the standard for bribery presents a question of law that we review de novo.	What should be the review standard on whether a district court properly instructed the jury on the standard for bribery?

8601	State ex rel. Hocker v. Nolte, 48 S.W.2d 916, 918, 330 Mo. 299, 304 (Mo.1932)	1	"Pension" is stated allowance granted by government to individual or his representative for valuable service or for loss sustained in public service. V.A.M.S. § 84.170.	"In the eye of the law, a pension is: 'A stated allowance out of the public treasury granted by government to an individual, or to his representatives, for his valuable services to the country, or in compensation for loss or damage sustained by him in the public service ' Bl. L. Dict. (2d Ed.) tit. 'pension.'"	Is pension an allowance granted out of public treasury to an individual or his representative for valuable service or for loss sustained in public service?
8602	Thompson v. Dart, 746 S.W.2d 821, 829 (Tex. App. 1988)	12	When trial court has sustained special exceptions to pleadings, pleader has right to amend to meet exceptions or refuse to amend and test validity of ruling on appeal.	When the trial court has sustained special exceptions to the pleadings, the pleader has the right to amend to meet the exceptions or refuse to amend and test the validity of the ruling on appeal.	"When special exceptions to the pleadings are sustained, can the pleader amend to meet the exceptions?"
8604	Alvarez v. Alvarez, 638 So. 2d 153, 153 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994)	1	Sanctions which court may impose for failure to attend pretrial conference include striking of the pleadings. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.200(c).	There this court recognized that Florida Rule of Civil Procedure 1.200(c) authorizes a trial court to impose sanctions upon a party for failure to attend a pretrial conference. Such sanctions include the striking of pleadings.	Can sanctions which a court can impose for failure to attend pretrial conference include striking of the pleadings?
8605	Chamberlain v. Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co., 36 Kan. App. 2d 163, 178 (Kan.App.,2006)	6	If plaintiff's claims became moot before the ruling on class certification motion, both individual and class action claims must be dismissed.	If the claims of a proposed class representative became moot before the ruling on class certification, both the individual and class action claims must be dismissed.	Will an individual and a class action claim be dismissed if plaintiff's claims became moot before the ruling on class certification motion?
8606	Ader v. Temple Ner Tamid, 339 So. 2d 268, 270 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1976)	2	In order for a pleading to be stricken as "sham," pleading must appear clearly false, as a mere pretense set up in bad faith and without color of fact. 30 West's F.S.A. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 1.150(a).	Petitioner also contends that the trial court erred in striking as sham certain denials found in his answer. In order for a pleading to be stricken as 'sham' pursuant to Fla.R.Civ.P. 1.150(a) we have stated that the pleading must appear clearly false, as a mere pretense set up in bad faith, and without color of fact.	"In order for a pleading to be stricken as sham, should the pleading be clearly false?"
8607	Kile v. McGuire, 326 S.W.3d 538, 539 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	2	A threshold question in any appellate review of a controversy is the mootness of the controversy; because mootness implicates the justiciability of a case, an appellate court may dismiss a case for mootness sua sponte.	A threshold question in any appellate review of a controversy is the mootness of the controversy." "Because mootness implicates the justiciability of a case, an appellate court may dismiss a case for mootness sua sponte."	Does mootness implicate justiciability and can the courts dismiss a case for mootness sua sponte?

8608	Andrews v. Palmas De Majorca Condominium, 898 So. 2d 1066, 1069 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	2	Sanction of dismissal with prejudice due to fraud upon court has long been available remedy for party's misconduct in litigation process; party who has been guilty of fraud or misconduct in prosecution or defense of civil proceeding should not be permitted to continue to employ very institution it has subverted to achieve her ends.	The sanction of dismissal with prejudice due to fraud upon the court has long been an available remedy for a party's misconduct in the litigation process. It has been held that "a party who has been guilty of fraud or misconduct in the prosecution or defense of a civil proceeding should not be permitted to continue to employ the very institution it has subverted to achieve her ends."	Is dismissal an available remedy for knowingly submitting forged or altered documents with the intent to deceive?
8611	Metro Transp. v. Public Utility Com'n, 128 Pa. Commw. 223, 228 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1989)	2	When litigant lacks necessary stake in outcome, or when court or agency is not able to grant effective relief, a case will be dismissed as moot.	Furthermore, when a litigant lacks a necessary stake in the outcome, or when the court or agency is not able to grant effective relief, a case will be dismissed as moot.	Can a case be dismissed as moot when litigant lacks necessary stake in outcome?
8612	Edwards, Jr. v. Chrysler Motor Co., Inc., 984 So. 2d 85, 89 (La. App. 1st Cir. 2008)	3	Party takes a "step" in the prosecution or defense of an action, as necessary to avoid abandonment of action, when he takes formal action before the court intended to hasten the matter to judgment. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	A party takes a "step" in the prosecution or defense of an action when he takes formal action before the court intended to hasten the matter to judgment, or when he takes a deposition with or without formal notice.	"Does a party take a ""step"" in the prosecution or defense of an action when he takes formal action before the court intended to hasten the matter to judgment?"
8613	State ex rel. AG Processing, Inc. v. Public Service Commission, 276 S.W.3d 303, 306 (Mo. Ct. App. 2009)	3	When an event occurs that makes a court's decision unnecessary or makes it impossible for the court to grant effectual relief, the case is "moot" and generally should be dismissed.	When an event occurs that makes a court's decision unnecessary or makes it impossible for the court to grant effectual relief, the case is moot and generally should be dismissed.	Will a case be moot when an event occurs that makes a court's decision unnecessary?
8615	Travelers Indemnity Co. v. Mallory Co., 772 N.E.2d 479, 484 (Ind. Ct. App. 2002)	5	When dispositive issue in case has been resolved in such a way as to render it unnecessary to decide question involved, case will be dismissed.	When a dispositive issue in a case has been resolved in such a way as to render it unnecessary to decide the question involved, the case will be dismissed.	Will a case be dismissed when dispositive issue in case has been resolved in such a way as to render it unnecessary to decide question involved?
8617	Simmons v. Shimek, 139 Ill. App. 3d 927, 928 (1985)	1	Generally, a cause of action will be dismissed as a sanction only where dismissed party has shown a deliberate and willful disregard of court's authority. S.H.A. ch. 110A, P 219(c).	Generally, a cause of action will be dismissed as a sanction only where the dismissed party has shown a deliberate and willful disregard of the court's authority.	Will a cause of action be dismissed as a sanction only where dismissed party has shown a deliberate and willful disregard of court's authority?
8618	Andrews v. Palmas De Majorca Condominium, 898 So. 2d 1066, 1069 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	3	Dismissal is available remedy for knowingly submitting forged or altered documents with intent to deceive court.	Dismissal is an available remedy for knowingly submitting forged or altered documents with the intent to deceive the court.	Is dismissal an available remedy for knowingly submitting forged or altered documents with intent to deceive court?
8620	Englewood Apts. Partnership v. Grant Co., 119 Wis. 2d 34, 40, 349 N.W.2d 716 (Wis. Ct. App. 1984)	3	Party attempting to show that dismissal for failure to comply with pretrial orders is abuse of discretion must demonstrate a clear and justifiable excuse for delay or for failure to comply with procedure statutes. W.S.A. 804.12(2, 4), 805.03.	[T]he party attempting to show that such a dismissal is an abuse of discretion must demonstrate "a clear and justifiable excuse" for the delay in prosecuting the case or for the failure to comply with procedure statutes under sec. 805.03,	Is dismissal for noncompliance with pretrial orders appropriate only in cases of egregious conduct?

8621	Gambino v. Standard Fire Ins. Co., 110 So. 3d 1127, 1131 (La. Ct. App. 2013)	8	Because dismissal is the harshest of remedies, any reasonable doubt about abandonment of the suit should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	"Because dismissal is the harshest of remedies, any reasonable doubt about abandonment should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment."	"Because dismissal is the harshest of remedies, should any reasonable doubt about abandonment of the suit should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution?"
8624	Prosser v. Grant, 224 Ga. App. 6, 7 (1996)	5	"Order" as contemplated by five-year mandatory dismissal rule is an order entered by a court in response to a motion initiated by a party; housekeeping orders entered on the court's own motion, such as an order entered by the court removing a case from an active trial calendar because of its age or a pretrial calendar which contains a specific order directed at the attorneys and parties in all cases listed on such calendar, are not initiated by a party and do not toll the statute. O.C.G.A. SS 9-2-60(b), 9-11-41(e).	Further, "an order as contemplated by [the five-year rule of OCGA 9-2-60(b) or 9-11-41(e)] is an order entered by a court in response to a motion initiated by a party. Housekeeping orders entered on the court's own motion, such as an order entered by the court removing a case from an active trial calendar because of its age or a pretrial calendar which contains a specific order directed at the attorneys and parties in all cases listed on such calendar, are not initiated by a party and would not toll the statute." Dept. of Transp., supra at 221, 443 S.E.2d 610.	"Is ""order"" as contemplated by a five-year mandatory dismissal rule an order entered by a court in response to a motion initiated by a party?"
8625	Prosser v. Grant, 224 Ga. App. 6, 7 479 S.E.2d 775 (Ga. Ct. App. 1996)	3	Any step taken by a party after the period for abandonment has accrued is ineffective to prevent a judgment of dismissal on grounds of abandonment. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	Any step taken by a party after the period for abandonment has accrued is ineffective to prevent a judgment of dismissal on grounds of abandonment.	Is any step taken by a party after the period for abandonment has accrued ineffective to prevent a judgment of dismissal on grounds of abandonment?
8626	Garland v. City of Delray Beach, 685 So. 2d 1392, 1394 (Fla. App. 1997)	2	Motion for mediation conference is not sufficient record activity to preclude dismissal for failure to prosecute unless there is some follow-up activity intended to move case along. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(e).	The filing of a status report is not sufficient record activity to preclude dismissal for failure to prosecute. Id. A motion for mediation conference is likewise not sufficient record activity unless there is some follow-up activity intended to move the case along.	Is a motion for mediation conference not sufficient record activity to preclude a dismissal for failure to prosecute?
8627	Stewart Dry Goods Co. v. Lewis, 7 F. Supp. 438, 442 (W.D. Ky. 1933)	2	Power of state to tax for public purposes within its constitutional sphere is as unlimited as power of national government within its sphere except for equality clause of Federal Constitution. Const.Amend. 14.	It should always be remembered that the power of the state to tax for public purposes within its constitutional sphere is as unlimited as is the power of the national government within its sphere, except for the equality clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.	Is the state's power to tax for public purposes as unlimited as the power of national government?
8629	Chappy v. Labor & Industry Review Commission, 128 Wis. 2d 318, 381 N.W.2d 552 (Wis. Ct. App. 1985)	13	Worker's compensation is wholly statutory and questions regarding what should properly be public policy should be determined by legislature, not courts.	Worker's compensation is wholly statutory and questions regarding what should properly be the public policy should be determined by the legislature, not the courts.	"For workers compensation, is it the legislature or the courts that determine the questions regarding what should properly be the public policy?"

8630	Perry v. Transamerica Ins. Group, 703 S.W.2d 151 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1985)	1	Benefits conferred by Workers' Compensation Act (T.C.A. § 50-6-101 et seq.), are purely statutory, and circumstances under which they are paid and manner in which they are calculated depend solely upon statutory authority.	The benefits conferred by the Workers' Compensation Act are purely statutory, and the circumstances under which they are paid and the manner in which they are calculated depend solely upon statutory authority.	Would the benefits conferred by the Workers Compensation Act be described as purely statutory?
8631	Theriot v. Damson Drilling Corp., 471 So. 2d 757, 76 (La. Ct. App. 1985)	4	Worker's Compensation Law is compromise of legal rights for purpose of arriving at socially desirable result of a compromise nature. LSA-R.S. 23:1021-23:2001	As is well understood, the typical worker's compensation law, of which Louisiana's statute is one, is a compromise of legal rights for the purpose of arriving at a socially desirable result of a compromise nature.	Is workers compensation a compromise of legal rights for the purpose of arriving at a socially desirable result?
8632	Thomas v. Northern Telecom, Inc., 157 F. Supp. 2d 627, 636 (M.D.N.C. 2000)	14	In exchange for the certainty of receiving a benefit under the North Carolina Workers Compensation Act, the employee and his dependents give up their common law right to sue the employer for negligence. N.C.G.S. § 97-3.	In exchange for the certainty of receiving this benefit, however, "the employee and his dependents give up their common law right to sue the employer for negligence."	What do the employees and their dependents give for compensation?
8633	Distefano v. State Farm Mut. Auto, 846 So. 2d 572, 574 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2003)	3	Trial court's power of dismissal should be used cautiously and sparingly, and only upon the most blatant showing of fraud, pretense, collusion, or other similar wrongdoing.	However, this power of dismissal should be used "cautiously and sparingly," and "only upon the most blatant showing of fraud, pretense, collusion, or other similar wrongdoing."	"Can sanction of dismissal be imposed only on a clear showing of fraud, pretense, collusion, or similar wrongdoing?"
8636	Chavez v. United States, 74 F.2d 508, 509 (10th Cir. 1934)	1	War risk insurance policies are contractual obligations of United States, but confer no right of action on insured or his beneficiary independently of sovereign will. World War Veterans' Act of 1924, § 19, as amended by Act July 3, 1930, § 4, 38 U.S.C.A. § 445.	Policies of war risk insurance are contractual obligations of the United States, yet they confer no right of action on this insured or his beneficiary independently of the sovereign will.	Do war risk insurance policies confer a right of action on an insured or his beneficiary?
8639	In re Campbell's Est., 195 Misc. 520, 521, 89 N.Y.S.2d 310, 312 (Sur. 1949)	1	Pension payments to guardians of incompetent veterans vest title in the ward and discharge the obligation of the United States with respect thereto but a pensioner has no vested legal right to his "pension", which is a bounty of the government which congress has the right to give, withhold, distribute or recall at its discretion.	Pension payments to guardians of incompetent veterans vests title in the ward and discharges the obligation of the United States with respect thereto. Spicer v. Smith, 288 U.S. 430, 53 S.Ct. 415, 77 L.Ed. 875, 84 A.L.R. 1525. However, a pensioner has no vested legal right to his pension; pensions are the bounties of the government which Congress has the right to give, withhold, distribute or recall, at its discretion.	Do pension payments to the guardians of incompetent veterans vest title in the ward?
8640	Sommer v. Maharaj, 888 N.E.2d 891, 896, 451 Mass. 615, 621 (Mass., 2008)	4	A court's inherent power, to be exercised with restraint and discretion, includes dismissal of a lawsuit, when justified by a party's extreme conduct.	That power, to "be exercised with restraint and discretion," Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., supra at 44, 111 S.Ct. 2123, includes dismissal of a lawsuit, when justified by a party's extreme conduct.	"Does a court's inherent power, to be exercised with restraint and discretion, include dismissal of a lawsuit?"

8642	McKnight v. Evancheck, 907 So. 2d 699, 700 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	5	While a trial court has discretion to dismiss an action for fraud on the court, it should exercise this severe sanction only in extreme circumstances.	While a trial court has discretion to dismiss an action for fraud on the court, it should exercise this severe sanction "only in extreme circumstances."	Should a trial court exercise its discretion of severe sanction to dismiss an action for fraud on the court only in extreme circumstances?
8643	Scottsdale Ins. Co. v. Lakeside Cmty. Comm., 2016 IL App (1st) 141845, ¶¶ 18-19	3	A motion to dismiss based upon certain defects or defenses admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint, but asserts that the claim is defeated based on certain defects, defenses, or other affirmative matter. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	18 Statute of Limitations [3] [4] [5] 19 A motion to dismiss based on section 2- 619 admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint, but asserts that the claim is defeated based on certain defects, defenses, or other affirmative matter.	Will a motion to dismiss assert an affirmative matter which defeats the claim?
8647	Sheen v. the Time Inc. Magazine, 817 So. 2d 974, 976 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2002)	3	Documents filed of record concerning discovery may, but do not always, constitute "record activity" sufficient to avoid dismissal for failure to prosecute. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(e).	Documents filed of record concerning discovery may, but do not always, constitute record activity sufficient to avoid a dismissal for failure to prosecute.	"Can documents filed of record concerning discovery constitute ""record activity"" sufficient to avoid dismissal for failure to prosecute?"
8648	Commonwealth v. Weber, 549 Pa. 430, 437, 701 A.2d 531 (Pa. 1997)	2	Rape Shield Law applies to evidence concerning victim's abortion because it necessarily implicates past sexual conduct. 18 Pa.C.S.A. S 3104.	The Rape Shield Law applies to evidence concerning a victim's abortion because it necessarily implicates past sexual conduct.	Is a victims abortion evidence of past sexual conduct under rape shield law?
8649	Bazanes v. State, 310 S.W.3d 32, 37 (Tex. App. 2010)	8	The specific intent required for the offense of indecency with a child may be inferred from a defendant's conduct, his remarks, and all of the surrounding circumstances. V.T.C.A., Penal Code S 21.11(a)(1).	The specific intent required for the offense of indecency with a child may be inferred from a defendant's conduct, his remarks, and all of the surrounding circumstances.	Can the specific intent required for the offense of indecency with a child be inferred from a defendant's conduct?
8652	Rapp v. Manufacturers Tr. Co., 15 Misc. 2d 332, 334, 181 N.Y.S.2d 714, 716 (N.Y. Mun. Ct. 1959)	6	A check may be transferred without written endorsement, and such transfer vests in transferee such title as transferor had. Negotiable Instrument Law, § 79.	While a check may be transferred without written endorsement and such transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferor had (Negotiable Instruments Law § 79;	"Can a check be transferred without written endorsement, and such transfer vests in transferee the title as transferor had?"
8654	Layhew v. Dixon, 527 S.W.2d 739, 741 (Tenn. 1975)	2	While parties may not change positions which they have asserted in litigation, judicial estoppels are not favored and ordinarily do not arise out of mere unsworn pleadings.	While it is true that parties may not change positions which they have asserted in litigation, judicial estoppels are not favored and ordinarily do not arise out of mere unsworn pleadings.	Are judicial estoppels not favored and do they not ordinarily arise out of mere unsworn pleadings?

8655	Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Anderson, 629 P.2d 512, 517 (Alaska 1981)	2	Tests which have been developed for determining whether minerals are valuable, prudent person and marketability test, are not distinct standards but are complementary in that latter is refinement of former; basically, prudent person test requires that person of ordinary prudence would be justified in further expenditure of his labor and means, with reasonable prospect of success, in developing valuable mine, and marketability test requires that it must be shown that minerals can be extracted, removed and marketed at profit.	Two complementary tests have been developed for determination of whether minerals are valuable: the prudent person test and the marketability test. See United States v. Coleman, 390 U.S. 599, 601-03, 88 S.Ct. 1327, 1329-1331, 20 L.Ed.2d 170, 174-75 (1968). These tests "are not distinct standards but are complementary in that the latter is a refinement of the former." 2 Id. at 603, 88 S.Ct. at 1330, 20 L.Ed.2d at 175. Basically, the prudent person test requires that "a person of ordinary prudence would be justified in the further expenditure of his labor and means, with a reasonable prospect of success, in developing a valuable mine." 3 The marketability test requires that "it must be shown that the mineral can *518 be 'extracted, removed and marketed at a profit.' "	"To determine whether minerals are valuable, what must the marketability test show?"
8656	New Mexico and Arizona Land Company v. Elkins, 137 F. Supp. 767, 771 (D.N.M. 1956)	3	Uranium and thorium being "minerals" within scientific, geological and practical meanings constitute minerals within purview of a reservation clause in a deed of "all oil, gas and minerals".	Uranium and thorium being minerals within the scientific, geological and practical meanings, would certainly constitute minerals within the purview of the reserving clause 'all oil, gas and minerals'.	Will uranium and thorium constitute minerals within the purview of the reserving clause?
8657	Smith v. Moore, 172 Colo. 440, 443 (1970)	1	When surface and mineral estates have been severed the owner of mineral estate may remove underlying materials but must support the surface and cannot destroy the surface by strip mining.	This court has held that when the surface and mineral estates have been severed, the owner of the mineral estate may remove the underlying minerals but must support the surface and cannot destroy the surface by strip mining.	May the owner of the mineral estate remove the underlying minerals but must support the surface?
8659	Tolliver v. Mladineo, 987 So. 2d 989, 997, 2005 CA 2326 (Miss. Ct. App. 2008)	13	A trial court's order of dismissal with prejudice is an extreme and harsh sanction that deprives a litigant of the opportunity to pursue his claim, and any dismissals with prejudice are reserved for the most egregious cases.	A trial court's order of "dismissal with prejudice is an extreme and harsh sanction that deprives a litigant of the opportunity to pursue his claim, and any dismissals with prejudice are reserved for the most egregious cases.	Is dismissal with prejudice for failure to prosecute or to comply with a court orders a harsh remedy to be utilized only in extreme situations?
8661	Toler v. Rapid American, 190 S.W.3d 348, 351 (Ky.App.,2006)	6	It is incumbent on the trial court, in considering dismissal of cases due to want of prosecution, to consider each case in light of the particular circumstances involved; length of time alone is not the test of diligence. Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 41.02, 77.02.	Moreover, it is incumbent on the trial court to consider each case "in light of the particular circumstances involved; length of time alone is not the test of diligence."	Is it incumbent upon the court to consider each case in light of the particular circumstances involved?

8662	State v. Tujague, 193 So. 3d 223, 226 (La. Ct. App. 2016)	9	If the plaintiff has clearly demonstrated before the court during the prescribed period that it does not intend to abandon its lawsuit, dismissal is not warranted. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	If the plaintiff has clearly demonstrated before the court during the prescribed period that it does not intend to abandon its lawsuit, dismissal is not warranted.	Is a dismissal warranted if the plaintiff has clearly demonstrated before the court during the prescribed period that he does not intend to abandon his lawsuit?
8663	Carista v. Valuck, 394 P.3d 253, 259 (Okla. Civ. App. 2016)	10	The purpose of a motion to dismiss is to test the legal sufficiency of a petition, not to engage in an evidentiary contest of facts. 12 Okla. Stat. Ann. § 2012(B)(6).	The purpose of a motion to dismiss is to test the legal sufficiency of a petition, not to engage in an evidentiary contest of facts.	"Is the purpose of a motion to dismiss to test the legal sufficiency of a petition, not to engage in an evidentiary contest of facts?"
8667	Meadow Brook National Bank v. Recile, 302 F. Supp. 62, 70 (E.D. La. 1969)	11	Holder of negotiable promissory note need not proceed against defaulting maker or security on note before suing endorser who is primarily liable.	[11] [12] [13] It is, of course, clear that the holder of a negotiable promissory note is not required to proceed against the defaulting maker or the security on the note prior to instituting suit against an endorser who is primarily liable on the note.	Can a holder or drawer of a promissory note proceed against defaulting maker or security on note before suing endorser who is primarily liable?
8668	Secy. of Veterans Affs. v. Leonhardt, 2015-Ohio-931, ¶ 73, 29 N.E.3d 1, 19	24	When an instrument is indorsed in blank, the instrument becomes payable to bearer and may be negotiated by transfer of possession alone until specially indorsed. R.C. § 1303.25(B).	" 'When an instrument is indorsed in blank, the instrument becomes payable to bearer and may be negotiated by transfer of possession alone until specially indorsed.' " Id., citing R.C. 1303.25(B) and Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. v. Byers, 10th Dist. Franklin No. 13AP-767, 2014-Ohio-3303, 2014 WL 3740328, ¶ 14 ("A blank indorsement makes the instrument payable to the bearer pursuant to R.C 1303.25(B).").	Can an instrument become payable to bearer when indorsed in blank and negotiated by transfer of possession alone?
8669	Mystic Color Lab, Inc. v. Auctions Worldwide, LLC, 284 Conn. 408, 420 (Conn. 2007)	14	A bailment contemplates redelivery of goods entrusted to the bailee, whereas a debtor-creditor relationship contemplates the payment of an obligation defined by agreement between the parties.	A bailment therefore contemplates redelivery of goods entrusted to the bailee, whereas a debtor-creditor relationship contemplates the payment of an obligation defined by agreement between the parties.	Does a debtor-creditor relationship contemplate the payment of an obligation defined by agreement between the parties?
8670	Riddle v. State Highway Commission, 184 Kan. 603, 604 (Kan. 1959)	4	Legislature has plenary power over highways and their use may be limited, controlled and regulated in the exercise of police power whenever necessary to promote the safety and general welfare of the people.	The legislature has plenary power over highways and their use may be limited, controlled and *604 regulated in the exercise of the police power whenever necessary to promote the safety and general welfare of the people.	Does the Legislature have plenary power over highways?
8671	Barnett Bk. of E. Polk County v. Fleming, 508 So. 2d 718, 719 (Fla. 1987)	3	Motion to dismiss for lack of prosecution, whether initiated by court or a party, cannot be deemed "record activity" sufficient to defeat dismissal of case for lack of prosecution. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(e).	Accordingly, we hold that a motion to dismiss for lack of prosecution pursuant to Rule 1.420(e), whether initiated by the court or a party, cannot be deemed "record activity" sufficient to defeat dismissal of the case for lack of prosecution.	Is filing of a motion to dismiss for lack of prosecution considered a record activity precluding dismissal?

8674	3V, Inc. v. JTS Enterprises, Inc., 40 S.W.3d 533, 541 (Tex. App. 2000)	18	Diligent prosecution includes not only diligent prosecution to the time of trial, but also diligence thereafter in procuring a final judgment or other final order.	Diligent prosecution includes not only diligent prosecution to the time of trial, but also diligence thereafter in procuring a final judgment or other final order.	"Does diligent prosecution include only diligent prosecution to the time of trial, or also diligence thereafter in procuring a final judgment or other final order?"
8676	National Amusement Co. v. Dept. of Revenue, 41 Wis. 2d 261, 267 (Wis. 1969)	3	Tax cannot be imposed without clear and express language for that purpose and if ambiguity and doubt exist, it must be resolved in favor of person upon whom tax is sought to imposed.	It would appear that the following rule is also applicable to this case: *267 ' * * a tax cannot be imposed without clear and express language for the purpose, and where ambiguity and doubt exist, it must be resolved in favor of the person upon whom it is sought to impose the tax.	Can a tax be imposed without clear and express language?
8678	Dept. of Pub. Welfare v. S. Dist. of Phila, 49 Pa. Commw. 316, 316, 410 A.2d 1311 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1980)	3	Promissory estoppel rests on promise to do something in the future, whereas equitable estoppel rests on a statement of a present fact.	A promissory estoppel rests upon the promise to do something in the future, whereas an equitable estoppel rests upon a statement of a present fact.	"Does a promissory estoppel rest upon the promise to do something in the future, whereas an equitable estoppel rests upon a statement of present fact?"
8679	McGuire v. Stein's Gift Garden Center, 178 Wis. 2d 379, 394 (Ct. App. 1993)	14	Although specific negligence and res ipsa loquitur may be pled in alternative and evidence tending to show specific acts of negligence will not automatically foreclose dependence on doctrine, res ipsa loquitur is unnecessary and its application redundant where the evidence provides full and complete explanation of event should jury choose to accept it.	Thus, although specific negligence and res ipsa loquitur may be pled in the alternative 3 and evidence tending to show specific acts of negligence will not automatically foreclose dependence on the doctrine, see id. at 440, 184 N.W.2d at 69; Lecander, 171 Wis.2d at 603-04, 492 N.W.2d at 171, res ipsa loquitur is unnecessary and its application redundant where the evidence provides a full and complete explanation of the event should the jury choose to accept it.	Can specific negligence and res ipsa loquitur be pled in the alternative?
8680	Laurence v. Atzenhoffer Chevrolet, 281 F.Supp.2d 898, 900 (S.D.Tex.,2003)	3	Although parties are barred from recovering damages based on mutually exclusive theories, parties can properly plead alternative, inconsistent theories of liability and can properly argue alternative claims to jury. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 8(e)(2), 28 U.S.C.A.	Although parties are barred from recovering damages based on mutually exclusive theories, see Robertson v. Bell Helicopter Textron, 32 F.3d 948, 952-53 (5th Cir.1994) (affirming a district court's dismissal of a plaintiff's Sabine Pilot claim after the plaintiff received a judgment in his favor on his retaliation claim), parties can properly plead alternative, inconsistent theories of liability and can properly argue alternative claims to the jury.	Can a party plead alternative and inconsistent theories?

8681	Tolliver v. Mladineo, 987 So. 2d 989, 997, 2005 CA 2326 (Miss. Ct. App. 2008)	17	Aggravating factors supportive of a trial court's dismissal with prejudice for want of prosecution are: (1) delay caused by the plaintiff personally; (2) delay causing prejudice to the defendant; and (3) delay resulting from intentional conduct. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	Aggravating factors supportive of a dismissal with prejudice are (1) delay caused by the plaintiff personally, (2) delay causing prejudice to the defendant, and (3) delay resulting from intentional conduct.	"Should it be considered whether the delay was the result of intentional conduct, when ruling on a motion to dismiss a complaint with prejudice due to want of prosecution?"
8682	Lone Star Casino v. Full House Resorts, 796 So. 2d 1031, 1032 (Miss. Ct. App. 2001)	2	There is no set time limit on prosecution of action once it has been filed, and dismissal for failure to prosecute will be upheld only where record shows that plaintiff has been guilty of dilatory or contumacious conduct. Rules Civ. Proc., Rule 41(b).	In Mississippi there is no set time limit on the prosecution of an action once it has been filed, and dismissal for failure to prosecute will be upheld only where the record shows that a plaintiff has been guilty of dilatory or contumacious conduct.	Is there a set time limit on prosecution of action once it has been filed?
8683	Benjamin-Jenkins v. Lawson, 781 So. 2d 893, 895 (La. Ct. App. 2001)	2	Abandonment is not a punitive measure, but is designed to discourage frivolous lawsuits by preventing plaintiffs from letting them linger indefinitely. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	Abandonment is not a punitive measure- it is designed to discourage frivolous lawsuits by preventing plaintiffs from letting them linger indefinitely.	Is abandonment designed to discourage frivolous lawsuits by preventing plaintiffs from letting them linger indefinitely?
8685	Lone Star Casino v. Full House Resorts, 796 So. 2d 1031, 1032 (Miss. Ct. App. 2001)	2	There is no set time limit on prosecution of action once it has been filed, and dismissal for failure to prosecute will be upheld only where record shows that plaintiff has been guilty of dilatory or contumacious conduct. Rules Civ. Proc., Rule 41(b).	In Mississippi there is no set time limit on the prosecution of an action once it has been filed, and dismissal for failure to prosecute will be upheld only where the record shows that a plaintiff has been guilty of dilatory or contumacious conduct.	Is there is no set time limit on the prosecution of an action once it has been filed?
8686	Total Auctions & Real Estate, LLC v. S.D. Dep't of Revenue & Regulation, 888 N.W.2d 577, 580, 2016 S.D. 95 (S.D. 2016)	5	Ultimately, where the allegations show on the face of the complaint there is some insuperable bar to relief, dismissal for failure to state a claim is appropriate. SDCL S 15-6-12(b)(5).	Ultimately, "where the allegations show on the face of the complaint there is some insuperable *581 bar to relief, dismissal under Rule 12(b)(5) is appropriate.	"Where the allegations show on the face of the complaint there is some insuperable bar to relief, is dismissal for failure to state a claim appropriate?"
8690	Arbaugh v. Procter & Gamble Mfg. Co., 80 Cal. App. 3d 500, 506, 145 Cal. Rptr. 608, 613 (Ct. App. 1978)	6	Unless there is a written agreement to contrary, an employer covered by workmen's compensation is not obligated to indemnify a third party who has been found liable to employee injured as a result of the joint negligence of the employer and the third party. West's Ann.Labor Code, §§ 3601(a), 3864.	Furthermore, unless there is a written agreement to the contrary, an employer is not obligated to indemnify a third party who has been found liable to an employee who was injured as the result of the joint negligence of the employer and the third party. (Lab.Code, s 3864.)	Is a claim for workers' compensation an injured employee's only remedy against his employer?
8691	Bueker v. Madison Cnty., 2016 IL 120024, ¶ 7 (Ill. 2016)	4	In reviewing the sufficiency of a complaint, courts accept as true all well-pleaded facts and all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from those facts.	"In reviewing the sufficiency of a complaint, we accept as true all well-pleaded facts and all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from those facts."	"In reviewing the sufficiency of a complaint, do courts accept as true all well-pleaded facts and all reasonable inferences that can be drawn from those facts?"
8695	Louzon v. Moss, 139 A.D.3d 680, 681, 32 N.Y.S.3d 172, 174 (2016)	4	Conclusory allegations of damages or injuries predicated on speculation cannot suffice for legal malpractice action, and dismissal is warranted where the allegations in the complaint are merely conclusory and speculative.	"Conclusory allegations of damages or injuries predicated on speculation cannot suffice for a malpractice action, and dismissal is warranted where the allegations in the complaint are merely conclusory and speculative"	Can conclusory allegations of damages or injuries predicated on speculation suffice for a malpractice action?

8696	Nicholos v. Cashelard Rest., Inc., 249 A.D.2d 187, 189, 672 N.Y.S.2d 98, 100 (1998)	1	Case that has been marked off or stricken from the calendar and has not been restored within one year is deemed abandoned; however, the presumption of abandonment may be rebutted by proof of litigation actually in progress. McKinney's CPLR 3404.	A case that has been marked off or stricken from the calendar and has not been restored within one year is deemed abandoned under CPLR 3404 (see, Weiss v. City of New York, 247 A.D.2d 239, 669 N.Y.S.2d 33; Syndicate Build. Corp. v. Lorber, 193 A.D.2d 506, 507, 597 N.Y.S.2d 372). However, the presumption of abandonment may be rebutted by proof of litigation actually in progress	"Is a case that has been marked off or stricken from the calendar and has not been restored within one year, deemed abandoned?"
8698	Clark v. Fry, 306 Pa. Super. 590, 452 A.2d 44 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1982)	4	The rule of respondeat superior, as its terms import, arises out of the relation of superior and subordinate, is applicable to that relation wherever it exists, whether between principal and agent, or master and servant, is coextensive with it, and ceases where the relation itself ceases.	This rule of respondeat superior, as its terms import, arises out of the relation of superior and subordinate, is applicable to that relation wherever it exists, whether between principal and agent or master and servant, and is co-extensive with it, and ceases where the relation itself ceases to exist.	Does the rule of respondeat superior cease when the relation ceases?
8700	Doe v. Brown Univ., 210 F. Supp. 3d 310, 330 (D.R.I. 2016)	5	Under Rhode Island law, because contracts for private education have unique qualities, courts must construe them in a manner that leaves the school administration broad discretion to meet its educational and doctrinal responsibilities.	However, "[b]ecause contracts for private education have unique qualities, we must construe them in a manner that leaves the school administration broad discretion *331 to meet its educational and doctrinal responsibilities."	Does a college have broad discretion to meet its educational and doctrinal responsibilities?
8702	Waters v. Waters, 498 S.W.2d 236, 241 (Tex. Civ. App. 1973), writ refused NRE (Jan. 16, 1974)	6	A promissory note can lawfully be transferred without a written assignment or an endorsement of the legal owner and holder thereof. V.T.C.A., Bus. & C. § 3.201(c).	A promissory note can lawfully be transferred without a written assignment or an endorsement of the legal owner and holder thereof.	Can a promissory note be transferred without a written assignment or endorsement of the legal owner and holder?
8703	THATCHER, ET AL. v. MERRIAM, ET AL, 121 Utah 191, 198 (1952)	7	Like an ordinary chose in action a bill or note may be transferred by assignment or by mere delivery with usual incidents of such a transfer, notwithstanding the Negotiable Instrument Law. U.S.C.A. 1943, 61-1-17, 61-1-33, 61-4-1.	'Like an ordinary chose in action, a bill or note may be transferred by assignment or by mere delivery with the usual incidents of such a transfer, and this rule is not changed by the negotiable instrument law.	Can a note be transferred like an ordinary chose in action?

8704	Ward v. Stanford, 443 S.W.3d 334, 343 (Tex. App. 2014)	10	A promissory note is a negotiable instrument if it is a written unconditional promise to pay a sum certain in money, upon demand or at a definite time, and is payable to order or to bearer; a note is non-negotiable, however, if another instrument must be examined to determine the rights and obligations under the note.	A promissory note is a negotiable instrument if it is a written unconditional promise to pay a sum certain in money, upon demand or at a definite time, and is payable to order or to bearer. Id. at 407 (citing TEX. BUS. & COM.CODE ANN. § 3.104(a)). A note is non-negotiable, however, if another instrument must be examined to determine the rights and obligations under the note. See TEX. BUS. & COM.CODE ANN. § 3.106(a) (West Supp.2013); FFP Mktg. Co., 169 S.W.3d at 408–09.	When is a promissory note a negotiable instrument ?
8705	First Pyramid Life Ins. Co. v. Reed, 247 Ark. 1003, 1006 (Ark. 1970)	3	County court can acquire jurisdiction of statutory proceeding to open county road only when there is strict compliance with requirements of statutes relating to signing of petition. Ark.Stats. SS 76-901 to 76-915, 76-902.	The county court can only acquire jurisdiction of a proceeding under these sections when there is strict compliance with the requirements of the act relating to the signing of the petition.	When can a county court acquire jurisdiction of a proceeding regarding a petition to open a county road?
8706	Pac. Ins. Co. v. Botelho, 891 So. 2d 587, 590 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2004)	2	A motion to dismiss cannot be granted based on an affirmative defense unless the defense appears upon the face of a pleading.	Further, a motion to dismiss cannot be granted based on an affirmative defense unless the defense appears upon the face of a pleading.	Can a motion to dismiss be granted based on an affirmative defense unless the defense appears upon the face of a pleading?
8707	Sarkis v. Pafford Oil Company, Inc., 697 So. 2d 524, 526 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1997)	4	Because issue of whether complaint is sufficient to state cause of action is issue of law, ruling on motion to dismiss for failure to state cause of action is reviewable on appeal by de novo standard of review.	Whether a complaint is sufficient to state a cause of action is an issue of law. Consequently, a ruling on a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action is reviewable on appeal by the de novo standard of review.	"Is whether a complaint is sufficient to state a cause of action an issue of law, on motion to dismiss?"
8708	U.S. v. Parga-Rosas, 238 F.3d 1209, 1213 (9th Cir. 2001)	4	Even though it need not be pled, "entry" may become important element of proof in prosecution for being deported alien "found in" United States, primarily in those cases involving apprehension at border. Immigration and Nationality Act, S 276, 8 U.S.C.A. S 1326.	Even though it need not be pled, "entry" may nevertheless become an important element of proof that an alien has been "found in" the United States in some cases, primarily those involving an apprehension at the border.	Can an alien be present in the United States yet be deemed not to have entered?
8714	Adams v. USAA Casualty Insurance Co., 317 S.W.3d 66, 75 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	9	Determination of factual questions or whether the party is entitled to relief on the merits is not appropriate on a motion to dismiss.	Determination of factual questions or whether the party is entitled to relief on the merits is not appropriate on a motion to dismiss.	Is a determination of factual questions or whether the party is entitled to relief on the merits not appropriate on a motion to dismiss?
8715	Schaffner v. 514 W. Grant Place Condo. Ass'n, Inc., 756 N.E.2d 854, 865 (Ill. App. 1st Dist. 2001)	14	Whether the evidence of mutual mistake is sufficient for reformation of the instrument is decided at trial, not at the motion to dismiss stage.	Whether the evidence of mutual mistake is sufficient is decided at trial, not at the motion to dismiss stage.	"Is whether the evidence of mutual mistake is sufficient for reformation of the instrument decided at trial, not at the motion to dismiss stage?"

8716	Murillo v. Page, 294 Ill. App. 3d 860, 864 (Ill. App. Ct. 1998)	3	All well-pleaded facts and inferences drawn therefrom are accepted as true when motion to dismiss on pleadings is allowed.	All well-pleaded facts and inferences drawn therefrom are accepted as true when a motion to dismiss on the pleadings is allowed.	Are all well-pleaded facts and inferences drawn therefrom accepted as true when a motion to dismiss on pleadings is allowed?
8717	Dakota Cheese, Inc. v. Taylor, 525 N.W.2d 713 716 (S.D. 1995)	5	Mere passage of time is not proper test to determine whether delay in prosecution warrants dismissal.	Third, the mere passage of time is not the proper test to determine whether the delay in prosecution warrants dismissal.	Is mere passage of time the proper test to determine whether delay in prosecution warrants dismissal?
8718	Dept. of Labor Indus. Serv. v. Hill, 118 Idaho 278, 284 (1990)	12	In considering motion to dismiss for lack of prosecution, judge should consider length of delay occasioned by failure to prosecute, justification, if any, for such delay, and resultant prejudice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	When asked to dismiss an action for lack of prosecution under Rule 41(b), a judge must consider "the length of delay occasioned by the failure to prosecute; the justification, if any, for such delay; and the resultant prejudice."	"Should court consider length of delay, justification, if any, for delay, and extent of any resultant prejudice in deciding whether to dismiss case for failure to prosecute?"
8719	Hidden Brook Air, Inc. v. Thabet Aviation International, 241 F. Supp. 2d 246, 260 (S.D.N.Y. 2002)	4	"Actual authority" exists when an agent has the power to do an act or to conduct a transaction on account of the principal which, with respect to the principal, he is privileged to do because of the principal's manifestation to him. Restatement (Second) of Agency S 7 comment.	Actual authority exists when an agent has the power "to do an act or to conduct a transaction on account of the principal which, with respect to the principal, he is privileged to do because of the principal's manifestation to him."	Does authority exist when an agent has the power to conduct a transaction on account of principals manifestation?
8721	United States v. Lemons, 67 F. Supp. 985, 988 (W.D. Mo. 1946)	4	Under Missouri law, a note which is forged by having defendant's name signed thereto by another, without his authority or subsequent ratification, is inoperative and void, whether the holder is an innocent or guilty purchaser. Mo.R.S.A. S 3039.	It is also the law of said state that where a note is forged by having defendant's name signed thereto by another, without his authority or subsequent ratification, it is wholly inoperative and void, whether the holder is an innocent or guilty purchaser.	Is a forged note void?
8725	London v. Adams, 1998 S.D. 41, ¶ 12 (S.D. 1998)	5	Mere passage of time is not the proper test to determine whether the delay in prosecution warrants dismissal. SDCL 15-6-41(b), 15-11-11.	Third, the mere passage of time is not the proper test to determine whether the delay in prosecution warrants dismissal.	Is mere passage of time the proper test to determine whether the delay in prosecution warrants dismissal?
8726	Bentonville Ice & Cold Storage Co. v. Anderson, 53 S.W.2d 993, 994 (Ark. 1932)	2 and 3	Agent is bound to make sales in accordance with express direction of owner. Agent is liable for damages resulting from failure to obey principal's direction in making sale, or failure to exercise proper care in absence of such direction.	Of course, an agent is bound to make sales in accordance with the express direction of the owner, Sledge & Norfleet Co. v. Mann, 166 Ark. 358, 266 S. W. 264, and is liable for any damage resulting from a failure to obey the direction of the owner or for failure to exercise proper care in the absence of such direction.	Is an agent bound to make sales in accordance with the express direction of the owner and is liable for any damage resulting from a failure to obey the direction of the owner?
8729	City of Tullahoma v. Bedford County, 938 S.W.2d 408, 412 (Tenn. 1997)	5	"Tax" is revenue raising measure levied for purpose of paying government's general debts and liabilities.	A tax is a revenue raising measure levied for the purpose of paying the government's general debts and liabilities.	Is a tax a revenue raising measure levied for the purpose of paying the government's general debts and liabilities?

8730	In re Heritage Org., L.L.C., 354 B.R. 407, 429 (N.D. Tex. 2006)	26	In determining whether a negotiable instrument is ambiguous under Texas law, court is to give terms their plain, ordinary, and generally accepted meaning unless the instrument shows that the parties used them in a different or technical sense.	In determining whether an instrument is ambiguous, the Court is to "give terms their plain, ordinary, and generally accepted meaning unless the instrument shows that the parties used them in a different or technical sense." Heritage Resources, Inc.	How do courts treat ambiguity in instruments?
8736	Lee v. Friedman, 637 N.E.2d 1318, 1321 (Ind. Ct. App. 1994)	10	Trial court need not impose sanction less severe than dismissal where record of dilatory conduct is clear.	Rather, the court need not impose a sanction less severe than dismissal where the record of dilatory conduct is clear.	Does the court need to impose sanction less severe than dismissal where record of dilatory conduct is clear?
8737	LaPrade v. Lehman, 490 A.2d 1151, 1155-56 (D.C. 1985)	8	In the exercise of its discretion to dismiss an action with prejudice, trial court should first resort to lesser, alternative sanctions which it may impose, including dismissal without prejudice, assessment of defendant's costs and reasonable fees against plaintiff, or a finding that plaintiff's lawyer is in contempt of court and imposition of a fine. Civil Rule 41(b).	In the exercise of its discretion under Rule 41(b), the trial court "should first resort to the wide range of lesser sanctions which it may impose." Garces v. Bradley, 299 A.2d 142, 144 (D.C.1973); see Taylor, 407 A.2d at 590. 4 Alternative sanctions *1156 include dismissal without prejudice, 5 an assessment of the defendant's costs and reasonable fees against the plaintiff, 6 or a finding that plaintiff's lawyer is in contempt of court and the imposition of a fine.	"Should the court first resort to lesser, alternative sanctions in the exercise of its discretion to dismiss an action with prejudice?"
8739	Shackleton v. Neil, 207 Mont. 96, 100 (1983)	2	"Failure to prosecute" means that a plaintiff has failed to exercise due diligence in bringing his case to a conclusion. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	Failure to prosecute is not a complicated concept. It simply means that a plaintiff has failed to exercise due diligence in bringing his case to a conclusion. Rule 41(b), M.R.Civ.P., establishes that a defendant can move for involuntary dismissal for this reason.	"Does ""failure to prosecute"" mean that a plaintiff has failed to exercise due diligence in bringing his case to a conclusion?"
8743	Brown v. Knowles, 307 P.3d 915, 924-25 (Alaska 2013)	19	If a plaintiff fails to assert a legal injury entitling the plaintiff to relief, the plaintiff has no legal claim and the suit must be dismissed.	In Alaska if a plaintiff fails to assert a legal injury entitling the plaintiff to relief, the plaintiff has no legal claim and the suit must *925 be dismissed.	"If a plaintiff fails to assert a legal injury entitling the plaintiff to relief, does the plaintiff have no legal claim and the suit must be dismissed?"
8744	Foy v. Hunter, 106 N.C. App. 614, 618 (1992)	2	Trial court may enter sanctions when plaintiff or his attorney violates rule of civil procedure or court order.	Furthermore, a trial court may enter sanctions when the plaintiff or his attorney violates a rule of civil procedure or a court order.	Can court enter sanctions when plaintiff or his attorney violates rule of civil procedure or court order?

8748	Haas v. Falmouth Financial LLC, 783 F. Supp. 2d 801, 806 (E.D. Va. 2011)	1	The purported exercise of the TILA rescission right does not automatically cause rescission to occur; rather, because the equitable goal of rescission under TILA is to restore the parties to the status quo ante, the borrower seeking rescission must be able to tender the borrowed funds back to the lender to obtain rescission. Truth in Lending Act, S 125(a), 15 U.S.C.A. S 1635(a).	Yet, the purported exercise of the TILA rescission right does not automatically cause rescission to occur because "[t]he equitable goal of rescission under TILA is to restore the parties to the 'status quo ante,' " the borrower seeking rescission must be able to tender the borrowed funds back to the lender to obtain rescission.	What is the equitable goal of rescission under TILA?
8751	Tucker v. Fayetteville State Univ., 238 N.C. App. 188, 767 S.E.2d 60, 62 (N.C. Ct. App. 2014)	4	Before a party may ask the courts for relief from state university decision: (1) the person must be aggrieved; (2) there must be a contested case; and (3) the administrative remedies provided by the university must be exhausted. West's N.C.G.S.A. S 150B-43.	"Therefore, before a party may ask the courts for relief from a University decision: (1) the person must be aggrieved; (2) there must be a contested case; and (3) the administrative remedies provided by the University must be exhausted."	Can a party ask the courts for relief from a university decision?
8752	Brekke v. THM Biomedical, Inc., 683 N.W.2d 771, 777 (Minn. 2004)	7	Equitable estoppel is a doctrine addressed to the discretion of the court and is intended to prevent a party from taking unconscionable advantage of his own wrong by asserting his strict legal rights.	Equitable estoppel is a "doctrine addressed to the discretion of the court and is intended to prevent a party from taking unconscionable advantage of his own wrong by asserting his strict legal rights."	Is equitable estoppel addressed to the discretion of the court?
8753	Barker v. Francis, 741 P.2d 548, 552 (Utah App.,1987)	10	Time is of the essence in land contracts only if it can be shown that parties so intended, and this can be demonstrated if contract explicitly states that time is of the essence or includes language that requires forfeiture of deposit or avoidance of contract if deadline is not met or circumstances surrounding transaction imply that parties intended timeliness of performance to be of paramount concern.	Time is of the essence in land contracts only if it can be shown that the parties so intended. This can be demonstrated in two ways. First, the contract can explicitly state that time is of the essence, See Century 21 All Western Real Estate v. Webb, 645 P.2d 52, 55 (Utah 1982), or it can include language that requires a forfeiture of the deposit or an avoidance of the contract if the deadline is not met. Cahoon v. Cahoon, 641 P.2d 140, 144 (Utah 1982); Huck v. Hayes, 560 P.2d 1124, 1126 (Utah 1977). Second, the circumstances surrounding the transaction can imply that "the parties intended timeliness of performance to be of paramount concern."	Is time the essence of land contracts?
8754	Robbins v. Delta Wire Rope, Inc., 196 So. 3d 700, 706 (La. Ct. App. 2016)	7	A dismissal with prejudice is generally contrary to the underlying rationale of a declinatory exception, since such an exception should not defeat the action. LSA-C.C.P. art. 923.	Hence, a dismissal with prejudice is generally contrary to the underlying rationale of a declinatory exception, since such an exception 8 should not defeat the action.	"Is a dismissal with prejudice generally contrary to the underlying rationale of a declinatory exception, since such an exception should not defeat the action?"

8755	Dakota Cheese, Inc. v. Taylor, 525 N.W.2d 713, 716 (S.D. 1995)	5	Mere passage of time is not proper test to determine whether delay in prosecution warrants dismissal.	Third, the mere passage of time is not the proper test to determine whether the delay in prosecution warrants dismissal.	Is a mere passage of time a proper test to determine whether delay in prosecution warrants dismissal?
8756	Hosey v. County of Victoria, 832 S.W.2d 701, 704 (Tex. App. 1992)	6	When court asserts its inherent power to dismiss a case, test to be applied in determining whether the case was properly dismissed is whether the case was prosecuted with due diligence, and factors to be considered are the length of time the case was on file, the extent of activity in the case, whether a trial setting was requested, and excuses for any delays. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a, subd. 2.	Finally, when the court asserts its inherent power to dismiss a case, the test to be applied in determining whether the case was properly dismissed is whether the case was prosecuted with due diligence. Factors to be considered are the length of time the case was on file, the extent of activity in the case, whether a trial setting was requested, and excuses for any delays.	What is the test to be applied by court in determining whether the case was properly dismissed?
8757	Reichert v. Union Fidelity Life Ins. Co., 360 N.W.2d 664, 667 (Minn. Ct. App. 1985)	8	Under extraordinary circumstances, dismissal of an action for lack of prosecution may be justified even though no prejudice to defendant is shown.	Under extraordinary circumstances, however, dismissal for lack of prosecution may be justified even though no prejudice to the defendant is shown.	Can dismissal of an action for lack of prosecution be justified even though no prejudice to defendant is shown?
8758	State v. Madore,, 96 Conn. App. 271, 279–80 (2006)	14	Courts have a necessary inherent power, independent of statutory authorization, to prescribe rules to regulate their proceedings and to facilitate the administration of justice as they deem necessary.	[C]ourts have a necessary inherent power, independent of statutory authorization, to prescribe rules to regulate their proceedings and to facilitate the administration of justice as they deem *280 necessary.	Does power to prescribe rules of procedure to facilitate administration of justice inhere in the court function?
8759	Wilson v. Edwards, 202 So. 3d 275, 279 (Miss. Ct. App. 2016)	2	The trial court's power to dismiss a frivolous complaint is distinct from a trial court's authority to dismiss such a complaint for failure to state a claim. Miss. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6).	However, "[t]he power to dismiss a frivolous complaint is distinct from a trial court's authority to dismiss for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6)." Id.	Is the power to dismiss a frivolous complaint distinct from a trial court's authority to dismiss such a complaint for failure to state a claim?
8760	Archangel Diamond Corp. v. Lukoil, 123 P.3d 1187, 1192 (Colo. 2005)	9	Similar to the court's role in addressing a motion for summary judgment, a court addressing a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction on documentary evidence alone acts as a data collector and not a factfinder; accordingly, the allegations in the complaint must be accepted as true to the extent they are not contradicted by the defendant's competent evidence, and where the parties' competent evidence presents conflicting facts, these discrepancies must be resolved in the plaintiff's favor. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12(b)(2).	Similar to the court's role in addressing a motion for summary judgment, a court addressing a 12(b)(2) motion on documentary evidence alone acts as a "data collector" and not a factfinder. Foster-Miller, 46 F.3d at 145; see Leidy's, 811 P.2d at 39. Accordingly, the allegations in the complaint must be accepted as true to the extent they are not contradicted by the defendant's competent evidence, and where the parties' competent evidence presents conflicting facts, these discrepancies must be resolved in the plaintiff's favor.	"Does ""documentary evidence"" consist of the allegations in the complaint along with any affidavits and any other evidence submitted by the parties?"

8761	Butler v. Standard Life Ins. Co. of the South, 232 Ala. 238, 167 So. 307, 240 (Ala. 1936)	2	Principal selecting agent must bear responsibilities and suffer loss for misconduct or failure of agent to adequately represent him within terms of agency.	It is declared that a principal who selects and duly appoints an agent to act for him must bear the responsibilities and suffer loss for the misconduct or failure of such agent to adequately represent the principal within the terms of that agency.	Does the principal bear the responsibilities and suffer loss for the misconduct of an agent he appoints?
8763	John Doe v. Salisbury Univ., 107 F. Supp. 3d 481, 325 Ed. Law Rep. 199, 492 (D. Md. 2015)	18	Schools hold an implied power to control school records and to revoke credentials conferred upon students, e.g., degrees, credits, etc., where such actions are in response to a former student's conduct that occurred during the student's enrollment, and as long as the school acts with good cause and after due process, a former student's withdrawal or graduation from school does not end or obviate the relationship, nor does it permanently vest a former student's status with the school. U.S.C.A.Const.Amend. 14.	Schools hold an implied power to control school records and to revoke credentials conferred upon students (e.g., degrees, credits, etc.), where such actions are in response to a former student's conduct that occurred during the student's enrollment, and as long as the school acts with good cause and after due process. A former student's withdrawal or graduation from school does not end or obviate the relationship, nor does it permanently vest a former student's status with the school.	Do schools hold inherent authority to revoke degrees base on academic or disciplinary infractions as long as it could show good cause and due process?
8764	B F Slosman v. Sonopress, Inc., 148 N.C. App. 81, 557 S.E.2d 176, 88 (N.C. Ct. App. 2001)	10	The essential purpose of quasi-estoppel is to prevent a party from benefitting by taking two clearly inconsistent positions.	Such a construction as plaintiff contends would conflict with the essential purpose of quasi-estoppel, which is to prevent a party from benefitting by taking two clearly inconsistent positions.	Is the essential purpose of quasi-estoppel to prevent a party from benefitting by taking two clearly inconsistent positions?
8765	Couchman v. Cardona, 471 S.W.3d 20, 25 (Tex. App. 2015)	10	A motion to dismiss with prejudice is a sanction meant to deter meritless claims and bring them quickly to an end.	A motion to dismiss with prejudice under this chapter is a sanction meant "to deter meritless claims and bring them quickly to an end.	Is a motion to dismiss with prejudice a sanction meant to deter meritless claims and bring them quickly to an end?
8766	Palm v. 2800 Lake Shore Drive Condo. Ass'n, 2014 IL App (1st) 111290, ¶ 42 (2014)	9	A dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits which bars the plaintiff from maintaining another action on the same claim.	Conversely, 'a dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits which bars the plaintiff from maintaining another action on the same claim.	Does a dismissal with prejudice constitute an adjudication on the merits which bars the plaintiff from maintaining another action on the same claim?
8767	Rogaris v. Oliver, 246 Ill. App. 3d 876, 881 (Ill. App. Ct. 1993)	2	"Dismissal with prejudice" constitutes adjudication on merits which bars plaintiff from maintaining another action on same claim.	Yet, a dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits which bars the plaintiff from maintaining another action on the same claim.	Does a dismissal with prejudice constitute an adjudication on the merits which bars the plaintiff from maintaining another action on the same claim?
8768	Pulte v. Parex, 174 Md. App. 681, 727 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2007)	24	A trial court has discretion to dismiss a claim with prejudice if it fails to state a claim that could afford relief. Md.Rule 2-322(b)(2).	A trial court has discretion to dismiss a claim with prejudice if it fails to state a claim that could afford relief. See Md. Rule 2-322(b)(2).	Does a trial court have discretion to dismiss a claim with prejudice if it fails to state a claim that could afford relief?

8769	Chavers v. Fleet Bank, 844 A.2d 666, 678-679 (R.I. 2004)	9	Lack of subject matter jurisdiction over a particular claim is not appropriate grounds for granting summary judgment; rather, the court's lack of subject matter jurisdiction, at most, should result in a dismissal on the action without prejudice.	Lack of subject matter jurisdiction over a particular claim is not appropriate grounds for granting summary judgment. Rather, the court's lack of subject matter jurisdiction "at most, should result in a dismissal on the action without prejudice."	Is lack of subject matter jurisdiction over a particular claim not appropriate grounds for granting summary judgment?
8770	Memphis Retail Liquor Dealers' Ass'n, Inc., 547 S.W.2d 244, 245-46 (Tenn. 1977)	1	If an imposition is primarily for the purpose of raising revenue, it is a "tax"; if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority, it is a "fee."	If the imposition *246 is primarily for the purpose of raising revenue, it is a tax; if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority, it is a fee.	"s an imposition a tax, if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority?"
8771	Bullis v. State, 83 Nev. 175, 426 P.2d 423, 176 (Nev. 1967)	2	Primary concern in burglary indictment is with the unlawful entry, and intended felony or theft need not be described with same specificity that might be required in charging offense of larceny or another felony. N.R.S. 205.060, 205.220, 205.240.	Since the primary concern in a burglary indictment is with the unlawful entry, the intended felony or theft need not therein be described with the same specificity that might be required in charging the offense of larceny or another felony.	What is the primary concern in an indictment for burglary?
8772	People v. Escalante, 256 Ill. App. 3d 239, 244 (1994)	10	Defendant may be convicted of burglary if evidence shows that he knowingly and without authority entered motor vehicle with intent to steal which may be proven by circumstantial evidence and inferences that may be drawn from that evidence.	"[A] defendant may be convicted of burglary when the evidence shows that he knowingly and without authority enters a motor vehicle with the intent to steal * * *, and this may be proven by circumstantial evidence and the inferences that may be drawn from that evidence."	Can circumstantial evidence establish lack of authority to enter?
8773	State v. Eastlack, 180 Ariz. 243, 257 (1994)	21	Weapon or dangerous instrument obtained by burglar during course of burglary and held as loot or stolen goods does not by itself render burglar "armed" within meaning of first-degree burglary statute. A.R.S. S 13-1508.	He correctly notes the principle that " 'a weapon or dangerous instrument obtained by a burglar during the course of a burglary and held as loot or stolen goods [does] not by itself 'arm' the burglar within the meaning of the Arizona first-degree statute.' "	Does obtaining a weapon as loot during a burglary arm a burglar?
8774	Spokane v. Spokane Police Guild, 87 Wash. 2d 457, 461-62 (Wash. 1976)	2	If primary purpose of legislation is regulation rather than raising revenue, such legislation cannot be classified as a tax even if a burden or charge is imposed.	In addition, if the primary purpose of legislation is regulation rather than raising revenue, the legislation cannot be classified as a tax even if a burden or charge is imposed.	"Where the primary purpose of legislation is regulation rather than raising revenue, can the legislation be classified as a tax?"
8776	USLIFE Corp. v. U.S. Life Ins. Co., 560 F. Supp. 1302, 1304 (N.D. Tex. 1983)	3	Equitable estoppel focuses on relationship between parties to prior litigation, and applies where one of parties has detrimentally relied upon position taken by other party in earlier proceeding.	Equitable estoppel focuses on the relationship between the parties to the prior litigation, and it applies where one of the parties has detrimentally relied upon the position taken by the other party in the earlier proceeding.	Does equitable estoppel focus on the relationship between parties to the prior litigation?

8777	Tusino v. Zoning Bd. of Appeals of Douglas, 90 Mass. App. Ct. 89, 56 N.E.3d 863, 865-66 (Mass. App. Ct. 2016)	2	A dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is ordinarily without prejudice because it is typically not an adjudication on the merits.	A dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, such as we have here, is ordinarily without prejudice because it is 866 "typically not an adjudication on the merits.	Is a dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction ordinarily without prejudice because it is typically not an adjudication on the merits?
8778	Tex. Tech v. Lucero, 234 S.W.3d 158, 168 (Tex. App. 2007)	15	When a lawsuit is barred by sovereign immunity, the trial court lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, and dismissal with prejudice is proper.	When a lawsuit is barred by sovereign immunity, the trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction and dismissal with prejudice is proper.	"When a claim is barred by sovereign immunity, does the trial court lack subject-matter jurisdiction and dismissal with prejudice is proper?"
8779	Crooked Creek, III, Inc. v. City of Greenwood, 352 Ark. 465, 470-71 (Ark. 2003)	9	Words "with prejudice," when used in an order of dismissal, have a definite and well known meaning; they indicate that the controversy is thereby concluded.	The words "with prejudice," when used in an order of dismissal, "have a definite and well known meaning; they indicate *471 that the controversy is thereby concluded."	"Do the words ""with prejudice,"" when used in an order of dismissal indicate that the controversy is thereby concluded?"
8780	Pitruzello v. Muro, 70 Conn. App. 309, 312 (2002)	2	A ruling on a motion to dismiss is neither a ruling on the merits of the action nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action. Practice Book 1998, S 10-30.	"A ruling on a motion to dismiss is neither a ruling on the merits of the action ... nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action.	Is a ruling on a motion to dismiss neither a ruling on the merits of the action nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action?
8782	Hunt v. Dallmeyer, 517 S.W.2d 720, 723 (Mo. Ct. App. 1974)	2	Action itself is dismissed only when court sustains motion to dismiss petition without stating anything in order that action is to continue.	An action itself is dismissed only when a court sustains a motion to dismiss a petition without stating anything in the order that the action is to continue.	Is an action itself dismissed only when court sustains motion to dismiss petition without stating anything in order that action is to continue?
8783	Mongeon v. Burkebile, 79 N.D. 234, 243 (N.D. 1952)	9	Dismissal of action or proceeding with prejudice commonly implies not only termination of particular action or proceeding then before court but also right of action upon which it is based.	The dismissal of an action or proceeding 'with prejudice' commonly implies not only the termination of the particular action or proceeding then before the court but also the right of action upon which it is based.	Does a dismissal of action or proceeding with prejudice commonly imply termination of a particular action or proceeding then before court?
8784	Brock v. Harris, 34 Ala. App. 593, 42 So. 2d 39, 595 (Ala. Crim. App. 1949)	1	The statute providing that two non-suits are equivalent to verdict against party suffering them is in derogation of the common law, and is to be strictly construed. Code 1940, Tit. 7, S 254.	Our statute as to two nonsuits being equivalent to a verdict against the party suffering them is therefore in derogation of the common law and to be strictly construed.	Is the statute providing that two non-suits are equivalent to verdict against party suffering them in derogation of the common law?
8785	Hickman v. Ritchey Coal Co., 252 Ill. App. 560, 563 (Ill. App. Ct. 1929)	8	Upon dismissal of suit, parties are out of court and no further proceedings are authorized until judgment of dismissal is vacated and cause reinstated.	Upon the dismissal of a suit the parties are out of court, and no further proceedings are authorized until the judgment of dismissal is vacated and the cause reinstated.	"Upon dismissal of suit, are parties out of court and are no further proceedings authorized until judgment of dismissal is vacated and cause reinstated?"
8786	Cornelius v. Morrill, 302 S.W.3d 176, 179 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	2	A pleader may literally plead himself out of court, and when facts constituting a defense appear affirmatively on the face of the petition, the defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without the necessity of a specific motion or answer.	However, "a pleader may literally plead himself out of court, and when facts constituting a defense appear affirmatively on the face of the petition, the defense may be interposed by motion to dismiss without the necessity of a specific motion or answer.	Can a pleader plead himself out of court?

8788	Natixis Real Est. Cap. Tr. 2007-HE2 v. Natixis Real Est. Holdings, LLC, 149 A.D.3d 127, 135, 50 N.Y.S.3d 13, 19 (2017)	9	A motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action lies if the pleading is defective on its face. McKinney's CPLR 3211(a)(7).	Pursuant to CPLR 3211(a)(7), a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action lies if the pleading is defective on its face.	Does a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action lie if the pleading is defective on its face?
8790	McLeod v. Marion Laboratories, Inc., 600 S.W.2d 656, 657 (Mo. Ct. App. 1980)	2	For affirmative defense to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss, defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiff's pleading. V.A.M.R. Civil Rule 55.27(a)(1).	For an affirmative defense to be sustained upon a bare motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by the plaintiff's pleading.	Should defenses be established by pleadings for affirmative defense to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss?
8791	Gagliano v. Advanced Specialty Care, P.C., 167 Conn. App. 826, 838 (2016)	15	Labels used by the parties in referring to their relationship are not determinative as to agency; rather, a court must look to the operative terms of their agreement or understanding.	Finally, the labels used by the parties in referring to their relationship are not determinative; rather, a court must look to the operative terms of their agreement or understanding."	Are the labels used by the parties in referring to their agency relationship determinative?
8793	Mobil Oil Corp. v. Linear Films, Inc., 718 F. Supp. 260, 271 (D. Del. 1989)	14	Pure agency relationship may develop between two corporations whether the two are parent and subsidiary or completely unrelated outside of limited agency setting since complete or general domination and control of agent by principal is not required.	The pure agency relationship may develop whether the two separate corporations are parent and subsidiary or are completely unrelated outside of the limited agency setting. Phoenix Canada Oil v. Texaco, 842 F.2d at 1477-78. Complete or general domination and control of the agent by the principal is not required.	Can agency relationship develop if the two separate corporations are parent and subsidiary?
8795	White v. Revco Disc. Drug Centers, Inc., 33 S.W.3d 713, 723 (Tenn. 2000)	9	An agency relationship does not require an explicit agreement, contract, or understanding between the parties, and when the facts establish the existence of an agency relationship, it will be found to exist whether the parties intended to create one or not.	An agency relationship does not require an explicit agreement, contract, or understanding between the parties, Warren v. Estate of Kirk, 954 S.W.2d 722, 725 (Tenn.1997), and when "the facts establish the existence of an agency relationship, it will be found to exist whether the parties intended to create one or not." Harben v. Hutton, 739 S.W.2d 602, 606 (Tenn.Ct.App.1987); see also Smith v. Tennessee Coach Co., 183 Tenn. 676, 680-81, 194 S.W.2d 867, 869 (1946).	Does an agency relationship require an explicit agreement or contract?

8796	Bd. of Overseers of The B. v. Lee, 422 A.2d 998, 1004 (Me. 1980)	16	Taxes are primarily intended to raise revenue while license fees are part of a regulatory program and are intended to cover costs of administering such a program under police power of government; test for distinguishing between taxes and license fees relates to the purpose of the assessment and not its effect.	The common distinction between taxes and license fees is that taxes are primarily intended to raise revenue while license fees are part of a regulatory program and are intended to cover costs of administering such a program under the police power of government. City of Philadelphia v. Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority, 8 Pa.Cmwlth. 280, 287, 303 A.2d 247, 251 (1973). The test is the purpose of the assessment and not its effect.	"If a fee is part of a regulatory program, is such fee taxes or license fees?"
8797	Philadelphia v. Septa, 8 Pa. Commw. 280, 303 A.2d 247, 287 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 1973)	1	Common distinction between taxes and license fees is that "taxes" are revenue-producing measures authorized under taxing power of government; while "license fees" are regulatory measures intended to cover costs of administering regulatory scheme authorized under police power of government.	The common distinction is that taxes are revenue-producing measures authorized under the taxing power of government; while license fees are regulatory measures intended to cover the cost of administering a regulatory scheme authorized under the police power of government.	What is the common distinction between taxes and license fees?
8798	State v. Phelps, 266 Kan. 185, 185 (1998)	8	Proper test to determine the reaction of an alleged victim in an intimidation or aggravated intimidation charge is objective, not subjective, i.e., that of a reasonable person; there are exceptions to this rule, such as where the perpetrator has knowledge of a particular vulnerability of the victim and then acts with full knowledge of the victim's vulnerability.	The proper test to determine the reaction of an alleged victim in an intimidation or aggravated intimidation charge is objective, not subjective, i.e., that of a reasonable person. There are exceptions to this rule, such as where the perpetrator has knowledge of a particular vulnerability of the victim and then acts with full knowledge of the victim's vulnerability.	What is the proper test to determine the reaction of an alleged victim in an intimidation charge?
8800	Caldwell v. Caldwell, 55 So. 2d 258, 263 (La. Ct. App. 1951)	3	"Employment" within workmen's compensation law, means an engagement or contract to perform or render some sort of service to one to whom such service is due and injuries sustained by person thus bound, and not of a character otherwise that warrants their exclusion from purview of compensation act, are compensable. LSA-R.S. 23:1021 et seq.	The Workmen's Compensation Law, LSA-RS 23:1021 et seq., applies only to persons 'performing services arising out of and incidental to his employment', etc. Employment means, of course, an engagement or contract to perform or render some sort of service to the one to whom such service is due. Injuries sustained by the person thus bound, and not of a character otherwise that warrants their exclusion from the purview of the Act, are compensable.	"In workmens compensation, does employment mean an engagement or contract to perform or render some sort of service to one to whom such service is due?"

8803	Heiden v. Beuttler, 11 F. Supp. 290, 291 (N.D. Iowa 1935)	3	Generally, liquidating surviving partner of firm dissolved by death of one partner cannot make a note in name of firm binding copartnership for pre-existing debt, but giving of new note for pre-existing indebtedness of partnership by surviving member does not cancel original indebtedness, unless it was intention of parties to do so.	A partnership is dissolved by the death of one of its partners, and, as a general rule, a liquidating surviving partner of a firm dissolved by the death of one of its partners cannot make a note in the name of the firm binding the copartnership for a pre-existing debt. However, the giving of a new note for a pre-existing indebtedness of a partnership by the surviving member of a firm does not cancel the original indebtedness, unless it was the intention of the parties to do so.	Does a surviving partner have power to make a note in the name of the firm?
8804	Ankeny v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., 88 Cal. App. 3d 531, 537, 151 Cal. Rptr. 828, 832 (Ct. App. 1979)	6	In pleading, the essential facts upon which a determination of the controversy depends should be stated with clearness and precision so that nothing is left to surmise; recitals, references to, or allegations of material facts which are left to surmise are subject to special demurrer for uncertainty.	Also, in pleading, the essential facts upon which a determination of the controversy depends should be stated with clearness and precision so that nothing is left to surmise. (Philbrook v. Randall (1924) 195 Cal. 95, 103, 231 P. 739.) Those recitals, references to, or allegations of material facts which are left to surmise are subject to special demurrer for uncertainty. (Bernstein v. Piller (1950) 98 Cal.App.2d 441, 443-444, 220 P.2d 558.)	Should the essential facts upon which a determination of the controversy depends be stated with clearness and precision?
8805	City of Clearwater v. U.S. Steel Corp., 469 So. 2d 915, 916 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1985)	1	Res judicata is an affirmative defense and affirmative defenses cannot be raised in a motion to dismiss unless the allegations of a prior pleading in the case demonstrate their existence.	The city is correct in arguing that the issue of res judicata is an affirmative defense, and affirmative defenses cannot be raised in a motion to dismiss unless the allegations of a prior pleading in the case demonstrate their existence.	Can affirmative defenses be raised in motion to dismiss if allegations of complaint demonstrate their existence?
8806	McLeod v. Marion Laboratories, Inc., 600 S.W.2d 656, 657 (Mo. Ct. App. 1980)	2	For affirmative defense to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss, defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiff's pleading. V.A.M.R. Civil Rule 55.27(a)(1).	For an affirmative defense to be sustained upon a bare motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by the plaintiff's pleading.	Should affirmative defense be established by plaintiff's pleading to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss?
8807	Anthony v. Tidwell, 560 S.W.2d 908, 909 (Tenn. 1977)	1	Complaint is subject to dismissal for failure to state claim if affirmative defense clearly and unequivocally appears on face of complaint; it is not necessary for defendant to submit evidence in support of motion to dismiss when facts on which he relies to defeat plaintiff's claim are admitted by plaintiff in his complaint. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 12.02(6).	A complaint is subject to dismissal under rule 12.02(6) for failure to state a claim if an affirmative defense clearly and unequivocally appears on the face of the complaint. It is not necessary for the defendant to submit evidence in support of his motion when the facts on which he relies to defeat plaintiff's claim are admitted by the plaintiff in his complaint.	Will a complaint be dismissed if affirmative defense clearly and unequivocally appears on face of complaint?

8808	Kenley v. Quintana Petroleum, 931 S.W.2d 318, 321 (Tex. App. 1996)	7	Party requesting reinstatement following dismissal for want of prosecution has burden to bring forth record establishing that reinstatement was required; affidavit or other competent evidence is required to affirmatively show that no notice was received. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a.	The party requesting reinstatement has the burden to bring forth a record establishing that reinstatement was required. Bard, 767 S.W.2d at 845. An affidavit or other competent evidence is required to affirmatively show that no notice was received.	Does a party requesting reinstatement following dismissal for want of prosecution have a burden to bring forth a record establishing that reinstatement was required?
8812	ATM Ltd. v. Caporicci Footwear Ltd., 867 So. 2d 413, 413-14 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2003)	3	After the final dismissal of a claim or complaint, either with or without prejudice, the trial court is without further case jurisdiction and cannot render a judgment of any kind in the case.	It is true that, after the final dismissal of a claim or complaint, either with or without prejudice, the trial court is without further "case jurisdiction" and cannot render a judgment of any kind in the case.	Can a trial court render a judgment after the final dismissal of a claim or complaint?
8813	Crow v. Giebelhaus, 241 Neb. 4, 486 N.W.2d 207, 4 (Neb. 1992)	1	Court's dismissal of action after demurrer has been sustained to petition and plaintiff declines to replead is final order.	A court's dismissal of an action after a demurrer has been sustained to a petition and a plaintiff declines to replead is a final order.	"Is a court's dismissal of action after demurrer has been sustained to petition and plaintiff declined to replead, a final order?"
8814	Elder v. Robins, 7 Ill. App. 3d 657, 288 N.E.2d 506, 661 (Ill. App. Ct. 1972)	6	Dismissal with prejudice has same effect as if case had been completely tried on its merits resulting in judgment adverse to plaintiff.	The general rule is as stated by respondent that a dismissal with prejudice has the same effect as if the case had been completely tried on its merits resulting in judgment adverse to plaintiff.	Does a dismissal with prejudice have the same effect as if a case had been completely tried on its merits resulting in judgment adverse to a plaintiff?
8815	Bank of Am., N.A. v. 414 Midland Ave. Assocs., LLC, 78 A.D.3d 746, 750, 911 N.Y.S.2d 157, 161 (2010)	8	Affirmative defense which merely pleads conclusions of law without any supporting facts should be dismissed. McKinney's CPLR 3211(b).	However, where affirmative defenses "merely plead conclusions of law without any supporting facts," the affirmative defenses should be dismissed pursuant to CPLR 3211(b) (Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. v. Farrell, 57 A.D.3d 721, 723, 869 N.Y.S.2d 597).	Should affirmative defense which merely pleads conclusions of law without any supporting facts be dismissed?
8816	Fuller Family Holdings v. Northern Trust, 371 Ill. App. 3d 605, 613 (2007)	3	In reviewing the grant of a motion to dismiss based on defects or defenses which avoid or defeat claims, the Appellate Court accepts as true the well-pled allegations of the plaintiff's complaint and the evidentiary facts in a defendant's supporting affidavit which have not been refuted in a counteraffidavit of the plaintiff. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	In reviewing the grant of a motion to dismiss under section 2-619, this court accepts as true the well-pled allegations of the plaintiff's complaint and the evidentiary facts in a defendant's supporting affidavit which have not been refuted in a counteraffidavit of the plaintiff.	When will a court accept well pleaded allegations as true?

8819	Simpson v. Co. Nationale Air France, 42 Ill. 2d 496, 498 (1969)	1	A "broker", as distinguished from an agent, sustains no fixed and permanent employment by or in relation to any principal, but holds himself out for employment by public generally, his employment being that of special agent for single object, whereas "agent" sustains fixed and permanent relation to his principal and owes permanent and continued allegiance.	The court there said: 'A broker is distinguished from an agent in that a broker sustains no fixed and permanent employment by, or relation to, any principal, but holds himself out for employment by the public generally, his employment in each instance being that of special agent for a single object, (citation) whereas an agent sustains a fixed and permanent relation to the principal he represents and owes a permanent and continued allegiance.'	How is a broker distinguished from an agent?
8821	In re Ifs Financial Corp., 417 B.R. 419, 444 (S.D. Tex. 2009)	34	Under Texas Law, "agency" is a legal relationship created by the express or implied agreement between the parties, or by operation of law, under which the agent is authorized to act for and on behalf of the principal, and subject to the principal's control.	"Under Texas Law, agency is a legal relationship created by the express or implied agreement between the parties, or by operation of law, under which the agent is authorized to act for and on behalf of the principal, and subject to the principal's control."	Is an agent subject to the principal's control?
8822	Johnson v. Owens, 629 S.W.2d 873, 875 (Tex. App. 1982)	2	An essential element of proof of agency is that alleged principal has both right to assign agent's task and to control means and details of process by which agent will accomplish the task.	An essential element of proof of agency is that the alleged principal has both the right to assign the agent's task and to control the means and details of the process by which the agent will accomplish the task.	Is the right to assign the agents task an essential element of agency?
8824	Majlinger v. Cassino Contracting Corp., 25 A.D.3d 14, 20, 802 N.Y.S.2d 56, 61 (2005), aff'd sub nom. Balbuena v. IDR Realty LLC, 6 N.Y.3d 338, 845 N.E.2d 1246 (2006)	1	When Congress enacts a statute touching the rights, privileges, obligations or burdens of aliens as such, the statute is the supreme law of the land.	When Congress enacts a statute "touching the rights, privileges, obligations or burdens of aliens as such ... the statute is the supreme law of the land" (Hines v. Davidowitz, 312 U.S. 52, 63, 61 S.Ct. 399, 85 L.Ed. 581; see U.S. Const., art. I, § 8[4]; Nyquist v. Mauclet, 432 U.S. 1, 10, 97 S.Ct. 2120, 53 L.Ed.2d 63 ["Control over immigration and naturalization is entrusted exclusively to the Federal Government, and a State has no power to interfere"]).	Does a statute enacted by Congress touching on the rights & privileges of aliens becomes the supreme law of the land?
8825	Arizona v. United States, 567 U.S. 387, 402 (2012)	8	Even if State may make violation of federal law a crime in some instances, it cannot do so in field, like field of alien registration, that has been occupied by federal law. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 6, cl. 2.	Even if a State may make violation of federal law a crime in some instances, it cannot do so in a field (like the field of alien registration) that has been occupied by federal law.	Can a state make a violation of federal law a crime in a field that has been occupied by federal law?

8827	Metzger v. Breeze Corporations, 37 F. Supp. 693, 695 (D.N.J. 1941)	2	The Federal rules are based on the theory of a rather general form of pleading and enjoin simplicity, conciseness and directness, while eschewing technical forms. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc., rule 8(e)(1,2), (f), 28 U.S.C.A.	However, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for District Courts are based on the theory of a rather general form of pleading 13, they enjoin simplicity, conciseness and directness and technical forms are eschewed.	Are the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure based on the theory of a rather general form of pleading?
8828	Dorin v. Occidental Life Ins. Co., 132 Ill. App. 2d 387, 270 N.E.2d 515, 390 (Ill. App. Ct. 1971)	1	Defenses which are in their nature factual rather than legal do not constitute grounds for a motion to dismiss, but must be set forth in an answer to plaintiff's pleading.	Defenses which are in their nature factual rather than legal do not constitute grounds for a motion to dismiss, but must be set forth in an answer to the plaintiff's pleading.	Can defenses which are factual set forth in an answer to plaintiff's pleading?
8830	Stephens v. Messick, 2002 PA Super 117, ¶ 8 (2002)	2	Initial entry of a judgment of non pros and a subsequent request for relief from a judgment of non pros are governed by different standards.	It is significant that the initial entry of a judgment of non pros and a subsequent request for relief from a judgment of non pros are governed by different standards.	Are an initial entry of a judgment of non pros and a subsequent request for relief from a judgment of non pros governed by different standards?
8831	Olson v. Accessory Controls Equipment Corp., 54 Conn. App. 506, 515 (Conn. App. Ct. 1999)	5	Ruling on motion to dismiss is neither a ruling on the merits of the action, nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action.	"A ruling on a motion to dismiss is neither a ruling on the merits of the action ... nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action.... Motions to dismiss are granted solely on jurisdictional grounds	"Is a ruling on a motion to dismiss neither a ruling on the merits of the action, nor a test of whether the complaint states a cause of action?"
8832	Housing v. Pinnacle Monterey LLC, 116 F. Supp. 3d 1010, 1034 (N.D. Cal. 2015)	10	Under California law, the statutory power of a principal to revoke an agency is independent and distinguishable from a contractual right to terminate that relationship. Cal. Civ. Code S 2356.	Of course, the parties are well aware that the statutory power of a principal to revoke an agency is "independent and distinguishable from a contractual right" to terminate that relationship.	Is the statutory power of a principal to revoke an agency is independent and distinguishable from a contractual right to terminate the relationship?
8833	Menard Inc. v. Dep't of Treasury. Sears Roebuck & Co., 302 Mich. App. 467, 480 (2013)	29	Pursuant to the General Sales Tax Act (GSTA), business persons engaged in making sales at retail must pay an annual tax for the privilege of engaging in business in this state. M.C.L.A. S 205.52(1).	Pursuant to MCL 205.52(1) of the GSTA, business persons engaged in making sales at retail must pay an annual tax for the privilege of engaging in business in this state.	Is the sales tax imposed on the retailer for the privilege of engaging in the business of making retail sales?
8834	In re Lee's Est., 17 Misc. 2d 575, 576, 187 N.Y.S.2d 469, 470 (Sur. 1959), decree aff'd sub nom. Matter of Lee's Est., 13 A.D.2d 724, 217 N.Y.S.2d 484 (1961)	1	The unexplained delivery of a check by one person to another does not raise any inference that it was given as a loan but the presumption is that it was given in discharge of an obligation rather than in creation of a new one.	The rule is well settled that the unexplained delivery of a check by one person to another does not raise any inference that it was given as a loan. On the contrary, the presumption is that it was given in discharge of an obligation rather than in the creation of a new one (Nay v. Curley, 113 N.Y. 575, 577, 21 N.E. 698, 699; Koehler v. Adler, 78 N.Y. 287, 291; Poucher v. Scott, 33 Hun 223, 228, Poucher v. Scott, 33 Hun 223, 228, affirmed 98 N.Y. 422, 424; Matter of Bakri's Estate, Sur., 109 N.Y.S.2d 654).	Does unexplained delivery of a check raise a presumption that it was given in payment of a debt?

8835	U.S. v. Denogean, 79 F.3d 1010, 1013 (10th Cir. 1996)	3	Defendant's failure to judicially contest civil forfeiture action is fatal to double jeopardy challenge to subsequent criminal proceeding. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	a defendant's failure to judicially contest a civil forfeiture action is fatal to her double jeopardy challenge to a subsequent criminal proceeding.	Is a defendant's failure to contest civil forfeiture action fatal to a double jeopardy challenge?
8836	State v. Storer, 368 S.W.3d 293, 295 (Mo. Ct. App. 2012)	3	Dismissal filed after a jury has been impaneled and sworn is with prejudice, pursuant to statute, unless the defendant has consented to having the case dismissed without prejudice. V.A.M.S. S 56.087(2, 4).	Applying that definition yields the clear result that a dismissal filed after the jury has been impaneled and sworn is with prejudice unless the "defendant has consented to having the case dismissed without prejudice." See sections 56.087.2 and 56.087.4.	"Is a dismissal filed after a jury has been impaneled and sworn is with prejudice, unless the defendant has consented to having the case dismissed without prejudice?"
8837	In re Marcus B., 95 A.D.3d 15, 18, 942 N.Y.S.2d 38, 41 (2012)	2	Double Jeopardy Clause limits instances in which mistrial can be declared without criminal defendant's consent. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; McKinney's Const. Art. 1, § 6.	The Double Jeopardy Clause limits the instances in which a mistrial can be declared without a criminal defendant's consent because the defendant possesses a "valued right to have his trial completed by a particular tribunal." Hall v. Potoker, 49 N.Y.2d 501, 505, 427 N.Y.S.2d 211, 214, 403 N.E.2d 1210, 1212 (1980) (internal quotation marks omitted).	Does the Double Jeopardy Clause limit instances in which a mistrial can be declared without a criminal defendant's consent?
8838	Peasley v. White, 129 Me. 450, 452 (Me. 1930)	1	Automobile driver encountering fog is not bound as matter of law to stop and wait for fog to lift to escape charge of negligence.	The driver of an automobile, encountering a fog, is not bound as a matter of law to stop and wait for the fog to lift in order to escape the charge of negligence.	Is the driver of an automobile required to stop and wait for fog to lift in order to escape the charge of negligence?
8840	Roberts v. Mississippi State Highway Commission, 309 So. 2d 156, 159 (Miss. 1975)	3	Regulation of vehicle and load weights is long-recognized and long-used method of maintaining and preserving state's highways. Code 1972, S 65-1-47.	The regulation of vehicle and load weights is a long-recognized and long-used method of maintaining and preserving the state highways.	Is the regulation of vehicle and load weights a long-recognized and long-used method of maintaining and preserving the state highways?
8842	McErlean v. Union Nat'l Bk. of Chicago, 90 Ill. App. 3d 1141, 1149 (Ill. App. Ct. 1980)	15	Leave to amend is properly denied where it is apparent that plaintiff will be unable to plead viable cause of action.	22, 404 N.E.2d 406.) Further, leave to amend is properly denied where, as here, it is apparent that plaintiff will be unable to plead a viable cause of action.	Is leave to amend properly denied where it is apparent that a plaintiff will be unable to plead a viable cause of action?
8843	Inserra v. Porto, 33 A.D.2d 1092, 1092, 308 N.Y.S.2d 255, 256 (1970)	1	To prevail on motion to vacate default, movant must present facts showing a justifiable excuse for default as well as a meritorious defense.	It has long been the rule that to permit a defaulting party to prevail upon a motion to vacate, he must present facts showing a justifiable excuse for the default as well as a meritorious defense (Hurley v. Reoux, 29 A.D.2d 789, 287 N.Y.S.2d 163; Community Nat. Bank v. Mon-Ami Corp., 23 A.D.2d 511, 255 N.Y.S.2d 116).	"On a motion by a defaulting party to vacate order of dismissal, should he show a justifiable excuse for the default and present evidentiary facts establishing that he has a meritorious cause of action?"

8844	Mississippi Rice Gr. Ass'n, 191 So. 2d 399, 405 (Miss. 1966)	6	Trial court can reinstate any case during that term of court, or change any order entered at that term of court, for any reason satisfactory to court without notice to adverse party.	We are of the opinion that a trial court can reinstate any case during that term of court, or change any order entered at that term of court, for any reason satisfactory to the court without notice to the adverse party.	Can a court reinstate a case without notice to adverse party during its term in which it was dismissed?
8846	Pontiac Lodge No. 294 v. Dep't of Revenue, 243 Ill. App. 3d 186, 189 (1993)	4	Circuit court has reasonable discretion in determining whether to reinstate complaint after it has been dismissed for want of prosecution.	Even when the pleading involved is a criminal complaint, the circuit court has reasonable discretion in determining whether to reinstate such a complaint after it has been dismissed for want of prosecution.	Does a circuit court have reasonable discretion in determining whether to reinstate a complaint after it has been dismissed for want of prosecution?
8847	Bristol Co. v. Osman, 190 P.3d 752, 759 (Colo. App. 2008)	19	A trial court should allow amendment of a complaint when it will cure a deficiency that otherwise would justify dismissal.	However, the trial court should allow amendment of the complaint when it will cure a deficiency that otherwise would justify dismissal.	Should a trial court allow amendment of a complaint when it will cure a deficiency that otherwise would justify dismissal?
8849	In re Cty. Collector of Lake Cty., 343 Ill. App. 3d 363, 363 (2003)	8	Generally, the trial court should give a plaintiff at least one opportunity to cure the defects in his or her complaint before dismissing complaint.	Generally, the trial court should give a plaintiff at least one opportunity to cure the defects in his or her complaint.	Should the trial court give a plaintiff at least one opportunity to cure the defects in his or her complaint before dismissing?
8850	Olin Corp. v. Coastal Water Authority, 849 S.W.2d 852, 855 (Tex. App. 1993)	6	Ordinarily, litigant may refile action that has been dismissed for want of prosecution, since merits of action remain undecided.	Ordinarily, a litigant may refile an action that has been dismissed for want of prosecution, since the merits of the action remain undecided.	"Can a litigant refile an action that has been dismissed for want of prosecution, since merits of action remain undecided?"
8852	State ex Rel. Dawson v. Superior Court, 16 Wash. 2d 300, 304 (1943)	5	The dismissal of an action for want of prosecution, in absence of statute or court rule creating the power and guiding its action, is in discretion of trial court.	The dismissal of an action for want of prosecution, in the absence of statute or rule of court creating the power and guiding its action, is in the discretion of the court.	Is the dismissal of an action for want of prosecution in the discretion of the court in the absence of a guiding statute or rule of court?
8854	Espinoza v. 373-381 Park Ave. S., LLC, 68 A.D.3d 532, 533, 891 N.Y.S.2d 355, 356 (2009)	2	The nature and degree of the penalty to be imposed on a motion to dismiss for want of prosecution is a matter of discretion with the court.	The nature and degree of the penalty to be imposed on a motion to dismiss for want of prosecution is a matter of discretion with the court (Palmenta v. Columbia Univ., 266 A.D.2d 90, 91, 698 N.Y.S.2d 657 [1999])	Is the nature and degree of the penalty to be imposed on a motion to dismiss for want of prosecution a matter of discretion with the court?
8855	Waldorf Inv. Co. v. Farris, 918 S.W.2d 915, 919 (Mo. Ct. App. 1996)	8	Dismissal for failure to prosecute is matter within trial court's discretion which will be reversed only upon abuse of discretion.	Dismissal for failure to prosecute is a matter within the trial court's discretion which will be reversed only upon an abuse of discretion.	Is the dismissal for failure to prosecute a matter within trial court's discretion which will be reversed only upon abuse of discretion?
8856	Clark v. Yarbrough, 900 S.W.2d 406, 408 (Tex. App. 1995)	1	Trial court has authority to dismiss case for want of prosecution pursuant to statutory or inherent powers. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a.	A trial court has the authority to dismiss a case for want of prosecution pursuant to Rule 165a or its inherent powers.	Does the court have authority to dismiss case for want of prosecution pursuant to statutory or inherent powers?

8862	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 459-60 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	5	Every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially original contract, equivalent to new note or bill in favor of holder, and accommodation paper is governed by same rules as other paper.	It is settled in Louisiana that every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially an *460 original contract, equivalent to a new note or bill in favor of the holder and that accommodation paper is governed by the same rules as other paper.	"Is every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, essentially a contract?"
8864	U.S. v. Vega, 72 F.3d 507, 514 (7th Cir. 1995)	16	Where civil forfeiture settles without hearing, jeopardy does not attach until district court accepts settlement. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Where the civil forfeiture settles without a hearing, it follows that jeopardy does not attach until the district court accepts the settlement.	"Where civil forfeiture settles without hearing, does jeopardy not attach until a district court accepts settlement?"
8865	U.S. v. Lara-Ramirez, 519 F.3d 76, 82 (1st Cir. 2008)	4	A defendant may waive his right to avoid double jeopardy by consenting to a mistrial; ordinarily, the prosecution may then proceed with a new trial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	A defendant may waive his right to avoid double jeopardy by consenting to a mistrial; ordinarily, the prosecution may then proceed with a new trial.	Can a defendant waive his right to avoid double jeopardy by consenting to a mistrial?
8866	United States v. Westoff, 653 F.2d 1047, 1049 (5th Cir. 1981)	2	In determining constitutionality of retrial after mistrial, test is whether all circumstances of case, not abstract formulae, warrant mistrial and retrial. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 5.	In determining the constitutionality of a retrial after a mistrial, the test is whether all the circumstances of the case, not abstract formulae, warrant mistrial and retrial.	"In determining constitutionality of retrial after mistrial, is the test whether all circumstances of a case, not abstract formulae, warrant mistrial and retrial?"
8868	Asshauer v. Wells Fargo, 263 S.W.3d 468, 474 (Tex. App. 2008)	10	In a limited partnership, a general partner is always liable for the partnership's debts and obligations; therefore, alter ego or piercing the corporate veil is inapplicable with regard to a partnership because no "veil" needs "piercing." Vernon's Ann.Texas Civ.St. art. 6132a-1.	Therefore, in a limited partnership, the general partner is always liable for the debts and obligations of the partnership. Pinebrook Props., Ltd., 77 S.W.3d at 499. As such, alter ego or piercing the corporate veil is inapplicable with regard to a partnership because there is no veil that needs piercing, even when dealing with a limited partnership, because the general partner, as noted, is always liable for the debts and obligations of the partnership to third parties.	Is the theory of alter ego or the piercing the corporate veil applicable to partnerships?
8872	Miller v. Kossey, 802 S.W.2d 873, 877 (Tex. App. 1991)	6	One of fundamental powers possessed by trial court is power to dismiss case when litigant refuses to prosecute case.	One of the fundamental powers possessed by a trial court is the power to dismiss a case when a litigant refuses to prosecute the case.	Is one of the fundamental powers possessed by trial court is the power to dismiss case when litigant refuses to prosecute case?
8873	City of Philadelphia v. Public Utility, 676 A.2d 1298, 1307 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1996)	14	Classic "tax" is imposed by legislature upon many or all citizens, raises money, contributed to general fund, and spent for benefit of entire community.	The classic tax is "imposed by a legislature upon many, or all citizens ... raises money, contributed to a general fund, and spent for the benefit of the entire community".	Is a classic tax imposed by a legislature upon all citizens?
8874	Wisconsin v. J.C. Penney Co., 311 U.S. 435, 445 (1940)	9	The fact that a tax is contingent on events brought to pass without a state does not destroy the link between such a tax and transactions within a state for which the tax is an exaction.	The fact that a tax is contingent upon events brought to pass without a state does not destroy the nexus between such a tax and transactions within a state for which the tax is an exaction."	Does the fact that a tax is contingent upon events brought to pass without a state destroy the nexus between such a tax and transactions?

8876	Floyd v. Logisticare, Inc., 255 Ga. App. 702, 566 S.E.2d 423, 702-03 (Ga. Ct. App. 2002)	2	Dismissal of an action for failure of the plaintiff to prosecute is discretionary and is subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion; likewise, the denial of a motion to reinstate a dismissed action is discretionary.	Dismissal of an action for failure of the plaintiff to prosecute does not operate as an adjudication on the merits. 1 Such a dismissal is discretionary and is subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion. 2 *703 Likewise, the denial of a motion to reinstate a dismissed action is discretionary.	Is a dismissal of an action for failure of the plaintiff to prosecute discretionary and is subject to appellate review for abuse of discretion?
8878	People v. Zendano, 31 Misc. 2d 145, 148, 136 N.Y.S.2d 106, 108-09 (Co. Ct. 1954)	2	If trial is necessarily brought to conclusion properly before rendition of verdict, this is no indication of acquittal, nor is it double jeopardy for defendant to be tried again.	However, it is likewise well-recognized that if a trial is necessarily brought to a conclusion properly before the rendition of a verdict, this is no indication of acquittal, nor is it double jeopardy for the defendant to be tried again.	"If trial is necessarily brought to conclusion properly before rendition of a verdict, is this no indication of acquittal?"
8880	In re Gray, 179 Cal.App.4th 1189, 1191 (2009)	9	Every courtroom in which a deputy county clerk is assigned under the law is just as much a part of the county clerk's office as if the partitions were removed and it was in fact a part of one room. West's Ann.Cal.Gov.Code § 69841.	Thus, " 'every courtroom in which a deputy county clerk is assigned under the law is just as much a part of the county clerk's office as if the partitions were removed and it was in fact a part of one room.' "	Is every courtroom in which a deputy county clerk is assigned a part of the county clerk's office?
8881	U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Kratville, 796 F.3d 873, 891-92 (8th Cir. 2015)	14	Commodity Exchange Act (CEA) is a remedial statute that serves the crucial purpose of protecting the innocent individual investor, who may know little about the intricacies and complexities of the commodities market, from being misled or deceived. 7 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	12 "In applying these various elements to the present case, we are guided by the principle that the CEA is a remedial statute that serves the crucial purpose of protecting the innocent individual investor-who may know little about the intricacies and complexities of the commodities market-from being misled or deceived.	What is the legislative purpose of the Commodity Exchange Act (CEA)?
8884	U.S. v. Leyland, 277 F.3d 628, 633 (2d Cir. 2002)	10	A criminal prosecution following a civil forfeiture is not considered a second punishment for double jeopardy purposes. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Thus a criminal prosecution following a civil forfeiture is not considered a second punishment for double jeopardy purposes.	Is a criminal prosecution following a civil forfeiture not considered a second punishment for double jeopardy purposes?
8886	U.S. v. Doyer, 907 F. Supp. 1519, 1524 (M.D. Fla. 1995)	10	For double jeopardy purposes, jeopardy attaches in civil forfeiture proceeding when evidence is first presented to the trier of fact. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Jeopardy did not attach to the civil judgments entered by default. [10] [11] Jeopardy attaches in a civil forfeiture proceeding when evidence is first presented to the trier of fact.	"For double jeopardy purposes, does jeopardy attach in a civil forfeiture proceeding when evidence is first presented to the trier of fact?"
8887	U.S. v. Palmer, 122 F.3d 215, 218 (5th Cir. 1997)	2	When defendant consents to mistrial before jury reaches verdict, double jeopardy will not bar reprosecution; thus consent can either be express or implied. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	When a criminal defendant consents to a mistrial before the jury reaches a verdict, double jeopardy will not bar a reprosecution. Id. at 549. This consent can either be express or implied.	"Can a defendant's consent to a mistrial, such as will remove the double jeopardy bar to a second trial, be either express or implied?"
8888	Commonwealth of Kentucky v. Deloney, 20 S.W.3d 471, 474 (Ky. 2000)	3	As a general rule, a mistrial granted on the defendant's motion removes any double jeopardy bar to a retrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	As a general rule, a mistrial granted on the defendant's motion removes any double jeopardy bar to a retrial.	"As a general rule, does a mistrial granted on the defendant's motion remove any double jeopardy bar to a retrial?"

8889	Kemph v. Commonwealth, 17 Va. App. 335, 437 Ct. App. 1993)	2	When defendant requests mistrial due to intentional prosecutorial misconduct, double jeopardy bar will apply; Commonwealth cannot use its own misconduct to gain advantage any more than can defendant. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	However, when a defendant requests a mistrial because of intentional prosecutorial misconduct, the double jeopardy bar will apply. Oregon v. Kennedy, 456 U.S. 667, 676, 102 S.Ct. 2083, 2089, 72 L.Ed.2d 416 (1982). The Commonwealth cannot use its own misconduct 214 to gain an advantage any more than can the defendant.	Can a commonwealth use its own misconduct to gain an advantage by forcing a defendant to request mistrial?
8890	U.S. v. Gonzalez, 248 F.3d 1201, 1203 (10th Cir. 2001)	2	As a general rule, the Double Jeopardy Clause does not bar retrial where a defendant moves successfully for a mistrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The general rule is that the Double Jeopardy Clause does not bar retrial where a defendant moves successfully for a mistrial.	"As a general rule, does the Double Jeopardy Clause not bar retrial where a defendant moves successfully for a mistrial?"
8891	People v. Elmore, 59 Cal. 4th 121, 133 (2014)	5	The adverb "unlawfully" in the express malice definition means simply that there is no justification, excuse, or mitigation for the killing recognized by the law. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 188.	" 'The adverb "unlawfully" in the express malice definition means simply that there is no justification, excuse, or mitigation for the killing recognized by the law.' "	Does the adverb unlawfully in the express malice definition mean that there is no justification for killing recognized by the law?
8892	Gerbig v. White Motor Credit, 165 Mich. App. 372, 373-74 (1987)	1	Reinstatement of cause of action dismissed for no progress is within discretion of trial court and its determination will not be disturbed absent abuse of discretion.	The reinstatement of a cause of action dismissed for no progress is within the *374 discretion of the trial court and its determination will not be disturbed absent an abuse of discretion.	Is it within the trial courts discretion to dismiss the reinstatement of a cause of action for no progress?
8893	Wigglesworth v. Mauldin, 195 Ariz. 432, 439, 990 P.2d 26, 33 (Ct. App. 1999)	15	Before the trial court grants motion to dismiss for failure to state claim, non-moving party should be given opportunity to amend complaint if such amendment cures its defects. 16 A.R.S. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12(b), subd. 6.	¶ 26 Before the trial court grants a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss, the non-moving party should be given an opportunity to amend the complaint if such an amendment cures its defects. See Sun World Corp. v. Pennysaver, Inc., 130 Ariz. 585, 589, 637 P.2d 1088, 1092 (App.1981).	"If requested, should the non-moving party be given an opportunity to amend the complaint if such an amendment cures its defects?"
8895	Davis v. Zoning Board of Adjustment of La Porte, 853 S.W.2d 650, 652 (Tex. App. 1993)	1	Trial court has inherent authority to dismiss lawsuit for party's failure to prosecute it with due diligence, even without statutory or rule authority.	A court has the authority to dismiss a suit for failure to prosecute it with due diligence even without statutory or rule authority.	Does the trial court have inherent authority to dismiss lawsuit for party's failure to prosecute it with due diligence?
8900	In re Gutierrez, 526 B.R. 449, 450 (2015)	9	If lessee may not terminate lease during its term and any one of residual value factors is present, the transaction is a sale without consideration of any other facts and circumstances.	If the lessee may not terminate the lease during its term and any one of the Residual Value Factors is present, the transaction is a sale without consideration of any other facts and circumstances."	When is a transaction a sale without consideration of any other facts and circumstances?

8901	Blythe v. Commonwealth, 222 Va. 722, 284 S.E.2d 796, 723 (Va. 1981)	4	Constitutional provision concerning double jeopardy embodies three guarantees: (1) it protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal; (2) it protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction; and (3) it protects against multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A.Const.Amend. 5.	The constitutional provision concerning double jeopardy embodies three guarantees: "(1) 'It protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal. [(2)] It protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction. [(3)] And it protects against multiple punishments for the same offense.' "	What does the constitutional provision concerning double jeopardy guarantee?
8902	State v. Thacker, 157 So. 3d 798, 818 (La. Ct. App. 2015)	23	The constitutional protections against double jeopardy prevent a second prosecution for the same offense after an acquittal or conviction, and prevent multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; LSA-Const. Art. 1, § 15.	"The constitutional protections against double jeopardy prevent a second prosecution for the same offense after an acquittal or conviction, and prevent multiple punishments for the same offense."	Do the constitutional protections against double jeopardy prevent a second prosecution for the same offense after an acquittal or conviction?
8903	State v. Villanueva-Gonzalez, 180 Wash. 2d 975, 980 (2014)	3	The prohibition on double jeopardy generally means that a person cannot be prosecuted for the same offense after being acquitted, be prosecuted for the same offense after being convicted, or receive multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, § 9.	The prohibition on double jeopardy generally means that a person cannot be prosecuted for the same offense after being acquitted, be prosecuted for the same offense after being convicted, or receive multiple punishments for the same offense.	Does double jeopardy mean that a person cannot be prosecuted for the same offense after being acquitted?
8904	State v. Baca, 1997-NMSC-018	11	Constitutional jeopardy attaches, under both state and federal law, in a jury trial when a jury is impaneled and sworn to hear a case and in a bench trial when the trial judge first starts hearing evidence. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 6; West's NMSA Const. Art. 2, § 15.	Constitutional jeopardy attaches in a jury trial when a jury is impaneled and sworn to hear a case and in a bench trial when the trial judge first starts hearing evidence.	Will a constitutional jeopardy be attached when the judge first starts hearing evidence?
8906	Morris v. Friedman, 663 So. 2d 19, 25 (La. 1995)	8	Party having the means readily and conveniently available to determine the true facts, but who fails to do so, cannot claim estoppel.	However, a party having the means readily and conveniently available to determine the true facts, but who fails to do so, cannot claim estoppel.	"Can a party having the means readily available and conveniently available to determine the true facts, but who fails to do so, claim estoppel?"
8907	In re Estate of Snook, 272 Kan. 1256, 1256 (2002)	8	There can be no equitable estoppel if any essential element thereof is lacking or is not satisfactorily proved, and estoppel will not be deemed to arise from facts which are ambiguous and subject to more than one construction.	There can be no equitable estoppel if any essential element thereof is lacking or is not satisfactorily proved. Estoppel will not be deemed to arise from facts which are ambiguous and subject to more than one construction.	Will estoppel be deemed to arise from facts which are subject to more than one construction?
8908	Bogenberger v. Pi Kappa Alpha Corp., 404 Ill. Dec. 438, 56 N.E.3d 1, 2016 Ill. App. 150128, 452 (Ill. App. Ct. 2016)	11	An allegation made on information and belief is not equivalent to an allegation of relevant fact, but at the pleading stage a plaintiff will not have the benefit of discovery tools to discern certain facts.	This court has acknowledged that " '[a]n allegation made on information and belief is not equivalent to an allegation of relevant fact' [citation], but at the pleading stage a plaintiff will not have the benefit of discovery tools" to discern certain facts.	Is an allegation made on information and belief equivalent to an allegation of relevant fact?
8909	In re Strickland, 2002 WL 58482, at *1 (Tex. App. Jan. 17, 2002)	4	A trial judge has plenary power to reinstate a case within 30 days of dismissal for want of prosecution. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a(3, 4).	A trial judge has plenary power to reinstate a case within 30 days of dismissal for want of prosecution.	Does a trial judge have plenary power to reinstate a case within 30 days of dismissal for want of prosecution?

8910	Sanchez v. U.S., 919 A.2d 1148, 1149 (D.C. 2007)	1	Retrial of a criminal defendant after a mistrial over his objection and unsupported by manifest necessity violates double jeopardy. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Retrial of a criminal defendant after a mistrial over his objection and unsupported by "manifest necessity" violates double jeopardy.	Does retrial of a criminal defendant after a mistrial over his objection and unsupported by manifest necessity violate double jeopardy?
8911	Bernard Group v. New Hope Alternative, 153 Ohio App. 3d 393, 397 (2003)	5	A trial court's decision to dismiss a case for lack of prosecution rests within its sound discretion.	We recognize that a trial court's decision to dismiss a case for lack of prosecution rests within its sound discretion.	Does a trial court's decision to dismiss a case for lack of prosecution rest within its sound discretion?
8914	Egg Harbor City v. Atlantic Cty, 10 N.J. Tax 7, 17 (Tax 1988)	2	Requisite of use for public purpose is accorded liberal construction when tax exemption is sought by a government body.	However, the requisite of use for public purpose is accorded a liberal construction when tax exemption is sought by a government body. City of Newark v.	How is a requisite of use for public purpose accorded when a tax exemption is sought by a government body?
8915	Marcus Hook Dev. Park, Inc. v. Bd. of Assessment Appeals of Delaware Cnty., 68 Pa. Cmwlt. 229, 234, 449 A.2d 70, 73 (1982)	2	When publicly owned land is not used for public purposes, municipality or other public body can be, and indeed is, taxpayer liable to pay taxes.	However, when publicly-owned land is not used for public purposes, the municipality or other public body can be, and indeed is, the taxpayer liable to pay the taxes.	"When a publicly owned land is not used for public purposes, does the municipality or other public body liable to pay taxes?"
8917	Evans v. Board of Education of Hays, 178 Kan. 275, 284 P.2d 1068, 275 (Kan. 1955)	5	A "servant" is a person employed by a master to perform service in latter's affairs and whose physical conduct in performance of the service is controlled or is subject to the right of control by the master.	A servant is a person employed by a master to perform service in his affairs whose physical conduct in the performance of the service is controlled or is subject to the right to control by the master.	Is a master a principle who employs another to perform service in his affairs and who controls or has the right to control the physical conduct of the other in the performance of the service?
8918	Coccaro v. Herman Coal Co., 145 Pa. Super. 81, 20 A.2d 916, 86 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1941)	7	Under compensation act, one cannot become an "employee" of himself and thus occupy the anomalous position of both "employer" and "employee" defined by act as the equivalent of "master" and "servant." 77 P.S. SS 21, 22.	One cannot become an employee of himself and thus occupy the anomalous position of both employer and employee, defined by the Act as the equivalent of master and servant, 77 P.S. 21, 22.	Can one be an employee of himself and thus occupy the anomalous position of both employer and employee under the Act?
8920	Kopp v. Fischer, 811 F. Supp. 2d 696, 712 (W.D.N.Y. 2011)	21	In a jury trial, jeopardy attaches once the jury has been empaneled and sworn, even though no evidence relating to the defendant's guilt or innocence has been introduced. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	In a jury trial, jeopardy attaches once the jury has been empaneled and sworn, even though no evidence relating to the defendant's guilt or innocence has been introduced.	Will jeopardy attach when no evidence relating to the defendant's guilt or innocence has been introduced?
8922	Neff v. Commonwealth, 39 Va. App. 13, 17 (2002)	4	In a trial before a court without a jury the danger of conviction or jeopardy of an accused begins when the trial has reached the stage where the Commonwealth begins to introduce its testimony; in other words, jeopardy begins after the accused has been indicted, arraigned and has pleaded, and the court has begun to hear the evidence. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Furthermore, "[i]n a trial before a court without a jury the danger of conviction or jeopardy of an accused begins when the trial has reached the stage where the Commonwealth begins to introduce its testimony." Rosser v. Commonwealth, 159 Va. 1028, 1036, 167 S.E. 257, 259 (1933). In other words, "jeopardy begins after the accused has been indicted, arraigned and has pleaded, and the court has begun to hear the evidence." Id.	When does the danger of conviction or jeopardy of an accused begin in a trial without a jury?

8923	Reyna-Abarca v. People, 390 P.3d 816, 824 (Colo. 2017)	5	If the legislature has not conferred specific authorization for multiple punishments, then double jeopardy principles preclude the imposition of multiple punishments. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	If the legislature has not conferred specific authorization for multiple punishments, then double jeopardy principles preclude the imposition of multiple punishments.	Do double jeopardy principles preclude the imposition of multiple punishments if the legislature has not conferred specific authorization for multiple punishments?
8924	Dexter v. State, 959 N.E.2d 235, 240 (Ind. 2012)	11	Retrial on a sentencing enhancement based on a prior conviction is permitted even where the enhancement is reversed because of insufficient evidence. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	But retrial on a sentencing enhancement based on a prior conviction is permitted even where the enhancement is reversed because of insufficient evidence.	Is retrial on a sentencing enhancement based on a prior conviction permitted even where the enhancement is reversed because of insufficient evidence?
8925	U.S. v. Luong, 393 F.3d 913, 917 (9th Cir. 2004)	2	Punishment authorized by statute for a particular crime is punishment only for the offense of conviction for purposes of the double jeopardy inquiry.	2199, 132 L.Ed.2d 351 (1995), which held that punishment authorized by statute for a particular crime is "punishment only for the offense of conviction for purposes of the double jeopardy inquiry.	Is punishment authorized by statute for a particular crime a punishment only for the offense of conviction for purposes of the double jeopardy inquiry?
8927	People v. Bright, 12 Cal. 4th 652, 661–62, 909 P.2d 1354, 1359 (1996)	6	Circumstance that jury has returned verdict on underlying offense, but is unable to make finding on penalty allegation, does not constitute an acquittal of, or otherwise bar retrial of, the penalty allegation on ground of double jeopardy. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's Ann.Cal. Const. Art. 1, § 15.	Thus, the circumstance that the jury has returned a verdict on the underlying offense, but is unable to make a finding on the penalty allegation, does not constitute an "acquittal" of (or otherwise bar retrial of) the penalty allegation on the ground of double jeopardy.	"Does a mistrial constitute a termination of jeopardy, and accordingly double jeopardy arises from the legal necessity of a mistrial?"
8928	U.S. v. Peoples, 360 F.3d 892, 895 (8th Cir. 2004)	7	In capital sentencing proceedings jeopardy terminates and provides finality for the penalty phase if there is an acquittal of death; if there has been no acquittal by judge or jury, defendant may again be subjected to penalty of death. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; 18 U.S.C.A. § 3594.	The Supreme Court has applied several double jeopardy principles in capital cases. The touchstone principle in capital sentencing proceedings is that jeopardy terminates and provides finality for the penalty phase if there is an acquittal of death. Sattazahn, 537 U.S. at 109, 123 S.Ct. 732. The mere imposition of a life sentence is not enough; there must be an affirmative choice by the jury not to impose a death sentence. Id. at 107, 123 S.Ct. 732. If the jury finds that the prosecutor failed to prove the aggravating circumstances and unanimously sentences the defendant to life in prison, it has acquitted him of death as a possible penalty. Rumsey, 467 U.S. at 210-11, 104 S.Ct. 2305. In contrast, if there has been no acquittal by judge or jury, the defendant may again be subjected to the penalty of death.	"In capital sentencing proceedings, does jeopardy terminate and provides finality for the penalty phase if there is an acquittal of death?"

8929	State v. Smith, 166 A.3d 691, 701 (2017)	7	The Double Jeopardy Clause protects against a second prosecution for the same offense following acquittal, a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction, and multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	The double jeopardy clause protects against a second *187 prosecution for the same offense following acquittal, a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction and multiple punishments for the same offense."	"Does double jeopardy clause protect against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction, and multiple punishments for the same offense?"
8930	State v. Santiago, 928 So. 2d 480, 481 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2006)	1	General rule is that when a mistrial is declared upon a defendant's motion, jeopardy does not attach and the defendant may be retried; an exception occurs, however, when the prosecution goads the defense into moving for a mistrial and gains an advantage from the retrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Generally, when a motion for mistrial is declared on the defendant's motion, jeopardy does not attach and the defendant may be retried. Rutherford v. State, 545 So.2d 853, 855 (Fla.1989). "An exception occurs when the prosecution goads the defense into moving for mistrial and gains an advantage from the retrial."	"General rule is that when a mistrial is declared upon a defendant's motion, does jeopardy not attach and the defendant may be retried?"
8931	U.S. v. Jose, 425 F.3d 1237, 1240 (C.A.9 (Hawai i),2005)	6	After the attachment of jeopardy, there must be a jeopardy terminating event, most commonly an acquittal or a final judgment of conviction, in order for double jeopardy protections to apply to subsequent proceedings. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The attachment of jeopardy is a necessary, though not sufficient, condition for applying the protections of the Double Jeopardy Clause. There must also be a jeopardy terminating event, most commonly an acquittal or a final judgment of conviction.	"After the attachment of jeopardy, should there be a jeopardy terminating event, most commonly an acquittal or a final judgment of conviction?"
8932	State v. Kirk, 828 P.2d 1128, 1130 (Wash. App. Div. 2 1992)	3	Double jeopardy clause protects against second prosecution for same offense after acquittal, protects against second prosecution for same offense after conviction, and protects against multiple punishments for same offense as well as protecting valued right to have trial completed by particular tribunal. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Double Jeopardy Clause ⁸ "protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal. It protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction. And it protects against multiple punishments for the same offense." North Carolina v. Pearce, 395 U.S. 711, 717, 89 S.Ct. 2072, 2076, 23 L.Ed.2d 656 (1969), overruled on other grounds, Alabama v. Smith, 490 U.S. 794, 109 S.Ct. 2201, 104 L.Ed.2d 865 (1989). It also protects the defendant's "valued right to have his trial completed by a particular tribunal."	"Does double jeopardy protect against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal, against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction and against multiple punishments for the same offense?"
8933	State v. Taylor, 136 Ohio Misc. 2d 18, 19 (2005)	1	The Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause precludes successive prosecutions and successive punishments for the same criminal offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	First, in the criminal context, the Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause precludes successive prosecutions and successive punishments for the same criminal offense.	Does the Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause preclude successive prosecutions and successive punishments for the same criminal offense?
8936	U.S. v. James, 737 F. Supp. 2d 1, 11 (D.D.C. 2010)	16	Application of Career Offender provision of Sentencing Guidelines to defendant did not violate Double Jeopardy Clause. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5, 6.; U.S.S.G. S 4B1.1, 18 U.S.C.A.	Specifically, the defendant asserts that the application of the Career Offender provision of the Sentencing Guidelines violates the Double Jeopardy Clause of the Fifth Amendment. Def.'s Mem. at 4-5.	Does application of Career Offender provision of Sentencing Guidelines to defendant violate Double Jeopardy Clause?

8937	Thomason v. State, 620 So. 2d 1234, 1237 (Fla. 1993)	5	State bears heavy burden in justifying mistrial over objection of defendant, and doubt about whether mistrial is appropriate is resolved in favor of the liberty of the citizen. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's F.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 9.	Because the right not to be subjected to double jeopardy is so important and because it is frustrated when a trial ends before a verdict is reached, the State bears a heavy burden in justifying a mistrial over the objection of a defendant. Arizona v. Washington, 434 U.S. at 505, 98 S.Ct. at 830. Doubt about whether the mistrial is appropriate is resolved "in favor of the liberty of the citizen."	"When a trial ends before a verdict is reached, does the State bear a heavy burden in justifying a mistrial over the objection of the defendant?"
8938	State v. Todd, 894 N.W.2d 255, 262 (2017)	11	Double jeopardy does not arise if the State can demonstrate manifest necessity for a mistrial declared over the objection of the defendant. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	Double jeopardy does not arise if the State can demonstrate manifest necessity for a mistrial declared over the objection of the defendant.	Does double jeopardy not arise if the State can demonstrate manifest necessity for a mistrial declared over the objection of the defendant?
8939	Boyd v. Boughton, 798 F.3d 490, 493 (7th Cir. 2015)	3	Double Jeopardy Clause envisions three ways in which defendant may be "twice put in jeopardy of life or limb": (1) subsequent prosecution after acquittal; (2) subsequent prosecution after conviction; and (3) being twice punished for same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	As the Supreme Court has interpreted it, the Double Jeopardy Clause envisions three ways in which a defendant may be "twice put in jeopardy of life or limb": (1) a subsequent prosecution after an acquittal; (2) a subsequent prosecution after a conviction; and (3) being twice punished for the same offense.	What does double jeopardy clause envision?
8941	Lukkason v. 1993 Chevrolet Extended Cab Pickup, 590 N.W.2d 803, 807 (Minn. Ct. App. 1999)	14	Constitutional analysis of civil forfeiture under the Double Jeopardy Clause is separate and distinct from that under the Excessive Fines Clause. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5, 8; M.S.A. Const. Art. 1, SS 5, 7.	Constitutional analysis of civil forfeitures under the Double Jeopardy Clause is separate and distinct from that under the Excessive Fines Clause.	Is a constitutional analysis of civil forfeiture under the Double Jeopardy Clause separate and distinct from that under the Excessive Fines Clause?
8942	Owsley v. State, 769 N.E.2d 181, 188 (Ind. Ct. App. 2002)	7	A jury's acquittal absolutely bars retrial on that particular charge, even if the verdict was reached erroneously.	A jury's acquittal absolutely bars retrial on that particular charge, however, even if the verdict was reached erroneously.	"Does a jury's acquittal absolutely bar retrial on that particular charge, even if the verdict was reached erroneously?"
8943	State v. Soule, 794 A.2d 58, 61 (Me. 2002)	4	At the heart of the Double Jeopardy Clause is the prohibition against multiple prosecutions for "the same offense," and thus, the Double Jeopardy Clause provides three related protections: (1) it protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal; (2) it protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction; and (3) it protects against multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	At the heart of the Double Jeopardy Clause is the prohibition against multiple prosecutions for "the same offense." United States v. Wilson, 420 U.S. 332, 343, 95 S.Ct. 1013, 43 L.Ed.2d 232 (1975). Thus "the Double Jeopardy Clause provides three related protections: 'It protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal. It protects against a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction. And it protects against multiple punishments for the same offense.' "	Does the Double Jeopardy Clause provide three related protections?

8945	West v. Men's Focus Health Centers of Georgia, Inc., 251 Ga. App. 202, 202, 553 S.E.2d 379, 380 (2001)	2	The privilege of dismissal and renewal of an action does not apply to void cases, although renewal of actions which were merely voidable is allowed. O.C.G.A. § 9-2-61(a).	The privilege of dismissal and renewal does not, however, apply to void cases, although renewal of actions which were merely voidable is allowed.	"Does the privilege of dismissal and renewal of an action not apply to void cases, although renewal of actions which were merely voidable is allowed?"
8946	Woods Corp. Assocs. v. Signet Star Holdings, Inc., 910 F. Supp. 1019, 1029 (D.N.J. 1995)	19	Under New Jersey law, determining what language creates absolute assignment rather than pledge for security depends on precise wording of the assignment.	Determining what language creates an absolute assignment rather than a pledge for security depends on the precise wording of the assignment.	Does determining what language creates an absolute assignment rather than a pledge for security depend on precise wording of the assignment?
8952	Fallin v. City of Huntsville, 865 So. 2d 473, 476 (Ala. Crim. App. 2003)	2	In certain situations, i.e., where words or actions are manifested in form of threat, person may commit crime of harassment even if words do not rise to level of "fighting words." Code 1975, § 13A-11-8(a)(1) b.	Thus, we conclude that, in certain situations-i.e., where the words or actions are manifested in the form of a threat-a person may commit the crime of harassment even if the words do not rise to the level of "fighting words."	"Can an individual commit the crime of harassment even if his words do not rise to the level of ""fighting words""?"
8953	In re Wead, 38 B.R. 658, 659 (Bankr. E.D. Mo. 1984)	1	Pendency of one bankruptcy case precludes a consideration of a second case filed by the same debtors and involving the same debts.	It is generally accepted that the pendency of one bankruptcy case precludes a consideration of a second case filed by the same debtor(s) and involving the same debts.	Does the pendency of one bankruptcy case preclude a consideration of a second case filed by the same debtors involving the same debts?
8954	Serenko v. Bright, 263 Cal. App. 2d 682, 690, 70 Cal. Rptr. 1, 6 (Ct. App. 1968)	9	Restriction on Administrative Procedure Act to implementing only functions of state agency to which it is expressly made applicable by statutes relating to particular agency will be strictly construed. West's Ann.Gov.Code, § 11501.	Moreover, the Administrative Procedure Act itself is restricted in its application to implement only those functions of a state agency to which it is expressly 'made applicable by the statutes relating to the particular agency,' (Gov.Code, s 11501) and this restriction has been strictly construed by the courts.	Is Administrative Procedure Act construed strictly?
8955	Petition of Highway US-24, in Bloomfield Twp., Oakland Cnty., 392 Mich. 159, 184 (1974)	18	Environmental Protection Act of 1970 does not merely provide a separate procedural route for protection of environmental quality but also is a source of supplementary substantive environmental law. M.C.L.A. § 691.1201 et seq.	It is most important to note that EPA does not, as both parties imply (Appellants' Brief, p. 23; Commission's Brief, p. 36), merely provide a separate Procedural route for protection of environmental quality, it also is a source of supplementary Substantive environmental law.	Does the Environment Protection Act merely provide a separate procedural route for protection of environmental quality?
8957	Chime v. Peak Sec. Plus, 137 F. Supp. 3d 183, 206 (E.D.N.Y., 2015)	20	Class certification rule does not set forth mere pleading standard, but rather party seeking class certification bears burden of establishing existence of all requirements for class certification in fact. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 23(a), 28 U.S.C.A.	Thus, the Supreme Court reiterated that Rule 23(a) "does not set forth a mere pleading standard," but rather the party seeking class certification bears the burden of establishing the existence of all four Rule 23(a) requirements "in fact."	Can pleadings satisfy a party's evidentiary burden for class certification?

8958	Red Lake Band v. U.S., 17 Cl. Ct. 362, 381 (1989).	14	Although ambiguous provisions in treaties and legislation ratifying agreements between United States and Indian tribes must be interpreted in favor of Indians, construction that contradicts express statutory language or legislative history is not permitted.	It is an established rule that ambiguous provisions in treaties and legislation ratifying agreements between the United States and Indian tribes must be interpreted in favor of the Indians. See Antoine v. Washington, 420 U.S. 194, 199–200, 95 S.Ct. 944, 948–948, 43 L.Ed.2d 129 (1975); Minnesota Chippewa Tribe, 11 Cl.Ct. at 239. This rule does not permit a construction that contradicts express statutory language or legislative history, however.	Are the ambiguous provisions in treaties ratifying agreements between the United States and Indian tribes construed against the Indians?
8959	In re Schubert, 437 B.R. 787, 793 (Bankr. D. Md. 2010)	3	Under Maryland law, equitable subrogation is designed to promote and accomplish justice, and is mode which equity adopts to compel ultimate payment of debt by one who, in justice, equity and good conscience, should pay it.	"The object of [equitable] subrogation is the prevention of injustice. It is designed to promote and to accomplish justice, and is the mode which equity adopts to compel the ultimate payment of a debt by one who, in justice, equity, and good conscience, should pay it...	Is equitable subrogation designed to promote and accomplish justice?
8961	State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Smith, 39 So.3d 1172, 1175 (Ala.Civ.App.,2009)	2	Under the rule permitting a 120-day period for service of process, an action may not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120-day period.	Accordingly, we conclude that Rule 4(b), Ala. R. Civ. P., allows 120 days for service of process and that an action may not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120–day period.	"Under the rule permitting a 120-day period for service of process, can an action not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120-day period?"
8962	Peters v. Riggs, 2015 IL App (4th) 140043, ¶ 40 (2015)	6	A motion for involuntary dismissal admits the sufficiency of the complaint but asserts an affirmative defense or other matter that avoids or defeats the claim. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	"A section 2-619 motion to dismiss admits the sufficiency of the complaint but asserts an affirmative defense or other matter that avoids or defeats the claim."	Will a motion for involuntary dismissal assert an affirmative defense or other matter that avoids or defeats the claim?
8964	Hasty v. Namihiro, 986 So. 2d 1036, 1040 (Miss. Ct. App. 2008)	5	The factors for a court to consider during review of dismissals for failure to prosecute are: (1) whether the conduct of the plaintiff can be considered contumacious or dilatory; (2) whether lesser sanctions could be applied; and (3) other aggravating factors. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	The supreme court has laid out three factors for us to consider during review of dismissals under Rule 41(b). They are: (1) whether the conduct of the plaintiff can be considered contumacious or dilatory; (2) whether lesser sanctions could be applied; and (3) other aggravating factors.	What factors should the court look when analyzing whether dismissal for failure to prosecute is appropriate?
8966	Dyer v. General Motors Corp., 27 N.W.2d 533, 537, 318 Mich. 216, 225 (Mi. 1947)	4	The right to compensation under the compensation act is a matter of law fixed by the act, and is not a right to be determined by the Department of Labor and Industry as a matter of compromise or in an effort to obtain an equitable result.	The right to compensation is a matter of law, fixed by the statute. Holloway v. Ideal Seating Co., 313 Mich. 267, 21 N.W.2d 125. It is not a right to be determined as a matter of compromise or in an effort to obtain an equitable result.	"Is the right to compensation a matter of law fixed by the statute, or is it a right to be determined as a matter of compromise or an effort to obtain an equitable result? "

8967	Carnes v. Meador, 533 S.W.2d 365, 370 (Tex. Civ. App. 1976)	11	Although a spouse has a right to dispose of community property under his or her control he may not dispose of his spouse's interest in community funds if actual constructive fraud exists. V.T.C.A., Family Code § 5.22.	Although a spouse has the right to dispose of community property under his or her control under Tex. Family Code Ann. § 5.22 (Vernon 1973), he may not dispose of his spouse's interest in community funds if actual or constructive fraud exists.	Does a managing spouse have the right to dispose of community property?
8968	Twyford v. Weber, 220 N.W.2d 919, 923 (Iowa 1974)	2	A "motion in limine" has the effect of advising the court and opposing counsel of the party's position on a particular matter and should effectively remove the problem when the argument is advanced by the offending party that the prejudicial evidence came in by sheer inadvertence.	The motion has the effect of advising the court and opposing counsel of the party's position on a particular matter and should effectively remove the problem when the argument is advanced by the offending party that the prejudicial evidence came in by sheer inadvertence.	What useful purpose does a motion in limine serve?
8970	Torrico v. Int'l Bus. Machines Corp., 213 F. Supp. 2d 390, 397 (S.D.N.Y. 2002)	7	Congress has the authority to regulate the conduct of U.S. employers outside the territorial jurisdiction of the United States; nevertheless, courts will presume that Congress has not exercised this power, i.e., that statutes apply only to acts performed within United States territory, unless Congress manifests an intent to reach acts performed outside United States territory. Restatement (Third) of Foreign Relations Law of the United States § 402(2).	Unquestionably, Congress has the authority to regulate the conduct of U.S. employers outside the territorial jurisdiction of the United States. See, e.g., EEOC v. Arabian American Oil Co., 499 U.S. 244, 248, 111 S.Ct. 1227, 113 L.Ed.2d 274 (1991) ("Aramco"); see also Restatement (Third) of Foreign Relations Law of the United States § 402(2) (a state has jurisdiction to legislate with respect to "the activities, interests, status, or relations of its nationals outside as well as within its territory"). Nevertheless, courts will "presume that Congress has not exercised this power—i.e., that statutes apply only to acts performed within United States territory—unless Congress manifests an intent to reach acts performed outside United States territory."	Does Congress have the authority to regulate the conduct of U.S. employers outside the territorial jurisdiction of the United States?
8973	Croft v. Unemployment Comp. Bd. of Review, 662 A.2d 24, 27-28 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1995)	2	Appellate court maintains discretion to refrain from quashing a single appeal from several final orders.	An appellate court maintains the discretion to refrain from quashing a single appeal from several final orders.	Does an appellate court maintain discretion to refrain from quashing a single appeal from several final orders?
8974	Lachmar v. Trunkline LNG Co., 753 F.2d 8, 10 (2d Cir. 1985)	1	Under New York law, assignee of rights under a bilateral contract is not bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract unless he expressly assumes to do so.	Under New York law, made applicable by the parties, the assignee of rights *10 under a bilateral contract is not bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract unless he expressly assumes to do so.	"Whether an assignee of rights under a bilateral contract, bound to perform the assignor's duties under the contract?"

8975	English v. Atlanta Transit, 134 Ga. App. 621, 215 S.E.2d 304, 622 (Ga. Ct. App. 1975)	2	Plaintiff is entitled to voluntary dismissal as matter of right when he substantially complies with statutory conditions. Code, S 81A-141(a).	[T]he plaintiff is entitled to voluntary dismissal as a matter of right when he substantially complies with the statutory conditions.	Is a plaintiff entitled to a voluntary dismissal as a matter of right when he substantially complies with statutory conditions?
8976	Surgijet v. Hicks, 236 Ga. App. 80, 82 (1999)	8	A motion for a continuance based on an absent witness is addressed to the sound legal discretion of the trial court and no error will be assigned unless it appears that the trial court abused that discretion in passing on the motion.	" 'A motion for a continuance based on an absent witness is addressed to the sound legal discretion of the trial court and no error will be assigned unless it appears that the trial court abused that discretion in passing on the motion.'	How is a motion for discontinuance based on an absent witness addressed?
8977	Southstar Equity, LLC v. Lai Chau, 998 So. 2d 625, 628 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2008)	3	The responsibility for the interpretation and enforcement of any pretrial order mandating witness disclosure is vested in the trial court.	The responsibility for "the interpretation and enforcement of any pretrial order mandating witness disclosure" is "vest[ed]" in the trial court.	Is the responsibility for the interpretation and enforcement of any pretrial order mandating witness disclosure vested in the trial court?
8978	Zetune v. Jafif-Zetune, 774 S.W.2d 387, 391 (Tex. App. 1989), writ denied (Dec. 6, 1989)	11	Granting or denial of motion for continuance rests within sound discretion of trial court; trial court's denial of motion for continuance will not be disturbed unless record discloses clear abuse of discretion.	The granting or denial of a motion for continuance rests within the sound discretion of the trial court. Further, the trial court's denial of a motion for continuance will not be disturbed unless the record discloses a clear abuse of discretion.	"Is the denial of a request for a continuance to conduct discovery vested in the trial court's discretion, and can only be overturned if that discretion was abused?"
8979	Ashpole v. Millard, 778 S.W.2d 169, 171-72 (Tex. App. 1989)	5	Once case is voluntarily dismissed, no further action may be had in that cause and any further action must be taken by instituting suit de novo, unless there is successful motion to reinstate.	Once a case is voluntarily dismissed, however, no further action may be had in that cause. Gibson v. Gibson, 653 S.W.2d 646 (Tex.App.-Waco 1983, nowrit); see Greenberg v. Brookshire, 640 S.W.2d 870 (Tex.1982). Any further action must be taken by instituting a suit de novo, unless there is a successful motion to reinstate.	"Once a case is dismissed voluntarily, can further action be in a case by instituting suit de novo?"
8980	Tire Distributors Inc. v. Cobrae, 132 Cal.App.4th 538, 33 Cal. Rptr. 3d 761, 542 (Cal. Ct. App. 2005)	1	When a voluntary dismissal has properly been filed by the plaintiff, the trial court loses jurisdiction to act in the case. West's Ann.Cal.C.C.P. S 581(b, c).	When a dismissal has properly been filed, the trial court loses jurisdiction to act in the case.	"When a voluntary dismissal has properly been filed by the plaintiff, does the trial court lose jurisdiction to act in the case?"
8982	P.J.'s Concrete Pumping v. Nextel West, 345 Ill. App. 3d 992, 1001 (2004)	7	Plaintiff bringing a class action suit need only allege a viable individual cause of action, indicate that the claim is being brought as a class action, and include factual allegations broad enough to establish the possible existence of a class action.	It has been recognized that a plaintiff bringing a class action suit need only allege a viable individual cause of action, indicate that the claim is being brought as a class action, and include factual allegations broad enough to establish the possible existence of a class action.	Is the issue of class certification typically factual and should be decided with the benefit of discovery?

8984	Lacy v. Bassett, 132 S.W.3d 119, 122 (Tex. App. 2004)	1	"Plea to the jurisdiction" challenges the trial court's authority to determine the subject matter of a cause of action.	A plea to the jurisdiction challenges the trial court's authority to determine the subject matter of a cause of action.	Is a motion to dismiss based on a lack of subject matter jurisdiction functionally equivalent to a plea to the jurisdiction challenging the trial court's authority to determine the subject matter of a cause of action?
8985	State v. Lopez, 522 So. 2d 997, 998 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1988)	2	Bribery statute prohibits any payment intended to influence performance of any act by public servant, even if person pays for doing of act the public servant is legally bound to do. West's F.S.A. S 838.015(1).	We agree with the state that the bribery statute prohibits any payment intended to influence the performance of any act by a public servant. The statute is violated even when a person pays for the doing of an act that the public servant is legally bound to do.	"If you pay someone with the intention of influencing the performance of their official acts, are you still guilty of bribery if said official acts were something the official was legally bound to do anyway? "
8986	Ollie v. Plano Indep. Sch. Dist., 383 S.W.3d 783, 792 (Tex. App. 2012)	12	Until a claimant has exhausted applicable administrative remedies, a trial court lacks subject-matter jurisdiction and must dismiss the claims within the agency's exclusive jurisdiction.	Until the claimant has exhausted applicable administrative remedies, the trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction and must dismiss the claims within the agency's exclusive jurisdiction.	"Does the trial court lack subject-matter jurisdiction until a party has satisfied the requirement to exhaust all administrative remedies, and must dismiss those claims without prejudice to refiling?"
8987	Thompson v. Cisson Construction, 377 S.C. 137, 169 (Ct. App. 2008)	51	Workers' compensation law is a creature of statute, enacted in derogation of the common law, and courts are bound to strictly construe its terms. Code 1976, S 42-1-100 et seq.	Our workers' compensation law is a creature of statute, enacted in derogation of the common law, and we are bound to strictly construe its terms.	"Is workers compensation a creature of statute, enacted in derogation of common law, and how should its terms be construed?"
8988	Locker v. United Pharmaceutical Group, Inc., 46 So. 3d 1126, 1128 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2010)	3	When ruling on a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action, the trial court must accept the allegations of the complaint as true; likewise, the appellate court must accept the facts alleged in a complaint as true when reviewing an order that determines the sufficiency of the complaint.	When ruling on a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action, the trial court must accept the allegations of the complaint as true. Likewise, the appellate court must accept the facts alleged in a complaint as true when reviewing an order that determines the sufficiency of the complaint.	"On a motion to dismiss an action, does a court accept allegations in complaint as true?"
8990	Griffin v. Phillips Petroleum Co., 139 S.W.2d 318, 321 (Tex. App. 1940)	1	Every agency carries with it all the powers which are necessary or proper as means to effectuate the purposes for which it was created, and in such respect there is no distinction, whether the authority given to an agent is general or special, express or implied.	Every agency carries with it, or includes in it as an incident, all the powers which are necessary, or proper, or usual, as means to effectuate the purposes for which it was created, and none other. In this respect there is no distinction, whether the authority given to an agent is general or special, expressed or implied.	What does an agency carry with it?
8991	Memphis Retail Liquor Dealers' Ass'n, Inc., 547 S.W.2d 244, 245-46 (Tenn. 1977)	1	If an imposition is primarily for the purpose of raising revenue, it is a "tax"; if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority, it is a "fee."	If the imposition *246 is primarily for the purpose of raising revenue, it is a tax; if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority, it is a fee.	"Is an imposition a tax, if its purpose is for the regulation of some activity under the police power of the governing authority?"

8994	Potomac Development v. District of Columbia D.C. 28 A.3d 531, 544 (D.C. 2011)	25	A court should be circumspect in assessing the sufficiency of a complaint in any case where the substantive legal standard requires a fact intensive inquiry. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 8(a), 28 U.S.C.A.	A court should be circumspect in assessing the sufficiency of a complaint in any case where the substantive legal standard requires a fact-intensive inquiry.	Should a court be circumspect in assessing the sufficiency of a complaint in a case where the substantive legal standard requires a fact-intensive inquiry?
8995	Robar v. Labuda, 84 A.D.3d 129, 133, 921 N.Y.S.2d 710, 715 (2011)	4	Jeopardy attaches when a jury is impaneled and sworn and encompasses the defendant's right to be free from reprosecution if the first trial has not continued to conclusion. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; McKinney's Const. Art. 1, § 6; McKinney's CPL § 40.30(1)(b).	Jeopardy attaches "when a jury is impaneled and sworn (see CPL 40.30[1][b])" (id.) and encompasses "the defendant's right to be free from reprosecution if the first trial has not continued to conclusion" (People v. Baptiste, 72 N.Y.2d 356, 359, 533 N.Y.S.2d 853, 530 N.E.2d 377 [1988])	Does the jeopardy encompass the defendant's right to be free from reprosecution?
9001	U.S. v. Huang, 960 F.2d 1128, 1133 (2d Cir. 1992)	2	Fact that defendant consented to mistrial does not deprive him of double jeopardy protection if mistrial was occasioned by conduct of trial judge or prosecutor that was intended to provoke defendant into moving for mistrial; applicability of this exception turns squarely on judge's or prosecutor's intent, and negligence, even if gross, is insufficient. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	at 2088, the fact that the defendant consented to the mistrial does not deprive him of double jeopardy protection if the mistrial was occasioned by conduct of the trial judge or the prosecutor that was "intended to provoke the defendant into moving for a mistrial," id. at 679, 102 S.Ct. at 2091; see United States v. Rivera, 802 F.2d at 599. The applicability of this exception turns squarely on the judge's or prosecutor's intent. Negligence, even if gross, is insufficient.	"Does applicability of the exception turn squarely on a judge's or prosecutor's intent, and negligence, even if gross, is insufficient? "
9002	Feliciano v. Autozone, Inc., 142 Conn. App. 756, 66 A.3d 911, 918 (Conn. App. Ct. 2013)	9	Although a plaintiff should plead a statute in a complaint, failing to do so will not necessarily bar recovery as long as the defendant is sufficiently apprised of the applicable statute during the course of the proceedings.	"[A]lthough a plaintiff should plead a statute in a complaint ... failing to do so will not necessarily bar recovery as long as the [defendant is] sufficiently apprised of the applicable statute during the course of the proceedings."	Does failing to plead a statute in a complaint necessarily bar recovery?
9005	Presswood v. Welsh, 271 Ga. App. 459, 460 (2005)	6	When disputed evidence is admissible for any reason, a trial court does not abuse its discretion in denying a motion in limine and admitting it.	Second, when disputed evidence is admissible for any reason, a trial court does not abuse its discretion in denying a motion in limine and admitting it.	Does a trial court abuse its discretion in denying a motion in limine and admitting disputed evidence?
9006	In re Travelstead, 227 B.R. 638, 656 (D. Md. 1998)	23	Threshold question in comity analysis is whether there is in fact a true conflict between domestic and foreign law.	"[T]he threshold question in a comity analysis is whether there is in fact a true conflict between domestic and foreign law."	Is the threshold question in a comity analysis whether there is in fact a true conflict between domestic and foreign law?

9008	Halpern v. Gunn, 57 A.2d 741, 741 (D.C. 1948)	1	"Voluntary nonsuit" by plaintiff is a withdrawal or abandonment of his case with costs adjudged against him, with no adjudication on the merits, and with the right to file a new action, leaving the situation as though action had never been filed.	Under the long-established practice in this jurisdiction a voluntary nonsuit by plaintiff is a withdrawal or abandonment of his case, with costs adjudged against him, with no adjudication on the merits, and with the right to file a new action. It leaves the situation as though suit had never been filed.	"Is ""voluntary nonsuit"" by a plaintiff a withdrawal or abandonment of his case with costs adjudged against him?"
9009	Bierman v. Hunter, 190 Md. App. 250, 988 A.2d 530, 270-71 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2010)	4	Subrogation requires an underlying and independent legal basis upon which a party may assert its claims.	Accordingly, subrogation "requires an underlying and independent legal basis *271 upon which [a party] may assert its claims."	Does subrogation require an underlying and independent legal basis upon which a party may assert its claims?
9012	Allen v. Titan Propane, LLC, 484 S.W.3d 902, 906 (Mo. Ct. App. 2016)	7	For an affirmative defense to be sustained upon a bare motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by the plaintiff's pleading.	"For an affirmative defense to be sustained upon a bare motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by the plaintiff's pleading.	Should affirmative defense be established by plaintiff's pleading to be sustained upon bare motion to dismiss?
9016	SurgiJet, Inc. v. Hicks, 511 S.E.2d 194, 196, 236 Ga.App. 80, 82 (Ga.App., 1999)	9	Trial court does not abuse its discretion in denying motion for continuance based upon absence of a witness, where movant fails to meet one of eight statutory requirements for granting continuance. O.C.G.A. § 9-10-160.	OCGA § 9–10–160 provides that all applications for continuances based upon the absence of a witness shall set forth eight different requirements. Where any one of these statutory requirements is not met, there is no abuse of the trial court's discretion to deny a continuance.	Should all applications for continuances based upon the absence of a witness shall set forth eight different requirements?
9018	McDuffie v. Acands, 781 So. 2d 628, 631 (La. Ct. App. 2001)	10	There is no authority to limit severely a party's rights for the technical, though justifiable, violation of a pretrial order. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1551.	There is no authority to limit severely a party's rights for the technical, though justifiable, violation of a pretrial order Neff v. Rose, supra.	"Is there an authority to limit severely a party's rights for the technical, though justifiable, violation of a pretrial order? "
9019	Lobberecht v. Chendrasekhar, 728 N.W.2d 853	6	A person has a legal interest in a cause of action when it accrues, and that occurs when an aggrieved party has a right to institute and maintain a lawsuit.	In Iowa, a person has a legal interest in a cause of action when it accrues, and that occurs when "an aggrieved party has a right to institute and maintain a lawsuit."	Does a cause of action accrue when an aggrieved party has a right to institute and maintain a lawsuit?
9022	Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. S.-Owners Ins. Co., 248 F. Supp. 3d 1268, 1286 (M.D. Fla. 2017)	27	In practice, subrogation under Florida law entails the substitution of one person in the place of another with reference to a lawful claim or right.	In practice, subrogation entails "the substitution of one person in the place of another with reference to a lawful claim or right." W. Am. Ins. Co., 495 So.2d at 206 (quoting Boley, 72 So. at 645).	"Is subrogation the substitution of one person in the place of another with reference to a lawful claim, or right?"
9023	Wasko v. Manella, 269 Conn. 527, 532, 849 A.2d 777, 781 (2004)	3	The right of legal or equitable subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	By contrast, [t]he right of [legal or equitable] subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	Does equitable subrogation take place as a matter of equity?

9025	Parker v. DeKalb Chrysler Plymouth, 673 F.2d 1178, 1181 (11th Cir. 1982)	4	Strict technical compliance with the Truth in Lending Act, regardless of actual injury, promotes the standardization of credit terms for the benefit of all borrowers, not just the individual claimant. Truth in Lending Act, S 102 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601 et seq.	Strict technical compliance, regardless of actual injury, promotes the standardization of credit terms for the benefit of all borrowers, not just the individual claimant.	Does the strict technical compliance of credit terms benefit just the individual claimant?
9027	In re Interest of Zylena R. (State v. Elise M.), 284 Neb. 834, 825 N.W.2d 173, 179-80 (2012)	7	At a hearing on a petition to transfer a child protection proceeding to tribal court, the party opposing the transfer has the burden of establishing that good cause not to transfer exists. Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978, S 101(b), 25 U.S.C.A. S 1911(b).	At a hearing on a petition to transfer a proceeding to tribal court, the party opposing the transfer has the burden of establishing that good cause not to 180 transfer exists.	Who has the burden to establish good cause not to transfer in a petition to transfer a proceeding to a tribal court?
9028	Wasko v. Manella, 269 Conn. 527, 532, 849 A.2d 777, 781 (2004)	3	The right of legal or equitable subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	By contrast, [t]he right of [legal or equitable] subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	Does an equitable subrogation arise from contractual relationship between parties?
9041	People v. Adkins, 236 A.D.2d 850, 850, 653 N.Y.S.2d 1007, 1008 (1997)	1	Defendant did not falsely make money order, within meaning of forgery statute, as money order was made by person who purchased it and who was authorized to make it, such that money order was authentic, and defendant merely added name of payee. McKinney's Penal Law S 170.10, subd. 1.	Here, defendant did not falsely make the money order. The money order was made by the person who purchased it and who was authorized to make it. The money order was therefore authentic. Merely adding the name of the payee does not constitute forgery.	Does adding names of the payee to money order constitute forgery?
9046	Dees v. Distenfield, 618 F. Supp. 123, 126 (C.D. Cal. 1985)	1	By enacting Federal Arbitration Act, Congress sought to make arbitration agreements as enforceable as all other contracts; Congress intended to avoid unnecessary expense and delay of litigation where parties had provided for more efficient process of arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	By enacting the Federal Arbitration Act, Congress sought to make arbitration agreements as enforceable as all other contracts. Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co., 388 U.S. 395, 404 n. 12, 87 S.Ct. 1801 n. 12, 18 L.Ed.2d 1270 (1967). Congress intended to avoid the unnecessary expense and delay of litigation where parties had provided for the more efficient process of arbitration.	What is the purpose of Arbitration Act?
9055	In re Wilkins' Will, 131 Misc. 188, 193, 226 N.Y.S. 415, 425 (Sur. 1928)	7	A "savings bank" is an institution for accumulation of small sums, chiefly savings of poorer classes, organized by philanthropic movement, where trustees give their services gratuitously, and state prescribes classes of investment.	A savings bank is an institution for the accumulation of small sums, chiefly the savings of the poorer classes, organized by philanthropic movement, where the trustees give their services gratuitously, the state prescribing the classes of investments.	How are saving banks different from commercial banks?

9059	Czerwinski v. Sunrise Point Condominium, 540 So.2d 199, 200-01 (Fla.App. 3 Dist.,1989)	1	Landlord generally has no duty to insure the safety of his tenants or to protect them from the criminal acts of third persons unless the criminal occurrence is reasonably foreseeable.	A landlord generally has no duty to insure the safety of his tenants or to protect them from the criminal acts of third *201 persons, Ten Assocs. v. McCutchen, 398 So.2d 860, 861 (Fla. 3d DCA), rev. denied, 411 So.2d 384 (Fla.1981), Highlands Ins. Co. v. Gilday, 398 So.2d 834 (Fla. 4th DCA), rev. denied, 411 So.2d 382 (Fla.1981), unless the criminal occurrence is reasonably foreseeable.	Does the landlord have a general duty to protect a tenant from criminal attacks?
9062	Baruch v. Clark, 154 Idaho 732, 302 P.3d 357, 365-66 (Idaho 2013)	14	As a general rule, though not absolute, a so-called profit or gain from the sale of separate property occasioned by the natural enhancement in the value of such property constitutes part of the separate estate. West's I.C.A. S 32-903.	However, "as a general rule, though not absolute, a so-called profit or gain from the sale of separate property occasioned by the natural enhancement in the value of such property *741 366 constitutes part of the separate estate."	Are profits from the sale of separate property during marriage considered as separate property?
9065	In re Maynard, 155 N.H. 630, 930 A.2d 1195, 2007 N.H. LEXIS 112, 636 (N.H. 2007)	5	The decision to disallow pretrial discovery is within the sound discretion of the trial judge, and the Supreme Court will uphold it unless it is an unsustainable exercise of discretion.	The decision to disallow pretrial discovery is within the sound discretion of the trial judge, and we will uphold it unless it is an unsustainable exercise of discretion.	Are decisions concerning pretrial discovery within the sound discretion of the trial judge?
9067	Debord v. Mercy Health Sys. of Kan., Inc., 860 F. Supp. 2d 1263, 1280 (D. Kan. 2012)	26	Under Kansas law, the plaintiff in an action for defamation must first offer proof of harm to reputation; any claim for mental anguish is parasitic, and compensable only after damage to reputation has been established.	"[T]he plaintiff in an action for defamation must first offer proof of harm to reputation; any claim for mental anguish is "parasitic," and compensable only after damage to reputation has been established."	Is proof of reputational harm a prerequisite to bring a defamation action?
9076	FMC Corp. v. Cyprus Foote Mineral Co., 899 F. Supp. 1477, 1484 (W.D.N.C. 1995)	7	Freedom of employees to sell their expertise to highest and more congenial bidder is important facet of individual liberty long recognized by law of North Carolina.	The freedom of employees to sell their expertise to the highest and most congenial bidder is an important facet of individual liberty long-recognized by the law of North Carolina.	Do employees have the freedom to sell their expertise to the highest and most congenial bidder?
9077	In re Custody of ALD, 191 Wash. App. 474, 496 (2015)	6	Since the custody of a child is a fundamental, constitutional right, state interference is justified only if the State can show that it has a compelling interest and such interference is narrowly drawn to meet only the compelling state interest involved; this standard is known as the strict scrutiny test.	Since the custody of a child is a fundamental, constitutional right, state interference is justified only if the State can show that it has a compelling interest and such interference is narrowly drawn to meet only the compelling state interest involved.	Can the State interfere in the child custody rights?
9087	Muller Fuel Oil Co. v. Ins. Co. of No. Amer, 95 N.J. Super. 564, 577 (App. Div. 1967)	12	Although a favorable termination of the criminal proceeding is a condition precedent to the institution of action for malicious prosecution, the essence of the tort is the wrongful conduct in making the criminal charge.	Thus, although a favorable termination of the criminal proceeding is a condition precedent to institution of the action, the 'essence' of the tort is the wrongful conduct in making the criminal charge.	What is the essence of a cause of action for malicious prosecution?

9089	Bodi v. Shingle Springs Band of Miwok Indians, 832 F.3d 1011, 1016 (9th Cir. 2016)	8	There are only two ways in which an Indian tribe may lose its immunity from suit: Congress may abrogate tribal immunity, because, as dependents, the tribes are subject to plenary control by Congress, or a tribe may itself waive immunity.	There are only two ways in which a tribe may lose its immunity from suit. Congress may abrogate tribal immunity, because, "[a]s dependents, the tribes are subject to plenary control by Congress." Bay Mills, 134 S.Ct. at 2030. Or, of relevance to this appeal, a tribe may itself waive immunity.	What are the instances in which an Indian tribe can lose its immunity from a suit?
9101	Illaraza v. Hovensa LLC, 73 F. Supp. 3d 588, 612 (D.V.I. 2014)	31	A plaintiff who raises a malicious prosecution claim under Virgin Islands law has the burden of showing a lack of probable cause, and the defendant need not prove that it had probable cause in order to prevail. Restatement (Second) of Torts §653 (1977).	A plaintiff who raises a malicious prosecution claim has the burden of showing a lack of probable cause. The defendant need not prove that it had probable cause in order to prevail.	Who has the burden to establish lack of probable cause in a malicious prosecution action?
9103	KKW Enterprises, Inc. v. Gloria Jean's Gourmet Coffees Franchising Corp., 184 F.3d 42, 49 (1st Cir. 1999)	8	Any analysis of a party's challenge to the enforcement of an arbitration agreement must begin by recognizing the FAA's strong policy in favor of rigorously enforcing arbitration agreements. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	Any analysis of a party's challenge to the enforcement of an arbitration agreement must begin by recognizing the FAA's strong policy in favor of rigorously enforcing arbitration agreements.	How do courts begin their analysis of a party's challenge to the enforcement of an arbitration agreement?
9105	Parisi v. Goldman, Sachs & Co., 710 F.3d 483, 486 (2d Cir. 2013)	4	The federal policy favoring arbitration agreements applies even when the claims at issue are federal statutory claims, unless the Federal Arbitration Act's (FAA) mandate has been overridden by a contrary congressional command. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	This preference for enforcing arbitration agreements applies even when the claims at issue are federal statutory claims, unless the FAA's mandate has been "overridden by a contrary congressional command.	Can arbitration agreements be enforced when the claims at issue are federal statutory claims?
9130	Mercadante v. XE Services, LLC, 78 F. Supp. 3d 131, 137 (D.D.C. 2015)	6	To the extent there are conflicts between state arbitration law and the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) that would contravene the pro-arbitration policies embodied in the FAA, the FAA applies and preempts such state laws. 9 U.S.C.A. § 2.	"To the extent there are conflicts between state arbitration law and the FAA that would contravene the pro-arbitration policies embodied in the FAA, the FAA applies and preempts such state laws."	Which law prevails when there is a conflict between state arbitration law and the Federal Arbitration Act?
9132	B.L. Harbert International, LLC v. Hercules Steel Co., 441 F.3d 905, 907 (11th Cir. 2006)	2	Laudatory goals of Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) will be achieved only to extent that courts ensure arbitration is alternative to litigation, not additional layer in protracted contest. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	The laudatory goals of the FAA will be achieved only to the extent that courts ensure arbitration is an alternative to litigation, not an additional layer in a protracted contest.	How do the courts ensure that the goals of the Federal Arbitration Act are achieved?
9133	Salawy v. Ocean Towers Housing Corp., 121 Cal.App.4th 664, 672 (Cal. Ct. App. 2004)	3	The common understanding of an "action to enforce" is that it is a proceeding initiated by the filing of a claim, and not only encompasses the complaint but refers to the entire judicial proceeding at least through judgment and is generally considered synonymous with suit.	The common understanding of an "action to enforce" is that it is a proceeding initiated by the filing of a claim. Thus, an action not only encompasses the complaint "but refers to the entire judicial 433 proceeding at least through judgment and is generally considered synonymous with suit."	"What does an ""action"" encompass?"

9134	Rathbun v. Health Net of the Ne., Inc., 315 Conn. 674, 688 (Conn. 2015)	7	In its simplest form, "subrogation" allows a party who has paid a debt to step into the shoes of another, usually the debtee, to assume his or her legal rights against a third party to prevent that party's unjust enrichment.	"In its simplest form, subrogation allows a party who has paid a debt to step into the shoes of another (usually the debtee) to assume his or her legal rights against a third party to prevent that party's unjust enrichment...."	What does equitable subrogation allow?
9137	Springfield Tp. v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Com'n, 676 A.2d 304, 307 (Pa.Cmwlth.,1996)	4	Statute governing public utility refunds authorizes Public Utility Commission (PUC) to order public utility to refund rates which were unlawful, unjust or unreasonable, or in excess of rates contained in utility's tariff. 66 Pa.C.S.A. S 1312.	Section 1312 of the Code, 66 Pa.C.S. § 1312, authorizes PUC to order a public utility to refund the rates which were (1) unlawful, (2) unjust or unreasonable, or (3) in excess of the rates contained in the public utility's tariff.	When may a Public Utility Commission order a public utility to refund rates?
9142	In re King Faisal II's Est., 23 Misc. 2d 300, 301, 199 N.Y.S.2d 595, 597 (Sur. 1960)	2	Local courts cannot compel consular officer to disclose any information acquired by him in his official capacity and may not require compulsory production of official records of his government.	Local courts, however, cannot compel such an officer to disclose any information acquired by him in his official capacity nor is the compulsory production of official records of his government permissible.	Can local courts compel a consul to disclose any information acquired by him in his official capacity?
9153	Navajo Nation v. Urb. Outfitters, Inc., 191 F. Supp. 3d 1238, 1243 (D.N.M. 2016)	7	A goal of the Indian Arts and Crafts Act (IACA) is to protect consumers from purchasing misrepresented products. 25 U.S.C.A. S 305.	As Judge Shadur indicated in Bundy-Howard, a second goal of the IACA is to protect consumers from purchasing misrepresented products. 168 F.Supp.2d at 914.	Does Indian Arts and Crafts Act (IACA) protect consumers from purchasing misrepresented products?
9154	Hurley v. Nw. Publications, Inc., 273 F. Supp. 967, 972 (D. Minn. 1967)	7	In cases involving public officials malice cannot be deduced from the mere fact of publication alone unless it has been or can be established that the publication is made with the knowledge that the statements are false or are made with reckless disregard of whether or not they are false.	In cases involving public officials, it is said that malice cannot be deduced from the mere fact of publication alone unless it has been or can be established that the publication is made with the knowledge that the statements are false or are made with reckless disregard of whether or not such are false.	Can malice arise from publication alone?
9155	Santiago v. Pennsylvania Nat. Mut, 418 Pa. Super. 178, 184 (1992)	5	Preliminary objections should be sustained only where it appears with certainty that, upon facts averred, the law will not allow plaintiff to recover.	A preliminary objection should be *185 sustained only where it appears with certainty that, upon the facts averred, the law will not allow the plaintiff to recover.	Should a preliminary objection be sustained only where it appears with certainty that the law will not allow the plaintiff to recover?
9156	Hayes v. Pittsgrove Tp. Bd. of Educ, 269 N.J. Super. 449, 454-55 (1994)	1	Subrogation is equitable device intended to effectuate an obligation's ultimate discharge by the one who ought to pay it, and thus to promote essential justice between parties.	Subrogation is an equitable device intended to effectuate an *455 obligation's ultimate discharge by the one who ought to pay it and thus to promote "essential justice" between the parties.	Does subrogation serve to promote essential justice between the parties?
9160	Boyajian v. United States, 129 Fed. Cl. 336, 338 (Fed.Cl., 2016)	1	Congress established the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act (AMAA) in order to help farmers obtain fair value for their agricultural productions. 7 U.S.C.A. S 601 et seq.	During the Great Depression, Congress established the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 ("AMAA") in order to help farmers obtain fair value for their agricultural productions.	Why did Congress establish the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 (AMAA)?

9164	Romanek-Golub v. Anvan Hotel Corp., 168 Ill. App. 3d 1031, 1040 (1988)	4	Motion in limine, like any other interlocutory order, remains subject to reconsideration by court throughout trial.	As such, the order, like any other interlocutory order, remains subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial.	Is a motion in limine an interlocutory order and remains subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial?
9166	State v. Terry, 89 N.J. Super. 445, 450 (App. Div. 1965)	10	Rape victim need not orally express her lack of consent as long as lack of consent is demonstrated by or can be implied from her acts and conduct, but it must be shown that she did actually resist, passive resistance being insufficient.	Thus, it is not necessary for a female who is the victim of a forceful rape to orally express her lack of consent as long as the same is demonstrated by, or can be implied from, her acts and conduct. But it must be shown that she did, however, actually resist; passive resistance is not sufficient.	Do rape victims required to express their lack of consent?
9169	Universal Forest Prod. E. Div., Inc. v. Morris Forest Prod., LLC, 558 F. Supp. 2d 893, 901 (E.D. Wis. 2008)	7	Given that equity does not lend itself to the application of black letter rules, subrogation depends, under Wisconsin law, upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts.	However, because “ ‘equity does not lend itself to the application of black letter rules,’ subrogation ‘depends upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts.’ ” Petta v. ABC Ins. Co., 278 Wis.2d 251, 275, 692 N.W.2d 639, 651 (Wis.2005) (quoting Vogt v. Schroeder, 129 Wis.2d 3, 12, 383 N.W.2d 876, 879 (Wis.1986)).	Is subrogation an equitable doctrine and depend upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts?
9171	In Matter of Waters, 419 B.R. 919, 924 (Bankr. M.D. Ga. 2009)	11	Under Georgia law, a surety who pays the debt of his principal is subrogated to all the rights of the creditor and may proceed immediately against his principal for the debt paid. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 10-7-41-56.	A surety who pays the debt of his principal is subrogated to all the rights of the creditor. The surety may proceed immediately against his principal for the debt paid. O.C.G.A. 10-7-41,-56 (2009).	Is a surety who pays the debt of his principal subrogated to all the rights of the creditor and can the surety proceed immediately against his principal for the debt paid?
9174	Gillispie v. Goodyear Serv. Stores, 258 N.C. 487, 489 (1963)	6	A complaint must be fatally defective before it will be rejected as insufficient, and if any portion of it or to any extent it presents facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action the pleading will stand. G.S. S 1-127(6).	However, it is well settled that a complaint must be fatally defective before it will be rejected as insufficient, and 'if in any portion of it or to any extent it presents facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action the pleading will stand.'	Should a complaint be fatally defective for rejecting it as insufficient?
9175	Taylor v. Bd. of Educ. of City of Chicago, 2014 IL App (1st) 123744, ¶ 45 (2014)	6	Decision of whether to grant motion in limine rests within sound discretion of trial court and will not be disturbed on appeal unless that discretion is abused.	[6] 45 The decision of whether to grant a motion in limine rests within the sound discretion of the trial court and will not be disturbed on appeal unless that discretion is abused.	Is a denial of motion in limine within the sound discretion of trial judge?
9180	City of Chicago v. Alton R. R. Co., 355 Ill. 65, 188 N.E. 831, 74 (Ill. 1933)	3	Purposes of Public Utilities Act were to bring under public control for common good property applied to public use in which public has interest and to establish and protect public utilities from destructive competition. S.H.A. ch. 1112/323, S 1 et seq.	The purpose of the Public Utilities Act was to bring under the control of the public, for the common good, property applied to public use in which the public has an interest (Palmyra Telephone Co. v. Modesto Telephone Co., 336 Ill. 158, 167 N. E. 860), also to establish and to protect public utilities in their respective fields from destructive competition.	Does the legislation concerning public utilities protect them from destructive competition?

9181	Ertel v. Radio Corp. of America, 261 Ind. 573, 577, 307 N.E.2d 471 (Ind. 1974)	3	Generally, a surety, upon satisfaction of a debt, is subrogated to all the rights which the creditor had against the principal debtor prior to satisfaction of the debt.	The general rule, firmly imbedded in Indiana law, is that a surety, upon satisfaction of a debt, is subrogated to all the rights which the creditor had against the principal debtor prior to satisfaction of the debt.	"Is a surety, upon satisfaction of a debt, subrogated to all the rights which the creditor had against the principal debtor prior to satisfaction of the debt?"
9183	Am-Haul Carting, Inc. v. Contractors Cas. Sur., 33 F. Supp. 2d 235, 250 (S.D.N.Y. 1998)	13	Under New York law, a surety's right of subrogation under performance bond becomes available when the surety completes the work at a loss.	Under New York law, a surety's right of subrogation "becomes available when the surety company completes the work at a loss."	Does a surety's right of subrogation under performance bond become available when the surety completes the work at a loss?
9184	Jarecki Mfg. Co. v. Merriam, 104 Kan. 646, 180 P. 224, 225 (1919)	13	Generally, a cause of action accrues as soon as the right to maintain a legal action arises; the test to determine when an action accrues is that point when a plaintiff could have first filed and prosecuted an action to a successful conclusion.	To illustrate, Kansas courts generally observe the rule that a cause of action accrues as soon as the right to maintain a legal action arises. The test to determine when an action accrues is that point when a plaintiff could have first filed and prosecuted an action to a successful conclusion.	Does a cause of action accrue when the plaintiff could have first maintained the action to a successful conclusion?
9185	Peroti v. Williams, 258 Md. 663, 669 (1970)	5	The basic elements necessary for a cause of action in negligence are a duty or obligation which defendant is under to protect plaintiff from injury, a failure to discharge that duty, and actual loss or injury to plaintiff proximately resulting from that failure.	The basic elements necessary for a cause of action in negligence are a duty or obligation which the defendant is under to protect plaintiff from injury, a failure to discharge that duty, and actual loss or injury to the plaintiff proximately resulting from that failure.	Does a cause of action arise when a liability or obligation is established?
9186	Kohler v. Barnes, 123 N.J. Super. 69, 79 (Law Div. 1973)	1	Generally, cause of action accrues when facts exist which entitle one party to maintain an action against another.	Generally, a cause of action accrues when facts exist which entitle one party to maintain an action against another.	Does a cause of action accrue when facts exist which entitle one party to maintain an action against another?
9188	Dep't of Banking v. McMullen, 134 Neb. 338, 345 (Neb. 1938)	5	As respects running of limitations, the "accrual of a cause of action" means the right to maintain and institute a suit, and, whenever one person may sue another, cause of action has accrued and the statute begins to run.	The accrual of a cause of action means the right to maintain and institute a suit, and whenever one person may sue another, a cause of action has accrued and the statute begins to run, but not until that time.	What is accrual of a cause of action?

9197	Keyes v. Nevada Gas Co., Limited, 55 Nev. 431, 435 (Nev. 1934)	5	Complaint without prayer for relief is incomplete, but prayer for relief forms no part of statement of cause of action, and, when answer is filed and trial is had, judgment will be awarded in accordance with facts pleaded and proven, but, where no answer is filed, relief is limited to relief demanded in complaint. Comp.Laws 1929, SS 8594, 8792.	Hence it appears that a complaint without a prayer for relief is incomplete. It is true, however, that the prayer for relief forms no part of the statement of the cause of action (Kingsbury v. Copren, 43 Nev. at page 454, 187 P. 728, 189 P. 676), and, when an answer is filed and a trial is had, judgment will be awarded in accordance with the facts pleaded and proven. But, where no answer is filed, the relief which may be granted is expressly limited by section 8792, N.C.L., to "the relief demanded in the complaint."	Is the prayer for relief a part of the cause of action?
9201	Powell v. Alan Young Homes, Inc., 251 Ga. App. 72, 75 (2001)	7	Trial court has an absolute right to refuse to decide on the admissibility of evidence prior to trial and may reserve ruling on the admissibility of evidence until it is offered during trial.	"The trial court has an absolute right to refuse to decide on the admissibility of evidence ... prior to trial [and] may reserve ruling on the admissibility of evidence until it is offered during trial."	May the court reserve ruling on the admissibility of evidence until it is offered during trial?
9204	Bremmer v. Journal-Tribune Pub. Co., 247 Iowa 817, 820, 76 N.W.2d 762 (Iowa 1956)	2	An application to adjudicate law points under Rule of Civil Procedure is not technically a motion, and the effect of the ruling or order thereon is not the same as the effect of an order on a motion assailing a pleading. 58 I.C.A. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 105.	An application to adjudicate law points under R.C.P. 105 is not technically a motion and the effect of a ruling or order thereon is not the same as the effect of an order on a motion assailing a pleading.	Is an application to adjudicate law points under the Rules of Civil Procedure a motion?
9205	ROSA v. FLORIDA POWER LIGHT CO, 636 So. 2d 60, 61 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994)	2	"Motion in limine" is similar to protective order, in that it seeks to prohibit any reference to offending evidence at trial by first having its admissibility determined outside presence of jury.	A motion in limine is similar to a protective order in that it seeks to prohibit any reference to offending evidence at trial by first having its admissibility determined outside the presence of the jury.	Is a motion for a protective order and a motion in limine functionally the same?
9206	Ambrogio v. Beaver Road Associates, 267 Conn. 148, 160 (Conn. 2003)	6	A party, through a motion in limine, may implore the court to decide a question of law, as well as some preliminary questions of fact.	Accordingly, a party, through a motion in limine, may implore the court to decide a question of law; see Sheiman v. Sheiman, 72 Conn.App. 193, 201, 804 A.2d 983 (2002) (affirming trial court's ruling on motion in limine precluding testimony from treating psychiatrist as privileged); as well as some preliminary questions of fact.	"Can a party, through a motion in limine, implore the court to decide a preliminary question of fact?"
9207	In re Leona, 888 N.E.2d 72, 228 Ill. 2d 439, 460, 320 Ill. Dec. 855 (Ill. 2008)	7	Generally speaking, evidentiary motions, such as motions in limine, are directed to the trial court's discretion; a trial court's ruling on such motions will not be disturbed on review absent an abuse of that discretion.	Generally speaking, evidentiary motions, such as motions in limine, are directed to the trial court's discretion. A trial court's ruling on such motions will not be disturbed on review absent an abuse of that discretion.	Is a court's ruling on evidentiary motions such as motions in limine left to the court's discretion and subject to an abuse of that discretion standard?

9211	State ex Rel. Joplin v. Public Serv Com'n, 186, 295 S.W.3d 290 (Mo. Ct. App. 2006)	5	Superseded tariffs cannot be corrected retroactively, and if funds paid under those Public Service Commission-approved tariffs are not segregated in a court registry pending the final outcome, there is no monetary relief that can be given to the party challenging the rates.	This is so because superseded tariffs cannot be corrected retroactively, id., and if funds paid under those Commission-approved tariffs are not segregated in a court registry pending the final outcome, there is no monetary relief that can be given to the party challenging the rates.	Are tariffs generally considered moot if they are superseded by subsequent tariffs that are filed and approved?
9213	In re Ryan N., 92 Cal. App. 4th 1359, 1378, 112 Cal. Rptr. 2d 620, 635 (2001)	18	Unlike criminal solicitation, the crime of "aiding, advising or encouraging a suicide" requires both a specific intent that another person commit suicide, and some direct, unequivocal action aimed at bringing the suicide about. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code § 401.	Again, unlike criminal solicitation, the crime of aiding, advising or encouraging a suicide requires both a specific intent that another person commit suicide, and some direct, unequivocal action aimed at bringing the suicide about.	What is meant by aiding a suicide?
9219	Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Helferich Pat. Licensing, LLC, 51 F. Supp. 3d 713, 718–19 (N.D. Ill. 2014)	14	General choice of law provision in a contract will not extend to arbitration clause covered by the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), absent specific evidence the parties intended it to do so. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	Thus, "a general choice of law provision in a contract will not extend to the arbitration clause, absent specific evidence the parties intended it to do so." BEM I, L.L.C. v. Anthropologie Inc., No. 98 C 358, 2000 WL 1849574, at *6 (N.D.Ill. Dec. 15, 2000) (citation omitted);	Does a general choice of law provision in a contract extend to an arbitration clause?
9223	Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Itz, 21 S.W.3d 456, 470–71 (Tex. App. 2000)	6	The court should uphold the petition where a cause of action may reasonably be inferred from what is specifically stated therein, even if an element of the action is not specifically alleged. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 45.	The court should uphold the petition where a cause of action may reasonably be inferred from what is specifically stated therein, even if an element of the action is not specifically alleged.	Is a petition sufficient even if an element of the cause of action is not specifically alleged?
9224	Hardy v. Cordero, 399 Ill. App. 3d 1126, 1135 (2010)	11	The purpose of an in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create a trap which results in a new trial if the court in retrospect determines the rule was violated.	The purpose of an in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create a trap which results in a new trial if the court in retrospect determines the rule was violated."	Does a motion in limine exclude inadmissible evidence from trial?
9226	Oxford v. Carter, 216 Ga. 821, 822 (Ga. 1961)	5	A statutory rule must be construed consistently with the whole system of pleading and practice of which it forms a part.	A statutory rule must be construed consistently with the whole system of pleading and practice of which it forms a part.	Should a statutory rule be construed consistently with the whole system of pleading and practice of which it forms a part?
9227	Hopper v. Carey, 716 N.E.2d 566, 570 (Ind. Ct. App. 1999)	2	Granting of a motion in limine is an adjunct of the inherent power of trial courts to admit and exclude evidence.	The granting of a motion in limine is an adjunct of the inherent power of trial courts to admit and exclude evidence.	Is the trial court's grant of a pretrial motion in limine an adjunct of its inherent authority to admit and exclude evidence?
9236	Webster v. Rushing, 316 So. 2d 111, 114 (La. 1975)	1	Affirmative defense raises new matter which, assuming allegations in petition to be true, constitutes defense to action and will have effect of defeating plaintiff's demand on its merits. LSA-C.C.P. arts. 1003, 1005; LSA-R.S. 13:3601(2).	An affirmative defense raises new matter which, assuming the allegations in the petition to be true, constitutes a defense to the action and will have the effect of defeating plaintiff's demand on its merits.	Does an affirmative defense raise a new matter?

9237	Dober v. Worrell, 401 So. 2d 1322, 1323 (Fla. 1981)	1	Failure to raise an affirmative defense before a trial court considers a motion for summary judgment precludes raising that issue for first time on appeal.	We hold that failure to raise an affirmative defense before a trial court considering a motion for summary judgment precludes raising that issue for the first time on appeal.	Can an affirmative defense be raised for the first time on appeal?
9241	Boumediene v. Bush, 553 U.S. 723, 128 S. Ct. 2229, 2259, 171 L. Ed. 2d 41, 21 Fla. L. Weekly Supp. 329 (2008)	9	Even when the United States acts outside its borders, its powers are not absolute and unlimited but are subject to such restrictions as are expressed in its Constitution.	Even when the United States acts outside its borders, its powers are not "absolute and unlimited" but are subject "to such restrictions as are expressed in the Constitution."	"When the United States acts outside its borders, are its powers absolute and unlimited?"
9242	Comes v. Microsoft Corp., 775 N.W.2d 302, 313 (Iowa 2009)	7	A Canadian court generally will be reluctant to prevent someone from gathering evidence extraterritorially, as its ultimate admissibility in a Canadian proceeding will be determined by the Canadian courts.	"A Canadian court generally will be reluctant to prevent someone from gathering evidence extraterritorially, as its ultimate admissibility in a *313 Canadian proceeding will be determined by the Canadian courts." Id.	Will a Canadian court be reluctant to prevent someone from gathering evidence extraterritorially?
9256	Larkin v. Howlett, 19 Ill. App. 3d 343, 345 (Ill. App. Ct. 1974)	6	To establish a cause of action for injunctive relief, plaintiffs must allege facts necessary to establish that their legal remedy is inadequate and that irreparable injury will result should injunctive relief not be granted; consequently, allegations in a complaint that are conclusory in those respects are insufficient.	Furthermore, to establish a cause of action for injunctive relief plaintiffs must allege facts necessary to establish that their legal remedy is inadequate and that irreparable injury will result should injunctive relief not be granted. Consequently, allegations in a complaint that are conclusory in those respects are insufficient.	Should facts be alleged for granting an injunction?
9257	Phoenix Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Birkelund, 29 Cal. 2d 352, 363, 175 P.2d 5, 11 (1946)	5	The general rule is that one who relies upon estoppel or laches as a defense must plead facts constituting such estoppel or laches where there is an opportunity to do so, but such rule does not apply where the facts appear on the face of the adversary's pleading.	It is true that the general rule is that one who relies upon estoppel or laches as a defense must plead facts constituting such estoppel or laches where, as here, there is an opportunity to do so (see Lucci v. United Credit & Collection Co. (1934), 220 Cal. 492, 497, 31 P.2d 369; Victor Oil Co. v. Drum (1920), 184 Cal. 226, 243, 193 P. 243; Mahana v. Echo Publishing Co. (1919), 181 Cal. 233, 236, 183 P. 800; Newhall v. Hatch (1901), 134 Cal. 269, 273, 66 P. 266, 55 L.R.A. 673), but, as recognized in the Victor Oil Co. case, supra, such rule does not apply where the facts appear on the face of the adversary's pleading.	Should the defense of laches be plead with facts constituting such laches?
9262	Szymczak v. Holland Com Hosp, 187 Mich. App. 142, 146 (1991)	2	Benefits and liabilities arising out of workers' compensation statute do not create rights protected by contract clause of Federal or State Constitutions. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10, cl. 1; M.C.L.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10.	However, the Supreme Court has repeatedly held that benefits and liabilities arising out of the workers' compensation statute do not create rights protected by the Contract Clause.	Do the benefits and liabilities in the workers compensation statute create rights protected by the Contract Clause?

9266	Werber v. Atkinson, 84 A.2d 111, 113 (D.C. 1951)	3	A suit which is prematurely brought cannot be maintained, even if cause of action has accrued by time cause is called for trial, nor can an amended petition in such a case set up a cause of action which has not accrued at time original petition was filed.	A suit which is prematurely brought can not be maintained, even if the cause of action has accrued by the time the cause is called for trial, nor can an amended petition in such a case set up a cause of action which has not accrued at the time the original petition was filed.	Can a suit which is prematurely brought be maintained?
9268	MEAGHER v. UINTAH GAS CO., ET AL, 123 Utah 123, 128–29 (1953)	5	Generally, plaintiff in a quiet title action cannot assert title acquired after commencement of the action, but, where such title is acquired after action is begun but before defendant pleads adversely, such title may be pleaded and proved in derogation of defendant's adverse claim.	Nor could a plaintiff in a quiet title action assert title acquired after its commencement. 3 But there are exceptions. *129 Such title acquired after action begun, but before defendant pleads adversely, man be pleaded and proved in derogation of the defendant's adverse claim.	Can a plaintiff in a quiet title action assert title acquired after its commencement?
9278	Bradshaw v. Park, 29 Cal. App. 4th 1267, 1274, 34 Cal. Rptr. 2d 872, 876 (1994)	3	Employer's statutory obligation to secure payment of workers' compensation begins with inception of status as employer and does not depend on making of claim.	The underpinnings of the workers' compensation system rest upon the employer's obligation to secure payment of workers' compensation. (Self-Insurers' Security Fund v. ESIS, Inc. (1988) 204 Cal.App.3d 1148, 1156, 251 Cal.Rptr. 693.) This statutory obligation begins with the inception of the status as employer and does not depend upon the making of a claim. (Ibid.)	"Does an employers statutory obligation to secure payment of workers compensation benefits begin with the inception of status as an employer, and not upon the making of a claim?"
9289	Lyons v. Pool Co. of Texas, 781 So. 2d 569	10	Because federal law and Louisiana law conflicted regarding enforcement of contracts of indemnity and waivers of subrogation, Louisiana law could not apply to invalidate waiver of subrogation in time charter agreement, when claim for subrogation asserted by injured deckhand's employer/time charterer was governed by federal maritime law. LSA-R.S. 9:2780.	Because federal law and Louisiana law conflict regarding the enforcement of contracts of indemnity and waivers of subrogation under LSA-R.S.9:2780, we can not apply Louisiana law to invalidate the waiver of subrogation in the Time Charter agreement, when Tidewater's claim for subrogation is governed by federal maritime law.	Does law prohibit waivers of subrogation?
9300	7 Utes Corp. v. District Court in & for the Eighth Judicial District, 702 P.2d 262, 266 (Colo. 1985)	8	An action affecting real property for venue purposes is one in which title, lien, injury, quality or possession is at issue. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 98(a).	An action affecting real property is one in which "title, lien, injury, quality or possession" is at issue.	"Does an action affect real property if its title, lien, injury, quality or possession is at issue?"
9310	Roll v. Stanton-Pilger Drainage District, 207 Neb. 425, 425 (1980)	1	Plaintiff may dismiss action without prejudice as matter of right at any time before final submission of case. Neb.Rev.St. S 25-601.	Plaintiff may dismiss an action without prejudice to a future action as a matter of right at any time before final submission of case.	"Can a plaintiff, as a matter of right, dismiss his action without prejudice at any time before its final submission?"
9317	TC/American Monorail, Inc. v. Custom Conveyor Corp., 822 N.W.2d 812, 819 (Minn. Ct. App. 2012)	11	The district court has broad discretion to amend scheduling-order deadlines, and appellate court reviews its decision for an abuse of discretion.	Similarly, "[t]he district court has broad discretion to amend scheduling- order deadlines, and we review its decision for an abuse of discretion."	"Does a district court have broad discretion to amend scheduling-order deadlines, and appellate courts review its decision for an abuse of discretion?"

9327	Naughton v. Bankier, 114 Md. App. 641, 653, 691 A.2d 712, 718 (1997)	9	Purpose of rule governing administrative scheduling orders is to maximize judicial efficiency and minimize judicial inefficiency. Md.Rule 2-504.	Montgomery County has implemented the use of administrative scheduling orders pursuant to Maryland Rule 2-504. The purpose of the rule is two-fold: to maximize judicial efficiency and minimize judicial inefficiency.	Is the purpose of a rule governing administrative scheduling orders to maximize judicial efficiency and minimize judicial inefficiency?
9328	Alliance for Metro Stab. v. Metro Council, 671 N.W.2d 905, 919 (Minn. Ct. App. 2003)	29	Generally, continuances should be liberally granted, particularly if the party seeking a continuance had insufficient time to complete discovery.	Generally, continuances should be liberally granted, particularly if the party seeking a continuance had insufficient time to complete discovery.	"Should continuances be liberally granted, particularly if the party seeking a continuance had insufficient time to complete discovery?"
9329	In re Advanced Powder Sols., Inc., 496 S.W.3d 838, 854 (Tex. App. 2016)	24	A person has a duty to preserve evidence only when a party knows or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance that a claim will be filed and that evidence in its possession or control will be material and relevant to that claim.	A person has a duty to preserve evidence "only when a party knows *854 or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance that a claim will be filed and that evidence in its possession or control will be material and relevant to that claim."	Is a defendant under a duty to preserve evidence which it knows or reasonably should know is relevant to the action?
9340	City and County of San Francisco v. Flying Dutchman Park, 122 Cal.App.4th 74, 88, 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d 532 (Cal. Ct. App. 2004)	17	A distinction is made between the taxation of real estate ownership on an ad valorem basis, and a tax on the use of that real property; a tax on the separate use of the property, known as an "excise tax," is permissible, and does not constitute double taxation. West's Ann.Cal. Const. Art. 13, S 1.	However, an important distinction is made between the taxation of real estate ownership on an ad valorem basis, and a tax on the use of that real property. It has long been recognized that a tax on the separate use of the property, known as an excise tax, is permissible, and does not constitute double taxation.	"Is there a distinction between the taxation of real estate ownership on an ad valorem basis, and a tax on the use of that real property?"
9349	Monaco v. New York Univ. Med. Ctr., 213 A.D.2d 167, 169, 623 N.Y.S.2d 566, 568 (1995)	9	While leave to amend should be freely granted, such leave should be denied where proposed pleading fails to state cause of action. McKinney's CPLR 3025(b).	While we are cognizant of the fact that leave to amend should be freely granted (CPLR 3025[b]), such leave should be denied where the proposed pleading fails to state a cause of action	Will leave to amend be denied where the pleading fails to state a cause of action?
9352	Aerojet-General Corp. v. Commercial Union Ins. Co., 155 Cal.App.4th 132, 146, 65 Cal. Rptr. 3d 803 (Cal. Ct. App. 2007)	12	Common law retraxit, i.e., a voluntary renunciation by plaintiff in open court of his suit and cause thereof by which plaintiff forever lost his action, is now accomplished by a dismissal with prejudice.	"In common law, a retraxit was 'a voluntary renunciation by plaintiff in open court of his suit and cause thereof, and by it plaintiff forever loses his action.' [Citations.] In California, the same effect is now accomplished by a dismissal with prejudice.	Is common law retraxit now accomplished by a dismissal with prejudice?
9357	State ex Rel. Hummel v. Sadler, 771 N.E.2d 853, 858 (2002)	6	Despite a voluntary dismissal, a trial court may consider certain collateral issues not related to the merits of the action. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(A)(1).	It is equally true, however, that despite a voluntary dismissal under Civ.R. 41(A)(1), a trial court may consider certain collateral issues not related to the merits of the action.	Can trial courts consider collateral issues like criminal contempt and sanctions despite a voluntary dismissal?

9359	Sicaras v. City of Hartford, 44 Conn. App. 771, 776 (1997)	3	Effect of plaintiff's withdrawal of action, so far as pendency of action is concerned, is strictly analogous to that presented after rendition of final judgment or erasure of case from docket. C.G.S.A. § 52-80.	Under [the] law, the effect of a withdrawal, so far as the pendency of the action is concerned, is strictly analogous to that presented after the rendition of a final judgment or the erasure of the case from the docket.	Is the withdrawal of an action analogous to a final judgment?
9360	Sandoval v. Daniels, 532 P.2d 759, 762 (Colo. App. 1974)	8	Where record does not contain objection by plaintiffs' counsel to pretrial order, such pretrial order has force and effect of stipulation of parties.	The record does not contain any objection by plaintiffs' counsel to the pre-trial order and, therefore, the pre-trial order has the force and effect of a stipulation of the parties.	"Where a record does not contain objection by a plaintiffs' counsel to pretrial order, does such pretrial order have force and effect of stipulation of parties?"
9361	Orbison v. Welsh, 242 Ind. 385, 389 (Ind. 1962)	21	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles the taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than the rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	Does a tax entitle the taxpayer to the the rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens?
9365	Gross v. Ocean Twp., 184 N.J. Super. 144, 150 (1982)	3	Essential characteristic of a tax is a compulsory contribution to the support of government, imposed upon individuals or property pursuant to legislative authority.	The essential characteristic of a tax is a compulsory contribution to the support of government, imposed upon individuals or property pursuant to legislative authority.	Is tax imposed on individuals or property pursuant to a legislative authority?
9370	Cook v. Peacock, 154 S.W.2d 688, 690 (Tex.Civ.App. 1941)	2	A managing partner is bound to keep an accurate account of his transactions with or for the partnership, and, if he fails to keep such account, all doubts respecting particular items will ordinarily be resolved against him on an accounting.	"It is the duty of the managing partner to keep an accurate account of his transactions with or for the partnership, and, if he fails to keep such account, all doubts respecting particular items will ordinarily be resolved against him on an accounting."	Do managing partners have a duty to keep accurate books of account of all transactions relating to partnership affairs?
9371	Di Santo v. City of Warrenville, 59 Ill. App. 3d 931, 937 (Ill. App. Ct. 1978)	6	General conclusions of fraud are not sufficient in a pleading and fraud is never presumed but must be shown by allegation of facts from which fraud is a necessary or probable inference.	It is axiomatic, of course, that general conclusions of fraud are not *938 sufficient in a pleading and that fraud is never presumed but must be shown by allegation of facts from which fraud is a necessary or probable inference.	"Must fraud be shown by allegation of facts, and never presumed?"
9378	Antisdell v. Ashby, 279 Va. 42, 43 (Va. 2010)	2	Defendant is not limited in a new action to raising only the defenses asserted in a previously nonsuited action; new action stands independently of any prior nonsuited action.	A defendant is not limited in a new action to raising only the defenses asserted in a previously nonsuited action, because the new action stands independently of any prior nonsuited action.	Is a defendant limited in a new action to raising only the defenses asserted in a previously nonsuited action?
9379	K. King & G. Shuler Corp. v. King, 259 Cal. App. 2d 383, 394, 66 Cal. Rptr. 330, 337 (Ct. App. 1968), disapproved of by Liodas v. Sahadi, 19 Cal. 3d 278, 562 P.2d 316 (1977)	7	If pleadings and pre-trial order are ambiguous but issue is litigated, parties cannot thereafter claim that the issue was outside issues of case.	If the pleadings and pretrial order be ambiguous but the issue litigated, the parties cannot thereafter claim that the issue was outside the issues of the case.	"If pleadings and pre-trial order are ambiguous but issue is litigated, can parties thereafter claim that the issue was outside issues of case?"

9384	Parletto v. Indus. Comm, 140 Ohio St. 12, 15 (Ohio 1942)	1	The sole issue in a compensation proceeding is right of claimant to participate or to continue to participate in state insurance fund. Gen.Code, S 1465-90.	The sole issue in a workmen's compensation case is the right of the claimant to participate or to continue to participate in the state insurance fund. Section 1465-90, General Code.	Is the sole issue in a workers compensation proceeding whether the claimant has a right to participate or to continue to participate in a state insurance fund?
9385	Khalsa v. Weinberger, 779 F.2d 1393, 1395 (9th Cir. 1985)	1	Doctrine of limited reviewability of certain military regulations and decisions is matter of justiciability, analogous to political-questions doctrine.	Rather, the doctrine of limited reviewability of certain military regulations and decisions is a matter of justiciability, analogous to the political questions doctrine.	"Is the doctrine of limited reviewability of certain military regulations and decisions a matter of justiciability, analogous to the political-questions doctrine?"
9386	Kise v. Department of Military, 574 Pa. 528, 539 (Pa. 2003)	2	The National Guard is a state agency, under state control, and available for state service, yet also is an organization that is provided for by federal law, part of the armed services the United States, and subject to being called into federal service at any time.	In its opinion in this case, the Commonwealth Court accurately described the National Guard as a state agency, under state control, and available for state service, yet as also an organization that is provided for by federal law, part of the armed services the United States, and subject to being called into federal service at any time.	Is the National Guard a component of the Army?
9387	Boone v. United States, 53 Fed. Cl. 731, 734 (Fed.Cl.,2002)	1	Rights and benefits of a member of the military services, including pay and allowances, are defined by statute, and thus common-law rules governing private contracts have no place in the area of military pay.	[1] It is well settled that the "rights and benefits of a member of the military services, including pay and allowances, are defined by statute." Dock v. United States, 46 F.3d 1083, 1086 (Fed.Cir.1995). Accordingly, "common-law rules governing private contracts have no place in the area of military pay."	Is employment of members of the military branches governed by contract?
9394	Bourg Dry Dock v. Lombas Industries, 393 So. 2d 203, 204 (La. Ct. App. 1980)	1	Pretrial order controls subsequent course of action unless modified at trial to prevent manifest injustice; much discretion is left to trial judge in this matter.	That order controls the subsequent course of action unless modified at the trial to prevent manifest injustice. The trial judge refused to modify his order. Much discretion is left to the trial judge in this matter.	Issue: Does a pretrial order controlled course of action unless modified to prevent manifest injustice?
9401	Bickett v. Countrymark Energy Res., LLC, 250 F. Supp. 3d 309, 323 (W.D. Ky. 2017)	24	A party seeking relief for negligent trespass under Kentucky law must show both a negligent act or omission and legally cognizable damages; consequently,without damages, there is no ripened claim.	A party seeking relief must show both a "negligent act or omission and legally cognizable damages." Alagia, Day, Trautwein & Smith v. Broadbent, 882 S.W.2d 121, 126 (Ky. 1994) (emphasis added). Consequently, "[w]ithout damages, there is no ripened claim." Meade Cty. Bank v. Wheatley, 910 S.W.2d 233, 235 (Ky. 1995).	What must a party seeking relief show for negligent trespass?

9402	Town of Islip v. Datre, 245 F. Supp. 3d 397, 428 (E.D.N.Y. 2017)	32	Under New York law, "trespass" is interference with person's right to possession of real property either by unlawful act or lawful act performed in unlawful manner.	A "trespass" under New York law is "the interference with a person's right to possession of real property either by an unlawful act or a lawful act performed in an unlawful manner." 55 Motor Ave.	Can trespass be committed by performing a lawful act in an unlawful manner?
9406	Rosenthal v. National Terrazzo Tile & Marble, Inc., 742 S.W.2d 55, 57 (Tex. App. 1987)	2	Trial court has broad discretion in permitting withdrawal of or amendment to admissions, and such ruling will be set aside only on showing of clear abuse of discretion.	The trial court has broad discretion in permitting the withdrawal of or amendment to admissions, and its ruling will be set aside only on a showing of clear abuse thereof.	Does a trial court have broad discretion to permit or deny the withdrawal of admissions?
9408	Withrow v. Withrow, 278 Ga. 525, 525 (2004)	3	The absence of a party's counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement.	Moreover, "[t]he absence of a [party's] counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement. [Cit.]"	"Is absence of counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts a ground for continuance or postponement?"
9412	Dan-Cin Const. Co., Inc. v. Thrasher, 9 So.3d 205, 208, 2008-1552 La.App. 1 Cir. 2/13/09, 5 (La.App. 1 Cir., 2009)	3	If a party fails to take any steps available to it, after having failed to respond to requests for admissions, the fact is admitted and is conclusively established. LSA-C.C.P. arts. 1466-1468.	However, if a party fails to take any steps available to it, the fact is admitted and, according to Article 1468, is conclusively established.	"If a party fails to take any steps available to it, after having failed to respond to requests for admissions, is the fact admitted and is conclusively established?"
9415	Ex Parte Browder, 373 S.W.2d 256, 257 (Tex. Crim. App. 1963)	1	Statute requiring court to continue cause where party or his attorney is member of Legislature is mandatory. Vernon's Ann.Civ.St. art. 2168a.	Art. 2168a, supra, requiring a court to continue a cause where a party or his attorney is a member of the legislature is recognized by the courts to be mandatory.	Is the statute requiring a court to continue cause where party or his attorney is member of Legislature mandatory?
9418	R.M. Dudley v. Dawson, 258 S.W.3d 694, 701 (Tex. App. 2008)	3	In general, absence of counsel is not good cause for a continuance, but the trial court has the discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 253.	In general, absence of counsel is not good cause for a continuance, but the trial court has the discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown. TEX.R. CIV. P. 253; see Rehabilitation Facility at Austin, Inc.	"Is absence of counsel not good cause for a continuance, but the trial court has the discretion to allow a continuance if good cause is shown?"
9425	Dean v. the State, 93 Tex. Crim. 132, 245 S.W. 921 (Tex. Crim. App. 1922)	1	"Entry" within statute defining burglary and statute defining burglary of private residence at night can be constituted by discharge of firearms or other deadly missile into the house, with intent to injure any person therein (Vernon's Ann.P.C. arts. 1389, 1391, 1393).	"Entry" as employed in article 1389, P.C., defining burglary, and article 1391, defining burglary of a private residence at night "may be constituted by the discharge 159 of fire-arms or other deadly missile into the house, with intent to injure any person therein."	Does entry in a burglary involve the discharge of firearms?
9426	Radio Picture Show Partnership v. Exclusive International Pictures, Inc., 482 N.E.2d 1159, 1169 (Ind. Ct. App. 1986)	19	Limitation on liability in favor of a limited or special partner is a matter of defense, so that it is not necessary for one suing a partnership to allege and prove its general and limited character.	Contrary to the argument made by Radio, the limitation on liability in favor of a limited or special partner is a matter of defense so that it is not necessary for one suing a partnership to allege and prove its general or limited character.	Are limitations of liability in favor of a limited partner a matter of defense?

9432	Jarecki Mfg. Co. v. Merriam, 104 Kan. 646, 180 P. 224, 225 (1919)	4	Even if a request for an admission is objectionable, if a party fails to object and fails to respond to the request, that party should be held to have admitted the matter. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(a, b).	However, even if a request is objectionable, if a party fails to object and fails to respond to the request, that party should be held to have admitted the matter.	"Even if a request for an admission is objectionable, if a party fails to object and fails to respond to the request, should that party be held to have admitted the matter?"
9436	Tongatapu Woodcraft Hawaii, Ltd. v. Feldman, 736 F.2d 1305, 1309 (9th Cir. 1984)	4	Visa petition is not the same thing as a visa; approved visa petition is merely a preliminary step in the visa application and does not guarantee that the visa will be issued and does not grant the alien any right to remain in the United States. Immigration and Nationality Act, S 291, 8 U.S.C.A. S 1361.	It is important to note that a visa petition is not the same thing as a visa. An approved visa petition is merely a preliminary step in the visa application process. 1A Gordon & Rosenfeld, Immigration Law and Procedure 3.5(j). It does not guarantee that a visa will be issued, nor does it grant the alien any right to remain in the United States.	Does the approval of a visa petition of an alien establish the right of permanent residency?
9453	Castillo v. Ruggiero, 562 N.E.2d 446, 449 (Ind. Ct. App. 1990)	1	Once continuance is granted and moving party led to rely on order granting continuance, continuance may not be set aside if injustice will thereby be done to either party.	However, "once a continuance is granted, and the moving party led to rely on the order granting the continuance, the continuance may not be set aside if injustice will thereby be done to either party."	Can a continuance be set aside if any injustice is done to either party?
9454	Gulf Ins. Co. v. Dunlop Tire & Rubber Corp., 584 S.W.2d 886, 889 (Tex. App. 1979)	6	Question of whether a continuance should be granted is to be judged in light of facts before trial judge at time motion is presented.	The question of whether a continuance should be granted is to be judged in the light of the facts before the trial judge at the time the motion is presented.	"Is the question of whether a continuance should be granted, to be judged in light of facts, before a judge, at the time a motion is presented?"
9456	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	4	Even if a request for an admission is objectionable, if a party fails to object and fails to respond to the request, that party should be held to have admitted the matter. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(a, b).	However, even if a request is objectionable, if a party fails to object and fails to respond to the request, that party should be held to have admitted the matter.	"Even if a request for an admission is objectionable, if a party fails to object on the ground that the request is one to admit a legal conclusion, should that party be held to have admitted the matter?"
9468	Morgan v. City of Alvin, 175 S.W.3d 408, 420 (Tex. App. 2004)	27	General allegations in motion for continuance are not sufficient; motion or affidavit must state specific reasons for request. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 251.	General allegations in the motion are not sufficient; the motion or the affidavit must state specific reasons for the request.	Are general allegations in motion for continuance sufficient and the motion or affidavit must state specific reasons for a request?

9478	Anderson v. Am. Soc. of Plastic Surgeons, 807 P.2d 825, 827 (Utah 1991)	1	Court may determine the issue of personal jurisdiction on affidavits alone, permit discovery, or hold an evidentiary hearing; using the first two methods, plaintiff is only required to make a prima facie showing of personal jurisdiction, and plaintiff's factual allegations are accepted as true unless specifically controverted by the defendant's affidavits or by depositions, and any disputes in the documentary evidence are resolved in the plaintiff's favor.	In the federal trial court's discretion, under rule 12 it may determine jurisdiction on affidavits alone, permit discovery, or hold an evidentiary hearing. If it proceeds on documentary evidence alone (i.e., the first two methods), the plaintiff is only required to make a prima facie showing of personal jurisdiction. The plaintiff's factual allegations are accepted as true unless specifically controverted by the defendant's affidavits or by depositions, but any disputes in the documentary evidence are resolved in the plaintiff's favor.	"Can trial courts determine jurisdiction on affidavits alone, permit discovery, or hold an evidentiary hearing?"
9498	Florida v. Wilkerson, 247 S.W.2d 678, 682 (Mo. 1952)	2	Utmost good faith is required of partners in their relations with each other and one partner is the confidential agent of the other and is required to make full disclosure of all material facts within his knowledge in relation to their partnership affairs.	Respondents in their brief cite cases and other authorities to the effect that utmost good faith is required of partners in their relations with each other; that one is the confidential agent of the other and is required to make full disclosure of all material facts within his knowledge in relation to their partnership affairs.	Are partners confidential agents of each other?
9505	First Cmty. Bank, N.A. v. First Tennessee Bank, N.A., 489 S.W.3d 369, 382 (Tenn. 2015)	3	When considering defendant's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, trial court is not obligated to accept as true factual allegations that are controverted by more reliable evidence and plainly lack credibility. Tenn. R. Civ. P. 12.02(2).	However, the trial court is "not obligated to accept as true factual allegations ... that are controverted by more reliable evidence and plainly lack credibility."	Is the trial court not obligated to accept as true factual allegations that are controverted?
9509	Wiramal Corp. v. Dir. of Div. of Tax'n, 36 N.J. 201, 211 (1961)	6	Legislature may seek to discourage certain type of business or activity and foster others in tax laws.	The Legislature may seek to discourage a certain type of business or activity and foster others.	Can Legislature seek to discourage certain type of business or activity and foster others in tax laws?
9510	State ex Rel. Green, Etc. et al. v. Gibson Cir. Ct., 246 Ind. 446, 449 (1965)	1	An action for trespass quare clausum fregit (trespass to real estate) cannot be maintained for invasion of right-of-way or easement.	Traditionally, it has been held that an action for trespass quare clausum fregit (trespass to real estate) cannot be maintained for an invasion of a right of way or easement.	Can an action for trespass quare clausum fregit (trespass to real estate) be maintained for an invasion of a right-of-way or easement?
9511	Barnes v. Mathis, 353 S.W.3d 760, 764, 55 Tex. Sup. Ct. J. 63 (Tex. 2011)	7	"Trespass to real property" is an unauthorized entry upon the land of another, and may occur when one enters, or causes something to enter, another's property.	Trespass to real property is an unauthorized entry upon the land of another, and may occur when one enters or causes something to enter-another's property.	"Can trespass occur when one enters, or causes something to enter, another's property?"
9514	U.S. v. Rendon, 607 F.3d 982, 990 (4th Cir. 2010)	4	Searches on closed military bases are exempt from the usual Fourth Amendment requirement of probable cause. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 4.	The case law makes clear that searches on closed military bases have long been exempt from the usual Fourth Amendment requirement of probable cause.	"Are searches, on closed military bases, exempt from the Fourth Amendment requirement of probable cause?"

9545	Xylem Dewatering Sols., Inc. v. Dir., Div. of Tax'n, 30 N.J. Tax 41, 67 (2017), as corrected (Apr. 10, 2017)	12	The federal constitution places limits on a State's power to tax value earned outside of its borders.	"The Constitution places limits on a State's power to tax value earned outside of its borders."	Does the federal constitution place limits on a State's power to tax value earned outside of its borders?
9552	Tex. Entm't Ass'n, Inc. v. Combs, 431 S.W.3d 790, 800 (Tex. App. 2014)	17	The state generally has broad powers to impose and collect taxes, but it may not make classifications among taxpayers that are arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious. Vernon's Ann.Texas Const. Art. 8, S 1.	The state generally has "broad powers to impose and collect taxes, but [it] may not make classifications among taxpayers that are arbitrary, unreasonable, or capricious."	Do states have broad powers to impose and collect taxes?
9555	Walker v. Chief Quarantine Officer, 69 F. Supp. 980, 987 (D.C.Z. 1943)	5	A civilian employee serving in the field or at a military post is subject to the military regulations and the lawful orders of superior. Articles of War, art. 2(d), 10 U.S.C.A. S 802.	It is true that a civilian employee serving in the field or at a military post is subject to the military regulations and the lawful orders of superiors, and this by reason of the statute set forth above.	Are all civilian employees serving in the field or at a military post is subject to the lawful orders of superiors?
9559	In re Quinn's Estate, 283 Ill. App. 597, 604 (1936)	1	The words "residence," "residing," and "domicile," though having different shades of meaning, are often used synonymously, and where such words are used in statutes they are used synonymously and signify legal residence or domicile unless their meaning is limited by express definition or context.	The words "residence," "residing," "domicile," and similar words, while having different shades of meaning, are often used synonymously and it is almost uniformly held that when such words are used in statutes they are used synonymously and signify "legal residence," or "domicile," unless their meaning is limited either by express definition in the statute or by the context of the act.	Does residence take on shades of meaning according to the context in which it is found?
9560	Roesler v. Roesler, 396 S.C. 100, 107 (S.C. Ct. App. 2011)	5	"Domicile" means the place where a person has his true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment, to which he has, whenever he is absent, an intention of returning.	Domicile "means the place where a person has his true, fixed and permanent home and principal establishment, to which he has, whenever he is absent, an intention of returning."	"Is a person's domicile a place to which whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning?"
9572	Cuccia v. H.M. Weiner & Assocs., 234 A.D.2d 26, 26, 650 N.Y.S.2d 168, 168 (1996)	1	Failure to serve summons with complaint is jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of action. McKinney's CPLR 304, 305(b).	The failure to serve a summons with the complaint in this matter is a jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of the action	Is failure to serve summons with complaint a jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of action?
9573	U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n v. Croteau, 183 So. 3d 1089 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2015)	2	Dismissal is considered the most extreme of sanctions and should be reserved for cases involving flagrant violations of procedural rules.	Second, dismissal is considered the most extreme of sanctions and "should be reserved for cases involving flagrant violations of procedural rules.	Is dismissal an extreme sanction and should be reserved for cases involving flagrant violations of procedural rules?
9574	Lindsey v. King, 894 So. 2d 1058, 1059 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	3	A sanction imposed under rules of appellate procedure must be commensurate with the violation; dismissal is an extreme sanction and, as such, it is reserved for the most flagrant violations of the appellate rules. West's F.S.A. R.App.P.Rule 9.410.	"A sanction imposed under rule 9.410 of the Florida Rules of Appellate Procedure must be commensurate with the violation. Dismissal is an extreme sanction and, as such, it is reserved for the most flagrant violations of the appellate rules.	Is dismissal an extreme sanction and should be reserved for cases involving flagrant violations of procedural rules?

9578	Harstad v. City of Woodbury, 902 N.W.2d 64, 76 (Minn. Ct. App. 2017)	20	A district court may dismiss a cause of action as moot if an event occurs that resolves the issue or renders it impossible to grant effective relief.	A district *76 court may dismiss a cause of action as moot "if an event occurs that resolves the issue or renders it impossible to grant effective relief."	Will a matter be dismissed as moot if an event occurs that resolves the issue or renders it impossible for the court to grant effectual relief?
9584	Am. Hous. Corp. v. Rhoades, 1 Ohio App. 3d 130, 131, 439 N.E.2d 946, 947 (1981)	1	Trial courts have authority to impose sanctions where actions of party operate to support judicial process; but justice requires that where range of sanctions is available, most drastic sanctions must be reserved for flagrant cases.	There is no question that trial courts have authority to impose sanctions where the actions of a party operate to thwart the judicial process. But justice requires that where a range of sanctions is available, the most drastic sanctions must be reserved for flagrant cases. See Ward v. Hester (1973), 36 Ohio St. 2d 38, 303 N.E.2d 861, 65 O.O.2d 181, certiorari denied sub nom. Continental Casualty Co. v. Ward (1974), 415 U.S. 984, 94 S.Ct. 1577, 39 L.Ed.2d 881.	Do trial courts have authority to impose sanctions where actions of a party operate to support judicial process?
9591	Lakota Consol. Independent School v. Buffalo Center/Rake Community Schools, 334 N.W.2d 704, 708 (Iowa,1983)	3	For purposes of passing on motion to dismiss for failure to state claim upon which relief can be granted, notice pleading requires only short and plain statement of claim, and, in order to sustain such a motion, Supreme Court must conclude that no state of facts is conceivable under which plaintiff might show right of recovery. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 104(b).	We have stated that for purposes of passing on a motion to dismiss under Iowa Rule of Civil Procedure 104(b), our notice pleading requires only a short and plain statement of the claim. Van Meter v. Van Meter, 328 N.W.2d 497 (Iowa 1983). In order to sustain a motion under rule 104(b), we must conclude that no state of facts is conceivable under which plaintiff might show a right of recovery.	Does notice pleading require only a short and plain statement of the claim?
9604	S.E. Mobile Homes v. Transit Homes, 192 So. 2d 53, 58 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1966)	9	Trial court has authority to dismiss a complaint with prejudice where the plaintiff wilfully fails to obey an order of court.	'There can be no doubt of the authority of a trial court to dismiss a complaint with prejudice where the plaintiff wilfully fails to obey an order of court.	Does a trial court have authority to dismiss a complaint with prejudice where the plaintiff wilfully fails to obey an order of court?
9605	Maldonado v. Ford Motor Co., 476 Mich. 372, 389 (Mich. 2006)	6	The authority to dismiss a lawsuit for litigant misconduct is a creature of the clean hands doctrine and, despite its origins, is applicable to both equitable and legal damages claims.	"The authority to dismiss a lawsuit for litigant misconduct is a creature of the 'clean hands doctrine' and, despite its origins, is applicable to both equitable and legal damages claims."	Does a trial court have inherent authority to dismiss a lawsuit for litigant misconduct?
9607	Succession of Sigur v. Henritz, 126 So. 3d 529, 536 (La. Ct. App. 2013)	3	Because dismissal is the harshest of remedies, any reasonable doubt about abandonment of an action should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561 (2006).	"Because dismissal is the harshest of remedies, any reasonable doubt about abandonment should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment."	Should any reasonable doubt about abandonment of an action be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment?

9612	Hines v. Stein, 298 U.S. 94, 98 (Pa. 1936)	3	Purpose of regulations in respect of fees of those concerned with pension matters is to protect United States and beneficiaries against extortion, imposition, or fraud. 38 U.S.C.A. SS 210, 611, 3404; Act July 4, 1884, SS 4, 6, 23 Stat. 99, 101; Executive Order No. 6098, Veteran's Reg. No. 10.	The broad purpose of regulations in respect of fees of those concerned with pension matters is to protect the United States and beneficiaries against extortion, imposition, or fraud.	What is the purpose of regulations in respect of fees of those concerned with pension matters?
9617	Philips v. Marshall Berwick Chevrolet, Inc., 467 So. 2d 1068, 1069-70 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1985)	3	Where activity by plaintiff is facially sufficient, as opposed to merely passive, e.g., a name change, or substitution of counsel, court cannot inquire further as to how well the activity advances the cause in determining whether to dismiss action for failure to prosecute. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.420(e).	Where activity is facially sufficient, as opposed to merely passive, e.g., a name *1070 change, Overseas Development, Inc. v. Ameri-First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 433 So.2d 587 (Fla. 3d DCA 1983); substitution of counsel, Industrial Trucks of Florida, Inc. v. Gonzalez, 351 So.2d 744 (Fla. 3d DCA 1977); a court cannot inquire further as to how well the activity advances the cause.	"Where activity by a plaintiff is facially sufficient, can a court inquire further?"
9620	Delacruz v. Anadarko Petroleum Corp., 157 So.3d 790, 793, 794 2014-0433 La.App. 4 Cir. 12/3/14, 5, 7 (La.App. 4 Cir., 2014)	2	Any reasonable doubt about abandonment of a claim based on the parties' failure to take any step in its prosecution or defense for a period of three years should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	Under La. C.C.P. art. 561, a case is considered abandoned "when the parties fail to take any step in its prosecution or defense in the trial court for a period of three years."...Our jurisprudence also indicates that "any reasonable doubt about abandonment should be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment."	Should any reasonable doubt about abandonment of a claim based on the parties' failure be resolved in favor of allowing the prosecution of the claim and against dismissal for abandonment?
9628	London Livery v. Brinks, 3 So. 3d 13, 15 (La. Ct. App. 2008)	2	Motions to withdraw, enroll, or substitute counsel are not considered formal steps in the prosecution as contemplated by the abandonment article. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	However, as the Appellants correctly point out, it is well established that motions to withdraw, enroll or substitute counsel are not considered formal steps in the prosecution as contemplated by La. C.C.P. art. 561.	"Is a motion to withdraw or enroll as counsel or to substitute counsel not considered a formal ""step"" before court in prosecution of suit?"
9631	Landers-Scelfo v. Corp. Off. Sys., Inc., 356 Ill. App. 3d 1060, 1065, 827 N.E.2d 1051, 1056 (2005)	1	A party moving to dismiss under Code of Civil Procedure section governing involuntary dismissal based upon certain defects and defenses admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint, but asserts the existence of an external defect or defense that defeats the cause of action. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-619.	*1065 A party moving to dismiss under section 2-619 admits the legal sufficiency of the complaint, but asserts the existence of an external defect or defense that defeats the cause of action.	Can a party deny the legal sufficiency of the complaint in a motion to dismiss on the pleadings?
9634	United States v. Tomoya Kawakita, 96 F. Supp. 824, 827 (S.D. Cal. 1951)	2	A citizen or subject owes an absolute and permanent allegiance to his government or sovereign, or at least until, by some open and distinct act, he renounces it and becomes a citizen or subject of another government or another sovereign, and an alien, while domiciled in country, owes a local and temporary allegiance, which continues during the period of his residence.	The citizen or subject owes an absolute and permanent allegiance to his government or sovereign, or at least until, by some open and distinct act, he renounces it and becomes a citizen or subject of another government or another sovereign. The alien, whilst domiciled in the country, owes a local and temporary allegiance, which continues during the period of his residence.'	Does a citizen or subject owe a permanent allegiance to the country?

9648	Tri Star Investments, Inc. v. Miele, 407 So. 2d 292 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1981)	2	Court should carefully adhere to established due process, adversarial practice, and evidentiary rules in conducting an inquiry into charges that fraud has been perpetrated on the court.	The court, however, should carefully adhere to established due process, adversarial practice, and evidentiary rules in conducting an inquiry into such charges.	"While a court has the inherent authority to dismiss an action where a fraud has been perpetrated, is that the most severe of sanctions and the court must carefully adhere to established due process?"
9651	Lester v. State Workmen's Compensation Commissioner, 161 W. Va. 299, 312 (W. Va. 1978)	4	Rights and duties under workmen's compensation statute are no longer contractual but grow out of employer-employee status to which law attaches certain duties and responsibilities and liability of employers arises from law itself, rather than from any agreement of the parties; thus only significance adhering to contractual relationship is existence of employer-employee relationship and once that relationship is established, the statute imposes certain duties and responsibilities on parties to that relationship. Code, 23-4-15.	Therefore, despite our course of decisions in this area of the law, 13 are of the 451 opinion that the rights and duties under our workmen's compensation statute are no longer contractual but grow out of the employer- employee status to which the law attaches certain duties and responsibilities. The liability of employers arises from the law itself, rather than from any agreement of the parties. The only significance adhering to the contractual relationship is the existence of an employer-employee relationship. Once the employer-employee relationship is established, the statute imposes certain duties and responsibilities on the parties to that relationship.	Is it the employer-employee status to which the law attaches certain duties and responsibilities?
9653	Walker v. Winston Cnty. Comm'n, 474 So. 2d 1116, 1118 (Ala. 1985)	5	Gap or gate across public road to control livestock does not cause road to lose character as public way, where there is no interruption of use of road by those traveling it.	A gap or gate across a way to control livestock, as here, will not cause a road to lose its character as a public way, when it is evident that there was no interruption of its use by those travelling it.	Whether placing of a gap or gate can cause the road to lose its public character?

9661	Scoville v. Shaffer, 9 S.W.3d 201, 204 (Tex. App. 1999)	7	In determining whether a party has demonstrated a lack of diligence in prosecuting a claim, a trial court may consider the entire history of the case, including the length of time the case was on file, the extent of activity in the case, whether a trial setting was requested, and the existence of reasonable excuses for delay; no single factor is dispositive, and a belated trial setting or stated readiness to proceed to trial does not conclusively establish diligence.	In determining under its inherent authority whether a party has demonstrated a lack of diligence in prosecuting a claim, a trial court may consider the entire history of the case; including the length of time the case was on file, the extent of activity in the case, whether a trial setting was requested, and the existence of reasonable excuses for delay. Scoville v. Shaffer, 9 S.W.3d 201, 204 (Tex.App.-San Antonio 1999, no pet.); King v. Holland, 884 S.W.2d 231, 237 (Tex.App.-Corpus Christi 1994, writ denied). No single factor is dispositive, and a belated trial setting or stated readiness to proceed to trial does not conclusively establish diligence.	Does a belated trial setting or stated readiness to proceed to trial conclusively establish diligence?
9662	Cullen v. Phillips, 30 P.3d 828, 834 (Colo. App. 2001)	20	Although unilateral resumption of prosecution should not necessarily insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution, it is an important factor in the trial court's consideration, and other factors include the length of delay, the reasons for the delay, the prejudice that will result to the defendant by allowing the matter to continue, the difficulties in trying the case as a result of the delay, and the nature and extent of the plaintiff's renewed efforts.	Although unilateral resumption of prosecution should not necessarily insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution, it is an important factor in the trial court's consideration. See Lake Meredith Reservoir Co. v. Amity Mutual Irrigation Co., 698 P.2d 1340 (Colo.1985). Other factors include the length of delay, the reasons for the delay, the prejudice that will result to the defendant by allowing the matter to continue, the difficulties in trying the case as a result of the delay, and the nature and extent of the plaintiff's renewed efforts.	Should unilateral resumption of prosecution insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution?
9663	Horobec v. Mueller, 628 S.W.2d 942, 944 (Mo. App. 1982)	9	Decision whether a case should be dismissed for want of prosecution should be determined upon the particular facts and circumstances of the action on a case-by-case basis.	Although the decision whether a case should be dismissed for want of prosecution should be determined upon the particular facts and circumstances of the action on a case- by-case basis	Should the decision to dismiss a case for want of prosecution be determined on a case by case basis?
9668	Crowell v. Cox, 525 S.W.3d 578, 582 (Mo. Ct. App. 2017)	1	In reviewing the petition on motion to dismiss to determine if it states a claim, courts accept the allegations in the petition as true and grant the plaintiffs all reasonable inferences from those allegations; courts do not weigh the factual allegations to determine their credibility or persuasiveness.	In reviewing the petition to determine if it states a claim, we accept the allegations in the petition as true and grant the plaintiffs all reasonable inferences from those allegations. Campbell v. Cty. Comm'n of Franklin Cty., 453 S.W.3d 762, 767 (Mo. banc 2015). We do not weigh the factual allegations to determine their credibility or persuasiveness.	"In reviewing the petition to determine if it states a claim, do courts accept the allegations in the petition as true?"

9672	Amicizia Societa Nav. v. Chilean Nitrate, 274 F.2d 805, 808 (2d Cir. 1960)	1	Court's function in confirming or vacating an arbitration award is severely limited, since, if it were otherwise, ostensible purpose for resort to arbitration, which is avoidance of litigation, would be frustrated. 9 U.S.C.A. §§ 10, 11.	But as respondent recognizes, the court's function in confirming or vacating an arbitration award is severely limited. If it were otherwise, the ostensible purpose for resort to arbitration, i.e., avoidance of litigation, would be frustrated.	Will the ostensible purpose of arbitration be frustrated if a court determines the merits of the parties' arguments in advance of pending arbitration?
9686	R & B Kapital Dev., LLC v. N. Shore Cmty. Bank & Tr. Co., 358 Ill. App. 3d 912, 921, 832 N.E.2d 246, 255 (2005)	9	An affirmative defense is properly asserted for the first time in a Section 2-615 motion for dismissal with respect to pleadings only if the defense is apparent from the face of the complaint. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	An affirmative defense is properly asserted in a section 2-615 motion only if the defense is apparent from the face of the complaint.	Can an affirmative defense be asserted for the first time in a motion for dismissal with respect to pleadings only if the defense is apparent from the face of the complaint?
9689	Rossi v. Mathers, 749 P.2d 964, 965 (Colo. App. 1987)	2	In absence of showing by plaintiff of mitigating circumstances or reasonable excuse for delay, unusual delay in prosecuting action justifies dismissal with prejudice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 121(b), Standard S 1-10 (1987).	Thus, in the absence of a showing by the plaintiff of mitigating circumstances or a reasonable excuse for the delay, an unusual delay in prosecuting an action justifies dismissal with prejudice.	Does unusual delay in prosecuting action justify dismissal with prejudice?
9696	White Eagle v. City of Fort Pierre, 2002 S.D. 68, ¶ 4, 647 N.W.2d 716, 718	7	Dismissal of a cause of action for failure to prosecute should be granted when, after considering all the facts and circumstances of the case, the plaintiff can be charged with lack of due diligence in failing to proceed with reasonable promptness. SDCL 15-11-11, 15-30-16.	Finally, the dismissal of the cause of action for failure to prosecute should be granted when, after considering all the facts and circumstances of the case, the plaintiff can be charged with lack of due diligence in failing to proceed with reasonable promptitude.	Does plaintiff have the burden to proceed with an action and does defendant need only meet the plaintiff step by step?
9697	Cent. Tr. Co., Rochester v. Sheahan, 66 A.D.2d 1015, 1015-16, 411 N.Y.S.2d 741, 743 (1978)	4	An agent may be appointed to do the same acts and to achieve the same legal consequences as if the principal had himself personally acted, except as to acts which by their nature, by public policy, or by contract, require personal performance or acts which are illegal.	Moreover, an agent may be appointed to do the same acts and to achieve the same legal consequences as if the principal had himself personally acted, except as to acts which by their nature, by public policy, or by contract, require personal performance, or *1016 acts which are illegal (N.Y.Jur. Agency, s 18).	Can an agent be appointed to do the same acts as the principal?
9698	City of Largo v. AHF-Bay Fund, LLC, 215 So. 3d 10, 16 (Fla. 2017)	11	A "tax" is an enforced burden imposed by a sovereign right for the support of the government, the administration of law, and the exercise of various functions the sovereign is called on to perform.	A tax is an enforced burden imposed by a sovereign right for the support of the government, the administration of law, and the exercise of various functions the sovereign is called on to perform.	Is a tax enforced to support the exercise of functions of the sovereign?

9708	Snpco, Inc. v. City of Jefferson City, 363 S.W.3d 467, 473 (Tenn. 2012)	2	A motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim for which relief may be granted requires the court to review the complaint alone. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12.02(6).	The trial court should not grant a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted unless: (1) the allegations of the complaint disclose with certainty that the claimant would not be entitled to relief under any state of provable facts asserted in support thereof; and (2) the movant establishes that the claimant could not possibly introduce evidence within the framework of the complaint sufficient to warrant a grant of the relief sought.	Can a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim for which relief can be granted require the court to review the complaint alone?
9711	In re Marriage of Hanlon, 83 Ill. App. 3d 629, 632 (Ill. App. Ct. 1980)	2	Courts possess inherent power to dismiss actions for want of prosecution and determination that there has been lack of diligent prosecution warranting dismissal rests within sound discretion of trial court and should not be disturbed on appeal unless reviewing court finds abuse of that discretion; however, dismissal for want of prosecution is error unless party has been guilty of inexcusable delay in prosecuting the suit.	Courts possess the inherent power to dismiss actions for want of prosecution and a determination that there has been a lack of diligent prosecution warranting dismissal rests within the sound discretion of the trial court and should not be disturbed upon appeal unless the reviewing court finds an abuse of that discretion. However, a dismissal for want of prosecution 876 285 is error unless the party has been guilty of inexcusable delay in prosecuting the suit.	Is dismissal for want of prosecution error unless party has been guilty of inexcusable delay in prosecuting the suit?
9715	Gordon v. Greenview Hosp, 300 S.W.3d 635, 644 (Tenn. 2009)	6	If a defendant challenges jurisdiction over the person by motion, the defendant may, but is not required to, support the motion with affidavits or other evidentiary materials; however, if the defendant supports its motion with affidavits, the plaintiff must establish its prima facie showing of personal jurisdiction over the defendant by filing its own affidavits or other written evidence. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12.02(2).	If a defendant raises the defense by motion, the defendant may, but is not required to, support the motion with affidavits or other evidentiary materials. However, if a defendant supports its motion with affidavits, the plaintiff must establish its prima facie showing of personal jurisdiction over the defendant by filing its own affidavits or other written evidence.	"When trial court expresses an intent to rule on motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction without an evidentiary hearing, should a defendant support a motion with affidavits or other evidentiary materials?"
9716	N.L.R.B. v. Int'l Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union, Local 10, 283 F.2d 558, 565 (9th Cir. 1960)	5	An agent may be acting within the scope of his authority even when he commits an act specifically forbidden by his principal.	Nonetheless, it is beyond doubt that an agent may well be acting within the scope of his authority even when he commits an act specifically forbidden by his principal.	Does an agent act within the scope of his authority even when he commits an act specifically forbidden by his principal?
9719	Sierra Club v. Robertson, 784 F. Supp. 593, 604 (W.D. Ark. 1991)	9	Although Court of Appeals must engage in thorough, probing, in-depth review, Forest Service's actions are entitled to presumption of regularity.	Finally, although the court must engage in a " 'thorough, probing, in-depth review,' " the Forest Service's actions are entitled to a " 'presumption of regularity.' "	Does the Court have to engage in a probing and in-depth review of the Forest Service's actions?

9726	Bowman v. Benouffas, 519 S.W.3d 586, 602 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2016)	26	When a court is dealing simply with allegations of pleadings, the court is not free to construct additional facts or allegations. Tenn. R. Civ. P. 8.01.	In fact, "[w]hen the Court is dealing simply with allegations of pleadings, ... the Court is not free to construct additional facts or allegations."	"When the court is dealing simply with allegations of pleadings, is it free to construct additional facts or allegations?"
9727	Covil v. Robert Co. Associates, 112 Ga. App. 163, 169 (Ga. Ct. App. 1965)	11	On general demurrer or oral motion in nature of general demurrer, petition must be construed most strongly against pleader, and in applying this rule, the petition will be construed in light of its omissions as well as its averments.	When considered on *169 general demurrer or oral motion in the nature of a general demurrer, a petition must be construed most strongly against the pleader; in applying this rule the petition will be construed in the light of its omissions as well as its averments.	"Will a petition be construed most strongly against the pleader, on general demurer?"
9728	Alan J. Cornblatt, P.A. v. Barow, 153 N.J. 218, 243 (N.J. 1998)	27	Generally, dismissal that is on the merits of claim is with prejudice, but dismissal that is based on court's procedural inability to consider case is without prejudice.	Generally, a dismissal that is "on the merits" of a claim is with prejudice, but a dismissal that is "based on a court's procedural inability to consider a case" is without prejudice.	Is a dismissal based on the court's procedural inability to consider a case without prejudice?
9729	Chodorow v. Porto Vita, Ltd., 954 So. 2d 1240, 1242 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2007)	4	If the analysis of a claim is factually intensive, it is better addressed on a summary judgment motion, or at trial, but certainly not on a motion to dismiss.	Additionally, if the analysis of a claim is factually intensive, it is better addressed on a summary judgment motion, or at trial, but certainly not on a motion to dismiss.	"If the analysis of a claim is factually intensive, is it better addressed on a summary judgment motion?"
9733	Gen. Motors Acceptance Corp. v. Lynch Bldg. Corp., 118 Fla. 2, 4 (Fla. 1935)	2	Principal is bound by acts committed by agent within scope of his real or apparent authority, and public may rely on apparent authority of agent unless put on inquiry by circumstances.	On the question of agency this court is committed to the rule that the principal is bound by acts committed within the real or apparent authority of its agent and that the public may rely on the apparent authority of the agent unless the circumstances are such as to put them on inquiry.	Can the public rely on the apparent authority of the agent?
9734	Newman v. City of Indianola, 232 N.W.2d 568, 573 (Iowa 1975)	5	There is a distinction between a "tax" and an "assessment"; a "tax" is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	There is a distinction between 'taxes' and 'assessments.' A tax is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	Is tax a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred?
9736	Transport Ins. Co. v. Jaeger, 534 S.W.2d 389, 391 (Tex. Civ. App. 1976)	1	Remedies under Workmen's Compensation Act are purely statutory; each step toward maturity of compensation claim is mandatory requirement necessary to invoke jurisdiction of each statutory agency or court. Vernon's Ann.Civ.St. art. 8307, S 5.	Remedies under the Workmen's Compensation Act are purely statutory; each step toward maturity of a compensation claim is a mandatory requirement necessary to invoke the jurisdiction of each statutory agency or court.	"In workmens compensation, when can one invoke jurisdiction?"
9737	ATC Petroleum, Inc. v. Sanders, 860 F.2d 1104, 1111 (D.C. Cir. 1988)	1	Doctrine of equitable estoppel is not, in itself, either a claim or a defense; rather, it is a means of precluding a litigant from asserting an otherwise available claim or defense against a party who has detrimentally relied on that litigant's conduct.	The doctrine of equitable estoppel is not, in itself, either a claim or a defense. Rather, it is a means of precluding a litigant from asserting an otherwise available claim or defense against a party who has detrimentally relied on that litigant's conduct.	"Is equitable estoppel not, in itself, a claim or a defense?"

9742	Bianchi v. Savino Del Bene Int'l Freight Forwarders, Inc., 329 Ill. App. 3d 908, 918, 770 N.E.2d 684, 692 (2002)	5	A motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense assumes a cause of action has been stated, but asserts that the claim is defeated by affirmative matter, while a motion to dismiss based upon defect in pleadings attacks defects apparent on the face of the complaint and is based on the insufficiency in the pleading rather than on the underlying facts. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615, 2-619(a)(9).	A section 2-619(a)(9) motion assumes a cause of action has been stated, but asserts that the claim is defeated by affirmative matter. Barber-Colman Co. v. A & K Midwest Insulation Co., 236 Ill.App.3d 1065, 1068- 74, 177 Ill.Dec. 841, 603 N.E.2d 1215 (1992). A motion to dismiss under section 2-615 motion attacks defects apparent on the face of the complaint and is based on insufficiency in the pleading rather than on the underlying facts.	Is a motion to dismiss based on the insufficiency in the pleading rather than on the underlying facts?
9745	State v. Rhodes, 408 S.W.2d 68, 70 (Mo. 1966)	3	Unlocking and opening a locked door; or pushing open a door which is shut but neither locked nor latched; or the opening of a closed door or the opening of an unlocked door is sufficient to render an entry thus effected burglary, if done with intent to commit burglary.	Unlocking and opening a locked door, or pushing open a door which is shut but neither locked nor latched, 12 C.J.S. Burglary s 3; or the opening of a closed door, State v. Stewart, 329 Mo. 265, 44 S.W.2d 100, or the opening of an unlocked door, State v. Fritz, Mo.Sup., 379 S.W.2d 589, and cases cited, I.c. 590, is sufficient to render an entry thus effected burglary, if done with intent to commit burglary.	Can opening a door with a key constitute burglary?
9747	Rezac Livestock Comm'n Co. v. Pinnacle Bank, 255 F. Supp. 3d 1150, 1160 (D. Kan. 2017)	4	Under Kansas law, a principal-agent relationship is created when one person, a principal, manifests assent to another person, an agent, that the agent shall act on the principal's behalf and subject to the principal's control, and the agent manifests assent or otherwise consents so to act.	In Golden Rule, the Kansas Supreme Court explained that a principal-agent relationship (also referred to as an agency relationship) is created "when one person (a 'principal') manifests assent to another person (an 'agent') that the agent shall act on the principal's behalf and subject to the principal's control, and the agent manifests assent or otherwise consents so to act."	When is a principal-agent relationship created?
9749	Kaw Valley State Bank & Trust v. Commercial Bank of Liberty, N.A., 567 S.W.2d 710, 713 (Mo. Ct. App. 1978)	7	Assignee of nonnegotiable instrument takes it subject to all defenses which maker may have against instrument prior to notice of assignment. V.A.M.S. SS 431.160, 509.480.	The assignee of a nonnegotiable instrument takes it subject to all defenses the maker may have against the instrument prior to notice of the assignment.	Does an assignee of a nonnegotiable instrument take it subject to all defenses that the maker has against the instrument prior to notice of the assignment?
9752	Preston v. Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, 178 Cal.Rptr. 882, 884, 126 Cal.App.3d 402, 407 (Cal.App. 2 Dist., 1981)	3	Policy of law is to require a plaintiff to expedite resolution of his or her claim and court should not enforce claims unless plaintiff acts in timely fashion. West's Ann.C.C.P. S 583.	The policy of our law is to require a plaintiff to expedite the resolution of his or her claim and courts should not enforce claims unless the parties claiming them act in a timely fashion.	Should court enforce claims unless plaintiff acts in timely fashion?

9754	Hendrix v. Fulton Dekalb Hosp. Auth., 330 Ga. App. 833 (2015)	5	A dismissal for failure to state a claim is a dismissal on the merits, with prejudice, and renders the suit void and incapable of being renewed after expiration of the applicable statute of limitation. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 9-2-61.	A dismissal for failure to state a claim is a dismissal on the merits, with prejudice, and renders the suit void and incapable of being renewed pursuant to OCGA 9- 2-61 after expiration of the applicable statute of limitation.	Is a dismissal for failure to state a claim a dismissal on the merits and is with prejudice?
9764	Cook v. Ripley, 786 F. Supp. 2d 1166, 1170 (N.D. Miss. 2011)	6	Under Mississippi law, a power of attorney must be a writing that (1) authorizes an attorney-in-fact or other agent to do, execute or perform any act that the principal might or could do, or (2) evidences the principal's intent to give the attorney-in-fact or agent full power to handle the principal's affairs. West's A.M.C. S 87-3-7.	The power of attorney must be a writing that (a) authorizes an attorney-in-fact or other agent to do, execute or perform any act that the principal might or could do, or (b) evidences the principal's intent to give the attorney-in-fact or agent full power to handle the principal's affairs	What is a power of attorney?
9765	Rivercity v. American Can Co., 600 F. Supp. 908, 915 (E.D. La. 1984)	9	"Agency by estoppel" is not based on actual agency, but is generally found under circumstances where third parties have been led to believe that agency relationship was in existence and relied on that belief to their detriment, with result that parties who held out that agency relationship existed are estopped from denying it.	"Agency by estoppel", it must be noted, is not based on actual agency but instead is generally found under circumstances where third parties have been led to believe that an agency relationship was in existence and have relied on that belief to their detriment. Those parties then who have held out that there was an agency relationship in existence are estopped from denying same.	What is an agency by estoppel?
9766	State v. Commercial Loan Co., 251 Ala. 672, 675 (1948)	4	The word "tax", unless expressly defined, is inclusive of both levies for revenue purposes and levies for regulatory purposes, and thus license fees are commonly called taxes, though strictly speaking they may be a charge or fee rather than a tax.	The foregoing Alabama authorities demonstrate that the word tax, unless expressly defined, is inclusive of both levies for revenue purposes and levies for regulatory 574 purposes. In other words license fees are commonly called taxes even though strictly speaking they may be a charge or fee rather than a tax.	"Are license fees commonly called taxes, even though they may be a charge or fee rather than a tax?"
9770	Sabbath v. Martin, 2009 WL 3449096, at *2 (La.App. 2 Cir.,2009)	3	A defect is redhibitory warranting rescission of sale when it renders the thing useless, or its use so inconvenient that it must be presumed the buyer would not have bought the thing if he had known of the defect. LSA-C.C. art. 2520.	A defect is redhibitory when it renders the thing useless, or its use so inconvenient that it must be presumed the buyer would not have bought the thing if he had known of the defect.	What are redhibitory defects in a sale and does existence of such defects give the buyer the right to rescission?
9782	Finch v. Ekstrom, 1 P.2d 516, 517, 115 Cal.App. 381, 382 (Cal.App. 2 Dist. 1931)	1	Entry in minutes of order granting nonsuit is final act in entering final judgment, and thereafter another judgment is improper. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. S 581.	It is provided in section 581, Code of Civil Procedure, that the entry in the minutes of an order granting a nonsuit is the final act in entering a final judgment, and there is no place thereafter for another judgment.	Is entry in minutes of an order granting nonsuit a final act in entering final judgment?

9788	Stephens v. Catalano, 7 So. 2d 380, 381 (La. Ct. App. 1942)	1	The only occupations protected by the compensation act are those businesses specially designated in the act, those persons who, by agreement, have elected to come under the act, and those businesses determined by the courts, prior to the occurrence of the accident, to be of a hazardous nature. Act No. 20 of 1914, S 1, subd. 2(a), LSA-R.S. 23:1021.	There can be no doubt that the only occupations protected or made applicable by the compensation laws of this state are: (1) Those businesses specially designated in the act. (2) Those persons who, by agreement, have elected to come under the terms of the act; and, (3) Those businesses determined by the courts, prior to the occurrence of the accident, to be of a hazardous nature.	What occupations are protected by compensation laws?
9793	Tarrant County v. McQuary, 310 S.W.3d 170, 173 (Tex. App. 2010)	6	Pleadings relevant to a review of a plea to the jurisdiction include amended petitions, the plea to the jurisdiction, and responses filed in connection with a defendant's plea to the jurisdiction.	The pleadings relevant to a review of a plea to the jurisdiction include amended petitions, the plea to the jurisdiction, and responses filed in connection with a defendant's plea to the jurisdiction.	Do pleadings relevant to a review of a plea to the jurisdiction include amended petitions and responses?
9798	Castano v. San Felipe Agricultural, Manufacturing, & Irrigation Co., 147 S.W.3d 444, 452 (Tex. App. 2004)	7	The issue of whether pleadings fail to state a cause of action may not be resolved by summary judgment; only after a party has been given the opportunity to amend may the case be dismissed for failure to state a cause of action.	It is well settled that the issue of whether pleadings fail to state a cause of action may not be resolved by summary judgment. In the Interest of B.I.V., 870 S.W.2d 12, 13-14 (Tex.1994); Massey v. Armco Steel Co., 652 S.W.2d 932, 934 (Tex.1983); Ryan, 911 S.W.2d at 115-16. Only after a party has been given the opportunity to amend may the case be dismissed for failure to state a cause of action.	Can the issue of whether pleadings fail to state a cause of action not be resolved by summary judgment?
9799	Bridges v. Production, 974 So. 2d 54, 58 (La. Ct. App. 2008)	3	The sales and use taxes are complementary taxes designed to make all tangible property sold or used subject to a uniform tax burden regardless of whether it is acquired inside the state and subject to a sales tax or acquired outside the state and subject to a use tax.	The sales and use taxes are complementary taxes designed to "make all tangible property sold or used subject to a uniform tax burden regardless of whether it is acquired inside the state and subject to a sales tax or acquired outside the state and subject to a use tax."	How are use tax and sales tax assessed?
9802	Paulausky v. Polish Roman Catholic Union of Am., 219 Ind. 441, 442 (Ind. 1942)	5	A mortgage securing a note is not a necessary part of the note, although construed with the note as constituting one contract, and since note is valid and enforceable without mortgage, material alteration of mortgage does not destroy validity of note.	It has been held that a mortgage securing a note is not a necessary part of the note, although construed with it as constituting one contract; that since the note is valid and enforceable without the mortgage the material alteration of the mortgage does not destroy the validity of the note.	Is a mortgage a necessary part of the note?

9804	People v. Everard, 225 Mich. App. 455, 465 (1997)	15	While double jeopardy clause prohibits successive or multiple punishments for same offense, defendant may still be subject to both criminal and civil sanctions for same act. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; M.C.L.A. Const. Art. 1, S 15.	While the Double Jeopardy Clauses prohibit successive or multiple punishments for the same offense, a defendant may still be subject to both criminal and civil sanctions for the same act.	"Does civil forfeiture not constitute ""punishment"" for purpose of a double jeopardy clause?"
9807	Davis v. Girard, 74 R.I. 125, 126 (R.I. 1948)	8	The owner of premises bounded on a public highway is presumed, in absence of evidence to the contrary, to own the fee to the middle line of the highway.	It is the well-settled policy of this state, which is in accord with the general rule, that the owner of premises bounded on a public highway is presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to own the fee to the middle line of the highway.	Is the owner of premises bounded on a public highway presumed to own the fee to the middle line of the highway?
9813	Jampole v. Matthews, 857 S.W.2d 57, 64 (Tex. App. 1993)	14	Only after party has been given opportunity to amend, after special exceptions have been sustained, may case be dismissed for failure to state claim.	Only after a party has been given an opportunity to amend, after special exceptions have been sustained, may the case be dismissed for failure to state a claim.	"After special exceptions have been sustained, can a case be dismissed for failure to state a claim?"
9817	U.S. v. Sykes, 73 F.3d 772, 773 (C.A.8 (Mo.),1996)	2	Although text of Fifth Amendment's double jeopardy clause mentions only harms to "life or limb," it also applies to imprisonment and monetary penalties. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Although the text of the Amendment mentions only harms to "life or limb," it is well settled that the Double Jeopardy Clause applies to imprisonment and monetary penalties.	Does the double jeopardy clause apply to imprisonment and monetary penalties?
9827	Stewart v. Citizens & S. Nat. Bank, 138 Ga. App. 209, 210 (1976)	1	Check is merely an order on bank to pay from drawer's account, and may be revoked at any time by the drawer before it has been certified, accepted, or paid by the bank, and may be revoked by operation of the law on the death of the drawer. Code, S 109A-4-405.	While a check is merely an order upon a bank to pay from the drawer's account, it may be revoked at any time by the drawer before it has been certified, accepted, or paid by the bank, and may be revoked by operation of law upon the death of the drawer.	Is a check a mere order to the bank that can be revoked?
9833	Davidson v. United States, 48 A.3d 194, 200 (D.C. 2012)	7	An exception to the protections of the Double Jeopardy Clause may be permitted if the trial court declares a mistrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	However, "[a]n exception to the protections of the Double Jeopardy Clause may be permitted if the trial court declares a mistrial."	Can an exception to the protections of the Double Jeopardy Clause be permitted if the trial court declares a mistrial?
9834	United States v. Wayman, 510 F.2d 1020, 1019 (5th Cir. 1975)	20	A defendant may be tried a second time when on the first trial the court properly declared a mistrial.	8 It is hornbook law that a defendant may be tried a second time when upon the first trial the court properly declared a mistrial.	Can a defendant be tried a second time when on the first trial the court properly declared a mistrial?
9835	Matter of Armstrong, 201 B.R. 526, 532 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1996)	7	Waiver may be found when party fails to raise issue, despite full and fair opportunity to do so.	Waiver may be found where a party fails to raise an issue, despite a full and fair opportunity to do so.	Can waiver be found where a party fails to raise an issue despite a full and fair opportunity to do so?

9840	Lee v. Friedman, 637 N.E.2d 1318, 1319 (Ind. Ct. App. 1994)	1	Trial court's authority to dismiss for failure to prosecute arises from its administrative discretion in the conduct of its business and from civil procedure rule governing dismissal. Trial Procedure Rule 41(E).	The trial court's authority to dismiss for failure to prosecute arises from its administrative discretion in the conduct of its business. Gibbs v. Douglas M. Grimes, P.C. (1986), Ind.App., 489 N.E.2d 638, on rehearing, 491 N.E.2d 1004. This authority is further grounded in T.R. 41(E), which provides in part:	Does the court's authority to dismiss for failure to prosecute arise from its administrative discretion in the conduct of its business?
9860	Lisle v. Commonwealth, 290 S.W.3d 675, 679 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009)	5	Serious physical injury is an element which must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt in cases where the Commonwealth seeks to have rape offenses enhanced to Class A felonies.	Commonwealth, 263 S.W.3d 583, 590 (Ky.2008), that "serious physical injury" is an element which must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt in cases where the Commonwealth seeks to have rape offenses enhanced to Class A felonies.	Is physical injury an element of rape?
9878	State v. Fowler, 197 N.C. App. 1, 16 (2009)	19	The principle of double jeopardy, or former jeopardy, benefits the individual defendants by providing repose, by eliminating unwarranted embarrassment, expense and anxiety, and by limiting the potential for government harassment. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's N.C.G.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 19.	This principle of double jeopardy, or former jeopardy, "benefits the individual defendants by providing repose; by eliminating unwarranted embarrassment, expense, and anxiety; and by limiting the potential for government harassment."	What is the principle of former jeopardy?
9887	Mobil Oil Corp. v Town of Huntington, 380 N.Y.S.2d 466, 474 (Sup Ct, Nov. 07, 1975)	15	Power to assess and collect taxes may be delegated to localities but delegation must be made in express terms by proper enabling act.	The power to assess and collect taxes may be delegated to localities (Roosevelt Raceway, Inc. v. County of Nassau, 18 N.Y.2d 30, 271 N.Y.S.2d 662, 218 N.E.2d 539, mot. den., 18 N.Y.2d 720, 274 N.Y.S.2d 156, 220 N.E.2d 802, app. diss., 385 U.S. 453, 87 S.Ct. 614, 17 L.Ed.2d 510)but the delegation must be made in express terms by a proper enabling act	Can the power vested in legislature to tax be delegated without express terms of enabling act?
9888	Hanek v. Cities of Clairton, 24 Pa. Commw. 69, 76 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1976)	2	Where legislature delegates right to tax to political subdivision, grant of such right is to be strictly construed, and not extended by implication.	Where the legislature delegates the right to tax to a political subdivision, ""the grant of such right is to be strictly construed, and not extended by implication.""	"Where the legislature delegates the right to tax to a political sub division, should grant of such right is to be strictly construed, and not extended by implication?"
9890	Zopfi v. City of Wilmington, 160 S.E.2d 325, 330, 273 N.C. 430, 434 (N.C. 1968)	6	Zoning power of state is subject to limitations imposed by Constitution upon legislative power forbidding arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with rights of property owners.	There, it is subject to the limitations imposed by the Constitution upon the legislative power forbidding arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with the rights of property owners.	Why are limitations imposed on the zoning power by the enabling statute?

9891	In re Gibraltar Resources, Inc., 211 B.R. 216, 220 (N.D. Tex. 1997)	3	Valid "assignment" requires manifestation to another person by owner of a right indicating his intention to transfer, without further action or manifestation of intention, his right to such other person or a third person.	A valid assignment 2 requires "a manifestation to another person by the owner of a right indicating his intention to transfer, without further action or manifestation of intention, his right to such other person or a third person.	Does an assignment include manifestation to another person the owners intention to transfer?
9892	In re Pihl, 529 B.R. 414, 426 (D. Mass. 2015)	7	Equitable subrogation may allow surety to stand in the shoes of (1) the contractor whose obligations are discharged, (2) the owners to whom it was bound, or (3) the subcontractors whom it paid.	Equitable Subrogation surety "may stand in the shoes of either (1) the contractor whose obligations are discharged, (2) the owners to whom it was bound, or (3) the subcontractors whom it paid."	In whose shoes does equitable subrogation allow a surety to stand?
9910	Stone v. Bankunited, 115 So. 3d 411, 413 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2013)	3	Because a promissory note is a negotiable instrument and because a mortgage provides the security for the repayment of the note, the person having standing to foreclose a note secured by a mortgage may be either the holder of the note or a nonholder in possession of the note who has the rights of a holder. West's F.S.A. S 673.3011.	"Because a promissory note is a negotiable instrument and because a mortgage provides the security for the repayment of the note, the person having standing to foreclose a note secured by a mortgage may be either the holder of the note or a nonholder in possession of the note who has the rights of a holder." Id. (citing 673.3011, Fla. Stat. (2009)).	Is a promissory note a negotiable instrument?
9917	Bourg Dry Dock v. Lombas Industries, 393 So. 2d 203, 204 (La. Ct. App. 1980)	1	Pretrial order controls subsequent course of action unless modified at trial to prevent manifest injustice; much discretion is left to trial judge in this matter.	That order controls the subsequent course of action unless modified at the trial to prevent manifest injustice. The trial judge refused to modify his order. Much discretion is left to the trial judge in this matter.	Does a pretrial order controlled course of action unless modified to prevent manifest injustice?
9930	Polk v. S.W. Crossing Homeowners Ass'n, 165 S.W.3d 89, 94 (Tex. App. 2005)	8	Verified motion to reinstate extends the trial court's plenary power over judgment to the same extent as a motion for new trial.	A verified motion to reinstate extends the trial court's plenary power to the same extent as a motion for new trial.	Does a verified motion to reinstate extend the trial court's plenary power over a judgment to the same extent as a motion for new trial?
9933	Jota v. Texaco, Inc., 157 F.3d 153, 162 (C.A.2 (N.Y.),1998)	11	Ambassador generally has power to bind state that he represents, unless he purports to enter into agreement without power to do so and in collusion with contracting party that knows he lacks such power.	An ambassador generally has the power to "bind the state that he represents," First Fidelity Bank, N.A. v. Government of Antigua & Barbuda, 877 F.2d 189, 192 (2d Cir.1989), unless he purports to enter into an agreement without the power to do so and in collusion with a contracting party that knows he lacks such power, see id. at 192, 193–94.	Does an ambassador have the power to bind the state that he represents?
9937	Hunt v Jacobson, 33 N.Y.S.2d 661, 663 (Sup Ct, Feb. 10, 1942)	1	Statutes enacted for the benefit of persons engaged in military service are a recognized institution in the United States, and being remedial are to be construed liberally. Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, S 100 et seq., 50 U.S.C.A.Appendix S 501 et seq.	Statutes enacted for the benefit of persons engaged in military service are a recognized institution in this country, and, being remedial, are to be construed liberally	Should statutes enacted for the benefit of persons engaged in military service be liberally construed?

9941	Randles v. Moore, 780 So. 2d 158, 159 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2001)	3	An affirmative defense may be a basis for a motion to dismiss only if it appears within the four corners of the complaint.	An affirmative defense may be a basis for a motion to dismiss only if it appears within the four corners of the complaint.	Can an affirmative defense be a basis for a motion to dismiss only if it appears within the four corners of the complaint?
9948	Threadgill v. Peabody Coal Co., 34 Colo. App. 203, 204 (Colo. App. 1974)	7	In order for a trade custom or usage to be binding upon a person who has not expressly agreed to be bound by it, it must be reasonable and must not be illegal or in violation of public policy.	In order for a trade custom or usage to be binding upon a person who has not expressly agreed to be bound by it, it must be reasonable.	"Must a trade custom or usage be reasonable, in order to be binding upon a person?"
9949	Allstate Ins. Co. v. Palumbo, 952 A.2d 1235, 1241, 109 Conn.App. 731, 736 (Conn.App.,2008)	9	The determination of what equity requires in a particular case, the balancing of the equities, is a matter for the discretion of the trial court.	"The determination of what equity requires in a particular case, the balancing of the equities, is a matter for the discretion of the trial court.	Is the determination of what equity requires in a particular case and the balancing of the equities a matter for the discretion of the trial court?
9950	Dees v. Logan, 281 Ga. App. 837, 838 (Ga. Ct. App. 2006)	3	Because the grant of a motion in limine forecloses the admission of the evidence at trial, the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence is a judicial power which must be exercised with great care.	Because the grant of a motion in limine forecloses the admission of the evidence at trial, "the grant of a motion in limine excluding evidence is a judicial power which must be exercised with great care."	Does the grant of a motion in limine foreclose the admission of the evidence at trial?
9961	Wagner v. Moseley, 104 So. 2d 86	2	A life tenant owes certain duties to remainderman, and relationship of life tenant to remainderman is frequently designated as that of a trustee or quasi-trustee in sense that life tenant cannot injure or dispose of property to detriment to rights of remainderman.	A life tenant is not without duties owing to a remainderman. Thus the relationship of a life tenant to a remainderman is frequently designated that of a trustee or quasi-trustee in the sense that the life tenant cannot injure or dispose of the property to the detriment of the rights of the remainderman.	Does the life tenant have any duties towards the remainderman?
9966	Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. FPL Grp., 166 Cal.App.4th 1349, 1365 (Cal. Ct. App. 2008)	7	The concept of a public trust over natural resources supports exercise of the police power by public agencies.	The concept of a public trust over natural resources unquestionably supports exercise of the police power by public agencies.	Will the concept of public trust over natural resources support exercise of the police power by public agencies?
9968	Thompson v. Taylor, 192 So. 2d 609, 611 (La. Ct. App. 1966)	5	Addition of name of another maker to negotiable instrument is material alteration which absolves original nonconsenting maker of liability on the note to anyone except holder in due course. LSA-R.S. 7:124, 7:125 and (4).	The decisions interpreting these provisions of the Uniform Negotiable Instrument Law hold that the addition of the name of another maker to a negotiable instrument is a material alteration which absolves the original nonconsenting maker of liability on the note to anyone except a holder in due course.	What constitutes an alteration of a negotiable instrument?
9973	E.E.O.C. v. Waffle House, 534 U.S. 279, 280 (2002)	8	The Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) directs courts to place arbitration agreements on equal footing with other contracts, but it does not require parties to arbitrate when they have not agreed to do so. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	The FAA directs courts to place arbitration agreements on equal footing with other contracts, but it "does not require parties to arbitrate when they have not agreed to do so."	Does the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) consider arbitration agreements on equal footing with other contracts?

9974	Linnenbrink v. First Nat. Bank, 839 S.W.2d 618, 621 (Mo. Ct. App. 1992)	4	Guaranty agreement must contain express conditions of guaranty, specifically stating, within four corners of documents, liability and obligations of each party.	In Missouri, a guaranty agreement must contain the express conditions of the guaranty, specifically stating, within the four corners of the document, the liability and obligations of each party.	Will a guaranty contract contain express conditions on the guarantors liability?
9977	Silverman v. Major League Baseball Player Rels. Comm., Inc., 880 F. Supp. 246, 258 (S.D.N.Y.), aff'd, 67 F.3d 1054 (2d Cir. 1995)	22	Interest arbitration clauses are nonmandatory topic of collective bargaining because they involve mechanism for resolving disputes which may arise as to terms of future contracts, as opposed to existing terms and conditions of employment.	Because interest arbitration clauses involve "a mechanism for resolving disputes which may arise as to the terms of future contracts," as opposed to existing terms and conditions of employment, they are a non-mandatory topic of bargaining.	What is interest arbitration?
9981	Flueras v. Royal Caribbean Cruises, Ltd., 69 So. 3d 1101, 1110 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2011)	12	The shipowner's warranty of seaworthiness extends to the vessel's crew; the shipowner breaches the duty of seaworthiness by manning the vessel with an unfit, incompetent, inadequate, defective, or improperly trained or supervised crew.	The shipowner's warranty of seaworthiness extends to the vessel's crew. Waldron v. Moore-McCormack Lines, Inc., 386 U.S. 724, 726-27, 87 S.Ct. 1410, 18 L.Ed.2d 482 (1967); Waggon-Dixon, 679 So.2d at 813 ("[A] shipowner's duty to ensure that its vessel is seaworthy encompasses the obligation to provide a competent crew for the vessel."); Hercules, 768 F.2d at 1565-66. The shipowner breaches this duty by manning the vessel with an unfit, incompetent, inadequate, defective, or improperly trained or supervised crew.	Is a vessel operated by an incompetent crew considered seaworthy?
9982	Moretti v. Moretti, 766 A.2d 925, 928 (R.I. 2001)	3	"Enterprise goodwill" is an asset of the business and accordingly is property that is divisible in a dissolution to the extent that it inheres in the business, independent of any single individual's personal efforts and will outlast any person's involvement in the business.	"Enterprise goodwill is an asset of the business and accordingly is property that is divisible in a dissolution to the extent that it inheres in the business, independent of any single individual's personal efforts and will outlast any person's involvement in the business."	What distinguishes enterprise goodwill from personal goodwill?
9993	Commonwealth v. 1997 Chevrolet, 160 A.3d 153, 169 (Pa. 2017)	8	The Eighth Amendment's Excessive Fines Clause applies to civil in rem forfeitures that are punitive and criminal in personam forfeitures. U.S. Const. Amend. 8.	Specifically, it is now accepted that the Eighth Amendment's Excessive Fines Clause applies to civil in rem forfeitures that are punitive and criminal in personam forfeitures.	Does the Eighth Amendment's Excessive Fines Clause apply to civil forfeitures?
9994	Innovative Data Sys. of La. v. Ellender, 316 So. 2d 12, 14 (La. Ct. App. 1975)	5	Technical objections and harsh rules of pleading are not favored and pleadings are to be liberally construed to yield as little as possible to technicality in order that ends of justice may be served.	Technical objections and harsh rules of pleading are not favored. Pleadings are to be liberally construed to yield as little as possible to technicality in order that the ends of justice may be served.	Do courts favor harsh rules of pleading?

10000	Cohen v. UBS Financial Services, Inc., 799 F.3d 174, 177 (C.A.2 (N.Y.), 2015)	4	Under Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), if parties intended to arbitrate a dispute, courts are generally required to enforce such agreements according to their terms; however, enforceability can be overridden by a contrary congressional command. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	If the parties intended to arbitrate a dispute, courts are generally required to "enforce [such] agreements ... according to their terms." CompuCredit Corp. v. Greenwood, — U.S. —, 132 S.Ct. 665, 669, 181 L.Ed.2d 586 (2012).However, enforceability can be "overridden by a contrary congressional command."	Do courts consider the intention of parties for settling arbitration disputes?
10012	Haller v. State, 217 Ark. 646, 649 (Ark. 1950)	2	"Incest" is statutory offense consisting of sexual intercourse, either habitual or in a single instance, either under form of marriage or without it, between persons too closely related to intermarry.	Incest is a statutory offense which has been defined generally by the authorities as consisting of sexual intercourse, either habitual or in a single instance, and either under a form of marriage or without it, between persons too closely related to intermarry.	Does the act of incest have to be habitual in order to constitute an offense?
10013	Sutter v. Oxford Health Plans LLC, 675 F.3d 215, 200 (3d Cir. 2012)	4	By contractually restricting the issues they will arbitrate, the individuals with whom they will arbitrate, and the arbitration procedures that will govern, parties to an arbitration agreement may place limits upon the arbitrator's powers that are enforceable by the courts; an arbitrator oversteps those limits, and subjects his award to judicial vacatur, when he decides an issue not submitted to him, grants relief in a form that cannot be rationally derived from the parties' agreement and submissions, or issues an award that is so completely irrational that it lacks support altogether. 9 U.S.C.A. S 10(a)(4).	By contractually restricting the issues they will arbitrate, the individuals with whom they will arbitrate, and the arbitration procedures that will govern, parties to an arbitration agreement may place limits upon the arbitrator's powers that are enforceable by the courts. See Puleo v. Chase Bank USA, N.A., 605 F.3d 172, 181 (3d Cir.2010) (en banc). An arbitrator oversteps these limits, and subjects his award to judicial vacatur under 10(a)(4), when he decides an issue not submitted to him, grants relief in a form that cannot be rationally derived from the *220 parties' agreement and submissions, or issues an award that is so completely irrational that it lacks support altogether.	Can an arbitrator decide an issue if the parties have not authorized him to do so?
10018	In re Stoltz, 197 F.3d 625, 630 (2d Cir. 1999)	8	Under Vermont law, a "lease" is a contract between the landlord and the tenant wherein the landlord promises to deliver and maintain the demised premises in habitable condition and the tenant promises to pay rent for such habitable premises.	Under Vermont law, a lease is "a contract between the landlord and the tenant wherein the landlord promises to deliver and maintain the demised premises in habitable condition and the tenant promises to pay rent for such habitable premises."	Is a lease a contract between a landlord and a tenant?
10019	Estate of Prather v. Sherman Hosp. Sys., 2015 Ill. App. 2d 140723 (Ill. App. Ct. 2015)	20	A plaintiff's right to select the forum is substantial, and unless the factors weigh strongly in favor of transfer or dismissal, the plaintiff's choice of forum should rarely be disturbed.	A plaintiff's right to select the forum is substantial, and unless the factors weigh strongly in favor of transfer or dismissal, the plaintiff's choice of forum should rarely be disturbed.	Is a plaintiffs right to select forum substantial?

10030	AFT Michigan v. State of Michigan, 497 Mich. 197, 218 (Mich. 2015)	9	To generate a compensable taking, the government must assert its authority to seize title or impair the value of property, which does not occur if the property in question is voluntarily relinquished to the government. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; M.C.L.A. Const. Art. 10, S 2.	To generate a compensable taking, the government must assert its authority to seize title or impair the value of property. This does not occur if the property in question is voluntarily relinquished to the government.	How will the government generate a compensable taking?
10031	Hunziker v. State, 519 N.W.2d 367, 370 (Iowa 1994)	7	Land-use regulation does not effect taking requiring compensation if it substantially advances legitimate state interest.	Land-use regulation does not effect a taking requiring compensation if it substantially advances a legitimate state interest.	Does land-use regulation effect a taking if it substantially advances a legitimate state interest?
10036	Miracle v. New Yorker Magazine, 190 F. Supp. 2d 1192, 1198 (D. Haw. 2001)	2	Under Hawaii law, rights and liabilities of parties with respect to issue in tort are determined by local law of state which, with respect to that issue, has most significant relationship to occurrence and parties. Restatement (Second) of Conflict of Laws S 145.	Under this test, "[t]he rights and liabilities of the parties with respect to an issue in tort are determined by the local law of the state which, with respect to that issue, has the most significant relationship to the occurrence and the parties...." Restatement (2d) Conflicts of Laws 145(1).	What is the significant relationship test?
10043	Dhaliwal v. Dhaliwal, 124 So. 3d 470, 480 (La. Ct. App. 2013)	11	There are no hard and fast rules in determining whether a partnership exists and each case must be considered, based on its own facts and circumstances.	There are no hard and fast rules in determining whether a partnership exists and each case must be considered, based on its own facts and circumstances.	Are there any hard and fast rules used to determine whether a partnership exists?
10044	Bell v. Moores, 832 S.W.2d 749, 752 (Tex. App. 1992)	3	Right to maintain action depends upon the existence of cause of action, which involves combination of right on part of plaintiff and violation of such right by defendant.	The right to maintain an action depends upon the existence of a cause of action, which involves the combination of a right on the part of the plaintiff and a violation of such right by the defendant.	Does the right to maintain an action depend upon the existence of a cause of action?
10047	Nugent v. Pilgrim's Pride, 30 S.W.3d 562, 575 (Tex. App. 2000)	21	One may be liable in trespass who intentionally acts to cause or permit a thing to cross the boundary of a property.	One may be liable in trespass who intentionally acts to cause or permit a thing to cross the boundary of a property.	Can a person be held liable for trespass if they cause or permit a thing to cross the boundary of a property?
10048	Minnesota Chapter of Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc. v. Board of Educ. of Minnetonka Independent School Dist. No. 276, 567 N.W.2d 761, 762 (Minn.App.,1997)	1	Certiorari will lie to review quasi-judicial acts and proceedings of administrative bodies; however, certiorari is not available when acts sought to be reviewed are of legislative or administrative character.	Certiorari will lie to review quasi-judicial acts and proceedings of administrative bodies. Western Area Business & Civic Club v. Duluth Sch. Bd. Indep. Dist. No. 709, 324 N.W.2d 361, 364 (Minn.1982). But certiorari is not available when the acts sought to be reviewed are of legislative or administrative character. Id.	Is certiorari available when the acts sought to be reviewed are of legislative or administrative character?

10051	TrinCo Inv. Co. v. U.S., 722 F.3d 1375, 1377 (C.A.Fed., 2013)	3	Under the "doctrine of necessity" or the "necessity defense," the state is absolved of liability under the Fifth Amendment's Takings Clause for the destruction of real and personal property in cases of actual necessity, to prevent or forestall grave threats to the lives and property of others. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	This principle, "absolving the State ... of liability for the destruction of 'real and personal property, in cases of actual necessity, to prevent' ... or forestall ... grave threats to the lives and property of others," is commonly referred to as the "doctrine of necessity" or the "necessity defense."	What is the doctrine of necessity?
10052	United States v. Neel, 235 F.2d 395, 399 (10th Cir. 1956)	5	A husband and wife may become partners for business purposes even though the partnership results in a decrease of their total tax liability.	A husband and wife may become partners for business purposes, even though the partnership relationship results in the decrease of their total tax liability.	Can a husband and wife become business partners?
10054	Teller v. McCoy, 162 W. Va. 367, 384 (1978)	3	Since lease of residential dwelling unit is to be treated and construed as any other contract, covenant to pay rent and warranty of habitability are mutually dependent. Code, 37-6-30.	In response to the second certified question, we hold that since a lease of a residential dwelling unit is to be treated and construed as any other contract, the covenant to pay rent and the warranty of habitability are mutually dependent.	Are leases of urban dwelling units construed like any other contract?
10055	City of Fairhope v. Raddcliffe, 48 Ala. App. 224, 228 (Ala. Civ. App. 1972)	4	It is not the descriptive words "willful or wanton" which determine an act to be in trespass, but whether act producing injury was one of application of direct force.	We state again that it is not the descriptive words *228 'willful or wanton' which determine an act to be in trespass, but whether the act producing injury was one of application of direct force.	Can the descriptive words willful or wanton acts always connote a trespass?
10056	Gottlieb v. Cty. of Orange, 84 F.3d 511, 518 (2d Cir. 1996)	2	If there is objectively reasonable basis for believing that parental custody constitutes threat to child's health or safety, government officials may remove child from his or her parents' custody at least pending investigation.	Where, however, there is an objectively reasonable basis for believing that parental custody constitutes a threat to the child's health or safety, government officials may remove a child from his or her parents' custody at least pending investigation.	Do parents have a liberty interest in the custody of their children?
10061	Braxton v. O'Charley's Restaurant Properties, LLC, 1 F. Supp. 3d 722, 725 (W.D. Ky. 2014)	2	The Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) establishes a procedural framework applicable in both federal and state courts, and also mandates that substantive federal arbitration law be applied in both. 9 U.S.C.A. SS 1-9.	The FAA establishes a procedural framework applicable in both federal and state courts, and also mandates that substantive federal arbitration law be applied in both.	Is the Federal Arbitration Act applicable in both state and federal courts?
10066	Madison v. Frazier, 539 F.3d 646, 653-54 (7th Cir. 2008)	8	The so-called "innocent construction rule" in Illinois requires a court to consider an allegedly defamatory statement in context and give the words of the statement, and any implications arising from them, their natural and obvious meaning.	"The so-called 'innocent construction rule' in Illinois requires a court to consider the statement in context and give the words of the statement, and any implications arising from them, their natural *654 and obvious meaning."	What is the innocent construction rule?

10069	Lyle v. Waddle, 144 Tex. 90, 95 (Tex. 1945)	6	An unlawful act committed with violence, actual or implied, causing injury to the person, property, or relative rights of another, constitutes a "trespass".	Bouvier's definition of trespass is: 'An unlawful act committed with violence, actual or implied, causing injury to the person, property, or relative rights of another'.	Can any unlawful act with violence against the person of another be categorized as a trespass?
10089	Monclava v. Arnett, 145 N.Y.S.2d 759, 760 (Sup. Ct.) (1955)	2	One exception to general rule that courts will not specifically enforce contract to enter into partnership is where membership in the partnership will vest property right in the one seeking enforcement.	While it is the general rule that courts will not specifically enforce a contract to enter into a partnership, there are exceptions to such a rule, one of such exceptions being where membership in the partnership will vest a property right in the one seeking the enforcement of the agreement.	Do courts specifically enforce a contract to form a partnership?
10093	Casstevens v. Smith, 269 S.W.3d 222, 227 (Tex. App. 2008)	4	The doctrine of equitable subrogation exists to prevent the unjust enrichment of the debtor who owed the debt being paid.	The general purpose of equitable subrogation is "to prevent the unjust enrichment of the debtor who owed the debt that is paid.	Does the doctrine of equitable subrogation exist to prevent the unjust enrichment of the debtor who owed the debt being paid?
10094	Hill v. Cross Country Settlements, 402 Md. 281, 288 (2007)	46	Although there is substantial overlap between the legal theories of unjust enrichment and subrogation, the remedy of subrogation requires an underlying and independent legal basis.	Although there is substantial overlap between the legal theories of unjust enrichment and subrogation, the remedy of subrogation nonetheless requires an underlying and independent legal basis upon which Cross Country may assert its claims.	Is there substantial overlap between the legal theories of unjust enrichment and subrogation?
10095	Petta v. ABC Ins. Co., 692 N.W.2d 639, 649, 278 Wis.2d 251, 271, 2005 WI 18, ¶ 27 (Wis., 2005)	17	The purpose of subrogation is to prevent an injured party from being unjustly enriched by obtaining double payment.	However, the purpose of subrogation is to prevent an injured party from being unjustly enriched by obtaining double payment.	Is the purpose of subrogation to prevent an injured party from being unjustly enriched by obtaining double payment?
10097	Kenney v. U.S., 458 F.3d 1025, 1031 (9th Cir. 2006)	5	Equitable subrogation is not a fixed and inflexible rule of California law, and its development is the natural consequence of a call for the application of justice and equity to particular situations.	Equitable subrogation "is not a fixed and inflexible rule" and its development is "the natural consequence of a call for the application of justice and equity to particular situations."	Is equitable subrogation a fixed and inflexible rule of law?
10100	In re Doctors Hosp, 474 F.3d 421, 427 (7th Cir. 2007)	11	When a guarantor pays a debt, he is subrogated to the rights of a creditor against the corporation on whose behalf he paid the debt.	When a guarantor pays a debt, he is subrogated to the rights of a creditor against the corporation on whose behalf he paid the debt.	"When a guarantor pays a debt, is he subrogated to the rights of a creditor against the corporation on whose behalf he paid the debt?"
10101	Dimeo v. Gesik, 195 Or. App. 362, 371 (Or. Ct. App. 2004)	7	Because the doctrine of equitable subrogation is founded on principles of equity and benevolence, it necessarily is a flexible concept.	First, because the doctrine of equitable subrogation is "founded on principles of equity and benevolence," McBride v. McBride, 148 Or. 478, 483, 36 P.2d 175 (1934), it necessarily is a flexible concept.	"Because the doctrine of equitable subrogation is founded on principles of equity and benevolence, is it necessarily a flexible concept?"

10108	Warberg Opportunistic Trading Fund L.P. v GeoResources, No. 3552, 3553, 3553A, 652332/12, 58 N.Y.S.3d 1, 8, 2017 N.Y. Slip Op. 04537, 2017 WL 2467326 (N.Y.A.D. 1 Dept., June 08, 2017)	9	A novation will not discharge obligations created under a prior agreement unless it was so intended; this question may be determined from the writings and conduct of the parties or, in certain cases, from the documents exclusively.	"A novation will not discharge obligations created under a prior agreement unless it was so intended, and this question may be determined from the writings and conduct of the parties or, in certain cases, from the documents exclusively"	"Is novation unlikely to be found upon the mere issuance of a new security, without any affirmative indication that the parties were changing the terms underlying the warrant being transferred?"
10110	Guski v. Raja, 409 Ill. App. 3d 686, 695 (2011)	1	When trial court makes its evidentiary rulings before trial pursuant to the parties' motions in limine, the rulings are interlocutory and remain subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial.	When the court makes its rulings before trial pursuant to the parties' motions in limine, the rulings are interlocutory and remain subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial.	Are rulings on motions in limine considered interlocutory in nature subject to reconsideration at trial?
10111	Citibank, N.A. v. McGladrey & Pullen, LLP, 2011 Ill. App. 102427 (Ill. App. Ct. 2011)	1	Evidentiary motions, such as motions in limine, are within the trial court's discretion and are reviewed under an abuse of discretion standard; the trial court abuses its discretion when the ruling is arbitrary or unreasonable or no reasonable person would agree with the position taken by the court.	Evidentiary motions, such as motions in limine, are within the trial court's discretion and are reviewed under an abuse of discretion standard. Petraski v. Thedos, 382 Ill.App.3d 22, 26, 320 Ill.Dec. 244, 887 N.E.2d 24 (2008). The trial court abuses its discretion when the ruling is arbitrary or unreasonable or no reasonable person would agree with the position taken by the court.	"Are evidentiary motions, such as motions in limine, within the trial court's discretion and are reviewed under an abuse of discretion standard?"
10113	Romanek-Golub & Co. v. Anvan Hotel Corp., 168 Ill. App. 3d 1031, 1040 (1988)	4	Motion in limine, like any other interlocutory order, remains subject to reconsideration by court throughout trial.	As such, the order, like any other interlocutory order, remains subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial.	Are rulings on motions in limine interlocutory and therefore remain subject to reconsideration by the court throughout the trial?
10114	Rush v. Wallace, 23 Ark. App. 61, 66 (1988)	2	Goal of all discovery is to permit litigant to obtain whatever information he may need to prepare adequately for issues that may develop without imposing onerous burden on his adversary; furthermore, trial court has duty in lengthy and complex cases where possibility of abuse is present to protect parties and witnesses from annoyance, excessive expense, and harassment.	The goal of all discovery is to permit a litigant to obtain whatever information he may need to prepare adequately for issues that may develop without imposing an onerous burden on his adversary. Marrow, supra. Furthermore, the trial court has a duty in lengthy and complex cases where the possibility of abuse is present to protect parties and witnesses from annoyance, excessive expense, and harassment.	What is the goal of discovery?
10119	Fetzer v. Wood, 211 Ill. App. 3d 70, 80 (Ill. App. Ct. 1991)	14	Discovery rule does not actually provide for new accrual rules and, instead, tolls the running of the statute of limitations until plaintiff's discovery of an existing cause of action.	Moreover, the discovery rule does not actually provide for new accrual rules; it instead tolls the running of the statute of limitations, until a plaintiff's "discovery," of an existing cause of action.	Does discovery rule provide for new accrual rules?

10124	In re Cantu, 784 F.3d 253, 260 (5th Cir. 2015)	4	Cause of action accrues when there is a right to institute and maintain suit; whenever one person may sue another, a cause of action has accrued.	"The accrual of a cause of action means the right to institute and maintain a suit, and whenever one person may sue another a cause of action has accrued."	Does a cause of action accrue only when one has the right to institute a suit?
10126	E.E.O.C. v. Woodmen of World, 479 F.3d 561, 565 (8th Cir. 2007)	2	Arbitration agreements encompassing federal statutory claims are enforceable as long as the potential litigant can effectively vindicate her statutory rights through arbitration.	Arbitration agreements encompassing federal statutory claims are enforceable as long as the potential litigant can effectively vindicate her statutory rights through arbitration.	Are arbitration agreements encompassing federal statutory claims enforceable?
10127	Harrington v. Upchurch, 331 So. 2d 506, 511 (La. Ct. App. 1976)	5	In absence of statute, "custom" is a rule of action having force of law resulting from a long series of actions constantly repeated which, by uninterrupted acquiescence, acquires its force by common consent.	In the absence of a statute, custom is a rule of action having the force of law resulting from a long series of actions constantly repeated, which, by uninterrupted acquiescence, acquires its force by common consent.	"In absence of a statute, what is custom defined as?"
10129	Osman v. Osman, 285 Va. 384, 737 S.E.2d 876, 879 (2013)	8	To be found guilty of murder, a person must have acted maliciously; in other words, he must possess the necessary mens rea. West's V.C.A. S 18.2-32.	To be found guilty of murder, a person must have acted maliciously; in other words, he must possess *880 the necessary mens rea.	Should a person possess necessary mens rea to be found guilty of murder?
10131	Mathews v. Halford, S.S. Letitia Lykes, 374 F. Supp. 1003, 1005 (E.D. La. 1973)	2	When ship enters territorial limits of another country, she subjects herself to jurisdiction of the foreign sovereign.	When a ship enters the territorial limits of another country, she subjects herself to the jurisdiction of the foreign sovereign.	"When a ship enters territorial limits of another country, does she subject herself to jurisdiction of the foreign sovereign?"
10140	Miller v. U.S., 921 F. Supp. 494, 499 (N.D. Ohio 1996)	13	Act-of-state doctrine precludes United States courts from reviewing acts of foreign sovereigns.	The act-of-state doctrine precludes United States courts from reviewing the acts of foreign sovereigns.	Does the act-of-state doctrine preclude United States courts from reviewing acts of foreign sovereigns?
10141	Ellison v. Parts Distributors, 302 S.C. 299, 301 (Ct.App. 1990)	1	Jury instructions should be confined to issues raised by pleadings and supported by evidence and, where issue is implicitly suggested by pleadings and supported by evidence, trial judge is obligated to instruct jury concerning it.	It is well settled that jury instructions should be confined to the issues raised by the pleadings and supported by the evidence and where an issue is implicitly suggested by the pleadings and supported by the evidence, the trial judge is obligated to instruct the jury concerning it.	Should jury instructions be confined to the issues raised by the pleadings?
10143	Duran v. Hyundai Motor America, Inc., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. App. 2008)	3	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle by which to attempt to preclude a claim or defense; it is not equivalent to, or a substitute for, a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle to use to attempt to preclude a claim or defense. It is not equivalent to or a substitute for a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	Is a motion in limine an equivalent to or a substitute for a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment?
10144	Headley v. Williams, 162 N.C. App. 300, 307 (2004)	10	A trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	We note, however, that a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	Is a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine final or rather interlocutory and subject to modification?
10146	Columbia v. Long, 258 S.W.3d 469, 474 (Mo. Ct. App. 2008)	3	Grant of a motion in limine is an interlocutory order and therefore not a potential source of reversible error.	The grant of a motion in limine is an interlocutory order, and therefore not a potential source of reversible error.	Is the grant of a motion in limine an interlocutory order and therefore not a potential source of reversible error?

10147	Rogers v. Hester, 334 S.W.3d 528, 540 (Mo. Ct. App. 2011)	14	The grant of a motion in limine is an interlocutory order, and therefore not a potential source of reversible error.	"The grant of a motion in limine is an interlocutory order, and therefore not a potential source of reversible error."	"Is the grant of a motion in limine an interlocutory order, and therefore not a potential source of reversible error?"
10150	Drakeford v. Univ. of Chicago Hosps., 2013 Ill. App. 111366 (Ill. App. Ct. 2013)	20	A motion in limine is addressed to the trial court's inherent power to admit or exclude evidence.	"A motion in limine is addressed to the trial court's inherent power to admit or exclude evidence."	Is a motion in limine addressed to the trial court's inherent power to admit or exclude evidence?
10153	Jones v. Ohio Edison Co., 26 N.E.3d 834, 839, 2014 -Ohio-5466, ¶ 16 (Ohio App. 11 Dist., 2014)	16	"Public utility tariffs" are books or compilations of printed materials filed by public utilities with, and approved by, the public utilities commission that contain schedules of rates and charges, rules and regulations, and standards for service.	"Public utility tariffs are books or compilations of printed materials filed by public utilities with, and approved by, [PUCO] that contain schedules of rates and charges, rules and regulations, and standards for service." Id.	What are public utility tariffs?
10154	Sec. Bank & Tr. Co. v. Larkin, Hoffman, Daly & Lindgren, Ltd., 897 N.W.2d 821, 825 (Minn. Ct. App. 2017)	9	A cause of action "accrues" when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.	In so doing, we are mindful that "[a] cause of action accrues when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim."	Does cause of action accrue when all essential elements forming basis for claim have occurred?
10158	United States v. Ring, 706 F.3d 460, 467 (D.C. Cir. 2013)	5	That the official need not accept an offer of something of value with the intent to influence an official act for the act of bribery to be complete is evident from the structure of the statute, which defines two separate crimes: the act of offering a bribe and the act of soliciting or accepting a bribe. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(1), 2).	The bribery statute expressly criminalizes a mere "offer" of something of value with the intent to influence an official act. 18 U.S.C. 201(b)(1). That the official need not accept that offer for the act of bribery to be complete is evident from the structure of the statute, which defines two separate crimes: the act of offering a bribe and the act of soliciting or accepting a bribe. See id. 201(b)(1)- (2).	Is offering a bribe and receiving a crime two different crimes?
10162	Fowler Irrevocable Tr. 1992-1 v. City of Boulder, 17 P.3d 797, 802 (Colo. 2001)	7	The basic measure of compensation in a temporary taking case is the fair rental value of the property during the period of the taking. West's C.R.S.A. Const. Art. 2, S 15.	The basic measure of compensation in a temporary taking case is the fair rental value of the property during the period of the taking.	"Is the measure of compensation for a temporary taking, the fair rental value of the property for the period of the taking?"
10163	In re Fresh & Process Potatoes Antitrust Litig., 834 F. Supp. 2d 1141, 1180 (D. Idaho 2011)	49	Act of state doctrine is not diluted by commercial activity exception which limits doctrine of sovereign immunity.	Moreover, "[t]he Act of State Doctrine is not diluted by the commercial activity exception which limits the doctrine of sovereign immunity."	Is the act of state doctrine diluted by the commercial activity exception which limits the doctrine of sovereign immunity?
10167	In re Refined Petroleum Prod. Antitrust Litig., 649 F. Supp. 2d 572, 583-584 (S.D. Tex. 2009)	9	Burden of proving that the court should apply the act of state doctrine is on the party asserting its applicability.	The burden of proving that the court should apply the act of state doctrine is on the party asserting its applicability.	Is the burden of proving that the court should apply the act of state doctrine on the party asserting its applicability?
10168	U.S. v. Pizdrint, 983 F. Supp. 1110, 1112 (M.D. Fla. 1997)	2	Generally, under international law, vessels are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the countries whose flag they fly.	Generally, under international law, vessels are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the countries whose flag they fly.	"Generally, under international law, are vessels under the exclusive jurisdiction of the countries whose flag they fly?"

10174	In re Marriage of Dunn-Kato & Dunn, 126 Cal.Rptr.2d 636, 638, 103 Cal.App.4th 345, 348 (Cal.App. 4 Dist.,2002)	2	Litigants are entitled to oral argument where called for by the context of a statute referring to a "hearing" or where there are critical pretrial matters involving a real and genuine dispute.	Litigants are entitled to oral argument where called for by the context of a statute referring to a "hearing" or where there are "critical pretrial matters" involving a "real and genuine dispute."	Are litigants entitled to oral argument?
10177	Ayala v. Lee, 215 Md. App. 457, 475 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2013)	11	An evidentiary ruling on a motion in limine is left to the sound discretion of the trial judge and will only be reversed upon a clear showing of abuse of discretion.	An evidentiary ruling on a motion in limine "is left to the sound discretion of the trial judge and will only be *475 reversed upon a clear showing of abuse of discretion."	Will a reviewing court reverse a trial courts motion in limine if the trial courts discretion was not abused?
10189	Intel Corp. v. Hamidi, 71 P.3d 296, 303, 1 Cal.Rptr.3d 32, 40, 30 Cal.4th 1342, 1351 (Cal.,2003)	10	While a harmless use or touching of personal property may be a technical trespass, an interference, not amounting to dispossession, is not actionable, without a showing of harm. Restatement (Second) of Torts SS 217, 218.	But while a harmless use or touching of personal property may be a technical trespass (see Rest.2d Torts, § 217), an interference (not amounting to dispossession) is not actionable, under modern California and broader American law, without a showing of harm.	Is a trespass lacking harm actionable?
10190	Smith v. Minnesota Mut. Life Ins. Co., 195 P.2d 457, 462, 86 Cal.App.2d 581, 590 (Cal.App. 4 Dist. 1948)	4	A cause of action "accrues" at the moment when the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon.	A cause of action accrues at the moment when the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon.	Does a cause of action accrue at the moment when the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon?
10191	Cantonwine v. Fehling, 582 P.2d 592, 596 (Wyo. 1978)	3	When a wrong has been committed, or a breach of duty has occurred, the cause of action has accrued, although claimant may be ignorant of it.	Again, when a wrong has been committed, or a breach of duty has occurred, the cause of action has accrued, although the claimant may be ignorant of it.	Can a cause of action accrue when a wrong has been committed or a breach of duty has occurred?
10192	Baxter v. Danny Nicholson, 191 N.C. App. 168, 172 (N.C. Ct. App. 2008)	4	There is no difference between the acts of de facto and de jure officers so far as the public and third persons are concerned.	"[T]here is no difference between the acts of de facto and de jure officers so far as the public and third persons are concerned."	Is there any difference between the acts of a de facto officer and a de jure officer as far as the public and third persons are concerned?
10194	Webster v. Rushing, 316 So.2d 111, 114–15 (LA 1975)	4	General rule is that pleadings may be enlarged by evidence adduced without objection when such evidence is not pertinent to any other issue raised by pleadings and, hence, would have been excluded if objected to timely. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1154.	The general rule established by the jurisprudence is that pleadings may be enlarged by evidence adduced without objection when such evidence is not pertinent to any other issue raised by the pleadings and, hence, would have been excluded if objected to timely.	Can pleadings be enlarged by evidence adduced?
10200	Ohio-Sealy Mattress Mfg. Co. v. Sealy, Inc., 669 F.2d 490, 494 (7th Cir. 1982)	4	In context of a continuing scheme to violate antitrust laws, cause of action accrues to plaintiff each time defendant engages in antitrust conduct that harms plaintiff.	In the context of a continuing scheme to violate the antitrust laws, a cause of action accrues to the plaintiff each time the defendant engages in antitrust conduct that harms the plaintiff.	Does cause of action accrue when plaintiff suffers an actionable harm?

10208	Hickory Springs Mfg. Co., Inc. v. Evans, 541 S.W.2d 97, 100 (Tenn. 1976)	5	The doctrine of subrogation is an equitable one and it is recognized that payment of an obligation by a surety entitles him to stand in the place of the creditor and be substituted to all of the rights of the creditor against the principal.	The doctrine of subrogation is an equitable one, and it is recognized that the payment of an obligation by a surety entitles him to stand in the place of the creditor and be substituted to all of the rights of the creditor against the principal.	Can a surety paying the debt of his principal be entitled to stand in the condition of the creditor?
10212	State v. Wandermere Co., 89 Wash. App. 369, 377 (1997)	4	Larger parcel test requires that landowner establish that parcel being condemned is part of single tract, and test has three elements: unity of ownership, unity of use, and contiguity; determination is for jury unless reasonable minds could not differ. West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, S 16 as amended by Amend. 9.	The larger parcel test requires that the landowner establish that the parcel being condemned is part of a single tract. The test has three elements: unity of ownership, unity of use, and contiguity. State v. Lacey, 8 Wash.App. 542, 546, 507 P.2d 1206 (1973). Significantly, for our discussion, the determination is for the jury unless reasonable minds could not differ.	What are the requirements of the larger parcel test under the taking laws?
10217	Turner v. Hunt, 131 Tex. 492, 497 (Tex. 1938)	12	The plea of laches is not controlled by mere passage of time and always presents a question of fact.	Prairie Oil & Gas Company, 5 Cir., 83 F.2d 843, that the plea of laches is not controlled by mere passage of time and always presents a question of fact.	Is the plea of laches controlled by mere passage of time and always presents a question of fact?
10218	Jones v. Foote, 165 Conn. 516, 521 (Conn. 1973)	5	A court will grant equitable relief, injunctive or otherwise, only on situation as it exists at time of trial.	A court will grant equitable relief, injunctive or otherwise, only on the situation as it exists at the time of trial.	"Does the court grant equitable relief, injunctive or otherwise, on a situation as it exists at the time of trial? "
10219	Hawkins v. N. Carolina Dental Society, 230 F. Supp. 805, 810 (W.D.N.C. 1964)	1	Determinations of fact and conclusions of law applicable to request for mandatory injunction are to be made from facts and law as they are at closing of evidence in case.	The determinations of fact and conclusions of law applicable to the plaintiff's request for a mandatory injunction are to be made from the facts and the law as they are at the present, that is at the closing of the evidence in the case (Tennessee Negro Funeral Directors Association v.	Are determinations of fact and conclusions of law applicable to a request for mandatory injunction?
10231	Bradshaw v. Park, 34 Cal.Rptr.2d 872, 876, 29 Cal.App.4th 1267, 1274 (Cal.App. 2 Dist.,1994)	2	Underpinnings of workers' compensation system rest upon employer's obligation to secure payment of workers' compensation.	The underpinnings of the workers' compensation system rest upon the employer's obligation to secure payment of workers' compensation.	Do the underpinnings of the workers compensation system rest upon the employers obligation to secure payment of workers compensation?
10234	Texas State Optical v. Optical Workers Union, 257 S.W.2d 493, 495 (1953)	1	The right to temporary relief ordinarily is determined as of the time the trial court hears the prayer for that relief.	The right to temporary relief ordinarily is determined as of the time the trial court hears the prayer for that relief.	Is the right to temporary relief ordinarily determined as of the time the trial court hears the prayer for that relief?
10235	Gibreal Auto Sales v. Missouri Val. Mach. Co., 186 Neb. 763, 769 (1971)	6	Facts that transpire after institution of replevin action are immaterial in consideration and determination of merits of the case.	However, that fact is not a relevant consideration for determination of this case since, under our law, facts that transpire after the institution of a replevin action are immaterial in the consideration and determination of the merits of the case.	Are facts that transpire after the institution of a replevin action immaterial in consideration and determination of merits of the case?

10240	Page v. Holiday Inns, 245 Ga. 12, 13 (Ga. 1980)	1	A voluntary dismissal is a matter of right and terminates the action; it is not a judgment of the court but is order in the case by virtue of statute. Code, SS 81A-141(a).	A voluntary dismissal under Code Ann. s 81A-141(a) is a matter of right and terminates the action. It is not a judgment of the court but it is an order in the case by virtue of the statute.	Is voluntary dismissal of an action a matter of right and terminates the action?
10242	Cook v. Nacogdoches Anesthesia Group, 167 S.W.3d 476, 482 (Tex. App. 2005)	24	The party requesting a nonsuit has an absolute right to a nonsuit at the moment the motion is filed with the clerk, so long as the motion is timely filed.	The party requesting a nonsuit has an absolute right to a nonsuit at the moment the motion is filed with the clerk, so long as the motion is timely filed.	Does the party requesting a nonsuit have an absolute right to a nonsuit at the moment the motion is filed with the clerk?
10251	In re State ex rel. D.L.S., 446 S.W.3d 506, 513 (Tex. App. 2014)	2	Subject-matter jurisdiction is fundamental to the court's authority to dispose of cases, and the Court of Appeals may raise the issue sua sponte at any time.	Subject-matter jurisdiction is fundamental to this Court's authority to dispose of cases, and we may raise the issue sua sponte at any time.	Is subject-matter jurisdiction fundamental to a courts authority to dispose of cases?
10252	Silviera-Francisco v. Bd. of Educ. of City of Elizabeth, 224 N.J. 126, 143 (2016)	19	No agreement between or among parties may confer jurisdiction on the Appellate Division in the absence of a final order.	No agreement between or among parties may confer jurisdiction on the Appellate Division in the absence of a final order,	Can an agreement between parties confer jurisdiction on the Appellate Division in the absence of a final order?
10257	Giesler v. City of Omaha, 175 Neb. 706, 706 (1963)	1	Right of plaintiff to dismiss cause of action before submission to court is statutory and is not matter of judicial grace or discretion. R.R.S.1943, S 25-601.	The right of a plaintiff to dismiss a cause of action before submission to the court is a statutory right and is not a matter of judicial grace or discretion.	Is the right of a plaintiff to dismiss an action without prejudice as a matter of right at any time before final submission a statutory right?
10267	Show & Tell of New Orleans, L.L.C. v. Fellowship Missionary Baptist Church, 156 So. 3d 1234, 1238 (La. Ct. App. 2014)	1	Trial courts have wide discretion to implement pretrial orders and insure that their terms are enforced. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1551.	The law affords trial courts wide discretion to *1238 implement pretrial orders and insure that their terms are enforced. See La. C.C.P. art. 1551;	Does the trial court have wide discretion to implement a pretrial order and insure that its terms are enforced?
10272	U.S. v. Sweet, 372 F.Supp. 72, 74 (D.C.Mass. 1974)	3	Conscientious objector has no constitutional right to avoid military service; conscientious objector status is merely a privilege extended to registrants meeting criteria established by Congress.	There is no constitutional right in a conscientious objector to avoid service; it is merely a privilege Congress chose to extend to registrants meeting its criteria.	Does a conscientious objector have a constitutional right to avoid military service?
10280	Livernois v. Brandt, 37 Cal.Rptr. 279, 282, 225 Cal.App.2d 301, 305 (Cal.App. 1964)	2	The pretrial order supersedes issues raised by pleadings and controls subsequent course of case as long as it remains unmodified. Cal.Rules of Court, rule 216.	In People ex rel. Dept. Public Works v. Valley Drive-in Theater Corp., 206 Cal.App.2d 309, 23 Cal.Rptr. 626, this court held that the pretrial order supersedes the issues raised by the pleadings and controls the subsequent course of the case as long as it remains unmodified.	Does an issue raised in a pretrial order supersede an issue raised in the pleadings?
10282	Ridley v. Turner, 335 Ga. App. 108, 110 (2015)	2	Generally, unless the pretrial order is modified at or before trial, a party may not advance theories or offer evidence that violate the terms of the pretrial order. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 9-11-16(b).	"[I]t generally is recognized that, unless the pretrial order is modified at or before trial, a party may not advance theories or offer evidence that violate the terms of the pretrial order."	"Can a party advance theory or offer evidence that violate the terms of a pretrial order, unless the pretrial order is modified at or before trial?"

10284	Chapital v. Orleans Par., 780 So. 2d 1110, 1119 (La. Ct. App. 2001)	11	Pretrial conference is an invaluable tool for promoting a fair and speedy trial, and thus pretrial orders should be strictly adhered to by the parties.	Because the conference is an invaluable tool for promoting a fair and speedy trial, pretrial orders should be strictly adhered to by the parties.	Is pretrial conference an invaluable tool for promoting a fair and speedy trial?
10285	Bump v. Firemens Ins. Co. of Newark, N.J., 380 N.W.2d 268, 273 (Neb. 1986)	2	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case, and issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case. Issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	"Do issues specified at pretrial conference, control issues on which case is tried?"
10287	Dunlop v. Dist. Court of Greene Cty., 214 Iowa 389 (1932)	2	Statutory proceeding for production of material papers is analogous to equity practice under bill of discovery (Code 1931, SS 11129, 11316, 11317).	Furthermore, the statutory proceeding for the production of material papers is "analogous to the equity practice" under a bill of discovery.	Is the statutory proceeding for production of material papers analogous to equity practice under a bill of discovery?
10288	The Carle Foundation v. Department of Revenue, 396 Ill. App. 3d 329, 342 (Ill. App. Ct. 2009)	5	Statutes are to be construed in reference to the principles of common law and it is not to be presumed that the legislature intends to make any innovation upon the common law further than the case absolutely requires.	Statutes are to be construed in reference to the principles of the common law; and it is not to be presumed [] that the legislature intends to make any innovation upon the common law 83 1147 further than the case ab [s]olutely requires."	Are exposition statutes to be construed in reference to the principles of the common law?
10289	In re Marcucci, 256 B.R. 685, 693 (D.N.J. 2000)	11	"Taxes" are generally defined as pecuniary burdens laid upon individuals or their property, regardless of their consent, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of government or of undertakings authorized by it.	Taxes are generally defined as "pecuniary burdens laid upon individuals or their property, regardless of their consent, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of government or of undertakings authorized by it."	Do taxes have a regard to an individual's consent?
10291	American Life Acc. Ins. Co. v. Com, 173 S.W.3d 910, 913 (Ky. Ct. App. 2005)	1	The character of a tax is determined by its operation, effect, and incidents, not by the label the legislature appends in the statute.	The character of a tax is determined by its operation, effect, and incidents, not by the label the legislature appends in the statute.	"Is the character of a tax determined by its operation, effect, and incidents, not by the label the legislature appends in the statute?"
10296	Jesselson v. Outlet Assocs. of Williamsburg, Ltd. P'ship, 784 F. Supp. 1223, 1229 (E.D. Va. 1991)	9	Under New York law, where contract is signed by individual who does not indicate that individual is signing as agent on behalf of disclosed principal, individual is deemed to be contracting on individual's own behalf.	Under New York law, where a contract is signed by an individual who does not indicate therein that he is signing as an agent on behalf of a disclosed principal, the individual is deemed to be contracting on his own behalf.	Is an agent deemed to be contracting on his own behalf when he does not indicate that he is signing as an agent on behalf of a disclosed principal?

10298	Pierce v. Hand, Arendall, Bedsole, 678 So. 2d 765, 770 (Ala. 1996)	9	Partnership agreements, such as law firm partnership agreement, avoid automatic dissolution of firm upon withdrawal of a partner by fixing the amount of deferred compensation the partner will be allowed upon withdrawal; otherwise, partnership would automatically dissolve upon withdrawal of partner and he would be entitled to an accounting for the amount of his interest in the dissolved partnership.	Partnership agreements, such as the agreement in this case, avoid the automatic dissolution of a firm upon the withdrawal of a partner, by fixing the amount of deferred compensation the partner will be allowed upon withdrawal. Otherwise, the partnership would automatically dissolve upon the withdrawal of the partner, and he or she would be entitled to an accounting for the amount of his or her interest in the dissolved partnership.	Does the withdrawal of a partner constitute an automatic dissolution?
10299	Independent Trust v. Miller, 796 P.2d 483, 492 (Colo. 1990)	8	Pretrial conferences and orders are tools for simplifying issues with eye toward ultimately resolving lawsuits on the merits, not methods for avoiding trials altogether.	[8] Pretrial conferences and orders are tools for simplifying the issues with an eye toward ultimately resolving lawsuits on the merits, not methods for avoiding trials altogether.	"What are pretrial conferences and orders, tools for?"
10300	Ingretson v. Louisiana-Pac. Corp., 272 Mont. 294, 298 (1995)	2	Pretrial order should be liberally construed to permit any issues at trial that are embraced within its language.	The pretrial order should be liberally construed to permit any issues at trial that are "embraced within its language." Nentwig v.	Should a Pretrial order be liberally construed to permit any issues at trial that are embraced within its language?
10304	Stephens v. Bi-State Development Agency, 439 S.W.2d 252, 254 (Mo. Ct. App. 1969)	2	Generally, in order for absence of a witness to be grounds for a continuance there must be a probability the testimony can be obtained at a certain future time or within a reasonable time. V.A.M.R. Civil Rule 65.04(2, 3).	As a general rule in order for the absence of a witness to be grounds for a continuance there must be a probability the testimony can be obtained at a certain future time or within a reasonable time.	When will the absence of a witness be grounds for a continuance?
10311	Joachim v. Travelers Ins. Co., 279 S.W.3d 812, 816 (Tex. App. 2008)	5	A nonsuit extinguishes a case or controversy the moment it is filed with the court clerk or requested in open court. Vernon's Ann. Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	A nonsuit extinguishes a case or controversy the moment it is filed with the court clerk or requested in open court.	Does a nonsuit extinguish a case or controversy the moment it is filed with the court clerk or requested in open court?
10314	Bldg. Indus. Ass'n of the Bay Area v. City of San Ramon, 208 Cal. Rptr. 3d 320, 339 (Cal. Ct. App. 2016)	8	A tax is a "special tax" under state constitution whenever expenditure of its revenues is limited to specific purposes; this is true even though there may be multiple specific purposes for which revenues may be spent. Cal. Const. art. 13C, S 1(d).	[A] tax is special whenever expenditure of its revenues is limited to specific purposes; this is true even though there may be multiple specific purposes for *86 which revenues may be spent.	Do special taxes provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose?
10315	City of Pasadena v. Chamberlain, 36 P.2d 387, 390, 1 Cal.App.2d 125, 133 (Cal.App. 2 Dist. 1934)	3	Where there is legislative authority therefor, property owned by municipality and devoted to public use may be liable for special assessment for public improvements.	Where there is legislative authority therefor, property owned by a municipality and devoted to public use may be liable for special assessments for public improvements.	"Is legislative authority essential for a ""special assessment"" made on a public property?"
10319	U.S. v. Peleti, 576 F.3d 377, 382 (7th Cir. 2009)	2	Public official can act "corruptly," as would support conviction for bribery, without intending to be influenced; officer need only solicit or receive the money on the representation that the money is for the purpose of influencing his performance of some official act. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(2)(A).	An officer can act corruptly without intending to be influenced; the officer need only "solicit or receive the money on the representation that the money is for the purpose of influencing his performance of some official act." Id.	Is it possible for a public official to corrupt bribery statute without intending to be influenced?

10324	Walters v. First Federal Sav. and Loan Ass'n of Phoenix, 641 P.2d 235, 239, 131 Ariz. 321, 325 (Ariz., 1982)	4	Trial court may refuse to give an instruction to jury on an issue not embodied in pretrial order. 16 A.R.S. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 16(a).	Because of this function, the trial court may refuse to give an instruction to the jury on an issue not embodied in the pretrial order.	Can a court refuse to give an instruction to jury on an issue not embodied in pretrial order?
10329	Herrell v. Maddux, 217 Kan. 192, 192 (1975)	2	Generally, a pretrial order which specifies the issues to be tried supersedes and replaces the pleadings. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 16, K.S.A. 60-216.	A pretrial order which specifies the issues to be tried supersedes and replaces the pleadings.	"Generally, does a pretrial order which specifies the issues to be tried supersede and replace the pleadings?"
10333	State ex Rel. Richard, v. Cuyahoga Cty. Commrs, 100 Ohio App. 3d 592, 596 (1995)	4	Filing of voluntary dismissal immediately divests trial court of jurisdiction to go forward in matter. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(A)(1).	The filing of a voluntary dismissal immediately divests the trial court of jurisdiction to go forward in the matter.	Does the filing of a voluntary dismissal immediately divest a trial court of jurisdiction to go forward in a matter?
10336	Stubbs v. Strickland, 297 P.3d 326, 329, 129 Nev. 146, 151 (Nev., 2013)	8	After plaintiff files a notice of voluntary dismissal, the file is closed and defendant may not revive the action. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a)(1)(i).	After a plaintiff files a notice of voluntary dismissal, the file is closed and a defendant may not revive the action.	"After plaintiff files a notice of voluntary dismissal, is the file closed and a defendant may not revive the action?"
10339	Rondeau v. State, 48 N.E.3d 907, 913 (Ind.App., 2016)	4	Whether to grant a request to withdraw or amend admissions, including in a postconviction proceeding, is a matter within the trial court's discretion. Trial Procedure Rule 36(B).	Whether to grant a request to withdraw or amend admissions is a matter within the trial court's discretion.	Is the question of whether to grant a request for leave to withdraw admissions a matter committed to the sound discretion of the trial court?
10340	Coastal Oil v. Garza Energy Trust, 268 S.W.3d 1, 13 (Tex. 2008)	3	A trespass against a possessory interest does not require actual injury to be actionable and may result in an award of nominal damages.	As already noted, this case does not involve a trespass against a possessory interest, which does not require actual injury to be actionable and may result in an award of nominal damages.	Can nominal damages be awarded for a trespass against a possessory interest without an actual injury?
10362	County et al. v. Moody, 116 Tex. 299, 300 (Tex. 1926)	9	Legislature has full discretion to adopt method of taxing all properties in county at assessed values for cost of highway to be improved within it.	is decisive of the proposition that the Legislature has full discretion to adopt the method of taxing all properties in a county at assessed values for the cost of a highway to be improved within the county.	Can the Legislature tax the properties at assessed values for road improvement?
10383	In re Sewell, 472 S.W.3d 449, 455 (Tex.App.-Texarkana, 2015)	11	The burden of proof on all three requirements of rule allowing for withdrawal of deemed admissions is on the party seeking withdrawal. Tex. R. Civ. P. 198.3.	Finally, "[t]he burden of proof on all three requirements [of Rule 198.3] is on the party seeking withdrawal."	Is the burden of proof on all three requirements of rule allowing for withdrawal of deemed admissions on the party seeking withdrawal?
10384	Jankelson v. Cisel, 3 Wn. App. 139, 141 (Wash. Ct. App. 1970)	1	The withdrawal of an attorney in a civil case or his discharge does not give party an absolute right of continuance.	The withdrawal of an attorney in a civil case or his discharge does not give the party an absolute right of continuance.	Does the withdrawal of an attorney in a civil case or his discharge give a party an absolute right of continuance?

10389	Ruge v. Posey, 114 Idaho 890	5	Judge may not refuse to award reasonable expenses for failure to admit solely because expenses of proving matter contained in requests for admission might also have been incurred with respect to another issue. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 37(c).	We reiterate, however, that the judge may not refuse to make an award solely because the expenses of proving the matter contained in the requests for admission might also have been incurred with respect to another issue.	"If a party fail to admit the truth of any matter requested, should the party requesting the admissions prove the truth of the matter to apply to the court for an order requiring the other party to pay the reasonable expenses and reasonable attorney's fees?"
10401	Bibbins v. New Orleans, 848 So. 2d 686, 693 (La. Ct. App. 2003)	14	When a party receives a request for admissions and fails to respond to the request by any means, facts are deemed admitted.	Club Xscape asserts that when a party receives a request for admissions and fails to respond to the request by any means, facts are deemed admitted.	"When a party receives a request for admissions and fails to respond to the request by any means, are facts deemed admitted?"
10403	Deloge v. Cortez, 131 Idaho 201, 204 (Idaho Ct. App. 1998)	3	Conclusiveness of matters admitted pursuant to a request for admissions applies equally to admissions made affirmatively and those made by default. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(a).	The conclusiveness of matters admitted pursuant to Rule 36(b) applies equally to admissions made affirmatively and those made by default.	Does conclusiveness of matters apply equally to admissions made affirmatively pursuant to a request for admissions?
10404	Norrell v. Giles, 343 Ark. 504, 506 (Ark. 2001)	1	When a party fails to timely answer requests for admission, or otherwise fails to object to them, the requested matters are deemed admitted. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36(a).	*506 In interpreting Rule 36, this court has consistently held that when a party fails to timely answer requests for admission, or otherwise fails to object to them, the requested matters are deemed admitted.	Does the trial court have no discretion whether to deem matters admitted when party fails to answer request for admission by the deadline?
10413	Davis v. Barnes, 158 Ga. App. 89, 90 (1981)	2	Absence of a plaintiff's counsel, without leave, to attend proceeding in other court is no ground for continuance or postponement of a case.	The absence of a plaintiff's counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement.	Is absence of counsel without leave to attend trial of cases pending in other courts no ground for continuance?
10422	Koszdin v. State Compensation Insurance Fund, 186 Cal.App.4th 480, 491 (Cal. Ct. App. 2010)	8	The right to receive workers' compensation benefits is wholly statutory and is not derived from common law. West's Ann.Cal.Labor Code S 3200 et seq.	The right to receive workers' compensation benefits "is wholly statutory and is not derived from common law."	"Is the right to receive workers compensation benefits wholly statutory, or is it derived from common law?"
10446	In re Anonymous Online Speakers, 661 F.3d 1168, 1173 (9th Cir. 2011)	4	The right to speak, whether anonymously or otherwise, is not unlimited, under the First Amendment, and the degree of scrutiny varies depending on the circumstances and the type of speech at issue. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 1.	The right to speak, whether anonymously or otherwise, is not unlimited, however, and the degree of scrutiny varies depending on the circumstances and the type of speech at issue.	Is right to speak protected by the First Amendment?
10447	Phelps v. Gilbreth, 68 So. 2d 360, 362 (Fla. 1953)	2	It is rule of construction of pleadings that specific statements of facts will control over general statement, and that conclusions of law contained in pleading will be construed as drawn from facts plead.	It is a rule of construction of pleadings that specific statements of fact will control over a general statement, and that conclusions of law contained in a pleading will be construed as drawn from the facts plead.	It is a rule of pleadings that specific statements of facts will control over general statement?

10458	Chambarry v Mount Sinai Hosp., No. 21114/91, 94-419, 615 N.Y.S.2d 830, 837, 1994 WL 450242 (Sup Ct, May 16, 1994)	14	Plaintiff is entitled to disclosure of information regarding incidents giving rise to claims similar to his or her own.	To the contrary, a plaintiff is entitled to disclosure of information regarding incidents giving rise to claims similar to his or her own.	Is a plaintiff entitled to disclosure of information regarding incidents giving rise to claims similar to his or her own?
10461	Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corp. v. Cook, 199 S.W.2d 983, 984, 304 Ky. 63, 66 (Ky. 1947)	3	The provision of Civil Code of Practice prohibiting reading of a deposition on trial unless filed with papers of case before commencement of trial must be strictly followed. Civ.Code Prac. S 585.	Section 585 of the Civil Code of Practice follows: 'No deposition shall be read on a trial, unless, before the commencement thereof, it be filed with the papers of the case.' This provision of the Code has been followed strictly.	"Shall depositions not be read on a trial, unless filed with the papers in the suit before its commencement?"
10462	Mountain Glacier LLC v. Nestle Waters N. Am., Inc. (In re Mountain Glacier LLC), 564 B.R. 314, 321 (M.D. Tenn. 2017)	11	"Ratification" is a person's binding adoption of an act already completed but either not done in a way that originally produced a legal obligation, or done by third party having at the time no authority to act as the person's agent.	"Ratification" is defined in Black's Law Dictionary as, among other things, "A person's binding adoption of an act already completed but either not done in a way that originally produced a legal obligation, or done by a third party having at the time no authority to act as the person's agent."	What does the term Ratification encompass?
10463	Zeese v. Siegel's Estate, 534 P.2d 85, 89 (Utah 1975)	7	Ratification relates back to time when unauthorized act was done and though act may have been done without any precedent authority, ratification creates relation of principal and agent.	Ratification relates back to the time when the unauthorized act was done; and although the act may have done without any precedent authority, ratification creates the relation of principal and agent.	Does ratification of an act relate back to the time the unauthorized act had occurred?
10474	In re 2111 Associates-Chicago, 580 F.2d 705, 709 (4th Cir. 1978)	3	Any conversion of partnership property into property of an individual partner must be bona fide and without intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors.	"(a)ny conversion of partnership property into property of an individual partner, for example, must have been Bona fide, and without intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors."	Can a partnership property be converted into property of an individual partner by a transfer as long as it is bona fide in nature?
10480	Commonwealth v. Albert, 310 Mass. 811, 816 (Mass. 1942)	4	The collection of a bribe through an intermediary makes the public officer just as liable under statute as if he personally received it. G.L.(Ter.Ed.) c. 268, S 8 (M.G.L.A.).	The collection of a bribe through an intermediary makes the public officer just as liable under the statute as if he personally received it.	Does the collection of a bribe through an intermediary makes the public officer as liable under the statute as if he personally receives it?
10484	Board of Trustees, Etc. v. Cardwell, 400 So. 2d 402, 406 (Ala. 1981)	12	Since right to pension is purely statutory, courts do not have power to grant benefits to classes of people not included as beneficiaries by legislature, but merely to determine whether it was constitutional for legislature to exclude them.	As we stated earlier, the right to a pension is purely statutory, Cox v. Dunn, supra. For that reason the courts of this state do not have the power to grant benefits to classes of people not included by the legislature, but merely to determine whether it was constitutional for the legislature to exclude them.	Is a right to a pension statutory?

10487	Conboy v. State, 292 Conn. 642, 653 (Conn. 2009)	17	If the question of jurisdiction is intertwined with the merits of the case, a court cannot resolve the jurisdictional question without a hearing to evaluate those merits.	Likewise, if the question of jurisdiction is intertwined with the merits of the case, a court cannot resolve the jurisdictional question without a hearing to evaluate those merits.	"If the question of jurisdiction is intertwined with the merits of the case, can a court resolve the jurisdictional question on a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction without a hearing to evaluate those merits?"
10488	Ex Parte Gregory, 947 So. 2d 385, 390 (Ala. 2006)	13	A plaintiff does not enjoy an automatic right to discovery pertaining to personal jurisdiction in every case; to be permitted jurisdictional discovery, plaintiff must at least allege facts that would support a colorable claim of jurisdiction.	However, it is also well established that a plaintiff does not enjoy an automatic right to discovery pertaining to personal jurisdiction in every case.' Id. '[T]o be permitted jurisdictional discovery, plaintiff must at least allege facts that would support a colorable claim of jurisdiction.' Schenck v.	Does a plaintiff not enjoy an automatic right to discovery pertaining to personal jurisdiction in every case?
10489	Gold v. Rowland, 296 Conn. 186, 200 (Conn. 2010)	2	A motion to dismiss tests, inter alia, whether, on the face of the record, the court is without jurisdiction.	A motion to dismiss tests, inter alia, whether, on the face of the record, the court is without jurisdiction....	"Does a motion to dismiss test whether, on the face of the record, the court is without jurisdiction?"
10490	Mayer v. Biafore, Florek O'Neill, 245 Conn. 88, 91 (Conn. 1998)	2	Justiciability requires: (1) that there be an actual controversy between or among the parties to the dispute; (2) that the interests of the parties be adverse; (3) that the matter in controversy be capable of being adjudicated by judicial power; and (4) that the determination of the controversy will result in practical relief to the complainant.	"Justiciability requires (1) that there be an actual controversy between or among the parties to the dispute ... (2) that the interests of the parties be adverse ... (3) that the matter in controversy be capable of being adjudicated by judicial power ... and (4) that the determination of the controversy will result in practical relief to the complainant."	Should a case that is non-justiciable be dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction?
10494	Thweatt v. Jackson, 838 S.W.2d 725, 727 (Tex. App. 1992)	2	Assignee of promissory notes stands in shoes of assignor and obtains rights, title, and interest that assignor had at time of assignment.	Second, it is axiomatic that an assignee of a promissory note stands in the shoes of the assignor and obtains the rights, title, and interest that the assignor had at the time of the assignment.	Does an assignee of a promissory note obtain the title as that of the assignor at the time of assignment?
10505	Kern v. Gleason, 840 S.W.2d 730, 736 (Tex. App. 1992)	10	In action where exemplary damages may be recovered, party's net worth is relevant and discoverable.	In an action where exemplary damages may be recovered, a party's net worth is relevant and discoverable.	"In action where exemplary damages may be recovered, is a party's net worth relevant and discoverable?"
10509	Forth v. Allstate Indem. Co., 151 S.W.3d 732, 736 (Tex. App. 2004)	4	If a plaintiff lacks standing, the trial court has no jurisdiction and must dismiss the entire case.	If a plaintiff lacks standing, the trial court has no jurisdiction and must dismiss the entire case.	"If a plaintiff lacks standing, does the trial court have no jurisdiction and must dismiss the entire case?"

10512	In re Peplinski's Est., 155 Pa. Super. 564, 571, 39 A.2d 271, 274 (1944)	4	General taxation is enforced to serve the necessary purposes of government, while local assessments are enforced to serve mere local convenience and for additional benefit of private property holders.	General taxation is enforced to serve the necessary purposes of government, while local assessments are enforced to serve mere local convenience, and for the additional benefit of private property holders.	What is general taxation enforced to serve?
10513	In re Peplinski's Estate, 155 Pa. Super. 564, 564 (1944)	4	General taxation is enforced to serve the necessary purposes of government, while local assessments are enforced to serve mere local convenience and for additional benefit of private property holders.	General taxation is enforced to serve the necessary purposes of government, while local assessments are enforced to serve mere local convenience, and for the additional benefit of private property holders.	What are local assessments enforced to serve?
10515	Leo Feist, Inc. v. Young, 46 F. Supp. 622, 630 (E.D. Wis. 1942)	10	A state has the power to levy a tax against corporations or associations transacting business within its borders.	A state has the power to levy a tax against corporations or associations transacting business within its borders.	Does a state have the power to levy a tax against corporations or associations transacting business within its borders?
10519	Joslin v Regan, 63 A.D.2d 466, 470, 406 N.Y.S.2d 938, 940-41 (N.Y.A.D. 4 Dept., July 13, 1978)	6	An "ad valorem tax" is one that is assessed on the value of property at a certain rate or at a fixed proportion. Const. art. 16, S 3.	An ad valorem tax is one that is assessed upon the value of property "at a certain rate" (Ampco Print.-Advs. Corp. v. City of N. Y., 14 N.Y.2d 11, 22, 247 N.Y.S.2d 865, 870, 197 N.E.2d 285, 288; 58 N.Y.Jur.Revised, Taxation, s 6) or at a "fixed proportion"	"Is ""ad valorem tax"" the one that is assessed on the value of property at a certain rate or at a fixed proportion?"
10520	Sunshine Towing, Inc. v. Fonseca, 933 So. 2d 594 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2006)	2	Workers' compensation is purely a creature of statute and, as such, is subject to the basic principles of statutory construction.	Workers' compensation is purely a creature of statute and, as such, is subject to the basic principles of statutory construction.	"Is workers compensation purely a creature of statute and, as such, is it subject to the basic principles of statutory construction?"
10543	Taylor v. Margo, 508 S.W.3d 12, 24 (Tex. App. 2015)	24	If a plaintiff is without standing to assert one of his claims, the court lacks jurisdiction over that claim and is required to dismiss it.	Therefore, if a plaintiff is without standing to assert one of his claims, the court lacks jurisdiction over that claim and is required to dismiss it.	"If a plaintiff lacks standing to assert one of his claims, does the court lack jurisdiction over that claim and must dismiss it?"
10547	Jimenez v. DeRosa, 109 Conn. App. 332, 338, 951 A.2d 632, 637 (2008)	10	Abode service of process is not effective if it is left at an address that is not the usual address of the party to be served, and an action commenced by such improper service must be dismissed. C.G.S.A. S 52-57(a); Practice Book 1998, S 10-13.	Abode service is not effective if it is left at an address that is not the usual address of the party to be served, and an action commenced by such improper service must be dismissed."	Should an action be dismissed if it was commenced by improper service of process?
10548	Chris Keefe Builders v Hazzard, No. 09-00651, 1677, 900 N.Y.S.2d 201, 203, 2010 N.Y. Slip Op. 02637, 2010 WL 1137029 (N.Y.A.D. 4 Dept., Mar. 26, 2010)	2	Courts have the discretion to issue appropriate sanctions for a party's failure to comply with a scheduling order.	There is no dispute that courts have the discretion to issue appropriate sanctions for a party's failure to comply with a scheduling order	Do courts have the discretion to issue appropriate sanctions for a party's failure to comply with a scheduling order?
10556	Dallas v. Ameren CIPS, 402 Ill. App. 3d 307, 311 (Ill. App. Ct. 2010)	3	Proceedings under the Workers' Compensation Act are purely statutory, and courts can obtain jurisdiction only in the manner provided by that Act. S.H.A. 820 ILCS 305/19(g).	"Proceedings under the Workers' Compensation Act are purely statutory, and courts can obtain jurisdiction only in the manner provided by that Act.	"Are proceedings under the Workers Compensation Act purely statutory, and how can courts obtain jurisdiction?"

10557	Curtis v. G.E. Capital Modular Space, 155 S.W.3d 877, 882 (Tenn. 2005)	7	The right to workers' compensation benefits is a unique concept in the law, derived solely from statutory provisions, rather than from the common law.	The right to workers' compensation benefits is a unique concept in the law, derived solely from statutory provisions rather than from the common law.	"Are workers compensation benefits a unique concept, and where is it solely derived from?"
10558	La. Stadium & Exposition Dist. v. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., 626 F.3d 156, 161 (2d Cir. 2010)	11	A litigant is not entitled to use arbitration as a means of aborting a suit that did not proceed as planned in the district court.	But a litigant is not entitled to use arbitration as a means of aborting a suit that did not proceed as planned in the District Court.	Can litigants use arbitration as a means of aborting a suit that does not proceed as planned in court?
10564	United States v. Terry, 707 F.3d 607, 613 (6th Cir. 2013)	9	If a public official receives money through promises to improperly employ his public influence, he has accepted a bribe. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(2).	If an official receives money "through promises to improperly employ his public influence," he has accepted a bribe.	"If a public official receives money through promises to improperly employ his public influence, has he accepted a bribe?"
10566	Padilla-Mangual v. Pavia, 516 F.3d 29, 31 (1st Cir. 2008)	2	Person's domicile is the place where he has his true, fixed home and principal establishment, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning. 28 U.S.C.A. S 1332(a)(1).	"A person's domicile 'is the place where he has his true, fixed home and principal establishment, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning.	"Is a person's domicile a place where he has his true, fixed home and principal establishment?"
10570	Coast to Coast, Etc. v. G S Metal Products, 130 Ariz. 506, 507 (Ariz. Ct. App. 1981)	2	When defendant moves to dismiss complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction, plaintiff has burden of establishing that such jurisdiction is proper.	When a defendant moves to dismiss a complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff, or in this case appellant, has the burden of establishing that such jurisdiction is proper.	"Once the defendant has moved for dismissal for lack of jurisdiction, does the plaintiff have the burden of establishing that jurisdiction is proper?"
10575	Jimenez v. DeRosa, 109 Conn. App. 332, 338, 951 A.2d 632, 637 (2008)	10	Abode service of process is not effective if it is left at an address that is not the usual address of the party to be served, and an action commenced by such improper service must be dismissed. C.G.S.A. S 52-57(a); Practice Book 1998, S 10-13.	Abode service is not effective if it is left at an address that is not the usual address of the party to be served, and an action commenced by such improper service must be dismissed."	Should an action commenced by improper service be dismissed?
10590	Wilson v. Waverlee Homes, Inc., 954 F.Supp. 1530, 1537 (M.D.Ala.,1997)	12	Under Alabama law, entity that is neither party to, nor agent for, nor beneficiary of contract lacks standing to compel arbitration of contractual dispute.	"An entity that is neither a party to nor agent for nor beneficiary of the contract lacks standing to compel arbitration."	Does an entity that is neither party nor agent for the beneficiary of a contract lack standing to compel arbitration?
10600	State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Smith, 39 So. 3d 1172, 1175 (Ala. Civ. App. 2009)	2	Under the rule permitting a 120-day period for service of process, an action may not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120-day period. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 4(b).	Accordingly, we conclude that Rule 4(b), Ala. R. Civ. P., allows 120 days for service of process and that an action may not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120-day period.	"Under the rule permitting a 120-day period for service of process, can an action not be dismissed for insufficient service before the expiration of the 120-day period?"

10603	Brew v. Stern, 254 N.J. Super. 237, 242, 603 A.2d 162, 164 (Law. Div. 1991)	1	Ordinarily, in absence of demonstrable prejudice to defendant, complaint should not be dismissed because of untimely issuance of summons; in determining whether prejudice exists, court is primarily concerned with impairment of defendant's ability to defend on merits. R. 1:13-7; R. 4:37-2(a).	Ordinarily, in the absence of demonstrable prejudice to defendant, a complaint should not be dismissed because of untimely issuance of a summons. Crispin v. Volkswagenwerk, A.G., 96 N.J. 336, 346, 476 A.2d 250 (1984); State v. One 1986 Subaru, 120 N.J. 310, 315, 576 A.2d 859 (1990). In determining whether prejudice exists we are primarily concerned with the impairment of defendant's ability to defend on the merits.	"In absence of demonstrable prejudice to defendant, should a complaint not be dismissed because of an untimely issuance of a summons?"
10605	Smith v. Alabama Dry Dock Shipbuilding Co., 293 Ala. 644, 649 (1975)	2	Lack of a justiciable controversy may be raised either by a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment. Rules of Civil Procedure, rules 12, 56.	Thus, the lack of a justiciable controversy may be raised either by a motion to dismiss, Rule 12 ARCP, or a motion for summary judgment, Rule 56 ARCP.	Can a lack of a justiciable controversy be raised either by a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment?
10631	Tiffany v. Brenton State Bank, 508 N.W.2d 87, 92 (Iowa Ct. App. 1993)	12	Mere filing of motion for continuance before mandatory dismissal date fails to stay dismissal of case. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 215.1.	The mere filing of a motion for continuance before the rule 215.1 deadline for trial fails to stay the dismissal of the case.	Does a mere filing of a motion for continuance before the mandatory dismissal date fail to stay dismissal of a case?
10632	Utz v. Aureguy, 109 Cal. App. 2d 803	3	Superior Court has inherent power to dismiss action which is made to appear fictitious and sham.	The Superior Court has inherent power to dismiss actions which are made to appear fictitious and sham.	Does a Superior Court have inherent power to dismiss action which is made to appear fictitious and sham?
10649	Cracker Barrel v. Epperson, 284 S.W.3d 303, 314 (Tenn. 2009)	18	While the doctrine of judicial estoppel is applied to prohibit a party from taking a position that is directly contrary to or inconsistent with a position previously taken by the party, the doctrine generally only applies to sworn statements made in the course of judicial proceedings.	While the doctrine of judicial estoppel is applied to prohibit a party from taking "a position that is directly contrary to or inconsistent with a position previously taken by the party," Guzman v. Alvares, 205 S.W.3d 375, 382 (Tenn.2006), the doctrine generally only applies to "sworn statements made in the course of judicial proceedings.	Does judicial estoppel arise from sworn statements made in the course of judicial proceedings?
10650	New York State Public Employees Federation, AFL-CIO v City of Albany, No. 84779, 269 A.D.2d 707, 707, 703 N.Y.S.2d 573, 574, 2000 N.Y. Slip Op. 01784, 2000 WL 215755 (N.Y.A.D. 3 Dept., Feb. 24, 2000)	1	Right to use public highways rests with the whole people of the State, and municipalities cannot grant proprietary rights to the use thereof to their residents in priority to the general public.	The Court of Appeals has made clear that the right to use public highways rests "with the whole people of the State" (New York State Pub. Empls. Fedn., AFL-CIO v. City of Albany, 72 N.Y.2d 96, 101, 531 N.Y.S.2d 770, 527 N.E.2d 253), and municipalities cannot grant proprietary rights to the use thereof to their residents in priority to the general public	What are the rights provided to the public for the use of state highways?

10654	Loch Sheldrake Beach and Tennis Inc. v Akulich, No. 522390, 36 N.Y.S.3d 525, 528, 2016 N.Y. Slip Op. 05422, 2016 WL 3619343 (N.Y.A.D. 3 Dept., July 07, 2016)	2	To prevail on a breach of fiduciary duty claim against residential cooperative board members, the cause of action must allege the existence of a fiduciary relationship, misconduct by the individual board members, and damages directly caused by a board member's misconduct.	To prevail on a breach of fiduciary duty claim, the cause of action must allege the existence of a fiduciary relationship, misconduct by the individual board members and damages directly caused by a board member's misconduct	Should a breach of fiduciary duty be plead with specificity?
10661	Best Foods v Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, (N.Y.A.D. 1 Dept., June 08, 1928)	1	Under Civil Practice Act, SS 211, 213, entitling plaintiff to plead in alternative against various defendants, branch of pleading which deals with each defendant must show some basis of liability against such defendant.	While the plaintiff was clearly entitled, under sections 211 and 213 of the Civil Practice Act, to plead in the alternative against the various defendants, the branch of the pleading which deals with each defendant must show some basis of liability against such defendant.	Can a plaintiff plead in the alternative?
10662	Nalen v. Jenkins, 113 Idaho 79, 81 (Idaho Ct. App. 1987)	3	Under modern pleading practice, plaintiff may advance alternative theories relating to an alleged set of facts.	The first such standard is that, under modern pleading practice, the plaintiff may advance alternative theories relating to an alleged set of facts.	Can the plaintiff advance alternative theories relating to an alleged set of facts?
10665	Holder v. Orange Grove Med. Specialties, P.A., 54 So. 3d 192, 196 (Miss. 2011)	2	Because the law favors a trial of the issues on the merits, a dismissal for lack of prosecution is employed reluctantly. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	"Because the law favors a trial of the issues on the merits, a dismissal for lack of prosecution is employed reluctantly.	"Is a dismissal for lack of prosecution employed reluctantly, because the law favors a trial of the issues on the merits?"
10666	Ridgell v. McDermott, 427 S.W.3d 310, 312 (Mo. Ct. App. 2014)	1	A motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action attacks adequacy of plaintiff's pleadings.	A motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action attacks the adequacy of the plaintiff's pleadings.	Does a motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action attack adequacy of a plaintiff's pleadings?
10667	Zeeb v. Atlas Powder Co., 87 A.2d 123, 127, 32 Del.Ch. 486, 493-94 (Del. 1952)	7	Except as to acts so peculiarly personal that their performance may not be delegated, or except as to acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally, generally an individual may do all acts through an agent which he could do himself.	Except as to acts so peculiarly personal that their performance may not be delegated, or except as to acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally, as a general rule an individual may do all acts through an agent which he could do himself.	Can acts which are required to be performed personally by statute be delegated?
10673	University of Utah v. Shurtleff, 144 P.3d 1109, 1116, 2006 UT 51, ¶ 26 (Utah, 2006)	13	As a corporate entity engaged in the enterprise of higher education, the University of Utah is distinct from an administrative agency that may exert authority over an entire industry or occupation.	As a corporate entity engaged in the enterprise of higher education, the University is distinct from an administrative agency that may exert authority over an entire industry or occupation.	Can a university exert policy and authority over an industry?
10675	Stephen L. Winternitz, Inc. v. Nat'l Bank, 289 Ill. App. 3d 753, 759 (1997)	5	It is permissible to argue claims in the alternative, even though such arguments are based upon inconsistent facts.	"It is permissible to argue in the alternative, even though such arguments are based upon inconsistent facts."	"Is it permissible to argue in the alternative, even though such arguments are based upon inconsistent facts?"

10686	Belcher Center LLC v. Belcher Center, Inc., 883 So. 2d 338, 339 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2004)	3	If the court is required to consider matters outside of the four corners of the complaint, then the cause is not subject to dismissal on the basis of an affirmative defense.	If the court is required to consider matters outside of the four corners of the complaint, then the cause is not subject to dismissal on the basis of an affirmative defense.	When is the cause subject to dismissal on the basis of an affirmative defense?
10694	Environmental v. Slurry Systems, 540 F.3d 598, 607 (7th Cir. 2008)	5	If party voluntarily and unreservedly submits issue to arbitration, he cannot later argue that arbitrator had no authority to resolve it.	"If a party voluntarily and unreservedly submits an issue to arbitration, he cannot later argue that the arbitrator had no authority to resolve it."	Can a party who voluntarily and unreservedly submits an issue to arbitration later argue that the arbitrator had no authority to resolve it?
10699	Castrillo v. American Home Mortg. Servicing, Inc., 670 F.Supp.2d 516, 528 (E.D.La.,2009)	14	Mortgagor's loan modification agreement constituted a mere modification of mortgagor's existing debt and not a "refinancing" by a different creditor, such that it did not give rise to disclosure requirements or rescission rights under Truth in Lending Act (TILA). Truth in Lending Act, S 125(b), 15 U.S.C.A. S 1635(b).	Thus, as its terms suggest, the Loan Modification Agreement is a mere modification of an existing debt and not a "refinancing" by a different creditor. It therefore does not give rise to disclosure requirements or rescission rights under TILA.	Will a mortgagor's loan modification agreement constitute a mere modification of mortgagor's existing debt or a refinancing by a different creditor?
10702	Henderson v. Johnson, 97 So. 3d 946, 950–51 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2012)	6	Whether a complaint is sufficient to state a cause of action and survive a motion to dismiss is an issue of law.	"Whether a complaint is sufficient to state a cause of action is an issue of law.	"Is whether a complaint is sufficient to state a cause of action an issue of law, on motion to dismiss?"
10704	Raven v. Panama Canal Co., 583 F.2d 169, 171 (5th Cir. 1978)	5	Acts of Congress may treat aliens differently than citizens without such treatment being considered "invidious" or in violation of the equal protection clause. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 14.	The United States Supreme Court has recognized that Acts of Congress may treat aliens differently than citizens without such treatment being considered "invidious" or in violation of the Equal Protection clause.	Is it invidious when aliens are treated differently from citizens?
10712	Rolle v. Cold Stone Creamery, Inc., 212 So. 3d 1073, 1076 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2017)	3	Unlike a motion for summary judgment, when ruling on a motion to dismiss, a court may not go beyond the four corners of the complaint in considering the legal sufficiency of the allegations.	Unlike a motion for summary judgment, when ruling on a motion to dismiss, " '[a] court may not go beyond the four corners of the complaint in considering the legal sufficiency of the allegations.' "	Does a motion to dismiss test the legal sufficiency of the complaint and not determine a factual issue?
10713	Pennsylvania Life Ins. Co. v. Simoni, 641 N.W.2d 807, 810 (Iowa 2002)	4	Where the facts pertinent to the determinative issue in a motion to dismiss are disputed, the case usually cannot be resolved on such a motion.	Where the facts pertinent to the determinative issue in a motion to dismiss are disputed, the case usually cannot be resolved on such a motion.	"Where the facts pertinent to the determinative issue in a motion to dismiss are disputed, can the case usually be resolved on such a motion?"
10714	Total Access v. Caddo Electric, 9 P.3d 95, 96 (Okla. Civ. App. 2000)	2	Purpose of a motion to dismiss is to test the legal sufficiency of the pleadings, not to evaluate the underlying facts.	"The purpose of a motion to dismiss is to test the legal sufficiency of the pleadings, not to evaluate the underlying facts.	"Is the purpose of a motion to dismiss to test the legal sufficiency of the pleadings, not to evaluate the underlying facts?"
10716	Chicago City Day School v. Wade, 297 Ill. App. 3d 465, 469 (Ill. App. Ct. 1998)	2	Motion to dismiss does not raise affirmative factual defenses, but alleges only defects on face of complaint. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	Such a motion does not raise affirmative factual defenses but alleges only defects on the face of the complaint.	Will a motion to dismiss raise affirmative factual defenses and allege defects on face of complaint?

10717	Stein v. Chiera, 130 A.D.3d 912, 914, 14 N.Y.S.3d 133, 136 (2015)	1	On a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action, the complaint is to be afforded a liberal construction; the facts alleged in it are presumed to be true and are to be accorded every favorable inference.	On a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action, the complaint is to be afforded a liberal construction. The facts alleged in it are presumed to be true and are to be accorded every favorable inference.	"On a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action, is the complaint to be afforded a liberal construction?"
10719	Hidden Brook Air, Inc. v. Thabet Aviation International, 241 F. Supp. 2d 246, 260 (S.D.N.Y. 2002)	4	"Actual authority" exists when an agent has the power to do an act or to conduct a transaction on account of the principal which, with respect to the principal, he is privileged to do because of the principal's manifestation to him. Restatement (Second) of Agency § 7 comment.	Actual authority exists when an agent has the power "to do an act or to conduct a transaction on account of the principal which, with respect to the principal, he is privileged to do because of the principal's manifestation to him."	Does authority exist when an agent has the power to do an act on account of the principal?
10723	Richmond Cedar Works v. West, 152 Va. 533, 543 (Va. 1929)	19	Privies, or those who derive title from or through the parties, ordinarily stand in the same position as the parties, and are bound by every estoppel that would have been binding on the parties.	Privies, or those who derive title from or through the parties, ordinarily stand in the same position as the parties, and are bound by every estoppel that would have been binding on the parties.'	Are those who derive title from or through the parties bound by every estoppel that would have been binding on the parties?
10726	Kilburg v. Munawar Mohiuddin, Zante Cab Co., 2013 IL App (1st) 113408, ¶ 20, (2013)	4	The court must construe the complaint liberally and dismiss only when it appears that plaintiff cannot recover under any set of facts. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	We must construe the complaint liberally and dismiss only when it appears that plaintiff cannot recover under any set of facts.	Should the court construe the complaint liberally and dismiss only when it appears that a plaintiff cannot recover under any set of facts?
10727	Coughlin v. Waterbury, 61 Conn. App. 310, 315 (Conn. App. Ct. 2001)	7	A motion to dismiss may raise issues of fact and would, therefore, require a hearing to determine the facts, and affidavits are insufficient to determine the facts unless, like the summary judgment, they disclose that no genuine issue as to a material fact exists.	A motion to dismiss may ... raise issues of fact and would, therefore, require a ... hearing [to determine the facts].... [A]ffidavits are insufficient to determine the facts unless, like the summary judgment, they disclose that no genuine issue as to a material fact exists.	Can a motion to dismiss raise issues of fact and would require a hearing to determine the facts?
10731	Doe No. 3 v. Nur-Ul-Islam Acad., Inc., 217 So. 3d 85, 87 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2017)	3	If the face of the complaint contains allegations which demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense then such defense can be considered on motion to dismiss; otherwise an affirmative defense may not be considered on motion to dismiss a complaint. Fla. R. Civ. P. 1.110(d).	"If the face of the complaint contains allegations which demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense then such defense can be considered on motion to dismiss. Otherwise an affirmative defense may not be considered on motion to dismiss a complaint."	Should defenses be considered only if the allegations of the complaint demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense?
10733	Papa John's International, Inc. v. Cosentino, 916 So. 2d 977, 983 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	3	If the face of the complaint contains allegations which demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense, then such a defense may be considered on a motion to dismiss, otherwise, affirmative defenses may not be considered. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.110(d).	If the face of the complaint contains allegations which demonstrate the existence of an affirmative defense, then such a defense may be considered on a motion to dismiss. See Fla. R. Civ. P. 1.110(d); Palmer v.	Can affirmative defense be considered if the allegations demonstrate the existence of affirmative defense on the face of the complaint?

10734	Bolz v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., 679 So. 2d 836, 837 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1996)	1	Motion to dismiss is designed to test legal sufficiency of complaint, not to determine issues of fact.	A motion to dismiss is designed to test the legal sufficiency of a complaint, not to determine issues of fact.	"Is a motion to dismiss designed to test legal sufficiency of a complaint, not to determine issues of fact?"
10735	Cameron Sav. v. Stewart Title, 819 S.W.2d 600, 603 (Tex. App. 1991)	2	"Actual authority" includes both express and implied authority and usually denotes that authority which principal intentionally confers upon agent, intentionally allowed agent to believe that he possesses or, by want of due care, allows agent to believe that he possesses.	"Actual" authority includes both express and implied authority and usually denotes that authority which a principal a) intentionally confers upon an agent, b) intentionally allows the agent to believe that he possesses, or c) by want of due care allows the agent to believe that he possesses.	What is an actual authority in the context of a principal-agent relationship?
10736	Landmark Inv. Group v. Chung Family Realty, 125 Conn. App. 678, 692 (Conn. App. Ct. 2010)	14	Agents who lack authority to bind their principals to contracts nevertheless may have authority to negotiate or to transmit or receive information on their behalf. Restatement (Third) of Agency S 1.01 comment.	"Agents who lack authority to bind their principals to contracts nevertheless often have authority to negotiate or to transmit or receive information on their behalf."	"Do agents lacking authority to bind their principals to contract, have authority to negotiate on behalf of the principal?"
10737	Bank of Nova Scotia v. San Miguel, 214 F.2d 102, 105 (1st Cir. 1954)	2	Under the conflict of laws rule of Puerto Rico, the questions as to the execution, the interpretation and the validity of a negotiable instrument are to be determined by the law of the place where it is made.	Under the conflict of laws rule of Puerto Rico the questions as to the execution, the interpretation and the validity of a negotiable instrument are to be determined by the law of the place where it is made.	Under what law is the interpretation and validity of a negotiable instrument determined?
10744	Weil & Assocs. v. Urb. Renewal Agency of Wichita, 206 Kan. 405, 413, 479 P.2d 875, 883 (1971)	1	Legal sufficiency of claim for relief must be decided from well-pleaded facts of petition; when motion to dismiss raises issue concerning legal sufficiency, it may be treated as modern equivalent of demurrer. K.S.A. 60-208(a), 60-212(b) (6).	'When a motion to dismiss under K.S.A. 60-212(b)(6) * * * raises an issue concerning the legal sufficiency of a claim, the question must be decided from the well-pleaded facts of plaintiff's petition. The motion in such case may be treated as the modern equivalent of a demurrer.'	Is the legal sufficiency of claim determined from well-pled facts in a petition?
10745	Hoffman v. Paracelsus Health Care Corp., 752 So. 2d 1030, 1034 (Miss. 1999)	1	The power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution is part of a trial court's inherent authority.	"[T]he power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution is part of a trial court's inherent authority."	Is the power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution part of a trial court's inherent authority?
10746	Hoff v. Goyer, 160 So. 3d 768, 770 (Ala. Civ. App. 2014)	1	When materials outside the pleadings accompany a motion to dismiss, the trial court is not bound to limit itself to the pleadings.	" 'When materials outside the pleadings accompany a motion to dismiss, the trial court is "not bound to limit itself to the pleadings."	"When materials outside the pleadings accompany a motion to dismiss, is the trial court not bound to limit itself to the pleadings?"
10747	Doe 30's Mother v. Bradley, 58 A.3d 42	8	Generally, the universe of facts considered in a motion to dismiss are those plead within the confines of the complaint; however, parties may submit matters outside the pleading when presenting or opposing a motion to dismiss. Superior Court Civil Rule 12(b).	Generally, the "universe of facts" considered in a motion to dismiss are those plead within the confines of the complaint. ⁵⁶ Rule 12(b) contemplates, however, that parties may submit "matters outside the pleading" when presenting or opposing a motion to dismiss.	"Generally, is the universe of facts considered in a motion to dismiss those pleaded within the confines of the complaint?"

10749	Bishop v. Wollyung, 705 S.W.2d 312, 315 (Tex. App. 1986)	4	Trial court is entitled to consider history of suit in determining whether a dismissal should be granted for want of prosecution.	The court is entitled to consider the history of the suit in determining whether a dismissal should be granted.	Is the court entitled to consider history of suit in determining whether a dismissal should be granted for want of prosecution?
10769	Gerlich v. Leath, 861 F.3d 697, 705 (8th Cir. 2017)	10	If a state university creates a limited public forum for speech, it may not discriminate against speech on the basis of its viewpoint. U.S. Const. Amend. 1.	If a state university creates a limited public forum for speech, it may not *705 "discriminate against speech on the basis of its viewpoint."	"f a state university creates a limited public forum for speech, can it discriminate against speech on the basis of its viewpoint?"
10774	New Bedford Educators Ass'n v. Chairman of the Mass. Bd. of Elementary, 83 N.E.3d 166, 174 (Mass. App. Ct. 2017)	1	Standing is an issue of subject matter jurisdiction that is properly challenged by way of a motion to dismiss. Mass. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1).	"Standing is an issue of subject matter jurisdiction that is properly challenged by way of a motion to dismiss under rule 12(b)(1)." Indeck Maine Energy, LLC v.	Is standing an issue of subject matter jurisdiction that is properly challenged by way of motion to dismiss?
10778	State, Dep't of Treasury, Div. of Inv. ex rel. McCormac v. Qwest Commc'ns Int'l, Inc., 387 N.J. Super. 469, 479, 904 A.2d 775, 781 (App. Div. 2006)	4	A motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action should be granted only in rare instances, ordinarily without prejudice.	A motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action must be denied if the claim has been made out. Printing Mart–Morristown, supra, 116 N.J. at 746, 563 A.2d 31. The motion should be granted only in rare instances, ordinarily without prejudice. Id. at 772, 563 A.2d 31; Fazilat v. Feldstein, 180 N.J. 74, 78, 848 A.2d 761 (2004).	"Should a motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a cause of action be granted only in rare instances, ordinarily without prejudice?"
10780	State v. Chung, 75 Haw. 398, 411 (1993)	5	Conduct proscribed by the offense of terroristic threatening is a threat to cause bodily injury to another person and terrorization as the result of the proscribed conduct; with respect to the latter, statute alternatively enumerates intent or reckless disregard as the requisite state of mind and, although statute is silent as to the requisite state of mind applicable to the proscribed conduct, no purpose plainly appears to apply a different state of mind. HRS S 707-715.	HRS 707-715 identifies the conduct proscribed by the offense of terroristic threatening, inter alia, as a threat to cause bodily injury to another person; the same statute identifies terrorization as the result of the conduct proscribed. With respect to the latter, the statute alternatively enumerates "intent" or "reckless disregard" (i.e., "recklessness") as the requisite states of mind. Although the statute is silent as to the requisite state of mind applicable to the proscribed conduct, no purpose to apply different states of mind plainly appears.	What is the conduct proscribed by the offense of terroristic threatening?
10784	Hug v. James, 2008 OK CIV APP 93, ¶ 12, 197 P.3d 22, 25	6	Dismissals under statute permitting dismissals without prejudice for failure to prosecute cannot and do not address the merits of an action, particularly with the legislative directive that such dismissals are to be without prejudice. 12 Okl.St. Ann. § 683.	It is clear to us that dismissals pursuant to § 683 cannot and do not address the merits of an action, particularly with the legislative directive that such dismissals are to be without prejudice.	Can dismissals under statute permitting dismissals without prejudice for failure to prosecute not address the merits of an action?

10786	Whitaker v. Wright, 100 Fla. 282, 288, 129 So. 889, 891 (1930)	6	Parties after nonsuit or dismissal are out of court for all purposes other than to carry order into effect or to vacate or modify same.	In 9 R. C. L. 209, § 29, it is stated that after a plaintiff has suffered a nonsuit the parties are out of court for every purpose other than to carry the order into effect, or 'to vacate or modify the same.'	Are parties after nonsuit or dismissal out of court for all purposes other than to carry an order into effect or to vacate or modify the same?
10790	Van Arsdale v. Caswell, 311 S.W.2d 404, 406 (Ky. 1958)	3	An order of dismissal is final ten days after it is entered and the court loses jurisdiction of the cause.	An order of dismissal is final and after the term at which it is entered [now after ten days], the court loses jurisdiction of the cause.	Is an order of dismissal final ten days after it is entered and the court loses jurisdiction of the cause?
10792	Hollister v. Thomas, 110 Conn. App. 692, 706 (Conn. App. Ct. 2008)	15	The labels used by the parties in referring to their relationship are not determinative of an agent/principal relationship; rather, a court must look to the operative terms of their agreement or understanding.	Finally, the labels used by the parties in referring to their relationship are not determinative; rather, a court must look to the operative terms of their agreement or understanding.	Are the labels used by the parties in referring to their agency relationship determinative?
10793	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	15	A person may be the servant of two masters, not joint employers, at one time as to one act, if the service does not involve abandonment of the service to the other. Restatement (Second) of Agency, § 226, comment b.	"A person may be the servant of two masters, not joint employers, at one time as to one act, if the service does not involve abandonment of the service to the other." Id. (quoting Restatement (Second) of Agency, § 226 cmt. b.).	Can a person be the servant of two masters if the service does not involve abandonment of the service to the other?
10794	Bd. of Overseers of Bar v. Lee, 422 A.2d 998, 1004 (Me. 1980)	15	"Tax" is a charge either to raise money for public purposes or to accomplish some governmental end; exactions, which are not imposed for main purpose of revenue but are imposed in exercise of police power and as a part of a program for regulation of a particular business, occupation or profession, are "license fees" and not taxes.	A tax, as our Court observed more than a century ago, is a charge either to raise money for public purposes or to accomplish some governmental end. Brewer Brick Co. v. Brewer, 62 Me. 62, 70 (1873). When the exactions, however, are not imposed for the main purpose of revenue, but are imposed in the exercise of a police power and as part of a program for the regulation of a particular business, occupation or profession, the levies are license fees and not taxes.	Is tax a charge either to raise money for public purposes or to accomplish some governmental end?
10803	In re Strickland, No. 01-01-00972-CV, 2002 WL 58482, at *1 (Tex. App. Jan. 17, 2002)	6	An unverified reinstatement motion does not extend trial court's plenary power beyond 30 days from dismissal. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a(3, 4).	An unverified reinstatement motion, however, does not extend plenary power beyond 30 days from dismissal.	Does an unverified reinstatement motion not extend a trial court's plenary power beyond 30 days from dismissal?
10805	Rohlwing v. Myakka River Real Properties,, 884 So. 2d 402, 406 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2004)	3	Because a dismissal with prejudice is the ultimate sanction in the civil justice system, it is reserved for the most aggravating circumstances.	Because a dismissal with prejudice is the ultimate sanction in the civil justice system, it is reserved for the most aggravating circumstances.	"Because a dismissal with prejudice is the ultimate sanction in the civil justice system, is it reserved for the most aggravating circumstances?"
10806	Hager v. City of Devils Lake, 2009 ND 180, 773 N.W.2d 420, 427 (2009)	7	After a court enters an order of dismissal without prejudice, the action is ended, and there is no longer an action pending before the court.	"[a]fter a court enters an order of dismissal without prejudice, the action is ended, and there is no longer an action pending before the court."	"After a court enters an order of dismissal without prejudice, is the action ended, and is it no longer pending before the court?"

10813	St. Louis Univ. v. Hesselberg Drug Co., 35 S.W.3d 451, 454 (Mo. Ct. App. 2000)	5	When reviewing the trial court's dismissal of a cause of action, Court of Appeals examines the pleadings, allowing them their broadest intendment, treating all facts alleged as true, and construing the allegations favorably to the pleader.	When reviewing the trial court's dismissal of a cause of action, we examine "the pleadings, allowing them their broadest intendment, treating all facts alleged as true, and construing the allegations favorably to the pleader."	Will a motion to dismiss be sustained if the defense is irrefutably established by the pleadings?
10817	Jones v. Royal Admin. Servs., 866 F.3d 1100, 1105 (9th Cir. 2017)	5	Under California law, "agency" is the fiduciary relationship that arises when one person, a principal, manifests assent to another person, an agent, that the agent shall act on the principal's behalf and subject to the principal's control, and the agent manifests assent or otherwise consents so to act.	"Agency is the fiduciary relationship that arises when one person (a 'principal') manifests assent to another person (an 'agent') that the agent shall act on the principal's behalf and subject to the principal's control, and the agent manifests assent or otherwise consents so to act."	Is an agency a fiduciary relationship?
10818	Meyers v. Matthews, 270 Wis. 453, 467 (1955)	10	An agency is created by contract, express or implied, and the relation arises when one is authorized to represent another in bringing, or aiding in bringing, latter into contractual relation with a third party, however, such authority may be conferred.	An agency is created by contract, express or implied. 'The relation arises when one is authorized to represent another in bringing or to aid in bringing the latter in contractual relation with a third party, however such authority may be conferred.'	Who is a soliciting agent?
10820	Washington Mut. Bank v. Chiappetta, 584 F. Supp. 2d 961, 970 (N.D. Ohio 2008)	6	Under Ohio law, the relationship of principal and agent exists only when one party exercises the right of control over the actions of another, and those actions are directed toward an attainment of an objective which the principal seeks; the basic test is whether the principal has the right of control over the manner and means of the work being done.	The relationship of principal and agent exists only when one party exercises the right of control over the actions of another, and those actions are directed toward an attainment of an objective which the principal seeks. Mayfield v. Boy Scouts of America (1994), 95 Ohio App.3d 655, 660, 643 N.E.2d 565, citing Hanson v. Kynast (1986), 24 Ohio St.3d 171, 173, 494 N.E.2d 1091. The basic test is whether the principal has the right of control over the manner and means of the work being done.	When does the relationship of a principal and an agent exist?
10821	Scott v. Ford Motor Credit Corp., 706 S.W.2d 453, 460 (Mo. Ct. App. 1985)	1	The critical element which establishes the existence of an agency relationship is the right to control the physical conduct of the agent in the performance of the service for the principal.	Ford and Scott both correctly point out the critical element which establishes the existence of an agency relationship, to wit, the right to control the physical conduct of the agent in the performance of the service for the principal.	What critical element establishes the existence of an agency relationship?
10822	Am. Env't, Inc. v. 3-J Co., 222 Ill. App. 3d 242, 249, 583 N.E.2d 649, 655 (1991)	11	Attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for single transaction or for series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	An attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Are persons employed for a single transaction agents?

10823	Am. Env't, Inc. v. 3-J Co., 222 Ill. App. 3d 242, 249, 583 N.E.2d 649, 655 (1991)	11	Attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for single transaction or for series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	An attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Are persons employed for a series of transactions considered agents?
10833	Cain v. Am. Nat. Bank & Tr. Co. of Chicago, 26 Ill. App. 3d 574, 586 (1975)	24	Defenses which are factual in their nature rather than legal are not available to defendants on a motion to dismiss but should be set forth in their answer. S.H.A. ch. 110, S 45.	However, defenses which are factual in their nature rather than legal are not available to defendants on a motion to dismiss, but should be set forth in their answer.	Are defenses which are factual rather than legal available to defendants on a motion to dismiss?
10834	Sierra Madre Dev. v. Via Entrada Townhouses Ass'n, 20 Ariz. App. 550, 552 (1973)	2	Affirmative defenses, such as privilege, may be raised and determined on a motion to dismiss, where facts constituting the defense appear on face of complaint or counterclaim.	Affirmative defenses, such as privilege, may be raised and determined on a motion to dismiss where the facts constituting the defense appear, as they do here, on the face of the complaint or counterclaim.	When are affirmative defenses raised and determined on a motion to dismiss?
10835	Sierra Madre Dev. v. Via Entrada Townhouses Ass'n, 20 Ariz. App. 550, 552 (1973)	2	Affirmative defenses, such as privilege, may be raised and determined on a motion to dismiss, where facts constituting the defense appear on face of complaint or counterclaim.	Affirmative defenses, such as privilege, may be raised and determined on a motion to dismiss where the facts constituting the defense appear, as they do here, on the face of the complaint or counterclaim.	When can an affirmative defense be raised and determined on a motion to dismiss?
10836	Dorin v. Occidental Life Ins. Co. of Cal., 132 Ill. App. 2d 387, 390 (1971)	1	Defenses which are in their nature factual rather than legal do not constitute grounds for a motion to dismiss, but must be set forth in an answer to plaintiff's pleading.	Defenses which are in their nature factual rather than legal do not constitute grounds for a motion to dismiss, but must be set forth in an answer to the plaintiff's pleading.	What defenses do not constitute grounds for a motion to dismiss?
10837	Price v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., 700 S.W.2d 730, 733 (Tex. App. 1985)	3	Application for reinstatement is addressed to trial court's discretion, and trial court's ruling will not be disturbed absent abuse of discretion.	An application for reinstatement is addressed to the trial court's discretion, and the trial court's ruling will not be disturbed absent abuse of discretion.	"Is an application for reinstatement addressed to a trial court's discretion, and trial court's ruling will not be disturbed absent abuse of discretion?"
10840	Young v. Jones, 140 Ga. App. 66, 67, 230 S.E.2d 32, 33 (1976)	4	A counterclaim is not subject to dismissal simply because main action has been dismissed; where counterclaim can be adjudicated without regard to main claim, it should be judicially considered even though main claim has been dismissed. Code, S 81A-113(i).	Thus, a counterclaim is not subject to dismissal simply because the main action has been dismissed. Weems v. Weems, 225 Ga. 19, 21, 165 S.E.2d 733. And where a counterclaim can be adjudicated without regard to the main claim, it should be judicially considered even though the main claim has been dismissed.	Is a counterclaim not subject to dismissal simply because a main action has been dismissed?
10841	Armstrong v. Armstrong, 117 R.I. 83, 86 (1976)	4	Judgment dismissing action because of lack of subject matter jurisdiction is not considered judgment upon the merits.	That a judgment dismissing an action because of lack of subject matter jurisdiction is not considered a judgment upon the merits, American Guar.	Is judgment dismissing an action because of lack of subject matter jurisdiction not considered judgment upon the merits?

10842	Se. Integrated Med., P.L. v. N. Florida Women's Physicians, P.A., 50 So. 3d 21, 24 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2010)	6	An affirmative defense that appears on the face of the complaint may be considered by the trial court in a motion to dismiss.	And while an affirmative defense that appears on the face of the complaint may be considered by the trial court in a motion to dismiss, see Abele, 750 So.2d at 75;	Can an affirmative defense that appears on the face of the complaint be considered by court in a motion to dismiss?
10843	Solak v. Sarowitz, 153 A.3d 729, 746 (Del. Ch. 2016)	18	Because the Court generally is limited to the facts appearing on the face of the pleadings in ruling on a motion to dismiss, affirmative defenses, such as laches, are not ordinarily well-suited for disposition on such a motion.	Because the Court generally is limited to the facts appearing on the face of the pleadings in ruling on a motion to dismiss, affirmative defenses, such as laches, are not ordinarily well-suited for disposition on such a motion.	Why are affirmative defenses not well suited for treatment when deciding a motion to dismiss?
10848	Globe Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. Oklahoma Tax Comm'n, 913 P.2d 1322, 1325 (1996)	4	Sales tax code provides for sales tax on tangible and intangible personal property and certain services identified in statute. 68 Okl.St. Ann. S 1350 et seq.	The Sales Tax Code 15 provides for a sales tax on tangible and intangible personal property and certain services identified in the statute.	Does the sales tax code provide for sales tax on tangible and intangible personal property?
10853	Talley Indus. Inc. v. C.I.R., 116 F.3d 382, 388 (9th Cir. 1997)	8	Under double jeopardy clause, civil penalties generally are considered to do no more than make government whole, and civil penalty may constitute "second punishment" if penalty bears no rational relation to goal of compensating the government for its loss. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 5.	Under the Double Jeopardy Clause, civil penalties generally are considered "to do no more than make the Government whole...." United States v. Halper, 490 U.S. 435, 449, 109 S.Ct. 1892, 1902, 104 L.Ed.2d 487 (1989); see also Hess, 317 U.S. at 551-52, 63 S.Ct. at 388 (double damages were "chosen to make sure that the government would be made completely whole"). A civil penalty may constitute a "second punishment" if the penalty "bears no rational relation to the goal of compensating the Government for its loss...."	"Under double jeopardy clause, are civil penalties generally considered to do no more than make government whole?"
10858	Fellhauer v. Alhorn, 361 Ill. App. 3d 792, 796 (2005)	1	So-called "self-insurance" is not insurance at all, but rather is the antithesis of insurance; the essence of an insurance contract is the shifting of the risk of loss from the insured to the insurer, while the essence of self-insurance, a term of colloquial currency rather than of precise legal meaning, is the retention of the risk of loss by the one upon whom it is directly imposed by law or contract.	As one New Jersey appellate court found: "[S]o-called self-insurance is not insurance at all. It is the antithesis of insurance. The essence of an insurance contract is the shifting of the risk of loss from the insured to the insurer. The essence of self-insurance, a term of colloquial currency rather than of precise legal meaning, is the retention of the risk of loss by the one upon whom it is directly imposed by law or contract."	What is the essence of self-insurance?
10859	Brown Leasing v. Stone, 284 Ill. App. 3d 1035, 1045 (1996)	8	If plaintiff can state cause of action by amending its complaint, dismissal with prejudice on the pleadings should not be granted.	If a plaintiff can state a cause of action by amending its complaint, a dismissal with prejudice on the pleadings should not be granted.	"Should dismissal with prejudice on the pleadings be granted, if a plaintiff can state a cause of action by amending its complaint?"

10860	Phillips v. Bradshaw, 859 S.W.2d 232, 234 (Mo. Ct. App. 1993)	5	Failure to state cause of action is jurisdictional, and may be raised at any time during proceedings, even for first time on appeal from default judgment.	Inasmuch as failure to state a cause of action is jurisdictional, the issue may properly be raised anytime during the proceedings, even for the first time on appeal from a default judgment.	Can failure to state a cause of action be raised at any time during the proceedings?
10868	Mehlman v. Gold, 183 A.D.2d 634, 584 N.Y.S.2d 9, 10 (1992)	1	Leave to replead should not be granted unless party has good grounds to support the cause of action. McKinney's CPLR 3211(e).	Leave to replead should not be granted unless a party has good ground to support the cause of action.	Should leave to replead not be granted unless a party has good grounds to support the cause of action?
10875	United States v. Bergquam, 911 F. Supp. 453, 454 (D. Or. 1995)	1	Jeopardy does not attach where potential claimant fails to assert claim in administrative forfeiture proceedings. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Under recent Ninth Circuit decisions, jeopardy does not attach where a potential claimant fails to assert a claim in administrative forfeiture proceedings.	Does jeopardy not attach where a potential claimant fails to assert a claim in administrative forfeiture proceedings?
10878	Est. of Dormaier ex rel. Dormaier v. Columbia Basin Anesthesia, P.L.L.C., 177 Wash. App. 828, 854, 313 P.3d 431, 443 (2013)	12	A complaint is insufficient if it does not give the defendant fair notice of what the claim is and the ground upon which it rests. CR 8.	A complaint is insufficient if it does not give the defendant "fair notice of what the claim is and the ground upon which it rests."	"Is a complaint insufficient, if it does not give the defendant a fair notice of what the claim is and the ground upon which it rests?"
10879	Smalls v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 180 So. 3d 910, 918 (Ala. Civ. App. 2015)	11	When standing is at issue, the court asks whether the plaintiffs are the proper parties to bring the action.	" "[W]hen standing is at issue, the court asks whether the plaintiffs are the proper parties to bring the action." "	"When standing is at issue, does the court ask whether the plaintiffs are the proper parties to bring the action?"
10891	Jarrell v. Nicholson, 20 Vet. App. 326, 332 (2006)	2	Once the Board of Veterans Appeals (BVA) has jurisdiction over a claim, it has the authority to address all issues related to that claim, even those not previously decided by the regional officer (RO). 38 U.S.C.A. SS 7104(a), 7105(a).	Once the Board has jurisdiction over a claim, however, it has the authority to address all issues related to that claim, even those not previously decided by the RO.	Does the Board of Veterans Appeals (BVA) have authority to address all issues related to a claim once it has jurisdiction?
10905	Harrison v. State, 772 S.W.2d 556, 558 (Tex. App. 1989)	2	Defendant's consent to mistrial need not be expressed, but may be implied from totality of circumstances attendant to declaration of mistrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Harrison's consent need not be expressed, but may be implied from the totality of the circumstances attendant to the declaration of the mistrial.	"Should a defendant's consent to mistrial not be expressed, but may be implied from the totality of circumstances attendant to the declaration of a mistrial?"
10912	CD Partners v. Grizzle, 424 F.3d 795, 798 (8th Cir. 2005)	4	A nonsignatory can enforce an arbitration clause against a signatory to the agreement when the relationship between the signatory and nonsignatory defendants is sufficiently close that only by permitting the nonsignatory to invoke arbitration may evisceration of the underlying arbitration agreement between the signatories be avoided.	A nonsignatory can enforce an arbitration clause against a signatory to the agreement in several circumstances. One is when "the relationship between the signatory and nonsignatory defendants is sufficiently close that only by permitting the nonsignatory to invoke arbitration may evisceration of the underlying arbitration agreement between the signatories be avoided."	When can a non-signatory enforce an arbitration clause against a signatory?

10913	Int'l Paper Co. v. Schwabedissen Maschinen & Anlagen GMBH, 206 F.3d 411, 416–17 (4th Cir. 2000)	9	In an appropriate case, a nonsignatory can enforce, or be bound by, an arbitration provision within a contract executed by other parties.	Well-established common law principles dictate that in an appropriate case a nonsignatory can enforce, or be *417 bound by, an arbitration provision within a contract executed by other parties.	"Can a nonsignatory enforce, or be bound by, an arbitration provision within a contract executed by other parties?"
10919	Dreyling v. Comm'r of Revenue, 711 N.W.2d 491, 494 (Minn. 2006)	5	One may live in another state for a period of time without affecting one's Minnesota domicile. Minnesota Rules, part 8001.0300, subp. 2.	As a result, one may live in another state for a period of time without affecting one's Minnesota domicile.	Can one live in another state for a period of time without affecting one's domicile?
10927	Ex parte Arenivas, 6 S.W.3d 631, 633 (Tex. App. 1999)	2	Double jeopardy clause protects against more than the actual imposition of two punishments for the same offense; by its terms, it protects a criminal defendant from being twice put in jeopardy for such punishment.	Although Appellee has not been punished a second time, the Double Jeopardy Clause protects against more than the actual imposition of two punishments for the same offense; by its terms, it protects a criminal defendant from being twice put in jeopardy for such punishment.	Can a criminal defendant be put in jeopardy twice for the same offense?
10928	Mississippi Dept. of Human Services v. Guidry, 830 So. 2d 628, 631 (Miss. 2002)	4	Power to dismiss action for want of prosecution is part of trial court's inherent authority.	"[T]he power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution is part of a trial court's inherent authority."	Is the power to dismiss action for want of prosecution a part of trial court's inherent authority?
10929	Veteto v. Swanson Servs. Corp., 886 So. 2d 756, 768 (Ala. 2003)	7	A dismissal for want of prosecution is a matter within the discretion of the trial court, and its judgment will be reversed on appeal only if there is an abuse of that discretion.	A dismissal for want of prosecution "is a matter within the discretion of the trial court, and its judgment will be reversed on appeal only if there is an abuse of that discretion." "	Does a dismissal for want of prosecution a matter within the discretion of the trial court?
10930	Hillsborough Cty. v. Kortum, 585 So. 2d 1029, 1032 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1991)	7	When road right-of-way easement encumbers property, owners of realty still are responsible for property taxes.	When a road right-of-way easement encumbers the property, the owners of the realty still are responsible for the property taxes.	"When a road right-of-way easement encumbers property, are owners of realty still responsible for property taxes?"
10939	People v. Sienkiewicz, 208 Ill. 2d 1, 4 (2003)	1	The prohibition against double jeopardy protects against three distinct abuses: (1) a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal; (2) a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction; and (3) multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; S.H.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10.	The prohibition against double jeopardy "protects against three distinct abuses: (1) a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal; (2) a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction; and (3) multiple punishments for the same offense." "	Does the double jeopardy clause protect the defendant from a second prosecution after a conviction?
10944	State v. Thomas, 124 So. 3d 1049, 1055 (La. 9/4/13) (2013)	7	Double jeopardy exists in a second trial when the charge in that trial is for the same offense for which defendant was in jeopardy in the first trial and acquitted. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Double jeopardy exists in a second trial when the charge in that trial is for the same offense for which defendant was in jeopardy in the first trial and acquitted.	Does double jeopardy exist in the second trial when the charge in that trial is for the same offense for which defendant was in jeopardy in the first trial and acquitted?

10955	State v. Picchini, 463 So. 2d 714, 717 (La. Ct. App. 1985)	4	Constitutional safeguard against double jeopardy protects a defendant in a criminal proceeding from repeated prosecutions for the same offense, and prevents repeated convictions and punishments for the same offense. LSA-Cr.P. art. 591; U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	This constitutional safeguard against double jeopardy protects a defendant in a criminal proceeding from repeated prosecutions for the same offense, and it prevents repeated convictions and punishments for the same offense. C.Cr.P. Art. 591.	Is Double jeopardy constitutionally created safeguard for criminal proceedings?
10961	Lukkason v. 1993 Chevrolet Extended Cab Pickup, 590 N.W.2d 803, 807 (Minn. Ct. App. 1999)	16	If the legislature designates forfeiture as civil, the court presumes that forfeiture does not implicate double jeopardy concerns. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	If the legislature designates forfeiture as civil, the court presumes that forfeiture does not implicate double jeopardy concerns.	"If the legislature designates forfeiture as civil, does the court presume that forfeiture does not implicate double jeopardy concerns?"
10968	Harrisburg v. School Dist. of Harrisburg, 675 A.2d 758, 766 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1996)	7	If General Assembly delegates right to tax, grant of such right is to be strictly construed, and not extended by implication.	However, where the General Assembly delegates the right to tax, the grant of such right is to be strictly construed, and not extended by implication.	Is the grant of right to tax delegated by the General Assembly strictly construed or extended by implication?
10969	Joe Hatton, Inc. v. Conner, 240 So. 2d 145, 147 (Fla. 1970)	4	Legislative power to tax may be exercised through subordinate governmental agencies within definite limitations fixed by law.	The legislative power to tax may be exercised through subordinate governmental agencies within definite limitations fixed by law.	Should the Legislative power to tax be exercised through subordinate governmental agencies?
10970	Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. v. Chem. Bank, 57 N.Y.2d 439, 444, 442 N.E.2d 1253, 1256 (1982)	1	Ordinarily, drawee bank may not debit its customer's account when it pays check over forged indorsement because underlying relationship between bank and its depositor is contractual one of debtor and creditor, implicit in which is understanding that bank will pay out its customer's funds only in accordance with customer's instructions. McKinney's Uniform Commercial Code § 3-405(1)(c).	For it is basic that ordinarily a drawee bank may not debit its customer's account when it pays a check over a forged indorsement. This is because the underlying relationship between a bank and its depositor is the contractual one of debtor and creditor (Brigham v. McCabe, 20 N.Y.2d 525, 285 N.Y.S.2d 294, 232 N.E.2d 327), implicit in which is the understanding that the bank will pay out is customer's funds only in accordance with the latter's instructions (Tonelli v. Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A., 41 N.Y.2d 667, 670, 394 N.Y.S.2d 858, 363 N.E.2d 564).	Is the relationship between a bank and its depositor one of a debtor-creditor?
10971	Gilbride v. Trunnelle, 620 N.W.2d 244, 251 (Iowa 2000)	12	"Professional statement" is statement of fact presented to the court by an attorney in connection with a matter then before such court, verified in effect by the oath of such attorney, and designed or calculated to aid or influence the court in the determination of a given cause or issue.	Hudson's statement to the court was a professional statement. A professional statement "means a statement of fact presented to the court by an attorney in connection with a matter then before such court, verified in effect by the oath of such attorney, and designed or calculated to aid or influence the court in the determination of a given cause or issue."	How is a professional statement defined?

10972	Williams v. Dan River Mills, Inc., 286 Ala. 703, 708, 246 So. 2d 431, 435 (1971)	6	Where it appears from face of affidavit that affiant had no personal knowledge of matters to which he deposed and that he must have secured his information concerning those matters from others, then affidavit is based on hearsay and should not be admitted.	Where it appears from the face of an affidavit that the affiant had no personal knowledge of the matters to which he deposed and that he must have secured his information concerning those matters from others, then the affidavit is based on hearsay and should not be admitted.	Can the contents of an affidavit become inadmissible hearsay in the absence of allegation of personal knowledge?
10973	Kuehner v. Dickinson & Co., 84 F.3d 316, 319 (9th Cir. 1996)	3	Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) not only reversed judicial hostility to enforcement of arbitration contracts, but also created rule of contract construction favoring arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	The FAA not only reversed the judicial hostility to the enforcement of arbitration contracts, but also created a rule of contract construction favoring arbitration.	Did the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) reverse judicial hostility to arbitration agreements?
10976	Rodriguez v. United States, 169 F.3d 1342, 1351 (11th Cir. 1999)	8	Where Congress makes a judgment that immigration is creating, or adding to, financial burdens, it lies within Congress's plenary sovereign power over immigration to take action to alleviate such burdens.	Where Congress makes a judgment that immigration is creating, or adding to, financial burdens, it lies within Congress' plenary sovereign power over immigration to take action to alleviate such burdens.	Does Congress have plenary power over immigration?
10983	Davidson Cnty. Broad. Co. v. Iredell Cnty., 248 N.C. App. 305, 310 (N.C. Ct. App. 2016)	7	Zoning ordinances and special use permits act as limitations to forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with property rights in the exercise of a municipality's delegated authority. West's N.C.G.S.A. § 153A-340(a, c).	Zoning ordinances and special use permits also act as limitations to "forbid arbitrary and unduly discriminatory interference with property rights in the exercise of [a municipality's delegated authority].	Why are limitations imposed on the zoning power by the enabling statute?
10987	State v. Ole Olsen, Ltd., 38 A.D.2d 967, 968, 331 N.Y.S.2d 761, 763 (1972)	4	Court may, in equity action, mold relief to be granted to exigencies of case as they exist at close of trial, with reference to facts, law and equities then existing.	Moreover, in an equity action, the court may hold the relief to be granted to the exigencies of the case as they exist at the close of the trial, with reference to the facts, the law and the equities then existing (Matter of Galewitz, 3 A.D.2d 280, 295, 160 N.Y.S.2d 564, 580, affd. 5 N.Y.2d 721, 177 N.Y.S.2d 708, 152 N.E.2d 666; Lightfoot v. Davis, 198 N.Y. 261, 273, 91 N.E. 582, 586).	Will equity administer such relief as exigencies of a case demand at the close of trial?
10993	State ex Rel. Seattle v. Dept. P.U., 33 Wash. 2d 896, 902 (1949)	2	A "tax" is an enforced contribution of money assessed or charged by authority of sovereign government for the benefit of the state or the legal taxing authorities and it is not a debt or contract in the ordinary sense but it is an exaction in the strictest sense of the word.	We repeat, a tax is an enforced contribution of money, assessed or charged by authority of sovereign government for the benefit of the state or the legal taxing authorities. It is not a debt or contract in the ordinary sense, but it is an exaction in the strictest sense of the word.	Is tax a debt?

10994	Boydston v. Kansas Board of Regents, 242 Kan. 94, 101 (Kan. 1987)	7	Primary purposes of pretrial conference are to reduce, if not eliminate, surprise from trial and to determine exactly what issues are to be tried and what procedures are to be followed.	The primary purposes of a pretrial conference 812 are to reduce, if not eliminate, surprise from the trial and to determine exactly what issues are to be tried and what procedures are to be followed.	How will the pretrial conference procedure help to eliminate the element of surprise at trials?
10995	Town of Amherst v. Brewster Mews Hous. Co., 133 A.D.3d 1317, 1319, 20 N.Y.S.3d 283, 285 (2015)	6	Taxes do not rest upon contract, express or implied; they are obligations imposed upon citizens to pay the expenses of government.	"Taxes do not rest upon contract, express or implied. They are obligations imposed upon citizens to pay the expenses of government.	Are taxes obligations imposed upon citizens to pay the expenses of government?
10999	Ex Parte Covell, 63 Okla. Crim. 256, 266 (Okla. Crim. App. 1937)	5	A person who holds himself out as an officer under color of authority, and who solicits and accepts a bribe, cannot defend on ground that, as a matter of law, he had no right to act as such officer. 21 Okl.St.Ann. S 381.	"A person who holds himself out as an officer under color of authority, and who solicits and accepts a bribe, has no right to defend and be discharged on the ground that, as a matter of law, he had no right to act as such officer."	Can a person holding himself out as an officer defeat a charge of bribery on the ground that he had no legal right to act in the capacity he assumed?
11008	Wiele v. Bd. of Assessment Appeals of City of Bridgeport, 119 Conn. App. 544, 549, 988 A.2d 889, 893 (2010)	5	Estoppel has its roots in equity and stems from the voluntary conduct of a party whereby he is absolutely precluded, both at law and in equity, from asserting rights which might perhaps have otherwise existed.	Estoppel has its roots in equity and stems from the voluntary conduct of a party whereby he is absolutely precluded, both at law and in equity, from asserting rights which might perhaps have otherwise existed....	Does estoppel have its roots in equity?
11017	In re Shurtz's Will, 242 Iowa 448, 454 (Iowa 1951)	8	A "tax" is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	A tax is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	Is tax a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred?
11019	Cockrell v. Taylor, 347 Mo. 1, 11 (Mo. 1940)	10	While "endorsement of note" must be made by written signature on back of instrument itself, "assignment of note or mortgage" may be by separate instrument, or even by parol.	While an endorsement must be made by written signature on the back of the instrument itself, an assignment of a note or mortgage may be by separate instrument or even by parol.	Can an assignment of a note be made by separate instrument or parol?
11021	Kingsley Capital Management, LLC v. Sly, 820 F. Supp. 2d 1011, 1018 (D. Ariz. 2011)	6	Those who have not signed a contract containing an arbitration clause may sometimes benefit from it through doctrines such as assumption, agency, veil-piercing/alter ego, and estoppel.	Nonetheless, those who have not signed a contract containing an arbitration clause may sometimes benefit from it through doctrines such as assumption, agency, veil-piercing/alter ego, and estoppel.	Is it possible for parties who have not signed a contract containing an arbitration clause to benefit from it?
11022	Shen v. Japan Airlines, 918 F. Supp. 686, 691 (S.D.N.Y. 1994)	5	Party may assert act of state doctrine where its conduct has been compelled by foreign government.	A party may assert the act of state doctrine where its conduct has been compelled by a foreign government.	May a party assert the act of state doctrine where its conduct has been compelled by a foreign government?
11028	Kouba v. East Joliet Bank, 135 Ill. App. 3d 264, 267 (Ill. App. Ct. 1985)	7	Attorney, broker, auctioneer and similar persons employed for single transaction or series of transactions are "agents," although as to their physical activities they are "independent contractors."	An attorney, broker, auctioneer and similar persons employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Is a broker employed for a single transaction an agent?

11031	Gunter v. Murphy's Lounge, 141 Idaho 16, 25 (2005)	14	The trial court may deny the motion in limine and wait until trial to determine if the evidence should be admitted or excluded.	However, a waiver of subrogation provision is "viewed as a device by which the parties merely allocate the risk of liability between themselves to third parties through insurance," and enforcement of such a provision is not precluded by New York law.	Can the trial court deny the motion in limine and wait until trial to determine if the evidence should be admitted or excluded?
11035	Dix Mutual Insurance v. LaFramboise, 149 Ill. 2d 314, 319 (Ill. 1992)	6	There is no general rule to determine whether right of subrogation exists since right depends upon equities of each particular case.	There is no general rule which can be laid down to determine whether a right of subrogation exists since this right depends upon the equities of each particular case.	Is there a general rule to determine whether a right of subrogation exists?
11036	McCarthy v. Azure, 22 F.3d 351, 354–55 (1st Cir. 1994)	2	Arbitration is a matter of contract, and a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit; thus, party seeking to substitute in arbitral forum or judicial forum must show, at a bare minimum, that protagonists have agreed to arbitrate some claims.	We start with bedrock: "arbitration is a matter of contract and a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit." AT & T Technologies, Inc. v. Communications Workers, 475 U.S. 643, 648, 106 S.Ct. 1415, 1418, 89 L.Ed.2d 648 (1986), quoting United Steelworkers v. Warrior & Gulf Navig. Co., 363 U.S. 574, 582, 80 S.Ct. 1347, 1352–53, 4 L.Ed.2d 1409 (1960). Thus, a party seeking *355 to substitute an arbitral forum for a judicial forum must show, at a bare minimum, that the protagonists have agreed to arbitrate some claims.	What should a party seeking to substitute arbitral forum or judicial forum prove?
11037	Jpmorgan v. Howell, 883 N.E.2d 106, 111 (Ind. Ct. App. 2007)	2	The application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case.	"[T]he application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case." Id.	Does the application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depend on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case?
11039	In re Frankum, 399 B.R. 498, 504 (E.D. Ark. 2009)	8	"Subrogation" simply means substitution of one person for another; that is, one person is allowed to stand in the shoes of another and assert that person's rights against defendant.	"Subrogation simply means substitution of one person for another; that is, one person is allowed to stand in the shoes of another and assert that person's rights against the defendant."	Does subrogation simply mean substitution of one person for another?
11040	Acuity v. McGhee, 297 S.W.3d 718, 728 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2009)	8	Equitable subrogation will not be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others.	Under Tennessee law, equitable subrogation "will not be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others."	"Will equitable subrogation be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others? "

11047	Brokamp v. Mercy Hosp. Anderson, 132 Ohio App. 3d 850, 859 (Ohio Ct. App. 1999)	3	Power to grant a motion in limine lies within the sound discretion of the trial court.	The power to grant a motion in limine lies 601 within the sound discretion of the trial court.	Does the power to grant a motion in limine lie within the sound discretion of the trial court?
11049	Acuity v. McGhee, 297 S.W.3d 718, 728 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2009)	8	Equitable subrogation will not be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others.	Under Tennessee law, equitable subrogation "will not be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others."	"Will subrogation or equitable subrogation be enforced where the equities are equal, or the rights are not clear, or where it will prejudice the legal or equitable rights of others?"
11051	Kouba v. East Joliet Bank, 135 Ill. App. 3d 264, 267 (Ill. App. Ct. 1985)	7	Attorney, broker, auctioneer and similar persons employed for single transaction or series of transactions are "agents," although as to their physical activities they are "independent contractors."	An attorney, broker, auctioneer and similar persons employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Is an auctioneer employed for a single transaction an agent?
11052	Kamm's Estate v. C.I.R., 349 F.2d 953, 956 (3d Cir. 1965)	5	Fact that an agent represents several sellers who have given various instructions concerning disposition of their several shares and proceeds does not derogate from individual agency relation between each seller and common agent.	Of course, the fact that an agent represents several sellers, who have given various instructions concerning the disposition of their several shares in the proceeds, does not derogate from the individual agency relation between each seller and the common agent.	Can an agent represent multiple sellers or principals?
11053	State Bar of California v. Statile, 168 Cal.App.4th 650, 663 (2008)	8	The true nature of subrogation is that it is applied in all cases in which one party pays a debt for which another is primarily answerable, and which, in equity and good conscience, should have been discharged by the latter.	"The 'true nature of subrogation' is that 'it is applied in all cases in which 'one party pays a debt for which another is primarily answerable, and which, in equity and good conscience, should have been discharged by the latter.' " " "	What is the true nature of subrogation?
11054	Fed. Treasury Enter. Sojuzplodoimport v. Spirits Int'l B.V., 61 F. Supp. 3d 372, 381 (S.D.N.Y. 2014)	6	Act of state doctrine does not prevent examination of validity of foreign state's act with respect to thing located, or interest localized, outside of its territory.	The Act of State Doctrine... However, it is black-letter law that the doctrine "does not prevent examination of the validity of an act of a foreign state with respect to a thing located, or an interest localized, outside of its territory."	"Does the act of state doctrine prevent examination of validity of foreign state's act with respect to thing located, or interest localized, outside of its territory?"

11055	Alemayehu v. Abere, 199 F. Supp. 3d 74, 86 (D.D.C. 2016)	12	An accounting is a detailed statement of the debits and credits between parties arising out of a contract or a fiduciary relation; such relief may be appropriate when a plaintiff is unable to determine how much, if any, money is due him from another.	An accounting is 'a detailed statement of the debits and credits between parties arising out of a contract or a fiduciary relation.' " Bates v. Nw. Human Servs., Inc., 466 F.Supp.2d 69, 103 (D.D.C.2006) (quoting Union Nat'l Life Ins. Co. v. Crosby, 870 So.2d 1175, 1178 n. 2 (Miss.2004)); see also Haynes v. Navy Fed. Credit Union, 825 F.Supp.2d 285, 293 (D.D.C.2011). An accounting may be appropriate "when a plaintiff is unable 'to determine how much, if any, money is due him from another.' "	What is accounting?
11058	Fallarino v. Fallarino, 56 Misc. 3d 67, 68–69, 56 N.Y.S.3d 414, 416 (N.Y. App. Term. 2017)	3	Because the life tenant has the exclusive right to the property during his or her life, the remainderman or reversioner has no right to possession or any present right of enjoyment, or tangible or physical ownership, of the land' during the term of the life tenancy.	Because the life tenant has the exclusive right *69 to the property during his or her life, the remainderman or reversioner has no right to possession or any present right of enjoyment, or tangible or physical ownership, of the land' during the term of the life tenancy (56 N.Y. Jur. 2d, Estates, Powers, and Restraints on Alienation § 186).	What is the substance of right conferred on a life tenant?
11065	Keese v. Zerbst, 88 F.2d 795, 796 (10th Cir. 1937)	1	Erasing words from instrument or severing portion thereof so that its effect is changed is material alteration and constitutes "forgery" at common law.	Erasing words from an instrument or severing a portion thereof so that its effect is changed is a material alteration and constitutes forgery at common law.	Does erasing words from an instrument constitute forgery?
11066	Howard Univ. v. Metro. Campus Police Officer's Union, 512 F.3d 716, 720 (D.C. Cir. 2008)	6	Arbitration is a matter of consent; if a party submits to arbitration without objecting to the arbitrator's jurisdiction, then it may fairly be said to have consented to the arbitration, and the other party, having gone forward with the proceeding, may fairly be said to have relied upon that consent.	First, arbitration is a matter of consent; if a party submits to arbitration without objecting to the arbitrator's jurisdiction, then it may fairly be said to have consented to the arbitration, and the other party, having gone forward with the proceeding, may fairly be said to have relied upon that consent.	When can the court infer that parties have consented to the arbitration?
11067	Complaint of Valley Towing Service, 629 F. Supp. 139, 147 (E.D. Mo. 1985)	17	Admiralty is essentially the law of equity, and courts are privileged to exercise flexibility and award what is fair; hands of court are not tied by the rigidity of common law.	Admiralty is essentially the law of equity and courts are privileged to exercise flexibility and award what is fair. The hands of the court are not tied by the rigidity of common law.	Does an admiralty court have the privilege to exercise flexibility?
11070	Kiefer Specialty Flooring, Inc. v. Tarkett, 174 F.3d 907, 909 (7th Cir. 1999)	1	Whether particular issue is subject to arbitration is matter of contract interpretation, because party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit.	Whether a particular issue is subject to arbitration is a matter of contract interpretation, because "a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit."	Is an issue subject to arbitration a matter of contract interpretation?

11071	World Rentals & Sales, LLC v. Volvo Const. Equip. Rents, Inc., 517 F.3d 1240, 1244 (11th Cir. 2008)	1	Party ordinarily is not compelled to arbitrate unless that party has entered into agreement to do so; however, signatory may bind non-signatory to arbitration agreement under theories of: (1) incorporation by reference; (2) assumption; (3) agency; (4) veil-piercing/alter-ego; and (5) estoppel.	Accordingly, a party ordinarily will not be “compelled to arbitrate unless that party has entered into an agreement to do so.” Employers Ins. of Wausau v. Bright Metal Specialties, 251 F.3d 1316, 1322 (11th Cir.2001). We have recognized, however, that “common law principles of contract and agency law” allow a signatory (such as World Rentals) to bind a non-signatory (such as Volvo Finance) to an arbitration agreement under any of five distinct theories: “(1) incorporation by reference; (2) assumption; (3) agency; (4) veil-piercing/alter-ego; and (5) estoppel.”	Do common law principles of contract and agency law allow a signatory to bind a non-signatory to an arbitration agreement?
11072	Parvataneni v. E*Trade Fin. Corp., 967 F. Supp. 2d 1298, 1302 (N.D. Cal. 2013).	9	It is impermissible for the Court to presume the parties agreed to class arbitration simply because an arbitration agreement exists; therefore, if an arbitration agreement is silent as to whether class arbitration is permitted, it should not be presumed that the parties agreed to submit to class arbitration.	It is impermissible for the Court to presume the parties agreed to class arbitration simply because an arbitration agreement exists. Id. at 685, 130 S.Ct. 1758. Therefore, if an arbitration agreement is silent as to whether class arbitration is permitted, it should not be presumed that the parties agreed to submit to class arbitration.	If there is no contract can parties be submitted to class arbitration?
11073	Oasis Int'l Waters, Inc. v. United States, 110 Fed. Cl. 87, 97 (2013)	3	The attorney-client privilege protects an attorney's communication to a client only when it reveals, directly or indirectly, the substance of a confidential communication by the client made for the purpose of obtaining legal advice.	The attorney- client privilege protects an attorney's communication to a client only when it reveals, "directly or indirectly, the substance of a confidential communication by the client" made for the purpose of obtaining legal advice.	What protection is afforded under an attorney-client privilege?
11074	In re Complaint of Messina, 574 F.3d 119, 127 (2d Cir. 2009)	14	"Seaworthiness" is a relative term depending upon its application to the type of vessel and the nature of the voyage; the general rule is that the vessel must be staunch, strong, well equipped for the intended voyage, and manned by a competent and skillful master of sound judgment and discretion.	[14] [15] [16] Second, "[s]eaworthiness is a relative term depending upon its application to the type of vessel and the nature of the voyage. The general rule is that the vessel must be staunch, strong, well equipped for the intended voyage and manned by a competent and skillful master of sound judgment and discretion." Tug Ocean Prince, 584 F.2d at 1155 (emphasis added).	Is a vessel operated by an incompetent crew considered seaworthy?

11077	In re Mississippi Valley Livestock, Inc., 745 F.3d 299, 303 (7th Cir. 2014)	5	Although bailment takes many forms, the characteristics common to every bailment under Illinois law are the intent to create a bailment, delivery of possession of the bailed items, and the acceptance of the items by the bailee.	Although bailment takes many forms, the "characteristics common to every bailment are the intent to create a bailment, delivery of possession of the bailed items, and the acceptance of the items by the bailee."	Does a creation of a bailment require intent to create a bailment?
11078	Innoviant Pharmacy, Inc. v. Morganstern, 390 F. Supp. 2d 179, 192 (N.D.N.Y. 2005)	13	Under Pennsylvania law, goodwill of business is interest protectable by restrictive covenant, even when that goodwill has been acquired with assistance, or through efforts, of employee whose activities are sought to be restrained.	The goodwill of a business is an interest protectable by a restrictive covenant, even when that goodwill has been acquired with the assistance, or through the efforts, of the employee whose activities are sought to be restrained.	Is goodwill protectable by a restrictive covenant?
11079	Santa Barbara v. Superior Court, 41 Cal.4th 747, 754 (Cal. 2007)	1	"Ordinary negligence," an unintentional tort, consists of a failure to exercise the degree of care in a given situation that a reasonable person under similar circumstances would employ to protect others from harm.	"Ordinary negligence"-an unintentional tort- consists of a failure to exercise the degree of care in a given situation that a reasonable person under *754 similar circumstances would employ to protect others from harm.	What is Ordinary Negligence?
11082	Gen Ads v. Breitbart, 435 F. Supp. 2d 1116, 1121 (Wash. 2006)	12	Although community property can be held liable for an obligation incurred by one spouse for the benefit of the community, the marital community is not a separate legal entity from the spouses.	At the outset, the court notes that although community property can be held liable for an obligation incurred by one spouse for the benefit of the community, the marital community is not a separate legal entity from the spouses.	Is the marital community a separate legal entity?
11085	S. Indiana Gas & Elec. Co. v. City of Boonville, 215 Ind. 552, 560 (1939)	5	The power of eminent domain is an attribute of sovereignty which inures in every independent state and cannot be surrendered, and if attempted to be contracted away it may be resumed at will.	The power of eminent domain is an attribute of sovereignty and inures in every independent state. It cannot be surrendered, and, if attempted to be contracted away, it may be resumed at will.	Can the power of eminent domain be surrendered?
11089	People v. Beaver, 186 Cal.App.4th 107, 121 (2010)	27	The crime of embezzlement requires the existence of a relation of trust and confidence, similar to a fiduciary relationship, between the victim and the perpetrator.	The crime of embezzlement requires the existence of a 'relation of trust and confidence,' similar to a fiduciary relationship, between the victim and the perpetrator.	Does embezzlement require the existence of trust and confidence between the victim and perpetrator?
11090	Horizon Health Corp. v. Tyler-Holmes Mem'l Hosp., 284 F. Supp. 2d 439, 443 (N.D. Miss. 2003)	9	Because arbitration is a creature of contract law, when asked to enforce an arbitration agreement against a non-signatory, courts should ask whether she is bound by that agreement under traditional principles of contract and agency law.	Because arbitration is a creature of contract law, when asked to enforce an arbitration agreement against a non-signatory, courts should ask "whether ... she is bound by that agreement under traditional principles of contract and agency law."	What is the determining factor in enforcing an arbitration agreement against a non-signatory to the contract?

11091	Rader v. Levenson, 290 Ga. App. 227, 230 (2008)	5	The Civil Practice Act does not require any technical forms of pleadings, and a pleading will be deemed sufficient if it provides a party with fair notice of a claim asserted against her.	The probate court entered judgment against Post on the accounting petition, and that order is not before us. Our Civil Practice Act does not require any technical forms of pleadings, and a pleading will be deemed sufficient if it provides a party with fair notice of a claim asserted against her.	Are technical forms of pleading required?
11094	Roxfort Holding Co. v. United States, 176 F. Supp. 587, 589 (D.N.Y. 1959)	7	A "tenant at sufferance" is one who has a possessory interest in land by virtue of a conveyance and wrongfully remains in possession after termination of his estate without claiming a superior title.	A tenant at sufferance is one who had a possessory interest in land by virtue of a conveyance and wrongfully remains in possession after the termination of his estate without claiming a superior title.	What is a tenant at sufferance?
11098	Tennant v. Chase Home Fin., LLC., 187 So. 3d 1172, 1181 (Ala. Civ. App. 2015)	12	In order to be actionable, the entry on the land of another must not be authorized; that is, if a party enters property under a legal right, entry pursuant to that right cannot constitute a "trespass."	In order to be actionable, the entry on the land of another must not be authorized; that is, "[i]f a party enters property ... under a legal right, entry ... pursuant to that right cannot constitute a trespass."	Is trespass to property a wrong against the right of both possession and entry?
11102	Haller v. State, 217 Ark. 646, 649 (Ark. 1950)	2	"Incest" is statutory offense consisting of sexual intercourse, either habitual or in a single instance, either under form of marriage or without it, between persons too closely related to intermarry.	Incest is a statutory offense which has been defined generally by the authorities as consisting of sexual intercourse, either habitual or in a single instance, and either under a form of marriage or without it, between persons too closely related to intermarry.	Is incest a statutory crime?
11105	Milner v. Milner, 361 S.W.3d 615, 621 (Tex. 2012)	8	"Record title" typically refers to legal evidence of a person's ownership rights in property.	Record title, on the other hand, typically refers to legal evidence of a person's ownership rights in property.	Does record title refer to legal evidence of a person's ownership rights in property?
11106	Landshire Food Serv. v. Coghill, 709 S.W.2d 509, 512 (Mo. Ct. App. 1986)	9	Certificate of title to motor vehicle is not conclusive proof of ownership of such vehicle, but is only prima facie evidence of ownership, capable of being rebutted by other evidence.	This proof is necessary because, in Missouri, a certificate of title to a motor vehicle is not conclusive proof of the ownership of such vehicle but is only prima facie evidence of ownership, capable of being rebutted by other evidence.	Can a certificate of title be prima facie evidence of vehicle ownership?

11107	Coggins v. Gregorio, 97 F.2d 948, 950 (10th Cir. 1938)	6	The principal distinction between the relation of lodging house keeper and lodger and landlord and tenant is that the "tenant" acquires an interest in the realty and has the exclusive possession of the leased premises, whereas the "lodger" acquires no estate and has merely the use without the actual or exclusive possession.	[6] [7] Counsel for Coggins contends that the relation was that of lodginghouse keeper and lodger rather than landlord and tenant. The principal distinction between the two relations is that the tenant acquires *951 an interest in the real estate and has the exclusive possession of the leased premises, while the lodger acquires no estate and has merely the use without the actual or exclusive possession.	What is the distinction between a tenant and a lodger?
11114	Smith v. People, 142 Colo. 523, 526 (1960)	2	Generally malice is implied only when a homicide is committed by use of a deadly weapon or instrument in such a manner that death would probably result, and ordinarily, fists are not classified as deadly weapons since they are not means likely to produce death unless used in such a manner and under such circumstances as are reasonably calculated to produce death.	Generally malice is implied only when the homicide is committed by the use of a deadly weapon or instrument in such a manner that death would probably result. McAndrews v. People, 71 Colo. 542, 208 P. 486, 24 A.L.R. 655. Ordinarily hands or fists are not classed as deadly weapons since they are not means likely to produce death unless used in such a manner and under such circumstances as are reasonably calculated to produce death.	Are fists or hands classified as deadly weapons?
11121	Am. Fed'n of Lab. v. Reilly, 113 Colo. 90, 97, 155 P.2d 145, 148 (1944)	4	In absence of statute, workmen have right to organize in labor or trade unions for purpose of promoting their common welfare by lawful means.	The courts of the United States for many years, and generally without regard to statute, have recognized the right of workmen to organize in labor or trade unions for the purpose of promoting their common welfare by lawful means.	Do laborers have a right to organize as labor unions to promote their welfare?
11125	McCarthy v. Azure, 22 F.3d 351, 355 (1st Cir. 1994)	5	Federal policy favoring arbitration does not extend to situations in which identity of parties who have agreed to arbitrate is unclear.	The federal policy, however, does not extend to situations in which the identity of the parties who have agreed to arbitrate is unclear.	Does federal policy in favor of arbitration extend to situations in which the identity of the parties who have agreed to arbitrate is unclear?
11130	Fauntleroy v. Rainbow Marketers, 888 So. 2d 1045 (La. Ct. App. 2004)	2	The employer-employee relationship is contractual in nature, and as such, an employer and employee may negotiate the terms of an employment contract and agree to any terms not prohibited by law or public policy.	The employer-employee relationship is contractual in nature. Quebedeaux v. Dow Chemical Co., 01-2297 (La.6/21/02), 820 So.2d 542. "As such, an employer and employee may negotiate the terms of an employment contract and agree to any terms not prohibited by law or public policy." Id.	Is an employer-employee relationship contractual in nature?

11136	Englewood v. Miami Valley Lighting, 182 Ohio App. 3d 58, 65 (Ohio App. 2 Dist.,2009)	4	A public utility provides an essential good or service to the general public which has a legal right to demand or receive this good or service, which must be provided generally and indiscriminately.	First, a public utility provides "an essential good or service to the general public which has a legal right to demand or receive this good or service." Id. at 387, 596 N.E.2d 423. Second, the good or service must be provided " 'generally and indiscriminately.' "	Should the goods and services by a public utility be provided generally and indiscriminately to the general public?
11137	People v. Ryan, 125 A.D.3d 695, 696–97, 3 N.Y.S.3d 94, 95 (2015)	2	In order to be held criminally liable for a person's death, a defendant must have engaged in conduct that actually contributed to that person's death.	In order to be held criminally liable for a person's death, a *697 defendant must have engaged in conduct that "actually contribute[d]" to that person's death (People v. DaCosta, 6 N.Y.3d 181, 184, 811 N.Y.S.2d 308, 844 N.E.2d 762), by setting in motion the events that resulted in the death (see People v. Matos, 83 N.Y.2d 509, 511, 611 N.Y.S.2d 785, 634 N.E.2d 157).	Must defendant's actions have been an actual contributory cause of death of victim to be held criminally liable for homicide?
11138	Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe v. Jewell, 205 F. Supp. 3d 1052, 1063 (D.S.D. 2016)	13	When interpreting provisions of a treaty between an Indian tribe and the United States, the Indian law canons of construction require that the treaty be construed liberally in favor of the Indians with ambiguous provisions interpreted for their benefit.	When interpreting provisions of a treaty between a tribe and the United States, the Indian law canons of construction require that the treaty "be construed liberally in favor of the Indians with ambiguous provisions interpreted for their benefit."	How should courts interpret Indian treaties?
11139	Reinoehl v. Trinity Universal Ins. Co., 130 Ohio App. 3d 186, 196 (Ohio Ct. App. 1998)	13	Lack of probable cause generally becomes the essence of a claim for malicious prosecution for the reason that malice may be inferred if probable cause was not present.	The lack of probable cause generally becomes the essence of a claim for malicious prosecution for the reason that malice may be inferred if probable cause was not present.	When is malice inferred in a malicious prosecution claim?
11141	Cox v. Superior Court, 205 Cal.Rptr.3d 188, 191, 1 Cal.App.5th 855, 859 (Cal.App. 3 Dist., 2016)	8	The label given a petition, action, or other pleading is not determinative; rather, the true nature of a petition or cause of action is based on the facts alleged and remedy sought in that pleading.	The label given a petition, action or other pleading is not determinative; rather, the true nature of a petition or cause of action is based on the facts alleged and remedy sought in that pleading.	How is the nature of a cause of action determined?
11142	Rhodes v. Jones, 351 F.2d 884, 886 (8th Cir. 1965)	2	"Cause of action" is situation or state of facts which entitles party to sustain action and gives him right to seek judicial interference in his behalf.	A 'cause of action' is a situation or state of facts which entitles a party to sustain an action and gives him the right to seek judicial interference in his behalf.	Does a cause of action include a right to judicial interference?
11143	Angio-Med. Corp. v. Eli Lilly & Co., 720 F. Supp. 269, 274 (S.D.N.Y.,1989)	11	Elements of trade libel claim which must be proved are falsity of statement, publication to third person, express or implied malice, and proven special damages.	The elements of a trade libel claim which must be proven are: (1) falsity of the statement, (2) publication to a third person, (3) malice (express or implied), and (4) proven special damages.	What are the elements of trade libel?

11145	Sluss v. Commonwealth, 450 S.W.3d 279, 287 (Ky. 2014)	15	Issue of causation in homicide cases is framed in terms of whether or not the result as it occurred was either foreseen or foreseeable by the defendant as a reasonable probability.	It is abundantly evident that the issue of causation in homicide cases is framed in terms "of whether or not the result as it occurred was either foreseen or foreseeable by the defendant as a reasonable probability."	Is foreseeability by the defendant necessary to constitute causation of homicide?
11147	Roberts v. City of Cranston Zoning Bd. of Review, 448 A.2d 779, 781 (R.I. 1982)	3	Term "judicial proceedings" is not limited to only those proceedings that occur in court of law, but rather, term encompasses any proceeding wherein judicial action is invoked and taken.	Given its ordinary and customary meaning, the term "judicial proceedings" is not limited to only those proceedings that occur in a court of law. Instead, the term encompasses "[a]ny proceeding wherein judicial action is invoked and taken."	Is the term judicial proceeding limited to proceedings that occur in a court of law?
11151	Campus Lodge of Columbia, Ltd. v. Jacobson, 319 S.W.3d 549, 552 (Mo.App. W.D., 2010)	1	A lease in Missouri acts as both a conveyance and a contract, and a damaged party has available the usual contract remedies in the event a provision of a lease is breached, including damages, reformation, and rescission of the contract.	A lease in Missouri acts as both a conveyance and a contract, and a damaged party has available the usual contract remedies in the event a provision of a lease is breached "including damages, reformation and rescission of the contract."	Is a lease a contract and also a conveyance?
11159	Broughton v. State, 37 N.Y.2d 451, 456, 335 N.E.2d 310, 314 (1975)	4	Action for false imprisonment is derived from ancient common-law action of trespass and protects personal interest of freedom from restraint of movement.	The action for false imprisonment is derived from the ancient common-law action of trespass and protects the personal interest of freedom from restraint of movement.	Are assault and false imprisonment including false arrest derived from the ancient action of trespass?
11160	Wall v. Brim, 138 F.2d 478, 481 (5th Cir. 1943)	5	An operation cannot be performed without patient's consent, and one performed without consent, express or implied, is a technical battery or trespass for which surgeon is liable.	The law is well settled that an operation cannot be performed without the patient's consent and that one performed without consent, express or implied, is a technical battery or trespass ¹¹ for which the operator is liable.	Can an operation performed without a patient's consent be considered as a battery or trespass?
11162	In re Wellbutrin XL Antitrust Litig. Indirect Purchaser Class, 868 F.3d 132, 148 (3d Cir. 2017)	15	A litigant has probable cause to initiate a suit if the litigant has a reasonable belief that there is a chance that a claim may be held valid upon adjudication.	A litigant has probable cause to initiate a suit if the litigant has "a reasonable belief that there is a chance that a claim may be held valid upon adjudication."	When does a litigant have probable cause to initiate a suit?
11167	Boyd v. Hodson, 117 Ind. App. 296, 303 (Ind. Ct. App. 1947)	10	Termination of a prosecution in favor of the accused is not prima facie evidence that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause.	It is the law of this state, however, that the termination of a prosecution in favor of the accused is not prima facie evidence that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause.	Does the termination of a prosecution in favor of the accused create a prima facie evidence of malicious prosecution?

11173	Kroeker v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 466 S.W.2d 105, 110 (Mo. Ct. App. 1971)	2	"Subrogation" originated as a creature of the common law; basically, it is classified as either legal or conventional; "legal subrogation" arises out of a condition or relationship by operation of law, whereas "conventional subrogation" arises by act or agreement of the parties.	Subrogation originated as a creature of the common law. Basically, it is classified as either legal or conventional. Legal subrogation arises out of a condition or relationship by operation of law, whereas conventional subrogation arises by act or agreement of the parties.	How is subrogation classified?
11175	Cobell v. Norton, 240 F.3d 1081, 1085 (D.C. Cir. 2001)	1	The federal government has substantial trust responsibilities toward Native Americans; such duties are grounded in the very nature of the government-Indian relationship.	The federal government has substantial trust responsibilities toward Native Americans. This is undeniable. Such duties are grounded in the very nature of the government-Indian relationship.	What is the basis of the trust responsibility the federal government owes to the Native Americans?
11177	Coffee Bay Invs., L.L.C. v. W.O.G.C. Co., 2003-0406 (La. App. 1 Cir. 4/2/04), 878 So. 2d 665, 670, writ denied, 2004-1084 (La. 6/25/04), 876 So. 2d 838	2	A "joint venture" is a special combination of two or more persons, where in some specific venture a profit is jointly sought without any actual partnership or corporate designation; the object and the motive behind a joint venture are the anticipated profits derived from a specific business enterprise.	A joint venture has been defined as "a special combination of two or more persons, where in some specific venture a profit is jointly sought without any actual partnership or corporate designation." Grand Isle Campsites, Inc. v. Cheek, 262 La. 5, 19, 262 So.2d 350, 355 (1972), citing Daily States Publishing Company v. Uhalt, 169 La. 893, 901, 126 So. 228, 231 (1930). Generally, the object and the motive behind a joint venture are the anticipated profits derived from a specific business enterprise.	Does a joint venture have a partnership designation?
11183	Watkins v. Debusk, 286 S.W.3d 58, 61 (Tex. App. 2009)	4	Courts liberally construe the rules of appellate procedure to protect a party's right to appeal.	However, we liberally construe the rules of appellate procedure to protect a party's right to appeal.	Do Courts liberally construe the rules of appellate procedure to protect a party's right to appeal?
11188	Citizens State Bank v. Raven Trading Partners, 786 N.W.2d 274, 287 (Minn. 2010)	16	Equitable subrogation need not be applied merely to prevent a party from obtaining a windfall or unjust enrichment.	But we need not apply equitable subrogation merely to prevent a party from obtaining a windfall or unjust enrichment.	Should equitable subrogation be applied merely to prevent a party from obtaining a windfall?
11190	Sapiano v. Williamsburg Nat. Ins. Co., 28 Cal. App. 4th 533, 537-38 n. 1, 33 Cal. Rptr. 2d 659, 661 (1994)	3	"Legal or equitable subrogation" has its source in equity and arises by operation of law, while "conventional subrogation" arises by contract of parties.	"Legal" or "equitable" subrogation has its source in equity and arises by operation of law. "Conventional" subrogation arises by contract of the parties.	Does legal or equitable subrogation has its source in equity and arises by operation of law?
11192	Sav. Bank of Manchester v. Kane, 35 Conn. Supp. 82, 87 (Com. Pl. 1978)	10	A comaker's right of subrogation cannot be enforced until whole debt is paid and until creditor is fully satisfied.	A comaker's right of subrogation cannot be enforced until the whole debt is paid and until the creditor is wholly satisfied.	Can a comaker's right of subrogation be enforced until whole debt is paid and until creditor is fully satisfied?

11193	Chem. Bank v. Meltzer, 245 A.D.2d 214, 215, 666 N.Y.S.2d 624, 625 (1997), rev'd, 93 N.Y.2d 296, 712 N.E.2d 656 (1999)	3	Obligation assumed by surety runs to creditor and subrogation may not in any way defeat creditor's rights.	The obligation assumed by a surety runs to the creditor and subrogation may not in any way defeat the creditor's rights.	Can an obligation assumed by a surety run to the creditor and subrogation in any way defeat creditor's rights?
11194	In re Gibbs, 11 B.R. 320, 322 (W.D. Mo. 1981)	1	Regardless of agreements of indemnity, surety is subrogated to rights of creditor whose claim it pays, and surety's right to reimbursement is of the same character as the creditor's claim.	The great weight of authority in these cases is that regardless of agreements of indemnity, the surety is subrogated to the rights of the creditor whose claim it pays and that the surety's right to reimbursement is of the same character as the creditor's claim.	Does a surety subrogate to the rights of a creditor whose claim it pays?
11198	Ciago v. Ameriquet Mortg. Co., 295 F. Supp. 2d 324, 331 (S.D.N.Y., 2003)	14	Federal statutory claims can be subject of arbitration, absent contrary Congressional intent, and burden of showing such legislative intent lies with party opposing arbitration.	It is well settled that federal statutory claims can be the subject of arbitration, absent a contrary Congressional intent.... The burden of showing such legislative intent lies with the party opposing arbitration.	Are federal statutory claims arbitrable?
11200	Rosin v. Lawrence Byars Used Car Post, 30 Ala. App. 576, 578 (1942)	2	The drawer's right to countermand payment of a check can be exercised only at his own risk, and ordinarily its exercise does not discharge his liability to the holder.	This because of the principle that "the drawer's right to countermand the payment of a check (and Byars had the undoubted right to so countermand the payment of the check in question upon discovery of the hoax perpetrated upon him by Hopper) can be exercised only at his own risk, and ordinarily its exercise does not discharge his liability to the holder."	Does the drawer's right to revoke or countermand the payment of check discharge his liability towards the holder?
11201	United States v. Lemons, 67 F. Supp. 985, 988 (W.D. Mo. 1946)	5	The law of the state in which a check or negotiable instrument is executed determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	The law of the state in which a check, or negotiable instrument, is executed, determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	Which law determines the validity of a check or negotiable instrument?
11217	Ayala v. Lee, 215 Md. App. 457, 475 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2013)	11	An evidentiary ruling on a motion in limine is left to the sound discretion of the trial judge and will only be reversed upon a clear showing of abuse of discretion.	An evidentiary ruling on a motion in limine "is left to the sound discretion of the trial judge and will only be *475 reversed upon a clear showing of abuse of discretion."	Can a trial court make an evidentiary ruling as part of motion in limine?
11218	Cnty. of Monroe v. Raytheon Co., 156 Misc. 2d 445, 451, 602 N.Y.S.2d 743, 747 (Sup. Ct. 1991)	2	As a rule, surety is subrogated to rights of both party it pays and party on whose behalf it makes the payments.	As a rule, a surety is subrogated to the rights of both the party it pays and the party on whose behalf it makes the payments.	Is a surety subrogated to the rights of both the party it pays and party on whose behalf it makes the payments?
11225	Welcker v. Welcker, 342 So. 2d 251, 253 (La. Ct. App.), writ denied sub nom. Welcker v. Little, 343 So. 2d 1077 (La. 1977)	5	The French civil law acknowledges the legitimacy of custom "praeter legem," i. e., custom as to a matter not covered by legislation, as a source of law.	Significantly, the French civil law acknowledges the legitimacy of custom Praeter legem (i.e. custom as to a matter not covered by legislation) as a source of law.	Does civil law acknowledge the legitimacy of custom praeter legem?

11230	Austin v. Shampine, 948 S.W.2d 900, 912 (Tex.App. Texarkana,1997)	20	In granting motion in limine, trial judge does not exclude evidence, but instead defers ruling on admissibility until such time as party wishes to introduce the evidence, and at that time, party must obtain ruling on evidence before introducing it; purpose of procedure is to prevent presentation of potentially prejudicial information before ruling can be obtained.	By granting a motion in limine, a trial judge does not exclude evidence. Instead, he defers ruling on admissibility until such time as a party wishes to introduce the evidence. At that time, the party must obtain a ruling on the evidence before introducing it. The purpose of this procedure is to prevent the presentation of potentially prejudicial information before a ruling can be obtained.	Is the purpose of filing a motion in limine to prevent the presentation of potentially prejudicial information in front of a jury before a ruling can be obtained?
11236	Loyal Ord. of Moose, Lodge 1785 v. Cavaness, 1977 OK 70, ¶ 9, 563 P.2d 143, 146	1	Generally, cause of action accrues at moment party owning it has legal right to sue.	Generally a cause of action accrues at the moment the party owning it has a legal right to sue.	Does a cause of action accrue at the moment party owning it has a legal right to sue?
11238	Weber City Sanitation Comm'n v. Craft, 196 Va. 1140, 1147, 87 S.E.2d 153, 157 (1955)	7	The police power embraces regulations designed to promote public convenience or general prosperity, as well as regulations designed to promote public health, public morals or public safety.	As was said by Justice Harlan in C.B. & Q.R. Co. v. Illinois, 200 U.S. 561, 26 S.Ct. 341, 349, 50 L.ed. 596: 'We hold that the police power of a State embraces regulations designed to promote the public convenience or the general prosperity, as well as regulations designed to promote the public health, the public morals or the public safety.'	Do a State need to compensate a property owner for the effects of reasonable regulations designed to protect the public health and safety?
11242	Airline Pilots Ass'n, Int'l, AFL-CIO v. Taca Int'l Airlines, S.A., 748 F.2d 965, 969 (5th Cir. 1984)	5	Under act of state doctrine, courts will not question the validity of actions of foreign governments within their own borders.	Under the act of state doctrine our courts will not question the validity of the actions of foreign governments within their own borders.	Will US courts question the validity of actions of foreign governments within their own borders?
11243	Duci v. Daily Gazette Co., 102 A.D.2d 940, 940, 477 N.Y.S.2d 760, 762 (1984)	2	In determining whether published article is libelous, it is role of court to decide, as matter of law, whether words complained of are susceptible of defamatory meaning ascribed to them.	In determining whether a published article is libelous, it is the role of the court to decide, as a matter of law, whether the words complained of are susceptible of the defamatory meaning ascribed to them (James v. Gannett Co., 40 N.Y.2d 415, 386 N.Y.S.2d 871, 353 N.E.2d 834).	How is it determined if an article is libelous per se?
11251	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. App. 2008).	3	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle by which to attempt to preclude a claim or defense; it is not equivalent to, or a substitute for, a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle to use to attempt to preclude a claim or defense. It is not equivalent to or a substitute for a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	Should a motion in limine be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense?
11255	Chase v. Ameriquest Mortg. Co., 155 N.H. 19, 27 (N.H. 2007)	19	Equitable subrogation applies where one who has discharged the debt of another may, under certain circumstances, succeed to the rights and position of the satisfied creditor.	[E]quitable subrogation "applies where one who has discharged the debt of another may, under certain circumstances, succeed to the rights and position of the satisfied creditor.	When does subrogation or equitable subrogation apply to a debt?

11268	Baxter v. Danny Nicholson, 191 N.C. App. 168, 171 (N.C. Ct. App. 2008)	2	A "de jure officer" is one who is regularly and lawfully elected or appointed and inducted into office and exercises the duties as his right; in contrast, a "de facto officer" is one who goes in under color of authority.	"A de jure officer is one who is regularly and lawfully elected or appointed and inducted into office and exercises the duties as his right." People ex rel. Norfleet v. Staton, 73 N.C. 546, 550 (1875). In contrast, a de facto officer is "one who goes in under color of authority...."	What is the difference between a de facto officer and a de jure officer?
11269	United States v. Martinez, 599 F. Supp. 2d 784, 799 (W.D. Tex. 2009)	30	When determining whether a statute applies extraterritorially, courts presume that Congress did not intend to violate principles of international law.	Nevertheless, when "determining whether a statute applies extraterritorially, [courts] presume that Congress did not intend to violate principles of international law.	Does the extraterritorial application of a statute violate principles of international law?
11271	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008).	3	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle by which to attempt to preclude a claim or defense; it is not equivalent to, or a substitute for, a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	A motion in limine is not the proper vehicle to use to attempt to preclude a claim or defense. It is not equivalent to or a substitute for a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment.	Should a motion in limine not be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense?
11273	In re Vertis Holdings, 536 B.R. 589, 622 (Bankr. D. Del. 2015)	12	Generally, under New Jersey law, a cognizable claim for trespass exists when personal property, in the actual use of the owner, is injured or taken by a trespasser, so that the owner is deprived of the use of it.	Defendants are correct in stating that generally, under New Jersey law, a cognizable claim for trespass exists "when personal property, in the actual use of the owner, is injured or taken by a trespasser, so that the owner is deprived of the use of it."	When does a cognizable claim for trespass occur?
11282	Echostar Satellite Corp. v. Gen. Elec. Co., 797 F. Supp. 855, 857 (D. Colo. 1992)	3	Allegations of fraud in the inducement relating specifically to arbitration provision may suspend application of provision.	However, "allegations of fraud in the inducement relating specifically to an arbitration provision may suspend application of such a provision."	Can allegations of fraud in the inducement relating specifically to an arbitration provision suspend application of such a provision?
11283	Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. Pittsburgh, Pa. v. Proskauer Rose Goetz & Mendelsohn, 165 Misc. 2d 539, 548, 634 N.Y.S.2d 609, 616 (Sup. Ct. 1994), aff'd sub nom. Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania v. Proskauer, Rose Goetz & Mendelsohn, 227 A.D.2d 106, 642 N.Y.S.2d 505 (1996)	18	Certificate of deposit, even if nonnegotiable, can be assigned and can be passed by delivery without endorsement by person to whose order it is made payable.	The certificate of deposit, even if nonnegotiable, can be assigned (Michie, op. cit., at 385), it can also be passed by delivery without indorsement by the person to whose order it is made payable (Michie, op. cit., § 321 at 401).	Can a certificate of deposit be assigned by delivery without endorsement?
11284	United Accounts v. Dachtler, 100 N.W.2d 93, 94 (N.D. 1959)	2	A "public corporation" is one created by the State for political purposes, to act as an agency in administration of civil government, such as a county, city, town, or school district.	A 'public corporation' has been defined as one created by the State for political purposes, to act as an agency in the administration of civil government, 'such as a county, city, town, or school district.	What is a public corporation?

11289	Citizens State Bank v. Raven Trading Partners, 786 N.W.2d 274, 285 (Minn. 2010)	14	A party seeking equitable subrogation has the burden of establishing that equities weigh in the party's favor, which also requires that no injury to innocent third parties will result if subrogation is applied; there is no injury to a party if the party's position remains unchanged or the party received that for which the party bargained.	In Minnesota, a party seeking equitable subrogation has the burden of establishing that equities weigh in the party's favor, which also requires that no injury to innocent third parties will result if subrogation is applied. See Peterson, 261 N.W.2d at 348. There is no injury to a party if the party's position remains unchanged or the party received that for which the party bargained.	"Who bears the burden of proving the applicability of the ""equitable subrogation"" doctrine?"
11290	City Council of City of N. Miami Beach v. Trebor Const. Corp., 277 So. 2d 852, 853 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973)	1	In law action, right of plaintiff to recover must be measured by facts as they existed when suit was instituted.	It is well established in Florida that in a law action the right of a plaintiff to recover must be measured by the facts as they existed when the suit was instituted.	Should right of a plaintiff to recover be measured by the facts as they existed when the suit was instituted?
11291	Don Medow Motors v. Grauman, 446 N.E.2d 651, 654–55 (Ind.App.,1983)	7	A civil case is determined on the common law as it stands when the judgment is to be rendered and not as it stood when suit was brought even where the case is pending before an intermediate court.	Thus, a civil case is determined on the common law as it stands when the judgment is to be rendered and not as it stood when the suit was brought. This is the rule even where the *655 case is pending before an intermediate court.	Is a case determined on law as it stands when judgment is rendered and not when suit is brought?
11292	Walton v. Kern Cnty., 39 Cal. App. 2d 32, 34, 102 P.2d 531, 532 (1940), disapproved of by Cory v. City of Huntington Beach, 43 Cal. App. 3d 131, 117 Cal. Rptr. 475 (Ct. App. 1974)	2	Ordinarily, the plaintiff's cause of action must have arisen before filing of complaint, and he may not recover in a cause of action arising after suit is filed.	Ordinarily, a plaintiff's cause of action must have arisen before the filing of the complaint and he may not recover in a cause of action arising after the suit is filed.	Must the plaintiff's cause of action have arisen before the filing of a complaint?
11298	Wyland v. W. Shore Sch. Dist., 52 A.3d 572, 581 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2012)	8	A court generally should not interfere with a school district's discretion regarding educational policy; nonetheless, a school district does not have the discretion to disregard a statutory mandate.	We recognize that a court generally should not interfere with a school district's discretion regarding educational policy. Unionville–Chadds Ford Sch. Dist. Nonetheless, a school district does not have the discretion to disregard a statutory mandate, as the District has done here.	Does a school district have the discretion to disregard a statutory mandate?
11300	White v. Nat'l Bondholders Corp., 191 Misc. 536, 537, 78 N.Y.S.2d 468, 469 (Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 273 A.D. 963, 79 N.Y.S.2d 315 (App. Div. 1948)	1	In absence of special circumstances, a defendant cannot compel plaintiff to prosecute an action against his will, and it is only when substantial rights of a defendant have accrued that the court will refuse plaintiff a discontinuance of the action.	In the absence of special circumstances a defendant cannot compel the plaintiff to prosecute an action against his will; it is only when substantial rights of a defendant have accrued that the court will refuse plaintiff a discontinuance of the action.	Can a defendant compel a plaintiff to prosecute the action against his will?

11302	Colonial Hill Co. v. Mortg. Bond & Tr. Co., 174 Ga. 204, 162 S.E. 531, 532 (1932)	3	Person paying off prior lien must show unequivocal agreement for subrogation, or facts from which agreement will be implied.	Person paying off prior lien must show unequivocal agreement for subrogation, or facts from which agreement will be implied	Should a person paying off a prior lien show an unequivocal agreement for subrogation?
11304	Gary Friedrich Enterprises v. Marvel Enterprises, 713 F. Supp. 2d 215, 230 (S.D.N.Y. 2010)	25	Under New York law, a "trespass to chattels" is an intentional use or intermeddling with a chattel in the possession of another where the chattel is impaired as to its condition, quality, or value. Restatement (Second) of Torts SS 217(b), 218(b).	Under New York law, a trespass to chattels is defined as an intentional use or "intermeddling with a chattel in the possession of another" where "the chattel is impaired as to its condition, quality, or value."	Does intermeddling with chattel in the possession of another constitute a trespass to chattel?
11316	Stone v. First Wyoming Bank N. A., Lusk, 625 F.2d 332, 340 (10th Cir. 1980)	2	As a general rule, the substantive law of partnerships is applicable in determining rights and liabilities of joint venturers and third parties.	As a general rule the substantive law of partnerships is applicable in determining the rights and liabilities of joint venturers and third parties.	Is the substantive law of partnership applicable to joint ventures?
11320	Turner v. Hunt, 131 Tex. 492, 497 (Tex. 1938)	11	Except in case of extreme delay, a delay which works no injury or no disadvantage to another is not such "laches" as will bar a right.	Except in case of extreme delay like that in Dull v. Blum, supra, delay, which works no injury or no disadvantage to another, is not such laches as will bar a right.	Can a delay which works no injury or no disadvantage to another is laches that bar a right?
11325	Harris Cty. Appraisal Dist. v. Wittig, 881 S.W.2d 193, 194 (Tex. App. 1994)	1	Plaintiff has absolute right to nonsuit of its case at moment plaintiff files motion with clerk or makes motion in open court.	A plaintiff has an absolute right to a non-suit of its case at the moment the plaintiff files the motion with the clerk or makes a motion in open court.	Does a plaintiff generally have an absolute right to nonsuit at the moment a motion is filed with a clerk?
11335	White v. Nat'l Bondholders Corp., 191 Misc. 536, 537, 78 N.Y.S.2d 468, 469 (Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 273 A.D. 963, 79 N.Y.S.2d 315 (App. Div. 1948)	1	In absence of special circumstances, a defendant cannot compel plaintiff to prosecute an action against his will, and it is only when substantial rights of a defendant have accrued that the court will refuse plaintiff a discontinuance of the action.	In the absence of special circumstances a defendant cannot compel the plaintiff to prosecute an action against his will; it is only when substantial rights of a defendant have accrued that the court will refuse plaintiff a discontinuance of the action.	When can the court refuse a plaintiff a discontinuance of the action?
11341	Gestetner Holdings, PLC v. Nashua Corp., 784 F. Supp. 78, 82 (S.D.N.Y. 1992)	3	Where claims may be understood to raise an arbitrable issue, arbitration must be compelled even if claims can also be characterized another way.	Chung makes it clear that where claims may be understood to raise an arbitrable issue, arbitration must be compelled, even if the claims can also be characterized another way.	Can arbitration be compelled if claims can be characterized in another way?
11350	Campbell v. Lee, 12 Tenn. App. 293, 297 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1931)	6	The plaintiff's right to take a voluntary non-suit is absolute, and cannot be denied him when applied for within the time prescribed by section 4689.	The plaintiff's right to take voluntary non-suit is absolute, and cannot be denied him when applied within the time prescribed by Section 4689.	Is the plaintiff's right to take a voluntary non-suit absolute?
11360	In re George, 361 F.3d 1157, 1160 (9th Cir. 2004)	4	"Tax" is a pecuniary burden laid upon individuals or property for the purpose of supporting the government, as distinguished from a "penalty," which is an exaction imposed by statute as punishment for an unlawful act.	"[A] tax is a pecuniary burden laid upon individuals or property for the purpose of supporting the Government," as distinguished from a penalty, which is "an exaction imposed by statute as punishment for an unlawful act."	What is a penalty?

11362	Klingenschmitt v. United States, 119 Fed. Cl. 163, 191 (2014)	19	The decisions of military officials regarding which individuals are fit to serve and in what capacity are not for the courts to decide.	In addressing this challenge, the Court is again mindful of the Federal Circuit's admonition that the decisions of military officials regarding which individuals are fit to serve and in what capacity "are not for the courts to decide."	Is it for the courts to decide the decisions of military officials regarding which individuals are fit to serve?
11364	Veale v. Rose, 657 S.W.2d 834, 837 (Tex. App. 1983), writ refused NRE (Feb. 22, 1984)	4	Misappropriation by one partner to his own use of property of the partnership is considered in law as constructive if not actual fraud on the partnership and is actionable.	The misappropriation by one partner to his own use of property of the partnership is considered in law as constructive if not actual fraud on the partnership, and is actionable.	Does misappropriation by a partner for his own use of partnership property lead to constructive fraud?
11366	SNA Nut Co. v. Haagen-Dazs Co., 302 F.3d 725, 732 (7th Cir. 2002)	9	Because the parties rely on the pretrial conference to inform them precisely what is in controversy, the pretrial order is treated as superceding the pleadings and establishes the issues to be considered at trial.	Further, "[b]ecause the parties rely on the pretrial conference to inform them precisely what is in controversy, the pretrial order is treated as superceding the pleadings and establishes the issues to be considered at trial."	What do parties rely on pretrial conferences for?
11368	Olson v. England, 206 Neb. 256, 257 (1980)	5	Subsequent course of an action is controlled by agreements made at pretrial conference so long as they remain unmodified.	The subsequent course of an action is controlled by the agreements made at pretrial conference so long as they remain unmodified.	Is a subsequent course of an action controlled by agreements made at pretrial conference?
11371	Scott Paper Co. v. Griffin, 409 So. 2d 1375, 1380 (Ala. 1982)	5	A pretrial order may govern the future course of litigation in the action before the trial court.	We agree that a pretrial order may govern the future course of litigation in the action before the trial court.	Could a pretrial order govern the future course of litigation in the action before the trial court?
11375	Orbison v. Welsh, 242 Ind. 385, 389 (Ind. 1962)	21	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles the taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than the rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	What does a tax entitle the taxpayer to receive in return?
11376	Efros v. Russo, 68 N.J. Super. 110, 112, 113 (Law Div. 1961)	2	"Assessments" are special and local impositions upon property in the immediate vicinity of municipal improvements which are necessary to pay for improvement, and are laid with reference to special benefit which property is supposed to have derived therefrom.	Assessments' are those special and local impositions upon property in the immediate vicinity of the municipal improvements which are necessary to pay for the improvement and are laid with reference to the special benefit which the property is supposed to have derived therefrom.	What do differences between assessment and tax include?
11377	Wright v. Steers, 242 Ind. 582, 585, 179 N.E.2d 721, 723 (1962)	3	The nature of tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	It is true that the nature of the tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	Is the nature of a tax determined by its operation and incidence rather than by legislative title or designation?
11378	Gross v. Ocean Twp., 184 N.J. Super. 144, 150 (1982)	3	Essential characteristic of a tax is a compulsory contribution to the support of government, imposed upon individuals or property pursuant to legislative authority.	The essential characteristic of a tax is a compulsory contribution to the support of government, imposed upon individuals or property pursuant to legislative authority.	Is tax a compulsory contribution to support the government?

11379	Golden State Bank v. Dolan, 37 Colo. App. 29, 31 (1975)	2	Nature of a tax must be determined by its operation rather than by the particular descriptive language that may have been applied to it.	"[T]he nature of a tax must be Determined by its operation rather than by particular descriptive language that may have been applied to it.'	Should the nature of a tax be determined by its operation rather than its particular descriptive language?
11389	Small v. Fritz Companies, Inc., 30 Cal. 4th 167, 184, 65 P.3d 1255, 1265 (2003)	13	The policy of liberal construction of the pleadings will not ordinarily be invoked to sustain a pleading defective in any material respect.	'Thus " 'the policy of liberal construction of the pleadings ... will not ordinarily be invoked to sustain a pleading defective in any material respect.' "	Will the policy of liberal construction of the pleadings be invoked to sustain a pleading defective in any material respect?
11390	Arizona State Highway Dep't v. Bechtold, 105 Ariz. 125, 128 (Ariz. 1969)	1	Purpose of pretrial order is to simplify issues and shorten trial time, but such orders are not absolute and do not completely jell issues in action.	The admitted purpose of the pre-trial order is to simplify issues and shorten trial time. But such orders are not absolute and do not completely jell issues in an action.	Are pretrial orders that simplify issues and shorten trial time absolute?
11398	Tampa Aluminum Prod. Co. v. Watts, 132 So. 2d 414, 418 (Fla. 1961)	6	Workmen's compensation cases, like other lawsuits, must generally be determined by their peculiar facts.	Workmen's compensation cases, like other lawsuits, must generally be determined by their peculiar facts and the facts in these cases do not warrant the amount awarded.	"Should workmens compensation cases, like other lawsuits, generally be determined by their peculiar facts?"
11408	York Motor Exp. Co. v. State, for Use of Hawk, 195 Md. 525, 533, 74 A.2d 12, 15 (1950)	12	Degree of care to be exercised by motorist in fog varies with conditions of fog, the highway, and the traffic, and may be affected by the type, size and weight of vehicle.	The degree of care to be exercised by a motorist in a fog varies with the conditions of the fog, the highway, and the traffic, and may be affected by the type, size and weight of the vehicle.	What is the standard of the degree of care that is required to be exercised by a driver or a motorist?
11413	Appeal of News Pub. Co., 12 Kan. App. 2d 328, 332, (Kan.App., 1987)	3	Entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute; legislature is empowered to provide means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matter of taxation.	The entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute. The legislature is empowered to provide the means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matters of taxation.	Does the matter of taxation exist apart from statute?
11414	City of Lake Elmo v. 3M Co., 237 F. Supp. 3d 877, 887, 888 (D. Minn. 2017)	19	Under Minnesota law, a "trespass" is committed where a plaintiff has the right of possession to the land at issue, and there is a wrongful and unlawful entry upon such possession by defendant.	Trespass [19] [20] 3M also argues that the Complaint fails to state a claim for trespass because invasion by a particulate matter does not constitute a trespass under Minnesota law. "In Minnesota, a trespass is committed where a plaintiff has the *888 right of possession to the land at issue and there is a wrongful and unlawful entry upon such possession by defendant."	Can trespass be committed only when a plaintiff has the right of possession to the land?
11419	United States v. Dorr, 636 F.2d 117, 120 (5th Cir. 1981)	2	Test in determining existence of prosecutorial misconduct regarding closing argument is whether the remarks were improper and whether they prejudicially affected substantial rights of defendant.	The test in determining the existence of prosecutorial misconduct regarding closing arguments is whether the remarks were improper and whether they prejudicially affected substantial rights of the defendants.	What is the test for evaluating allegations of prosecutorial misconduct?

11427	Dodd v. Cowgill, 85 Nev. 705, 712 (Nev. 1970)	5	Where party whose attorney is ill is represented by other counsel, denial of continuance may be justified.	And where the party whose attorney is ill is represented by other counsel, denial of a continuance may be justified.	"Where a party whose attorney is ill is represented by other counsel, is denial of continuance be justified?"
11430	Alabama Power Co. v. Fed. Power Comm'n, 134 F.2d 602, 608 (5th Cir. 1943)	7	"Taxes" are annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for current support of government and are generally an "expense" and not an "investment".	Taxes are the annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for the current support of government, and are generally an expense and not an investment.	Are taxes the annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for the current support of government?
11431	People v. Siciliano, 4 Ill. 2d 581, 586 (1954)	1	Gist of offense of "bribery" is giving to and receiving or accepting money or other valuable thing by a public officer to influence him with respect to performance of his official duty.	The gist of the offense of bribery is the giving to and receiving or accepting money or other valuable thing by a public officer to influence him with respect to the performance of his official duty.	What is the gist of the offense of bribery?
11434	Forrest v. Masters, 158 Neb. 506, 508-509 (1954)	1	In absence of restrictive applicable statutes or ordinances, a pedestrian has a right to walk longitudinally in a street or highway, and is not, as a matter of law, contributorily negligent in doing so.	As to that the rule is: 'in the absence of restrictive applicable statutes or ordinances, a pedestrian has a right to walk longitudinally in a street or highway, and is not as a matter *509 of law guilty of contributory negligence in doing so.'	Does a pedestrian have a right to walk longitudinally in the highway?
11435	Matter of Cupples, 952 S.W.2d 226, 235-36 (Mo. 1997)	20	Partner's fiduciary duty includes duty to be candid concerning business opportunities, duty to be fair, duty not to put self-interests before interests of partnership, and duty not to compete with partnership in the business of partnership.	[20] A partner's fiduciary duty includes the duty to be candid concerning business opportunities, the duty to be fair, the duty *236 not to put self-interests before the interests of the partnership, and the duty not to compete with the partnership in the business of the partnership.	Do partners have a duty to not compete with the partnership in the business of partnership?
11437	State Highway Dep't v. Hewitt Contracting Co., 115 Ga. App. 606, 608 (1967)	3	Allegations stating knowledge and intention of opposite party usually constitute allegations of fact rather than conclusions, even as against special demurrer.	Allegations stating the knowledge and intention of the opposite party usually constitute allegations of fact rather than conclusions, even as against a special demurrer.'	Is the allegation of knowledge of the opposite party a conclusion?
11451	Hutchinson v. Des Moines Hous. Corp., 248 Iowa 1121, 1122 (1957)	2	To constitute proper and effective pleading a conclusion concerning negligence must be based on proper and pertinent facts.	In order to constitute proper and effective pleading a conclusion concerning negligence must be based upon proper and pertinent facts.	Should a conclusion be based on proper and pertinent facts to constitute a proper and effective pleading?
11453	Levine v. Behn, 169 Misc. 601, 607, 8 N.Y.S.2d 58, 64 (Sup. Ct. 1938), aff'd, 257 A.D. 156, 12 N.Y.S.2d 190 (App. Div. 1939), rev'd, 282 N.Y. 120, 25 N.E.2d 871 (1940)	12	Ordinarily the courts exercise the greatest liberality with respect to the allowance and the scope of examination before trial.	Ordinarily, the courts exercise the greatest liberality with respect to the allowance and the scope of examination before trial and dismiss without comment the objections so frequently interposed that such examinations are 'fishing expeditions' and not sought in good faith.	Do the courts exercise the greatest liberality with respect to the allowance and the scope of examination before trial?

11456	Mazzenga v. Dorfman, 272 Pa. Super. 379, 382–83, 415 A.2d 1248, 1250 (1979)	2	Imposition of an appropriate sanction is a more appropriate device than denial of continuance to employ to ensure the speedy disposition of cases.	However, we believe that the imposition of an appropriate sanction would be a more appropriate *383 device to employ to insure the speedy disposition of cases.	Is imposition of an appropriate sanction a more appropriate device than denial of continuance to employ to ensure the speedy disposition of cases?
11465	City of Santa Cruz v. Superior Ct., 40 Cal. App. 4th 1146, 1148, 48 Cal. Rptr. 2d 216, 218 (1995)	1	Discovery into subjective motives or mental processes of legislators is forbidden and this proscription may not be circumvented by deposing others about factors that may have lead to legislators' votes.	As will appear, we agree with City that discovery into the subjective motives or mental processes of legislators is forbidden, and that this proscription may not be circumvented by deposing others about the factors that may have led to the legislators' votes.	Is discovery into the subjective motives or mental processes of city council members prohibited?
11466	Rec. v. Indem. Ins. Co. of N. Am., 103 Cal. App. 2d 434, 444, 229 P.2d 851, 857 (1951)	2	Liability under Workmen's Compensation Act is incident to status of employment and is neither in tort nor in contract.	In California the liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act is incident to the status of employment and is neither in tort nor in contract.	"Is liability under the Workmens Compensation Act incident to the status of employment, not in tort or in contract?"
11469	Landech v. McSwain, 96-0959 (La. App. 4 Cir. 2/5/97) (1997)	9	Trial court is endowed with inherent power to enforce its lawful pretrial orders and to attach sanctions for noncompliance and is vested with much discretion in selecting appropriate sanctions.	A trial court is endowed with the inherent power to enforce its lawful pre-trial orders and to attach sanctions for non-compliance and is vested with much discretion in selecting the appropriate sanctions.	Do courts have powers to enforce pre-trial orders?
11476	Krstulja v. Krstulja, 200 Misc. 186, 187, 104 N.Y.S.2d 751, 753 (Sup. Ct. 1951)	2	Generally, a party will not be allowed to obtain an examination before trial prior to furnishing a bill of particulars.	It is also true that as a general rule a party will not be allowed to obtain an examination before trial prior to furnishing a bill of particulars.	Will a party not be allowed to obtain an examination before trial prior to furnishing a bill of particulars?
11493	Pauls v. Sec'y of Air Force, 457 F.2d 294, 297 (1st Cir. 1972)	1	Military officers serve at pleasure of the President and have no constitutional right to be promoted or retained in service and the services of an officer may be terminated with or without reason.	It is well-established law that military officers serve at the pleasure of the President and have no constitutional right to be promoted or retained in service and that the services of an officer may be terminated with or without reason.	Can a military officer be terminated with or without reason?
11504	Hozer v. State, Dep't of Treasury, Consol. Police & Firemen's Pension Fund Comm'n, 95 N.J. Super. 196, 199 (App. Div. 1967)	2	One fundamental purpose of the pensioning of civil servants is to secure good behavior and the maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	It is axiomatic that one of the fundamental purposes of the pensioning of civil servants is to secure good behavior and the maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	What is the fundamental purpose of the pensioning of civil servants?
11512	State v. Oral H., 125 Conn. App. 276, 280 (2010)	1	A motion to dismiss properly attacks the jurisdiction of the court, essentially asserting that the state cannot as a matter of law and fact state a cause of action that should be heard by the court.	"A motion to dismiss ... properly attacks the jurisdiction of the court, essentially asserting that the [state] cannot as a matter of law and fact state a cause of action that should be heard by the court....	Does court has jurisdiction to hear the case of motion to dismiss tests on the face of the record?

11513	Ex parte Gregory, 947 So. 2d 385, 390 (Ala. 2006)	14	A request for jurisdictional discovery must offer the court more than conjecture and surmise in support of the jurisdictional theory.	"A request for jurisdictional discovery must offer the court 'more than conjecture and surmise in support of [the] jurisdictional theory.'	Should a request for jurisdictional discovery offer the court more than conjecture and surmise in support of the jurisdictional theory?
11516	In Matter of CUA Autofinder, 387 B.R. 906, 913 (M.D. Ga. 2008)	10	Under Georgia law, right to subrogation can be modified or extinguished by contract or may be waived either expressly or by implication.	The right to subrogation can be modified or extinguished by contract or may be waived either expressly or by implication.	"Can a right to subrogation be modified or extinguished by contract, waived either expressly or by implication?"
11518	Salisbury v. New York Cent. R. Co., 220 A.D. 491, 493, 222 N.Y.S. 38, 41 (App. Div. 1927)	1	A binding "custom" must be certain, definite, uniform, and known, or so notorious that it would have been known to any person of reasonable prudence, who dealt with its subject, with the exercise of ordinary care.	'A binding custom must be certain, definite, uniform, and known, or so notorious that it would have been known to any person of reasonable prudence who dealt with its subject with the exercise of ordinary care.'	What is required for a custom to become binding?
11523	In re Orshansky, 804 A.2d 1077, 1091 (D.C. 2002)	4	The place where a person lives is properly taken to be her domicile until facts adduced establish the contrary.	Woods, 465 A.2d 385, 387 (D.C.1983) (citations omitted), and "the place where a [person] lives is properly taken to be [her] domicile until facts adduced establish the contrary."	"Is the place where a person lives, taken to be his domicile until facts adduced establish the contrary?"
11531	Ashmore v. Mississippi Auth. on Educ. Television, 148 So. 3d 977, 981 (Miss. 2014)	3	The power to dismiss is inherent in any court of law or equity, being a means necessary for orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket.	The power to dismiss is inherent in any court of law or equity, being a means necessary for orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket.	Is the power to dismiss inherent in any court of law or equity?
11538	Leathers v. Active Realty, 317 Ark. 214, 216 (1994)	2	Tax cannot be imposed except by express words indicating that purpose and where there is ambiguity or doubt, it must be resolved in favor of taxpayer.	We first note the cardinal rule in construing tax legislation: a tax cannot be imposed except by express words indicating that purpose, and where there is ambiguity or doubt it must be resolved in favor of the taxpayer.	Can a tax be imposed by express statutory words indicating that purpose?
11552	Piper Jaffray & Co. v. Severini, 443 F. Supp. 2d 1016, 1020 (W.D. Wis. 2006)	6	A district court has broad discretion in deciding whether a plaintiff has waived its right to object to procedural irregularities in removal proceedings.	However, a district court has broad discretion in deciding whether a plaintiff has waived its right to object to procedural irregularities in removal proceedings.	"Where a continuance was granted as to one of defendants, has the plaintiff waived the right to object to the irregularity of the continuance?"
11553	Grant v. Espiritu, 470 S.W.3d 198, 201-202 (Tex. App. 2015)	8	If a plaintiff lacks standing to assert one of his claims, the court lacks jurisdiction over that claim and must dismiss it.	Thus, if a plaintiff lacks standing to assert one of his claims, the court lacks jurisdiction over that claim *202 and must dismiss it.	"If a plaintiff is without standing to assert one of his claims, does the court lack jurisdiction over that claim and is required to dismiss it?"
11555	United States v. State of Md., 471 F. Supp. 1030 (D. Md. 1979)	9	The implied immunity of one government and its agencies from taxation by other should as a principle of statutory construction be narrowly restricted.	927 (1939), that "the implied immunity of one government and its agencies from taxation by the other should as a principle of statutory construction be narrowly restricted.	Should the implied immunity of one government and its agencies from taxation by other be narrowly restricted?

11559	Florida v. Seminole Tribe of Florida, 181 F.3d 1237, 1243 (11th Cir. 1999)	12	Waivers of tribal sovereign immunity cannot be implied on the basis of a tribe's actions, but must be unequivocally expressed.	The Supreme Court has made it plain that waivers of tribal sovereign immunity cannot be implied on the basis of a tribe's actions, but must be unequivocally expressed.	Can the waiver of tribal sovereign immunity be implied on the basis of a tribe's actions?
11565	In re Estate of Slaughter, 305 S.W.3d 804, 808 (Tex. App. 2010)	6	A "mineral estate" consists of five interests: (1) the right to develop, (2) the right to lease, (3) the right to receive bonus payments, (4) the right to receive delay rentals, and (5) the right to receive royalty payments.	"A mineral estate consists of five interests: 1) the right to develop, 2) the right to lease, 3) the right to receive bonus payments, 4) the right to receive delay rentals, and 5) the right to receive royalty payments."	What are the five interests that a mineral estate consists of?
11566	Townsend v. Feinberg, 659 So. 2d 1218, 1219 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1995)	2	Prior to exercising its discretion to grant dismissal based on failure to comply with court order, court must make finding that failure to comply was willful or contumacious, and failure to make requisite findings in order of dismissal constitutes reversible error, and inclusion of "magic words" does not necessarily cure error.	Prior to exercising its discretion to grant dismissal based on failure to comply with a court order, the court must make a finding that the failure to comply was willful or contumacious. In the case at bar, there was no finding in the order of dismissal that appellant's failure to attend her IME or her deposition was "willful or contumacious" or that appellant's action, or non-action, resulted in prejudice to appellee. The failure to make the requisite findings in the order of dismissal constitutes reversible error. See Commonwealth Federal Savings and Loan Assn. v. Tubero, 569 So.2d 1271 (Fla.1990); In re the Forfeiture of Twenty Thousand Nine Hundred Dollars ($20,900) U.S. Currency, 539 So.2d 14 (Fla. 4th DCA 1989). 3 We do not mean to imply that the mere inclusion of the "magic words" in the order of dismissal would have cured the error in this case.	"In the requisite written finding of wilfulness, are magic words required or only a finding that the conduct upon which the order is based was equivalent to wilfulness or deliberate disregard?"
11569	Verploegh v. Gagliano, 396 Ill. App. 3d 1041, 1044, 922 N.E.2d 428, 431 (2009)	1	In response to motion to dismiss, the plaintiff has the burden to prove reasonable diligence to obtain service of process. Sup.Ct.Rules, Rule 103(b).	The plaintiff has the burden to prove reasonable diligence to obtain service of process. Segal v. Sacco, 136 Ill.2d 282, 286, 144 Ill.Dec. 360, 555 N.E.2d 719, 720 (1990). We review a decision to grant a motion to dismiss pursuant to Supreme Court Rule 103(b) for an abuse of discretion.	"In response to motion to dismiss, does the plaintiff have the burden to prove reasonable diligence to obtain service of process?"

11574	Landise v. Mauro, 141 A.3d 1067, 1077 (D.C. 2016)	9	Dismissal should not be imposed as a sanction for failing to comply with a court order where the failure of a party to comply with the order is inadvertent or excusable. Civil Rule 41(b).	Super. Ct. Civ. R. 41(b) provides in relevant part that “[f]or failure of the plaintiff to prosecute or to comply with these Rules or any order of Court, a defendant may move for dismissal of an action or of any claim against the defendant.” This court has explained that “a dismissal for failure to prosecute ‘generally rests within the broad discretion of the trial judge, to be disturbed only in case of obvious abuse.’ ” Dobbs v. Providence Hosp., 736 A.2d 216, 219–20 (D.C.1999) (quoting Taylor v. Washington Hosp. Ctr., 407 A.2d 585, 590 (D.C.1979), cert. denied, 446 U.S. 921, 100 S.Ct. 1857, 64 L.Ed.2d 275 (1980)). At the same time, we have recognized that dismissal under Rule 41(b) is “an extreme sanction which should be granted only sparingly or in extraordinary circumstances”: Among the factors which the trial court should consider are: (1) the nature of the party’s conduct, including whether it was willful; (2) the length of any delay in complying with the court’s order; (3) the reasons for the delay; and (4) any prejudice to the opposing party. Dismissal should not be imposed where the failure of a party to	Should a dismissal be imposed as a sanction for failing to comply with a court order where the failure of a party to comply with the order is inadvertent or excusable?
11580	Fox v. Merrill Lynch & Co., 453 F. Supp. 561, 567 (S.D.N.Y. 1978)	9	If it is not practical to separate a party’s arbitrable and nonarbitrable claims, it may be appropriate to deny arbitration of any of the claims, or to defer arbitration until after adjudication of nonarbitrable disputes; however, if arbitrable and nonarbitrable portions of controversy are separable, it is proper to stay judicial proceedings pending arbitration.	If it is not practical to separate a party’s arbitrable and nonarbitrable claims, it may be appropriate to deny arbitration of any of the claims, or to defer arbitration until after adjudication of the nonarbitrable disputes. Sibley v. Tandy Corp., 543 F.2d 540, 543 (5th Cir. 1976), Cert. denied, 434 U.S. 824, 98 S.Ct. 71, 54 L.Ed.2d 82 (1977) (dictum); See American Safety Equipment Corp. v. J. P. Maguire & Co., 391 F.2d 821, 828 (2d Cir. 1968); Shapiro v. Jaslow, 320 F.Supp. 598, 560 (S.D.N.Y.1970). However, if the arbitrable and nonarbitrable portions of the controversy are separable, it is proper to stay judicial proceedings pending arbitration.	Is it appropriate to deny arbitration if it is not practical to separate a party’s arbitrable and non arbitrable claims?

11585	Brady v. Sec. Home Inv. Co., 640 S.W.2d 731, 734 (Tex.App. 14 Dist.,1982)	1	Grantor may reserve mineral rights and may also reserve royalties, bonuses and rentals, either one, more, or all.	A grantor may reserve mineral rights and may also reserve royalties, bonuses and rentals, either one, more, or all.	"Can a grantor reserve minerals or mineral rights and also royalties, bonuses, and rentals?"
11587	MacLeod v. Fernandez, 101 F.2d 20, 23 (1st Cir. 1938)	4	A "pension" granted by public authorities is not a contractual obligation but a gratuitous allowance, in the continuance of which the pensioner has no vested right, and the pension is terminable at the will of the grantor, either in whole or in part.	The unquestioned rule is that a pension granted by the public authorities is not a contractual obligation but a gratuitous allowance, in the continuance of which the pensioner has no vested right; and that a pension is accordingly terminable at the will of the grantor, either in whole or in part.	Are pensions terminable at the will of the grantor?
11590	Masons Concrete of Crystal River v. Corbin Well Pump & Supply, 364 So. 2d 824, 825 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1978)	2	When party fails to comply with pretrial order, the sanction imposed must be commensurate with the offense.	As we have stated before, when a party fails to comply with a pretrial order "the sanction imposed must be commensurate with the offense."	"When a party fails to comply with a pretrial order, must sanctions be commensurate with offense?"
11591	Landech v. McSwain, 96-0959 (La. App. 4 Cir. 2/5/97) (1997)	9	Trial court is endowed with inherent power to enforce its lawful pretrial orders and to attach sanctions for noncompliance and is vested with much discretion in selecting appropriate sanctions.	A trial court is endowed with the inherent power to enforce its lawful pre-trial orders and to attach sanctions for non-compliance and is vested with much discretion in selecting the appropriate sanctions.	"Where a party fails to follow a trial court's pretrial order, is it the burden of that party to show why he failed to comply it?"
11592	In re Estate of Gordon, 222 Mich. App. 148, 157-58 (1997)	8	Complete failure of service, such as failure to serve summons with complaint within time for service, warrants dismissal for improper service of process.	However, a complete failure of service, e.g., failure to serve the *158 summons with the complaint within the time for service, warrants dismissal for improper service of process.	Does complete failure of service warrant dismissal for improper service of process?
11595	Thomas v. N. Carolina Dep't of Hum. Res., 124 N.C. App. 698, 705, 478 S.E.2d 816, 820 (1996)	1	In state court, exclusion of moot questions is considered principle of judicial restraint, while in federal court mootness doctrine is considered to have constitutional jurisdictional underpinnings.	In State court, the exclusion of moot questions is considered "a principle of judicial restraint ...," N.C. Council of Churches v. State of North Carolina, 120 N.C.App. 84, 88, 461 S.E.2d 354, 357 (1995), aff'd, 343 N.C. 117, 468 S.E.2d 58 (1996), while in federal court the mootness doctrine is considered to have constitutional jurisdictional underpinnings.	When does exclusion of moot questions in state courts apply?

11598	Vieira v. Doe, 813 So. 2d 1030, 1031 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2002)	1	Where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings, dismissal of the entire case is proper; this power should be exercised cautiously and sparingly, and only upon a clear showing of fraud, pretense, collusion, or similar wrongdoing.	We recognize that “ ‘where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings, dismissal of the entire case is proper.’ ” Desimone v. Old Dominion Ins. Co., 740 So.2d 1233, 1234 (Fla. 4th DCA 1999)(quoting Savino v. Fla. Drive In Theatre Mgmt., Inc., 697 So.2d 1011, 1012 (Fla. 4th DCA 1997)). This power, however, “should be exercised cautiously and sparingly, and only upon a clear showing of fraud, pretense, collusion, or similar wrongdoing.”	Is dismissal of the entire case proper where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings?
11599	A.D. v. State, 736 N.E.2d 1274, 1276 (Ind. Ct. App. 2000)	5	When the controversy at issue in a case has been ended or settled, or in some manner disposed of, so as to render it unnecessary to decide the question involved, the case will be dismissed.	When the controversy at issue in a case "has been ended or settled, or in some manner disposed of, so as to render it unnecessary to decide the question involved, the case will be dismissed."	Will a case be dismissed when the controversy at issue in a case has been ended or settled?
11600	Cherubino v. Fenstersheib & Fox, P.A., 925 So. 2d 1066, 1068(Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2006)	4	Where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings, dismissal of the entire case is proper.	To this end, " 'where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings, dismissal of the entire case is proper.' "	"Where a party perpetrates a fraud on the court which permeates the entire proceedings, is a dismissal of the entire case proper?"
11629	United States v. Babcock, 339 F. Supp. 1281, 1282 (D. Minn. 1972)	2	Registrant seeking to present prima facie showing of qualification for IV-D classification must show that the ministry is his vocation rather than merely an avocation and must show he regularly conducts religious activities and that he had recognized standing as a minister to a congregation.	It has been held that a registrant seeking to present a prima facie showing of qualification for a IV-D classification must show that the ministry is his vocation rather than merely an avocation. It is also necessary that he show he regularly conducts religious activities and that he have recognized standing as a minister to a congregation.	Will a registrant qualify for a ministerial classification if ministry is his vocation?
11630	State Fid. Mortg. Co. v. Varner, 740 S.W.2d 477, 480 (Tex. App. 1987), writ denied (Mar. 23, 1988)	4	Assignee obtains only right, title and interest of his assignor at time of assignment and thus, may recover only those damages potentially available to assignor.	An assignee obtains only the right, title, and interest of his assignor at the time of his assignment, and no more. Houchins v. Scheltz, 590 S.W.2d 745, 751 (Tex.Civ.App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1979, no writ); Carter v. Associates Discount Corp., 550 S.W.2d 399, 401 (Tex.Civ.App.—Amarillo 1977, no writ). Accordingly, an assignee may recover only those damages potentially available to his assignor.	What rights does an assignee obtain from the assignor at the time of assignment?

11640	LaRouche v. Fed. Election Comm'n, 28 F.3d 137, 142 (D.C. Cir. 1994)	6	Private party asserting estoppel against United States Government must demonstrate that the latter has engaged in affirmative misconduct.	A private party asserting estoppel against the United States Government must demonstrate, however, that the latter has engaged in "affirmative misconduct," Conax Florida Corp.	Should a party asserting estoppel against the government show affirmative misconduct?
11656	E. Cleveland v. Landingham, 97 Ohio App. 3d 385, 389, 390 (Ohio Ct. App. 1994)	2	"Domicile" implies such nexus between person and place of permanence as to control creation of legal relations and responsibilities of the utmost significance.	"Domicil implies a nexus between person and place of such permanence as to *390 control the creation of legal relations and responsibilities of the utmost significance."	Does domicile imply a nexus between a person and a place of permanence?
11660	Anzalone v. Admin. Office of Trial Court, 457 Mass. 647, 652 (Mass. 2010)	2	Modern rules of pleading permit alternative pleading; relief may be granted if one of the alternative grounds pleaded is sufficient, despite the insufficiency of any remaining alternative grounds.	"Modern rules of pleading permit alternative pleading." Matter of Hilson, 448 Mass. 603, 613, 863 N.E.2d 483 (2007). See Mass. R. Civ. P. 8(e)(2), 365 Mass. 749 (1974). Relief may be granted if one of the alternative grounds pleaded is sufficient, despite the insufficiency of any remaining alternative grounds.	Do modern rules of pleading permit alternative pleading?
11663	Bell v. Kelso Oil Co., 597 S.W.2d 731, 734 (Tenn. 1980)	3	Law of tort causation, wherein liability is predicated upon fault and nullified by contributory fault, is not applicable in workmen's compensation cases.	Thus, the law of tort causation, wherein liability is predicated upon fault and nullified by contributory fault, is not applicable in workmen's compensation cases.	Does the law of tort causation apply in workmens compensation?
11665	Virginia Elec. & Power Co. v. Buchwalter, 228 Va. 684, 688, 325 S.E.2d 95, 97 (1985)	2	Party who purports to convey estate is estopped as against his grantee from asserting anything in derogation thereof; grantor cannot deny his title to prejudice of his grantee.	It is well established that a party who purports to convey an estate is estopped as against his grantee from asserting anything in derogation thereof. That is to say, a grantor cannot deny his title to the prejudice of his grantee.	Is a party who purports to convey an estate estopped from asserting anything in derogation thereof?
11668	Silicon Valley Taxpayers Ass'n v. Santa Clara Cty. Open Space Auth., 44 Cal. 4th 431, 442 (2008)	2	Unlike a special assessment, a tax can be levied without reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property.	Unlike a special assessment, a tax can be levied "without reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property."	Must a tax be levied with reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property?
11672	Robinson v. Gentry, 106 S.W.2d 913, 916 (Mo. App. 1937)	1	Generally, transfer of negotiable promissory note which has been indorsed "for collection" does not pass title to indorsee nor authorize indorsee to sell or indorse note to another, and purchaser from indorsee does not get title.	The general rule is that the transfer of a negotiable promissory note which has been indorsed "for collection" does not pass title in the instrument to an indorsee. Such a restrictive indorsement does not authorize the indorsee to sell or to indorse the note to another, and any person buying such a note with such a restrictive indorsement from such an indorsee does not receive title to the note.	Is the transfer of a negotiable promissory note which has been indorsed for collection pass title in the instrument to an indorsee?

11675	Piggly Wiggly Operators' Warehouse v. Piggly Wiggly Operators' Warehouse Indep. Great Truck Drivers Union, Local No. 1, 611 F.2d 580, 583 (5th Cir. 1980)	4	Judicial deference to arbitration does not grant carte blanche approval to any decision an arbitrator might make; arbitrator's authority is circumscribed by the arbitration agreement, and he can bind parties only on issues that they have agreed to submit to him, and whether an arbitrator has exceeded those bounds is an issue for judicial resolution.	Judicial deference to arbitration, however, does not grant carte blanche approval to any decision an arbitrator might make. The arbitrator's authority is circumscribed by the arbitration agreement, and he can bind the parties only on issues that they have agreed to submit to him. Whether an arbitrator has exceeded these bounds is an issue for judicial resolution.	Does judicial deference to arbitration grant carte blanche approval to any decision an arbitrator makes?
11676	Siam Feather & Forest Prod. Co. v. Midwest Feather Co., 503 F. Supp. 239, 242-43 (S.D. Ohio 1980)	7	Party may file answer to complaint, or even file answer and counterclaim without waiving its right to arbitration.	For example, a party may file an answer to a complaint, e. g., *243 ITT World Communications, Inc. v. Communications Workers of America, 422 F.2d 77 (2d Cir. 1970); or even file an answer and a counterclaim without waiving its right to arbitration, e. g., General Guaranty Ins. Co. v. New Orleans General Agency, Inc., 427 F.2d 924 (5th Cir. 1970).	Can a party file an answer to a complaint without waiving its right to arbitration?
11677	Kreps v. C. I. R., 351 F.2d 1, 9 (2d Cir. 1965)	10	The equity test of "insolvency" equates insolvency with a lack of liquid funds, or the inability to pay one's debts in the ordinary course of business as the debts mature.	The equity test of insolvency equates insolvency with a lack of liquid funds, or the inability to pay one's debts in the ordinary course of business as the debts mature.	What does the equity test of insolvency equate insolvency to?
11682	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 459-60 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	5	Every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially original contract, equivalent to new note or bill in favor of holder, and accommodation paper is governed by same rules as other paper.	It is settled in Louisiana that every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially an *460 original contract, equivalent to a new note or bill in favor of the holder and that accommodation paper is governed by the same rules as other paper.	Is an accommodation paper governed by the same laws as other paper?
11683	Deutsche Bank Nat. Tr. Co. v. Monica, 131 A.D.3d 737, 739, 15 N.Y.S.3d 863, 866 (2015)	7	Where a plaintiff possesses a note that, on its face or by allonge, contains an indorsement in blank or bears special indorsement payable to the order of the plaintiff, such party is a holder of the note and entitled to enforce the instrument.	"[W]here [a] plaintiff possesses a note that, on its face or by allonge, contains an indorsement in blank or bears special indorsement payable to the order of the plaintiff," such party is a holder of the note and entitled to enforce the instrument (Wells Fargo Bank, NA v. Ostiguy, 127 A.D.3d at 1376, 8 N.Y.S.3d 669; see Nationstar Mtge., LLC v. Davidson, 116 A.D.3d 1294, 1296, 983 N.Y.S.2d 705 [2014], lv. denied 24 N.Y.3d 905, 2014 WL 4637016 [2014]; see also Hartford Acc. & Indem. Co. v. American Express Co., 74 N.Y.2d 153, 159, 544 N.Y.S.2d 573, 542 N.E.2d 1090 [1989]).	Who can be a holder of a note?

11688	LaChance v. U.S. Smokeless Tobacco Co., 156 N.H. 88, 93 (2007)	3	A motion seeking judgment based solely on the pleadings is generally in the nature of a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.	In general, a motion seeking judgment based solely on the pleadings is in the nature of a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.	Is a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim based on pleadings?
11690	Lane v. Oustalet, 873 So. 2d 92, 95-96 (Miss. 2004)	3	The law of agency generally imputes knowledge and information received by an agent in conducting the business of a principal to the principal, even where that knowledge or information is not communicated by the agent to the principal.	The law of agency generally imputes knowledge and information received by an agent in conducting the business of a principal to the principal, even where that knowledge or information is not communicated by the agent to the *96 principal.	Does law of agency impute knowledge of an agent to principal?
11693	In re Mason's Est., 194 Misc. 308, 310, 86 N.Y.S.2d 232, 233 (Sur. 1948)	1	A check is a mere order for payment of money and authority of payee as agent of maker is revoked by death of maker prior to time check is cashed.	A check is a mere order for the payment of money. The authority of the payee as agent of the maker is revoked by the death of the maker prior to the time the check is cashed, Glennan v. Rochester Trust & Safe Deposit Co., 209 N.Y. 12, 102 N.E. 537, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 302, Ann.Cas.1915A, 441; Curry v. Powers, 70 N.Y. 212, 26 Am.Rep. 577; Harris v. Clark, 3 N.Y. 93, 51 Am.Dec. 352; Matter of Mead, 90 Misc. 263, 154 N.Y.S. 667, affirmed 173 App.Div. 982, 159 N.Y.S. 1128, affirmed 221 N.Y. 645, 117 N.E. 1076.	Does the death of a principal revoke the authority of an agent to collect the check?
11704	Baske v. Burke, 125 Cal. App. 3d 38, 43, 177 Cal. Rptr. 794, 797 (Ct. App. 1981)	2	Law favors trial on the merits and looks with disfavor upon party who seeks to take advantage of excusable mistake or neglect of his adversary.	The law favors trial on the merits and looks with disfavor upon a party who seeks to take advantage of the excusable mistake or neglect of his adversary.	Does law favor trial on the merits?
11713	Myers v. City of Palmyra, 355 S.W.2d 17, 18 (Mo. 1962)	3	Petition is not to be held insufficient merely because of lack of definiteness or certainty in allegation or because of informality in statement of essential fact.	A petition is not to be held insufficient merely because of a lack of definiteness or certainty in allegation or because of informality in the statement of an essential fact.	Will a petition be held insufficient for lack of definiteness or certainty in allegation?
11717	O.S.G. by L.G. v. G.B., Jr., 805 S.W.2d 704, 706 (Mo. Ct. App. 1991)	4	In deciding whether to order dismissal for failure to prosecute, trial court may consider not only the length of the delay but attendant circumstances.	In deciding whether to order dismissal for failure to prosecute, a trial court may consider not only the length of delay, but attendant circumstances.	What should the court consider in determining whether to dismiss for want of prosecution?
11720	Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co., 374 F.3d 797, 800 (9th Cir. 2004)	2	Where a defendant moves to dismiss a complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction, plaintiff bears burden of demonstrating that jurisdiction is appropriate.	Where a defendant moves to dismiss a complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction, the plaintiff bears the burden of demonstrating that jurisdiction is appropriate.	"When a defendant supports its motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction with affidavits, is the burden on a plaintiff to make a prima facie showing of personal jurisdiction over a defendant?"

11721	Berman v. Griggs, 145 Me. 258, 262–63 (Me. 1950)	2	Attorney within scope of authority represents client, and his acts of omission as well as of commission are regarded as acts of party he represents.	An attorney within the scope of his authority represents his client. His acts of omission, as well as commission, are to be regarded as the acts of the *263 party he represents.	Do attorneys acts of omission and commission regard as acts of the party he represents?
11728	Roberts v. Clark, 188 S.W.3d 204, 213 (Tex. App. 2002)	24	"Estoppel" is defined in general as conduct which causes the other party to materially alter his position in reliance on that conduct.	Estoppel is defined in general as conduct which causes the other party to materially alter his position in reliance on that conduct.	Is estoppel defined as conduct which causes the party to materially alter his position in reliance on that conduct?
11729	Klaas v. Haueter, 49 Wash. App. 697, 700 (1987)	1	Signatures of both spouses are required to transfer community real property; joinder requirement extends to agreement to list community real property for sale with broker.	Generally, the signatures of both spouses are required to transfer community real property. 2 The joinder requirement extends to an agreement to list community real property for sale with a broker.	Does the law require joinder of both spouses for contracts to convey or transfer community property?
11733	St. Clair Area Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. v. E.I. Assocs., 733 A.2d 677, 681 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1999)	4	A grant of a judgment of non pros is based on the equitable principle of laches and not upon a statute of limitations.	A grant of a judgment of non pros, however, is based on the equitable principle of laches and not upon a statute of limitations.	"Is granting of non pros. founded on equitable principle of laches, and not statute of limitations?"
11734	Olson v. Accessory Controls & Equip. Corp., 54 Conn. App. 506, 515 (Conn. App. Ct. 1999)	4	Motion to dismiss admits all facts well-pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	"A motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	"In addition to admitting all facts well pleaded, does a motion to dismiss invoke any record that accompanies the motion?"
11739	Bethesda Lutheran Church v. Twin City Const. Co., 356 N.W.2d 344, 349 (Minn. Ct. App. 1984)	9	Equitable estoppel is a doctrine designed to prevent a party from taking unconscionable advantage of its own actions.	Equitable estoppel is a doctrine designed to prevent a party from taking unconscionable advantage of his own actions.	Is equitable estoppel designed to prevent a party from taking unconscionable advantage of his own actions?
11742	Olson v. Accessory Controls & Equipment Corp., 54 Conn. App. 506, 515 (Conn. App. Ct. 1999)	4	Motion to dismiss admits all facts well-pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	"A motion to dismiss admits all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies the motion, including supporting affidavits that contain undisputed facts.	Does a motion to dismiss admit all facts well pleaded and invokes any record that accompanies a motion?
11743	Atkins v. Jester, 309 S.W.3d 418, 426 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	15	A dismissal without prejudice for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted can be tantamount to a determination that the plaintiff has no cause of action and can result in a final, appealable judgment.	Assuming for the moment that the certification of a judgment as final for purposes of appeal pursuant to Rule 74.01(b) does not overcome the presumption that a dismissal otherwise silent on the issue is deemed a dismissal without prejudice, "a dismissal without prejudice for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted can be tantamount to a determination that the plaintiff has no cause of action and can result in a final, appealable judgment."	"Does the dismissal without prejudice for failure of the petition to state a claim, when the party elects not to plead further, amount to a determination that the plaintiff has no action?"

11744	Univ. of Texas at El Paso v. Herrera, 281 S.W.3d 575, 578 (Tex. App. 2008), rev'd, 322 S.W.3d 192 (Tex. 2010)	1	When a lawsuit is barred by sovereign immunity, the trial court lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, and dismissal with prejudice is proper.	When a lawsuit is barred by sovereign immunity, the trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, and dismissal with prejudice is proper.	Is a dismissal with prejudice appropriate when trial court lacks subject matter jurisdiction because of a sovereign immunity bar?
11748	State v. Gerard, 627 So. 2d 174, 176 (La. 1993)	1	Date and time are not essential elements of burglary, and bill of information charging that offense occurred "on or about" a certain date is valid, especially when a date reasonably near is established.	Date and time are not essential elements of burglary, and a bill of information charging that the offense occurred "on or about" a certain date is valid, State v. Guillot, 200 La. 935, 9 So.2d 235 (1942), especially when a date "reasonably near is established."	Is time an element of burglary?
11752	Clear Channel Outdoor v. Mayor & City Council of Baltimore, 153 F. Supp. 3d 865, 870 (D. Md. 2015)	10	The "classic tax" is imposed by the legislature upon a large segment of society, and is spent to benefit the community at large.	"The 'classic tax' is imposed by the legislature upon a large segment of society, and is spent to benefit the community at large."	Is a classic tax imposed by the legislature upon a large segment of society?
11754	Cockrell v. Taylor, 347 Mo. 1, 11 (Mo. 1940)	10	While "endorsement of note" must be made by written signature on back of instrument itself, "assignment of note or mortgage" may be by separate instrument, or even by parol.	While an endorsement must be made by written signature on the back of the instrument itself, an assignment of a note or mortgage may be by separate instrument or even by parol.	Can the assignment of a note or mortgage be made by parol?
11761	Reilly v. Reid, 45 N.Y.2d 24, 28, 379 N.E.2d 172, 175 (1978)	4	Considerations of judicial economy as well as fairness to parties mandate, at some point, an end to litigation, and afterthoughts or after discoveries, however understandable and morally forgivable, are generally not enough to create a right to litigate anew.	Considerations of judicial economy as well as fairness to the parties mandate, at some point, an end to litigation. Afterthoughts or after discoveries however understandable and morally forgivable are generally not enough to create a right to litigate anew.	Does the considerations of judicial economy as well as fairness to the parties mandate an end to litigation?
11763	Keim v. Kalbfleisch, 57 Ill.App.3d 621, 624 (Ill.App. 5 Dist., 1978)	5	A dismissal "with prejudice" is as conclusive of rights of parties as if suit had been prosecuted to a final adjudication adverse to plaintiffs.	Furthermore, a dismissal "with prejudice" is as conclusive of the rights of the parties as if the suit had been prosecuted to a final adjudication adverse to the plaintiff.	Is dismissal with prejudice deemed to be as conclusive of rights of parties as if a matter had proceeded to trial and been resolved by final judgment adverse to a plaintiff?
11780	In re NetBank, 459 B.R. 801, 816 (M.D. Fla. 2010)	6	Essential characteristic of agency relationship is that agent acts subject to principal's direction and control.	An essential characteristic of an agency relationship is that the agent acts subject to the principal's direction and control.	Is it an essential characteristic of agency relationship that the agent acts are subject to principal's control?
11783	State v. Commercial Loan Co., 251 Ala. 672, 675 (1948)	4	The word "tax", unless expressly defined, is inclusive of both levies for revenue purposes and levies for regulatory purposes, and thus license fees are commonly called taxes, though strictly speaking they may be a charge or fee rather than a tax.	The foregoing Alabama authorities demonstrate that the word tax, unless expressly defined, is inclusive of both levies for revenue purposes and levies for regulatory 574 purposes. In other words license fees are commonly called taxes even though strictly speaking they may be a charge or fee rather than a tax.	"Without expressly defined, can the word tax be inclusive of both levies for revenue purposes and levies for regulatory purposes?"

11792	Rankin v. Colman, 476 So. 2d 234, 238 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1985)	8	Where an affirmative defense appears on face of a pleading, it may be argued as basis for motion to dismiss.	Although the defense of sovereign immunity is an affirmative defense, where an affirmative defense appears on the face of a pleading, it may be argued as a basis for a motion to dismiss.	Can an affirmative defense that appears on face of a pleading be argued as basis for motion to dismiss?
11794	Whitfield v. Whitfield, 161 So. 2d 256, 258 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1964)	3	Affirmative defenses should be pleaded in answer to complaint and are not properly presented for trial on hearing on motion to dismiss.	Affirmative defenses should be pleaded in answer to a complaint, and are not properly presented for trial on a hearing on motion to dismiss.	Are affirmative defenses properly presented for trial on hearing on motion to dismiss?
11796	Murray v. Fleischaker, 949 S.W.2d 203, 205 (Mo. Ct. App. 1997)	4	For affirmative defense to be sustained merely upon motion to dismiss, defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiffs' pleadings.	For an affirmative defense to be sustained merely upon a motion to dismiss, the defense must be irrefutably established by plaintiffs' pleadings.	Will a motion to dismiss be sustained if the defense is irrefutably established by the pleadings?
11802	In re Hughes, 513 S.W.3d 28. 34 (Tex. App. 2016)	12	For an agency relationship to exist, there must be (1) a meeting of the minds between the parties to establish the relationship, and (2) some act constituting the appointment of the agent.	For an agency relationship to exist, there must be (1) a meeting of the minds between the parties to establish the relationship, and (2) some act constituting the appointment of the agent.	Should there be some act constituting the appointment of an agent for an agency relationship to exist?
11807	League of United Latin Am. Citizens v. Wilson, 908 F. Supp. 755, 768 (C.D. Cal. 1995)	11	Since power to regulate immigration is unquestionably exclusively federal power, any state statute which regulates immigration is constitutionally proscribed.	Since the "[p]ower to regulate immigration is unquestionably exclusively a federal power," id. at 354, 96 S.Ct. at 936, any state statute which regulates immigration is "constitutionally proscribed." Id.	Are state statutes that regulate immigration per se preempted because of the exclusivity of federal power to regulate in this area under the United States Constitution?
11808	I.N.S. v. Lopez-Mendoza, 468 U.S. 1032, 1038 (1984)	3	Consistent with civil nature of a deportation proceeding, various protections that apply in context of a criminal trial do not apply in a deportation hearing.	Consistent with the civil nature of a deportation proceeding, various protections that apply in the context of a criminal trial do not apply in a deportation hearing.	Do protections which apply in the context of a criminal trial apply in a deportation hearing?
11812	Schafer v. City of Los Angeles, 237 Cal. App. 4th 1250, 1263 (Cal. Ct. App. 2015)	10	Estoppel can be invoked in the land use context in only the most extraordinary case where the injustice is great and the precedent set by the estoppel is narrow.	Accordingly, estoppel can be invoked in the land use context in only 'the most extraordinary case where the injustice is great and the precedent set by the estoppel is narrow.'	Can estoppel be invoked in the land use context only in the most extraordinary case?
11813	Burton v. Nat'l Bank of Commerce of Dallas, 679 S.W.2d 115, 117(Tex. App. 1984)	3	Waiver is a unilateral act performed solely by a party in whom a legally enforceable right exists; estoppel arises when his adversary acts in accordance therewith, to his detriment.	Waiver is a unilateral act performed solely by a party in whom a legally enforceable right exists; estoppel arises when his adversary acts in accordance therewith, to his detriment.	Is waiver a unilateral act?
11814	Greater Wilmington Transp. Auth. v. Kline, 285 A.2d 819, 822 (Del. 1971)	2	Granting of franchises to operate a public utility is an exercise of legislative function of the sovereign, which may be delegated by statute to a duly designated agency or commission.	The granting of franchises to operate a public utility is an exercise of the legislative function of the sovereign, which may be delegated by statute to a duly designated agency or commission.	Is granting of a franchise a legislative act?

11819	McCoy v. Martinez, 480 S.W.3d 420, 424 (E.D. Mo. 2016)	7	Dismissal based on an affirmative defense may be appropriate if the petition clearly establishes on its face and without exception that the claim is barred.	Dismissal based on an affirmative defense may be appropriate if the petition clearly establishes "on its face and without exception" that the claim is barred.	When can a dismissal based on an affirmative defense be considered appropriate?
11822	Licking v. Hays Lumber Co., 146 Neb. 240, 243 (1945)	2	An excise tax, using the term in its broad meaning as opposed to a property tax, includes taxes sometimes designated by statute as privilege taxes, license taxes, occupation taxes, and business taxes.	An excise tax, using the term in its broad meaning as opposed to a property tax, includes taxes sometimes designated by statute or referred to as privilege taxes, license taxes, occupation taxes, and business taxes.'	"Are occupation taxes and sales taxes ""excise taxes?"
11823	Anthony v. City of Omaha, 283 Neb. 868, 877 (Neb. 2012)	7	A "sales tax" is a tax upon the sale, lease, rental, use, storage, distribution, or other consumption of all tangible personal property in the chain of commerce.	A sales tax, on the other hand, is a tax upon the sale, lease, rental, use, storage, distribution, or other consumption of all tangible personal property in the chain of commerce.	"Is a ""sales tax"" a tax on the sale of tangible personal property?"
11825	Com. v. Elliffe, 47 Mass. App. Ct. 580, 582 (Mass. App. Ct. 1999)	3	Elements of threatening a crime include an expression of intention to inflict a crime on another and an ability to do so in circumstances that would justify apprehension on the part of the recipient of the threat.	"The elements of threatening a crime include an expression of intention to inflict a crime on another and an ability to do so in circumstances that would justify apprehension on the part of the recipient of the threat."	What are the elements of threatening a crime?
11829	United States v. Lemons, 67 F. Supp. 985, 988 (W.D. Mo. 1946)	5	The law of the state in which a check or negotiable instrument is executed determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	The law of the state in which a check, or negotiable instrument, is executed, determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	Which law determines the formal and essential validity of a check?
11832	Nat'l Life Real Est. Holdings, LLC v. Scarlato, 2017 IL App (1st) 161943, ¶ 42, 83 N.E.3d 44, 58	14	Waiver arises from an affirmative act, is consensual, and consists of an intentional relinquishment of a known right; conversely, forfeiture is the failure to make the timely assertion of the right.	[W]aiver arises from an affirmative act, is consensual, and consists of an intentional relinquishment of a known right." (Internal quotation marks omitted.) Gallagher v. Lenart, 226 Ill. 2d 208, 229, 314 Ill.Dec. 133, 874 N.E.2d 43 (2007). Conversely, forfeiture is the "failure to make the timely assertion of the right."	Does waiver arise from an affirmative act?
11834	Burtchell v. Willey, 147 Me. 339, 344 (Me. 1952)	19	One driving an automobile in heavy fog has the right to proceed at a reasonable speed consistent with the existing conditions.	The driver of an automobile passing through 662 fog has the right to proceed at a reasonable speed, consistent with the existing conditions.	Will the driver of an automobile in heavy fog be held liable for negligence if he proceeds at a reasonable speed consistent with the existing conditions?

11835	State v. Muolo, 119 Conn. 323, 326 (1935)	1	Abutting owner is presumed, in absence of contrary evidence, to own fee to center of highway, subject to an easement for public travel and such uses as are incident thereto.	Under the law of this state, the owner of land abutting upon a highway is presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to own the fee of the land to the center of the highway; the highway is but an easement for public travel and such uses as are incident thereto.	Does an abutting owner have all the rights incompatible with a public easement?
11839	Phillips v. Bradshaw, 859 S.W.2d 232, 234 (Mo. Ct. App. 1993)	3	Pleading which states no cause of action confers no subject matter jurisdiction on court and is subject to dismissal.	A pleading which states no cause of action confers no subject matter jurisdiction on a court and is subject to dismissal.	Can a pleading which states no cause of action confer subject matter jurisdiction on a court?
11840	St. Louis Univ. v. Hesselberg Drug Co., 35 S.W.3d 451, 454 (Mo. Ct. App. 2001)	4	Sustaining a motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense requires that the defense be irrefutably established by the pleadings.	Sustaining a motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense requires that the defense be irrefutably established by the pleadings.	Would a motion to dismiss be sustained based on an affirmative defense which requires that the defense be established by the pleadings?
11843	Villarreal v. San Antonio Truck & Equip., 974 S.W.2d 275	1	In addition to the trial court's authority to dismiss a case for want of prosecution provided by the rules of civil procedure, the common law vests the trial court with the inherent power to dismiss independently of the rules of procedure when a plaintiff fails to prosecute his or her case with due diligence. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 165a.	The trial court's authority to dismiss for want of prosecution stems from two sources: (1) Rule 165a of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, and (2) the court's inherent power. See Veterans' Land Bd. v. Williams, 543 S.W.2d 89, 90 (Tex.1976); Bevil v. Johnson, 157 Tex. 621, 307 S.W.2d 85, 87 (1957). A trial court may dismiss under Rule 165a on "failure of any party seeking affirmative relief to appear for any hearing or trial of which the party had notice," TEX.R. CIV. P. 165a(1), or when a case is "not disposed of within the time standards promulgated by the Supreme Court...." TEX.R. CIV. P. 165a(2).3 In addition, the common law vests the trial court with the inherent power to dismiss independently of the rules of procedure when a plaintiff fails to prosecute his or her case with due diligence. See Rizk v. Mayad, 603 S.W.2d 773, 776 (Tex.1980); Williams, 543 S.W.2d at 90.	Does a court have inherent power to dismiss a case for want of prosecution?
11851	Wood v. Phillips, 823 So. 2d 648, 653 (Ala. 2001)	6	There is no settled test for determining the existence of a partnership; that determination is made by reviewing all the attendant circumstances, including the right to manage and control the business.	"There is no settled test for determining the existence of a partnership. That determination is made by reviewing all the attendant circumstances, including the right to manage and control the business." Vance v. Huff, 568 So.2d 745, 748 (Ala.1990).	Can the existence of a partnership be determined by all the attendant circumstances?

11853	Am. Tel. & Tel. Co. v. Days Inn of Winona, 720 So. 2d 178, 180 (Miss.,1998)	1	Power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution is part of a trial court's inherent authority; this power is a means necessary to the orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket.	"[T]he power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution is part of a trial court's inherent authority." Wallace v. Jones, 572 So.2d 371, 375 (Miss.1990). This power is "a means necessary to the orderly expedition of justice and the court's control of its own docket."	Is the power to dismiss an action for want of prosecution a part of a court's inherent authority?
11855	Miller Bros. Co. v. State of Md., 347 U.S. 340, 342-43, 74 S. Ct. 535, 537-38, 98 L. Ed. 744 (1954)	5	Visible territorial boundaries do not always establish the limits of a state's taxing power or jurisdiction, and if there is some jurisdictional fact or event to serve as a conductor, the reach of the state's taxing power may be carried to objects of taxation beyond its borders.	But visible territorial boundaries do not always establish the limits of a state's taxing power or jurisdiction. In the last twenty years, revenue needs have come to exceed the demands that legislatures feel it expedient to make upon accumulated wealth or property with fixed location within the state. The states therefore have turned to taxing activities connected with the movement 538 *343 of commerce, such as exchange and consumption. If there is some jurisdictional fact or event to serve as a conductor, the reach of the state's taxing power may be carried to objects of taxation beyond its borders.	Do visible territorial boundaries establish the limits of a state's taxing power or jurisdiction?
11857	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 459-60 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	5	Every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially original contract, equivalent to new note or bill in favor of holder, and accommodation paper is governed by same rules as other paper.	It is settled in Louisiana that every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially an *460 original contract, equivalent to a new note or bill in favor of the holder and that accommodation paper is governed by the same rules as other paper.	Is an endorsement considered an original contract?
11859	Gutierrez v. Williams, 60 A.D.2d 827, 827, 401 N.Y.S.2d 229, 229 (1978)	1	Affidavit of merit must allege evidentiary facts which establish a viable cause of action.	An affidavit of merit must allege evidentiary facts which establish a viable cause of action and here we have no such affidavit by which the court may evaluate the nature of the condition complained of, the negligence attributable to defendants, how the accident happened and the relationship of the parties.	Should an affidavit of merit allege evidentiary facts which establish a viable cause of action?

11863	United States v. Perry, 55 F.2d 819, 821 (8th Cir. 1932)	5	"Total disability," as applied to war risk insurance, does not mean incapacity to do any work, and question is not whether insured works, but whether he is able to carry on gainful occupation.	They have practically unanimously held that 'total disability,' as the term is used with reference to these war risk insurance cases, does not mean incapacity to work at all. The question is, not whether the party works, but whether he is able to carry on a gainful occupation.	Does the term total and permanent disability mean that there is proof of absolute incapacity to do any work at all?
11873	United States v. Watson, 189 F.3d 496, 502(7th Cir. 1999)	6	Sentencing enhancements do not punish a defendant for crimes of which he was not convicted, but rather increase his sentence because of the manner in which he committed the crime of conviction; for this reason, a sentencing court may consider conduct of which a defendant has been acquitted as long as that conduct has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence.	As the Supreme Court explained in Watts, "sentencing enhancements do not punish a defendant for crimes of which he was not convicted, but rather increase his sentence because of the manner in which he committed the crime of conviction." Id. at 154, 117 S.Ct. 633. For this reason, a sentencing court may consider conduct of which a defendant has been acquitted as long as that conduct has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence.	Do sentencing enhancements increase defendant sentence because of manner in which he committed crime of conviction?
11876	State Farm Ins. Co. v. Lofstad, 278 A.D.2d 224, 225, 717 N.Y.S.2d 287, 288 (2000)	2	Innocent misleading of another party may estop one from claiming the benefits of his or her deception.	An innocent misleading of another party may estop one from claiming the benefits of his or her deception (see, Bucon, Inc. v. Pennsylvania Mfg. Assn. Ins. Co., 151 A.D.2d 207, 211, 547 N.Y.S.2d 925).	Can an innocent misleading of another party estop one from claiming the benefits of his deception?
11886	Caughman v. Columbia Y.M.C.A., 212 S.C. 337, 341 (S.C. 1948)	4	The definitions of "employer" contained in the compensation acts, or statements as to who shall be deemed employers, should be liberally construed in order to effectuate the purpose of the legislation.	Equally well settled is the rule that 'the definitions of 'employer' contained in the compensation acts, or statements as to who shall be deemed employers, should be broadly or liberally construed, in order to effectuate the purpose of the legislation.	How should the definition of employer in the compensation acts be construed?
11897	Calamari v. Drammis, 286 Ill. App. 3d 420, 435, 676 N.E.2d 281, 291 (1997)	12	Whether to allow amendment to complaint is within sound discretion of circuit court, and court does not abuse that discretion in denying party leave to amend pleading if that amendment will not cure defects in original pleading.	Whether to allow an amendment to a complaint is within the sound discretion of the circuit court. Regas v. Associated Radiologists, Ltd., 230 Ill.App.3d 959, 968, 172 Ill.Dec. 553, 595 N.E.2d 1223 (1992). The circuit court does not abuse its discretion in denying a party leave to amend a pleading if that amendment will not cure the defects in the original pleading.	Is the decision of the circuit court to grant or deny a party leave to amend its pleadings within its sound discretion?

11902	Neff v. State, 915 N.E.2d 1026, 1037 (Ind. Ct. App. 2009)	26	An acquittal is a ruling that actually represents a resolution, correct or not, of some or all of the factual elements of the offense charged.	An acquittal is a ruling that "actually represents a resolution, correct or not, of some or all of the factual elements of the offense charged."	Is an acquittal a ruling that actually represents a resolution of some or all of the factual elements of the offense charged?
11906	Campbell v. Area Vocational Tech. Sch. No. 2, 183 Neb. 318, 324 (Neb. 1968)	7	Legislature has power to provide for administration of school district by appointive rather than elective boards and to authorize such appointive board to levy taxes.	It is within the power of the Legislature to provide for the administration of school districts by appointive rather than elective boards and to authorize such an appointive board to levy taxes.	Does the legislature have power to provide for administration of school district?
11921	Maryland Cas. Co. v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co., 81 Cal. App. 4th 1082, 1088, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 374, 377 (2000)	1	"Equitable subrogation" allows an insurer who paid coverage or defense costs to be placed in the insured's position to pursue a full recovery from another insurer who was primarily responsible for the loss.	Equitable subrogation allows an insurer that paid coverage or defense costs to be placed in the insured's position to pursue a full recovery from another insurer who was primarily responsible for the loss.	What is the aim of equitable subrogation?
11922	Meas v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co., 130 Wash. App. 527, 533 (Wash. Ct. App. 2005)	4	Subrogation has two features: the right to reimbursement and the mechanism for the enforcement of that right, which may arise by operation of law, termed "legal" or "equitable" subrogation, or by contract, called "conventional" subrogation.	Subrogation has two features: the right to reimbursement and the mechanism for the enforcement of that right. The right to reimbursement may arise by operation of law, termed "legal" or "equitable" subrogation, or by contract, called "conventional" subrogation.	What are the features to subrogation?
11926	Caltabiano v. L & L Real Estate Holdings II, 128 Conn. App. 84, 90 (Conn. App. Ct. 2011)	6	If the allegations in a complaint filed subsequent to one that has been stricken are not materially different than those in the earlier, stricken complaint, the party bringing the subsequent complaint cannot be heard to appeal from the action of the trial court striking the subsequent complaint.	Furthermore, if the allegations in a complaint filed subsequent to one that has been stricken are not materially different than those in the earlier, stricken complaint, the party bringing the subsequent complaint cannot be heard to appeal from the action of the trial court striking the subsequent complaint.	What are the options available to the plaintiff after a grant of motion to strike by the court?
11927	Moore v. Serafin, 163 Conn. 1, 6 (Conn. 1972)	1	The granting of injunctive relief in each case is within sound discretion of trial court exercised according to recognized principles of equity.	The granting of injunctive relief in each case is within the sound discretion of the trial court exercised according to recognized principles of equity.	Should an injunction ordinarily issued in the sound discretion of the court be granted on the basis of the situation as it exists at the time of trial?
11930	Conte v. Conte, 45 Conn. App. 235, 236 (Conn.App.,1997)	5	Where nonparty is aggrieved by ruling made in the context of ongoing action, that person's remedy is by writ of error rather than by appeal.	The appeal with respect to the last issue is dismissed because the attorney is not a party to this action and, "where a nonparty is aggrieved by a ruling made in the context of an ongoing action, that person's remedy is by writ of error rather than by appeal.	What remedy is available to a nonparty who is aggrieved by a ruling made in context of an ongoing action?
11939	Hungerford v. Greate Bay Casino Corp., 213 N.J. Super. 398, 404 (App. Div. 1986)	5	Requests for admissions may not be used as tactical device to trap unwary pro se litigants.	Requests for admissions should not be used as a tactical device to trap unwary pro se litigants.	May requests for admissions not be used as a tactical device to trap unwary pro se litigants?

11947	United States v. Ruiz, 59 F.3d 1151, 1154(11th Cir. 1995)	1	Criminal defendant has right to have jury instructed on her theory of defense, separate and apart from instructions given on elements of charged offense.	A criminal defendant has the right to have the jury instructed on her theory of defense, separate and apart from instructions given on the elements of the charged offense.	Does a defendant have the right to a theory of defense that explains their intent to be included in bribery jury instruction?
11962	Am. Sterling Bank v. Johnny Mgmt. LV, 126 Nev. 423, 428 (2010)	6	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy that requires a court to balance the equities based on the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	However, equitable subrogation is also an equitable remedy that requires the court to balance the equities based on the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	"As with any equitable remedy, should the court consider the facts and circumstances of each particular case?"
11964	Muller Fuel Oil Co. v. Ins. Co. of N. Am., 95 N.J. Super. 564, 576 (App. Div. 1967)	10	The essence of an action for malicious prosecution is that the proceeding was instituted without probable cause, that the complainant was actuated by a malicious motive in making the charge.	The Essence of an action for malicious prosecution is that the proceeding was instituted without probable cause, that the complainant was actuated by a malicious motive in making the charge.'	What is the essence of a cause of action for malicious prosecution?
11965	DuBray v. Warner Bros. Recs., 236 A.D.2d 312, 314, 653 N.Y.S.2d 592, 594 (1997)	2	Motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent order of court or to enable plaintiffs to do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly.	It is also true, however, that a motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent an order of the court (Schultz v. Kobus, 15 A.D.2d 382, 384, 224 N.Y.S.2d 372), or to enable plaintiffs to "do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly" (Katz v. Austin, 271 App.Div. 217, 218, 62 N.Y.S.2d 912, lv denied 271 App.Div. 773, 64 N.Y.S.2d 926; but see, De Laurentis v. Bercowitz, 27 A.D.2d 869, 277 N.Y.S.2d 728).	Can motions for discontinuance be used to enable plaintiffs to do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly?
11967	Bank of Am., N.A. v. Ping, 879 N.E.2d 665, 671 (Ind.App.,2008)	20	Ultimately, the key to subrogation is an equitable result that depends on the attending facts and circumstances of each case.	Ultimately, "[t]he key to subrogation ... is an equitable result" that depends on the "attending facts and circumstances of each case."	Is the key to subrogation an equitable result that depends on the attending facts and circumstances of each case?
11968	In re Hirsch Elec. Co., 461 B.R. 167, 173 (E.D.N.Y. 2011)	3	Under New York law, agency relationship can be either express or implied and can be established by conduct of parties, or by written or oral agreement.	Under New York law, an agency relationship can be either express or implied and can be established by the conduct of the parties, or by written or oral agreement.	Can an agency relationship be implied by the conduct of parties?
11969	Dade Cty. Sch. Bd. v. Radio Station WQBA, 731 So. 2d 638, 646 (Fla. 1999)	15	Doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	Is equitable or legal subrogation created by a contract or by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties?
11972	Houston v. Bank of Am. Fed. Sav. Bank, 119 Nev. 485, 490 (2003)	5	"Equitable subrogation" is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Is equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an earned windfall at the expense of another?
11974	Albert J. Hoppe v. St. Louis Pub. Serv. Co., 361 Mo. 402, 406 (Mo. 1951)	7	Reasonable notice to parties whose interests are at stake in a contemplated order is a prerequisite to lawful exercise of court's power.	Reasonable notice to parties whose interests are at stake in a contemplated order is a prerequisite to the lawful exercise of the court's power.	What is a prerequisite to the lawful exercise of the courts power?

11976	Sims v. Clarendon Nat. Ins. Co., 336 F. Supp. 2d 1311, 1318 (S.D. Fla. 2004)	7	Federal law recognizes judicial proceedings and arbitration proceedings as separate, albeit equally important, fora for adjudicating claims.	Admittedly, federal law recognizes judicial proceedings and arbitration proceedings as separate, albeit equally important, fora for adjudicating claims.	Is there any difference between judicial proceedings and arbitration proceedings under Federal law?
11978	Illinois Tool Works, Inc. v. Com. & Indus. Ins. Co., 2011 IL App (1st) 093084, ¶ 20, 962 N.E.2d 1042, 1048	15	As with all contracts, a valid assignment requires proof of intent to make the assignment and manifestation of that intent and the assignor must have either actually or potentially the thing he attempts to assign.	As with all contracts, a valid assignment requires proof of intent to make the assignment and manifestation of that intent and the assignor must have “ ‘either actually or potentially the thing he attempts to assign.’ ” Cincinnati Insurance Co., 387 Ill.App.3d at 100, 325 Ill.Dec. 483, 898 N.E.2d 216 (quoting Owens v. McDermott, Will & Emery, 316 Ill.App.3d 340, 350, 249 Ill.Dec. 303, 736 N.E.2d 145 (2000)).	Does the occurrence of an assignment depend upon proof of intent?
11993	Mortensen v. Stewart Title Guar. Co., 149 Idaho 437, 444 (Idaho 2010)	16	Pleading is necessary to put the opposing party on notice of the claims it is facing and thereby insure that a just result is accomplished.	Pleading is necessary to put the opposing party on notice of the claims it is facing and thereby “insure that a just result is accomplished.”	Do pleadings put the opposing party on notice of the claims?
11994	Major Millworks v. MAE Hardwoods, 187 So. 3d 714, 723 (Ala. Civ. App. 2015)	13	A trial court may not order one party to pay another party's attorneys fees without first receiving evidence of the amount of those fees and then determining the reasonableness of that amount.	“[A] trial court may not order one party to pay another party's attorney's fees without first receiving evidence of the amount of those fees and then determining the reasonableness of that amount.” A.B.	Are statements of a counsel in a pleading evidence?
12007	Aronson v. Creditrust Corp., 7 F. Supp. 2d 589, 593 (W.D. Pa. 1998)	10	Term “special harm,” in context of alleging claim for defamation under Pennsylvania law, requires that plaintiff allege direct economic or pecuniary injury.	The term “special harm,” in the context of alleging a claim for defamation under Pennsylvania law, requires that the plaintiff allege a direct economic or pecuniary injury.	What is economic or pecuniary loss in defamation?
12021	In re Bub, 528 B.R. 555, 559 (E.D.N.Y. 2015)	2	Under New York case law, title to motor vehicle is transferred when the parties intend such a transfer to occur.	Under New York case, law, title to a motor vehicle is transferred when the parties intend such transfer to occur.	Does the title to motor vehicle get transferred when the parties intend such a transfer to occur?
12024	In re Pearl Companies, 435 B.R. 742, 744 (S.D. Fla. 2010)	2	Bankruptcy courts should enforce arbitration agreements, even in core matters, so long as they do not conflict with the underlying purposes of the Bankruptcy Code.	Bankruptcy courts should enforce arbitration agreements (even in core matters) so long as they do not conflict with the underlying purposes of the Bankruptcy Code.	Can arbitration agreements be enforced in bankruptcy courts?
12025	Atterburg v. Anchor Motor Freight, 425 F. Supp. 841, 844 (D.C.N.J. 1977)	5	Although arbitration is a matter of contract, the agreement to arbitrate a particular issue need not be express; it may be implied from conduct of parties.	Although arbitration is a matter of contract, “(the) agreement to arbitrate a particular issue need not be express it may be implied from the conduct of the parties”.	Can an agreement to arbitrate a particular issue be implied?
12026	Lee v. Bankers Tr. Co., 166 F.3d 540, 545 (2d Cir. 1999)	14	Under New York choice-of-law rules in defamation cases, the state of the plaintiff's domicile will usually have the most significant relationship to the case, and its law will therefore govern.	Under New York choice-of-law rules in defamation cases “the state of the plaintiff's domicile will usually have the most significant relationship to the case,” and its law will therefore govern.	What is the choice of law rule in defamation law?

12028	Swinomish Indian Tribal Cmty. v. BNSF Ry. Co., 228 F. Supp. 3d 1171, 1180 (W.D. Wash. 2017)	10	When construing statutes that touch on Indian law, special principles of construction apply that are rooted in the unique trust relationship between the United States and the Indians.	When construing statutes that touch on Indian law, special principles of construction apply that “are rooted in the unique trust relationship between the United States and the Indians.”	How do courts construe statutes with regard to Indian tribes?
12029	United States v. Tarbell, 242 F. Supp. 3d 200, 205 (W.D.N.Y. 2017)	5	In the absence of a clear expression to the contrary, general acts of Congress apply to Indians, like all other citizens.	“In the absence of a clear expression to the contrary, general acts of Congress apply to Indians, like all other citizens.	Do the general acts of Congress apply to Indians like other citizens?
12034	Boylston Hous. Corp. v. O’Toole, 321 Mass. 538, 549 (Mass. 1947)	10	Every person has a right to dispose of his own labor as he wishes, and to work for whom he pleases, and he may refuse to work with another because that person is distasteful to him, or for any other reason.	“Every person has a legal right to dispose of his own labor as he wishes, and to work for whom he pleases. He may refuse to work with another because that person is distasteful to him, or for any other reason.	Does a person have a legal right to dispose of his own labor as he wishes?
12036	Jackson ex rel. Jackson v. Reid, 363 Ill. App. 3d 271, 275 (Ill. App. Ct. 2006)	3	Statutes relating to venue reflect a legislative determination that a party should not be required to defend an action in a county that has little or no relation to the party or the transaction that is the subject of the suit.	“Statutes relating to venue reflect a legislative determination that a party should not be required to defend an action in a county that has little or no relation to the party or the transaction that is the subject of the suit.” (Emphasis added.) Johnson v.	What is the legislative intent behind the venue statute?
12050	Angio-Med. Corp. v. Eli Lilly & Co., 720 F. Supp. 269, 274 (S.D.N.Y. 1989)	10	Trade libel or product disparagement is action to recover for words or conduct which tend to disparage or negatively reflect upon condition, value or quality of product or property.	Trade libel or product disparagement is an action to recover for words or conduct which tend to disparage or negatively reflect upon the condition, value or quality of a product or property.	What is trade libel?
12051	Exelon Corp. v. Dep’t of Revenue, 234 Ill. 2d 266, 281, 917 N.E.2d 899, 909 (2009)	26	An electric utility company is not a purely manufacturing or mercantile company; rather, it belongs to that unique class of corporations known as public utilities.	An electric utility company is not a purely manufacturing or mercantile company. Rather, it belongs to that unique class of corporations known as public utilities.	Is an electric utility company a manufacturing or mercantile company?
12064	Richardson v. Big Indian Creek Watershed Conservancy Dist. of Gage & Jefferson Ctys., 181 Neb. 776, 779–80 (1967)	1	Benefits resulting from public improvement where property is taken by condemnation are of two kinds, special and general.	Benefits resulting from public improvements where property is taken by condemnation are of two kinds, special and general.	How are benefits resulting from public improvements where property is taken by condemnation classified?
12073	Datatrans Corp. v. Wells Fargo & Co., 522 F.3d 1368, 1372 (Fed. Cir. 2008)	6	Federal policy favoring arbitration does not apply to the determination of whether there is a valid agreement to arbitrate between the parties; instead, ordinary contract principles determine who is bound.	“[F]ederal policy favoring arbitration does not apply to the determination of whether there is a valid agreement to arbitrate between the parties; instead ordinary contract principles determine who is bound.” Id.	How do courts determine the validity of an agreement to arbitrate?

12074	Smith v. Commonwealth, 220 Va. 696, 702–03, 261 S.E.2d 550, 554 (1980)	5	While the motive is not an essential element of the crime of murder, the motive is usually an element relevant to establish intent when a conviction is based primarily on circumstantial evidence; "motive" is defined as "Cause or reason that moves the will and induces action. An inducement, or that which leads or tempts the mind to indulge a criminal act".	While motive is not an essential element of the crime of murder, "(m)otive is usually an element relevant to establish intent when a conviction is based primarily on circumstantial evidence." Ward v. Commonwealth, 205 Va. 564, 570, 138 S.E.2d 293, 297 (1964). If we accept the uncontradicted testimony of the Secret Service Agent as to *703 Smith's own statement, Smith harbored a motive for Patricia's murder. Motive is defined in Black's Law Dictionary 914 (5th ed. 1979) as: "Cause or reason that moves the will and induces action. An inducement, or that which leads or tempts the mind to indulge a criminal act."	Is motive an essential element of murder?
12076	Calop Bus. Sys. v. City of Los Angeles, 984 F. Supp. 2d 981, 1009 (C.D. Cal. 2013)	35	Preemption of employment standards within the traditional police power of the State should not be lightly inferred.	The Supreme Court has cautioned that "[p]re-emption of employment standards 'within the traditional police power of the State' 'should not be lightly inferred.' "	Is pre-emption of employment standards within the traditional police power of the state that should not be lightly inferred?
12080	Ali v. Dist. Dir., 209 F. Supp. 3d 1268, 1273 (S.D. Fla. 2016)	4	The determination of whether a person has diplomatic immunity is a mixed question of fact and law.	"The determination of whether a person has diplomatic immunity is a mixed question of fact and law."	Is the determination of whether a person has diplomatic immunity a mixed question of fact and law?
12082	Beroth Oil Co. v. Whiteheart, 173 N.C. App. 89, 99 (N.C. Ct. App. 2005)	21	Want of probable cause may not be inferred from malice for purposes of determining whether there is a cause of action for malicious prosecution but malice may be inferred from want of probable cause.	Want of probable cause may not be inferred from malice for purposes of determining whether there is a cause of action for malicious prosecution but malice may be inferred from want of probable cause.	Can lack of probable cause be inferred from malice in a malicious prosecution claim?
12085	United States v. Archer, 51 F. Supp. 708, 709(S.D. Cal. 1943)	5	The United States has authority to confer on a consul, within limits of consulate or embassy, power to administer oath, and, to extent of such power, consul becomes a magistrate.	Therefore, the United States has authority to confer upon a consul, within the limits of the consulate or embassy, the power to administer an oath. To the extent of such power, the consul becomes a magistrate.	Does the United States have the authority to confer on a counsel the power to administer oaths?
12093	First Citizens Bank & Tr. Co. v. Harrison, 181 Wash. App. 595, 602 (Wash.App. Div. 2, 2014)	11	Statutes passed for the benefit of dependent Indian tribes are to be liberally construed, doubtful expressions being resolved in favor of the Indians.	Second, " 'statutes passed for the benefit of dependent Indian tribes ... are to be liberally construed, doubtful expressions being resolved in favor of the Indians.' "	Will the courts construe the statutes liberally in favor of the Indians Tribes?

12095	Barrett Mobile Home Transp. v. McGugin, 530 So. 2d 730, 733 (Ala. 1988)	1	A malicious prosecution action does not accrue until time for filing notice of appeal in underlying case has expired, and, if appeal is taken, action for malicious prosecution will not accrue until appeal has been finally decided.	We hold that a malicious prosecution action does not accrue until the time for filing a notice of appeal in the underlying case has expired; and, if an appeal is taken, the action for malicious prosecution will not accrue until the appeal has been finally decided.	When does a cause of action for malicious prosecution accrue?
12097	Chadron Energy Corp. v. First Nat. Bank of Omaha, 236 Neb. 173, 194 (Neb., 1990)	38	Doctrine of subrogation includes every instance in which one person pays debt for which another is primarily liable and which in equity and good conscience should have been discharged by the latter, so long as payment was made under compulsion or for protection of some interest of one making payment and in discharge of existing liability.	The doctrine of subrogation includes every instance in which one person pays a debt for which another is primarily liable, and which in equity and good conscience should have been discharged by the latter, so long as the payment was made under compulsion or for the protection of some interest of the one making payment and in discharge of an existing liability.	Is equitable subrogation available when one person pays debt for which another is primarily liable?
12107	Williams v. Erie Ins. Grp., 86 Ohio App. 3d 660, 665, 621 N.E.2d 770, 773 (1993)	5	"Equitable subrogation" is essentially theory of unjust enrichment wherein insured is unjustly enriched if amount he receives from tortfeasor and his own insurance company exceeds amount of his loss and, thus, recovery may be had by insurer despite lack of proof of agreement, as insured is not prejudiced thereby.	Equitable subrogation is essentially a theory of unjust enrichment wherein the insured is unjustly enriched if the amount he receives from the tortfeasor and his own insurance company exceeds the amount of his loss. Ridge Tool Co. v. Silva (1986), 33 Ohio App.3d 260, 515 N.E.2d 945. Thus, recovery may be had by the insurer despite lack of proof of an agreement, since the insured is not prejudiced thereby.	Is unjust enrichment related to the doctrine of equitable subrogation?
12109	Kirwan v. Chicago Title Ins. Co., 9 Neb. App. 372, 388 (Neb. Ct. App. 2000)	32	Subrogation is an equitable doctrine and depends upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts.	[S]ubrogation is an equitable doctrine and depends upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts.' " Julson v.	"As an equitable principle, does subrogation depend upon a just resolution of a dispute under a particular set of facts?"
12110	Wimer v. Pennsylvania Emps. Benefit Tr. Fund, 595 Pa. 627, 644, 939 A.2d 843, 853 (2007)	8	Doctrine of subrogation is based on principles of equity and is enforced to bring about substantial justice.	In making this determination, we note by way of background that the doctrine of subrogation is based on principles of equity and is enforced to bring about substantial justice.	Is the doctrine of subrogation based on principles of equity and enforced to bring about substantial justice?
12111	Lincoln Nat'l Health & Cas. v. Mitsubishi Motor Sales, 778 So. 2d 392, 394 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2001)	3	The right to pursue a claim for equitable subrogation arises when the person discharging the obligation is under a legal duty to do so or when the person discharges the obligation to protect an interest in, or a right to, the property.	2 The right to pursue a claim for equitable subrogation "arises when the person discharging the obligation is under a legal duty to do so or when the person discharges the obligation to protect an interest in, or a right to, the property." National Union Fire Ins.	Is the purpose of equitable subrogation to prevent unjust enrichment by assuring that the person responsible for the debt ultimately answers for its discharge?

12114	Kim v. Lee, 145 Wash. 2d 79, 88 (Wash. 2001)	6	Subrogation is fundamentally an equitable concept designed to impose ultimate responsibility for a wrong or loss on the party who, in equity and good conscience, ought to bear it.	Subrogation is fundamentally an equitable concept designed "to impose ultimate responsibility for a wrong or loss on the party who, in equity and good conscience, ought to bear it."	What is the concept of Subrogation?
12115	DePuy v. Farmer, 847 N.E.2d 160, 170 (Ind. 2006)	19	The main goals of common law subrogation are to reimburse the subrogee for payments made by it, and prevent unjust enrichment of the subrogor.	The main goals of common law subrogation is to reimburse the subrogee for payments made by it, and prevent unjust enrichment of the subrogor.	What are the main goals of common law subrogation?
12116	In re Bill Heard Enterprises, 423 B.R. 771, 787 (N.D. Ala. 2010)	33	Equity rules are not absolute and competing equities must be considered in any subrogation-restitution situation; the subrogee must have clear equity, and subrogation is defeated by countervailing equities.	" 'Equity rules are not absolute and competing equities must be considered in any subrogation-restitution situation. The subrogee must have clear equity and subrogation is defeated by countervailing equities.' "	Should competing equities be considered in any subrogation-restitution situation?
12119	CompuCredit Corp. v. Greenwood, 565 U.S. 95, 101 (2012)	6	Contractually required arbitration of claims satisfies the statutory prescription of civil liability in court.	Thus, we have repeatedly recognized that contractually required arbitration of claims satisfies the statutory prescription of civil liability in court.	Do arbitration claims satisfy the statutory prescription of civil liability in courts?
12122	Butler v. Adecco USA Inc., 189 F. Supp. 3d 305, 311 (D. Mass. 2016)	10	Although a statement of fact is not shielded from an action for defamation under Massachusetts law by being prefaced with the words "in my opinion," a statement that does not contain objectively verifiable facts is not actionable.	Although "[a] statement of fact is not shielded from an action for defamation by being prefaced with the words 'in my opinion,' ... a statement that does not contain objectively verifiable facts is not actionable."	Are statements that do not contain verifiable facts actionable as defamation?

12125	Blocker Expl. Co. v. Frontier Expl., Inc., 740 P.2d 983, 985 (Colo. 1987)	1	Three essential elements of mining partnership are joint ownership, joint operation, and express or implied agreement to share profits and losses; if mining partnership exists, partners are characterized as operators and have a limited power (less than the power of a general partner) to bind other members of the partnership.	The three essential elements of a mining partnership are: (1) joint ownership; (2) joint operation; and (3) an express or implied agreement to share profits and losses. Mud Control Laboratories, 2 Utah 2d at 91–92, 269 P.2d at 858. This mining partnership test has been adopted in the jurisdictions which have addressed this issue. Gilroy v. White Eagle Oil Co., 201 F.2d 113 (10th Cir.1952) (applying Oklahoma law); Gilbert v. Fontaine, 22 F.2d 657, 661 (10th Cir.1927) (applying Kansas law); Edwards v. Hardwick, 350 P.2d 495, 501–02 (Okla.1960); Lyons v. Stekoll, 186 Okla. 94, 96 P.2d 60 (1939). See Fiske, Mining Partnership, 26 Inst. on Oil & Gas L. & Tax'n 187, 193 (1975). If a mining partnership exists, the partners are characterized as operators and have a limited power (less than the power of a general partner) to bind other members of the partnership.	What are the essential elements of a mining partnership?
12127	Hardy v. Gen. Motors Corp., 126 Ohio App. 3d 455, 461 (1998)	1	Motion in limine seeks a preliminary and temporary exclusion of evidence by trial court.	A motion in limine seeks a preliminary and temporary exclusion of evidence by the trial court.	Does a motion in limine seek a preliminary and temporary exclusion of evidence by trial court?
12128	Taylor v. Dowling Gosslee & Assocs., Inc., 44,654 (La. App. 2 Cir. 10/7/09), 22 So. 3d 246, 253, writ denied, 2009-2420 (La. 2/5/10), 27 So. 3d 299	4	A motion in limine presents an evidentiary matter that is subject to the great discretion of the trial court; this great discretion extends to the trial court's assessment of the probative value of evidence.	A motion in limine presents an evidentiary matter that is subject to the great discretion of the trial court. Heller v. Nobel Insurance Group, 2000–0261 (La.2/2/2000), 753 So.2d 841; Randall v. Concordia Nursing Home, 2007–101 (La.App. 3d Cir.8/22/07), 965 So.2d 559, writ denied, 2007–2153 (La.1/7/08), 973 So.2d 726. This great discretion extends to the trial court's assessment of the probative value of evidence.	A motion in limine is an evidentiary matter and great discretion is given to the trial court on its rulings on such evidentiary matters.
12129	Ratcliff v. Sprint Missouri, 261 S.W.3d 534, 551 (Mo. Ct. App. 2008)	51	Trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is interlocutory and subject to change during the course of trial.	The trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is interlocutory and subject to change during the course of trial.	Is a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine interlocutory and subject to change during the course of trial?

12132	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	2	In limine motions are not designed to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.	"What in limine motions are not designed to do is to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure."	Are in limine motions designed to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure?
12134	Hous. Auth. of Macon v. Younis, 279 Ga. App. 599, 599 (2006)	1	A motion in limine should be granted when there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial.	A motion in limine should be granted when "there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial.	Should a motion in limine be granted when there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial?
12137	Brooks v. Pennington, 995 So. 2d 733, 737 (Miss.App., 2007)	2	A cause of action accrues when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested.	A cause of action accrues "when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested."	Does a cause of action accrue when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim?
12141	Milde v. Leigh, 75 N.D. 418, 430 (N.D. 1947)	5	A cause of action does not "accrue" until the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon.	193, thus: 'A cause of action does not accrue until the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon; it accrues at the moment when he has a legal right to sue on it and no earlier.'	Does a cause of action accrue before the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon?
12142	Milde v. Leigh, 75 N.D. 418, 430 (N.D. 1947)	5	A cause of action does not "accrue" until the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon.	193, thus: 'A cause of action does not accrue until the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute an action thereon; it accrues at the moment when he has a legal right to sue on it and no earlier.'	"Does a cause of action ""accrue"" before the party owning it is entitled to begin and prosecute action thereon?"
12146	Sierra Club v. Otter Tail Power Co., 615 F.3d 1008, 1014 (8th Cir. 2010)	3	A claim first accrues as soon as the right to institute and maintain a suit arises.	A claim first accrues "as soon as the right to institute and maintain a suit arises."	Does a claim or cause of action first accrue as soon as the right to institute and maintain a suit arises?
12152	Theye Y Ajuria v. Pan Am. Life Ins. Co., 154 So. 2d 450, 452 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	2	Recognized sovereign nation can make laws binding upon its nationals within its bounds.	It is a well established principle of law, recognized by all appellate Court decisions, that a recognized Sovereign Nation can make laws binding upon its nationals within its bounds.	Can a recognized sovereign nation make laws binding upon its nationals within its bounds?
12153	Republic of Liberia v. Bickford, 787 F. Supp. 397, 401 (S.D.N.Y. 1992)	2	Basic principle of international law is that change in government's leadership works no change in national sovereignty or its rights.	Furthermore, a basic principle of international law is that a change in a government's leadership works no change in the national sovereignty or its rights.	Does a change in a government's leadership work a change in the national sovereignty or its right?
12155	United States v. Sum of $70,990,605, 4 F. Supp. 3d 189, 204(D.D.C. 2014)	24	Party invoking the act of state doctrine bears the burden to prove its applicability.	Similarly, the party invoking the act of state doctrine bears the burden to prove its applicability.	Does the party invoking the act of state doctrine bear the burden to prove its applicability?

12156	Republic of Iraq v. ABB AG, 768 F.3d 145	9	Rights of a sovereign state are vested in the state rather than in any particular government which may purport to represent it; however, notwithstanding the distinction between a state and its government, a government may bind the sovereign it represents.	“[T]he rights of a sovereign state are vested in the state rather than in any particular government which may purport to represent it.” Guar. Trust Co. v. United States, 304 U.S. 126, 137 [58 S.Ct. 785, 82 L.Ed. 1224] (1938). That is, Hussein, the Hussein Regime, and the Republic of Iraq are not one and the same; they are different governments over time that represent the same sovereign state. (Iraq’s Opp. 9; Defs.’ Mem. 12–13.) Notwithstanding the distinction between a state and its government, a government may bind the sovereign it represents. See, e.g., The Sapphire, 78 U.S. (11 Wall) 164, 168 [20 L.Ed. 127] (1870); Lehigh Valley R.R. Co. v. Russia, 21 F.2d 396, 401 (2d Cir.1927).	Are the rights of a sovereign vested in the state or any particular government which may represent it?
12160	Hennefeld v. Twp. of Montclair, 22 N.J. Tax 166, 178 (2005)	3	As a general matter, the laws of one nation do not have force or effect beyond its borders.	However, “[a]s a general matter, the laws of one nation do not have force or effect beyond its borders.”	Do laws of one nation as a general matter have force or effect beyond its borders?
12161	Phillips v. Powers Discount Furniture Center, 686 So.2d 349, 350 (Ala. Civ. App. 1996)	1	Critical factor in determining whether partnership relationship exists is existence of legally binding obligation to share in losses of business.	A critical factor in determining whether a partnership relationship exists is the existence of a legally binding obligation to share in the losses of the business.	What is the critical factor in determining the existence of a partnership?
12165	Blanks v. Shaw, 171 Cal. App. 4th 336, 375 (Cal. Ct. App. 2009)	38	What in limine motions are not designed to do is to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.	What in limine motions are not designed to do is to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure.”	Are limine motions designed to replace the dispositive motions prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure?
12167	Alberswerth v. Alberswerth, 184 S.W.3d 81, 99 (Mo. Ct. App. 2006)	24	“In limine” is defined as in or at the beginning and a motion in limine is traditionally used as a way of suppressing testimony or evidence at the beginning of litigation.	“In limine” is defined as “in or at the beginning” and a motion in limine is traditionally used as a way of suppressing testimony or evidence at the beginning of litigation.	Is a motion in limine traditionally used as form of motion to suppress designated testimony or evidence?
12168	State v. French, 1995-Ohio-32, 72 Ohio St. 3d 446, 449–50, 650 N.E.2d 887, 890	7	Purpose of motion in limine is to avoid injection into the trial of matters which are irrelevant, inadmissible, and prejudicial.	The purpose of a motion in limine “is to avoid injection into [the] trial of matters which are irrelevant, inadmissible and prejudicial[,] and granting of [the] motion is not a ruling on evidence and, where properly drawn, granting of [the] motion *450 cannot be error.” Id. at 1013–1014.	Is a motion in limine designed to avoid injection into trial of potentially prejudicial matter which is not relevant and is inadmissible?
12169	Hancock v. Shook, 100 S.W.3d 786, 802 (Mo. 2003)	25	The court’s ruling on a motion in limine is interlocutory and subject to change during the course of the trial.	The court’s ruling on a motion in limine is interlocutory and subject to change during the course of the trial.	Is the court’s ruling on a motion in limine interlocutory and subject to change during the course of the trial?

12170	Compton v. Ubilluz, 353 Ill. App. 3d 863 (Ill. App. Ct. 2004) Could not find quote in text)	17	To prevent confusion and misunderstanding during trial, both the motion in limine and the resulting order should be in writing.	To prevent confusion and misunderstanding during trial, both the motion in limine and the resulting order should be in writing.	"To prevent confusion and misunderstanding during trial, should both the motion in limine and the resulting order be in writing?"
12171	Cunningham v. Millers Gen. Ins. Co., 227 Ill. App. 3d 201, 205(Ill. App. Ct. 1992)	6	Court should make whatever correction or interpretation of an in limine order is necessary during the trial.	498, 504, 500 N.E.2d 120, 126.) A court should make whatever correction or interpretation of an in limine order is necessary during the trial.	Should a court make whatever correction or interpretation of an in limine order as necessary during trial?
12172	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	8	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment; they are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment. They are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Do motions in limine serve different purposes than motions for summary judgment?
12173	Sher v. Deane H. Tank, 269 Ill. App. 3d 312, 317 (1995)	2	Reviewing court will not reverse trial court's order allowing or excluding evidence in limine absent clear showing of abuse of that discretion.	513, 511 N.E.2d 690) and a reviewing court will not reverse a trial court's order allowing or excluding evidence in limine absent a clear showing of abuse of that discretion.	Is the question of whether a motion in limine should be granted subject to the trial court's discretion?
12176	Ben-Tom Supply Co. v. V. N. Green & Co., 338 F.Supp. 59, 65 (S.D.W.Va., 1971)	5	A surety paying claims of materialmen and laborers is subrogated to their rights with respect to the contractor.	It should further be noted that a surety paying claims of materialmen and laborers is subrogated to their rights with respect to the contractor.	Is a surety paying claims of materialmen and laborers subrogated to their rights with respect to the contractor?
12178	Sanitary & Imp. Dist. No. 57 of Douglas Cty. v. City of Elkhorn, 248 Neb. 486, 496 (1995)	26	Cause of action accrues when aggrieved party has right to institute and maintain suit.	A cause of action accrues when the aggrieved party has the right to institute and maintain suit.	Does a cause of action accrue when aggrieved party has the right to institute and maintain a suit?
12181	In re Gullone, 301 B.R. 683, 687 (D.N.J. 2003)	4	Cause of action arises when cognizable "interest" arises, i.e., when legal relationship relevant to purported interest from which interest may flow is established.	The cause of action arises when a cognizable "interest" arises, i.e., when "a legal relationship relevant to the purported interest from which the interest may flow" is established.	"Does a cause of action arise when a cognizable ""interest"" arises?"
12183	Galbraith v. Planning Dep't of City of Anderson, 627 N.E.2d 850, 854 (Ind. Ct. App. 1994)	10	Action for inverse condemnation is premature until such time as landowner can establish that there are not available avenues by which landowner can put his property to economically beneficial or productive use.	The fact is that an action for inverse condemnation is premature until such time as the landowner can establish that there are not available avenues by which the landowner can put his property to an economically beneficial or productive use.	Until when is an inverse condemnation premature?
12187	Sampson v. Fed. Republic of Germany, 975 F. Supp. 1108, 1121 (N.D. Ill. 1997)	27	Act of state doctrine presumes that official public acts of a foreign country are valid.	The act of state doctrine presumes that the official public acts of a foreign country are valid.	Does the act of state doctrine presume that official public acts of a foreign country are valid?
12193	Hardy v. Cordero, 399 Ill. App. 3d 1126, 1135 (2010)	11	The purpose of an in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create a trap which results in a new trial if the court in retrospect determines the rule was violated.	The purpose of an in limine order is to exclude inadmissible evidence, not to create a trap which results in a new trial if the court in retrospect determines the rule was violated."	What is the purpose of a motion in limine?

12199	Theriot v. State Dep't of Wildlife & Fisheries, 661 So. 2d. 986, 989 (La. Ct. App. 1995)	1	Theory inherent in pretrial procedure is to avoid surprise and to allow orderly disposition of cases.	The theory inherent in pretrial procedure is to avoid surprise and to allow orderly disposition of cases.	Is allowing orderly disposition of cases inherent to the theory of pretrial procedure?
12201	Headley v. Williams, 162 N.C. App. 300, 307 (2004)	10	A trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	We note, however, that a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	Is a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine interlocutory and subject to modification?
12207	In re Coats, 849 A.2d 254, 258 (Pa. 2004)	6	Office of the clerk of the orphans' court is not sui juris but is dependent on county and legislative provisions to implement its function. 42 Pa.C.S.A. § 2774.	The office of the clerk of the orphans' court is not sui juris but is dependent on county and legislative provisions to implement its function. This statutory mandate provides as follows: 42 Pa.C.S.A. 2774.	Is the office of the clerk of the orphans' court sui juris?
12209	City of Evansville v. S. Indiana Gas & Elec. Co., 167 Ind. App. 472, 509 (Ind.App. 1975)	32	Under traditional regulatory concepts, the utility company shareholders and bondholders, not the consumers, furnish the capital necessary for the operation of the business.	Under traditional regulatory concepts, utility company shareholders and bondholders, not the consumers, furnish the capital necessary for the operation of the business.	Who furnishes the capital required for the operation of a public utility business?
12210	Snap-on Bus. Sols. Inc. v. O'Neil & Assocs., 708 F. Supp. 2d 669, 678 (N.D. Ohio 2010)	5	Even an electronic trespass to chattels claim must be based on some link to a physical object.	Moreover, even an electronic trespass to chattels claim must be based on some link to a physical object.	Does an electronic trespass to chattels claim have to be based on some link to a physical object?
12212	McCoy v. Emrich, 72 Wash. 2d 850, 851 (1967)	3	A cause of action for removal of lateral support arises when the damage occurs, not when the excavation is made.	[3] It is the law in this jurisdiction that a cause of action for removal of lateral support arises when the damage occurs and not when the excavation is made.	Does a cause of action for removal of lateral support arise when the damage occurs?
12213	Hart v. Guardian Tr. Co., 75 N.E.2d 570, 582 (Ohio 1945)	16	A cause of action "accrues" when there is a demand capable of present enforcement, a suing party in existence against whom the demand may be then enforced, and a party in being who has a present right to enforce it.	A cause of action accrues when there is a demand capable of present enforcement, a suable party in existence against whom the demand may be then enforced, and a party in being who has a present right to enforce it.'	"Does a cause of action ""accrue"" when there is a demand capable of present enforcement?"
12214	Rogers v. United States, 124 Fed. Cl. 757, 767 (2016)	10	Military departments, like other federal agencies, are bound by their own regulations; even when Congress has given the military discretion in conducting its affairs, the military is bound to follow its own procedural regulations should it choose to promulgate them.	It is well established that the military departments, like other federal agencies, are bound by their own regulations. As the Federal Circuit has observed, "[e]ven when Congress has given the military discretion in conducting its affairs, the military is bound to follow its own procedural regulations should it choose to promulgate them."	Is the military bound to follow its own procedural regulations?
12217	United States v. Laden, 92 F. Supp. 2d 189, 193 (S.D.N.Y. 2000)	1	Congress has the power to regulate conduct performed outside United States territory.	It is well-established that Congress has the power to regulate conduct performed outside United States territory.	Does Congress have the power to regulate conduct performed outside United States territory?

12219	Schaefer v. Kumar, 804 N.E.2d 184, 188 (Ind. Ct. App. 2004)	9	The purpose of a motion in limine is to prevent the display of potentially prejudicial material to the jury until the trial court has the opportunity to rule on its admissibility.	The purpose of a motion in limine is to prevent the display of potentially prejudicial material to the jury until the trial court has the opportunity to rule on its admissibility.	If a motion in limine is designed to prevent potential prejudice can it have the effect of suppressing evidence?
12223	MacDonald v. Univ. of N. Carolina at Chapel Hill, 299 N.C. 457, 463 (N.C. 1980)	4	Cause of action does not accrue until right which belonged to person is invaded in some manner by another.	A cause of action does not accrue until a right which belongs to a person is invaded in some manner by another.	Does a cause of action accrue until right which belonged to a person is invaded in some manner by another?
12227	Royal Imperial Grp. v. Joseph Blumberg & Assocs., 240 Ill. App. 3d 360, 364 (1992)	2	Crucial date for determining applicability of statute is not when rights are asserted by filing complaint, but rather when cause of action accrues.	The crucial date for determining the applicability of a statute is not when the rights are asserted by filing a complaint, but rather when the cause of action accrues.	What date is crucial for determining applicability of statute?
12235	Matador Serv. v. Missouri Basin Well Serv., 367 N.W.2d 749, 754 (N.D. 1985)	7	Issue of public convenience and necessity is ordinarily one of fact and determination of what is consistent with public convenience and necessity is one of which is peculiarly for determination of regulatory authority.	The issue of public convenience and necessity is ordinarily one of fact and the determination of what is consistent with the public convenience and necessity is one which is peculiarly for the determination of the regulatory authority.	Is the issue of public convenience and necessity one of fact?
12236	Seus v. John Nuveen & Co., 146 F.3d 175, 184 (3d Cir. 1998)	9	Unequal bargaining power is not alone enough to make an agreement to arbitrate a contract of adhesion.	Unequal bargaining power is not alone enough to make an agreement to arbitrate a contract of adhesion.	Does unequal bargaining power make an agreement to arbitrate a contract of adhesion?
12237	Penn Sch. Dist. No. 7 v. Bd. of Ed. of Lewis-Cass Intermediate Sch. Dist. of Cass Cty., 14 Mich. App. 109, 125 (Mich. Ct. App. 1968)	16	Manner of selection of school officials rests entirely within discretion of legislature.	Limited only by such constitutional provisions as are relevant (of which there is none cited), the manner of selection of school officials rests entirely within the discretion of the legislature.	Does the manner of selection of school officials rest entirely within discretion of the legislature?
12239	Wiemerslage Through Wiemerslage v. Maine Twp. High Sch. Dist. 207, 824 F. Supp. 136, 139 (N.D. Ill. 1993), aff'd, 29 F.3d 1149 (7th Cir. 1994)	2	Federal judicial intervention in day to day operations of public schools is highly undesirable and requires significant restraint; federal courts must not intervene in resolution of conflicts which arise in daily operation of school systems and which do not directly and sharply implicate basic constitutional values.	Federal judicial intervention in the day to day operations of public schools is highly undesirable and requires significant restraint. Federal courts must not "intervene in the resolution of conflicts which arise in the daily operation of school systems and which do not directly and sharply implicate basic constitutional values."	Does judicial intervention or interposition in the operation of the public-school system requires restraint?
12240	State v. Patzer, 382 N.W.2d 631, 639 (N.D. 1986)	5	State has power to impose reasonable regulations as to quality of education and instruction furnished.	The state has the power to impose reasonable regulations as to the quality of the education and instruction furnished.	Does the state has the power to impose reasonable regulations as to quality of education and instruction furnished?
12245	Stone Container Corp. v. Stapler, 263 Ala. 524, 530 (1955)	7	Averment that complainants were owners of homes situated on described real estate was an averment of an ultimate fact and not a conclusion of law.	The averment that the complainants are the owners of the homes situated on the described real estate is an averment of an ultimate fact and not a conclusion of law.	"Is the allegation that a party is the owner of described real estate, an allegation of an ultimate fact?"

12246	New World Fashions, Inc. v. Lieberman, 429 So. 2d 1276, 1277 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1983)	2	An agent may not, without principal's knowledge and consent, enter into any business in competition with his principal and keep for himself any profit accruing from such transaction.	An agent may not, without the principal's knowledge and consent, enter into any business in competition with his principal and keep for himself any profit accruing from such transaction.	Can an agent enter into business in competition with his principal?
12247	Bastian v. Wausau Homes, 635 F. Supp. 201, 204(N.D. Ill. 1986)	6	Waiver of subrogation clause is not necessarily unconscionable even in adhesion contract; rather, one looks to specific term in factual context to see if the term is unreasonable under circumstances.	As to whether the term was unreasonable or oppressive, a waiver of subrogation clause is not necessarily unconscionable even in an adhesion contract. Rather, one looks to the specific term in a factual context to see if the term is unreasonable under the circumstances.	Is a waiver of subrogation clause necessarily unconscionable even in an adhesion contract?
12253	Browar v. Paul Hardeman, Inc., 183 Cal. App. 2d 708, 712, 7 Cal. Rptr. 231, 233-34 (Ct. App. 1960)	1	Plaintiff's cause of action must exist at time he files his complaint, and rights of parties must be judged by conditions existing at time action is commenced.	Plaintiff's cause of action must 234 exist at the time he files his complaint and the rights of the parties must be judged by conditions existing at the time the action is commenced.	Should a cause of action exist at the time of the filing of the action?
12254	Girschowitch v. DeLong, 51 N.Y.S.2d 499, 500 (1944)	2	Laches is not a defense to an action at law where a plaintiff has an absolute right to the relief demanded.	Laches would not in any event be a defense to an action at law, where a plaintiff has an absolute right to the relief demanded.	Is laches a defense to an action at law where a plaintiff has an absolute right to the relief demanded?
12255	Marjon v. Altman, 120 N.J.L. 16, 18 (Sup. Ct. 1938)	2	"Laches," in its legal signification, ordinarily connotes delay that works detriment to another.	While laches, in its legal signification, ordinarily connotes delay that works detriment to another, the public interest requires that the protection accorded by statutes of this class be invoked with reasonable promptitude.	"Does ""laches,"" in its legal signification, ordinarily connote a delay that works detriment to another?"
12256	Rodgers v. United States, 158 F. Supp. 670, 681 (S.D. Cal. 1958)	15	The question of injunction is to be determined by the facts existing at time of trial and not at the time the suit was instituted.	Thus the question of injunction is determined by facts existing at the time of trial and not at the time suit was instituted, Andersen v. Shipowner's Ass'n of the Pacific Coast, 9 Cir., 1929, 31 F.2d 539, 543.	Is the question of injunction to be determined by the facts existing at time of trial and not at the time the suit was instituted?
12257	Murray v. United Food & Commercial Workers Int'l Union, 289 F.3d 297, 302 (4th Cir. 2002)	7	Equity may require invalidation of an arbitration agreement that is unconscionable, as well as an arbitration agreement that allows an employer to ignore the arbitration result.	In accordance with the principles outlined above, we have previously recognized that equity may require invalidation of an arbitration agreement that is unconscionable, see Sydnor, 252 F.3d at 305; Hooters, 173 F.3d at 938, as well as an arbitration agreement that allows an employer to ignore the arbitration result, see Johnson v.	Can equity require invalidation of an arbitration agreement that is unconscionable?
12260	Laidlaw Waste Sys., Inc. v. Bay Cities Servs., Inc., 43 Cal. App. 4th 630, 635, 50 Cal. Rptr. 2d 824, 826 (1996)	6	Public schools of state are matter of statewide, rather than local or municipal, concern.	Accordingly, "[t]he public schools of this state are a matter of statewide rather than local or municipal concern...."	"Are public schools of a state matter of statewide, rather than local or municipal, concern? "

12263	Allstate Ins. Co. v. Palumbo, 109 Conn. App. 731, 735 (Conn. App. Ct. 2008)	2	The right of equitable subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	"As our Supreme Court has explained, [t]he right of [equitable] subrogation is not a matter of contract; it does not arise from any contractual relationship between the parties, but takes place as a matter of equity, with or without an agreement to that effect.	Can subrogation be a contractual matter?
12265	Pettengill v. New Hampshire Ins. Co., 129 Vt. 23, 30 (1970)	6	While rights of subrogation may be relinquished, they are not to be surrendered or compromised without specific authority from subrogee.	While rights of subrogation may be relinquished, they are not to be surrendered or compromised without specific authority from the subrogee.	Can rights of subrogation be surrendered or compromised without specific authority from the subrogee?
12266	Fifth Ave. Peace Parade Comm. v. Gray, 480 F.2d 326, 333(2d Cir. 1973)	6	In a declaratory judgment action, complaint must stand or fall on its own merits and cannot be used as vehicle for searching out and discovering a right of action.	In a declaratory judgment action, "the complaint must stand or fall on its own merits and cannot be used as a vehicle for searching out and discovering a right of action."	Must a complaint stand or fall upon its own merits?
12268	Caputo v. Bd. of Appeals of Somerville, 330 Mass. 107, 111 (Mass. 1953)	3	Final relief in equity should be adapted to facts existing at time of entry of decree.	Final relief in equity should be adapted to the facts existing at the time of the entry of the decree.	Should final relief in equity be adapted to facts existing at the time of entry of decree?
12270	Drake Bakeries v. Local 50, Am. Bakery & Confectionery Workers Int'l, AFL-CIO, 370 U.S. 254, 262, 263 (1962)	6	Arbitration provisions, which themselves have not been repudiated, are meant to survive breaches of contract, in many contexts, even total breach.	Arbitration provisions, which themselves have not been repudiated, are meant to survive breaches of contract, in many contexts, even total breach;	Are arbitration provisions that have not been repudiated meant to survive breaches of other parts of a contract?
12275	Transamerica Ins. Co. v. Barnett Bank of Marion Cty., N.A., 524 So. 2d 439, 446 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1988)	8	Remedy of equitable subrogation is customarily denied to party who could have protected himself but who had been negligent in doing so.	The remedy of equitable subrogation is customarily denied to a party who could have protected himself but who has been negligent in doing so.	Is a remedy of equitable subrogation customarily denied to a party who could have protected himself but who had been negligent in doing so?
12278	Browar v. Paul Hardeman, Inc., 183 Cal. App. 2d 708, 712, 7 Cal. Rptr. 231, 233–34 (Ct. App. 1960)	1	Plaintiff's cause of action must exist at time he files his complaint, and rights of parties must be judged by conditions existing at time action is commenced.	Plaintiff's cause of action must 234 exist at the time he files his complaint and the rights of the parties must be judged by conditions existing at the time the action is commenced.	Are rights of parties to be determined as they existed when an action was commenced?
12279	Integrity Tr. Co. v. Posch, 13 N.Y.S.2d 973, 976 (City Ct. 1939)	4	"Laches' is an equitable defense and available only where the court has discretion in granting or denying relief.	This amounts to the defense of laches, but laches is an equitable defense, and available only where the Court has discretion in granting or denying relief.	Is laches an equitable defense and available only where the court has discretion in granting or denying relief?

12282	Rodgers v. RAB Invs., Ltd., 816 S.W.2d 543, 548 (Tex. App. 1991)	10	Every partner has inherent power to dissolve partnership even though dissolution would violate partnership agreement; dissolution may breach partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Every partner has the inherent power to dissolve a partnership even though the dissolution would violate the partnership agreement. Karrick v. Hannaman, 168 U.S. 328, 334–35, 18 S.Ct. 135, 138, 42 L.Ed. 484 (1897); Infusaid Corp. v. Intermedics Infusaid, Inc., 739 F.2d 661, 667 (1st Cir.1984); Woodruff v. Bryant, 558 S.W.2d 535, 539 (Tex.Civ.App.—Corpus Christi 1977, writ ref'd n.r.e.). The dissolution may breach the partnership contract, but it may be accomplished nonetheless.	Does the power to dissolve a partnership exist when the dissolution constitutes a breach of the contract?
12287	Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 777 (2d Cir. 1995)	4	Nonsignatory may compel arbitration against party to arbitration agreement when that party has entered into separate contractual relationship with nonsignatory which incorporates existing arbitration clause.	A nonsignatory may compel arbitration against a party to an arbitration agreement when that party has entered into a separate contractual relationship with the nonsignatory which incorporates the existing arbitration clause.	When can a nonsignatory compel arbitration against a party to an arbitration agreement?
12291	Duke v. Sun Oil Co., 320 F.2d 853, 861(5th Cir. 1963)	20	In absence of express agreement delivery of check to payee is merely conditional payment which does not become absolute until check is actually paid by drawee bank.	We may accept Lessors' contention that in the absence of express agreement, the delivery of a check to the payee is merely a conditional payment which does not become absolute until the check is actually paid by the drawee bank.	When does a check constitute absolute payment?
12296	Lombard v. Bd. of Educ. of City of New York, 645 F. Supp. 1574, 1577 (E.D.N.Y. 1986)	1	Fact that plaintiff possessed teaching license did not give him legitimate claim of entitlement to employment.	The fact that plaintiff possesses a teaching license does not give him a legitimate claim of entitlement to employment.	Does possession of a teaching license give a legitimate claim of entitlement to employment?
12302	Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 777 (2d Cir. 1995)	6	In absence of signature, party may be bound by arbitration clause if its subsequent conduct indicates that it is assuming obligation to arbitrate.	In the absence of a signature, a party may be bound by an arbitration clause if its subsequent conduct indicates that it is assuming the obligation to arbitrate.	Can a party be bound by an arbitration clause in the absence of signature?
12309	Davidson v. Fornicola, 38 N.J. Super. 365, 379(App. Div. 1955)	9	A primary purpose of pretrial conference is preliminarily to elicit controversial issues to be litigated, particularly those which would not otherwise be reasonably anticipated.	[9] It is a primary purpose of the pretrial conference preliminarily to elicit the controversial issues to be litigated, particularly those which would not otherwise be reasonably anticipated.	What is the primary purpose of pretrial conference?

12326	Boydston v. Bd. of Regents for State of Kan., 242 Kan. 94 (Kan. 1987)	7	Primary purposes of pretrial conference are to reduce, if not eliminate, surprise from trial and to determine exactly what issues are to be tried and what procedures are to be followed.	The primary purposes of a pretrial conference 812 are to reduce, if not eliminate, surprise from the trial and to determine exactly what issues are to be tried and what procedures are to be followed.	What is the primary purpose of the pretrial conference?
12327	Livingstone v. Greater Washington Anesthesiology & Pain Consultants, P.C., 187 Md. App. 346, 387 (2009)	13	A scheduling order does not enlarge or constrict the scope of discovery, but rather, it sets time limits on certain discovery events.	A scheduling order does not "enlarge or constrict the scope of discovery," but rather, it sets "time limits on certain discovery events." Rodriguez v.	Does a scheduling order enlarge or constrict the scope of discovery?
12328	King v. Zimmerman, 266 Mont. 54, 66 (1994)	15	Purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on basis of pretrial orders.	The purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	Is the purpose of a pretrial order to clarify and simplify issues to be tried?
12330	Clark v. Randalls Food, 317 S.W.3d 351, 356, 357 (Tex. App. 2010)	8	The duty to preserve evidence is not raised unless (1) a party knows or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance a claim will be filed, and (2) evidence is relevant and material.	The duty to preserve evidence is not raised unless (a) a party knows or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance a claim will be filed, and *357 (b) evidence is relevant and material.	When is the duty to preserve evidence not raised?
12332	NetJets Aviation v. Guillery, 207 Cal. App. 4th 26, 41 (Cal. Ct. App. 2012)	7	Every system of taxation consists of two parts, which are (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection; the former is a legislative function, while the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	Every system of taxation consists of two parts: (1) the elements which enter into the imposition of the tax, and (2) the steps taken for its assessment and collection. The former is a legislative function; the latter is mere machinery, and is delegable to other than governmental agencies.	What parts does a system of taxation consist of?
12333	Walton v. New York State Dep't of Corr. Servs., 13 N.Y.3d 475, 485, 921 N.E.2d 145, 151 (2009)	2	Municipalities and administrative agencies engaged in regulatory activity can assess fees that need not be legislatively authorized, as long as fees charged are reasonably necessary to accomplishment of regulatory program.	Municipalities and administrative agencies engaged in regulatory activity can assess fees that need not be legislatively authorized as long as " the fees charged [are] reasonably necessary to the accomplishment of the regulatory program" (Suffolk County Bldrs. Assn. v. County of Suffolk, 46 N.Y.2d 613, 619, 415 N.Y.S.2d 821, 389 N.E.2d 133 [1979]).	Is tax a charge that a government exacts from a citizen to defray the general costs of government unrelated to any particular benefit received by that citizen?
12335	Pramer S.C.A. v. Abaplus Int'l Corp., 76 A.D.3d 89, 99, 907 N.Y.S.2d 154, 161 (2010)	7	Private right of action is not implied under the commercial bribery provisions of the Penal Law.	We adhere to our prior holding in Sardanis that a private right of action is not implied under the commercial bribery provisions of the Penal Law, and the dissent does not disagree with Sardanis on this point but ignores the plain language of Sardanis that such a private right of action does exist under tort law (279 A.D.2d at 229–230, 718 N.Y.S.2d 66).	Is a private right of action implied under the commercial bribery provisions of the penal law?

12339	In re Advanced Powder Sols., 496 S.W.3d 838, 853, 854 (Tex. App. 2016)	24	A person has a duty to preserve evidence only when a party knows or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance that a claim will be filed and that evidence in its possession or control will be material and relevant to that claim.	A person has a duty to preserve evidence "only when a party knows *854 or reasonably should know that there is a substantial chance that a claim will be filed and that evidence in its possession or control will be material and relevant to that claim."	When does the duty to preserve evidence arise?
12350	Hodge v. Johnson, 852 N.E.2d 650, 652 (Ind. App. 2006)	8	An open and voluntary renunciation by a plaintiff of his suit, a "retraxit," operates as a dismissal with prejudice.	An open and voluntary renunciation by a plaintiff of his suit, a retraxit, operates as a dismissal with prejudice.	"An open and voluntary renunciation by a plaintiff of his suit, does a ""retraxit,"" operate as a dismissal with prejudice?"
12351	Citizens' Util. Ratepayer Bd. v. State Corp. Comm'n of the State of Kan., 24 Kan. App. 2d 222, 236, 943 P.2d 494, 505 (1997), aff'd in part, rev'd in part sub nom. Citizens' Util. Ratepayer Bd. v. State Corp. Comm'n of State of Kan., 264 Kan. 363, 956 P.2d 685 (1998)	15	"Tax" is forced contribution to raise revenue for maintenance of governmental services offered to the general public.	A "tax" is a forced contribution to raise revenue for the maintenance of governmental services offered to the general public.	"Is ""tax"" used for the maintenance of governmental services offered to the general public?"
12352	Nw. Fire Dist. v. U.S. Home of Arizona Const. Co., 213 Ariz. 489, 494 (Ariz. Ct. App. 2006)	3	Assessment imposed upon a broad class of parties is more likely to be a tax than an assessment imposed upon a narrow class.	Moreover, an "assessment imposed upon a broad class of parties is more likely to be a tax than an assessment imposed upon a narrow class.	s an assessment imposed upon a broad class of parties more likely to be a tax than an assessment imposed upon a narrow class?
12353	Pub. Advocate & Consumers Educ. & Protective Ass'n v. City of Philadelphia, 662 A.2d 686, 689 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 1995)	3	Necessary predicate to finding of unlawful tax is direct taking of customer funds.	A necessary predicate to the finding of an unlawful tax is a direct taking of customer funds.	"Is direct taking of customer funds, a necessary predicate to finding of unlawful tax?"

12354	German v. Com., 410 Mass. 445, 448, 574 N.E.2d 336, 338 (1991)	1	"Tax" is revenue-raising exaction imposed through generally applicable rates to defray public expense; nature of monetary exaction will be decided by studying its operation rather than how it has been characterized by legislature.	The Justices have defined a tax as "a revenue-raising exaction imposed through generally applicable rates to defray public expense." Opinion of the Justices, 393 Mass. 1209, 1216, 471 N.E.2d 1266 (1984). When the characterization of a monetary exaction is in doubt, "the intention of the Legislature, as it may be expressed in part through its characterization ... deserves judicial respect, and especially so where the constitutionality of the exaction depends on its proper characterization." Emerson College v. Boston, 391 Mass. 415, 424, 462 N.E.2d 1098 (1984), quoting Associated Indus. of Mass., Inc. v. Commissioner of Revenue, 378 Mass. 657, 667-668, 393 N.E.2d 812 (1979). In the final analysis, however, the nature of a monetary exaction will be decided by studying its operation rather than how it has been characterized by the Legislature.	Will the nature of monetary exaction be decided by studying its operation rather than how it has been characterized by legislature?
12362	Rose v. Summers, Compton, Wells & Hamburg, P.C., 887 S.W.2d 683, 686 (Mo. Ct. App. 1994)	3	Attorney representing limited partnership owes duty of loyalty to limited partnership as organization and not to limited partners as individuals.	We hold that an attorney representing a limited partnership owes a duty of loyalty to the limited partnership as an organization and not to the limited partners as individuals.	Does the duty of loyalty owed by an attorney to a limited partnership extend to the individual partners?
12366	Am. Nat. Rent-A-Car v. McNally, 8 Ariz. App. 208, 212 (Ariz.App. 1968)	5	In absence of proper pretrial order, minutes entered with respect to pretrial may be as binding as formal order.	In the absence of a proper pretrial order, minutes entered with respect to the pretrial may be binding as a formal order.	"In absence of proper pretrial order, are minutes entered with respect to pretrial binding?"
12367	Cotton v. Ostroski, 250 Neb. 911, 917, 918(Neb. 1996)	8	Purpose of pretrial conference is to simplify issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial; to that end, litigants must adhere to spirit of procedure and are bound by pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify the issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial. To that end, litigants must adhere to the spirit of the procedure and are bound by the pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	Do issues set out in pretrial order supplant those raised in pleadings?
12368	Hannah v. Heeter, 213 W. Va. 704, 710-11 (2003)	7	A party who reasonably anticipates litigation has an affirmative duty to preserve relevant evidence.	"It is a fundamental principle 567 *711 of law that a party who reasonably anticipates litigation has an affirmative duty to preserve relevant evidence."	Does a party who reasonably anticipates litigation have an affirmative duty to preserve relevant evidence?

12370	Green v. Spriggs, 930 So. 2d 1052, 1055 (La. App. 2006)	2	Pretrial order controls the subsequent course of action, though it can be modified at trial to prevent substantial injustice.	The pretrial order controls the subsequent course of action, though it can be modified at trial to prevent substantial injustice.	Does a pretrial order control the subsequent course of action?
12372	Sieben v. Sieben,, 231 Kan. 372, 372 (1982)	6	Under Supreme Court rule counsel has ten days to object to a pretrial order; unless a pretrial order is modified by the trial court to prevent manifest injustice that order controls the subsequent course of litigation.	Under Supreme Court Rule No. 140(f) counsel has ten days to object to a pretrial order. Unless the pretrial order is modified by the trial court to prevent manifest injustice the order controls the subsequent course of the litigation.	"Under Supreme Court rules, does counsel have ten days to object to a pretrial order?"
12376	Bump v. Firemens Ins. Co. of Newark, N.J., 380 N.W.2d 268, 273 (Neb. 1986)	2	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case, and issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify and narrow issues presented in a case. Issues specified at a pretrial conference control the course of an action and, unless altered by the court, constitute the issues on which the case is tried.	Do issues stipulated to at a pre-trial conference constitute the issues on which the case is to be tried?
12382	Truck Ins. Exch. v. Cartmill, 385 S.W.2d 277, 280 (Tex. Civ. App. 1964)	7	Workmen's compensation benefits are paid for disability rather than for actual earnings received.	Moreover, workmen's compensation benefits are paid for disability rather than for actual earnings received.	Are workmen's compensation benefits paid for disability rather than for actual earnings received?
12389	Maier v. Orr, 754 F.2d 973, 980 (Fed. Cir. 1985)	1	No one has an individual right, constitutional or otherwise, to enlist in armed forces, composition of those forces being within purview of Congress and the military.	No one has an individual right, constitutional or otherwise, to enlist in the armed forces, the composition of those forces being within the purview of the Congress and the military.	Is composition of the armed forces a matter of Congress and military?
12394	Paniagua v. Orange Cty. Fire Auth., 149 Cal. App. 4th 83, 89 (Cal. Ct. App. 2007)	6	When an action is wilfully dismissed by the plaintiff against a sole defendant, it is as though no action had ever been filed.	[Citations.] When [as in this case] an action is wilfully dismissed by the plaintiff against ... a sole defendant it is as though no action had ever been filed." (Cook v.	"When an action is wilfully dismissed by the plaintiff against a sole defendant, is it as though no action had ever been filed?"
12395	Arena v. Borough of Jamesburg, Middlesex Cty., 309 N.J. Super. 106, 110 (App. Div. 1998)	3	Voluntary dismissal without prejudice leaves situation as if action had never been filed.	"A voluntary dismissal without prejudice leaves the situation as if the action never had been filed."	Does a voluntary dismissal without prejudice leave the situation as if the action had never been filed?
12398	Urie v. Roche, 209 F. Supp. 2d 412, 415 (D.N.J. 2002)	5	The National Guard is an essential reserve component of the Armed Forces of the United States.	The National Guard is "an essential reserve component of the Armed Forces of the United States."	Is the National Guard an essential reserve component of the Armed Forces of the United States?
12402	Nylander v. Potter, 38 Mass. App. Ct. 605, 608 (Mass. App. Ct. 1995)	1	Abutters to a public way ordinarily hold the title to the fee to the center of the public way, subject only to the easement of travelers to pass and repass.	Abutters to a public way "ordinarily hold the title to the fee to the center of the public way, subject only to the easement of travellers to pass and repass.	Do the abutters of public way hold the title to the centerline of the public way?
12404	Bailey v. Schaaf, 293 Mich. App. 611, 647, 648 (Mich. Ct. App. 2011)	4	The court may allow a party to amend or withdraw an admission for good cause. MCR 2.312.	The court may allow a party to amend or withdraw an admission for good cause. 8 6 MCR 2.312(A). 7 MCR 2.312(D)(1).	May the court allow a party to amend or withdraw an admission for good cause?

12411	In re Umans Bleachery, 34 F. Supp. 694, 694 (D.N.J. 1940)	1	"Tax" is not debt, nor in nature of debt, but is impost levied by government upon its citizens or subjects, for support of state.	A tax in its essential characteristics is not a debt, nor in the nature of a debt. It is an impost levied by authority of government upon its citizens or subjects for the support of the state.	Is tax an impost levied by authority of government upon its citizens or subjects?
12412	Rainwater v. Haynes, 244 Ark. 1191, 1193-94 (Ark. 1968)	3	The word "taxes" refers to exactions laid by the government for purposes of general revenue.	The word 'taxes' refers to *1194 exactions laid by the government for purposes of general revenue.	"Does the word ""taxes"" refer to exactions laid by the government for purposes of general revenue?"
12413	State ex rel. & to Use of Moore v. Wabash R. Co., 357 Mo. 380, 385 (1948)	4	Taxation, which is taking of private property for public use, requires strict compliance with law, and tax may be levied only when proceedings therefor are wholly within terms of statute authorizing it.	It is axiomatic that taxation, the taking of private property for public use, requires strict compliance with the law. A tax may be levied only when the proceedings therefor are wholly within the terms of a statute which authorizes it.	Can tax only be levied when proceedings are wholly within terms of statute authorizing it?
12414	Boeing Airplane Co. v. Bd. of Comm'rs of Sedgwick Cty., 164 Kan. 149, 153 (Kan. 1947)	2	Taxes are not classed as "debts" in usual sense of term, and actions prescribed by Civil Code do not lie for their recovery.	Taxes are not classed as debts in the usual sense of the term, and actions prescribed by the civil code do not lie for their recovery.'	"Are taxes classed as ""debts"" in usual sense of the term?"
12415	Snow v. City of Columbia, 305 S.C. 544, 553 (1991)	2	To constitute actionable trespass, there must be affirmative act, invasion of land must be intentional, and harm caused must be direct result of that invasion.	To constitute an actionable trespass, however, there must be an affirmative act, the invasion of the land must be intentional, and the harm caused must be the direct result of that invasion.	Should there be an affirmative act to constitute actionable trespass?
12416	Schulz v. Dattero, 104 A.D.3d 831, 834, 961 N.Y.S.2d 308, 312 (2013)	5	Entering upon the land of another without permission, even if innocently or by mistake, constitutes trespass.	"Entering upon the land of another without permission, even if innocently or by mistake, constitutes trespass"	Can the innocent entry upon the land of another without permission cause a trespass?
12420	Kuklachev v. Gelfman, 600 F. Supp. 2d 437, 460 (E.D.N.Y. 2009)	23	An arbitrability analysis must focus on the factual allegations in the complaint rather than the legal causes of action asserted; the mere fact that a complaint alleges a tort claim, rather than one for breach of contract, does not make the claim any less arbitrable.	The arbitrability analysis must "focus on the factual allegations in the complaint rather than the legal causes of action asserted." Genesco, Inc., 815 F.2d at 846. Courts must examine the substance of claims, "shorn of their labels." Phillips v. Audio Active Ltd., 494 F.3d 378, 388 (2d Cir.2007). "The mere fact that [a complaint alleges] a tort claim, rather than one for breach of [contract], does not make the claim any less arbitrable."	Does a tort claim make it less arbitrable?
12425	Careau & Co. v. Sec. Pac. Bus. Credit, Inc., 222 Cal. App. 3d 1371, 1387, 272 Cal. Rptr. 387, 394-95 (Ct. App. 1990)	3	General rule is that allegations of complaint are to be liberally construed with view to substantive justice between parties.	The general rule is that allegations of a complaint are 395 to be liberally construed with a view to substantive justice between the parties.	Should allegations of a complaint be liberally construed with a view to substantive justice between the parties?

12428	Bloodworth v. Caldwell, 150 Ga.App. 443, 443 (Ga.App., 1979)	1	Continuance or postponement of case is discretionary matter and will not be controlled unless manifestly abused.	The continuance or postponement of a case is a discretionary matter and will not be controlled unless manifestly abused.	Is the continuance or postponement of a case a discretionary matter and will not be controlled unless manifestly abused?
12429	Brown v. Kentucky Lottery Corp., 891 S.W.2d 90, 91 (Ky. Ct. App. 1995)	1	Party served with request for admissions to which it fails to respond admits allegations asserted.	A party served with a request for admissions to which it fails to respond admits the allegations asserted.	Does a party served with a request for admissions to which it fails to respond admit allegations asserted?
12430	Willowbrook Foods, Inc. v. Grinnell Corp., 147 S.W.3d 492, 502 (Tex. App. 2004)	11	Admissions, once deemed by the court, may not be contradicted by any evidence, including summary judgment affidavits.	Admissions, once deemed by the court, may not be contradicted by any evidence, including summary judgment affidavits.	"Can deemed admissions not be contradicted by any evidence, including summary judgment affidavits?"
12441	Arnett v. Keith, 582 S.W.2d 363, 364 (Mo. Ct. App. 1979)	3	Fact that attorney withdraws from case does not give party absolute right to continuance.	The fact that an attorney withdraws from a case does not give a party an absolute right to a continuance.	Does the fact that an attorney withdraws from case give party absolute right to continuance?
12443	Montalbano Builders v. Rauschenberger, 341 Ill. App. 3d 1075, 1080 (Ill. App. Ct. 2003)	4	The facts set out in a request to admit that was not answered are, by virtue of the failure to respond, deemed admitted.	The facts set out in the request to admit that was not answered by the plaintiff are, by virtue of the failure to respond, deemed admitted.	"Are the facts set out in a request to admit that was not answered by the plaintiff, by virtue of the failure to respond, deemed admitted?"
12444	Lucas v. Clark, 347 S.W.3d 800, 804 (Tex. App. 2011)	8	Overly broad, merits-preclusive requests for admissions are improper and may not result in deemed admissions.	Therefore, overly broad, merits-preclusive requests for admissions are improper and may not result in deemed admissions.	"Are overly broad, merits-preclusive requests for admissions improper and may not result in deemed admissions?"
12447	Dobbelaere v. Cosco, 120 Ohio App. 3d 232, 244 (Ohio Ct. App. 1997)	7	Unanswered requests for admission render matter requested conclusively established for purpose of suit.	"It is settled law in Ohio that unanswered requests for admission render the matter requested conclusively established for the purpose of the suit.	Do unanswered requests for admission render a matter requested conclusively established for purpose of the suit?
12455	Chenango Cnty. Nat. Bank & Tr. Co. of Norwich v. Lyon, 190 Misc. 358, 359, 74 N.Y.S.2d 382, 384 (Sup. Ct. 1947)	1	Great liberality is permitted in the examination of an adverse party before trial particularly when the party sought to be examined stands in a fiduciary capacity.	Great liberality is permitted in the examination of an adverse party before trial. This is particularly so when the party sought to be examined stands in a fiduciary capacity.	Should there be great liberality in examinations of an adverse party before trial?
12463	Robinson v. Burton, 49 So. 3d 660, 668 (Miss. Ct. App. 2010)	17	Trial judges are vested with broad discretionary powers in granting or refusing to grant a continuance.	Trial judges are vested with "broad discretionary powers in granting or refusing to grant a continuance." Frye v.	Are trial court judges vested with broad discretionary powers in granting or refusing to grant a continuance?
12472	Sabelli v. Sec. Ins. Co. of New Haven, 372 S.W.2d 348, 350 (Tex. Civ. App. 1963)	1	Question whether continuance is to be granted is largely within discretion of trial judge in light of facts before him.	The question of whether a continuance is to be granted is largely within the discretion of the trial judge in the light of the facts before him.	"Is the question of whether a continuance should be granted, to be judged in light of facts, before a judge, at the time a motion is presented?"

12473	Flynn v. Royal Dev. Co., 54 N.Y.S.2d 585, 589 (Sup. Ct. 1944)	4	Where answer contains no affirmative defense and only general denials, defendant, in proper case, may examine plaintiff before trial.	A defedant may, in a proper case, examine a plaintiff where the answer contains no affirmative defense and only general denials.	Does the mere general denial in the answer preclude examination of a defendant before trial?
12475	Kleitman v. Superior Ct., 74 Cal. App. 4th 324, 336, 87 Cal. Rptr. 2d 813, 822 (1999), as modified (Sept. 9, 1999)	16	Discovery into the subjective motives or mental processes of city council members is prohibited.	As this court has previously held, discovery into the subjective motives or mental processes of city council members is prohibited.	Is discovery into the subjective motives or mental processes of city council members prohibited?
12479	Patterson v. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, 266 N.C. 489, 494 (N.C. 1966)	11	Authority to sell, even when coupled with possession of goods by agent, does not necessarily authorize agent to collect price or estop principal from collecting from purchaser who pays agent.	However, authority to sell, even when coupled with the possession of the goods by the agent, does not necessarily authorize the agent to collect the price or estop the principal from collecting from the purchaser who pays the agent.	Does authority to sell imply the agent has authority to collect?
12480	Wehe v. Montgomery, 711 F. Supp. 1035, 1037 (D. Or. 1989)	3	"Unauthorized signature" is one made without actual, implied or apparent authority, and any unauthorized signature is wholly inoperative unless principal certifies it or is precluded from denying it.	An unauthorized signature is one made without actual, implied or apparent authority, and any unauthorized signature is wholly inoperative unless the principal certifies it or is precluded from denying it.	What is an unauthorized signature?
12483	United States v. Nat'l Dairy Prod. Corp., 372 U.S. 29, 32 (1963)	4	Statutes are not automatically invalidated as vague simply because difficulty is found in determining whether certain marginal offenses fall within their language.	The strong presumptive validity that attaches to an Act of Congress has led this Court to hold many times that statutes are not automatically invalidated as vague simply because difficulty is found in determining whether certain marginal offenses fall within their language.	When does a statute become invalid because of vagueness?
12485	Pinkerton v. Pritchard, 71 Ariz. 117, 124 (1950)	9	If a pleading sets up facts from which the ultimate conclusions may clearly be drawn the ultimate conclusions themselves need not be alleged.	* * * We further said in the Johansen case that "We think it is elementary that if a pleading sets up facts from which ultimate conclusions may be clearly drawn, the ultimate conclusions themselves need not be alleged."	Should conclusions be alleged if a pleading sets up facts from which ultimate conclusions may be drawn?
12489	Application of Cohen, 179 Misc. 6, 9, 37 N.Y.S.2d 115, 119 (Sup. Ct. 1942), aff'd, 265 A.D. 1029, 38 N.Y.S.2d 925 (App. Div. 1943)	4	The right to examine before the action is commenced is accorded to a prospective party only where necessary for the protection of his rights. Civil Practice Act, § 295.	The right to examine before the action is commenced is accorded to a prospective party only where 'necessary for the protection of his rights.' Civil Practice Act, § 295.	Is the right to examine before the action is commenced accorded to a prospective party only where necessary for the protection of his rights?
12507	Tigue v. Swaim, 585 F.2d 909, 914 (8th Cir. 1978)	3	Military officers during peacetime are not automatically clothed with absolute immunity in every situation.	In our view, we have no other alternative under Butz than to hold that *914 military officers during peacetime are not automatically clothed with absolute immunity in every situation.	During peacetime are military officers automatically clothed with absolute immunity in every situation?

12508	Kagan v. Wattendorf & Co., 294 Mass. 588, 596 (1936)	5	Valid assignment may be made by any words or acts which fairly indicate intention to make assignee the owner of the claim.	A valid assignment may be made by any words or acts which fairly indicate an intention to make the assignee the owner of a claim.' Cosmopolitan Trust Co.	Are assignments made by words or acts valid?
12511	Gidden Motor Co. v. Johnston, 155 Miss. 328, 124 So. 367, 367 (Miss. 1929)	3	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of the nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Whether nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery?
12515	Ruggiero v. East Hartford, 2 Conn. App. 89, 97 (1984)	16	Taking of highway creates no interest in fee, presumption being that landowners whose lands about highway continue to be owners of fee of land to center of highway.	The law in this state is clear that the taking of a highway creates no interest in fee, the presumption being that the landowners whose lands about the highway continue to be owners of the fee of the land to the center of the highway.	Does the taking of a highway create an interest in the fee?
12517	Brock v. Blackwood, 143 S.W.3d 47, 57 (Mo. Ct. App. 2004)	16	To properly plead a cause of action, the petition must state allegations of fact in support of each essential element of the cause pleaded.	To properly plead a cause of action, the "petition must state allegations of fact in support of each essential element of the cause pleaded."	Does a properly pleaded cause of action require allegations of fact?
12518	In re OSG Ship Mgmt., Inc., 514 S.W.3d 331, 337 (Tex. App. 2016)	5	Forum-selection clauses are presumptively valid unless shown to be unreasonable, and they may be enforced through a motion to dismiss.	Forum-selection clauses are presumptively valid unless shown to be unreasonable, and they may be enforced in Texas courts through a motion to dismiss.	Are forum-selection clauses presumptively valid unless shown to be unreasonable?
12520	In re Conseco, Inc., 299 B.R. 875 (N.D. Ill. 2003)	3	Agent, acting under actual authority, has power to enter into binding contract on behalf of undisclosed principal.	It is well settled that an agent, acting under actual authority, has the power to enter into a binding contract on behalf of an undisclosed principal.	Can an Agent enter into a binding contract on behalf of undisclosed principal?
12522	Esty v. Beal Bank S.S.B., 298 S.W.3d 280, 295 (Tex. App. 2009)	25	Trial court has the authority to impose sanctions for the failure to comply with a pretrial order.	A trial court has the authority to impose sanctions for the failure to comply with a pretrial order.	Does the trial court have the authority to impose sanctions for the failure to comply with a pretrial order?
12526	United States v. Walsh, 156 F. Supp. 3d 374, 382 (E.D.N.Y. 2016)	6	When evaluating the scope of a federal criminal statute, court must look closely to its language, legislative history, and purpose.	When evaluating the scope of a federal criminal statute, [the court] must look closely to its language, legislative history, and purpose	What does the court look to when evaluating the scope of bribery statute?
12530	Templeton v. Wolverton, 142 Tex. 422, 427 (1944)	1	A "mining partnership" may be created by express contract, and without express contract by joint ownership and operation of mineral interests.	A mining partnership may of course be created by express contract and it may be created, without express contract, by joint ownership and joint operation of mineral interests.	Can a mining partnership be created by express contract or without express contract?
12534	Thilman Co. v. Esposito, 87 Ill. App. 3d 289, 293 (1980)	1	No duty is imposed upon trial court to continue case when no request for continuance has been made.	No duty is imposed upon a trial court to continue a case when no request for a continuance has been made.	Is a duty imposed upon a trial court to continue a case when no request for continuance has been made?

12550	Riverton Produce Co. v. State, 871 P.2d 1213, 1221 (Colo. 1994)	10	States retain flexibility to fashion taxes in any manner not inconsistent with constitutional principles.	Moreover, the states retain flexibility to fashion taxes in any manner not inconsistent with constitutional principles, and the United States Supreme Court has expressly "declined to undertake the essentially legislative task of establishing a 'single constitutionally mandated method of taxation.' "	Do states retain flexibility to fashion taxes in any manner not inconsistent with constitutional principles?
12552	Lee, et al., v. Atlantic Coast Line R. Co., 145 Fla. 618, 630 (Fla. 1941)	5	Statutory taxing power is as potent to taxing districts as it is to the state, counties, municipalities, unless restrained by a paramount law. Const. art. 9, SS 1, 10, and S 6, as amended; art. 12, SS 10, 11, 17.	Statutory taxing power is as potent as to taxing districts as it is to the State, counties and municipalities, unless restrained by a paramount law.	Is the statutory taxing power as potent to taxing districts as it is to the state?
12556	Thweatt v. Jackson, 838 S.W.2d 725, 727 (Tex. App. 1992)	2	Assignee of promissory notes stands in shoes of assignor and obtains rights, title, and interest that assignor had at time of assignment.	Second, it is axiomatic that an assignee of a promissory note stands in the shoes of the assignor and obtains the rights, title, and interest that the assignor had at the time of the assignment.	Does the assignee of a promissory note stand in the shoes of the assignor?
12567	Am. Coll. Connection, Inc. v. Berkowitz, 332 Ga. App. 867, 868, 775 S.E.2d 226, 227 (2015)	1	A defendant who files a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction has the burden of proving lack of jurisdiction.	At the outset, we note that a defendant who files a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction has the burden of proving lack of jurisdiction.	Does a defendant who files a motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction have the burden of proving lack of jurisdiction?
12571	MAKI v. HANSEN, 694 N.W.2d 78, 82 (Minn. Ct. App. 2005)	3	Parties are expected to follow the requirements for service of process, and failure to do so can result in dismissal of a claim.	[3] Parties are expected to follow the requirements for service of process and failure to do so can result in dismissal of a claim.	Will failure to follow the requirements for service of process result in dismissal of a claim?
12573	Roberts v. Corwin, 118 A.D.3d 571, 573, 988 N.Y.S.2d 180, 182 (2014)	2	Dismissal of complaint as sanction is penalty aimed to punish misconduct by party to litigation, and, as with any sanction, dismissal of complaint must be commensurate with particular disobedience it is designed to punish.	Dismissal of a complaint as a sanction is a penalty aimed to punish misconduct by a party to a litigation (Lipin v. Bender, 84 N.Y.2d 562, 572–573, 620 N.Y.S.2d 744, 644 N.E.2d 1300 [1994]). As with any sanction, however, dismissal of a complaint must be “commensurate with the particular disobedience it is designed to punish” (Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. v. Global Strat Inc., 22 N.Y.3d 877, 976 N.Y.S.2d 678, 999 N.E.2d 156 [2013][internal quotation marks omitted]).	Is dismissal of complaint as sanction a penalty aimed to punish misconduct by a party to litigation?
12574	Hospice v. N.C. Dept, 185 N.C. App. 109, 112 (N.C. Ct. App. 2007)	2	If a case becomes moot at any time during the course of the proceedings, the usual response should be to dismiss the action.	If a case becomes moot "at any time during the course of the proceedings, the usual response should be to dismiss the action."	Will an action be dismissed if a case becomes moot at any time during the course of the proceedings?

12584	Zeitz v. Vill. of Glenview, 227 Ill. App. 3d 891, 894, 592 N.E.2d 384, 387 (1992)	2	Pleader is not required to set forth his evidence; pleading is only required to allege ultimate facts, not evidentiary facts tending to prove such ultimate facts.	In Illinois a pleader is not required to set forth his evidence. To the contrary, a pleading is only required to allege ultimate facts and not the evidentiary facts tending to prove such ultimate facts.	Is a pleader required to set forth evidentiary facts?
12587	In re Gen. Motors Corp., 296 S.W.3d 813, 826 (Tex. App. 2009)	18	A court has the power to determine its own jurisdiction and to take the appropriate action of dismissing claims over which it does not have jurisdiction.	Landmark's argument, that because the district court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction to adjudicate Landmark's Code-based claims, the district court order of dismissal is void, runs counter to the established rule that a court has the power to determine its own jurisdiction and to take the appropriate action of dismissing claims over which it does not have jurisdiction.	Does a court have the power to determine its own jurisdiction and to take the appropriate action of dismissing claims over which it does not have jurisdiction?
12590	Davis v. Byrd Memorial Hosp, 628 So. 2d 1284, 1287 (La. Ct. App. 1993)	4	Where party fails to follow court's pretrial order, burden is on that party to show why he failed to so comply.	However, where a party fails to follow a court's pretrial order, the burden is on that party to show why he failed to so comply.	"Where party fails to follow a court's pretrial order, is the burden on that party to show why he failed to so comply?"
12605	Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co. v. Schwan, 687 N.W.2d 388, 391 (Minn. Ct. App. 2004)	8	A court will not dismiss an issue as moot if it is capable of repetition and likely to evade review.	A court will not dismiss an issue as moot if it is capable of repetition and likely to evade review. Schmidt, 443 N.W.2d at 826.	Will a court dismiss an issue as moot if it is capable of repetition and likely to evade review?
12606	E.I. Dupont De Nemours & Co. v. Sidran, 140 So. 3d 620, 624 (Fla. Dist. App. 2014)	4	To support a dismissal based upon a fraud on the court, the court must find the false testimony was directly related to the central issue in the case.	To support a dismissal the court must find the "false testimony was directly related to the central issue in the case."	Should whatever scheme of fraud a court finds be supported by clear and convincing evidence that goes to the very core issue at trial?
12607	Wyeth Ayerst Pharms., Inc. v. Assessor of Town of Champlain, 24 A.D.3d 849, 850, 804 N.Y.S.2d 861, 862 (2005)	2	Failure to properly serve party is jurisdictional defect subjecting proceeding to dismissal.	Moreover, the failure to properly serve a party is a jurisdictional defect subjecting a proceeding to dismissal	Is failure to properly serve a party a jurisdictional defect subjecting proceeding to dismissal?
12612	Jackson Cty Bd. of Election v. Summit, 277 S.W.3d 740, 744 (Mo. Ct. App. 2009)	6	A case is "moot" if the decision would have no practical effect upon an existent controversy; when an event occurs that makes a court's decision unnecessary or makes it impossible for the court to grant effectual relief, the case is moot and generally should be dismissed.	A case is moot if the decision would have "no practical effect upon an existent controversy." When an event occurs that makes a court's decision unnecessary or makes it impossible for the court to grant effectual relief, the case is moot and generally should be dismissed.	"Is a case ""moot"" if the decision would have no practical effect upon an existent controversy?"
12613	State ex rel. AG Processing, Inc. v. Public Service Commission, 276 S.W.3d 303, 306 (Mo. Ct. App. 2009)	2	A case is "moot" if the decision would have no practical effect upon an existent controversy.	A case is moot if the decision would have "no practical effect upon an existent controversy."	"Is a case ""moot"" if the decision would have no practical effect upon an existent controversy?"

12614	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	4	Dismissal is a "drastic" sanction to be reserved for the most severe violations of rules and court orders.	Nonetheless, dismissal is a "drastic" sanction to be reserved for the most severe violations of rules and court orders.	"Is a dismissal a ""drastic"" sanction to be reserved for the most severe violations of rules and court orders?"
12617	State v. John F.M., 285 Conn. 52	3	A defendant or plaintiff who fails to produce evidence, when he is ordered to do so, is in default and case may go against him on this ground.	A defendant or plaintiff who fails to produce evidence, when he is ordered to do so, is in default and the case may go against him on this ground.	Is a defendant or plaintiff who fails to produce evidence in default and case can go against him on this ground?
12621	Pixton v. Williams Scotsman, Inc., 924 So. 2d 37, 40 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2006)	5	Lacking involvement or complicity by the client, an attorney's misconduct should not result in a dismissal of an action.	Lacking such involvement or complicity by the client, the attorney's misconduct should not result in a dismissal of the action.	"Would an attorney's misconduct result in a dismissal of an action, when clients involvement or complicity is lacking?"
12622	District of Columbia v. Serafin, 617 A.2d 516, 519 (D.C. 1992)	1	Trial court has authority to dismiss action when plaintiff fails to comply with order of court. Civil Rule 41(b).	The trial court has authority to dismiss an action when a plaintiff fails to comply with an order of the court. Super.Ct.Civ.R. 41(b);	Does a trial court have authority to dismiss an action when a plaintiff fails to comply with order of court?
12623	Larson v. Department of Industry, Labor & Human Relations, 76 Wis. 2d 595, 621 (Wis. 1977)	13	Workmen's compensation is wholly statutory and questions as to what should properly be the public policy concerning it are determined by the legislature and not by the courts.	Workmen's compensation is wholly statutory. Questions on what should properly be the public policy concerning it are determined by the legislature and not the courts.	"For workers compensation, is it the legislature or the courts that determine the questions regarding what should properly be the public policy?"
12629	Atl. Oil Co. v. Los Angeles Cnty., 69 Cal. 2d 585, 594, 446 P.2d 1006, 1011 (1968)	3	Right to drill for and produce oil when granted is a profit a prendre, a right to remove part of substance of land.	The right (to drill for and produce oil) when granted is a profit A prendre, a right to remove a part of the substance of the land.	Is the exclusive right to drill for and produce oil when granted a profit a prendre?
12640	Fortune v. Commonwealth, 14 Va. App. 225, 228 (1992)	7	Where conduct of accused, under conditions and circumstances described, points with reasonable certainty to specific intent to commit rape, intent is established.	Where the conduct of the accused, under conditions and circumstances described, points with reasonable certainty to a specific intent to commit rape, intent is established.	Can a defendants specific intent to commit rape be inferred from the circumstances?
12644	Katsoris v. WME IMG, LLC, 237 F. Supp. 3d 92, 101 (S.D.N.Y. 2017)	3	There is nothing irrevocable about an agreement to arbitrate, and under a variety of circumstances one party may waive or destroy by his conduct his right to insist upon arbitration.	But "there is nothing irrevocable about an agreement to arbitrate," and "under a variety of circumstances one party may waive or destroy by his conduct his right to insist upon arbitration." Baker & Taylor, Inc.	Is there anything irrevocable about an agreement to arbitrate?
12647	Farmers State Bk. v. Doering, 80 Ill. App. 3d 959, 962 (Ill. App. Ct. 1980)	6	A "note" is a unilateral instrument containing an express and absolute promise of signer to pay a specific person or order, or bearer, a definite sum of money at a specified time.	By definition, a "note" is a unilateral instrument containing an express and absolute promise of signer to pay a specified person or order, or bearer, a definite sum of money at a specified time.	"How is a note referred to as, under the law?"

12649	Jackson Bros. v. National Bank, 12 Tenn. App. 464, 469 (1930)	3	Where the holder of an instrument transfers it for value, without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferer had therein, but subject to defenses good against the transferer; and failure of consideration is a good defense.	"Where the holder of an instrument transfers it for value, without indorsing it, the transfer vests in the transferee such title as the transferer had therein, but subject to defenses good against the transferer; and the failure of consideration is a good defense." Landis v.	Does the transferee become the owner subject to all defenses enforceable against the transferor?
12652	Newman v. RAG Wyoming Land Co., 53 P.3d 540, 550 (Wyo. 2002)	5	Parties can sever coalbed methane from remainder of oil and gas estate and convey it separately.	Parties can certainly sever the coalbed methane from the remainder of the oil and gas estate and convey it separately.	Can parties sever the coalbed methane from the remainder of the oil and gas estate?
12655	Saul v. Cahan, 153 A.D.3d 947, 949, 61 N.Y.S.3d 265, 268 (2017)	3	A cause of action sounding in breach of fiduciary duty must be pleaded with particularity. McKinney's CPLR 3016(b).	"A cause of action sounding in breach of fiduciary duty must be pleaded with particularity under CPLR 3016 (b)" (Swartz v. Swartz, 145 A.D.3d 818, 823, 44 N.Y.S.3d 452; see Deblinger v. Sani-Pine Prods. Co., Inc., 107 A.D.3d at 660, 967 N.Y.S.2d 394).	Should a cause of action for breach of fiduciary duty be pleaded with particularity?
12656	Bright v. Frank Russell Investments, 191 Wash. App. 73, 80 (Wash.App. Div. 1, 2015)	5	Litigants in good faith may raise alternative legal grounds for a desired outcome.	Litigants in good faith may raise alternative legal grounds for a desired outcome, and the court's rejection of or failure to reach certain grounds is not a sufficient reason for reducing a fee.	Can litigants in good faith raise alternative legal grounds for a desired outcome?
12661	Randall v. Chrysler Corp., 135 Mich. App. 415, 421 (Mich. Ct. App. 1984)	1	Rights to benefits under the workers' compensation scheme are purely statutory and the legislature has the prerogative to redefine the extent of those benefits.	Rights to benefits under the workers' compensation scheme are purely statutory, and the Legislature has the prerogative to redefine the extent of those benefits.	Does the Legislature have the prerogative to redefine the extent of workers compensation benefits?
12673	State v. Tedesco, 175 Conn. 279, 287 (1978)	8	A principal may delegate to agent all that he himself can do except acts peculiarly personal or acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally.	It is true that a principal may delegate to an agent all that he himself can do except acts "peculiarly personal" or acts "regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally."	Can acts which are required to be performed personally by statute be delegated?
12675	U.S. v. Murphy, 556 F. Supp. 2d 1232, 1236 (D. Colo. 2008)	11	A person may intimidate another without intentionally making a direct or even veiled threat.	It is common knowledge that a person may intimidate another without intentionally making a direct or even veiled threat.	Can you intimidate someone without actually making a direct or even veiled threat?
12685	Avery Contracting, LLC v. Niehaus, 492 S.W.3d 159, 162 (Mo. 2016)	2	Motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim tests the adequacy of a plaintiff's petition.	A motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim tests the adequacy of a plaintiff's petition.	Does a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim test the adequacy of a plaintiff's petition?
12696	Travellers Int'l A.G. v. Trans World Airlines, 41 F.3d 1570, 1575 (2d Cir. 1994)	2	Under New York law, implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing inheres in every contract.	Under New York law, the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing inheres in every contract.	Is there an implied covenant of good faith in every contract?

12697	Auguston v. Spry, 282 A.D.2d 489, 491, 723 N.Y.S.2d 103, 106 (2001)	6	Causes of action alleging breach of contract and unjust enrichment may be pleaded alternatively. McKinney's CPLR 3014.	Additionally, the causes of action alleging breach of contract and unjust enrichment may be pleaded alternatively (see, CPLR 3014; Joseph Sternberg, Inc. v. Walber 36th St. Assocs., 187 A.D.2d 225, 594 N.Y.S.2d 144; Strauss v. Di Cicco, 64 A.D.2d 979, 408 N.Y.S.2d 810).	Can breach of contract and unjust enrichment be pleaded in the alternative?
12700	Ferenc v. Brenner, 927 F. Supp. 2d 537, 545 (N.D. Ill. 2013)	7	Under both Illinois and California law, an agent acting within the scope of his agency is entitled to invoke an arbitration agreement entered into by his principal.	Under Illinois and California law, "an agent acting within the scope of his agency is entitled to invoke an arbitration agreement entered into by [his] principal."	Can an agent invoke an arbitration agreement?
12716	Chubb Group Ins. v. Carrizalez, 375 Ill. App. 3d 537, 538 (Ill. App. Ct. 2007)	2	Dismissal is appropriate where the record establishes that no genuine issue of material fact exists.	Dismissal is appropriate where the record establishes that no genuine issue of material fact exists.	Is dismissal appropriate where the record establishes that no genuine issue of material fact exists?
12717	Young v. Medlantic Lab'y P'ship, 125 Md. App. 299, 303, 725 A.2d 572, 574 (1999)	3	It is clearly inappropriate for judge to make finding of fact in context of motion to dismiss.	It is clearly inappropriate in the context of a motion to dismiss for the judge to make a finding of fact.	Is it clearly inappropriate for a judge to make finding of fact in context of motion to dismiss?
12718	Valley Peat & Humus v. Sunnylands, Inc., 398 Pa. Super. 400, 405, 581 A.2d 193, 195 (1990)	3	Granting of non pros judgment is founded upon equitable doctrine of laches.	The granting of a non pros judgment is founded upon the equitable doctrine of laches.	Is granting of non pros judgment founded upon equitable doctrine of laches?
12723	Carlson v. Carlson, 363 N.W.2d 803, 805 (Minn. Ct. App. 1985)	4	Agent cannot profit from subject of agency without principal's consent, freely given after full disclosure of any facts that might influence principal's judgment.	An agent cannot profit from the subject of the agency without the principal's consent, freely given after full disclosure of any facts that might influence the principal's judgment.	Can an agent claim his compensation from the subject of the principal?
12724	Cruse v. O'Quinn, 273 S.W.3d 766, 777 (Tex. App. 2008)	10	An objection that statements in an affidavit are conclusory is one that relates to a defect in substance, and so may be raised for the first time on appeal.	An objection that statements in an affidavit are conclusory is one that relates to a defect in substance and so may be raised for the first time on appeal.	Are conclusory statements defects of substance in an affidavit?
12727	Dagrosa v. Calabro, 105 N.Y.S.2d 178, 181 (Sup Ct, Apr. 30, 1951)	3	Purchaser who accepts deed which recognizes easement over realty is estopped by such acceptance from denying existence of such easement.	It has long been established in this State that a purchaser who accepts a deed which recognizes an easement over the realty is estopped by such acceptance from denying the existence of such easement.	Is a purchaser who accepts a deed which recognizes an easement over the realty estopped by such acceptance from denying existence of such easement?

12731	Plengemeier v. Thermadyne Indus., Inc., 409 S.W.3d 395, 399 (Mo. Ct. App. 2013)	1	A motion to dismiss is the proper motion for attacking a petition on the ground it is barred by the statute of limitations, especially where the expiration of the limitation appears on the face of the petition; the trial court may not dismiss the petition unless it is clearly established on the petition's face and without exception that the cause of action is time-barred.	A motion to dismiss is the proper motion for attacking a petition on the ground it is barred by the statute of limitations, especially where the expiration of the limitation appears on the face of the petition. The trial court may not dismiss the petition unless it is clearly established on the petition's face and without exception that the cause of *400 action is time-barred.	"In ruling on a motion to dismiss, including one based on the bar of a statute of limitations, is the trial court obliged to construe the petition liberally and give the pleadings their broadest intendment?"
12742	Fisser v. International Bank, 164 F. Supp. 826, 827 (S.D.N.Y. 1958)	1	Agent of an absent owner of cargo may assert in his own name his principal's right of action.	One exception to that rule is the 'well-recognized practice in the admiralty that the agent of an absent owner of cargo may assert in his own name his principal's right of action.'	Can an agent of an absent cargo owner assert in his own his principals right of action?
12745	Marsden v. Encompass Ins. Co., 374 N.J. Super. 241, 249 (App. Div. 2005)	2	Estoppel is an equitable doctrine, founded in the fundamental duty of fair dealing imposed by law.	"Estoppel is an equitable doctrine, founded in the fundamental duty of fair dealing imposed by law."	Is estoppel founded in the fundamental duty of fair dealing imposed by law?
12748	Stamato v. Agamie, 24 N.J. 309, 315 (1957)	3	Equity deems time provisions in land contract to be formal rather than essential, unless circumstances or express language indicate otherwise.	Equity deems time provisions in a land contract to be formal rather than essential, unless the circumstances or express language indicate otherwise.	Is time the essence of land contracts?
12754	Polowick v. Meredith Construction Co., 29 Ill. App. 3d 1092, 1097 (1975)	5	Complaint should not be dismissed for want of prosecution unless the plaintiff has been guilty of inexcusable delay.	A complaint should not be dismissed for want of prosecution unless the plaintiff has been guilty of inexcusable delay.	Should a complaint be dismissed for want of prosecution unless the plaintiff has been guilty of inexcusable delay?
12760	Renville State Bank v. Kinsberg, 40 S.D. 191, 166 N.W. 643, 644 (1918)	1	Written declaration, properly sworn to, may constitute an affidavit, though in form of ordinary pleading.	A written declaration, properly sworn to, may constitute an affidavit, even though in the form of an ordinary pleading.	Can a written declaration in the form of an ordinary pleading constitute an affidavit?
12770	BHA Investment, Inc. v. State, 138 Idaho 348, 352-353 (Idaho 2003)	7	Fees and taxes are generally distinguished in that fees are for purpose of regulation whereas taxes are solely for purpose of raising revenue.	Fees and taxes are generally distinguished in that fees are for the purpose of regulation whereas 479 *353 taxes are solely for the purpose of raising revenue.	Are fees and taxes distinguished in that fees are for the purpose of regulation and taxes are solely for the purpose of raising revenue?
12779	Lewis v. City of Savannah, 336 Ga. App. 126, 129 (Ga. Ct. App. 2016)	5	Upon dismissal of a case, all prior orders that were entered in the case are superceded and can no longer be enforced against the parties.	Furthermore, upon dismissal of the case, all prior orders that were entered in the case are superseded and can no longer be enforced against the parties.	"Upon dismissal of a case, are all prior orders that were entered in the case superseded and can no longer be enforced against the parties?"
12780	Hous. Auth. of St. Louis Cty. v. Lovejoy, 731 S.W.2d 510, 512 (Mo. Ct. App. 1987)	4	Involuntary dismissal of plaintiff's action, in which counterclaim has been filed, does not ordinarily operate to dismiss or to discontinue such counterclaim. V.A.M.S. S 510.170.	An involuntary dismissal of a plaintiff's action in which a counterclaim has been filed does not ordinarily operate to dismiss or to discontinue such counterclaim. See Section 510.170 RSMo (1986).	"Does an involuntary dismissal of a plaintiff's action, in which a counterclaim has been filed, not ordinarily operate to dismiss or to discontinue such counterclaim?"

12782	Pender v. Pender, 634 S.W.2d 244, 246 (Mo. Ct. App. 1982)	1	An order to dismiss terminates the litigation, the petition as well as the action, unless the decree directs a different effect.	An order to dismiss terminates the litigation-the petition as well as the action-unless the decree directs a different effect.	Does an order to dismiss terminate the litigation unless the decree directs a different effect?
12783	Ellis v. Crockett, 51 Haw. 45, 59 (Haw. 1969)	33	Order dismissing complaint in its entirety is judgment denying all relief to plaintiff whose complaint is being dismissed.	An order dismissing a complaint in its entirety is a judgment denying all relief to the plaintiff whose complaint is being dismissed.	Is an order dismissing a complaint in its entirety a judgment denying all relief to a plaintiff whose complaint is being dismissed?
12786	Mongeon v. Burkebile, 79 N.D. 234, 244 (N.D. 1952)	11	The words "with prejudice" appearing in motion or order for dismissal are not always conclusive against plaintiff, but their effect is determined by conditions under which they are used.	The words 'with prejudice' appearing in a motion or order for dismissal are not always conclusive against the plaintiff. Their effect is determined by the conditions under which they are used.	"Are the words ""with prejudice"" appearing in a motion or order for dismissal always conclusive against a plaintiff?"
12787	Whitaker v. Wright, 100 Fla. 282, 287, 129 So. 889, 891 (1930)	4	Jurisdiction of parties is not lost by mere entry of nonsuit without final judgment.	Syllabus of the Court: Jurisdiction of the parties is not lost by the mere entry of a nonsuit without a final judgment rendered and entered thereon.	Is the jurisdiction of parties not lost by mere entry of nonsuit without final judgment?
12789	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	17	A person serving two masters may subject both to liability for the same act if the act is within the scope of employment for both.	Thus, a person serving two masters may subject both to liability for the same act "if the act is within the scope of employment for both."	When can a person serving two masters subject both to liability for the same act?
12791	Ward v. Mgmt. Analysis Co. Emp. Disability Ben. Plan, 135 F.3d 1276, 1284 (9th Cir. 1998), aff'd in part, rev'd in part sub nom. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. v. Ward, 526 U.S. 358, 119 S. Ct. 1380, 143 L. Ed. 2d 462 (1999)	11	Whether as between parties their relationship is one of agency depends on their relations as they in fact exist under agreement or acts of parties, and the question is not governed by stipulations of the parties.	Whether as between the parties their relationship is one of agency depends on their relations as they in fact exist under the agreement or acts of the parties, and the question is not governed by the stipulations of the parties.	Can agency be governed by stipulation of the parties?
12792	Whitco Produce Co. v. Bonanza Int'l, Inc., 154 Ga. App. 92, 93, 267 S.E.2d 627, 628 (1980)	1	Generally, franchise contract under which one operates a type of business on royalty basis does not create agency or partnership relationship.	The general rule is that a franchise contract under which one operates a type of business on a royalty basis does not create an agency or a partnership relationship.	Can a franchise contract create an agency relationship?
12793	Johnson v. LeBonheur Children's Med. Ctr., 74 S.W.3d 338, 344 (Tenn. 2002)	17	A person serving two masters may subject both to liability for the same act if the act is within the scope of employment for both.	Thus, a person serving two masters may subject both to liability for the same act "if the act is within the scope of employment for both."	Can a person serving two masters subject both to liability for the same act?

12796	Pescia v. Auburn Ford-Lincoln Mercury Inc., 68 F. Supp. 2d 1269, 1282 (M.D. Ala. 1999)	23	Under Alabama law, the test for determining whether one is an agent of the defendant is whether the defendant has reserved the right of control over the means by which the work is done; stated differently, the defendant must have reserved the right to direct not only what shall be done, but also how it shall be done.	Under Alabama law: The test for determining whether one is an agent of the defendant is whether the defendant has reserved the right of control over the means by which the work is done. Stated differently, the defendant must have reserved the right to direct not only what shall be done, but also how it shall be done.	How should it to be determined whether one is an agent?
12797	APSB Bancorp v. Thornton Grant, 26 Cal. App. 4th 926, 930, 31 Cal. Rptr. 2d 736, 738 (1994)	2	Independent contractor and agent are not mutually exclusive legal categories, and independent contractor is also an agent when it contracts to act on behalf of a principal and is subject to the principal's control except with respect to the agent's physical conduct.	However, as independent contractor and agent are not mutually exclusive legal categories, our inquiry does not end here. (City of Los Angeles v. Meyer Bros. Parking System, Inc. (1975) 54 Cal.App.3d 135, 138, 126 Cal.Rptr. 545.) In Meyer Bros. it was held an independent contractor is also an agent when it contracts to act on behalf of a "principal" and is subject to the "principal's" control except with respect to the "agent's" physical conduct. (Id. at p. 138, 126 Cal.Rptr. 545.)	Can an independent contractor also be an agent?
12802	Rotert v. Faulkner, 660 S.W.2d 463, 469 (Mo. Ct. App. 1983)	8	Even though note does not possess quality of negotiability, its owner may nonetheless, by assignment, transfer his interest to another, and any language, however informal, if it shows intention of owner of chose in action to transfer it, and sufficiently identifies subject matter, is sufficient to vest property therein in assignee.	It is thus established in Missouri that even though a note does not possess the quality of negotiability, its owner may nonetheless, by assignment, transfer his interest to another. Any language, however informal, if it shows the intention of the owner of a chose in action to transfer it, and sufficiently identifies the subject matter, is sufficient to vest the property therein in the assignee.	Can the owner of a non-negotiable note transfer his interest by assignment?
12809	Kouba v. Febco, Inc., 543 N.W.2d 245, 247 (N.D. 1996)	3	Dismissal without prejudice neither precludes subsequent action nor addresses merits of action.	A dismissal without prejudice neither precludes a subsequent action nor addresses the merits of an action.	Does a dismissal without prejudice neither preclude subsequent action nor addresses merits of an action?
12810	Weber v. Weber, 908 S.W.2d 356, 359 (Mo. 1995)	2	Dismissal of petition in civil action does not render counterclaim or cross-claim filed in action dismissed or discontinued. V.A.M.R. 67.05.	Dismissal of a plaintiff's petition in a civil action does not render a counterclaim or cross-claim filed in the action dismissed or discontinued. Rule 67.05.	Does dismissal of a petition in a civil action not render a counterclaim or cross-claim filed in action dismissed or discontinued?

12811	Iskalo Elec. Tower LLC v. Stantec Consulting Servs., Inc., 113 A.D.3d 1105, 1106, 979 N.Y.S.2d 212, 214 (2014)	3	Generally, a conditional order of dismissal is self-executing and a party's failure to produce the requested items on or before the date certain renders it absolute; nevertheless, a conditional order, like any other, must be sufficiently specific to be enforceable.	Generally, a "conditional order [of dismissal is] self-executing and [a party]'s 'failure to produce [the requested] items on or before the date certain' render[s] it 'absolute' " (Wilson v. Galicia Contr. & Restoration Corp., 10 N.Y.3d 827, 830, 860 N.Y.S.2d 417, 890 N.E.2d 179; see Gibbs, 16 N.Y.3d at 78, 917 N.Y.S.2d 68, 942 N.E.2d 277; Burton v. Matteliano, 98 A.D.3d 1248, 1250, 951 N.Y.S.2d 772). "Nevertheless, a conditional order, like any other, must be sufficiently specific to be enforceable" (Trabanco v. City of New York, 81 A.D.3d 490, 492, 916 N.Y.S.2d 90).	Is a conditional order of dismissal meant to be self-executing?
12817	Dinges v. Gabardi, 202 Ill. App. 3d 732, 735 (Ill. App. Ct. 1990)	1	Even if complaint states cause of action on its face, where affirmative defense negates cause of action, dismissal is proper.	Even if the complaint states a cause of action on its face, where an affirmative defense negates the cause of action, the dismissal is proper.	Will a dismissal be proper if complaint states cause of action on its face?
12819	Violette v. Shoup, 16 Cal. App. 4th 611, 620, 20 Cal. Rptr. 2d 358, 363 (1993)	2	Person does not become agent of another simply by offering help or making suggestion.	A person does not become the agent of another simply by offering help or making a suggestion.	Can a person become the agent of another simply by offering help or making a suggestion?
12820	Cislaw v. Southland Corp., 4 Cal. App. 4th 1284, 1288, 6 Cal. Rptr. 2d 386, 388 (1992)	1	General rule is where franchise agreement gives franchisor the right of complete or substantial control over the franchisee, an agency relationship exists.	The general rule is where a franchise agreement gives the franchisor the right of complete or substantial control over the franchisee, an agency relationship exists.	When will a franchise agreement establish an agency relationship?
12822	Am. Env't, Inc. v. 3-J Co., 222 Ill. App. 3d 242, 249, 583 N.E.2d 649, 655 (1991)	11	Attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for single transaction or for series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	An attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Is a brokeremployed for a single transaction an agent?
12823	Caterpillar, Inc. v. Usinor Industeel, 393 F. Supp. 2d 659, 669-670 (N.D. Ill. 2005)	4	Under Illinois law, test for agency is whether alleged principal has right to control manner in which work is carried out by alleged agent, and whether alleged agent can affect legal relationships of principal.	Under Illinois law, 15 the test for agency is whether the alleged principal has the right to control the manner in which work is carried out by the alleged agent, *670 and whether the alleged agent can affect the legal relationships of the principal.	What is the test for agency?
12825	Fischer v. Machado, 50 Cal. App. 4th 1069, 1072, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 213, 215 (1996)	5	Existence of fiduciary relation modifies all agency agreements and creates rules which do not apply to contracts in which one party is not agent for other.	The existence of the fiduciary relation modifies all agency agreements and creates rules which do not apply to contracts in which one party is not an agent for the other.	Does existence of a fiduciary relationship modify all agency agreements?

12826	Am. Envtl. v. 3-J Co., 222 Ill. App. 3d 242	11	Attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for single transaction or for series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	An attorney, broker, auctioneer, and other persons similarly employed for a single transaction or for a series of transactions are agents, although as to their physical activities they are independent contractors.	Is an auctioneer employed for a single transaction an agent?
12831	Mendoza v. U.S. Immigration & Customs Enforcement, 849 F.3d 408, 414 (8th Cir. 2017)	13	Individual born abroad is presumed to be alien and bears burden of rebutting that presumption.	Mendoza told Osterberg that he was born in Mexico, Mendoza never mentioned that he was a United States citizen, and "an individual born abroad is presumed to be an alien and bears the burden of rebutting that presumption."	Does an individual born abroad is presumed to be an alien and bears the burden of rebutting that presumption?
12833	National Leasing Corp. v. Williams, 80 F.R.D. 416, 419 (W.D. Pa. 1978)	6	Obligations of maker of note are determined by law of state designated on instrument as place of payment.	The obligations of the maker of a note are determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument as the place of payment.	Can the obligations of the maker of note be determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument?
12834	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 459-460 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	5	Every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially original contract, equivalent to new note or bill in favor of holder, and accommodation paper is governed by same rules as other paper.	It is settled in Louisiana that every endorsement, accommodation or otherwise, is essentially an *460 original contract, equivalent to a new note or bill in favor of the holder and that accommodation paper is governed by the same rules as other paper.	What is an endorsement equivalent to?
12836	Herkner v. Rubin, 126 Cal. App. 677, 681, 14 P.2d 1043, 1045 (Cal. Ct. App. 1932)	5	Doctrines of estoppel by conduct and ratification have no application to contract which violates express mandate of law.	Moreover, the doctrines of estoppel by conduct and ratification have no application to a contract which violates an express mandate of the law	Does estoppel by conduct have no application to a contract which violates an express mandate of the law?
12838	In re City County of Honolulu Corp. Counsel, 54 Haw. 356, 375 (Haw. 1973)	8	Where terms of franchise are uncertain and reasonably susceptible to multiple meanings, or if the provisions of the franchise are conflicting or ambiguous, the terms of the franchise are construed favorably to the public interests.	And where the terms of the franchise are uncertain and reasonably susceptible to multiple meanings or if the provisions of the franchise are conflicting or ambiguous, the terms of the franchise are construed favorably to the public interests.	Should a franchise be construed in favor of the public?
12841	Labrie v. Kenney, 95 S.W.3d 722, 728 (Tex. App. 2003)	10	A dismissal for want of prosecution is not a decision on the merits, and does not prevent a party from refiling the suit.	A dismissal for want of prosecution is not a decision on the merits and does not prevent a party from refiling the suit.	"Is a dismissal for want of prosecution not a decision on the merits, and does not prevent a party from refiling the suit?"
12851	Vogel v. Carolina Int'l, Inc., 711 P.2d 708, 711-12 (Colo. App. 1985)	3	Waiver requires clear, unequivocal, and decisive acts of party showing such purpose.	Waiver requires a clear, unequivocal, and decisive act of a *712 party showing such purpose.	"Does a waiver require a clear, unequivocal, and decisive act of the party showing such a purpose?"

12857	Jefferson Cnty., Tenn. v. Tennessee Val. Auth., 146 F.2d 564, 565 (6th Cir. 1945)	1	The state or its political subdivision holds, as a trustee, title to the easement for public highways and roads, and a quasi corporation such as a city or county holds such property by delegation of general sovereign power; authority for its acquisition and control being governmental and the interest exclusively that of the public.	The State or its political subdivision, holds, as a trustee, title to the easement for public highways and roads. A quasi corporation such as a city or county, holds such property by delegation of the general sovereign power, the authority for its acquisition and control being governmental and the interest exclusively that of the public.	Does the State hold as a trustee title to the easement for public highways and roads?
12859	Annen v. Trump, 913 S.W.2d 16, 22 (Mo. Ct. App. 1995)	7	Primary purpose of petition is to define and isolate issues for parties and trial court.	The primary purpose of a petition is to define and isolate the issues for the parties and the trial court.	"Is defining and isolating the issues for the parties and the trial court, the primary purpose of a petition?"
12860	Almes v. Burket, 2005 Pa. Super. 289 (Pa. Super. Ct. 2005)	1	A petition to open a judgment of non pros is addressed to the equitable powers of the court; it is a request to open a judgment of non pros by way of grace and not of right.	We begin our analysis of the present case by acknowledging that "[a] Petition to Open a judgment of non pros is addressed to the equitable powers of the court. It is a request to open a judgment of non pros by way of grace and not of *864 right."	Is a petition to open a judgment of non pros addressed to the equitable powers of the court?
12863	White v. Pruneau, 913 S.W.2d 959, 959 (Mo. Ct. App. 1996)	3	Generally, dismissal without prejudice is not adjudication on the merits, and, unless otherwise barred, such dismissal allows party to refile action.	Generally, a dismissal without prejudice is not an adjudication on the merits. Id. Unless otherwise barred, such a dismissal allows the party to re-file the action. Id.	"Generally, is a dismissal without prejudice not adjudication on the merits?"
12866	HICA Education Loan Corp. ex rel. Sallie Mae, Inc. v. Fielding, 953 So. 2d 1261, 1263 (Ala. Civ. App. 2006)	1	A dismissal for want of prosecution is within the discretion and inherent power of the trial court.	A dismissal for want of prosecution is within the discretion and inherent power of the trial court.	Is a dismissal for want of prosecution within the discretion and inherent power of the trial court?
12867	Levermann v. Cartall, 715 S.W.2d 728, 729 (Tex. App. 1986)	5	Trial court may dismiss suit for want of prosecution pursuant to its inherent power.	The trial court may dismiss a suit for want of prosecution pursuant to its inherent power.	Can a court dismiss suit for want of prosecution pursuant to its inherent power?
12873	Antoine E.J. v. Birch Fam. Servs., Inc., 95 A.D.3d 832, 833, 943 N.Y.S.2d 219, 220 (2012)	1	Schools are under duty to adequately supervise students in their charge and they will be held liable for foreseeable injuries proximately related to absence of adequate supervision.	"Schools are under a duty to adequately supervise the students in their charge and they will be held liable for foreseeable injuries proximately related to the absence of adequate supervision"	Do schools have a duty to supervise students and protect them against intentional injuries?
12878	Doe v. Gleicher, 393 Ill. App. 3d 31, 36 (Ill. App. Ct. 2009)	10	Claims dismissed without an opportunity to amend are final even if the case is not dismissed in its entirety.	Claims dismissed without an opportunity to amend are final even if the case is not dismissed in its entirety.	Are claims dismissed without an opportunity to amend final even if the case is not dismissed in its entirety?
12880	ANR Pipeline Co. v. Lafaver, 150 F.3d 1178, 1193 (10th Cir. 1998)	25	State's interests in integrity of its property tax system lie at core of the state's sovereignty.	We do not doubt, therefore, that a state's interests in the integrity of its property tax system lie at the core of the state's sovereignty.	Do a state's interests in the integrity of its property tax system lie at the core of the state's sovereignty?

12881	Amos v. Mathews, 99 Fla. 1, 17 (Fla. 1930)	54	As inherent attribute of sovereignty, state may impose all taxes not expressly or by clear implication inhibited by State or Federal Constitutions.	As inherent attribute of sovereignty, state may impose all taxes not expressly or by clear implication inhibited by State or Federal Constitutions.	Can the state impose any tax that is inhibited by State or Federal Constitutions?
12894	State v. Stover, 271 Or. 132, 140 (1975)	4	Jeopardy does not attach until jury is sworn or, if judge is trier of fact, until first witness is sworn, or until defendant is convicted on plea of guilty.	Jeopardy does not attach until the jury is sworn or, if the judge is the trier of fact, until the first witness is sworn, or until the defendant is convicted on a plea of guilty.	Will jeopardy attach when first witness is sworn?
12921	Superior Dispatch, Inc. v. Insurance Corp. of New York, 181 Cal.App.4th 175, 186-187 (2010)	4	Estoppel may arise although there was no designed fraud on the part of the person sought to be estopped.	But "[a]n estoppel may arise although there was no designed fraud on the part of the person sought to be estopped.	Can an estoppel arise although there was no designed fraud on the party of the person sought to be estopped?
12922	Cosby v. Moore, 259 Ala. 41, 47 (Ala. 1953)	10	An estoppel cannot exist where knowledge of both parties is equal, and nothing is done by the one to mislead the other.	An estoppel cannot exist where the knowledge of both parties is equal, and nothing is done by the one to mislead the other.'	"Can an estoppel exist where knowledge of both parties is equal, and nothing is done by the one to mislead the other?"
12929	Egg Harbor City v. Atlantic Cty, 10 N.J. Tax 7, 19 (Tax 1988)	3	If private user of public property is carrying out a public purpose, real property will not be taxed for local property tax purposes.	If a private user of public property is carrying out a public purpose, the real property will not be taxed for local property tax purposes.	"When the private user of a public property is carrying out a public purpose, will the real property be taxed for local property tax purposes?"
12931	People v. Kirkpatrick, 365 Ill. App. 3d 927, 930, 851 N.E.2d 276, 279 (2006)	4	The trier of fact may look to the context in which a threat arose when determining whether the threat was credible, for purposes of determining whether a defendant committed the offense of threatening a public official.	The trier of fact may look to the context in which a threat arose when determining whether the threat was credible.	Where may the trier of fact look when determining whether the threat was credible?
12934	Lamb v. State Work Rel. Comp. F, 127 Pa. Super. 44, 46-47 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1937)	1	Ordinarily, test of determining by whom one is employed does not depend solely on payment of wages, but it may aid in determining that fact.	We readily recognize that ordinarily the test of determining by whom one is employed does not depend solely upon the payment of wages, but it may aid in determining that fact.	Does the payment of wages aid in determining who one is employed by?
12961	Borough of Paramus v. Cnty. of Bergen, DOCKET NOS.: 011397-2008 (Tax Jul. 8, 2013)	2	Claims for tax exemption have to stand scrutiny to show that they serve a public purpose.	Accordingly claims for tax exemption have to stand scrutiny to show that they serve a public purpose."	Should claims for tax exemption stand scrutiny to show that they serve a public purpose?
12964	Neptune Ests., LLC v. Big Poll & Son Const., LLC, 39 Misc. 3d 649, 961 N.Y.S.2d 896, 903-04 (Sup. Ct.), judgment entered, (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2013)	3	An action based upon an alleged injury to property is one sounding in tort.	"An action based upon an alleged injury to property is one sounding in tort.	Is an action based upon an alleged injury to property one sounding in tort?
12965	Choharis v. State Farm, 961 A.2d 1080, 1088 (D.C. 2008)	5	The duty which is owed to an insured for failure to settle a claim sounds in contract and not in tort.	The Maryland Court of Appeals has repeatedly held that the duty which is owed to an insured for failure to settle a claim sounds in contract and not in tort.	Does the duty which is owed to an insured for failure to settle a claim sound in contract and not in tort?

12970	Union Oil Co. of Cal. v. State Bd. of Equalization, 60 Cal. 2d 441, 453, 386 P.2d 496, 504 (1963)	14	Privately-held leasehold interests in publicly-owned real property are subject to taxation, while public ownership interest is exempt.	Although privately-held leasehold interests in publicly-owned real property are subject to taxation, the public ownership interest is exempt (Texas Co. v. County of Los Angeles (1959) 52 Cal.2d 55, 338 P.2d 440); the rental price, moreover, is considered the purchase price of the leasehold interest and, for purposes of appraisal by the capitalization of net income method, the rental is not deductible as an expense. (DeLuz Homes, Inc. v. County of San Diego (1955) 45 Cal.2d 546, 290 P.2d 544.)	Does privately-held leasehold interests in public-owned real property subject to taxation?
12974	Southfield Music, Inc. v. Diamond Time, Ltd., 371 F.3d 883, 891 (6th Cir. 2004)	10	Application of equitable estoppel should be premised on defendant's improper conduct as well as plaintiff's actual and reasonable reliance thereon.	Application of equitable estoppel " 'should be premised on a defendant's improper conduct as well as a plaintiff's actual and reasonable reliance thereon.' "	Is the application of equitable estoppel premised on misconduct by the defendant?
12979	Int'l Ribbon Mills, Ltd. v. Arjan Ribbons, Inc., 36 N.Y.2d 121, 126, 325 N.E.2d 137, 139 (1975)	5	Assignee never stands in any better position than his assignor; he is subject to all the equities and burdens which attach to property assigned because he receives no more and can do no more than his assignor.	It is elementary ancient law that an assignee never stands in any better position than his assignor. He is subject to all the equities and burdens which attach to the property assigned because he receives no more and can do no more than his assignor (see, e.g., Matter of Nunez, 226 N.Y. 246, 251, 123 N.E. 492, 493; see, also, Restatement, Contracts, 2d (T.D., 1973), s 168; 3 Williston, Contracts (3d ed.), s 432).	Does an assignee stand in a better position than that of the assignor?
12983	Pilcher v. Direct Equity Lending, 189 F. Supp. 2d 1198, 1210 (D. Kan. 2002)	6	A void act has no legal force or effect; a voidable act is not void in itself but may be declared void usually at the option of an affected party.	"A void act has no legal force or effect. A voidable act is not void in itself but may be declared void usually at the option of an affected party."	Can a voidable act be made void at the option of the affected party?
12984	W. Point-Pepperell, Inc. v. Donovan, 689 F.2d 950, 959 (11th Cir. 1982)	9	Standards for reviewing magistrate's finding of probable cause are same for both administrative and criminal warrants.	The standards for reviewing a magistrate's finding of probable cause are the same for both administrative and criminal warrants.	Are the standards for reviewing a magistrates finding of probable cause same for both administrative and criminal warrants?
12986	State v. Whitwell, 215 S.W.3d 760, 761 (Mo. Ct. App. 2007)	2	A ruling in limine is interlocutory only and is subject to change during the course of trial; the motion in limine, in and of itself, presents nothing for appeal.	"A ruling in limine is interlocutory only and is subject to change during the course of trial. The motion in limine, in and of itself, presents nothing for appeal."	Is a ruling in limine interlocutory only and subject to change during the course of the trial?

12987	Tisdale v. Stone Webster Engineering Corp., 595 F. Supp. 1016, 1019 (S.D. Miss. 1984)	4	Different workmen's compensation schemes enacted by the several states are complex and best administered by the individual state's agencies or courts.	As Professor Larson pointed out in his treatise on workmen's compensation law, the different workmen's compensation schemes enacted by the several states are complex and are best administered by the individual state's agencies or courts.	"Who should administer workmens compensation laws, agencies or courts? "
12990	State ex Rel. Blankenship v. Richardson, 196 W. Va. 726, 731 (1996)	7	It is duty of legislature to consider facts, establish policy, and embody that policy in legislation; it is duty of court, however, to determine constitutionality of legislation.	It is the duty of the legislature to consider facts, establish policy, and embody that policy in legislation." Boyd v. Merritt, 177 W.Va. 472, 474, 354 S.E.2d 106, 108 (1986). It is the duty of this Court, however, to determine the constitutionality of the legislation.	"Does the Court sit as a superlegislature, or is it the legislatures duty to consider the facts, establish, policy, and embody the policy in legislation? "
12992	Giraldo v. Cossin, 399 So. 2d 540, 541 (Fla. App. 1981)	5	Action cannot advance toward trial unless court has jurisdiction over party sued.	An action cannot advance toward trial unless the court has jurisdiction over the party sued.	Can action advance toward trial unless a court has jurisdiction over a party sued?
12993	Frazier-Hampton v. Hesterly, 89 Ark. App. 211, 213 (2005)	2	Public road does not have to be established by formal order of county court; instead, prescriptive right-of-way can be established by county working road for period in excess of seven years.	A public road does not have to be established by a formal order of the county court; instead, a prescriptive right-of-way can be established by the county working the road for a period in excess of seven years.	How can a public road be established?
12994	Jovic v. L-3 Servs., Inc., 69 F. Supp. 3d 750, 765 (N.D. Ill. 2014)	29	The act of state doctrine is an affirmative defense, on which the defendant carries the burden of proof.	Similarly, the act of state doctrine is an affirmative defense, on which the defendant carries the burden of proof.	Is the act of state doctrine an affirmative defense on which the defendant carries the burden of proof?
12999	Freeman v. Leader Nat. Ins. Co., 58 S.W.3d 590, 595 (Mo. 2001)	3	After a case is dismissed, the trial court may take no further action, and any step attempted is a nullity.	And after a case is dismissed, the trial court may take no further action and any step attempted is viewed as a nullity.	"After a voluntary dismissal is filed, may the circuit court take no further steps as to the dismissed action, and any step attempted is viewed as a nullity?"
13000	Wheeler v. Del Duca, 151 A.D.3d 1005, 1006-07, 58 N.Y.S.3d 409, 411 (2017)	7	The essential elements of a cause of action sounding in trespass are the intentional entry into the land of another without justification or permission.	The essential elements *1007 of a cause of action sounding in trespass are the intentional entry into the land of another without justification or permission (see Boring v. Town of Babylon, 147 A.D.3d 892, 47 N.Y.S.3d 419; Julia Props., LLC v. Levy, 137 A.D.3d 1224, 28 N.Y.S.3d 428).	What are the elements of a cause of action sounding in trespass?

13004	Blanchard v. Ashby Construction Co., 95 So. 2d 670, 675 (La. Ct. App. 1957)	1	A person who attempts to make a left turn or attempts to turn from a direct line on public highways must ascertain before turning that turn can be made safely. LSA-R.S. 32:235, subd. A, 32:236, subd. A.	It is the well settled law and jurisprudence of our state that a person who attempts to make a left turn or who attempts to turn from a direct line on the public highways of the state must ascertain before turning that the turn can be made safely. LSA-R.S. 32:235, subd. A, and R.S. 32:236, subd. A.	How should a person making a left turn on a highway proceed?
13009	United States v. Lemons, 67 F. Supp. 985, 989 (W.D. Mo. 1946)	5	The law of the state in which a check or negotiable instrument is executed determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	The law of the state in which a check, or negotiable instrument, is executed, determines the formality and essential validity thereof, and the incidents of the obligation of such instrument.	Which law determines the incidents of obligation of a check?
13014	Howard v. Cnty. of Amador, 220 Cal. App. 3d 962, 972, 269 Cal. Rptr. 807, 813 (Ct. App. 1990)	1	Distinguishing characteristics of a "leasehold estate" are that the lease gives the lessee exclusive possession of the premises against all the world, including the owner, and its term is limited to endure for a definite and ascertained period, however short or long the period may be.	The distinguishing characteristics of a leasehold estate are that the lease gives the lessee the exclusive possession of the premises against all the world, including the owner (Von Goerlitz v. Turner (1944) 65 Cal.App.2d 425, 429, 150 P.2d 278) and its term is limited to endure for a definite and ascertained period, however short or long the period may be. (Guy v. Brennan (1923) 60 Cal.App. 452, 456, 213 P. 265.)	Are leases characterized by the exclusive possession of premises they provide against the world?
13015	Vines v. Branch, 244 Va. 185, 190, 418 S.E.2d 890, 894 (1992)	7	One who commits trespass to chattel is liable to its rightful possessor for actual damages suffered by reason of loss of its use.	One who commits a trespass to a chattel is liable to its rightful possessor for actual damages suffered by reason of loss of its use.	Will a trespasser to chattels be liable for actual damages?
13016	Doe v. Amherst Coll., 238 F. Supp. 3d 195, 225 (D. Mass. 2017)	38	The tort of defamation seeks to impose liability on a defendant for harm sustained by a plaintiff as a result of the publication of a false statement about the plaintiff to others.	The tort of defamation "seek[s] to impose liability on a defendant for harm sustained by a plaintiff as a result of the publication of a false statement about the plaintiff to others."	When can liability for defamation be imposed on a defendant?
13019	Smith v. City of Chi., 143 F. Supp. 3d 741, 761 (N.D. Ill. 2015)	42	Under Illinois law, an injury to or interference with possession, with or without physical force, constitutes a trespass to personal property.	Under Illinois law, "an injury to or interference with possession, with or without physical force, constitutes a trespass to personal property."	Can trespass to personal property occur without physical force?
13027	Pasco v. State, 563 N.E.2d 587, 590 (Ind. 1990)	2	Evidence of slightest degree of penetration of female sex organ by male sex organ is sufficient to sustain rape conviction, and such penetration can be inferred from circumstantial evidence.	It is well established that evidence of the slightest degree of penetration of the female sex organ by the male sex organ is sufficient to sustain a rape conviction, and such penetration can be inferred from circumstantial evidence.	Can penetration be inferred from circumstantial evidence?

13029	Admiral Oriental Line v. United States, 86 F.2d 201, 202 (2d Cir. 1936)	1	An agent, compelled to defend a baseless suit, grounded on acts performed in his principal's business, may recover from principal expenses of his defense.	An agent, compelled to defend a baseless suit, grounded upon acts performed in his principal's business, may recover from the principal the expenses of his defense.	Can an Agent recover expenses of a suit?
13031	Terry Neff & Iron Workers Mid-South Pension Fund ex rel. Weatherford Int'l, Ltd. v. Nicholas F. Brady, David J. Butters, William E. Macaulay, Robert B. Millard, Robert K. Moses, Jr., Robert A. Rayne, Bernard J. Duroc-Danner, Burt M. Martin, & Weatherford Int'l, Ltd., 527 S.W.3d 511, 530 (Tex. App. 2017)	46	The purpose of special exceptions is to compel clarification of a pleading that fails to plead a cause of action or is not clear or sufficiently specific.	The purpose of special exceptions is to compel clarification of a pleading that fails to plead a cause of action or is not clear or sufficiently specific.	Is the purpose of special exceptions to compel clarification of a pleading?
13034	Ready v. United/Goedecke Servs., 393 Ill. App. 3d 56, 58 (Ill. App. Ct. 2009)	1	Court's ruling on evidentiary motions such as motions in limine are left to the court's discretion and will not be disturbed on appeal absent an abuse of that discretion.	The trial court's ruling on evidentiary motions such as motions in limine are left to the court's discretion and will not be disturbed on appeal absent an abuse of that discretion.	"Are rulings on evidence motions, such as motions in limine, left undisturbed on review absent an abuse of discretion? "
13036	Frymire Eng'g Co. ex rel. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co., 259 S.W.3d 140, 142 (Tex. 2008)	3	Equitable subrogation applies in every instance in which one person, not acting voluntarily, has paid a debt for which another was primarily liable and which in equity should have been paid by the latter.	Although the doctrine most often arises in the insurance context, equitable subrogation applies "in every instance in which one person, not acting voluntarily, has paid a debt for which another was primarily liable and which in equity should have been paid by the latter."	Does the doctrine of equitable subrogation most often arise in the context of insurance?
13041	Trampush v. United FCS (In re Trampush), 552 B.R. 817, 821 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 2016)	4	Under Wisconsin law, the object of subrogation is to do substantial justice independent of form or contract relation between the parties.	The object of subrogation is "... to do substantial justice independent of form or contract relation between the parties .	Is the object of subrogation to do substantial justice independent of form or contract relation between the parties?
13046	In re Kaul, 261 Kan. 755 (Kan. 1997)	8	Power to levy taxes is inherent in power to govern, but exercise of that power is dependent upon existence of legislation designating kinds of property to be taxed.	The power to levy taxes is inherent in the power to govern, but the exercise of that power is dependent upon the existence of legislation designating the kinds of property to be taxed.	Is the power to levy taxes inherent in the power to govern?
13049	Davidson v. Bugbee, 227 Mich. App. 264, 269 (Mich. Ct. App. 1997)	8	Cause of action accrues when all the elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint.	A cause of action accrues when all the elements of the claim have occurred and can be alleged in a proper complaint.	Does a cause of action accrue when all the elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint?
13052	Roth v. First National State Bank of New Jersey, 169 N.J. Super. 280, 284 (App. Div. 1979)	1	There is a generally recognized obligation of confidentiality in respect of a depositor's financial relationship with a bank.	It must be conceded that there is a generally recognized obligation of confidentiality in respect of a depositor's financial relationship with a bank.	Is there a recognized obligation of confidentiality in respect of a depositor's financial relationship with a bank?

13057	Hardy v. Smith, 148 So. 3d 64, 70-71 (Ala. App. 2013)	13	An essential element of adverse possession relates to the claimant's intent to assert dominion and control over the disputed property.	"Another essential element of adverse possession relates to the claimant's intent to assert dominion and control over the disputed property.	Is the element of intention essential to prove adverse possession?
13058	In re Flamingo 55, Inc., 378 B.R. 893, 907-908 (D. Nev. 2007)	9	Under California law, a surety is the same as a guarantor, and a "surety" or "guarantor" is one who promises to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another, or hypothecates property as security therefor. West's Ann.Cal.Civ.Code S 2787.	Under California law, a surety is the same as a guarantor, and "[a] surety or guarantor is one who promises to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another, or hypothecates property as security therefor." CAL. CIVIL CODE 2787.	How is a surety similar to a guarantor?
13063	Barclaysamerican Corp. v. Kane, 746 F.2d 653, 656 (10th Cir. 1984)	5	Party seeking to assert attorney-client privilege or a work product doctrine as a bar to discovery has burden of establishing that either or both is applicable.	The party seeking to assert the attorney-client privilege or the work product doctrine as a bar to discovery has the burden of establishing that either or both is applicable.	Who has the burden of demonstrating that the privilege is applicable?
13073	Chesapeake O. Ry. v. Greenup Cty., Kentucky, 175 F.2d 169, 173 (6th Cir. 1949)	4	The power of eminent domain is so inherently governmental in character, and so essential for the public welfare, as not to be susceptible of abridgement by agreement.	The power of eminent domain is 'so inherently governmental in character and so essential for the public welfare' as not to be susceptible of abridgement by agreement.	What is the inherent character of the power of eminent domain?
13074	401 Pub. Safety & Lifeline Data Ctrs., LLC v. Ray, 80 N.E.3d 895, 900 (Ind. App. 2017)	3	To establish a claim of defamation, a plaintiff must prove the existence of a communication with defamatory imputation, malice, publication, and damages.	To establish a claim of defamation, a plaintiff must prove the existence of " 'a communication with defamatory imputation, malice, publication, and damages.' "	How does a plaintiff establish a claim of defamation?
13075	Freeman v. Grain Processing Corp., 895 N.W.2d 105, 122 (Iowa 2017)	32	To constitute a nuisance, there must be a degree of danger likely to result in damage inherent in the thing itself, beyond that arising from a mere failure to exercise ordinary care.	[T]he true distinction between negligence and nuisance is that "to constitute a nuisance 'there must a degree of danger (likely to result in damage) inherent in the thing itself, beyond that arising from a mere failure to exercise ordinary care.' "	Are nuisance and negligence distinguishable?
13076	Continental Ins. Co. v. Washeon Corp., 524 F. Supp. 34, 37 (E.D. Mo. 1981)	3	To establish a bailment, there must be delivery and acceptance of bailed property for specific purpose in accordance with express or implied contract between bailor and bailee, delivery to bailee must be complete, and for period of the bailment, bailee must have exclusive right to possession of bailed property, even as against the owner.	To establish a bailment, there must be a delivery and acceptance of the bailed property for a specific purpose in accordance with an express or implied contract between the bailor and bailee. The delivery to the bailee must be complete. For the period of the bailment, the bailee must have an exclusive right to possession of the bailed property, even as against the owner.	What is required to establish a bailment?

13078	N.M. v. K.M. (Ex parte N.M.), 132 So. 3d 1088, 1091 (Ala. Civ. App. 2013)	4	The question of proper venue for an action is determined at the commencement of the action; if venue is not proper at the commencement of the action, then, upon motion of the defendant, the action must be transferred to a court where venue would be proper.	Further, "[t]he question of proper venue for an action is determined at the commencement of the action.' ... 'If venue is not proper at the commencement of the action, then, upon motion of the defendant, the action must be transferred to a court where venue would be proper.' "	When is the proper venue for an action determined?
13082	White River Estates v. Hiltbruner, 134 Wash. 2d 761	6	When person acts "unreasonably" in light of circumstances, such action is similar to negligence, not intentional tort.	When a person acts "unreasonably" in light of the circumstances such action is similar to negligence, not an intentional tort.	Does a persons unreasonable act in light of the circumstances result in an intentional tort?
13083	Perez v. Cumba, 138 Conn. App. 351, 368 (2012)	11	Pleadings are intended to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and are calculated to prevent surprise.	In Connecticut, "[p]leadings are intended to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and [are] calculated to prevent surprise.	Are pleadings intended to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case?
13084	Ampco Auto Parks, Inc. v. Williams, 517 S.W.2d 401, 403 (Tex. Civ. App. 1974)	1	In bailment for mutual benefit of bailor and bailee, bailee owes bailor duty of ordinary care and safekeeping subject matter of the bailment.	It is settled law in this state that in a bailment for the mutual benefit of the bailor and bailee, the bailee owes the bailor a duty of ordinary care and safekeeping the subject matter of the bailment.	Does a bailment impose a duty of ordinary care upon the bailee?
13089	In re Involuntary Dissolution of Battle Creek State Bank, 254 Neb. 120, 121 (1998)	3	Banking corporations are quasi-public institutions in the sense that whole stream of commerce, whether interstate or intrastate, largely depends upon their existence.	Banking corporations are quasi-public institutions in the sense that the whole stream of commerce, whether interstate or intrastate, largely depends upon their existence.	"What is the nature of a banking corporation, under the law?"
13090	Kyung Sup Ahn, M.C., P.C. v. Rooney, Pace Inc., 624 F. Supp. 368, 369 (S.D.N.Y. 1985)	2	Whether party has or has not agreed to arbitrate is determined on basis of ordinary contract principles.	Whether a party has or has not agreed to arbitrate is determined on the basis of ordinary contract principles.	Is it determined based on ordinary contract principles whether parties have agreed to arbitrate?
13094	J.C. Penney Co. Inc. v. Giant Eagle, Inc., 813 F. Supp. 360, 367 (W.D. Pa. 1992)	1	Pennsylvania follows modern view which treats landlord-tenant relations in light of principles of contract law, as opposed to property law.	Pennsylvania follows the modern view which treats landlord-tenant relations in light of principles of contract law, as opposed to property law.	Are Landlord Tenant relations interpreted according to principles of contract law?
13100	GP Credit Co., LLC v. Orlando Residence, Ltd., 349 F.3d 976, 979–80 (7th Cir. 2003)	5	In general, intangible personal property is "located" in its owner's domicile, although there are exceptions, such as where the documents of title are in a state that is not the owner's domicile.	The general rule is that intangible personal property is "located" in its owner's domicile, In re Lambert, 179 F.3d 281, 285 (5th Cir.1999); Robertson v. Robertson, *980 803 F.2d 136, 137 (5th Cir.1986); Gordon v. Holly Woods Acres, Inc., 328 F.2d 253, 255 (6th Cir.1964), although there are exceptions, such as where the documents of title are in a state that is not the owner's domicile.	What is the general rule regarding the location of intangible personal property?

13111	Chicago, R.I. P.R. v. Linwood Etc. Co., 258 Iowa 1378, 1381 (Iowa 1966)	2	Designation given a pleading is not of vital importance; its character is to be determined largely by its allegations and legal effect, not solely from name given it.	The designation given a pleading is not of vital importance. Its character is to be determined largely by its allegations and legal effect, not solely from the name given it.	Is the character of a pleading determined by its allegations?
13118	Newman v. Corbman, 47 F. Supp. 1021, 1022 (E.D. Pa. 1942)	1	The mere fact of joint ownership does not establish a "partnership" nor is the sharing of net profits conclusive of such relationship.	The mere fact of joint ownership does not establish a partnership, nor is the sharing of net profits conclusive of such relationship.	Does a joint ownership or sharing of profits alone establish a partnership?
13123	Monteleone v. Airey, 57 So. 2d 257, 261 (La. Ct. App. 1952)	1	A partnership and a corporation are two different and distinct legal entities and the rights and obligations of a partner are not similar to the rights and obligations of a stockholder in a corporation.	A partnership and a corporation are two different and distinct legal entities; the rights and obligations of a partner are not at all similar to the rights and obligations of a stockholder in a corporation.	Are corporations and partnerships two different entities?
13128	State v. Posenjak, 127 Wash. App. 41, 48 (2005)	6	Only the tribe that signed the treaty, or the signatory tribe, can exercise treaty rights; individual Indians do not have any treaty rights, even if they are descendents of the signors of the treaty, because a treaty is a contract between sovereigns, not individuals.	Only the tribe that signed the treaty, or the signatory tribe, can exercise treaty rights. United States v. Washington, 641 F.2d 1368, 1372 (9th Cir.1981). Individual Indians do not have any treaty rights, even if they are descendents of the signers of the treaty, because a treaty is a contract between sovereigns, not individuals.	Who may exercise treaty rights under Indian treaties?
13129	Rohrs v. Rohrs, 17 A.D.3d 659, 660, 793 N.Y.S.2d 532, 533 (2005)	1	To recover damages for malicious prosecution, plaintiff must establish that underlying criminal action was terminated in his or her favor.	To recover damages for malicious prosecution, a plaintiff must establish that the underlying criminal action was terminated in his or her favor (see Martinez v. City of Schenectady, 97 N.Y.2d 78, 735 N.Y.S.2d 868, 761 N.E.2d 560; Cantalino v. Danner, 96 N.Y.2d 391, 729 N.Y.S.2d 405, 754 N.E.2d 164; Smith–Hunter v. Harvey, 95 N.Y.2d 191, 712 N.Y.S.2d 438, 734 N.E.2d 750).	When does a cause of action to recover damages for malicious prosecution arise?
13137	Meadows v. Blake, 36 So. 3d 1225, 1230-1231 (Miss. 2010)	3	A court must look to the content of the pleading to determine the nature of the action; substance is considered over form, and the label is not controlling.	This Court maintains that " '[a] court must *1231 look to the content of the pleading to determine the nature of the action. Substance is considered over form.... The label is not controlling.'	Is the nature or character of a pleading determined from its content?
13143	State v. Clevenger, 69 Wash. 2d 136, 139 (1966)	3	"Corpus delicti of incest" consists of an act of sexual intercourse between male and female persons within prohibited degrees of relationship to each other.	The Corpus delicti of incest consists of (1) an act of sexual intercourse (2) between male and female persons within the prohibited degrees of relationship to each other.	What is the corpus delicti of incest?

13145	Millers Mutual Ins. Ass'n v. Graham Oil, 282 Ill. App. 3d 129, 139 (Ill. App. Ct. 1996)	18	One may be liable in trespass for causing thing or third person to enter land of another either through negligent act or intentional act.	In Illinois, one may be liable in trespass for causing a thing or a third person to enter the land of another either through a negligent act or an intentional act.	Can a showing of negligence prove liability for trespass?
13146	MURRAY v. NETH, 279 Neb. 947, 947 (2010)	7	As a general rule, administrative agencies have no general judicial powers, even though they may perform some quasi-judicial duties.	Administrative Law. As a general rule, administrative agencies have no general judicial powers, even though they may perform some quasi-judicial duties. 7. Administrative Law.	Do administrative agencies have general judicial powers?
13149	HS Tejas, Ltd. v. City of Houston, 462 S.W.3d 552, 559 (Tex. App. 2015)	15	In at least some circumstances courts may consider federal and state takings claims together, as the analysis for both is complementary.	As recently recognized by our Supreme Court, in at least some circumstances courts may "consider the federal and state takings claims together, as the analysis for both is complementary."	Is the analysis for federal and state takings complementary?
13153	Lim v. Offshore Specialty Fabricators, Inc., 404 F.3d 898, 901–02 (5th Cir. 2005)	2	Foreign arbitration clauses are deemed a subset of foreign forum selection clauses in general; therefore, analysis of foreign forum selection clauses can be extended to foreign arbitration clauses.	As noted, foreign arbitration clauses are deemed a "subset of foreign forum selection clauses in general". *902 Vimar Seguros y Reaseguros, S.A. v. M/V SKY REEFER, 515 U.S. 528, 534, 115 S.Ct. 2322, 132 L.Ed.2d 462 (1995). Therefore, analysis of foreign forum selection clauses can be extended to foreign arbitration clauses. Id.	Do courts consider foreign arbitration clauses as a subset of foreign forum selection clauses?
13154	Lynn v. Allied Corp., 41 Ohio App. 3d 392, 402 (Ohio Ct. App. 1987)	17	Derivative cause of action for loss of consortium cannot provide greater relief than relief permitted for primary cause of action.	The derivative cause of action for loss of consortium cannot provide greater relief than the relief permitted for the primary cause of action.	May a derivative cause of action provide greater relief than that available under a primary cause of action?
13156	Feigenbaum v. Guaracini, 402 N.J. Super. 7, 20 (App. Div. 2008)	15	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation should not be imposed " 'where its enforcement would be inconsistent with the terms of a contract or when the contract, either expressly or by implication, forbids its application.' "	When may equitable subrogation be imposed?
13159	Allstate Ins. Co. v. Palumbo, 109 Conn. App. 731	4	Although subrogation is a highly favored doctrine which courts should be inclined to extend rather than restrict, there is no general rule to determine whether a right of subrogation exists.	Although "[s]ubrogation is a highly favored doctrine ... which courts 179 should be inclined to extend rather than restrict"; (internal quotation marks omitted) Wasko v. Manella, supra, 269 Conn. at 543, 849 A.2d 777; "[t]here is no general rule to determine whether a right of subrogation exists.	What does ordering subrogation depend on?
13161	Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 777 (2d Cir. 1995)	7	Traditional principles of agency law may bind nonsignatory to arbitration agreement.	Traditional principles of agency law may bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement.	Do the traditional principles of agency law bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement?

13165	Olson v. Cnty. of Shasta, 5 Cal. App. 3d 336, 341, 85 Cal. Rptr. 77, 80 (Ct. App. 1970)	4	An action in inverse condemnation is generally available only where taking results in property damage or destruction or other depreciation in market value or unlawfully dispossesses owner.	An action in inverse condemnation, however, is generally available only where the taking results in property damage or destruction or other depreciation in market value or unlawfully dispossesses the owner. (California Condemnation Practice (Const.Ed.Bar), s 9.16, pp. 177—178.)	Is the risk of future flooding considered an act for purposes of a taking?
13166	Nguyen v. Burgerbusters, 182 N.C. App. 447, 506 (N.C. Ct. App. 2007)	9	In an action for malicious prosecution, the malice element may be satisfied by a showing of either actual or implied malice; implied malice may be inferred from want of probable cause in reckless disregard of the plaintiff's rights.	"In an action for malicious prosecution, the malice element may be satisfied by a showing of either actual or implied malice." 507 Beroth Oil, 173 N.C.App. at 99, 618 S.E.2d at 746 (citation omitted). "Implied malice ... may be inferred from want of probable cause in reckless disregard of the plaintiff's rights	How is the element of malice satisfied in an action for malicious prosecution?
13169	Ford Motor Credit Company v. Ditton, 52 Ala. App. 555, 557 (1974)	2	Gist of action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force which is essential element of action.	The gist of the action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force. Unlawful force is the essential element of the action.	Is unlawful force an essential element of trespass?
13182	Chimarios v. Duhl, 152 A.D.2d 508, 509, 543 N.Y.S.2d 681, 682 (1989)	2	Generally, venue of transitory action lies in county where cause of action arose; rule, however, is not inflexible and may be outweighed by other considerations that favor different venue for matter to be tried.	Generally, the venue of a transitory action lies in the county where the cause of action arose. (Slavin v. Whispell, 5 A.D.2d 296, 171 N.Y.S.2d 892 [1st Dept 1958]). This rule is predicated on the notion of convenience for trial witnesses to be present at trial. (Boriskin v. Long Island Jewish—Hillside Medical Center, 85 A.D.2d 523, 444 N.Y.S.2d 618 [1st Dept 1981]). The rule, however, is not inflexible and may be outweighed by other considerations that favor a different venue for the matter to be tried.	Is the general rule that the venue of a transitory action lies in the county where the cause of action arose?
13189	Engrassia v. DiLullo, 121 Misc. 2d 667, 678, 469 N.Y.S.2d 996, 1004 (Sup. Ct. 1983)	4	A malicious prosecution action is not available in circumstances where no actual interference with person or property is shown.	A malicious prosecution action is not available in such circumstances where no actual interference with person or property is shown.	Is a malicious prosecution action possible when there is no actual interference with person or property?
13198	Ripley v. Piehl, 700 N.W.2d 540, 545 (Minn. Ct. App. 2005)	8	The equity of the party seeking subrogation must be clear and substantial, and superior to that of other claimants.	In general, the equity of the party seeking subrogation must be clear and substantial, and superior to that of other claimants.	"Should the equity of the party seeking subrogation be clear and substantial, and superior to that of other claimants?"
13199	American States v. Allstate, 94 Conn. App. 79, 84 (Conn. App. Ct. 2006)	7	Subrogation is a highly favored doctrine which courts should be inclined to extend, rather than restrict.	Furthermore, [s]ubrogation is a highly favored doctrine ... which courts should be inclined to extend rather than restrict."	"Is subrogation a highly favored doctrine which courts should be inclined to extend, rather than restrict?"

13200	Blankenship v. Estate of Bain, 5 S.W.3d 647, 650 (Tenn. 1999)	3	A right of subrogation may arise by contract (conventional subrogation), by application of equitable principles of law (legal subrogation), or by application of a statute (statutory subrogation).	A right of subrogation may arise by contract ("conventional subrogation"), by application of equitable principles of law ("legal subrogation"), or by application of a statute ("statutory subrogation").	Do subrogation rights arise by statute?
13201	Dattel Fam. Ltd. P'ship v. Wintz, 250 S.W.3d 883, 887 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2007)	4	Subrogation is not appropriate in every circumstance; as an equitable doctrine, it is applied only if its application achieves equity under the facts and circumstances of the case at hand.	Subrogation is not appropriate in every circumstance; as an equitable doctrine, it is applied only if its application achieves equity under the facts and circumstances of the case at hand.	Is subrogation appropriate in every circumstance?
13203	Pennsylvania Nat. Mut. Cas. Ins. Co. v. City of Pine Bluff, 354 F.3d 945, 951 (8th Cir. 2004)	8	"Equitable subrogation" is one of a surety's principal mechanisms for reducing loss; arising by operation of law, the doctrine permits the surety to acquire and assert the rights of those parties whom the surety pays.	Equitable subrogation is one of a surety's principal mechanisms for reducing loss. See Prairie State Bank v. United States , 164 U.S. 227, 231, 32 Ct.Cl. 614, 17 S.Ct. 142, 41 L.Ed. 412 (1896) (recognizing surety's subrogation rights as "elementary."). Arising by operation of law, the doctrine permits the surety to acquire and assert the rights of those parties whom the surety pays.	Is equitable subrogation one of a surety's principal mechanisms for reducing loss?
13210	Strickland v. Dept. of Agriculture, 922 So. 2d 1022, 1023 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2006)	4	To prevent the spreading of fire, property may be destroyed without compensation to the owner.	Therefore, "[t]o prevent the spreading of fire, property may be destroyed without compensation to the owner."	"In order to prevent spreading of fire, can a private property be destroyed without compensating the owner?"
13213	ADP Marshall, Inc. v. Brown University, 784 A.2d 309, 313 (R.I. 2001)	5	A trial justice's decision regarding a motion in limine may be preliminary or absolute in nature.	A trial justice's decision regarding a motion in limine may be preliminary or absolute in nature.	Is a decision regarding a motion in limine preliminary or absolute in nature?
13215	Sher v. Deane H. Tank, Inc., 269 Ill. App. 3d 312, 317 (1995)	2	Reviewing court will not reverse trial court's order allowing or excluding evidence in limine absent clear showing of abuse of that discretion.	513, 511 N.E.2d 690) and a reviewing court will not reverse a trial court's order allowing or excluding evidence in limine absent a clear showing of abuse of that discretion.	Is it within the discretion of the trial judge to grant or deny a motion in limine?
13216	Walnut Creek Nursery, Inc. v. Banske, 26 N.E.3d 648, 653 (Ind. Ct. App. 2015)	3	Absent either a ruling admitting evidence accompanied by a timely objection or a ruling excluding evidence accompanied by a proper offer of proof, there is no basis for a claim of error.	"Absent either a ruling admitting evidence accompanied by a timely objection or a ruling excluding evidence accompanied by a proper offer of proof, there is no basis for a claim of error."	Does a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine determine the ultimate admissibility of the evidence?
13222	Serna v. Arde Apparel Inc., 657 So. 2d 966 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1995)	2	Legal rights accrue and are fixed not when action is brought to enforce them, but rather when last element necessary to constitute cause of action occurs.	It is settled law that legal rights accrue and are fixed, not when an action is brought to enforce them, but rather when "the last element necessary to constitute the cause of action occurs."	When do legal rights accrue?

13224	Sec. Bank & Tr. Co. v. Larkin, Hoffman, Daly & Lindgren, Ltd., 897 N.W.2d 821, 825 (Minn. Ct. App. 2017)	9	A cause of action "accrues" when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.	In so doing, we are mindful that "[a] cause of action accrues when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim."	When does a cause of action accrue?
13232	Doe v. Qi, 349 F. Supp. 2d 1258, 1290 (N.D. Cal. 2004)	14	Normally, the burden of proving acts of state rests on the party asserting the applicability of the doctrine; however, where there is a potential for embarrassing the Executive Branch, the act of state doctrine may be raised sua sponte.	Normally, the burden of proving acts of state rests on the party asserting the applicability of the doctrine. Liu, 892 F.2d at 1432 (citing Alfred Dunhill of London Inc. v. Republic of Cuba, 425 U.S. 682, 694–95, 96 S.Ct. 1854, 48 L.Ed.2d 301 (1976)). However, where there is a "potential for embarrassing the Executive Branch," the act of state doctrine may be raised sua sponte.	Does the party asserting the act of state doctrine have the burden to prove that the act in question was an act of state?
13233	In re Simon, 153 F.3d 991, 999 (9th Cir. 1998)	22	Comity is limited to cases in which there is, in fact, a true conflict between domestic and foreign law.	Rather, it is consistent with the general principles of international comity which is limited to cases in which " 'there is in fact a true conflict between domestic and foreign law.' " Hartford Fire Ins.	Is comity limited to cases in which there is a true conflict between domestic and foreign law?
13239	Choate v. Natvig, 952 S.W.2d 730, 733 (Mo. Ct. App. 1997)	1	Granting motion in limine does not automatically result in permanent exclusion of disputed evidence.	Initially, we note that "[g]ranted a motion in limine does not automatically result in permanent exclusion of the disputed evidence."	Does granting motion in limine automatically result in permanent exclusion of disputed evidence?
13240	Headley v. Williams, 162 N.C. App. 300, 307 (2004)	10	A trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	We note, however, that a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine is not final, but rather interlocutory and subject to modification.	Is the court's ruling on a motion in limine interlocutory and subject to change during the course of the trial?
13249	Boling v. Clinton Cotton Mills et al, 163 S.C. 13, 32 (S.C. 1931)	2	Oral imputations of falsehood are not actionable per se, unless they charge crime or affect one in his business or profession.	"Oral imputations of falsehood are not actionable per se unless they charge a crime or affect one in his business or profession."	"In the context of libel and slander, are oral imputations of falsehood actionable per se?"
13253	Medix Ambulance Serv., Inc. v. Superior Ct., 97 Cal. App. 4th 109, 114, 118 Cal. Rptr. 2d 249, 252 (2002)	4	Parties are entitled to oral argument in critical pretrial matters where there is a real and genuine dispute.	Parties are also entitled to oral argument in "critical pretrial matters" where there is a "real and genuine dispute."	Are parties entitled to oral argument in critical pretrial matters?
13254	Jackson v. Joyner, 309 S.W.3d 910, 915 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2009)	1	A motion in limine should not be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense or as a substitute for a motion for summary judgment.	Jackson points out, this Court recently opined that a motion in limine should not be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense or as a substitute for a motion for summary judgment.	Should a motion in limine be used as a vehicle to preclude a claim or defense?

13255	Duran v. Hyundai Motor America, Inc., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	8	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment; they are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment. They are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Is a motion in limine subject to the same safeguards as a motion for summary judgment?
13258	Housing Authority of Macon v. Younis, 279 Ga. App. 599 (Ga. Ct. App. 2006)	1	A motion in limine should be granted when there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial.	A motion in limine should be granted when "there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible at trial."	Should a motion in limine be granted when there is no circumstance under which the evidence under scrutiny is likely to be admissible?
13261	Smith v. Associated Natural Gas Co., 7 S.W.3d 530, 536 (Mo. Ct. App. 2000)	21	A complaint about a trial court's in limine ruling preserves nothing for appellate review.	Therefore, "a complaint about a trial court's in limine ruling preserves nothing for appellate review."	Does a complaint about a trial court's ruling on a motion in limine preserve the issue for appellate review?
13269	Youngbey v. D.C., 766 F. Supp. 2d 197, 220 (D.D.C. 2011)	36	To prove trespass claim in District of Columbia, plaintiff must prove (1) that trespass to realty occurred, and (2) that such action was tortious or unauthorized.	To prove a trespass claim in the District of Columbia, a plaintiff must prove "(1) that a trespass to realty occurred, and (2) that such action was tortious or unauthorized." Wright v. United States, 963 F.Supp. 7, 19 (D.D.C.1997).	What must a plaintiff prove in order to prevail on a trespass claim?
13272	Volk v. United States, 111 Fed. Cl. 313, 325 (2013)	10	By their nature, military procedures limit the military's discretion because the military is bound to follow its own procedural regulations if it chooses to implement some.	"[B]y their nature[,] [military] procedures limit the military's discretion" because the military "is bound to follow its own procedural regulations if it chooses to implement some."	Is the military bound to follow its own procedural regulations once it chooses to implement some?
13277	Duran v. Hyundai Motor America, Inc., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	8	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment; they are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Motions in limine serve fundamentally different purposes than motions for summary judgment. They are not subject to the same procedural safeguards.	Is a motion in limine subject to the same safeguards as a motion for partial summary judgment?
13278	Dowden v. Central Louisiana Elec. Co., 368 So. 2d 465, 467 (La. Ct. App. 1979)	2	Fact that utility is regulated by state body does not convert utility from private utility company to a public body.	The fact that a utility is regulated by a state body does not convert that utility from a private utility company to a public body.	Does the fact that a state body regulates a utility convert it from a private utility to a public body?
13280	Prentzel v. State, Dep't of Pub. Safety, 169 P.3d 573, 583 (Alaska 2007)	8	Trespass to chattels is a lesser form of conversion; it can be committed when a party intentionally dispossess another of the chattel or intentionally uses or interferes with a chattel in another's possession.	Trespass to chattels is a lesser form of conversion: it "can be committed when a party intentionally dispossesses another of the chattel or intentionally uses or interferes with a chattel in another's possession."	Is trespass to chattels a lesser claim than the tort of conversion?
13281	Bergin v. Temple, 111 Mont. 539, 547 (Mont. 1941)	4	A cause of action can "arise" but once, and when it once accrues it remains in force until it is extinguished or satisfied, or barred by statute.	"A cause of action can arise but once; and, when it once accrues, it remains in force until it is extinguished, or satisfied, or barred by statute."	"Can a cause of action ""arise"" and remain in force until it is extinguished or satisfied?"

13282	Unexcelled Chemical Corp. v. U.S., 345 U.S. 59, 65 (1953)	3	A cause of action is created when there is a breach of duty owed plaintiff, and it is that breach of duty, and not its discovery, that normally is controlling.	A cause of action is created when there is a breach of duty owed the plaintiff. It is that breach of duty, not its discovery, that normally is controlling.	Will a cause of action be created when there is a breach of duty owed to the plaintiff?
13291	Raitport v. Provident Nat. Bank, 451 F. Supp. 522, 534-535 (E.D. Pa. 1978)	18	At common law, court clerks enjoy no immunity with respect to performance of ministerial duties, such as the docketing of papers or the issuance of writs, but, rather, liability attaches only for nonperformance or improper performance of required act.	At common law, court clerks enjoy no immunity with respect to the performance of ministerial duties, such as the docketing of papers of the issuance of writs. 7 *535 Rather, "liability attaches only for nonperformance or improper performance of the required act."	Is a prothonotary a clerk of court of common pleas?
13302	Hoffmann v. T.J. Ronan Co., 275 A.D. 57, 60, 87 N.Y.S.2d 585, 588 (App. Div. 1949)	4	In equity action, state of facts existing at time of trial, not at commencement of action, controls.	In actions in equity, the state of facts existing at the time of the trial controls, not at the commencement of the action.	"In actions in equity, does the state of facts existing at the time of the trial control?"
13303	Mediacom Communications v. Sinclair Broadcast, 460 F. Supp. 2d 1012, 1023 (S.D. Iowa 2006)	11	Conditions at time of hearing, rather commencement of suit, will generally be basis for any injunctive relief.	Generally, the conditions at the time of the hearing, rather the commencement of the suit, will be the basis for any injunctive relief.	Does a condition existing at the time of hearing of the suit furnish a basis for injunctive relief?
13304	Costello v. United States, 365 U.S. 265, 282 (1961)	7	Laches requires proof of lack of diligence by party against whom defense is asserted and prejudice to party asserting the defense.	Laches requires proof of (1) lack of diligence by the party against whom the defense is asserted, and (2) prejudice to the party asserting the defense.	Are elements necessary to the recognition of defense of laches proof of lack of diligence by the party against whom it is asserted and prejudice to the party asserting such defense?
13305	Minnesota Mining Mfg. Co. v. Plymouth Rubber Co., 178 F. Supp. 591, 596 (N.D. Ill. 1959)	6	The existence of a cause of action is to be tested as of time of filing of complaint and no recovery may be had if no cause be shown to exist at that time.	The law is well settled that the existence of a cause of action is to be tested as of the time of the filing of the complaint and no recovery may be had if no cause be shown to exist at that time	Is the existence of a cause of action to be tested as of the time of filing of the complaint?
13309	Lomax v. Woodmen of World Life Ins. Society, 228 F. Supp. 2d 1360, 1365 (N.D. Ga. 2002)	9	Generally, prohibiting class wide arbitration does not render an otherwise valid arbitration clause unconscionable.	Generally, prohibiting class- wide arbitration does not render an otherwise valid arbitration clause unconscionable.	Does prohibiting class wide arbitration render an otherwise valid arbitration clause unconscionable?
13311	Hancock Fabrics v. Alterman Real Estate I, 302 Ga. App. 568, 570-571 (2010)	4	Waiver of subrogation clauses in leases are enforceable even in the absence of a requirement that either party purchase insurance.	Waiver of subrogation clauses in leases are enforceable even in *571 the absence of a requirement that either party purchase insurance.	Is a waiver of subrogation clauses in leases enforceable?
13312	Hancock Fabrics v. Alterman Real Estate I, 302 Ga. App. 568, 570-71 (2010)	4	Waiver of subrogation clauses in leases are enforceable even in the absence of a requirement that either party purchase insurance.	Waiver of subrogation clauses in leases are enforceable even in *571 the absence of a requirement that either party purchase insurance.	Are waiver of subrogation clauses in lease agreements enforceable?
13313	St. Paul Fire Marine v. Amerada Hess Corp., 275 N.W.2d 304, 308 (N.D. 1979)	13	Waiver of right of subrogation must be by act of subrogee; it cannot be contracted away by conduct or agreement of third parties.	A waiver of the right of subrogation must be by an act of the subrogee; it cannot be contracted away by the conduct or agreement of third parties.	Is a waiver of the right of subrogation an act of the subrogee?

13323	Bell v. Hummel, 136 Cal. App. 3d 1009, 1015, 186 Cal. Rptr. 688, 693 (Ct. App. 1982).	4	Generally, voluntary dismissal by plaintiff where defendant has not sought affirmative relief is effective immediately and no appeal lies therefrom.	Generally, a voluntary dismissal by a plaintiff where the defendant has not sought affirmative relief, as here, is effective immediately and no appeal lies therefrom.	Is a voluntary dismissal effective immediately?
13332	Colorado Perform. Corp. v. Mariposa Assoc, 754 P.2d 401, 405 (Colo. App. 1987)	1	A joint venture is a partnership formed for a limited purpose; hence, the substantive law of partnerships must be applied in determining whether a joint venture exists.	A joint venture is a partnership formed for a limited purpose. Hence, the substantive law of partnerships must be applied in determining whether a joint venture exists.	Is the substantive law of partnership applicable to joint ventures?
13335	Clohset v. No Name Corp., 302 Mich. App. 550, 564 (Mich. Ct. App. 2013)	21	Lack of subject matter jurisdiction can be collaterally attacked, whereas the exercise of that jurisdiction can be challenged only on direct appeal.	In other words, "lack of subject matter jurisdiction can be collaterally attacked[, whereas] the exercise of that jurisdiction can be challenged only on direct appeal.	Can the lack of subject matter jurisdiction be collaterally attacked?
13340	Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 777 (2d Cir. 1995)	7	Traditional principles of agency law may bind nonsignatory to arbitration agreement.	Traditional principles of agency law may bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement.	Can traditional principles of agency law bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement?
13341	Evans v. Charity Hospital, 801 So. 2d 1192, 1194-1195 (La. Ct. App. 2001)	1	Difference between supervisory jurisdiction and appellate jurisdiction is that the former is discretionary on the part of the appellate court while the latter is invocable by the litigant as a matter of right.	[T]he difference between supervisory jurisdiction and appellate jurisdiction is *1195 that the former is discretionary on the part of the appellate court while the latter is invocable by the litigant as a matter of right.	What is the difference between appellate and supervisory jurisdiction?
13346	Com. v. Simpson, 316 Pa. Super. 115, 126 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1983)	20	Criminal trespass is not a lesser included offense of burglary, since one of the elements of the former is knowledge by defendant that he was not privileged to enter, which is not an element of burglary.	Using this test, criminal trespass is not a lesser included offense of burglary, since one of the elements of the former is knowledge by the defendant that he was not privileged to enter, which is not an element of burglary.	Is knowledge an element of burglary?
13359	Thomson-CSF, S.A. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 64 F.3d 773, 776 (2d Cir. 1995)	9	As a general matter, corporate relationship alone is not sufficient to bind nonsignatory to arbitration agreement.	As a general matter, however, a corporate relationship alone is not sufficient to bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement.	Is a corporate relationship sufficient to bind a nonsignatory to an arbitration agreement?
13362	Mays v. Disneyland, Mays v. Disneyland, Inc., 213 Cal. App. 2d 297, 300, 28 Cal. Rptr. 689, 691 (Ct. App. 1963)	5	Purpose of pretrial is to expedite proceedings and to facilitate correct determination of issues and pretrial proceeding should not become trap for unwary.	The purpose of the pretrial is to expedite the proceedings and to facilitate the correct determination of the issues. The pretrial proceeding should not become a trap for the unwary.	Should the purpose of a pretrial proceeding become a trap for the unwary?
13371	Leyva v. Certified Grocers of Cal., Ltd., 593 F.2d 857, 860 (9th Cir. 1979)	1	A limitation on the arbitrator's power is not a reason for bypassing arbitration where claim is made upon the contract itself and is within the scope of the arbitration clause.	A limitation on the arbitrator's power is not a reason for bypassing arbitration where the claim is made upon the contract itself and is within the scope of the arbitration clause.	Is limitation on an arbitrators power a reason for bypassing arbitration?

13376	United States v. Cisneros, 826 F.3d 1190, 1194 (9th Cir. 2016)	7	Generic burglary has the basic elements of unlawful or unprivileged entry into, or remaining in, a building or structure, with intent to commit a crime; however, the "building or structure" element of generic burglary does not include booths, vehicles, boats, or aircrafts.	Similar to Oregon's burglary statute, generic burglary has "the basic elements of unlawful or unprivileged entry into, or remaining in, a building or structure, with intent to commit a crime." Taylor v. United States, 495 U.S. 575, 599, 110 S.Ct. 2143, 109 L.Ed.2d 607 (1990). However, the "building or structure" element of generic burglary does not include booths, vehicles, boats, or aircrafts.	Does generic burglary include entry into vehicles and boats?
13381	Pershing v. Ward, 1929-NMSC-069, 34 N.M. 298, 280 P. 254 (1929)	2	Under section 4295, Code of 1915, a defendant who has filed a counterclaim against plaintiff in a cause tried to the court has the right to dismiss without prejudice before judgment is rendered.	Under section 4295, Code of 1915, a defendant who has filed a counterclaim against plaintiff in a cause tried to the court has the right to dismiss without prejudice before judgment is rendered.	"Does a defendant, in a cause tried to court, have a right to dismiss his counterclaim without prejudice before judgment?"
13388	Bell Atlantic-Pa v. Public Utility, 763 A.2d 440, 497 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 2000)	50	"Tax" is a measure which generates revenue for support of government, based upon judicial authority.	As the Consumer Advocate also pointed out as to the Consumer Education Program, a tax is a measure which generates revenue for the support of government, citing BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY, 1457 (6 th ed.1991), based upon judicial authority...	Is tax a measure which generates revenue based on judicial authority?
13389	Bill DeLuca Enterprises v. Commissioner, Revenue, 431 Mass. 314, 322 (Mass. 2000)	10	Essence of any system of taxation is that it should produce revenue ascertainable, and payable to the government, at regular intervals, since only by such a system is it practicable to produce a regular flow of income and apply methods of accounting, assessment, and collection capable of practical operation.	"It is the essence of any system of taxation that it should produce revenue ascertainable, and payable to the government, at regular intervals. Only by such a system is it practicable to produce a regular flow of income and apply methods of accounting, assessment, and collection capable of practical operation."	"Does the system of taxation produce revenue ascertainable, and payable to the government?"

13390	Nw. Energetic Servs., LLC v. California Franchise Tax Bd., 159 Cal. App. 4th 841, 854, 71 Cal. Rptr. 3d 642, 650–51 (2008), as modified on denial of reh'g (Mar. 3, 2008)	2	The essence of a "tax" is that it raises revenue for general governmental purposes and is compulsory rather than imposed in response to a voluntary decision to seek benefits; a "fee," on the other hand, funds a regulatory program or compensates for services or benefits provided by the government.	The essence of a tax is that it raises revenue for general governmental 651 purposes and is "compulsory rather than imposed in response to a voluntary decision ... to seek ... benefits." (Sinclair Paint, supra, 15 Cal.4th at p. 874, 64 Cal.Rptr.2d 447, 937 P.2d 1350; see Professional Scientists, supra, 79 Cal.App.4th at p. 944, 94 Cal.Rptr.2d 535 ["Ordinarily, 'taxes are imposed for revenue purposes, rather than in return for a specific benefit conferred or privilege granted' and '[m]ost taxes are compulsory rather than imposed in response to a voluntary decision to develop or to seek other governmental benefits or privileges.' "].) A fee, on the other hand, funds a regulatory program or compensates for services or benefits provided by the government.	Why are taxes ordinarily imposed?
13391	McLeod v. Columbia County, 278 Ga. 242, 244 (Ga. 2004)	5	A charge is generally not a "tax" if its object and purpose is to provide compensation for services rendered.	A charge is generally not a tax if its object and purpose is to provide compensation for services rendered.	Is charge a tax if the object and purpose of such charge is to provide compensation for services rendered?
13393	Stevenson v. New York State Tax Appeals Tribunal, 106 A.D.3d 1146, 1148, 964 N.Y.S.2d 707, 709 (2013)	5	"Taxes" are public burdens imposed generally for governmental purposes benefiting the entire community.	"Taxes are public burdens imposed generally for governmental purposes benefiting the entire community, whereas	Are taxes public burdens imposed to benefit the entire community?
13394	Empress Casino Joliet Corp. v. Blagojevich, 674 F. Supp. 2d 993, 1005 (N.D. Ill. 2009)	20	An assessment is a tax if it is for revenue raising purposes, regardless of whether the proceeds go to a general fund or are devoted to a more specialized purpose.	Characterizing the Acts as imposing a tax for TIA purposes is consistent with the standard employed by a majority of circuits, which have held that an assessment is a tax if it "is for revenue raising purposes," regardless of whether the proceeds go to a general fund or are devoted to a more specialized purpose.	Is an assessment a tax if it is for revenue raising purpose?
13398	City of Mishawaka v. Squadroni, 486 N.E.2d 1088 (1985)	14	Pretrial order should be liberally construed in order to ensure trial of every lawsuit on its merits.	A pre-trial order should be liberally construed in order to ensure the trial of every lawsuit on its merits.	Should a pretrial order be liberally construed in order to ensure trial of every lawsuit on its merits?
13399	Campbell v. Nako Corp., 198 Kan. 421, 430 (Kan. 1967)	11	A pretrial order does not preclude review of trial court's ruling on question of law.	A pre- trial order does not preclude review of the trial court's ruling on a question of law.	Does a pretrial order preclude review of the trial court's ruling on a question of law?
13403	Griffin v. Dep't of Local Gov't Fin., 765 N.E.2d 716, 722 (Ind. 2002)	3	The nature of a tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	The nature of a tax "must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	Is the nature of a tax determined by its designation made by the legislature?

13405	Vournas v. Montgomery Cnty., 53 Md. App. 243, 249, 452 A.2d 1263, 1267 (1982), aff'd, 300 Md. 123, 476 A.2d 705 (1984)	5	Where primary objective of tax is raising revenue, it is revenue measure, and amount of tax is not reviewable by the courts.	Where the primary objective of a tax is raising revenue, it is a revenue measure and the amount of the tax is not reviewable by the courts.	"Is the amount of the tax reviewable by the courts, where the primary objective of a tax is to raise revenue?"
13415	Cotton v. Ostroski, 250 Neb. 911, 917-918 (Neb. 1996)	8	Purpose of pretrial conference is to simplify issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial; to that end, litigants must adhere to spirit of procedure and are bound by pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify the issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial. To that end, litigants must adhere to the spirit of the procedure and are bound by the pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	What is the clear purpose of pretrial conference?
13425	Granahan v. Celanese Corp. of America, 3 N.J. 187, 191 (1949)	1	A cause of action in a compensation case is predicated on an accident arising out of and in course of employment and not on the injuries incident thereto.	A cause of action in a Workmen's Compensation case is predicated upon an accident arising out of and in the course of employment and not upon the injuries incident thereto.	What does a cause of action in a compensation case predicated upon?
13431	Agricultural Com. Authority v. Balkcom, 215 Ga. 107, 109 (Ga. 1959)	1	A "tax" is a rate or sum of money assessed on person, property, etc., of citizen.	A tax is a rate or sum of money assessed on the person, property, etc., of the citizen.	Is tax a rate or sum of money assessed on person and property of citizen?
13432	Sablosky v. Messner, 372 Pa. 47, 56-57 (1952)	9	Taxation is a practical matter and legislation upon the subject will not be declared invalid because some inequities inevitably result.	As stated in the decisions above cited, taxation is a practical matter and legislation upon the subject will not be declared invalid because some inequalities *57 inevitably result.	Can a legislation upon the subject of taxation be declared invalid?
13434	Maier v. Orr, 754 F.2d 973, 980 (Fed. Cir. 1985)	1	No one has an individual right, constitutional or otherwise, to enlist in armed forces, composition of those forces being within purview of Congress and the military.	No one has an individual right, constitutional or otherwise, to enlist in the armed forces, the composition of those forces being within the purview of the Congress and the military.	Does a servicemen have the right to enlist or reenlist in the armed forces?
13435	Sani-Serv Div. of Burger Chef Sys., Inc. v. S. Bank of W. Palm Beach, 244 So. 2d 509, 512 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1970)	6	Once legal consideration appears, its adequacy is not subject to judicial inquiry except under unusual circumstances.	Once a legal consideration appears, its adequacy is not a subject for judicial inquiry except under unusual circumstances not here present.	"Once a legal consideration appears, is its adequacy a subject for judicial inquiry?"
13439	Northpark Assoc. No. 2 v. Homart Development Co., 262 Ga. 138, 141 (Ga. 1992)	7	Governing authority can acquire fee simple title to county road only through condemnation or express grant in deed or other instrument.	A governing authority can acquire fee-simple title to a county road only through condemnation or an express grant in a deed or other instrument.	How can a governing authority acquire fee-simple title to a county road?
13441	Arizona State Highway Department v. Bechtold, 105 Ariz. 125, 128 (Ariz. 1969)	1	Purpose of pretrial order is to simplify issues and shorten trial time, but such orders are not absolute and do not completely jell issues in action.	The admitted purpose of the pre-trial order is to simplify issues and shorten trial time. But such orders are not absolute and do not completely jell issues in an action.	Does a pretrial order not completely jell issues in an action?
13458	In re Vidal, 234 B.R. 114, 117 (Bankr. D.N.M. 1999)	1	Under New Mexico law, partnership agreement governs relationship between general and limited partners. NMSA 1978, SS 54-2-1 to 54-2-63.	Under New Mexico law, the partnership agreement governs the relationship between general and limited partners. See NMSA 1978, 54-2-1 to 54-2-63 (1996).	What governs the relationship between general partners and limited partners?

13459	Fromm v. Board of Directors of Police & Firemen's Ret. Sys., 81 N.J. Super. 138, 143 (1963)	2	One of the fundamental purposes of pensioning civil servants is to secure good behavior and maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	It is, of course, axiomatic that one of the fundamental purposes of the pensioning of civil servants is to secure good behavior and the maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	Why should civil servants be pensioned?
13461	Brown v. Rowe Chevrolet-Buick, 86 N.C. App. 222, 224 (N.C. Ct. App. 1987)	2	Generally, withdrawal of counsel on eve of trial is not ipso facto grounds for continuance.	The general rule, however, is that the withdrawal of counsel on the eve of trial is not ipso facto grounds for continuance.	Is the withdrawal of counsel on eve of trial not ipso facto grounds for continuance?
13464	Enterprise Recovery Systems v. Salmeron, 401 Ill. App. 3d 65, 70 (Ill. App. Ct. 2010)	1	The failure to answer requests for admission means that all factual statements in the requests are deemed to be admitted.	As Salmeron concedes on appeal, the failure to answer requests for admission meant that all factual statements in the requests were deemed to be admitted by Salmeron.	Does the failure to answer requests for admission mean that all factual statements in the requests are deemed to be admitted?
13468	New York State Elec. & Gas Corp. v. Cnty. of Chemung, 137 A.D.3d 1550, 1555, 29 N.Y.S.3d 579, 584 (2016)	6	The essence of trespass is injury to the right of possession, and such trespass may occur under the surface of the ground; a person need not have title to the property but must simply have sufficient property rights to maintain an action for trespass.	"The essence of trespass is injury to the right of possession, and such trespass may occur under the surface of the ground. A person need not have title to the property but must simply have sufficient property rights to maintain an action for trespass" (Bloomingdales, Inc. v. New York City Tr. Auth., 13 N.Y.3d at 66, 886 N.Y.S.2d 663, 915 N.E.2d 608 [citation omitted]).	Can a person not having the title to property maintain a trespass action?
13470	Blue Tree Hotels v. Starwood Hotels Resorts, 369 F.3d 212, 222 (2d Cir. 2004)	12	Commercial bribery cannot be committed unilaterally by an alleged bribe receiver: one cannot be guilty of receiving a commercial bribe unless someone else is guilty of paying it.	But commercial bribery cannot be committed unilaterally by an alleged bribe receiver: one cannot be guilty of receiving a commercial bribe unless someone else is guilty of paying it.	Can commercial bribery be committed unilaterally?
13471	State v. Knight, 140 Ohio App. 3d 797, 804 (2000)	8	A police officer's duty, for purposes of a prosecution for bribery, may arise from usage or custom.	A police officer's duty for purposes of a prosecution for bribery may also arise from usage or custom.	Where do a police officers duties arise from for purposes of a prosecution for bribery?
13475	Krug v. Meehan, 109 Cal. App. 2d 274, 277, 240 P.2d 732, 733-34 (1952)	2	An averment of conclusion of law is ordinarily deemed surplusage and will be disregarded in considering sufficiency of pleading.	An averment of a conclusion of law is ordinarily deemed to be surplusage and will be disregarded in considering the sufficiency of a pleading.	Will an averment of conclusion of law be disregarded in considering sufficiency of pleading?
13476	Morgan v. Crowley, 91 Ga. App. 58, 67 (Ga. Ct. App. 1954)	11	Factitious demands by special demurrer are not favored, and practice of requiring unnecessary elaboration of pleadings by process of such special demurrers should not be encouraged.	Factitious demands by special demurrer are not favored, and the practice of requiring unnecessary elaboration of pleadings by the process of such special demurrers should not be encouraged.	Are factitious demands by special demurrer favored?

13480	Travis v. Com. Union Ins. Co., 569 So. 2d 115, 118 (La. Ct. App. 1990)	4	Generally, when obligation is based on writing, prima facie proof of obligation requires introducing that writing; jurisprudential exception is that when plaintiff requests admissions of contractual coverage or production of policy, defendant's failure to comply may be construed as supplying missing proof.	Generally, when an obligation is based on a writing, prima facie proof of the obligation requires introducing that writing. Ascension Builders, Inc. v. Jumonville, 263 So.2d at 878; Sudds v. Protective Casualty Insurance Company, 554 So.2d at 151. A jurisprudential exception is that when the plaintiff requests admissions of contractual coverage or production of the policy, the defendant's failure to comply may be construed as supplying the missing proof.	"When an obligation is based on writing, does a prima facie proof of obligation require introducing that writing?"
13481	19th Street Baptist Church v. St. Peters Episcopal Church, 190 F.R.D. 345, 347 (E.D. Pa. 2000)	1	To "perpetuate the testimony of a witness" means to record, prior to trial and for use at trial, the witness' known testimony in a case where the witness may be unavailable for trial.	To perpetuate the testimony of a witness means to record, prior to trial and for use at trial, the witness' known testimony in a case where the witness may be unavailable for trial.	Are perpetuation depositions arranged by the litigants when it becomes known that a witness will be unavailable to testify at trial?
13482	Chambers v. Pruitt, 241 S.W.3d 679, 688 (Tex. App. 2007)	13	Requests for admissions must be served and received before a failure to answer will result in deemed admissions.	It is axiomatic, however, that requests for admissions must be served and received before a failure to answer will result in deemed admissions.	Should requests for admissions be served and received before a failure to answer will result in deemed admissions?
13484	Delta Discount Co. v. Fryer, 244 Ark. 489, 491 (Ark. 1968)	1	Answers to requests for admissions must be verified by responding party rather than by his attorney.	The sole argument for reversal is that this court has adopted the rule that answers to requests for admissions must be verified by the responding party, rather than by his attorney, upon an erroneous assumption that this view is supported by the weight of authority.	Should answers to requests for admissions be verified by the responding party rather than by his/her attorney?
13488	Dillingham v. I.N.S., 267 F.3d 996, 1005 (9th Cir. 2001)	13	Because federal authority in immigration matters is plenary, federal classifications differentiating between groups of aliens are subject to relaxed scrutiny.	Furthermore, because federal authority in immigration matters is plenary, federal classifications differentiating between groups of aliens are subject to "relaxed scrutiny."	Are federal classifications distinguishing or differentiating among groups of aliens valid?
13489	Dillingham v. I.N.S., 267 F.3d 996, 1005 (9th Cir. 2001)	13	Because federal authority in immigration matters is plenary, federal classifications differentiating between groups of aliens are subject to relaxed scrutiny.	Furthermore, because federal authority in immigration matters is plenary, federal classifications differentiating between groups of aliens are subject to "relaxed scrutiny."	Is federal authority in immigration matters plenary?
13509	Sawgrass Builders, Inc. v. Realty Cooperative, Inc., 172 Ga. App. 324 (1984)	1	A check is an unconditional promise to pay and a stop payment order does not discharge the maker's liability on the check.	A check is an unconditional promise to pay, and a stop payment order does not discharge the maker's liability on the check.	Does mere order of stop payment discharges the maker of the check from his liabilities?

13512	State v. Gibbs, 306 S.W.3d 178, 182 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	4	The intent to commit a crime is an essential element of burglary; it is this element of criminal intent that separates burglary in the second degree from its lesser-included offense of trespass in the first degree.	The intent to commit a crime is an essential element of burglary. State v. Haslar, 887 S.W.2d at 615. It is this element of criminal intent that separates burglary in the second degree from its lesser-included offense of trespass in the first degree.	What separates second degree burglary from first degree trespass?
13516	Smith v. Loftis Bros. & Co., 43 Ga. App. 354, 158 S.E. 768, 768 (1931)	1	Testimony taken by deposition should be reduced to writing by officer or disinterested stenographer and subscribed by deponent (Civ.Code 1910, S 5905 et seq.).	State-created headnote: Testimony taken by deposition should be reduced to writing by officer or disinterested stenographer and subscribed by deponent (Civ. Code 1910, § 5905 et seq.).	"Should the testimony of the witness be reduced to writing by the officer taking the deposition, or by the witness in the presence of the officer; or the officer may employ a disinterested stenographer to take down and write out the testimony?"
13522	McIlroy v. Painewebber, Inc., 989 F.2d 817, 821 (5th Cir. 1993)	8	When parties agree to arbitration, they agree to accept whatever reasonable uncertainties might arise from the process.	As the Eleventh Circuit has remarked: "When ... parties agree[] to arbitration, they agree[] to accept whatever reasonable uncertainties might arise from the process," Raiford v.	When parties agree to arbitration do they agree to accept uncertainties which may arise from the process?
13531	Harper v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 484 So. 2d 737, 740 (La. Ct. App. 1986)	4	Pretrial order controls subject and course of action unless modified at trial to prevent manifest injustice.	The pretrial order controls the subject and course of an action unless modified at trial to prevent manifest injustice.	Does a pretrial proceeding control the subject and course of action?
13538	Coakley v. Attorney General, 318 Mass. 508, 510 (Mass. 1945)	2	"Pensions" are bounties which Congress has right to give, to withhold, to distribute, or to recall at its discretion.	Pensions are the bounties of the government which congress has the right to give, withhold, distribute, or recall, at its discretion.	"Does congress have the right to give, to withhold, to distribute, or to recall at its discretion pensions?"
13553	N.C. State Bar v. Key, 189 N.C. App. 80, 88 (2008)	13	"Ultimate facts" are the final facts required to establish the plaintiff's cause of action or the defendant's defense, and "evidentiary facts" are those subsidiary facts required to prove the ultimate facts.	Ultimate facts are the final facts required to establish the plaintiff's cause of action or the defendant's defense; and evidentiary facts are those subsidiary facts required to prove the ultimate facts.	Are evidentiary facts those facts necessary to prove the ultimate facts?
13557	Leet v. Union Pac. R. Co., 25 Cal. 2d 605, 617, 155 P.2d 42, 48 (1944)	8	If court may not refuse to exercise its jurisdiction, it may not accomplish the same result by an indefinite continuance.	If the court may not refuse to exercise its jurisdiction it may not accomplish the same result by an indefinite continuance.	Can a court accomplish the same result by an indefinite continuance if it refuses to exercise its jurisdiction?
13564	In re OSG Ship Mgmt., Inc., 514 S.W.3d 331, 337 (Tex. App. 2016)	5	Forum-selection clauses are presumptively valid unless shown to be unreasonable, and they may be enforced through a motion to dismiss.	Forum-selection clauses are presumptively valid unless shown to be unreasonable, and they may be enforced in Texas courts through a motion to dismiss.	"Unless shown to be unreasonable, are forum-selection clauses valid?"
13567	Atlantic Coast Line R. Co. v. Commonwealth, 302 Ky. 36, 41 (Ky. Ct. App. 1946)	3	The obligation to pay taxes rests solely on legislation and legislative intent to tax must clearly appear.	Since the obligation to pay taxes rests solely on legislation, the legislative intent to tax must clearly appear.	Does the obligation to pay taxes rest solely on legislation and a clear legislative intent?

13590	Commissioner of Revenue v. Franchi, 423 Mass. 817, 822 (Mass. 1996)	2	General rule is that tax statutes are to be strictly construed according to their plain meaning, as State has no power to tax unless that power has been expressly conferred by statute.	The general rule is that tax statutes are to be strictly construed according to their plain meaning, as the State has no power to tax unless that power has been expressly conferred by statute.	Does the State have the power to tax?
13591	Shea v. Boston Edison Co., 431 Mass. 251, 260 (2000)	5	There is no restraint upon the power of the legislature to lay taxes, except such as the constitution of the United States or that of the state imposes.	"There is no restraint upon the power of the legislature to lay taxes, except such as the constitution of the United States or 49 that of the state imposes."	Is there any restraint upon the power of the legislature to lay taxes?
13592	City & Cnty. of San Francisco v. Cnty. of San Mateo, 10 Cal. 4th 554, 560, 896 P.2d 181, 184 (1995)	1	Amount of ad valorem tax paid on parcel of real property is product of valuation of real property and tax rate applied to that valuation.	The amount of ad valorem tax paid on a parcel of real property is the product of two factors: the valuation of the real property and the tax rate applied to that valuation.	Does ad valorem tax include the valuation of the real property and the tax applied to that valuation?
13594	Elliott v. Department of Labor, 151 Wn. App. 442, 447 (Wash. Ct. App. 2009)	3	An industrial insurance claim is governed by explicit statutory directives and not by the common law.	An industrial insurance claim is "governed by explicit statutory directives and not by the common law."	Is an industrial insurance claim governed by statutory directives and not by the common law?
13596	Republic Insurance v. Paico Receivables, LLC, 383 F.3d 341, 346 (5th Cir. 2004)	6	Ultimately, the question of what constitutes a waiver of the right of arbitration depends on the facts of each case.	Ultimately, however, "[t]he question of what constitutes a waiver of the right of arbitration depends on the facts of each case."	Does the question of what constitutes a waiver of the right of arbitration depend on the facts of each case?
13601	Kristensen v. McGrath, 179 F.2d 796, 801 (D.C. Cir. 1949)	3	"Residence" is not a term of fixed legal definition but takes on shades of meaning according to the statutory framework in which it is found.	It is axiomatic that residence is not a term of fixed legal definition but takes on shades of meaning according to the statutory framework in which it is found.	"Is ""residence"" a term of fixed legal definition?"
13608	McClure v. County of Jackson, 185 N.C. App. 462, 466-467 (N.C. Ct. App. 2007)	1	Unlike the question of jurisdiction, the issue of mootness is not determined solely by examining facts in existence at the commencement of the action; if the issues before a court become moot at any time during the course of the proceedings, the usual response should be to dismiss the action.	"Unlike the question of jurisdiction, the issue of mootness is not determined solely by examining facts in existence at the commencement of the action. If the issues before a court ... become moot at any time during the course of the proceedings, the usual response should be to dismiss the action.	Should an action be dismissed if the issues before the court become moot?

13609	County of Cameron v. Brown, 80 S.W.3d 549, 555 (Tex. 2002)	8	When a plaintiff fails to plead facts that establish jurisdiction, but the petition does not affirmatively demonstrate incurable defects in jurisdiction, the issue is one of pleading sufficiency and the plaintiff should be afforded the opportunity to amend, but if the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, then a plea to the jurisdiction may be granted without allowing the plaintiff an opportunity to amend.	When a plaintiff fails to plead facts that establish jurisdiction, but the petition does not affirmatively demonstrate incurable defects in jurisdiction, the issue is one of pleading sufficiency and the plaintiff should be afforded the opportunity to amend. See Peek, 779 S.W.2d at 804-05; Texas Dep't of Corrections v. Herring, 513 S.W.2d 6, 9-10 (Tex.1974). On the other hand, if the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, then a plea to the jurisdiction may be granted without allowing the plaintiff an opportunity to amend.	"If the pleadings or record conclusively negate the existence of jurisdiction, should the suit be dismissed?"
13612	Cohen v. Harrington, 722 A.2d 1191, 1194 (R.I. 1999)	3	Regardless of the nomenclature used by the General Assembly, it is the nature of a tax itself that determines whether the tax is an excise tax or a property tax.	Thus, regardless of the nomenclature used by the General Assembly, it is the nature of the tax itself that determines whether the tax is an excise tax or a property tax.	Does the nature of a tax itself determine whether the tax is an excise tax or a property tax?
13613	United States v. McManigal, 708 F.2d 276, 282 (7th Cir. 1983)	3	There is bribery when offer is made with intent that offeree act favorably to offeror even when no particular act is contemplated by offeror or offeree.	There is bribery when the offer is made with intent that the offeree act favorably to the offeror even when no particular act is contemplated by the offeror or offeree.	Does a particular act need to be contemplated by the offeror or offeree in order for the crime of bribery to be established?
13626	McCormick v. Meyer, 582 N.W.2d 141, 145 (Iowa 1998)	9	If there is a delay in service, the court must first determine if the delay was presumptively abusive; if the court finds the delay is presumptively abusive, the court must then determine if the plaintiff has shown the delay was justified, and if the delay was not justified, the case must be dismissed.	If there is a delay in service, the court must first determine if the delay was presumptively abusive. Mokhtarian, 578 N.W.2d at 668. If the court finds the delay is presumptively abusive, the court must then determine if the plaintiff has shown the delay was justified. Id. If the delay was not justified, the case must be dismissed.	"If there is a delay in service, should the court first determine if the delay was presumptively abusive?"
13627	Wake Cares, Inc. v. Wake Cnty. Bd. of Educ., 190 N.C. App. 1, 15, 660 S.E.2d 217, 226 (2008).	11	When a court's determination can have a practical effect on a controversy, the court may not dismiss the case as moot.	"Conversely, when a court's determination can have a practical effect on a controversy, the court may not dismiss the case as moot."	When a court's determination can have a practical effect on a controversy will the court dismiss the case as moot?

13631	Scarcia v. U.S. Gypsum Co., 164 Misc. 825, 828, 1 N.Y.S.2d 358, 361 (Sup. Ct. 1937)	2	A complaint may be dismissed on motion where litigation is vexatious and clearly without merit.	It has been held that a complaint may be dismissed on motion where the litigation is vexatious and clearly without merit, Stewart v. Butler, 27 Misc. 708, 59 N.Y.S. 573, and that a client acting in good faith, that is, if he is not engaged with his adversary in a scheme to beat his own attorney out of his fee or compensation, may settle or withdraw his action without let or hindrance.	Will a complaint be dismissed upon motion where the litigation is vexatious and clearly without merit?
13634	Graf v. Whitaker, 192 Ariz. 403, 407 (Ariz. App. 1998)	4	Courts have power to control proceedings before them and enter orders of default or dismissal when party fails to abide by procedural rules of court.	Courts have the power to control the proceedings before them and enter orders of default or dismissal when a party fails to abide by the procedural rules of the court.	Do courts have the power to control proceedings before them?
13638	In re Invol. Dissolution of Battle Creek State Bank, 254 Neb. 120, 121 (Neb. 1998)	3	Banking corporations are quasi-public institutions in the sense that whole stream of commerce, whether interstate or intrastate, largely depends upon their existence.	Corporations: Banks and Banking. Banking corporations are quasi-public institutions in the sense that the whole stream of commerce, whether interstate or intrastate, largely depends upon their existence.	Does a bank possess a quasi-public character?
13659	Benge v. Scharbauer, 152 Tex. 447 (Tex. 1953)	4	An instrument may convey two separate estates in minerals, one of which may be a full mineral interest and the other a royalty or other interest in minerals.	An instrument may convey two separate estates in the minerals, one of which may be a full mineral interest and the other a royalty, or other interest in the minerals.	Could an instrument convey two separate estates in the minerals?
13661	Bk. Trust Co. v. Arnold N. May Builders, 90 Ill. App. 3d 454, 456 (Ill. App. Ct. 1980)	3	Motion for judgment on the pleadings tests sufficiency of pleadings as a matter of law and admits truth of all facts pleaded by opposite party.	A motion for judgment on the pleadings tests the sufficiency of the pleadings as a matter of law and admits the truth of all facts well pleaded by the opposite party.	Does a motion for judgment on the pleadings test the sufficiency of the pleadings?
13662	Am. Int'l Grp., Inc. v. ACE INA Holdings, Inc., 722 F. Supp. 2d 948, 976 (N.D. Ill. 2010).	34	Under New York law, principal can assert claim for fraud based on misrepresentations made to its agent.	Under New York law a principal can assert a claim for fraud based on misrepresentations made to its agent.	Can a principal assert claim for misrepresentations made to its agent?
13672	A. Gay Jenson Farms Co. v. Cargill, Inc., 309 N.W.2d 285, 290 (Minn. 1981)	1	"Agency" is the fiduciary relationship that results from manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.	Agency is the fiduciary relationship that results from the manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.	Is consent important to form agency relationship?
13674	Campion v. Bd. of Aldermen, 278 Conn. 500, 510 (Conn. 2006)	2	Zoning regulations are local legislative enactments and, therefore, their interpretation is governed by the same principles that apply to the construction of statutes....	Additionally, "zoning regulations are local legislative enactments and, therefore, their interpretation is governed by the same principles that apply to the construction of statutes....	Can the enactment of local zoning regulations be considered a legislative function?

13675	Shevey Spires v. Amer. Motors Realty Corp., 279 S.C. 58, 60 (S.C. 1983)	1	Plaintiff has burden of prosecuting his action, and the trial court may properly dismiss action for plaintiff's unreasonable neglect in proceeding with his cause.	The plaintiff has the burden of prosecuting his action, and the trial court may properly dismiss an action for plaintiff's unreasonable neglect in proceeding with his cause.	Does a plaintiff have the burden of prosecuting their action?
13679	Sweater Bee by Banff, Ltd. v. Manhattan Indus., Inc., 754 F.2d 457, 461 (2d Cir. 1985)	5	Litigation of substantial issues going to merits may constitute waiver of arbitration.	The rule of this circuit, like that in Jones, is that the litigation of substantial issues going to the merits may constitute a waiver of arbitration.	Does litigation of substantial issues going to the merits constitute a waiver of arbitration?
13697	Wright v. Wright, 567 S.W.2d 371, 374 (Mo. App. 1978)	1	As a matter of general law, there may be a presumption that comakers of promissory note, in absence of evidence to the contrary, are equally liable; bills and notes, however, do not necessarily express entire agreement between ostensible comakers.	As a matter of general law, there may be a presumption that co-makers of a promissory note, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, are equally liable. Bills and notes, however, do not necessarily express the entire agreement between ostensible co-makers.	Are comakers of a promissory note equally liable?
13708	Spence v. Cherian, 135 A.3d 1282, 1287 (Del. Super. Ct. 2016)	6	Court should dismiss a claim if a third-party plaintiff fails to plead, or cannot make out on the facts pleaded, an essential element of that claim, and if a plaintiff could not have originally sued the third-party defendant on a given claim, the claim against the third-party defendant also must be dismissed.	In turn, the Court should dismiss a claim if a third-party plaintiff fails to plead, or cannot make out on the facts pleaded, an essential element of that claim. 13 And if a plaintiff could not have originally sued the third-party defendant on a given claim, the claim against the third-party defendant also must be dismissed.	Should a court dismiss a claim if a plaintiff fails to plead?
13711	Gowens v. Tys. S, 948 So. 2d 513, 526 (Ala. 2006)	8	Although as against a principal, both principal and agent are deemed to have notice of whatever either has notice of, the imputation of the principal's knowledge to the agent is contrary to the general principles of agency.	Although "[a]s against a principal, both principal and agent are deemed to have notice of whatever either has notice of," the imputation of the principal's knowledge to the agent is contrary to the general principles of agency.	Can a principals knowledge be imputed to an agent?
13715	Hartzell Fan, Inc. v. Waco, Inc., 256 Va. 294, 295 (Va. 1998)	6	"Special agent" is one who is authorized to perform one or more specific acts in pursuance of particular instructions, or within restrictions necessarily implied from the stated acts to be performed.	A special agent is one who is authorized to perform one or more specific acts in pursuance of particular instructions, or within restrictions necessarily implied from the stated acts to be performed.	Who is a Special Agent under the law?

13716	Valeriano-Cruz v. Neth, 14 Neb. App. 855, 860, 716 N.W.2d 765, 769 (2006)	5	An "affidavit" is a written or printed declaration or statement of facts, made voluntarily, and confirmed by the oath or affirmation of the party making it, taken before a person having authority to administer such oath or affirmation; an affidavit must bear on its face, by the certificate of the officer before whom it is taken, evidence that it was duly sworn to by the party making the same.	An affidavit is a written or printed declaration or statement of facts, made voluntarily, and confirmed by the oath or affirmation of the party making it, taken before a person having authority to administer such oath or affirmation. Id. An affidavit must bear on its face, by the certificate of the officer before whom it is taken, evidence that it was duly sworn to by the party making the same.	Should the affidavit bear on its face to have been taken before the proper officer?
13728	Regency Oaks Corp. v. Norman-Spencer McKernan, Inc., 129 A.D.3d 1454, 1456, 12 N.Y.S.3d 398, 400 (2015)	2	The mere creation of an agency for some purpose does not automatically invest the agent with apparent authority to bind the principle without limitation.	It is axiomatic that "[t]he mere creation of an agency for some purpose does not automatically invest the agent with 'apparent authority' to bind the principle without limitation ... An agent's power to bind his [or her] principal is coextensive with the principal's grant of authority" (Ford v. Unity Hosp., 32 N.Y.2d 464, 472–473, 346 N.Y.S.2d 238, 299 N.E.2d 659).	"Do the acts of an agent, within the scope of his real or apparent authority, bind the principal? "
13732	Barratt American, Inc. v. City of Rancho Cucamonga, 37 Cal.4th 685, 700 (Cal. 2005)	5	In general, taxes are imposed for revenue purposes, rather than in return for a specific benefit conferred or privilege granted.	"In general, taxes are imposed for revenue purposes, rather than in return for a specific benefit conferred or privilege granted.	"In general, are taxes imposed for revenue purposes?"
13740	Nat'l Westminster Bank USA v. Century Healthcare Corp., 885 F. Supp. 601, 603 (S.D.N.Y. 1995)	2	Lender liability is predicated on unmistakable showing that subservient corporation in reality has no separate, independent existence of its own and was being used to further purposes of dominant corporation.	Lender liability is predicated on an unmistakable showing that the subservient corporation in reality has no separate, independent existence of its own and was being used to further the purposes of the dominant corporation.	What is lender liability predicated on?
13742	Bank of New York Mellon v. Deane, 41 Misc. 3d 494, 502, 970 N.Y.S.2d 427, 433–34 (Sup. Ct. 2013)	6	Whatever the rights of a person to enforce an instrument by reason of delivery or assignment, a person is not a "holder" by reason of delivery or assignment alone, unless delivery is made of a bearer instrument.	Whatever the rights of a person to enforce an instrument by reason of delivery or assignment, a person is not a "holder" by reason of 434 delivery or assignment alone, unless delivery is made of a bearer instrument.	Can a person become a holder by reason of delivery?
13748	Reyes v. New York Univ., 305 A.D.2d 392, 392, 759 N.Y.S.2d 508, 509 (2003)	1	Institutions of higher education maintain contractual relationships with their students, and can, under appropriate facts, be liable for breaches regarding scholarships.	Institutions of higher education do maintain contractual relationships with their students, and can, under appropriate facts, be liable for breaches regarding scholarships (see Aronson v. University of Mississippi, 828 So.2d 752 [Miss.]; Imam v. Illinois Inst. of Tech., 2002 WL 88566, 2002 U.S. Dist. Lexis 962 [N.D. Ill., Jan. 23, 2002]).	Can universities be liable for breach of contract regarding scholarships?

13749	Keles v. Hultin, 144 A.D.3d 987, 988, 42 N.Y.S.3d 235, 236 (2016)	1	Courts retain a restricted role in dealing with and reviewing controversies involving colleges and universities.	The courts of this State “have long been reluctant to intervene in controversies involving purely academic determinations” (Matter of Zanelli v. Rich, 127 A.D.3d 774, 775, 8 N.Y.S.3d 217), and thus “[c]ourts retain a ‘restricted role’ in dealing with and reviewing controversies involving colleges and universities” (Maas v. Cornell Univ., 94 N.Y.2d 87, 92, 699 N.Y.S.2d 716, 721 N.E.2d 966, quoting Gertler v. Goodgold, 107 A.D.2d 481, 487, 487 N.Y.S.2d 565).	Do courts have a restricted role in reviewing controversies involving universities?
13753	Gross v. Un. Engrs. Constructors, Inc., 224 Pa. Super. 233, 235 (1973)	2	Sufficiency of complaint is governed by facts alleged therein and fact that lacking information subsequently was or could be supplied is not governing.	The sufficiency of the Complaint is governed by the facts alleged therein and the fact that the lacking information subsequently was or could be supplied is not governing.	Is the sufficiency of the complaint governed by the facts alleged therein?
13756	Wood v. Cosme, 447 S.W.2d 746, 750 (Tex. Civ. App. 1969)	2	Where party fails to appear and prosecute his case, trial court cannot try case for him, and only remedy is to dismiss the case.	Of course, where a party fails to appear and prosecute his case, the trial court cannot try the case for him, and the only remedy is to dismiss the case.	Can court try the case for a party where party fails to appear and prosecute his case?
13763	Kaptein v. Conrad School District, 281 Mont. 152, 160 (Mont. 1997)	2	Student's right to participate in extracurricular activities, although not fundamental right, is clearly subject to constitutional protection.	We recognized in Bartmess that a student's right to participate in extracurricular activities, although not a fundamental right, is "clearly subject to constitutional protection."	Is a students right to participate in extracurricular school activities a fundamental right?
13764	Catalina Foothills Unified Sch. Dist. No. 16 v. La Paloma Prop. Owners Ass'n, Inc., 238 Ariz. 510, 514, 363 P.3d 127, 131 (Ct. App. 2015)	1	Political subdivisions, including school districts, do not have inherent powers of eminent domain and may only exercise those powers that are statutorily delegated to them.	Political subdivisions, including school districts, "do not have inherent powers of eminent domain and may only exercise those powers that are statutorily delegated to them."	Do schools districts have inherent powers?
13769	Storedahl Props v. Clark County, 143 Wash. App. 489, 496 (2008)	5	Where a charge relates to a direct benefit or service, the court generally does not consider it a tax or assessment; instead, the court refers to such charges as regulatory fees, a rather broad category that can include a wide assortment of utility customer fees, utility connection fees, garbage collection fees, local storm water facility fees, user fees, permit fees, parking fees, registration fees, filing fees, and license fees.	Where a charge relates to a direct benefit or service, this court generally does not consider it a tax or assessment. King County Fire Prot. Dists. No. 16, No. 36, & No. 40 v. Housing Auth. of King County, 123 Wash.2d 819, 833, 872 P.2d 516 (1994). Instead, this court refers to such charges as regulatory fees, a rather broad category that can "include a wide assortment of utility customer fees, utility connection fees, garbage collection fees, local storm water facility fees, user fees, permit fees, parking fees, registration fees, filing fees, and license fees."	"Where a charge is related to a direct benefit or service, will it be considered a tax?"

13778	Orbison v. Welsh, 242 Ind. 385, 417, 179 N.E.2d 727, 743 (1962)	21	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	The payment of a tax is compulsory and not optional, and it entitles the taxpayer to receive nothing in return, other than the rights of government which are enjoyed by all citizens alike.	Is a tax compulsory and not optional?
13788	Hickman v. Adams, 35 S.W.3d 120, 124 (Tex. App. 2000)	8	"Dismissal with prejudice" constitutes an adjudication on the merits and operates as if the case had been fully tried and decided.	Dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits and operates as if the case had been fully tried and decided.	Does a dismissal with prejudice operate as if the case had been fully tried and decided?
13790	Richmond Cnty. Bd. of Educ. v. Cowell, 739 S.E.2d 566, 568 (N.C. Ct. App. 2013)	2	The denial of a motion to dismiss is an interlocutory order which is not immediately appealable unless that denial affects a substantial right of the appellant.	"The denial of a motion to dismiss is an interlocutory order which is not immediately appealable unless that denial affects a substantial right of the appellant."	Is the denial of a motion to dismiss an interlocutory order?
13791	Airgrowers, Inc. v. Tomlinson, 230 Ga. App. 415, 416 (1998)	1	Cross-claim is not subject to dismissal simply because main claim has been dismissed, and, where it can be adjudicated without regard to main claim, cross-claim should be considered even after main claim has been dismissed.	A cross-claim is not subject to dismissal simply because the main claim has been dismissed, and, where it can be adjudicated without regard to the main claim, a cross-claim should be considered even after the main claim has been dismissed.	Is a cross-claim not subject to dismissal simply because a main claim has been dismissed?
13794	Hickman v. Barclay's Int'l Realty, 5 So. 3d 804, 806 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2009)	3	It is the right of control, not actual control or descriptive labels employed by the parties, that determines an agency relationship.	And it is the right of control, not actual control or descriptive labels employed by the parties, that determines an agency relationship	Can descriptive labels employed by the parties determine an agency relationship?
13799	Figi Graphics, Inc. v. Dollar Gen. Corp., 33 F. Supp. 2d 1263 (S.D. Cal. 1998)	7	Critical factor in determining existence of agency relationship is degree of control exercised by principal over agent.	A critical factor in determining the existence of an agency relationship is the degree of control exercised by the principal over the agent.	What is the critical factor in determining existence of an agency relationship?
13810	Texas State Bd. of Registration for Professional Engineers v. Dalton, Hindss&O'Brien Engineering Co., 382 S.W.2d 130, 134 (Tex. Civ. App. 1964)	3	Allegations of fact in a suit for injunction should be direct, certain and particular and leave nothing to inference, and the petition should contain specific fact allegations showing a right in the pleader, the wrong done by the defendant, and resulting injury.	Allegations of fact in a suit for injunction should be direct, certain and particular and leave nothing to inference. The petition should contain specific fact allegations showing a right in the pleader, the wrong done by the defendant, and the resulting injury.	"Should allegations of fact in a suit for injunction be direct, certain, and particular?"
13820	Arsand v. City of Franklin, 83 Wis. 2d 40, 48 (Wis. 1978)	2	An agent may or may not be a servant; if he is not a servant, his principal is not vicariously liable for his negligent physical conduct except under certain circumstances.	An agent may or may not be a servant; 5 and if he is not a servant, his principal is not vicariously liable for his negligent physical conduct except under certain circumstances.	When is a principal not vicariously liable for the negligence of his agent?
13821	Fischer v. Machado, 50 Cal. App. 4th 1069, 1072, 58 Cal. Rptr. 2d 213, 215 (1996)	5	Existence of fiduciary relation modifies all agency agreements and creates rules which do not apply to contracts in which one party is not agent for other.	The existence of the fiduciary relation modifies all agency agreements and creates rules which do not apply to contracts in which one party is not an agent for the other.	What rules does the existence of a fiduciary relationship create?

13835	Neils v. City of Seattle, 185 Wash. 269, 274–75 (1936)	2	Power to grant franchises is a sovereign power, resting in state, and may be delegated by state, but it is not within powers of cities unless expressly delegated to them by state.	[2] The power to grant franchises is a sovereign power, *275 resting in the state. It may be delegated by the state, but it is not within the powers of cities unless expressly delegated to them by the state. State ex rel.	Can the power to grant franchises be delegated by the State?
13845	Bridges v. Prod. Operators, 974 So. 2d 54, 58 (La.App. 4 Cir.,2007)	1	The Louisiana sales and use tax is an excise tax, which is imposed upon the transaction itself, not the property involved in the transaction.	The Louisiana sales and use tax is an excise tax, which is imposed "upon the transaction itself, not the property involved in the transaction."	Is sales and use tax an excise tax that is imposed upon a transaction?
13846	DaimlerChrysler Servs. N. Am. v. Arizona Dep't of Revenue, 210 Ariz. 297, 302 (Ariz.App. Div. 1,2005)	8	Gross receipts taxes are on the gross receipts from sales payable by the seller, in contrast to sales taxes, which are also levied on the gross receipts from sales but are payable by the buyer, although they are collected by the seller and remitted to the taxing entity.	As the United States Supreme Court recognizes, a transaction privilege tax differs from a sales tax: We follow standard usage, under which gross receipts taxes are on the gross receipts from sales payable by the seller, in contrast to sales taxes, which are also levied on the gross receipts from sales but are payable by the buyer (although they are collected by the seller and remitted to the taxing entity).	What are gross receipts taxes?
13853	Groves v. Prickett, 420 F.2d 1119, 1125 (9th Cir. 1970)	8	Waiver can be employed only for defensive purposes, and although it can preclude assertion of rights it cannot be used to impose legal duties.	A waiver can be employed only for defensive purposes. Although it can preclude the assertion of legal rights, it cannot be used to impose legal duties.	Can waiver be used to impose legal duties?
13854	Clear Lake Ctr. v. Garden Ridge, 416 S.W.3d 527, 542 (Tex.App.-Hous. (14 Dist.), 2013)	20	The elements of waiver include: (1) an existing right, benefit, or advantage held by a party; (2) the party's actual knowledge of its existence; and (3) the party's actual intent to relinquish the right, or intentional conduct inconsistent with the right.	"The elements of waiver include (1) an existing right, benefit, or advantage held by a party; (2) the party's actual knowledge of its existence; and (3) the party's actual intent to relinquish the right, or intentional conduct inconsistent with the right."	What are the elements of waiver?
13859	Bloebaum v. Gen. Am. Life Ins. Co., 734 S.W.2d 539, 540 (Mo.App. E.D. 1987)	1	Medical and hospital expense insurance is not insurance in usual sense, providing benefits upon occurrence of an event; it is by definition contract of indemnity, intended to indemnify and hold insured harmless from obligations he is by law compelled to pay.	Furthermore, medical and hospital expense insurance is not insurance in the usual sense, providing benefits upon the occurrence of an event. It is by definition a contract of indemnity, See Couch on Insurance 2d (Rev ed) 41A:42, intended to indemnify and hold the insured harmless from obligations he is by law compelled to pay.	"Are medical and hospital expense insurance, insurance in the usual sense? "
13860	Stephanz v. Laird, 846 S.W.2d 895, 899 (Tex. App. 1993)	13	Persons who intend to do things that constitute partnership are partners whether their expressed purpose was to create or avoid relationship.	Persons who intend to do the things that constitute a partnership are partners whether their expressed purpose was to create or avoid the relationship.	"If the parties intend to do things that constitute a partnership, are they partners?"

13861	Harris v. Johnson, 218 Ill. App. 3d 588, 591–92, 578 N.E.2d 1326, 1328 (1991)	2	To state cause of action properly, complaint must contain facts and not merely conclusions; cause of action will be dismissed if complaint contains mere conclusions unsupported by facts.	To state a cause of action properly, a complaint must contain facts and not merely conclusions. (Gray v. City of Plano (1986), 141 Ill.App.3d 575, 578, 95 Ill.Dec. 928, 490 N.E.2d 1020.) Although pleadings are to be construed liberally *592 with the aim of doing substantial justice between the parties, a plaintiff is not relieved from the duty of including sufficient factual averments in his complaint. (Ill.Rev.Stat.1989, ch. 110, par. 2–603(c); Gray, 141 Ill.App.3d at 578, 95 Ill.Dec. 928, 490 N.E.2d 1020.) A complaint will be deemed sufficient if the allegations contained therein reasonably inform the defendant by factually setting forth the elements necessary to state a cause of action. (People ex rel. Scott v. College Hills Corp. (1982), 91 Ill.2d 138, 145, 61 Ill.Dec. 766, 435 N.E.2d 463; Gray, 141 Ill.App.3d at 578–79, 95 Ill.Dec. 928, 490 N.E.2d 1020.) A cause of action will be dismissed if the complaint contains mere conclusions unsupported by facts.	"Should a complaint contain facts, to state a cause of action properly?"
13862	Moore v. Sergi, 38 Conn. App. 829, 841 (1995)	18	The purpose of the complaint is to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and to prevent surprise.	"The purpose of the complaint is to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and is calculated to prevent surprise."	"Are limiting the issues to be decided at the trial and preventing surprise, purposes of a complaint?"
13874	Regents of Univ. of Minnesota v. Lord, 57 N.W.2d 796, 796 (Minn. 1977)	2	While legislature cannot place conditions on appropriations made to University of Minnesota for any purpose which would intrude on internal control and management of University by board of regents, legislature has power to impose reasonable conditions on use of funds appropriated by it to University if conditions are limited in scope and will promote general welfare.	While the legislature cannot place conditions on appropriations made to the University of Minnesota for any purpose which would intrude on the internal control and management of the university by the Board of Regents, the legislature has the power to impose reasonable conditions on the use of funds appropriated by it to the university if the conditions are limited in scope and will promote the general welfare.	Can the legislature impose reasonable conditions on the use of university funds?
13879	Esslinger v. Sun Ref. & Mktg. Co., 379 Pa. Super. 69, 75 (Pa.Super.,1988)	5	Judgment of non pros may only be stricken when there are defects apparent on face of record.	A judgment of non pros may only be stricken when there are defects apparent on the face of the record.	Can a judgment of non pros only be stricken when there are defects apparent on a face of record?

13880	Richmond Cty. Bus. Ass'n v. Richmond Cty., 224 Ga. 854, 856-57 (1968)	5	If there is any doubt as to power of county to tax in particular instance, it must be resolved in the negative.	If there is any doubt as to the power of the county to tax in a particular instance, it must be resolved in the negative.	"If there is any doubt as to the power of the county to tax in a particular instance, should it be resolved in the negative?"
13896	Singer v. Siedband, 138 S.W.3d 750, 754 (Mo. Ct. App. 2004)	10	Capacity in which a party sues must be determined from content of pleadings, not solely from captions or titles thereof.	The capacity in which a party sues must be determined from the content of the pleadings, not solely from the captions or titles thereof.	Should the capacity in which a party sues be determined from the content of the pleadings?
13903	Johnson Assocs. Corp. v. HL Operating Corp., 680 F.3d 713, 717 (6th Cir. 2012)	6	Although a party can waive its contractual right to arbitration, because of the strong presumption in favor of arbitration, waiver of the right to arbitration is not to be lightly inferred.	Although it has long been settled that a party can waive its contractual right to arbitration, see Am. Locomotive Co. v. Gyro Process Co., 185 F.2d 316, 318 (6th Cir.1950), "because of the strong presumption in favor of arbitration, waiver of the right to arbitration is not to be lightly inferred."	Should waiver of the right to arbitration be lightly inferred?
13908	Klein v. City of New Orleans, 99 U.S. 149, 150 (1878)	2	If lands are held by a corporation for public purposes and the ground rents are part of the public revenues, they cannot be levied on or sold.	If the lands are held by the corporation for public purposes, and the ground rents are part of the public revenues, it is well settled that they cannot be levied on or sold.	Can lands held for public purposes be levied or sold?
13913	Steinhart v. Cty. of Los Angeles, 47 Cal. 4th 1298, 1316 (2010)	14	In general, the law particularly disfavors estoppels where the party attempting to raise the estoppel is represented by an attorney at law.	In general, the law "particularly" disfavors estoppels "where the party attempting to raise the estoppel is represented by an attorney at law."	Does the law disfavour estoppels where the party attempting to raise the estoppel is represented by an attorney at law?
13927	People v. Monterroso, 34 Cal. 4th 743, 777, 101 P.3d 956, 981 (2004)	32	An acquittal requires more than a bar to further proceedings; it requires a disposition based upon a determination of the merits.	An acquittal requires more than a bar to further proceedings; it requires "a disposition based upon a determination of the merits." "	Do acquittals require a disposition based upon a determination of the merits to further proceedings?
13943	State v. Crisman, 123 Idaho 277, 280, 846 P.2d 928, 931 (Ct. App. 1992)	5	Receiving state's executive branch must recognize sovereignty of other state before diplomatic immunity exists.	The receiving state's executive branch must recognize the sovereignty of the other state before diplomatic immunity exists.	Should the receiving state recognize the sovereignty of the other state before diplomatic immunity exists?
13950	Golf Tr. of Am. v. Soat, 355 Ill. App. 3d 333, 335-36 (2005)	2	A "pleading" is defined as a formal document in which a party to a legal proceeding, especially a civil lawsuit, sets forth or responds to allegations, claims, denials, or defenses.	A pleading is defined as, "A formal document in which a party to a legal proceeding (esp. a civil lawsuit) sets forth or responds to allegations, *336 claims, denials, or defenses."	What is a pleading?
13955	Nat'l Coal. Gov't of Union of Burma v. Unocal, 176 F.R.D. 329, 350-51 (C.D. Cal. 1997)	29	Party asserting applicability of act of state doctrine bears burden of proof; at minimum, this burden requires that party offer some evidence that government acted in its sovereign capacity and some indication of depth and nature of government's interest.	When applying the Sabbatino test, the party asserting the applicability of the act of state doctrine bears the burden of proof. See Liu v. Republic of China, 892 F.2d 1419, 1432 (9th Cir.1989). "At a minimum, this burden requires that a party offer some evidence that the government acted in its sovereign capacity and some indication of the depth and nature of the government's interest	Who bears the burden of proof when an assertion that the act of state doctrine is applicable is made?

13957	Bear v. Fleming, 714 F. Supp. 2d 972, 985 (D.S.D., 2010)	12	Courts do not and cannot intervene in the resolution of conflicts which arise in the daily operation of school systems and which do not directly and sharply implicate basic constitutional values.	"Courts do not and cannot intervene in the resolution of conflicts which arise in the daily operation of school systems and which do not directly and sharply implicate basic constitutional values."	"As a general rule, can courts intervene in the resolution of conflicts which arise in the daily operation of school systems which do not directly and sharply implicate basic constitutional values?"
13961	Bd. of Trustees of City of Delray Beach Police & Firefighters Ret. Sys. v. Citigroup Glob. Markets, 622 F.3d 1335, 1342 (C.A.11 (Fla.), 2010)	6	Determination of whether a signatory has authority to bind non-signatory to arbitrate turns on specific facts of each case.	The determination whether a signatory like Adams had the authority to bind a non-signatory like the Board to arbitrate "turns on the specific facts of each case."	How do courts determine the authority of a signatory to a bind non-signatory to arbitrate?
13962	Elwood v. Panhandle Concrete Co., 236 Neb. 751, 756 (Neb. 1990)	8	Generally, issues delineated in unaltered pretrial order supplant issues raised in pleadings.	Generally, issues delineated in an unaltered pretrial order supplant the issues raised in the pleadings.	"Do issues delineated in unaltered pretrial order, supplant issues raised in pleadings? "
13964	Madison Assocs. v. Bass, 158 Ill. App. 3d 526, 536 (1987)	3	Substitution of attorneys after commencement of trial does not constitute good cause for granting continuance.	The substitution of attorneys after the commencement of trial does not constitute good cause for granting a continuance.	Is the substitution of attorneys after the commencement of trial a good cause for granting continuance?
13976	Meyers v. City of Jacksonville, 754 So. 2d 198, 202 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2000)	1	Dismissal of a complaint with prejudice is a severe sanction which should be granted only when the pleader has failed to state a cause of action, and it conclusively appears that there is no possible way to amend the complaint to state a cause of action.	We begin our review of the trial court's ruling by noting that "[d]ismissal of a complaint with prejudice is a severe sanction which should be granted only when the pleader has failed to state a cause of action, and it conclusively appears that there is no possible way to amend the complaint to state a cause of action."	"Is a dismissal for lack of standing without prejudice and thus has no effect on the underlying duties, rights, or obligations of the parties?"
13982	Moore v. Com., 254 Va. 184, 186 (1997)	2	Penetration by penis of a vagina is essential element of crime of rape; proof of penetration, however slight the entry may be, is sufficient.	"Penetration by a penis of a vagina is an essential element of the crime of rape; proof of penetration, however slight the entry may be, is sufficient."	Is slight penetration sufficient to constitute rape?
13983	Denver Feed Co. v. City of Commerce City, 702 P.2d 285, 287 (Colo.App.,1985)	1	Taxing authority may assess and collect taxes only within the express authority conferred by law.	A taxing authority may assess and collect taxes only within the express authority conferred by law.	Should the taxing authority assess and collect taxes only within the express authority conferred by law?
13984	Haygood v. Head, 305 Ga. App. 375, 381 (2010)	18	In the absence of a valid jurat, a writing in the form of an affidavit has no force and no validity and amounts to nothing, when standing alone or when construed in connection with other evidence; to make a valid affidavit, the affiant must swear to it, and the fact of his swearing must be certified by a proper officer.	Further, in the absence of a valid jurat, a writing in the form of an affidavit has no force, no validity, amounts to nothing, when standing alone, or when construed in connection with other evidence. To make a valid affidavit, the affiant must swear to it, and the fact of his swearing must be certified by a proper officer.	Is verification of an affidavit without effect in the absence of a jurat?

13988	Myers v. Cohen, 67 Haw. 389, 393 (1984)	5	Dismissal of a claim for want of prosecution does not dispose of a counterclaim, and a counterclaim may be adjudicated on the merits even where a complaint is dismissed.	Moreover, obviously, the dismissal of a claim for want of prosecution does not dispose of a counterclaim, and a counterclaim may be adjudicated on the merits even where a complaint is dismissed.	Does dismissal of a claim for want of prosecution dispose of a counterclaim?
14009	Colonial Sur. Co. v. United States, 108 Fed. Cl. 622, 633 (Fed.Cl., 2013)	8	"Equitable subrogation" is a creature of equity, is enforced solely for the purpose of accomplishing the ends of substantial justice, and is independent of any contractual relations between the parties.	Equitable subrogation "is a creature of equity; is enforced solely for the purpose of accomplishing the ends of substantial justice; and is independent of any contractual relations between the parties.	What is equitable subrogation?
14011	Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. v. Wagner Fur, 760 F. Supp. 1101, 1105 (S.D.N.Y.,1991)	2	Any unauthorized delivery of bailed property by bailee, even delivery to wrong person resulting from bailee's good-faith mistake, constitutes "conversion."	Any unauthorized delivery of bailed property by a bailee-even delivery to the wrong person resulting from the bailee's good faith mistake-constitutes a conversion.	Does the unauthorized delivery of property by the bailee to the wrong person constitute conversion?
14012	In re Karp, 373 B.R. 837, 838 (N.D. Ill. 2007)	12	Under Illinois law, there are two types of subrogation: "conventional subrogation," which is based on express or implied agreement, and "legal subrogation," which arises by operation of law.	Under Illinois case law, there are two types of subrogation: conventional subrogation, which is based upon an express or implied agreement, and legal subrogation which arises by operation of law.	What are the two types of subrogation based upon?
14014	East Lake Creek Ranch v. Brotman, 998 P.2d 46, 50 (Colo. App. 2000)	10	One test for determining whether a transaction constitutes a "sale" or instead an "exchange" is whether there is a fixed value at which the exchange is to be made; if there is a fixed value, it is a sale.	A longstanding test for determining whether a transaction constitutes a sale or exchange is whether there is a fixed value at which the exchange is to be made; if there is a fixed value, it is a sale.	What test determines whether a transaction constitutes a sale or an exchange of property?
14016	Hooks v. Fourth Court of Appeals, 808 S.W.2d 56, 56 (Tex. 1991)	2	In ordinary case, absent special statutory provisions, plaintiff has absolute right to take nonsuit.	It is true that in the ordinary case, absent special statutory provisions, a plaintiff has an absolute right to take a nonsuit.	"In ordinary case, does the plaintiff have an absolute right to take a non suit?"
14018	State ex rel. Murphy v. Aronson, 330 S.W.2d 140, 145 (Mo. App. 1959)	8	"Reasonable notice" is one that provides an opportunity for a litigant to present his views as to matters instantly before the court which may affect his rights.	Reasonable notice is one that provides an 'Opportunity for a litigant to present his views as to the matters instantly before the court which may affect his rights	What is a reasonable notice under the law?
14019	SCAC Transp. (USA) Inc. v. S.S. Danaos, 578 F. Supp. 327, 330 (S.D.N.Y. 1984)	4	By consenting to arbitration a party relinquishes certain rights and safeguards provided by judicial system; if a party does not consent to arbitration, however, it retains these rights and should not be bound by an arbitration award.	By consenting to arbitration a party relinquishes certain rights and safeguards provided by the judicial system. See Parsons & Whittemore Overseas Co., Inc. v. Societe Generale de L'Industrie du Papier, 508 F.2d 969, 975 (2d Cir.1974).If a party does not consent to arbitration, however, it retains these rights and should not be bound by an arbitration award.	What is the consequence of consenting to arbitration?

14020	N. Am. Van Lines v. Lexington Ins. Co., 678 So. 2d 1325, 1330–31 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1996)	5	While concept of bad faith arose in connection with liability policies, good faith obligation is implied in all insurance contracts.	While the concept of bad faith arose in connection with liability policies, a good faith obligation is implied in all insurance *1331 contracts.	Are insurance contracts considered as contract of good faith?
14024	Rodriguez v. Texas Farmers Ins. Co., 903 S.W.2d 499, 506 (Tex. App. 1995)	5	When appellate complaint relates to substance of affidavit, it is not necessary that objection be pointed out to trial court, because there is no requirement of opportunity to amend such a complaint.	Nevertheless, when the appellate complaint relates to the substance of the affidavit, it is not necessary that the objection was pointed out to the trial court, because there is no requirement of an opportunity to amend upon such a complaint.	Will defects of substance in affidavits be allowed to be amended?
14028	F.H. Paschen/S.N. Nielsen v. Burnham Station, 372 Ill. App. 3d 89, 92-93 (Ill. App.)	3	Courts must accept an affidavit as true if it is uncontradicted by counteraffidavits or other evidentiary materials.	Furthermore, courts must accept an affidavit as true if it is uncontradicted by counteraffidavits *93 or other evidentiary materials.	Can courts accept an affidavit as true if it is uncontradicted by counter-affidavits or other evidentiary materials?
14031	Jackson Park Yacht Club v. Illinois Dep't of Local Gov't Affairs, 93 Ill. App. 3d 542, 547 (1981)	5	License is not assignable, and merely gives another right to use premises for specific purpose with owner retaining possession and control.	A license is not assignable, and merely gives another the right to use the premises for a specific purpose with the owner retaining possession and control.	Are licenses assignable?
14033	State v. Negron, 5 Conn. Cir. Ct. 159, 163 (1968)	2	Where there is any ambiguity in terms of notice, rendering its meaning doubtful, doubt must be resolved against person giving notice.	Moreover, where 'there is any ambiguity in the terms of a notice, rendering its meaning doubtful, the doubt must be resolved against the person giving the notice.' 66 C.J.S.	Will an ambiguity in the terms of a notice be resolved against the person giving the notice?
14034	Gantz v. Dir. of Revenue, 858 S.W.2d 793, 795 (Mo. App. 1993)	4	Trial court is generally free to believe or disbelieve statements made in affidavits offered as evidence on motions.	The general rule is that a trial court is free to believe or disbelieve statements made in affidavits offered as evidence on motions.	Can the trial court disbelieve an affidavit?
14038	Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London v. Westchester Fire Ins. Co., 489 F.3d 580, 584 (C.A.3 (N.J.),2007)	4	Arbitration is a creature of contract, and an arbitration panel has the authority to decide only the issues that have been submitted for arbitration by the parties.	"[A]rbitration is a creature of contract, and an arbitration panel has the authority to decide only the issues that have been submitted for arbitration by the parties."	Does an arbitration panel has authority to decide issues that are not submitted for arbitration by the parties?
14039	Momand v. Twentieth-Century Fox Film Corp., 37 F. Supp. 649, 657 (W.D. Okla. 1941)	11	Under Oklahoma law relating to assignments of causes of action, a tort pure and simple is any tort which does not arise out of a contract express or implied. 12 Okl.St.Ann. SS 221, 1051; 60 Okl.St.Ann. SS 312, 313.	These decisions commit Oklahoma to the doctrine of strict construction of the common law on the question of assignment, and have the effect of prohibiting the assignment of any cause of action not arising out of contract. Stated otherwise, a tort pure and simple is any tort which does not arise out of a contract, express or implied.	Are assignments of a cause of action in a tort valid?

14041	First Nat. Bank of Juneau v. Martin, 16 Alaska 313, 319 (D.Alaska.Terr.1.Div. 1956)	2	A vested interest in decedent's estate is assignable, including a future or contingent estate, if person to take it is certain and if coupled with an interest.	There also appears no question but that a vested interest in a decedent's estate is assignable, including a future or contingent estate, if the person to take it is certain and if coupled with an interest.	Is a vested future interest assignable?
14046	Farmer v. Mach. Craft, 406 So. 2d 981, 982 (Ala.Civ.App., 1981)	2	In order to constitute "bailment" there must be change of possession, actual or constructive, and bailee must have voluntarily assumed custody and possession of property for another.	In order to constitute a bailment, there must be a change of possession, actual or constructive, and the bailee must have voluntarily assumed the custody and possession of the property for another.	What constitutes bailment?
14050	United States v. Nat'l City Lines, 80 F. Supp. 734, 738-39 (S.D. Cal. 1948)	5	Matters of venue and change of venue are as a rule mere incidences of procedure, and statutes relating to remedies and procedure operate retrospectively.	Nonetheless, matters of venue and change of venue are, as a rule, mere incidences of procedure. And statutes *739 relating to remedies and procedure operate retrospectively	Can matters of venue operate retrospectively?
14054	Craig ex rel. Estate of Craig v. Zink, 2016 IL App (4th) 150939, 796 (Ill. App. Ct. 2016)	6	A claim against an estate is not a pleading within the meaning of the Civil Code, and it need not set forth a formal cause of action.	It is well established a claim against an estate is not a pleading within the meaning of the Civil Code, and it need not set forth a formal cause of action.	Is a claim against an estate a pleading?
14062	Adkins v. Labor Ready, 303 F.3d 496, 501 (4th Cir. 2002)	5	Even though arbitration has a favored place, there still must be an underlying agreement between the parties to arbitrate.	It is clear that "even though arbitration has a favored place, there still must be an underlying agreement between the parties to arbitrate."	"If arbitration has a favored place, is there a need for an underlying agreement between the parties to arbitrate?"
14068	Yeakey v. Hearst Commc'ns, Inc., 156 Wash. App. 787, 791-92, 234 P.3d 332, 335 (2010)	4	The falsity prong of a defamation claim is satisfied with evidence that a statement is probably false or leaves a false impression due to omitted facts.	The falsity prong of a defamation claim is *792 satisfied with evidence that a statement is probably false or leaves a false impression due to omitted facts.	What is the meaning of the term falsity in defamation law?
14072	TDM Farms of N. Carolina v. Wilhoite Family Farm, 969 N.E.2d 97, 109 (Ind. App. 2012)	8	"Trespass" is defined as an unlawful interference with one's person, property, or rights; any unauthorized intrusion or invasion of private premises or land of another.	In Indiana, "[t]respass is defined as '[a]n unlawful interference with one's person, property, or rights.... Any unauthorized intrusion or invasion of private premises or land of another.' "	How is trespass defined?
14073	Lightning Oil Company v. Anadarko E&P Onshore, 520 S.W.3d 39, 46 (Tex. 2017)	9	"Trespass" to real property is an unauthorized entry upon the land of another, and may occur when one enters, or causes something to enter, another's property.	"Trespass to real property is an unauthorized entry upon the land of another, and may occur when one enters- or causes something to enter-another's property." Barnes v.	What constitutes a trespass to real property?
14091	Backoff v. Weiner, 305 Mass. 375, 377 (Mass. 1940)	3	The reciprocal obligations of landlord and tenant do not depend upon validity of landlord's title.	The reciprocal obligations of landlord and tenant do not depend upon the validity of the landlord's title.	Do reciprocal obligations between landlord and tenant depend upon the validity of landlords title?
14092	Graphic Commc'ns Union, Chicago Paper Handlers' & Electrotypers' Local No. 2 v. Chicago Tribune Co., 779 F.2d 13, 15 (7th Cir. 1985)	4	There is strong federal policy in favor of arbitrating disputes in general and labor disputes in particular.	That however would fly in the face of the strong federal policy in favor of arbitrating disputes in general and labor disputes in particular.	Is there a strong federal policy in favor of arbitrating labor disputes?

14095	Millennium Park Joint Venture v. Houlihan, 241 Ill. 2d 281, 310 (Ill. 2010)	36	The essential elements of a lease include: (1) the extent and bounds of the property, (2) the term of the lease, (3) the amount of rent, and (4) the time and manner of payment.	Additionally, the essential elements of a lease include: (1) the extent and bounds of the property; (2) the term of the lease; (3) the amount of rent; and (4) the time and manner of payment.	What are the essential elements required of a lease?
14097	Lake Cty. Tr. Co. v. Two Bar B, 238 Ill. App. 3d 589, 595 (Ill. App. Ct. 1992)	2	Law of the state where the real estate is situated governs the rights of the parties.	This principle is consonant with the traditional legal doctrine that the law of the State where the real estate is situated governs the rights of the parties.	Does the law of the state where the real estate is situated govern the rights of the parties?
14105	Brown v. E.F. Hutton & Co., 610 F. Supp. 76, 79 (S.D. Fla. 1985)	4	There is a strong federal policy favoring arbitration, and thus any party arguing waiver of arbitration bears a heavy burden of proof.	Since there is a strong federal policy favoring arbitration, "any party arguing waiver of arbitration bears a heavy burden of proof."	Who bears the burden of proof in waiving arbitration?
14110	Jones v. Dugger, 518 So. 2d 295, 298 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1987)	3	The "year and a day" rule is a rule of evidence rather than an element of the offense of murder.	We agree with the analysis employed by the courts in Head and Ladd and find that the "year and a day" rule is a rule of evidence rather than an element of the offense of murder.	Is the year and a day rule considered as a rule of evidence rather than an element of offense of murder?
14111	Morrow v. City of Cleveland, 73 Ohio App. 460, 463 (Ohio Ct. App. 1943)	4	Facts judicially noticed are not ordinarily required to be pleaded, and, if pleaded matter conflicts with judicial knowledge of the court, the latter controls.	'Facts judicially noticed are not ordinarily required to be pleaded, and if pleaded matter conflicts with the *464 judicial knowledge of the court it plainly follows that the latter control	Should facts judicially noticed be pleaded?
14120	Ex parte Compass Bank, 77 So. 3d 578, 581 (Ala. 2011)	4	A "cause of action" grows out of the wrongful act, and not the various forms of damages that may flow from the single wrongful act.	[A] "cause of action" grows out of the wrongful act, and not the various forms of damages that may flow from the single wrongful act.	Does a cause of action grow out of a wrongful act?
14125	Jefferson Cnty. Sch. Dist. No. R-1 v. Indus. Comm'n, 698 P.2d 1350, 1352 (Colo. App. 1984)	1	In proper case, doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel may be applied to administrative proceedings.	In a proper case, the doctrines of res judicata and collateral estoppel may be applied to administrative proceedings.	Is the doctrine of collateral estoppel applicable to administrative proceedings?
14135	Mennen v. Easter Stores, 951 F. Supp. 838, 857 (N.D. Iowa 1997)	10	"Constructive discharge" exists when employer deliberately renders employee's working conditions intolerable and thus forces employee to quit.	A constructive discharge exists when an employer deliberately renders the employee's working conditions intolerable and thus forces the employee to quit.	When does a constructive discharge exist?
14136	Tidwell v. Meyer's Bakeries, 93 F.3d 490, 494 (8th Cir. 1996)	8	To constitute constructive discharge, employer must deliberately create intolerable working conditions with intention of forcing the employee to quit and employee must quit.	To constitute a constructive discharge, the employer must deliberately create intolerable working conditions with the intention of forcing the employee to quit and the employee must quit.	When does a constructive discharge exist?
14137	Resolute Forest Prod. v. U.S. Dep't of Agric., 219 F.Supp.3d 69, 73 (D.D.C. 2016)	1	Where there is a legal right, there is also a legal remedy by suit or action at law, whenever that right is invaded.	After all, casebooks introduce the general theory that "where there is a legal right, there is also a legal remedy by suit or action at law, whenever that right is invaded."	"Is there a legal remedy by suit or action at law, when a legal right is invaded?"

14138	Tinder v. Pinkerton Sec., 305 F.3d 728, 733 (7th Cir. 2002)	4	Whether a binding arbitration agreement exists is determined under principles of state contract law. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	Whether a binding arbitration agreement exists is determined under principles of state contract law. 9 U.S.C. 2;	Does state contract law determine the validity of arbitration agreements?
14154	Cordier v. Lincoln County Nat. Bank, 702 S.W.2d 428, 430 (Ky. 1986)	2	Joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by entirety, joint property, common property, or part ownership does not of itself establish a partnership. KRS 362.180(2).	Joint tenancy, tenancy in common, tenancy by the entirety, joint property, common property, or part ownership does not of itself establish a partnership. KRS 362.180(2).	Do tenants in joint tenancies in property establish partnership?
14155	Bank of New York v. Nally, 820 N.E.2d 644, 654 (Ind. 2005)	23	Application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case.	We agree with Osterman that application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case.	Does the application of equitable subrogation depend on the facts of the case?
14157	AJJ Enterprises, LLP v. Jean-Charles, 160 Conn. App. 375, 396 (Conn. App. Ct. 2015)	7	"Subrogation" is a doctrine which equity borrowed from the civil law and administers so as to secure justice without regard to form or mere technicality.	"Subrogation is a doctrine which equity borrowed from the civil law and administers so as to secure justice without regard to form or mere technicality.	How is subrogation administered?
14165	Deutsche Bank Nat'l Tr. Co. v. Payton, App (1st), 76 N.E.3d 804, 810 (Ill. App. Ct. 2017)	6	Doctrine of equitable subrogation is the remedial device designed to prevent an unjust enrichment.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation is the remedial device designed to prevent an unjust enrichment.	Is common law or equitable right of subrogation a remedial device utilized to prevent unjust enrichment?
14167	Dattel Fam. Ltd. P'ship v. Wintz, 250 S.W.3d 883, 887 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2007)	3	Subrogation is an equitable doctrine with the aim of placing the burden of bearing a loss where it ought to be.	Subrogation is an equitable doctrine whose aim is to "plac[e] the burden of bearing the loss where it [o]ught to be."	Is subrogation an equitable doctrine with the aim of placing the burden of bearing a loss where it ought to be?
14171	Schlaikjer v. Kaplan, 296 Kan. 456, 157 (Kan. 2013)	15	District court's decision on a motion in limine involves a two-prong test, and to grant the motion, the court must determine that: (1) the material or evidence will be inadmissible at trial; and (2) a pretrial ruling is justified, as opposed to a ruling during trial, because (a) the mere offer or mention of the evidence during trial may cause unfair prejudice, confuse the issues, or mislead the jury; (b) the consideration of the issue during trial might unduly interrupt and delay the trial; or (c) a ruling in advance of trial may limit issues and save the parties time, effort, and cost in trial preparation.	A district court's decision on a motion in limine involves a two-prong test. To grant the motion, the court must determine that (1) the material or evidence will be inadmissible at trial; and (2) a pretrial ruling is justified, as opposed to a ruling during trial, because (a) the mere offer or mention of the evidence during trial may cause unfair prejudice, confuse the issues, or mislead the jury; (b) the consideration of the issue during trial might unduly interrupt and delay the trial; or (c) a ruling in advance of trial may limit issues and save the parties time, effort, and cost in trial preparation.	Does a district court's decision on a motion in limine involve a two-prong test?
14173	State v. Davis, 505 S.W.3d 401, 406 (Mo. Ct. App. 2016)	9	Law does not require or expect utmost resistance to a sexual assault when it appears that such resistance would be futile or would provoke a more serious injury.	"[T]he law does not require or expect utmost resistance to a sexual assault when it appears that such resistance would be futile or would provoke a more serious injury."	Is resistance to sexual assault necessary to sustain a conviction for sexual assault?

14174	Columbia Bank v. Turbeville, 143 So. 3d 964, 968 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2014)	1	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy rooted in the legal consequence of the actions and relationship between the parties.	Equitable subrogation, which the Bank asserts against Ms. Turbeville, is an equitable remedy rooted in the legal consequence of the actions and relationship between the parties.	Is equitable subrogation an equitable remedy created by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties?
14175	Houston v. Bank of Am. Fed. Sav. Bank, 119 Nev. 485, 490 (2003)	5	"Equitable subrogation" is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Is equitable subrogation a remedy to avoid an unearned windfall?
14176	MacNab v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co., 243 Or. 267, 272 (Or. 1966)	5	Before a party is entitled to subrogation to the rights of another his equity must be strong and his case clear.	Before a party is entitled to subrogation, his equity must be strong and his case clear.	"In order to be entitled to equitable subrogation, must a party's equity be strong and his case clear?"
14177	Ameriquist Mortg. Co. v. Alton, 273 Mich. App. 84, 95 (Mich. Ct. App. 2006)	10	Equitable subrogation will not be enforced where it will work injustice to the rights of those having equal equities.	A proviso exists that equitable subrogation "will not be enforced where it will work injustice to the rights of those having equal equities."	Will equitable subrogation be enforced where it will work injustice to the rights of those having equal equities?
14185	Gevinson v. Manhattan Const. Co. of Okl., 420 S.W.2d 486, 488 (Tex. App. 1967)	1	A single individual or entity cannot be owner of a partnership, though he or it could become the owner of what might have theretofore been property which belonged to such.	We here take occasion to note that a single individual or entity cannot be 'owner' of a partnership, though he or it could become the owner of what might have theretofore been property which belonged to such.	Can a single individual be an owner of a partnership?
14190	Torgerson v. Minneapolis, St. P. & S.S.M. Ry. Co., 49 N.D. 1096, 194 N.W. 741, 743 (1923)	9	Demurrer does not necessarily admit the inferences or conclusions drawn from the facts alleged in the complaint.	A demurrer admits the truth of all well-pleaded facts, but not necessarily the inferences or conclusions drawn therefrom, tho alleged in the complaint; facts presumed or reasonably or necessarily inferred from those alleged are also admitted.	Does a demurrer admit the inferences or conclusions from the facts alleged in the complaint?
14194	Peed v. Peed, 72 N.C. App. 549, 559 (N.C. Ct. App. 1985)	18	Power to grant a motion in limine is within the discretion of the trial court.	The power to grant a motion in limine is within the discretion of the trial court.	Does the power to grant a motion in limine lie within the sound discretion of the trial court?
14198	Chrysler First Bus. Credit Corp. v. Kawa, 914 P.2d 540, 543 (Colo. App. 1996)	8	Sureties have right of subrogation to creditor's position when debt goes into default.	It is fundamental that sureties have the right of subrogation to the creditor's position when a debt goes into default.	Do sureties have the right of subrogation to a creditor's position when debt goes into default?
14203	Sec. Bank & Tr. Co. v. Larkin, Hoffman, Daly & Lindgren, Ltd., 897 N.W.2d 821, 825 (Minn. Ct. App. 2017)	9	A cause of action "accrues" when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.	In so doing, we are mindful that "[a] cause of action accrues when all of the elements of the action have occurred, such that the cause of action could be brought and would survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim."	When does general right of action accrue?
14207	Sec. Bank & Tr. Co. v. Larkin, Hoffman, Daly & Lindgren, Ltd., 897 N.W.2d 821, 825 (Minn. Ct. App. 2017)	11	Minnesota adheres to the rule requiring some damage to occur for a cause of action to accrue.	Minnesota adheres to the rule requiring "some damage" to occur for a cause of action to accrue.	Does any rule require some damage to occur for a cause of action to accrue?

14210	Diamond v. Davis, 680 A.2d 364, 370 (D.C. 1996)	1	What constitutes accrual of cause of action is question of law; however, when accrual actually occurred in particular case is question of fact.	What constitutes the accrual of a cause of action is a question of law. See, e.g., Bussineau v. President of Georgetown College, 518 A.2d 423, 425 (D.C.1986). When accrual actually occurred in a particular case is a question of fact.	Does deciding what constitutes accrual of a cause of action entailing statutory construction present an issue of law?
14214	Corbin-Dykes Elec. Co. v. Burr, 18 Ariz. App. 101, 103 (Ariz. Ct. App. 1972)	3	"Custom" or "usage" is defined as an habitual or customary practice, more or less widespread, which prevails within a geographical or sociological area; usage is a course of conduct based on a series of actual occurrences.	Custom or usage is defined as an habitual or customary practice, more or less widespread, which prevails within a geographical or sociological area. Sam Levitz Furniture Co. V. Safeway Stores, Inc., 10 Ariz.App. 225, 457 P.2d 938 (1969). Usage is a course of conduct based upon a series of actual occurrences.	How is custom or usage defined?
14217	Lafontant v. Aristide, 844 F. Supp. 128, 132 (E.D.N.Y. 1994)	3	Head-of-state immunity is premised on concept that state and its ruler are one for purposes of immunity.	Head-of-state immunity, like foreign sovereign immunity, is premised on the concept that a state and its ruler are one for purposes of immunity.	Is head-of-state immunity premised on the concept that a state and its ruler are one for purposes of immunity?
14218	John Mohr & Sons v. Vacudyne Corp., 354 F. Supp. 1113, 1116 (N.D. Ill. 1973)	9	The Acts of Congress do not and are not intended to operate beyond the limits of the United States.	The Acts of Congress do not and were not intended to operate beyond the limits of the United States.	Are the acts of congress intended to operate beyond the limits of the United States?
14223	Gary v. Heritage Nat. Healthplan Servs., 485 N.W.2d 851, 854 (Iowa Ct. App. 1992)	4	District court has wide discretion in its rulings on pretrial deadlines and will be reversed only for abuse of such discretion.	The district court has wide discretion in its rulings on pretrial deadlines and will be reversed only for an abuse of such discretion.	Does District court have wide discretion in its rulings on pretrial deadlines?
14224	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	10	A motion in limine should not be used to "choke off" a party's entire claim or defense.	As several courts have noted, a motion in limine should not be used to "choke off" a party's entire claim or defense.	"Should a motion in limine be used to ""choke off"" a party's entire claim or defense?"
14230	Bozman v. Bozman, 146 Md. App. 183, 200 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2002)	4	Cause of action is said to have arisen when facts exist to support each element.	"[A] cause of action is said to have arisen 'when facts exist to support each element.' "	Is a cause of action said to have arisen when facts exist to support each element?
14235	Allied Bank Int'l v. Banco Credito Agricola de Cartago, 566 F. Supp. 1440, 1443 (S.D.N.Y. 1983)	5	The act of state doctrine, which is designed to avoid judicial action which impinges upon foreign relations of United States, ultimately derives from separation of powers provided in Constitution.	The act of state doctrine is designed to avoid judicial action which would impinge upon the foreign relations of the United States. IAM v. OPEC, 649 F.2d 1354, 1359 (9th Cir.1981), cert. denied, 454 U.S. 1163, 102 S.Ct. 1036, 71 L.Ed.2d 319 (1982). The doctrine ultimately derives from the separation of powers provided in the Constitution.	Does the act of state doctrine ultimately derive from the separation of powers provided in the Constitution?
14236	El-Hadad v. Embassy of United Arab Emirates, 69 F. Supp. 2d 69, 81 (D.D.C. 1999)	17	Act of State doctrine applies only when the actions of the foreign state occur within that foreign state.	Fortunately, the Court can dispense easily with defendants' argument because the Act of State doctrine applies only when the actions of the foreign state occur within that foreign state.	Does the Act of State doctrine apply only when the actions of the foreign state occur within that foreign state?

14237	Nat'l Coal. Gov't of Union of Burma v. Unocal, 176 F.R.D. 329, 352 (C.D. Cal. 1997)	34	It is only when officials having sovereign authority act in official capacity that act of state doctrine applies.	"It is only when officials having sovereign authority act in an official capacity that the Act of State Doctrine applies.	Is it only when officials having sovereign authority act in official capacity that the act of state doctrine applies?
14241	United States v. Sum of $70,990,605, 4 F. Supp. 3d 189, 204 (D.D.C. 2014)	24	Party invoking the act of state doctrine bears the burden to prove its applicability.	Similarly, the party invoking the act of state doctrine bears the burden to prove its applicability.	Does the party invoking the act of state doctrine have the burden of establishing factual predicate for doctrine's applicability?
14242	Lafontant v. Aristide, 844 F. Supp. 128, 132 (E.D.N.Y. 1994)	2	Visiting head-of-state is generally immune from jurisdiction of foreign state's courts.	A visiting head-of-state is generally immune from the jurisdiction of a foreign state's courts.	Is a visiting head-of-state generally immune from the jurisdiction of a foreign state's courts?
14243	Wells v. Gillette, 620 So. 2d 301, 305 (La. Ct. App.), writ denied, 629 So. 2d 396 (La. 1993)	6	Orderly disposition of each case and docket and avoidance of surprise are inherent in theory of pretrial procedure.	An orderly disposition of each case and the docket and avoidance of surprise are inherent in the theory of pretrial procedure.	Is avoidance of surprise inherent in theory of pretrial procedure?
14247	State, By & Through Healy v. Smither, 290 Or. 827, 832 (1981)	1	Subrogee's rights rise no higher than the rights of the subrogor, and person against whom claim is made may assert, as a defense to subrogation claim, any defenses available against the subrogor.	As such, the subrogee's rights rise no higher than the rights of the subrogor, and the person against whom claim is made may assert, as a defense to the subrogation claim, any defenses available against the subrogor.	Does a subrogee stand in the shoes of the subrogor and have no better rights than possessed by the latter?
14251	State ex rel. Smith v. Culliver, 186 Ohio App. 3d 534, 474 (2010)	13	The office of clerk of courts is an office separate and distinct from that of judge of the common pleas court.	The office of clerk of courts, however, is an office separate and distinct from that of judge of the common pleas court.	Is an office of clerk of courts separate and distinct from that of judge of the common pleas court?
14252	Barrett v. State, 965 So. 2d 1260, 1261 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2007)	2	The court clerk is a ministerial officer of the court and has no authority to contest the validity of a court's order issued in the performance of its judicial function.	The clerk is merely a ministerial officer of the court and has no authority to contest the validity of a court's order issued in the performance of its judicial function.	Is a clerk of the court a ministerial officer?
14267	Weadon v. Shahren, 50 Cal. App. 2d 254, 262, 123 P.2d 88, 93 (1942)	8	The doctrine of "laches" is based on knowledge of facts and acquiescence in them to the damage of the other party.	The doctrine of laches is based on knowledge of the facts and an acquiescence in them to the damage of the other party.	Is the doctrine of laches based on knowledge of facts and acquiescence in them to the damage of the other party?
14269	Hood v. Slaphey, 601 So. 2d 981, 983 (Ala. 1992)	1	Cause of action accrues when act complained of results in injury to plaintiff.	A cause of action accrues when the act complained of results in injury to the plaintiff.	Does cause of action accrue when act complained of results in injury to plaintiff?
14270	Gorod v. Tabachnick, 428 Mass. 1001, 1001 (1998)	3	Clerks and registers, whether elected or appointed, are ministerial officers of court when it comes to receiving and filing papers, and in the absence of an order from a judge, they may not refuse to accept a notice of appeal, even if they believe that no appeal is available or that notice is untimely or otherwise defective.	Clerks and registers, whether elected or appointed, are ministerial officers of the court when it comes to receiving and filing papers. In the absence of an order from a judge, they may not refuse to accept a notice of appeal, even if they believe that no appeal is available or that the notice is untimely or otherwise defective.	Are clerks of courts ministerial officers?

14271	Barrett v. State, 965 So. 2d 1260, 1261 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2007)	2	The court clerk is a ministerial officer of the court and has no authority to contest the validity of a court's order issued in the performance of its judicial function.	The clerk is merely a ministerial officer of the court and has no authority to contest the validity of a court's order issued in the performance of its judicial function.	Is a clerk a ministerial officer of the court?
14272	Barker v. Francis, 741 P.2d 548, 552 (Utah Ct. App. 1987)	11	Closing date alone in contract for sale or exchange of land does not make time of the essence.	A closing date alone in a contract for the sale or exchange of land does not make time of the essence.	Does a closing date in a contract make time of the essence?
14279	Wyland v. W. Shore Sch. Dist., 52 A.3d 572, 581 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2012)	8	A court generally should not interfere with a school district's discretion regarding educational policy; nonetheless, a school district does not have the discretion to disregard a statutory mandate.	We recognize that a court generally should not interfere with a school district's discretion regarding educational policy. Unionville—Chadds Ford Sch. Dist. Nonetheless, a school district does not have the discretion to disregard a statutory mandate, as the District has done here.	Can courts interfere with a school district's discretion regarding school policy?
14292	Shamrock Coal Co. v. Maricle, 5 S.W.3d 130, 134 (Ky. 1999)	4	The General Assembly is free to limit the application of workers' compensation benefits.	"The General Assembly clearly is free to limit the application of workers' compensation benefits...."	Is the General Assembly free to limit the application of workers' compensation benefits?
14293	Gormley v. Panuzio, 166 Conn. 1, 2 (1974)	1	In mandamus, factual situation existing at time writ is to issue governs.	In mandamus, the factual situation existing at the time the writ is to issue governs.	"In mandamus, does the factual situation existing at the time of the writ is to issue govern?"
14294	Canal Auth. of State of Fla. v. Callaway, 489 F.2d 567, 573 (5th Cir. 1974)	4	Preliminary injunction is an extraordinary and drastic remedy which should not be granted unless the movant clearly carries burden of persuasion.	In considering these four prerequisites, the court must remember that a preliminary injunction is an extraordinary and drastic remedy which should not be granted unless the movant clearly carries the burden of persuasion.	When should the extraordinary remedy of injunction be granted?
14296	Perona v. Stark, 114 Ariz. 570, 571 (1977)	2	Judgment must be supported by facts as they existed at time of commencement of action.	A judgment must be supported by facts as they existed at the time of the commencement of the action.	Must a judgment be supported by facts as they existed at the time of the commencement of an action?
14297	Parr v. First State Bank of San Diego, 307 S.W.2d 309, 310 (Tex. Civ. App. 1957)	2	Courts do not decide cases when nothing is left to litigate at the time of hearing.	Courts do not decide cases when nothing is left to litigate at the time of the hearing.	Do courts decide cases when nothing is left to litigate at the time of hearing?
14298	Hammon v. Wichita Cty., 290 S.W.2d 545, 546 (Tex. App. 1956)	5	Generally right to equitable relief must be determined as such right may or may not exist at the time of the hearing.	Generally, the right to equitable relief must be determined as such right may or may not exist at the time of the hearing.	Will the right to equitable relief exist at the time of hearing?
14300	Coleman v. Coleman, 208 S.C. 103, 108, 37 S.E.2d 305, 313–14 (1946)	12	At common law an equitable defense could not be interposed to an action at law, and judgment was given as a matter of course against a defendant having only an equitable defense.	Under the common law an equitable defense could not be interposed to an action at law, and if the defendant had only an equitable defense, 314 judgment was given against him as a matter of course.	Are equitable defenses available to a law action?
14301	Mastrobuono v. Lange, 241 A.D. 770, 770, 270 N.Y.S. 564, 565–66 (App. Div. 1934)	4	Equity will give relief as exigencies of case demand at close of trial.	Equity will 566 give relief as the exigencies of the case demand at the close of the trial.	Will equity give relief as exigencies of the case demand at the close of trial?

14302	Citizens' Nat. Bank of Netcong v. John Wills, 130 N.J.L. 201, 205 (N.J. 1943)	3	In actions at law, the rights of the parties are generally determined as of the time of beginning of the action.	1389-'As a general rule, at least so far as actions at law are concerned, * * * the rights of the parties are determined as of the time of the beginning of the action.	"In actions at law, are the rights of the parties generally determined as of the time of beginning of the action?"
14306	State ex rel. Douglas v. Faith Baptist Church of Louisville, 207 Neb. 802, 814 (1981)	8	State always has a legitimate concern for maintaining minimum standards in all schools it allows to operate.	2105, 29 L.Ed.2d 745 (1971), the court said: "A State always has a legitimate concern for maintaining minimum standards in all schools it allows to operate.") Mr.	Does a state have a legitimate concern in requiring minimum standards in all of its schools?
14312	Lopez v. Concord Gen. Mut. Ins. Grp., 155 Vt. 320, 324 (Vt. 1990)	3	Waiver of subrogation right will be found only where subrogated party has specifically and unequivocally relinquished that right.	We conclude that a waiver of a subrogation right will be found only where the subrogated party has specifically and unequivocally relinquished that right.	Will a waiver of subrogation right be found only where subrogated party has specifically and unequivocally relinquished that right?
14315	Nat'l Shawmut Bank of Boston v. New Amsterdam Cas. Co., 290 F. Supp. 664, 668 (D. Mass. 1968)	5	Express language should be used to extinguish a right as venerable and well-known as that of subrogation.	At any rate, it seems that express language could and should be used to extinguish a right as venerable and well-known as that of subrogation.	Should express language be used to extinguish a right as venerable and well-known as that of subrogation?
14320	Goldblatt v. City of Chicago, 30 Ill. App. 2d 211, 219 (1961)	5	A case is determined on law as it stands when judgment is rendered and not when suit was brought.	Consequently, the Circuit Court's judgment of March 31, 1960, was proper as a case is determined on the law as it stands when the judgment is rendered and not when the suit was brought.	Is a case determined by the law as it stands when judgment is rendered and not when the suit was brought?
14321	Poole v. Rourke, 779 F. Supp. 1546, 1565 (E.D. Cal. 1991)	26	Department of Defense regulations control when they conflict with regulations promulgated by Air Force.	Department of Defense regulations control when they conflict with regulations promulgated by the Air Force.	Do Department of Defense regulations control when they conflict with regulations promulgated by the Air Force?
14327	Winchester Homes, Inc. v. Osmose Wood Preserving, Inc., 37 F.3d 1053, 1058 (4th Cir. 1994)	4	Under Virginia law, party may nonsuit either cause of action, claim, or party, and nonsuit does not operate as bar to subsequent suit between same parties on same cause of action.	Therefore, a party may nonsuit either a cause of action, a claim, or a party, and the nonsuit ... does not operate as a bar to a subsequent suit between the same parties on the same cause of action.	"Can a party nonsuit a cause of action, a claim, or a party?"
14330	Stanford v. Aulick, 124 Ariz. 487, 488 (1980)	1	A surety is entitled to be subrogated to position of mortgagee when he is compelled to pay debt.	A surety is entitled to be subrogated to the position of the mortgagee when he is compelled to pay the debt.	Is a surety entitled to be subrogated to the position of a mortgagee when he is compelled to pay debt?
14331	In re Rebel Rents, 307 B.R. 171, 190 (C.D. Cal. 2004)	21	Like other equitable remedies, right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	Like other equitable remedies, a right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	"Can a right to subrogation be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel?"
14336	Minnesota Min. & Mfg. Co. v. Plymouth Rubber Co., 178 F. Supp. 591, 596 (N.D. Ill. 1959)	6	The existence of a cause of action is to be tested as of time of filing of complaint and no recovery may be had if no cause be shown to exist at that time.	The law is well settled that the existence of a cause of action is to be tested as of the time of the filing of the complaint and no recovery may be had if no cause be shown to exist at that time	Is a cause of action to be tested as of the time of filing of a complaint?

14337	Jewett v. Commonwealth Bond Corp., 241 A.D. 131, 134, 271 N.Y.S. 522, 526 (App. Div. 1934)	5	Court of equity will determine measure of relief from situation adduced at trial.	A court of equity will determine the measure of relief from the situation adduced at the trial.	Will a court of equity determine the measure of relief from the situation adduced at trial?
14338	Int'l Talent Grp. v. Copyright Mgmt., 629 F. Supp. 587, 592 (S.D.N.Y. 1986)	6	Arbitration clause covering claims "relating to" contract is broader than cause covering claims "arising out of" contract.	An arbitration clause covering claims "relating to" a contract is broader than a clause covering claims "arising out of" a contract.	Is an arbitration clause covering claims relating to a contract broader than a clause covering claims arising out of a contract?
14339	Summit Bank v. The Creative Cook, 730 S.W.2d 343, 347 (Tex. App. 1987)	4	Agreement to extend time of payment of a negotiable instrument or execution of a renewal note constitutes a new contract between the parties.	An agreement to extend the time of payment of a negotiable instrument constitutes a new contract between the parties. Priest v. First Mortgage Co. of Texas, Inc., 659 S.W.2d 869 (Tex.App.-San Antonio 1983, writ ref'd n.r.e.). The execution of a renewal note is generally treated as a new contract, evidencing the existing debt. Id. at 871;	Does the renewal of a note require execution of a new contract?
14340	In re Cmty. Sch. Dist. of Malvern, Mills Cnty., 250 Iowa 1240, 1244, 98 N.W.2d 737, 739 (1959)	1	Establishment and reorganization of school districts is within the scope of the legislative power.	'Matters that have been held within the scope of the legislative power, as distinguished from the powers of the judicial and executive departments are * * * the establishment and reorganization of school districts, * * *.'	Is establishment and reorganization of school districts within the scope of the legislative power?
14342	McCollum v. McCollum, 67 S.W.2d 1055, 1056 (Tex. Civ. App. 1934)	4	Where dissolution of partnership constitutes breach of contract, there may be suit for damages, but power to dissolve partnership cannot be denied.	The right to dissolve may not exist but the power to dissolve always exists. If the dissolution constitutes a breach of the contract, there may be a suit for damages for the breach, but the power to dissolve nevertheless exists.	"If the dissolution of a partnership constitutes a breach of contract, can there be a suit for damages for the breach?"
14343	Williams v. Obstfeld, 314 F.3d 1270, 1275 (11th Cir. 2002)	2	Under Florida law, a joint venture is a form of partnership, and both types of entities are generally governed by the same rules of law.	Under Florida law, a joint venture is a form of partnership, and both types of entities are generally governed by the same rules of law.	Are joint ventures and partnerships governed by the same law?
14348	State Roads Comm'n of Md. v. Smith, 224 Md. 537, 540 (1961)	3	A reservation of points or questions for consideration by court in banc is substitute for appeal to Court of Appeals.	The appellee states, and we agree, that a reservation of points or questions for consideration by the Court in banc is a substitute for an appeal to the Court of Appeals.	Is a reservation of points or questions for consideration by a court in banc a substitute for appeal to the Court of Appeals?

14353	In re Mason's Est., 194 Misc. 308, 310, 86 N.Y.S.2d 232, 233 (Sur. 1948)	1	A check is a mere order for payment of money and authority of payee as agent of maker is revoked by death of maker prior to time check is cashed.	A check is a mere order for the payment of money. The authority of the payee as agent of the maker is revoked by the death of the maker prior to the time the check is cashed, Glennan v. Rochester Trust & Safe Deposit Co., 209 N.Y. 12, 102 N.E. 537, 52 L.R.A.,N.S., 302, Ann.Cas.1915A, 441; Curry v. Powers, 70 N.Y. 212, 26 Am.Rep. 577; Harris v. Clark, 3 N.Y. 93, 51 Am.Dec. 352; Matter of Mead, 90 Misc. 263, 154 N.Y.S. 667, affirmed 173 App.Div. 982, 159 N.Y.S. 1128, affirmed 221 N.Y. 645, 117 N.E. 1076.	Can a holder present his claim against the maker's estate after the maker's death?
14355	People v. McDonald, 4 Ill. App. 3d 62, 64 (1972)	2	Gist of offense of burglary is not amount involved but is unlawful entry of premises of another with intent to commit a felony or a theft within.	The gist of the offense of burglary is not the amount involved but is the unlawful entry of the premises of another with intent to commit a felony or theft within.	What is the gist of burglary?
14361	DuBray v. Warner Bros. Recs., 236 A.D.2d 312, 314, 653 N.Y.S.2d 592, 594 (1997)	2	Motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent order of court or to enable plaintiffs to do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly.	It is also true, however, that a motion for discontinuance should not be used to circumvent an order of the court (Schultz v. Kobus, 15 A.D.2d 382, 384, 224 N.Y.S.2d 372), or to enable plaintiffs to "do indirectly what they are not permitted to do directly" (Katz v. Austin, 271 App.Div. 217, 218, 62 N.Y.S.2d 912, lv denied 271 App.Div. 773, 64 N.Y.S.2d 926; but see, De Laurentis v. Bercowitz, 27 A.D.2d 869, 277 N.Y.S.2d 728).	Can a party be permitted to discontinue an action for the purpose of circumventing an order of the court?
14362	State ex rel. Butte-Los Angeles Mining Co. v. Dist. Court of Second Judicial Dist., 103 Mont. 140, 144 (1936)	2	Plaintiff has no absolute right at all times under all circumstances to discontinue, dismiss, or take a nonsuit.	In section 5, page 1148, volume 18, it is said: "Plaintiff had no absolute right at all times and under all circumstances to discontinue, dismiss, or take a nonsuit, but such right is often dependent upon the effect it has on the rights of defendant, or upon the application being made at the proper time.	"Do a plaintiff has an absolute right to discontinue, dismiss, or take a nonsuit?"
14363	Cape Oil Co. v. Williams, 427 S.W.2d 122, 126 (Tex. Civ. App. 1968)	11	Defendant cannot force plaintiff to prosecute its cause of action or continue its litigation.	The defendant cannot force a plaintiff to prosecute his cause of action or continue his litigation.	Can a defendant force a plaintiff to prosecute its cause of action or continue its litigation?

14377	Hasenauer v. Durbin, 216 Neb. 714, 719 (1984)	1	Purpose of pretrial conference is to simplify issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial; to that end, litigants must adhere to spirit of procedure and are bound by pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify the issues, to amend pleadings when necessary, and to avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial. To that end litigants must adhere to the spirit of the procedure and are bound by the pretrial order to which no exception has been taken.	What is the purpose of a pretrial conference?
14380	Johnson v. Toscano, 144 Conn. 582, 587 (Conn. 1957)	4	In action for personal injuries, the preparation for pretrial should include an up-to-date medical appraisal of the plaintiff's injuries and extent of his recovery.	The preparation for pretrial should include an up-to-date medical appraisal of the plaintiff's injuries and the extent of his recovery.	What should be included in the preparation for pretrial in an action for personal injuries?
14381	Phillips v. Monroe Auto Equip. Co., 251 Neb. 585, 587 (1997)	13	Substantive sanctions regarding discovery and other pretrial procedural matters are designed to prevent party who has failed to comply with discovery from profiting by such misconduct.	Substantive sanctions regarding discovery and other pretrial procedural matters are designed to prevent a party who has failed to comply with discovery from profiting by such misconduct.	What are discovery and pretrial procedure designed to eliminate?
14382	King v. Zimmerman, 266 Mont. 54, 66 (1994)	15	Purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on basis of pretrial orders.	The purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	What is the purpose of pre-trial orders and how does it help counsels?
14384	Gregory v. Electro-Mech. Corp., 83 F.3d 382, 384 (11th Cir. 1996)	2	Tort claims and claims other than breach of contract are not automatically excluded from contractual arbitration clause.	The law is clear that tort claims and claims other than breach of contract are not automatically excluded from a contractual arbitration clause.	Are tort and other non-contract claims automatically excluded from contractual arbitration clauses?
14385	Clark v. United States, 322 F.3d 1358, 1367 (Fed. Cir. 2003)	12	When National Guard members are not activated into federal service, they are not treated as federal employees.	Case law thus establishes that when National Guard members are not activated into federal service, they are not treated as federal employees.	"When National Guard members are not activated into federal service, can they be treated as federal employees?"
14395	Peaslee v. Michalski, 167 So. 2d 242, 244 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1964)	5	A "voluntary nonsuit" is one ordered against a party-plaintiff who has affirmatively sought it; an "involuntary nonsuit" is one ordered against a defaulting plaintiff who has not affirmatively sought it.	A voluntary nonsuit is one ordered against a party-plaintiff who has affirmatively sought it; and an involuntary nonsuit is one which is ordered against a defaulting party-plaintiff who has not affirmatively sought it.	"Is a ""voluntary nonsuit"" one ordered against a party-plaintiff who has affirmatively sought it?"
14397	Taylor v. S & M Lamp Co., 12 Cal. Rptr. 323, 707 (Cal. Ct. App. 1961)	10	If sufficiency of pleading is raised at pretrial conference, it should be resolved before pretrial order is signed and case set for trial.	If, as in this case, the question of the sufficiency of a pleading is raised at a pre-trial conference it should be resolved before the pre-trial order is signed and the case set for trial.	"When should sufficiency of pleading, raised at pretrial conference be resolved?"
14398	Makuakane v. Tanigawa, 50 Haw. 493, 495 (Haw. 1968)	7	Parties and attorneys cannot be held bound by provisions of an unsigned pre-trial order.	Otherwise, a pre-trial conference will be meaningless because parties and attorneys cannot be held bound by the provisions of an unsigned pre-trial order.	Can parties and attorneys be held bound by provisions of an unsigned pre-trial order?

14404	In Interest of Hill, 102 Ill. App. 3d 387, 392 (1981)	5	Motion for continuance is insufficient where there is no showing that absence of witness would jeopardize case.	A motion for continuance is insufficient where there is no showing that the absence of a witness would jeopardize the case.	Is a motion for continuance insufficient where there is no showing that absence of witness would jeopardize case?
14406	Michigan Employment Sec. Comm'n v. Patt, 4 Mich. App. 228, 233 (Mich. Ct. App. 1966)	3	Essential characteristics of a "tax" are that it is not a voluntary payment or donation, but an enforced contribution, exacted pursuant to legislative authority.	68: '* * * the essential characteristics of a tax are that it is not a voluntary payment or donation, but an enforced contribution, exacted pursuant to legislative authority'.	Is tax a voluntary payment or donation?
14407	Grace v. St. Louis Cty., No. ED94746, 2011 WL 1660653, *6 (Mo. App. 2011)	8	"Taxes" are proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs; taxes are not payments for a special privilege or a special service rendered.	Taxes are "proportional contributions imposed by the state upon individuals for the support of government and for all public needs." "Taxes are not payments for a special privilege or a special service rendered."	Are taxes proportional contributions imposed by the state?
14410	Pifer v. Laird, 328 F. Supp. 649, 651 (N.D. Cal. 1971)	1	Army is entitled to first crack at interpreting its own regulations and to great deal of deference in interpretations it reaches.	Additionally, the army is entitled to a first crack at interpreting its own regulations and to a great deal of deference in the interpretations it reaches.	Is the army entitled to a first crack at interpreting its own regulations?
14412	Aguilar Mortega v. Dep't of Def., 520 F. Supp. 2d 1, 5 (D.D.C. 2007)	4	Military courts are independent of the federal courts, and are analogized to state court systems when individuals punished by court-martial seek redress in federal courts.	Military courts are independent of the federal courts, and are "analogized [] to state court systems when individuals punished by court-martial seek redress in federal courts."	Are military courts independent of federal courts?
14421	B. C. Richter Contracting Co. v. Cont'l Cas. Co., 230 Cal. App. 2d 491, 502, 41 Cal. Rptr. 98, 105 (Ct. App. 1964)	15	Pretrial orders fixed actual issues and superseded inconsistent pleadings. Cal. Rules of Court, rule 216.	The pretrial orders, of course, fixed the actual issues and superseded inconsistent pleadings. (Rule 216, California Rules of Court; see Witkin, Cal.Procedure, 1963 Supp., pp. 535-536.)	Can pretrial orders fix actual issues and supersede inconsistent pleadings?
14430	City of Hot Springs By & Through Starr v. Vapors Theatre Rest., 298 Ark. 444, 447 (Ark. 1989)	4	Any doubt regarding imposition of tax should be resolved in favor of taxpayer and against taxing authority.	Even if there were any doubt in the language of the statute, we would resolve it against the City because any doubt regarding the imposition of a tax should be resolved in favor of the taxpayer and against the taxing authority.	Should any doubt regarding imposition of tax be resolved in favor of a taxpayer and against the taxing authority?
14431	Centerre Bank of Crane v. Dir. of Revenue, 744 S.W.2d 754, 758 (Mo. 1988)	3	It is manner of operation which determines nature of tax, not sanctions imposed for failure to pay it.	It is the manner of operation which determines the nature of a tax, not the sanctions imposed for failure to pay it.	Do sanctions imposed for failure to pay the tax determine the nature of a tax?
14440	Allen v. Devon Energy Holdings, 367 S.W.3d 355, 391 (Tex. App. 2012)	45	A general partner in a limited partnership owes a fiduciary duty to the limited partners because of its control over the entity.	Similarly, a general partner in a limited partnership owes a fiduciary duty to the limited partners because of its control over the entity.	Does a general partner in a limited partnership owe a fiduciary duty to a limited partner?

14442	Rogers v. Rausa, 871 So. 2d 748, 752 (Miss. Ct. App. 2003)	4	If a claim or issue is omitted from the pretrial order, it is waived, even if it appeared in the complaint.	"If a claim or issue is omitted from the [pre-trial] order, it is waived, even if it appeared in the complaint."	Is it a waiver if a claim or issue is omitted from the pretrial order even if it appeared in the complaint?
14452	Sec. Pac. Hous. Servs. v. Friddle, 315 Ark. 178, 182 (1993)	1	Dismissal with prejudice is as conclusive of rights of parties as if there were adverse judgment after trial.	It is a well-settled rule of law that a dismissal with prejudice is as conclusive of the rights of the parties as if there were an adverse judgment as to the plaintiff after a trial.	Is dismissal with prejudice as conclusive of rights of parties as if there were an adverse judgment after the trial?
14458	Case Poythress v. J. P. Stevens & Co., 54 N.C. App. 376, 385 (N.C. Ct. App. 1981)	8	Workers' Compensation Act has never been construed to guarantee recovery; it merely affords right to claim for recovery.	However, the Workers' Compensation Act has never been construed to guarantee recovery. It merely affords the right to a claim for recovery.	Does the Workers' Compensation Act guarantee recovery?
14466	State v. Burch, 740 S.W.2d 293, 295 (Mo. Ct. App. 1987)	2	It is generally permissible and sufficient for indictment to charge offense in language of statute, provided statute sets forth all constituent elements of offense.	Additionally, it is generally permissible and sufficient for an indictment to charge the offense in the language of the statute, provided the statute sets forth all the constituent elements of the offense.	Does an indictment require all elements of the offense alleged?
14467	Bd. of Ed. of Union Free Sch. Dist. No. 3 of Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau Cnty. v. Allen, 6 A.D.2d 316, 319, 177 N.Y.S.2d 169, 172 (1958)	1	Taxation is to support the public welfare, as that may from time to time and from place to place be conceived.	The theory of taxation is that it supports the public welfare, as that may from time to time and from place to place, be conceived to be.	"Is the theory of taxation, as that may from time to time and from place to place be conceived, to support public welfare? "
14469	In re Dunneback's Estate, 302 Mich. 73, 77 (Mich. 1942)	7	A renewal note does not operate as "payment" of the original debt in absence of a novation or express agreement of the parties.	A renewal note does not operate as payment of the original debt in the absence of a novation or express agreement of the *78 parties.	Does the renewal of an original note operate as payment?
14473	Comm'r of Transp. v. Shea, 47 Conn. Supp. 418, 441 (Conn. Super. Ct. 2002)	6	The right of freehold is not touched by establishing a highway; it continues in original owner of land in the same manner as before highway was established, subject to easement.	The right of freehold is not touched by establishing a highway. It continues in the original owner of the land in the same manner as before the highway was established, subject to the easement.	What happens to the right of freehold on establishment of a highway?
14484	WHYY, Inc. v. Borough of Glassboro, 50 N.J. 6, 11, 231 A.2d 608, 611 (1967), rev'd, 393 U.S. 117, 89 S. Ct. 286, 21 L. Ed. 2d 242 (1968)	2	As existence of government is necessity, taxes are demanded and received in order for government to function.	As the existence of government is a necessity, taxes are demanded and received in order for government to function.	"Are taxes demanded and received in order for the government to function, as the existence of government is a necessity?"
14486	Menz v. Coyle, 117 N.W.2d 290, 297 (N.D. 1962)	7	A "tax" is an enforced contribution for public purposes which is in no way dependent upon will or consent of person taxed.	A 'tax' is an enforced contribution for public purposes which is in no way dependent upon the will or consent of the person taxed.	Is a tax in any way dependent upon will or consent of person taxed?
14487	Seeth v. Joseph, 276 A.D. 188, 191, 93 N.Y.S.2d 591, 594 (App. Div. 1949)	2	The matter of revenue taxation has no relation to the subject of regulation or police power.	The matter of revenue taxation has no relation to the subject of regulation or police power.	Does the matter of revenue taxation have any relation to the subject of regulation or police power?

14495	Autry v. Bryan, 224 Va. 451, 452 (Va. 1982)	4	Client is not to be rewarded with continuance when there is unexplained, unexcused nonappearance by his attorney of record.	Under these circumstances, a client is not to be rewarded with a continuance when there is an unexplained, unexcused nonappearance by his attorney of record.	"Should a client be rewarded with continuance when there is unexplained, unexcused nonappearance by his attorney of record?"
14501	Bradford Motor Cars v. Frem, 511 So. 2d 1120, 1121 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1987)	3	Plaintiff cannot liquidate damages merely by serving a request for admissions which is not answered.	A plaintiff cannot liquidate damages merely by serving a request for admissions which is not answered.	Can a plaintiff liquidate damages merely by serving a request for admissions which is not answered?
14511	Manuel v. Red Hill Cmty. Unit Sch. Dist. No. 10 Bd. of Educ., 324 Ill. App. 3d 279, 290, 754 N.E.2d 448, 458–59 (2001)	20	A statement of a defendant's knowledge is an allegation of ultimate fact and not a conclusion, and plaintiff need not plead the evidentiary facts that he will use to prove the defendant's knowledge.	A statement of a defendant's knowledge is an allegation of ultimate fact and not a conclusion. 459 801 Oravek v. Community School District 146, 264 Ill.App.3d 895, 900, 202 Ill.Dec. 15, 637 N.E.2d 554, 558 (1994); Doner v. Phoenix Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, 381 Ill. 106, 115, 45 N.E.2d 20, 25 (1942); see Bowers v. Du Page County Regional Board of School Trustees District No. 4, 183 Ill.App.3d 367, 370, 380, 131 Ill.Dec. 893, 539 N.E.2d 246, 248, 255 (1989) (allegation that school district "knew or should have known" a rope ladder was dangerous was sufficient); Cory Corp. v. Hunter–Built Inc. of Chicago, 91 Ill.App.2d 303, 303, 234 N.E.2d 547, 547 (1968) (avermnt that the defendant knew of a change of ownership of a company was not conclusion of law but a statement of fact). A plaintiff need not plead the evidentiary facts that he will use to prove the defendant's knowledge.	Should a plaintiff plead evidentiary facts to prove defendants' knowledge?
14518	In re Jacobs, 300 S.W.3d 35, 40 (Tex. App. 2009)	7	A defendant's net worth is relevant in a suit involving exemplary damages; therefore, in cases where such damages may be awarded, parties may discover and offer evidence of a defendant's net worth.	A defendant's net worth is relevant in a suit involving exemplary damages. Lunsford v. Morris, 746 S.W.2d 471, 473 (Tex.1988) (orig. proceeding), overruled on other grounds, Walker, 827 S.W.2d at 842; Miller v. O'Neill, 775 S.W.2d 56, 58 (Tex.App.-Houston [1st Dist.] 1989, orig. proceeding). Therefore, in cases where punitive or exemplary damages may be awarded, parties may discover and offer evidence of a defendant's net worth.	Is a defendant's net worth relevant in a suit involving exemplary damages?

14521	Am. Soc. of Mech. Engineers v. Hydrolevel Corp., 456 U.S. 556, 557 (1982)	1	Under general rules of agency law, principals are liable when their agents act with apparent authority and commit torts.	(a) Under general rules of agency law, principals are liable when their agents act with apparent authority and commit torts analogous to the antitrust violation presented here.	Is principal liable for the acts of an agent?
14522	In re Carnahan, 160 N.H. 73, 78 (N.H. 2010)	10	The rights and remedies provided by the workers' compensation law are purely statutory.	The rights and remedies provided by the workers' compensation law are "purely statutory."	Are the rights and remedies provided by the workers compensation laws purely statutory?
14531	Black v. Sutton, 299 Ky. 836, 839 (Ky. Ct. App. 1945)	5	The pleader must state facts from which legal conclusions may be drawn and declared by the courts.	It is the duty of the pleader to state facts from which legal conclusions may be drawn and declared by the courts.	Should the pleader state facts from which legal conclusions may be drawn?
14544	Gianforte v. Crucible Steel Co. of Am., 25 N.J. Super. 183, 186 (1953)	1	Rights of parties in a workmen's compensation case are determined as of date of award.	Preliminarily, let us note that the rights of the respective parties in a workmen's compensation case, as consistently interpreted by our courts, are determined as of the *187 date of the award.	Are the rights of parties in a workmens compensation case determined as of the date of the award?
14545	United States v. Gillette, 420 F.2d 298, 299 (2d Cir. 1970)	1	Exercise of power to conscript and train men does not depend on contemporaneous existence of a war and may be exercised in time of peace.	The exercise of this power to conscript and train men does not depend on the contemporaneous existence of a war. It may be exercised in time of peace.	Does the exercise of power to conscript depend on the contemporaneous existence of a war?
14556	Rosen v. McCobb, 192 So. 3d 576, 578 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2016)	3	Party has right to discover financial information when related to issues in the case.	Florida also recognizes a party's right to discover financial information when related to issues in the case.	Does a party have a right to discover financial information when related to issues in the case?
14559	Stony Brook I Homeowners Ass'n v. Superior Ct., 84 Cal. App. 4th 691, 699, 101 Cal. Rptr. 2d 67, 71 (2000)	1	Litigant's right to evidence of an expert's potential bias is not unfettered or unconditional.	First, a litigant's right to evidence of an expert's potential bias is not unfettered or unconditional.	Is a litigant's right to evidence of an expert's potential bias not unfettered or unconditional?
14567	Ex Parte LKQ Birmingham, 159 So. 3d 766, 773 (Ala. Civ. App. 2014)	2	An action brought under the workers' compensation laws is purely statutory in nature.	We recognize *773 that an action brought under the workers' compensation laws is purely statutory in nature.	Is an action brought under the workers compensation laws purely statutory in nature?
14572	Life Care Centers of America v. Charles Town Associates Ltd. Partnership, 79 F.3d 496, 503 (6th Cir. 1996)	5	Operations of business of limited partnership are left to general partner, who, unlike limited partners, is personally liable for operation of partnership.	The operations of the business of the limited partnership are left to the general partner, who, unlike the limited partners, is personally liable for the operation of the partnership.	Is the basic premise of a limited partnership that the general partners are personally liable for partnership obligations and limited partners are not?
14573	Seibert v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., 45 Cal. App. 3d 1, 14, 120 Cal. Rptr. 233, 244 (Ct. App. 1975)	3	Pretrial conference order controls subsequent course of an action even where it is inconsistent with pleadings therein.	In any event, a pretrial conference order controls the subsequent course of an action even where it is inconsistent with the pleadings therein (4 Witkin, Procedure (op. cit. supra) Trial, s 66, pp. 2902—2903), and the present record clearly indicates that the liability phase of the consolidated actions was tried upon the theory that a declaratory judgment would result.	Does a pretrial order control where it is inconsistent with the pleadings?

14576	Gidden Motor Co. v. Johnston, 155 Miss. 328, 124 So. 367, 367 (Miss. 1929)	3	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of the nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Are non-negotiable instruments which partake the nature of commercial paper assignable by endorsement and delivery?
14583	In re Jolly N, 122 B.R. 897, 903 (D.N.J. 1991)	4	Under New Jersey Uniform Commercial Code, check does not operate as assignment of funds until accepted by drawee bank. N.J.S.A. 12A:3-409(1).	Under New Jersey's version of the Uniform Commercial Code, a check does not operate as an assignment of funds until accepted by the drawee bank. N.J.S.A. 12A:3-409(1).	When is a check operated as an assignment of funds?
14584	Discher v. Klapp, 124 Ind. App. 563, 572 (Ind. Ct. App. 1954)	7	Vacation of highways is not generally favored, and public rights therein must be divested by some manner as provided by law.	Vacation of highways are not generally favored, and the public rights therein must be divested by some manner as provided by law.	Is vacation of highways generally favored?
14588	In re Advisory Opinion to the Governor, 98 Fla. 843, 846 (1929)	2	Pensions lawfully allowed by Legislature may be deemed legitimate state expenses. F.S.A.Const. art. 9, S 2.	Syllabus by the Court Pensions lawfully allowed by Legislature may be deemed legitimate state expense (Const. art. 9, 2).	Can pensions that are lawfully allowed by Legislature be deemed a legitimate state expenses?
14594	In re Bloom Bus. Jets, 522 S.W.3d 764, 768 (Tex. App. 2017)	13	The party opposing enforcement of the forum-selection clause has a heavy burden of proof; if it does not carry it, the trial court must enforce the clause by dismissing the suit.	The party opposing enforcement of the forum-selection clause has a heavy burden of proof in this regard. If it does not carry it, the trial court must enforce the clause by dismissing the suit.	Does a party opposing enforcement of forum-selection clause have a heavy burden of proof?
14598	Beam ex rel. Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia v. Stewart, 845 A.2d 1040, 1056 (Del. 2004)	26	In general, derivative plaintiffs are not entitled to discovery in order to demonstrate demand futility.	[26] In general, derivative plaintiffs are not entitled to discovery in order to demonstrate demand futility. 49	Are derivative plaintiffs entitled to discovery to demonstrate demand futility?
14599	In re Bloom Bus. Jets, 522 S.W.3d 764, 768 (Tex. App. 2017)	13	The party opposing enforcement of the forum-selection clause has a heavy burden of proof; if it does not carry it, the trial court must enforce the clause by dismissing the suit.	The party opposing enforcement of the forum-selection clause has a heavy burden of proof in this regard. If it does not carry it, the trial court must enforce the clause by dismissing the suit.	Does the party opposing enforcement of the forum-selection clause have a heavy burden of proof?
14600	Allstate New Jersey Ins. Co. v. Cherry Hill Pain & Rehab Inst., 389 N.J. Super. 130, 136 (App. Div. 2006)	2	Lack of standing may be raised as a failure to state a cause of action. R. 4:6-2(e).	Lack of standing may be raised as a failure to state a cause of action under R. 4:6-2(e).	Can lack of standing be raised as a failure to state a cause of action?
14603	Chestnut Sec. Co. v. Oklahoma Tax Comm'n, 125 F.2d 571, 574 (10th Cir. 1942)	2	The constitutional power of a state to tax is limited only by its jurisdiction over the objects of its asserted power.	The constitutional power of the state to tax is limited only by its jurisdiction over the objects of its asserted power.	Is the constitutional power of a state to tax limited only by its jurisdiction over the objects of its asserted power?
14604	Hennigan v. Atl. Ref. Co., 282 F. Supp. 667, 679 (E.D. Pa. 1967)	9	Actions for trespass to land are primarily to redress invasions of the right to exclusive use and possession thereof.	However, in keeping with the basic principle that actions for trespass to land are primarily to redress invasions of the right to exclusive use and possession thereof,	What does an action for trespass to land primarily redress?

14610	Ex parte Weissinger, 247 Ala. 113, 117 (Ala. 1945)	8	A person's "domicile" is that place in which his habitation is fixed without any present intention of removing, and it embraces the fact of residence and the intention to remain.	To summarize: A person's domicile is that place in which his habitation is fixed, without any present intention of removing, and it embraces (1) the fact of residence and (2) the intention to remain.	What does a person's domicile embrace?
14612	Reich v. Lopez, 858 F.3d 55, 63 (2d Cir. 2017)	18	Owning property in forum does not alone establish domicile; one may have more than one residence in different parts of country or world, but person may have only one domicile.	Owning property in a forum does not alone establish domicile. "One may have more than one residence in different parts of this country or the world, but a person may have only one domicile."	Can a person have more than one residence in different parts of country or world?
14617	Mud Control Labs. v. Covey, 2 Utah 2d 85, 92 (1954)	9	An agreement to share losses is not a condition precedent to existence of a mining partnership.	Brossard 13 wherein we held that an agreement to share losses is not a condition precedent to the existence of a mining partnership.	Is an agreement to share losses a condition precedent to the existence of a mining partnership?
14618	Lazarus v. Manufacturers Cas. Ins. Co., 267 F.2d 634, 637 (D.C. Cir. 1959)	3	Within broad limits, partnership may choose any name it wishes, even that of an individual partner.	The specific naming of Arthur Rubinstein in the policy declaration does not require the opposite inference, because within broad limits, a partnership may choose any name it wishes, even that of an individual partner.	Can a partnership choose the name of an individual partner as the firm name?
14620	Dunham v. Roer, 708 N.W.2d 552, 573 (Minn. Ct. App. 2006)	51	There is a presumption in favor of granting continuances to allow sufficient time for discovery.	There is a "presumption in favor of granting continuances to allow sufficient time for discovery."	Is there a presumption in favor of granting continuances to allow sufficient time for discovery?
14633	Oregon Waste Systems v. Department. of Environmental Quality of State of Or., 511 U.S. 93, 108 (1994)	16	States have broad discretion to configure their systems of taxation as they deem appropriate.	We recognize that the States have broad discretion to configure their systems of 1355 taxation as they deem appropriate.	Do states have broad discretion to configure their systems of taxation as they deem appropriate?
14639	Grandt v. Douglas Cty., 14 Neb. App. 219, 225 (Neb. App. 2005)	8	The right to and amount of recovery in workers' compensation proceedings are purely statutory.	While this purpose is similar to the purpose of recompense for future loss of earning capacity in a tort action, the right to and amount of recovery in workers' compensation proceedings are purely statutory.	Is the right to and amount of recovery in workers compensation proceedings purely statutory?
14640	In re Gagnon, 147 N.H. 366, 367 (2001)	2	The rights and remedies provided by the Workers' Compensation Law are purely statutory.	"It is well-settled that the rights and remedies provided by the Workers' Compensation Law are purely statutory."	Is it a settled position that the rights and remedies provided by the Workers' Compensation Law are purely statutory?

14643	United States v. Sun-Diamond Growers of California, 526 U.S. 398, 405 (1999)	1	To convict under federal bribery statute, there must be a quid pro quo, a specific intent to give or receive something of value in exchange for an official act, while illegal gratuity may constitute merely a reward for some future act that public official will take and may already have determined to take, or for a past act that he has already taken. 18 U.S.C.A. § 201(b)(1, 2), (c).	In other words, for bribery there must be a quid pro quo-a specific intent to give or receive something of value in exchange for an official act. An illegal gratuity, on the other hand, may constitute merely a reward for some future act that the public official will take (and may already have determined to take), or for a past act that he has already taken.	Is specific intent required for a bribery offense?
14657	Chestnut Sec. Co. v. Oklahoma Tax Comm'n, 125 F.2d 571, 574 (10th Cir. 1942)	2	The constitutional power of a state to tax is limited only by its jurisdiction over the objects of its asserted power.	The constitutional power of the state to tax is limited only by its jurisdiction over the objects of its asserted power.	Is constitutional power of a state to tax limited by its jurisdiction over objects of its asserted power?
14658	High Tide Seafoods v. State, 106 Wash. 2d 695, 699 (Wash. 1986)	5	If tax is imposed upon value of property, it may be a "property tax"; if levied upon privilege of doing business, it is an "excise tax."	If a tax is imposed on the value of the property, it may be a property tax. If levied upon the privilege of doing business, it is an excise tax.	"Is the tax levied upon privilege of doing business an "excise tax"?"
14664	Curtis Green & Clay Green v. Clark, 318 S.W.3d 98, 104 (Ky. Ct. App. 2010)	8	Workers' compensation is a creature of statute, dependent on the legislature for its continuing existence.	We need only point to the fact that workers' compensation is a "creature of statute," dependent on the legislature for its continuing existence.	"Is workers compensation a creature of statute, and is its continuing existence dependent on the legislature?"
14676	Iowa Supreme Court Comm'n on the Unauthorized Practice of Law v. Sullins, 893 N.W.2d 864, 872 (Iowa 2017)	9	A petition need not allege a specific legal theory, so long as it meets the fair notice requirement.	A petition need not allege a specific legal theory, so long as it meets the "fair notice" requirement.	Should a petition allege a specific legal theory?
14684	Roberts v. Golden Crest Waters, 1 S.W.3d 291, 292 (Tex. App. 1999)	2	"Death-penalty sanction" is any sanction that adjudicates a claim and precludes the presentation of the merits of the case.	A death- penalty sanction is any sanction that adjudicates a claim and precludes the presentation of the merits of the case.	"Is a "death-penalty sanction" any sanction that adjudicates a claim and precludes the presentation of the merits of the case?"
14690	Atchison, T. & S.F. Ry. Co. v. Collins, 294 F. 742, 747 (D.C.Cal. 1923)	5	A state has a wide range of power in imposing taxes, a power commensurate with its needs.	The state has a wide range of power in imposing taxes- a power, it may be said, commensurate with its needs.	Does a state have a wide range of power that commensurate with its needs in imposing taxes?
14693	HDH Corp. v. Atl. Charter Ins. Co., 425 Mass. 433, 438 (Mass. 1997)	4	Legislature intended that workers' compensation system supplant common law tort system as a means for compensating injured employees.	The Legislature intended that the workers' compensation system supplant the common law tort system as a means for compensating injured employees.	What was the Legislature intent for the workers compensation system?
14703	Smith v. Lewis, 669 S.W.2d 558, 562 (Mo. Ct. App. 1984)	7	Pleader is required to state only ultimate facts, and it is not necessary to plead facts or circumstances by which ultimate facts will be established.	A pleader is required to state only the ultimate facts and it is not necessary to plead the facts or circumstances by which the ultimate facts will be established.	Is a pleader required to state the facts or circumstances by which the ultimate facts will be established?

14705	In re Canales, 113 S.W.3d 56, 66 (Tex. App. 2003)	11	The pleadings and the evidence must coincide; however, a variance between the pleadings and proof is fatal only if the divergence is substantial, misleading, and prejudicial.	The pleadings and the evidence must coincide. Wright, 160 S.W.2d at 245. However, a variance between the pleadings and proof is fatal only if the divergence is substantial, misleading, and prejudicial.	Must the pleadings and the evidence coincide?
14706	Badran v. Bertrand, 210 Neb. 747, 747 (Syllabus)(Neb. 1981)	1	Proof must correspond with allegations in pleadings and relief cannot be granted upon proof of case substantially different from case made in pleadings.	Proof must correspond with the allegations in the pleadings, and relief cannot be granted upon proof of a case substantially different from the case made in the pleadings.	Must pleadings and proof correspond?
14715	McCormick v. Meyer, 582 N.W.2d 141, 145 (Iowa 1998)	8	It is clear that dismissal is required if there is an unjustified abusive delay in completing service.	It is clear dismissal is required if there is an unjustified abusive delay in completing service.	Is it clear that dismissal is required if there is an unjustified abusive delay in completing service?
14717	Butler v. Circulus, 557 S.W.2d 469, 480 (Mo. Ct. App. 1977)	13	Dismissal for failure to follow a court order presupposes an order lawfully made.	Further, a dismissal for failure to follow a court order presupposes an order lawfully made.	Does a dismissal for a failure to follow a court order presuppose an order lawfully made?
14719	Pressey v. State, 114 N.W.2d 518, 656 (Neb. 1962)	5	Court may dismiss an action where plaintiff disobeys order concerning proceedings. R.R.S.1943, S 25-601.	In Nebraska there is statutory authority permitting a court to dismiss an action where a plaintiff disobeys an order concerning the proceedings. Section 25-601, R.R.S.1943, provides in part: 'An action may be dismissed without prejudice to a future action * * * (5) by the court for disobedience by the plaintiff of an order concerning the proceedings in the action.'	Can a court dismiss an action where a plaintiff disobeys an order concerning proceedings?
14720	Giraldo v. California Dep't of Corr. & Rehab., 168 Cal. App. 4th 231, 257 (2008)	19	The policy behind a mootness dismissal is that courts decide justiciable controversies and will normally not render advisory opinions.	The policy behind a mootness dismissal is that "courts decide justiciable controversies and will normally not render advisory opinions."	What is the policy behind a mootness dismissal?
14749	Huch v. Charter Commc'ns, 290 S.W.3d 721, 724 (Mo. 2009)	3	A motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense may be sustained if the defense is irrefutably shown by the petition.	"A motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense may be sustained if the defense is irrefutably shown by the petition."	When can a motion to dismiss based on an affirmative defense be sustained?
14752	Robinson v. Food Serv. of Belton, 415 F. Supp. 2d 1221, 1224 (D. Kan. 2005)	3	Waiver of arbitration rights requires unequivocal demonstration of intent to waive.	A waiver of arbitration rights requires an unequivocal demonstration of intent to waive.	Does waiver of arbitration rights require an unequivocal demonstration of intent to waive?
14754	Gregory's v. Haan, 545 N.W.2d 488, 492 (S.D. 1996)	8	"Extension of credit" means to make or renew loan of money or any agreement to forbear enforcing repayment of such loan.	An extension of credit, as noted by In re Forfeiture of One 1983 Lincoln, 497 So.2d 1254 (Fla.Dist.Ct.App.1986), means to make or renew a loan of money or any agreement to forbear enforcing repayment of such loan.	Does extension of credit mean to renew a loan?

14759	Tarrant Cty. Water Control & Imp. Dist. No. One v. Haupt, 854 S.W.2d 909, 911 (Tex. 1993)	2	Right to minerals carries with it right to enter and extract them, and all others such incidents thereto as are necessary to be used for getting and enjoying them.	It is a well established doctrine from the earliest days of the common law that the right to the minerals carries with it the right to enter and extract them, and all other such incidents thereto as are necessary to be used for getting and enjoying them.	Does the right to minerals carry with it the right to enter and extract them?
14773	Hernandez v. Dep't of Air Force, 498 F.3d 1328, 1331 (Fed. Cir. 2007)	3	Provisions for benefits to members of the Armed Services are to be construed in the beneficiaries' favor.	This is especially so in view of the canon that "provisions for benefits to members of the Armed Services are to be construed in the beneficiaries' favor."	Should provisions for benefits to members of the Armed Services be construed in the beneficiaries' favor?
14774	Ex parte Burson, 615 S.W.2d 192, 194 (Tex. 1981)	3	Veterans Administration benefits, unlike air force disability retirement benefits, are not divisible or assignable; they are not property. 38 U.S.C.A. § 3101.	Veterans Administration benefits, unlike Air Force disability retirement benefits, are not divisible or assignable. They are not property. 38 U.S.C. § 3101;	Are Veterans Administration (VA) benefits divisible property?
14776	Whitlock v. Bank of Maryville, 612 S.W.2d 481, 483 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1980)	1	"Certificate of deposit" is written acknowledgment by bank or banker of receipt of sum of money on deposit which bank or banker promises to pay to depositor, to order of depositor, or to some other person or to his order, and no particular form is necessary to constitute certificate of deposit, provided essential characteristics are present.	A certificate of deposit is a written acknowledgment by a bank or banker of the receipt of a sum of money on deposit which the bank or banker promises to pay to the depositor, to the order of the depositor, or to some other person or to his order. 10 Am.Jur.2d, Banks, § 455; 9 C.J.S. Banks and Banking § 311. No particular form is necessary to constitute a certificate of deposit, provided the essential characteristics are present.	What is a Certificate of Deposit (CD)?
14781	Grimes v. Fremont Gen. Corp., 933 F. Supp. 2d 584, 608 (S.D.N.Y. 2013)	33	A standard lender-borrower relationship, without more, is not the kind of special relationship that supports a claim of negligent misrepresentation.	But without more, "[a] standard lender-borrower relationship is not the kind of special relationship that supports a claim of negligent misrepresentation."	Is the lender borrower relationship a kind of relationship that supports a claim of negligent misrepresentation?
14783	Thomas v. Leonard Truck Lines, 7 So. 2d 753, 756 (La. Ct. App. 1942)	10	A pleader is not "estopped" by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged anyone.	In addition to this, a pleader is not estopped by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged anyone.	Is a pleader estopped by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged anyone?
14785	Host v. BNSF Ry. Co., 460 S.W.3d 87, 97 (Mo. Ct. App. 2015)	6	It is perfectly proper for a plaintiff to plead and to submit alternative theories for a single injury.	"It is perfectly proper for a plaintiff to plead and to submit alternative theories for a single injury."	Is it proper for a plaintiff to plead alternative theories for a single injury?
14787	Sears Mortg. Corp. v. Rose, 134 N.J. 326, 337 (N.J. 1993)	1	Agency relationship is created when one party consents to have another act on its behalf, with principal controlling and directing acts of agent.	An agency relationship is created when one party consents to have another act on its behalf, with the principal controlling and directing the acts of the agent.	Is consent important to form agency relationship?

14801	Kennedy v. Missouri Atty. Gen., 922 S.W.2d 68, 70 (Mo. Ct. App. 1996)	4	Petition must contain allegations of fact in support of each essential element of cause pleaded.	The petition must contain allegations of fact in support of each essential element of the cause pleaded.	Should the petition state allegations of fact in support of each essential element of the cause pled?
14802	Holder v. Orange Grove Med. Specialties, P.A., 54 So. 3d 244, 248 (Miss. Ct. App. 2010)	1	Trial courts have the inherent authority to dismiss cases for want of prosecution as a means of controlling the court's docket and ensuring the orderly expedition of justice.	Our trial courts have the inherent authority to dismiss cases for want of prosecution as a means of controlling the court's docket and ensuring the "orderly expedition of justice."	"Is a failure to prosecute, as grounds for dismissal, considered on a case-by-case basis?"
14817	Xiaolu Peter Yu v. Vassar Coll., 97 F. Supp. 3d 448, 481 (S.D.N.Y. 2015)	16	In New York, relationship between university and its students is contractual in nature, and college is contractually bound to provide students with the procedural safeguards that it has promised.	"In New York, the relationship between a university and its students is contractual in nature." Papaspiridakos v. Educ. Affiliates, Inc., No. 10–CV–5628–RJD, 2013 WL 4899136, at *3 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 11, 2013) aff'd, 580 Fed.Appx. 17 (2d Cir.2014). A college is "contractually bound to provide students with the procedural safeguards that it has promised."	A college is contractually bound to provide students with the procedural safeguards that it has promised?
14818	Austin v. Albany L. Sch. of Union Univ., 38 Misc. 3d 988, 1000, 957 N.Y.S.2d 833, 844 (Sup. Ct. 2013)	13	The relationship between an institution of higher education and its students is contractual, rather than fiduciary, in nature.	However, as ALS correctly asserts, the relationship between an institution of higher education and its students is contractual, rather than fiduciary, in nature	"Is the relationship between an institution of higher education and its students fiduciary, in nature?"
14819	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 460 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	6	Obligation of endorser or accommodation party is governed by lex loci contractus.	The obligation of an endorser or accommodation party is governed by the lex loci contractus.	Is the obligation of an endorser or accommodation party governed by lex loci contractus?
14822	In re Custody of G.J., 796 N.E.2d 756, 759 (Ind. Ct. App. 2003)	5	A motion to dismiss tests the legal sufficiency of the claim, not the facts that support it.	"A motion to dismiss tests the legal sufficiency of the claim, not the facts that support it."	"Does a motion to dismiss test the legal sufficiency of the claim, not the facts that support it?"
14826	Gidden Motor Co. v. Johnston, 155 Miss. 328, 124 So. 367, 367 (Miss. 1929)	3	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of the nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Are nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper assignable?
14838	Zeeb v. Atlas Powder Co., 32 Del. Ch. 486, 493–94, 87 A.2d 123, 127 (1952)	7	Except as to acts so peculiarly personal that their performance may not be delegated, or except as to acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally, generally an individual may do all acts through an agent which he could do himself.	Except as to acts so peculiarly personal that their performance may not be delegated, or except as to acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally, as a general rule an individual may do *494 all acts through an agent which he could do himself.	Who can be delegated to an agent?
14848	Pentecostal Holiness Church v. Mauney, 270 So. 2d 762, 769 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1973)	12	"Sham pleadings" are those which are inherently false and must have been known by interposing party to be untrue.	Sham pleadings are those which are inherently false and must have been known by the interposing party to be untrue.	Are sham pleadings those which must have been known by the interposing party to be untrue?

14852	McMillan v. Wells, 924 S.W.2d 33, 35 (Mo. Ct. App. 1996)	4	Missouri law disfavors dismissal of causes for failure to prosecute; law favors trial on merits.	[4] [5] In Missouri the law disfavors the dismissal of causes because of failure to prosecute. Horobec v. Mueller, 628 S.W.2d 942, 944 (Mo.App.1982); see also Waldorf Inv. Co. v. Farris, 918 S.W.2d 915, 919 (Mo.App.1996). "[T]he law favors trial on the merits."	Does law disfavor dismissal of causes for failure to prosecute?
14855	Bailey v. Worton, 752 So.2d 470, 475 (Miss.App.,1999)	10	Authority of an agent to bind his principal rests upon the powers conferred upon him by the principal.	The authority of an agent to bind his principal rests upon the powers conferred upon him by the principal.	Does the authority of an agent to bind his principal rest upon the power conferred upon him by the principal?
14857	Boyd v. Am. Bank of Com. at Wolfforth, 872 S.W.2d 29, 31 (Tex. App. 1994), writ dismissed by agreement (Sept. 1, 1994)	2	In construing promissory notes, court's primary objective is to ascertain and give effect to true intentions of the parties, seeking to give effect to all the provisions in notes so that none will be rendered meaningless.	In construing the promissory notes, our primary objective is to ascertain and give effect to the true intention of the parties. To this end, we must examine the entire writing, seeking as best we can to harmonize and give effect to all the provisions in the notes so that none will be rendered meaningless.	Should the intention of parties be given effect when interpreting a promissory note?
14864	Unemployment Comp. Div. of Employment Sec. Bureau v. Bjornsrud, 261 N.W.2d 396, 398 (N.D. 1977)	2	Dismissal for lack of prosecution is a harsh remedy and should be resorted to only in extreme cases.	Dismissal for lack of prosecution is a harsh remedy and should be resorted to only in extreme cases, since the policy of the law is to favor hearing of a litigant's claim upon the merits.	Is dismissal for lack of prosecution a harsh remedy to be resorted to only in extreme cases?
14865	Zeis v. Fruehauf Corp., 56 Wis. 2d 486, 491, 202 N.W.2d 225, 227 (1972)	4	Public policy requires dismissal of stale lawsuits which have not been adequately prosecuted.	Public policy requires the dismissal of stale lawsuits which have not been adequately prosecuted.	Does public policy require dismissal of stale lawsuits which have not been adequately prosecuted?
14867	Fisser v. Int'l Bank, 164 F. Supp. 826, 827 (S.D.N.Y. 1958)	1	Agent of an absent owner of cargo may assert in his own name his principal's right of action.	One exception to that rule is the 'well-recognized practice in the admiralty that the agent of an absent owner of cargo may assert in his own name his principal's right of action.'	"Under admiralty law, can an agent assert in his own name the principals right of action?"
14871	Dillon v. Rogers, 596 F.3d 260, 270 (5th Cir. 2010)	15	Estoppel is an equitable doctrine invoked to avoid injustice in particular cases.	"Estoppel is an equitable doctrine invoked to avoid injustice in particular cases," and "a hallmark of the doctrine is its flexible application."	Is estoppel an equitable doctrine invoked to avoid injustice in particular cases?
14880	Booker v. United Am. Ins. Co., 700 So. 2d 1333, 1335 (Ala. 1997)	3	Principal is bound by acts of purported subagent only if (1) agent had express authority to appoint subagent; (2) agent had implied authority to appoint subagent; or (3) principal ratified appointment.	That is, a principal will be bound by the acts of a purported subagent only if: (1) the agent had express authority to appoint the subagent; (2) the agent had implied authority to appoint the subagent; or (3) the principal ratified the appointment.	When will the principal be bound for the acts of a purported subagent?

14881	Booker v. United Am. Ins. Co., 700 So. 2d 1333, 1335 (Ala. 1997)	3	Principal is bound by acts of purported subagent only if (1) agent had express authority to appoint subagent; (2) agent had implied authority to appoint subagent; or (3) principal ratified appointment.	That is, a principal will be bound by the acts of a purported subagent only if: (1) the agent had express authority to appoint the subagent; (2) the agent had implied authority to appoint the subagent; or (3) the principal ratified the appointment.	Can a principal be held liable if he ratifies the acts of a purported subagent?
14882	First Tr. Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago, Ill. v. Diercks, 222 Iowa 534, 539 (Iowa 1936)	10	Whatever an agent says or does within the scope of his express or implied authority binds his principal, and is deemed his act.	It is a well-established principle of the law of agency that whatever an agent says or does within the scope of his express or implied authority binds his principal and is deemed the act of his principal.	Is it fundamental law that anything done or said by an agent is the act of and binds the principal?
14884	Herbert S. Newman & Partners, P.C. v. CFC Const. Ltd. P'ship, 236 Conn. 750, 768 (1996)	28	Estoppel is predicated on proof of misleading conduct resulting in prejudice to other party.	An estoppel is predicated on proof of misleading conduct resulting in prejudice to the other party.	Is estoppel predicated on proof of misleading conduct resulting in prejudice to the other party?
14885	M.J. Oldenstedt Plumbing Co. v. K mart Corp., 257 Ill. App. 3d 759, 764 (Ill. App. Ct. 1994)	2	Estoppel is equitable doctrine preventing party from taking advantage of his own wrongdoing.	Estoppel is an equitable doctrine preventing a party from taking advantage of his own wrongdoing.	Is estoppel an equitable doctrine preventing a party from taking advantage of his own wrongdoing?
14886	Holz v. Lyles, 287 Ala. 280, 284 (Ala. 1971)	6	The right of an individual to an injunction against obstruction of a public street or highway depends on whether he has sustained damages different from that sustained by the public; if he sustains an additional specific damage he may sue to have it abated if remedy at law is inadequate.	The right of an individual to an injunction against obstructing a public street or highway depends on whether he has sustained damages different from that sustained by the public. If he sustains an additional specific damage, he may sue to have it abated if the remedy at law is inadequate.	Is an individual entitled to injunction against obstruction of a public road?
14889	Arrow Marble v. Estate of Killion, 441 S.W.3d 702, 707 (Tex. App. 2014)	10	An order dismissing a claim with prejudice when only dismissal without prejudice was appropriate can be challenged through a postjudgment motion.	An order dismissing a claim with prejudice when only dismissal without prejudice was appropriate can be challenged through a postjudgment motion.	Can an order dismissing a claim with prejudice when only dismissal without prejudice was appropriate be challenged through a post judgment motion?
14890	Garrett v. Williams, 250 S.W.3d 154, 160 (Tex. App. 2008)	11	A dismissal with prejudice is improper if the plaintiff's failure to comply with the statute's procedural requirements can be remedied.	A dismissal with prejudice is improper if the plaintiff's failure to comply with the statute's procedural requirements can be remedied.	Is a dismissal with prejudice improper if the plaintiff's failure can be remedied?
14891	Smith v. SBC Commc'ns Inc., 178 N.J. 265, 282 (2004)	12	The motion to dismiss should be granted only in rare instances and ordinarily without prejudice.	The motion to dismiss should be granted only in rare instances and ordinarily without prejudice.	Should the motion to dismiss should be granted only in rare instances and ordinarily without prejudice?

14900	Richmond Cty. Bus. Ass'n v. Richmond Cty., 224 Ga. 854, 856 (1968)	4	County can only exercise power of taxation as conferred upon it either directly by constitution or by general assembly when authorized by constitution.	In determining whether Richmond County has authority to impose a tax such as the one involved here, we must be mindful of the principle that 'A county can only exercise the power of taxation as conferred upon it either directly by the Constitution or by the General Assembly when authorized by the Constitution.	When can a county exercise the power of taxation?
14907	Bolz v. Hatfield, 41 S.W.3d 566, 572 (Mo. Ct. App. 2001)	17	Estoppel is not a favorite of the law and will not arise unless justice to the rights of others demands it.	"Estoppel is not a favorite of the law and will not 'arise unless justice to the rights of others demands it.' "	Will an estoppel not arise unless justice to the rights of others demands it?
14910	People v. Roschli, 275 N.Y. 26, 29, 9 N.E.2d 763, 764 (1937)	3	That which is in substance a contract of insurance cannot be changed into something else by giving it another name.	What is in substance a contract of insurance cannot be changed into something else by giving it another name.	Can the substance of an insurance contract be changed by giving it another name?
14912	Jennings v. SSM Health Care St. Louis, 355 S.W.3d 526, 530 (Mo. Ct. App. 2011)	8	The general rule is that a dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice is deemed to be without prejudice.	The general rule is that "[a] dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice is deemed to be without prejudice."	Is it the general rule that a dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice is deemed to be without prejudice?
14913	Points v. Oklahoma Pub. Co., 672 P.2d 1146, 1147 (Okla. 1983)	2	An action's termination cannot be both a judgment upon merits and a dismissal sans prejudice; it must be either one or other.	An action's termination cannot be both "a judgment upon the merits" 3 and a dismissal sans prejudice. It must be either one or the other.	Can the termination of a case be both a judgment on the merits and a dismissal without prejudice?
14914	Rice v. Crow, 81 Cal. App. 4th 725, 733, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 110, 116 (2000)	3	"Retraxit" is a judgment on the merits preventing a subsequent action on the dismissed claim.	A retraxit is a judgment on the merits preventing a subsequent action on the dismissed claim.	"Is ""retraxit"" a judgment on the merits preventing a subsequent action on the dismissed claim?"
14915	Channel Lumber Co. v. Porter Simon, 78 Cal. App. 4th 1222, 1227, 93 Cal. Rptr. 2d 482, 486 (2000)	3	Heart of agency is expressed in the ancient maxim: "Qui facit per alium facit per se," meaning he who acts through another acts by or for himself.	The heart of agency is expressed in the ancient maxim: 'Qui facit per alium facit per se.' [He who acts through another acts by or for himself.]"	"What does the principle qui facit per alium, facit per se mean?"
14918	Arizona State Tax Comm'n v. Parsons-Jurden Corp., 9 Ariz. App. 92, 94 (Ariz. Ct. App. 1969)	3	Agency is ultimately a question of intention of parties as evidenced by their acts, and is not dependent upon what the particular person in question is called.	Agency is ultimately a question of the intention of the parties, as evidenced by their acts, and is not dependent upon what the particular person in question is called.'	Is agency a question of the intention of the parties?
14919	Basile v. H & R Block, 563 Pa. 359, 367 (Pa. 2000)	6	Agency results only if there is an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship with control by the beneficiary.	"[A]gency results only if there is an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship with control by the beneficiary."	Does an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship with control by the beneficiary result in agency?
14922	Kahn v. Royal Banks of Missouri, 790 S.W.2d 503, 507 (Mo. Ct. App. 1990)	6	Reasonable duration of agent's authority depends on such factors as nature of acts specifically authorized, formality of authorization, and likelihood of changes in purposes of principal.	The reasonable duration of an agent's authority depends on such factors as "the nature of the acts specifically authorized, the formality of the authorization, [and] the likelihood of changes in the purposes of the principal."	What does the duration of agency depend upon?

14924	TracFone Wireless, Inc. v. Comm'n on State Emergency Commc'ns, 397 S.W.3d 173, 176 n.3 (Tex. 2013)	1	Legislature's decision to label a charge a "fee" rather than a "tax" is not binding; a charge is a fee rather than a tax when the primary purpose of the fee is to support a regulatory regime governing those who pay the fee.	After all, the Legislature's decision to label a charge a "fee" rather than a "tax" is not binding on this Court. See Conlen Grain & Mercantile, Inc. v. Tex. Grain Sorghum Producers Bd., 519 S.W.2d 620, 623 (Tex.1975) (statutory "assessment" is really a tax); Hurt v. Cooper, 130 Tex. 433, 110 S.W.2d 896, 899-900 (1937) (statutory "license fee" is really a tax). A charge is a fee rather than a tax when the primary purpose of the fee is to support a regulatory regime governing those who pay the fee.	Is the legislature's decision to label a charge a fee rather than a tax binding on the courts?
14936	Juarbe v. City of Philadelphia, 288 Pa. Super. 330, 335 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1981)	1	Principal and agent can be in relationship of a master and servant, or simply in status of two independent contractors.	A principal and agent can be in the relationship of a master and servant, 1076 or simply in the status of two independent contractors.	Can a principal and agent be in the status of two independent contractors?
14938	Anthony v. City of Omaha, 283 Neb. 868, 877 (Neb. 2012)	7	A "sales tax" is a tax upon the sale, lease, rental, use, storage, distribution, or other consumption of all tangible personal property in the chain of commerce.	A sales tax, on the other hand, is a tax upon the sale, lease, rental, use, storage, distribution, or other consumption of all tangible personal property in the chain of commerce.	What is a sales tax?
14940	Fonseca v. Fong, 167 Cal. App. 4th 922, 930 (2008)	7	Over no conceivable subject is the legislative power of Congress more complete than it is over the admission of aliens.	As the Supreme Court has repeatedly said, "over no conceivable subject is the legislative power of Congress more complete than it is over" the admission of aliens."	Is the legislative power of Congress more complete over the admission of aliens than any other conceivable subject?
14947	Icard v. Harbuck, 137 Ga. App. 570, 571 (1976)	2	Note payable generally "after date" and not otherwise expressing time for payment is payable on demand and due immediately, bearing interest from date of demand, which is any date on and after execution.	A note payable generally 'after date' and not otherwise expressing a time for payment is payable on demand and due immediately, bearing interest from the date of demand, which is any date on and after execution.	When is an instrument payable if no time is specified for repayment?
14951	Baltimore Steam Co. v. Baltimore Gas & Elec. Co., 123 Md. App. 1, 21-22, 716 A.2d 1042, 1052 (1998), vacated and remanded, 353 Md. 142, 725 A.2d 549 (1999)	24	Franchise is a contract between the grantor and grantee, and since such a contract confers exceptional privileges and powers, it is to be strictly construed against the franchisee.	The franchise is *22 itself referred to as a contract between the grantor and grantee, and since such a contract confers "exceptional privileges and powers," it is to be strictly construed against the franchisee.	Is franchise a contract between grantor and grantee?
14953	Matter of Minton Group, 46 B.R. 222, 226 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1985)	8	Tenancy in partnership is not freely alienable, and unlike tenant in common, tenant in partnership may not call for partition and sale.	In contrast, a tenancy in partnership is not freely alienable. Unlike a tenant in common, a tenant in partnership may not call for partition and sale.	Can a tenancy in partnership be freely alienable like a tenancy in common?
14954	Equitable Life Assur. Soc. of U.S. v. McKeithan, 119 Fla. 486, 488 (Fla. 1935)	1	Declaration is sufficient when it contains all essentials of cause of action whether by direct allegations or by fair inferences from direct allegations.	The rule in Florida is that a declaration is sufficient which contains all essentials of a cause of action whether by direct allegations or by fair inference from the direct allegations.	Should a declaration contain all the essentials of a cause of action?

14959	Shackelford v. Arkansas Power & Light Co., 334 Ark. 634, 636 (1998)	3	Claim against a defendant remains until the trial court enters an order of dismissal.	Instead, the claim against the defendant remains until the trial court enters an order of dismissal.	Does a claim against a defendant remain until the trial court enters an order of dismissal?
14972	Antenucci v. Hartford Roman Catholic Diocesan Corp., 142 Conn. 349, 355 (Conn. 1955)	3	Abutting owner is presumed, no evidence to contrary, to own fee of land to center of highway, and as to land within limits of such highway, abutting owner has all rights not incompatible with public easement.	An abutting owner is presumed under the law of this state, no evidence having been offered to the contrary, to own the fee of the land to the center of the highway. Therefore, as to the land within the limits of the highway, an abutting owner has all rights not incompatible with the public easement.	Is an abutting owner presumed to own the fee to the land to the center of the highway?
14979	Phillips v. Bradshaw, 859 S.W.2d 232, 234 (Mo. Ct. App. 1993)	3	Pleading which states no cause of action confers no subject matter jurisdiction on court and is subject to dismissal.	A pleading which states no cause of action confers no subject matter jurisdiction on a court and is subject to dismissal.	"Is a pleading which states no cause of action, subject to dismissal?"
14983	Tyler v. United States, 281 U.S. 497, 503 (1930)	5	Power of taxation is fundamental and imperious necessity of all government, not to be restricted by mere legal fictions.	The power of taxation is a fundamental and imperious necessity of all government, not to be restricted by mere legal fictions.	Is the power of taxation is a fundamental and imperious necessity of all government?
14985	Lifanda v. Elmhurst Dodge, 237 F.3d 803, 806 (7th Cir. 2001)	4	Court views the sufficiency of TILA-mandated disclosures from the standpoint of an ordinary consumer, not the perspective of a Federal Reserve Board member, federal judge, or English professor. Truth in Lending Act, S 102 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601 et seq.	We view the "sufficiency of TILA-mandated disclosures ... from the standpoint of an ordinary consumer, not the perspective of a Federal Reserve Board member, federal judge, or English professor.	How is the sufficiency of TILA mandated disclosures determined?
14989	Salem Cmty. Sch. Corp. v. Richman, 406 N.E.2d 269, 274 (Ind. Ct. App. 1980)	4	"Waiver" is election to forego some advantage that might otherwise have been insisted upon; existence of waiver is ordinarily determined from conduct of parties making it.	Waiver is an election to forego some advantage that might otherwise have been insisted upon. City of Evansville v. Follis (1974), 161 Ind.App. 396, 315 N.E.2d 724. The existence of waiver is ordinarily determined from the conduct of the party making it.	Is waiver an election to forego some advantage that might otherwise have been insisted upon?
14990	Wendling v. State, 465 N.E.2d 169, 170 (Ind. 1984)	4	Knowledge of falsity of written instrument is not a separate essential element of present crime of forgery.	Knowledge of falsity of a written instrument is not a separate essential element of the present crime of forgery.	Is knowledge of falsity of the instrument an essential element of forgery?
14991	United States v. Gomes, 969 F.2d 1290, 1293 (1st Cir. 1992)	3	A bogus document is "counterfeit" if it is calculated to deceive honest, sensible and unsuspecting person of ordinary observation and care dealing with person supposed to be upright and honest.	Thus, a bogus document is counterfeit if it "is calculated to deceive an honest, sensible and unsuspecting person of ordinary observation and care dealing with a person supposed to be upright and honest	What is a counterfeit?
14995	Westlake Transp., Inc. v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 255 Mich. App. 589, 612, 662 N.W.2d 784, 799 (2003)	15	Taxes have a primary purpose of raising revenue, while fees are usually in exchange for a service rendered or a benefit conferred.	Taxes have a primary purpose of raising revenue, while fees are usually in exchange for a service rendered or a benefit conferred.	Do taxes and fees differ in primary purpose?
14997	U.S. Fid. & Guar. Co. v. State ex rel. Oklahoma Tax Comm'n, 2002 OK 42, 14, 54 P.3d 1010, 1013 (Okla. 2002)	8	A "sales tax" is a statutorily imposed burden on the sale of goods and based on their value.	A sales tax is a statutorily imposed burden "on the sale of goods and based on their value."	"Is a ""sales tax"" a statutorily imposed burden on the sale of goods and based on their value?"

15006	Bowers v. Shinseki, 26 Vet. App. 201, 206 (2013), aff'd, 748 F.3d 1351 (Fed. Cir. 2014)	1	To receive Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) disability compensation benefits, a claimant must first establish veteran status, and, absent established veteran status, presumptions of service connection are not applicable. 38 U.S.C.A. S 101(2, 22, 24); 38 C.F.R. S 3.318.	However, it is axiomatic that, to receive VA disability compensation benefits, a claimant must first establish veteran status. See Cropper v. Brown, 6 Vet.App. 450, 452 (1994). Moreover, the Court has held that, absent established veteran status, presumptions of service connection are not applicable.	Is veterans status required to be eligible for Veterans Affairs (VA) disability compensation benefits?
15008	Young v. United States, 94 Fed. Cl. 671, 678 (2010)	17	As an administrative body within the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Board of Veterans' Appeals is not a "court" as defined by the transfer statute. 28 U.S.C.A. SS 610, 1631.	However, as an administrative body within the VA, the Board of Veterans' Appeals is not a "court" as defined by the transfer statute.	Are administrative bodies like the Board of Veterans' Appeals considered courts?
15012	State ex rel. Core v. Merrifield, 202 W. Va. 100, 107 (1998)	19	A circuit judge has complete control of the deputy circuit clerk assigned to her court. Const. Art. 8, S 3.	Furthermore, a circuit judge has complete control of the deputy circuit clerk assigned to her court.	Does a circuit judge have complete control of the deputy circuit clerk assigned to her court?
15013	Oglesby v. Deal, 311 Ga. App. 622, 627 (Ga. Ct. App. 2011)	14	In general, one's legal residence for the purpose of being sued in the state is the same county as her domicile.	"In general, one's legal residence for the purpose of being sued in Georgia is the same county as his or her domicile.	Is one's legal residence for the purpose of being sued in the state the same county as her domicile?
15017	United States v. Gallardo, 915 F. Supp. 216, 218 (D. Nev. 1995)	6	Jeopardy does not attach in civil forfeiture proceeding until final judgment is entered. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Jeopardy does not attach in a civil forfeiture proceeding until the final judgment is entered.	Does jeopardy not attach in a civil forfeiture proceeding until final judgment is entered?
15018	Camden v. Circuit Court of Second Judicial Circuit, Crawford Cty., Ill., 892 F.2d 610, 615 (7th Cir. 1989)	2	When defendant consents to mistrial, double jeopardy clause will bar retrial only if governmental or judicial conduct was intended to goad defendant into assenting to mistrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	When a defendant consents to a mistrial, however, the double jeopardy clause will bar a retrial only if governmental or judicial conduct was intended to goad the defendant into assenting to the mistrial.	"Does the double jeopardy clause bar retrial unless the district court's mistrial declaration was occasioned by manifest necessity, or consented to by the defendant?"
15020	Alston v. State, 177 Md. App. 1, 28 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 2007)	11	A defendant can be put in jeopardy even in a prosecution that did not culminate in a conviction or an acquittal; this doctrine refers to the species of double jeopardy law known as retrial following mistrial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	A defendant can "be put in jeopardy even in a prosecution that did not culminate in a conviction or an acquittal[.]" Crist v. Bretz, 437 U.S. 28, 34, 98 S.Ct. 2156, 2160, 57 L.Ed.2d 24 (1978). This doctrine refers to "the species of double jeopardy law ... [known as] 'retrial following mistrial.' "	Can a defendant be put in jeopardy even in a prosecution that did not culminate in a conviction or an acquittal?
15021	Torres v. K-Site 500 Assocs., 632 So. 2d 110, 112 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1994)	4	Party may waive any rights to which he or she is legally entitled, by actions or conduct warranting inference that known right has been relinquished.	A party may waive any rights to which he or she is legally entitled, by actions or conduct warranting an inference that a known right has been relinquished.	Can a party waive any rights to which he is entitled?
15022	In re Tracy B., 391 S.C. 51, 69 (S.C. Ct. App. 2010)	17	"Malice," as element of murder, is the wrongful intent to injure another and indicates a wicked or depraved spirit intent on doing wrong. Code 1976, S 16-3-10.	Malice' is the wrongful intent to injure another and indicates a wicked or depraved spirit intent on doing wrong."	Does malice indicate a wicked or depraved spirit intent on doing wrong?
15023	Com. v. Neves, 474 Mass. 355, 371 (Mass. 2016)	29	In a nonfelony-murder case, fact that shooting was accidental negates malice element required for murder.	In a nonfelony-murder case, the fact that the shooting was accidental negates the malice element required for murder.	Does shooting by accident negate the malice element required for murder?

15024	State v. Rich, 132 N.C. App. 440, 446 (1999)	4	"Wickedness of disposition, hardness of heart, cruelty, recklessness of consequences, and a mind regardless of social duty and deliberately bent on mischief" are examples, any one of which may provide the malice necessary to convict a defendant of second-degree murder. G.S. S 14-17.	We, therefore, reject defendant's contention and adopt, instead, the State's position that "wickedness of disposition, hardness of heart, cruelty, recklessness of consequences, and a mind regardless of social duty and deliberately bent on mischief" are examples, any one of which may provide the malice necessary to convict a defendant of second-degree murder.	Does malice include cruelty?
15025	Robinson v. Estate of Jester, 333 Ga. App. 41, 44 (2015)	4	The names of the parties to an action must appear either in the caption of the petition or in the body thereof.	As explained in that case: The names of the parties to an action must appear either in the caption of the petition or in the body thereof.	Should the names of the parties to an action appear in the caption of the petition?
15026	Gehrke v. State, 363 S.W.2d 490, 491 (Tex. Civ. App. 1962)	1	Misnomer does not change nature of a pleading, and jurisdiction of the court is invoked even though improperly styled and docketed. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 71.	It is true that a misnomer does not change the nature of a pleading, and the jurisdiction of the court is invoked even though improperly styled and docketed. Rule 71,	Does a misnomer change the nature of a pleading?
15030	People v. Marino, 388 Ill. 203, 207 (1944)	1	The gist of offense of assault with intent to commit rape is specific intent charged.	It is true that in order to constitute the offense of assault with intent to commit rape, the specific intent charged is the gist of the offense.	Is specific intent charged considered as the gist of the offense of assault with intent to commit rape?
15032	Booker v. Ward, 94 F.3d 1052, 1057 (7th Cir. 1996)	4	Doctrine of equitable tolling provides that person is not required to sue within statutory limitations period if he cannot, under the circumstances, reasonably be expected to do so.	The doctrine of equitable tolling provides that "a person is not required to sue within the statutory period if he cannot in the circumstances reasonably be expected to do so."	What is the doctrine of equitable tolling?
15040	Dombrosky v. Farmers Ins. Co. of Washington, 84 Wash. App. 245, 256 (Wash. Ct. App. 1996)	14	No estoppel arises if injured party had equal opportunity to determine facts.	Further, no estoppel arises if the injured party had equal opportunity to determine the facts.	Does estoppel arise if the injured party had equal opportunity to determine the facts?
15044	Web Press Servs. Corp. v. New London Motors, Inc., 203 Conn. 342, 359–60, 525 A.2d 57, 66 (1987)	12	Court will overlook variance between pleadings and proof, unless variance is so material that it prejudices other party in presentation of case. Practice Book 1978, S 178.	A court will overlook a variance between the pleadings and *360 proof unless that variance is so material as to prejudice the other party in the presentation of its case.	Will the court overlook a variance between the pleadings and proof?
15046	Hillsborough Cty. v. Kortum, 585 So. 2d 1029, 1032 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1991)	6	Property subject to easement held by government unit is not immune or exempt from taxation.	Property subject to an easement held by a governmental unit is not immune or exempt from taxation.	Is a property subject to easement held by government immune or exempt from taxation?
15049	State v. Espinoza, 233 Ariz. 176, 179 (Ct. App. 2013)	6	Defendant is placed in jeopardy once he is put to trial before a jury so that if the jury is discharged without his consent he cannot be tried again. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	"[A] defendant is placed in jeopardy once he is put to trial before a jury so that if the jury is discharged without his consent he cannot be tried again." Id.	Why will a defendant be placed in jeopardy once he is put to trial before a jury?

15050	State v. Triplett, 355 S.W.3d 543, 551 (Mo. Ct. App. 2011)	8	In a court-tried case, jeopardy attaches once evidence has been presented as to the merits of the issue of guilt; however, if the proceeding is designed to hear the accused's defenses or objections before trial, and no determination of factual guilt or innocence is made or attempted, then jeopardy does not attach. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	In a court-tried case, jeopardy attaches once evidence has been presented as to the merits of the issue of guilt. State v. Connell, 326 S.W.3d 865, 867 (Mo.App.2010); State v. Jarvis, 809 S.W.2d 460, 461 (Mo.App.1991). "If the proceeding is designed to hear the accused's defenses or objections before trial, and no determination of factual guilt or innocence is made or attempted, then jeopardy does not attach." Smothers, 297 S.W.3d at 632.	Will jeopardy attach once evidence has been presented as to the merits of the issue of guilt?
15052	People v. Moyer, 292 A.D.2d 793, 794, 738 N.Y.S.2d 810, 812 (2002)	3	Defendant's retrial was not barred by double jeopardy; jeopardy never attached at first trial because entire jury had not been impaneled and sworn at time of declaration of mistrial.	Nor was the retrial barred by double jeopardy. Jeopardy never attached at the first trial because "the entire jury had not been impaneled and sworn at the time of the declaration of the mistrial"	Is jeopardy attached when jury has not been impaneled?
15053	State v. Rowe, 480 A.2d 778, 781 (Me. 1984)	3	It is a fundamental principle of criminal law that in criminal prosecution tried to jury, jeopardy attaches as soon as jury is impaneled and sworn. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; M.R.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 8.	It is a fundamental principle of criminal law that in a criminal prosecution tried to a jury, jeopardy attaches as soon as the jury is impaneled and sworn.	Can a jury trial commence till jury is sworn to determine when jeopardy attaches?
15054	Honesty v. State, 329 Ga. App. 406, 409 (Ga. Ct. App. 2014)	4	Once a defendant's jury is impaneled and sworn, jeopardy attaches, and he is entitled to be acquitted or convicted by that jury. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Once a defendant's jury is impaneled and sworn, jeopardy attaches, and he is entitled to be acquitted or convicted by that jury.	Is a defendant entitled to be acquitted or convicted by the jury who is impaneled and sworn?
15055	State v. Battle, 279 N.C. 484, (1971)	2	Generally, an order of mistrial in a criminal case will not support a plea of former jeopardy. G.S. SS 7A-31(b) (4), 14-89.1.	However, the general rule is that an order of mistrial in a criminal case will not support a plea of former jeopardy.	"Generally, will an order of mistrial not support a plea of former jeopardy?"
15056	Ex parte Pritzkau, 391 S.W.3d 185, 187 (Tex. App. 2013)	5	The Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause protects against repeated prosecutions for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause protects against repeated prosecutions for the same offense.	Are repeated prosecutions for the same offense protected by the double jeopardy clause?
15059	State v. Atkins, 130 Wash. App. 395, 399 (2005)	5	Both the United States Constitution and the Washington State Constitution prohibit multiple convictions for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, S 9.	Both the United States Constitution and the Washington State Constitution prohibit multiple convictions for the same offense.	Does both the United States Constitution and the Washington State Constitution prohibit multiple convictions for the same offense?
15060	Khalifa v. State, 382 Md. 400, 432 (Md. 2004)	19	The Double Jeopardy Clause forbids multiple convictions and sentences for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Double Jeopardy Clause forbids multiple convictions and sentences for the same offense.	Does the Double Jeopardy Clause forbid multiple convictions and sentences for the same offense?
15061	United States v. Holley, 986 F.2d 100, 103 (5th Cir. 1993)	5	Double jeopardy clause is not absolute bar to reprosecution once jury has been empaneled and sworn. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Nonetheless, the double jeopardy clause is not an absolute bar to reprosecution once the jury has been empaneled and sworn.	Will the double jeopardy clause be an absolute bar to re-prosecution once jury has been empanelled and sworn?
15063	People v. Miller, 164 Cal. App. 4th 653, 668 (2008)	14	Double jeopardy protections do not apply to the trial of prior conviction allegations. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	As double jeopardy protections do not apply to the trial of prior conviction allegations	Do double jeopardy protections apply to the trial of prior conviction allegations?

15064	State v. Daniels, 160 Wash. 2d 256, 262 (2007)	6	While jury silence can be construed as an acquittal and can therefore act to terminate jeopardy, such is not the case when a jury fails to agree and such disagreement is evident from the record. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, S 9.	Jury silence can be construed as an acquittal and can therefore act to terminate jeopardy. Green v. United States, 355 U.S. 184, 188, 78 S.Ct. 221, 2 L.Ed.2d 199 (1957) (stating jury's silence acted as implied acquittal). But such is not the case when a jury fails to agree and such disagreement is evident from the record.	Can jury silence be construed as an acquittal and can therefore act to terminate jeopardy?
15065	State v. Juarez, 115 Wash. App. 881, 889–90 (2003)	13	A mistrial will free defendant from further prosecution, unless it is prompted by manifest necessity; this means that extraordinary and striking circumstances must be present which clearly indicate that substantial justice cannot be obtained without discontinuing the trial.	A mistrial will free the defendant from further prosecution, unless it is prompted by "manifest necessity." Browning, 38 Wash.App. at 775, 689 P.2d 1108 (citing United States v. Perez, 22 U.S. (9 Wheat.) 579, 6 L.Ed. 165 (1824)). This means that "extraordinary and striking" circumstances must be present which clearly indicate that substantial justice cannot be obtained without discontinuing the trial.	"Will a mistrial free a defendant from further prosecution, unless it is prompted by manifest necessity?"
15066	Moghalu v. United States, 122 A.3d 923, 926 (D.C. 2015)	4	Double jeopardy provides a guarantee against being twice put to trial for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 6.	The Double Jeopardy Clause provides "a guarantee against being twice put to trial for the same offense."	Does Double jeopardy provide a guarantee against being twice put to trial for the same offense?
15068	Sayan v. State, 381 So. 2d 363, 364 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1980)	5	After mistrial, case stands as if it had never been tried, and defendant is subject to being tried again on same charge.	After a mistrial, a case stands as if it had never been tried and the defendant is subject to being tried again on the same charge.	"After mistrial, does a case stand as if it had never been tried, and a defendant is subject to being tried again on the same charge?"
15069	State Fire Marshall v. Lee, 101 Mich. App. 829, 838 (1980)	5	Christians must comply with fire and safety regulations which are applicable to all schools and which are applied equally to all schools. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 1.	Therefore, Christians must comply with the fire and safety regulations which are applicable to all schools and which are applied equally to all schools.	Should religious schools comply with fire and safety regulations applicable to schools?
15071	In re Otasco, 196 B.R. 554, 559 (N.D. Okla. 1991)	3	Whether particular lease is intended for security is to be determined by facts of each case. 12A Okl.St.Ann. S 1-201(37)(b).	Nevertheless, this case demands close factual scrutiny, because "whether a particular lease is intended for security is to be determined by the facts of each case."	Is whether a particular lease is intended for a security to be determined by facts of each case?
15072	In re Greenville Auto Mall, 278 B.R. 414, 420 (N.D. Miss. 2001)	4	Under Illinois' revised definition of security interest, the primary focus is on the economic realities of the transaction rather than the intent of the parties. S.H.A. 810 ILCS 5/1-201(37).	Under the revised definition of "security interest," the primary focus is on the economic realities of the transaction rather than the intent of the parties.	"Is the focus on ""economic realities"" of a transaction?"
15076	State ex rel. Wis. Univ. Bldg. Corp. v. Bareis, 257 Wis. 497, 500–01 (1950)	1	Exemptions from taxation are acceptable when the property has been acquired and used by and for the benefit of the state.	It has been ruled too often to permit doubting now that exemptions from taxation are acceptable when the property has been acquired and used by and for the benefit of the state.	Are the exemptions from taxation acceptable when the property has been acquired and used by and for the benefit of the state?

15077	Hillsborough Inv. Co. v. City of Tampa, 149 Fla. 7, 12-13 (1941)	7	The sovereign power to levy a tax and the machinery for collection thereof cannot be transferred to private individuals in absence of statute, but is vested in public officials, and a taxing unit, in absence of statute, cannot assign its claim for taxes to a citizen, and thereby subrogate the citizen to the collecting rights of the taxing unit.	The sovereign power to levy a tax and the *13 machinery for collection thereof cannot be transferred to private individuals, in the absence of a statute, but this power by law is vested in public officials. A taxing unit, in the absence of a statute, is without authority to assign its claim for taxes to a citizen and thereby subrogate the citizen to the collecting rights of the taxing unit.	Can a taxing unit assign its claim for taxes to a citizen?
15081	Hughes v. Cornerstone Inspection Grp., 336 Ga. App. 283, 286 (2016)	3	Affidavits are admissible forms of evidence that may be filed in opposition to motions. West's Ga.Code Ann. SS 9-11-6(d), 9-11-56(c); Uniform Superior Court Rule 6.2.	Our Civil Practice Act and the Uniform Superior Court Rules make clear that affidavits are admissible forms of evidence that may be filed in opposition to motions. See, e.g., OCGA 9-11-6(d); 9-11-56(c); Unif.	Can affidavits be considered as an admissible form of evidence?
15082	Gilbride v. Trunnelle, 620 N.W.2d 244, 251 (Iowa 2000)	13	"Professional statement" is a technique, used as a matter of convenience and practical necessity to establish a record of matters peculiarly within the knowledge of an attorney.	Additionally, a professional statement "is a technique, used as a matter of convenience and practical necessity to establish a record of matters peculiarly within the knowledge of an attorney.	Do professional statements have the effect of an affidavit?
15083	Dennis v. Coleman's Parking & Greasing Stations, 211 Minn. 597, 601 (Minn. 1942)	6	A "bailment", like any other contract, may be established by express words, written or oral, or by implication from acts and general conduct.	But a bailment, like any other contract, may be established by express words, written or oral, or by implication from acts and general conduct.	Can a contract for bailment be an oral agreement?
15084	Weitz Co., LLC v. Lexington Ins. Co., 982 F. Supp. 2d 975, 1002 (S.D. Iowa 2013), aff'd, 786 F.3d 641 (8th Cir. 2015)	24	Under Iowa law, equitable subrogation will never be enforced when doing so would be inequitable, or where it would work injustice to others having equal equities.	Equitable subrogation "will never be enforced, when doing so would be inequitable, or where it would work injustice to others having equal equities."	When would equitable subrogation not be enforced?
15086	Ball v. Rao, 48 S.W.3d 332, 339 (Tex. App. 2001)	14	Repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	We must also keep in mind that repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	May repeated violations of limine orders result in mistrials or reversals?
15088	Traders & Gen. Ins. Co. v. Turner, 149 S.W.2d 593, 596 (Tex. Civ. App. 1941)	2	The Workmen's Compensation Act is not intended to compensate employee merely for loss of earnings, but for loss of earning capacity, at a wage rate based on his capacity to earn when employed full time. Vernon's Ann.Civ.St. art. 8309, S 1, 1st subds. 1-3, 5.	It has many times been held that our Workmen's Compensation Act is not intended to compensate an injured employee merely for the loss of earnings, but for loss of earning capacity, at a wage rate based on his capacity to earn when employed on a full time basis.	What do workers compensation benefits pay or compensate for?
15091	People v. Jordan, 15 Ill. App. 3d 672, 675 (1973)	1	A person's receipt of property is not alone enough to sustain a bribery conviction. S.H.A. ch. 38, S 33-1(d).	This statute clearly indicates that a person's receipt of property is not alone enough to sustain a bribery conviction.	Is a person's receipt of property alone enough to sustain a bribery conviction?

15095	Dade Cty. Sch. Bd. v. Radio Station WQBA, 731 So. 2d 638, 646 (Fla. 1999)	15	Doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	Does legal or equitable subrogation arise from the legal consequences of the acts of the parties?
15096	Bishop Baking Co. v. Forgey, 538 S.W.2d 602, 604 (Tenn. 1976)	6	Workmen's compensation law is to be liberally construed in order to accomplish its intended purposes, but, it is not a social welfare statute, and the sympathies of the court may not control its determination.	In is true that the Workmen's Compensation Law is to be liberally construed in order to accomplish its intended purposes. but, it is not a social welfare statute, Smith v. Tennessee Furniture Industries, 212 Tenn. 291, 369 S.W.2d 721 (1963), nor may the sympathies of the Court control its determination.	Is the Workers Compensation Act a social welfare statute?
15098	Jennings v. High Farms Corp., 35 Misc. 2d 80, 81, 229 N.Y.S.2d 854, 855-56 (Sup. Ct.), aff'd, 18 A.D.2d 664, 235 N.Y.S.2d 829 (1962)	2	In action for interference with peaceable possession, right to judgment depends on facts as they stood when action was commenced, and not as they stand at date of trial and what defendants may or may not do after service of summons will in no way tend to render ineffectual the judgment for damages.	An action for damages for interference with peaceable possession is an action at law (Fults v. Munro, 202 N.Y. 34, 40, 95 N.E. 23, 37 L.R.A., N.S., 600). The instant complaint contains no action for equitable relief, nor do the plaintiffs seek a judgment for a permanent injunction, nor would they be entitled to a permanent injunction. Insofar 856 as the application may be deemed to be made pursuant to section 878, subd. 1, Civil Practice Act, the motion must be denied. (See Reynolds v. Webber, 160 N.Y.S. 177). As stated in Fults v. Munro, supra, 202 N.Y. at p. 40, 95 N.E. at p. 25: 'As this is an action at law, the right to judgment depends on the facts as they stood when it was commenced, instead of, according to the rule in equity, as they stood at the date of the trial' (emphasis supplied). What the defendants may or may not do after the service of the summons would not in any way tend to render ineffectual the judgment for damages	" In an action at law, does the right to judgment depend on facts as they stood when the action was commenced?"
15099	Heisler v. Hines Motor Co., 282 Mont. 270, 275 (Mont. 1997)	3	Pretrial order serves to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial.	A pretrial order serves to "prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order."	Does a pretrial order prevent surprise?

15100	Reese v. Mayer, 198 Neb. 499, 502 (Neb. 1977)	2	When two vehicles approach intersection at approximately the same time, vehicle on right has right to proceed in lawful manner in preference to vehicle on left; vehicle on right has right to immediate use of intersection, and it is this use of roadway that vehicle on left is required to yield to vehicle on right; right-of-way which vehicle on left is required to yield to vehicle on right is qualified, and driver on right must exercise due care, may not proceed in disregard of surrounding circumstances, and where necessary to avoid collision may be required to yield right-of-way.	When two vehicles approach an intersection at approximately the same time, the vehicle on the right has the right to proceed in a lawful manner in preference to the vehicle on the left. In other words, the vehicle on the right has the right to the immediate use of the intersection, and it is this use of the roadway that the vehicle on the left is required to yield to the vehicle on the right. It should be noted that the right-of-way which the vehicle on the left is required to yield to the vehicle on the right is a qualified right-of-way. The driver on the right must exercise due care, may not proceed in disregard of the surrounding circumstances, and where necessary to avoid a collision may be required to yield the right-of-way.	Does the driver of motor vehicle approaching from the right have a right of way?
15101	Scullin v. Cameron, 518 So. 2d 695, 698 (Ala. 1988)	1	Continuances are not favored, and trial court's denial of motion for continuance will be upset on appeal only when a palpable or gross abuse of discretion has been shown.	In this jurisdiction, it has been "often held that continuances are not favored and that a trial court's denial of a motion for continuance will be upset only when a palpable or gross abuse of discretion has been shown."	"Can a trial court deny plaintiff's motion for continuance of trial, as plaintiff had been notified of trial date before?"
15105	Marin Cnty. v. Superior Ct. of Marin Cnty., 53 Cal. 2d 633, 638, 349 P.2d 526, 529 (1960)	4	All roads committed to care of a county belong, ultimately, to all people of state.	It is fundamental that all roads committed to the care of a county belong, ultimately, to all the people of the state.	Do all roads committed to care of a county belong ultimately to all people of the state?
15107	Pac. Gas & Elec. Co. v. United States, 3 Cl. Ct. 329, 341 (1983)	14	Acceptance or receipt of benefits is not sufficient to create a contract that binds United States in absence of affirmative authorization.	Acceptance or receipt of benefits is not sufficient to create a contract that binds the United States in the absence of affirmative authorization.	Can the Forest Service personnel contractually bind United States without proper legal authority?
15112	Flacke v. Town of Fine, 113 Misc. 2d 56, 58, 448 N.Y.S.2d 359, 361 (Sup. Ct. 1982)	1	Use and preservation of forest preserve is subject to reasonable regulations of Legislature within strictly restricted constitutional bounds. Const.Art. 14, § 1.	The use and preservation of the forest preserve is subject to the reasonable regulations of the Legislature within strictly restricted constitutional bounds.	Are Forest Preserve District (FPD) creations of the legislature and should the statutes granting power to them be strictly construed?
15113	United States v. Gonzalez, 76 F.3d 1339, 1343 (5th Cir. 1996)	4	Defendant must be party to civil forfeiture proceeding for double jeopardy to attach. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The defendant must be a party to the forfeiture proceeding for jeopardy to attach.	Should a defendant be a party to civil forfeiture proceeding for double jeopardy to attach?
15114	Shindler v. Marr & Associates, 695 S.W.2d 699, 703 (Tex. App. 1985)	1	Strict compliance with applicable statutes is not required for formation of a limited partnership. Vernon's Ann.Texas Civ.St. art. 6132a, § 3(b).	Strict compliance with the applicable statutes is not required for the formation of a limited partnership.	QuestionIs strict compliance with the applicable statutes required for the formation of a limited partnership?

15116	Dobbs v. Shelby Cnty. Econ. & Indus. Dev. Auth., 749 So. 2d 425, 430 (Ala. 1999)	7	Legislature is prohibited from delegating the power to levy taxes to a public industrial authority (PIA). Const. Art. 1, S 23; Art. 11, S 212.	Accordingly, the legislature is prohibited from delegating the power to levy taxes to a PIA, such as SCEIDA, IDBB, or IDBT.	Is the Legislature prohibited from delegating the power to levy taxes to a public industrial authority?
15117	Com. v. Stafford, 451 Pa. 95, 100 (Pa. 1973)	8	One charged with homicide cannot escape liability merely because the blow he inflicts is not mortal, or the immediate cause of death; if his blow is the legal cause in that it started a chain of causation which lead to the death, he is guilty of homicide.	Consequently, appellant is legally responsible for the death since 'one charged with homicide cannot escape liability merely because the blow he inflicted is not mortal, or the immediate cause of death. If his blow is the legal cause, i.e., if it started a chain of causation which led to the death, he is guilty of homicide.	Is criminal responsibility confined to a sole or immediate cause of death?
15118	McDowell v. Citicorp Inc., 752 N.W.2d 209, 213 (S.D. 2008)	6	If the dismissal of a complaint also constitutes dismissal of an action, then a motion to amend is improper. SDCL S 15-6-15(a).	If the "dismissal of the complaint also constitutes dismissal of the action[.]" then the motion to amend is improper.	"If the dismissal of a complaint also constitutes dismissal of an action, is a motion to amend improper? "
15119	In re Trask, 462 B.R. 268, 277 (B.A.P. 1st Cir. 2011)	20	Under Maine law, the doctrine of equitable subrogation requires that the equities of the parties be weighed and balanced.	The doctrine requires that the equities of the parties be weighed and balanced.	Does the doctrine of equitable subrogation require that the equities of the parties be weighed and balanced?
15120	Fed. Armored Serv. v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 204 Mich. App. 24, 27 (Mich. Ct. App. 1994)	2	Decision of Public Service Commission (PSC) is unlawful when it involves erroneous interpretation or application of the law and unreasonable when it is unsupported by evidence. M.C.L.A. S 462.26(8).	A decision of the PSC is unlawful when it involves an erroneous interpretation or application of the law, and unreasonable when it is unsupported by the evidence.	"When is a decision of the Public Service Commission (""PSC"")?"
15121	Barnes v. Nw. Repossession, 210 F. Supp. 3d 954, 971 (N.D. Ill. 2016)	20	Under Illinois law, an injury to or interference with possession, with or without physical force, constitutes a trespass to personal property.	Under Illinois law, "an injury to or interference with possession, with or without physical force, constitutes a trespass to personal property."	What constitutes a trespass to personal property?
15122	Ball v. Rao, 48 S.W.3d 332, 339 (Tex. App. 2001)	14	Repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	We must also keep in mind that repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	May repeated violations of a court's in limine orders result in mistrials or reversals?
15123	Matsyuk v. State Farm Fire & Cas. Co., 155 Wash. App. 324, 330 (Wash. Ct. App. 2010)	12	The purpose of subrogation is to put the financial consequences on the party responsible for the loss.	The insurer may seek reimbursement from the recovery its insured obtains from the party at fault, subject to limitations: 3 The purpose of subrogation is to put the financial consequences on the party responsible for the loss.	Is the purpose of subrogation to put the financial consequences on the party responsible for the loss?
15125	Employers Ins. of Wausau v. Com., Dep't of Transp., 581 Pa. 381, 391 (Pa. 2005)	11	A subrogation claim, in substance, is equitable in nature, and therefore does not sound in assumpsit.	Initially, we note that this Court and intermediate courts have made clear that a subrogation claim, in substance, is equitable in nature, and therefore does not sound in assumpsit.	"Is a subrogation claim, in substance, equitable in nature, and therefore does not sound in assumpsit?"
15126	S. Farm Bureau Cas. Ins. Co. v. Tallant, 362 Ark. 17, 20 (Ark. 2005)	1	"Subrogation" is the substitution of one party for another; the party asserting subrogation is making a demand under the right of another.	Subrogation is the substitution of one party for another. Welch, supra. The party asserting subrogation is making a demand under the right of another.	Is the party asserting subrogation making a demand under the right of another?

15128	Williams v. Bank of Tallassee, 456 So. 2d 50, 52 (Ala. 1984)	1	When motions to dismiss are granted, plaintiff should always be afforded leave to amend.	When motions to dismiss are granted, the plaintiff should always be afforded leave to amend.	"When motions to dismiss are granted, should a plaintiff always be afforded leave to amend? "
15129	Blankenship v. Estate of Bain, 5 S.W.3d 647, 650 (Tenn. 1999)	3	A right of subrogation may arise by contract (conventional subrogation), by application of equitable principles of law (legal subrogation), or by application of a statute (statutory subrogation).	A right of subrogation may arise by contract ("conventional subrogation"), by application of equitable principles of law ("legal subrogation"), or by application of a statute ("statutory subrogation").	What can the right of subrogation arise from?
15130	Von Holden v. Chapman, 87 A.D.2d 66, 68, 450 N.Y.S.2d 623, 626 (1982)	5	Preservation of life has high social value in our culture and suicide is deemed "a grave public wrong."	The preservation of life has a high social value in our culture and suicide is deemed "a grave public wrong"	Is suicide deemed as a grave public wrong?
15132	Pelas v. Wooley, 297 So. 2d 546, 548 (La. Ct. App. 1974)	2	Every contested motion for continuance is to be tried contradictorily with opposing party. LSA-C.C.P. arts. 1601, 1602.	Furthermore every contested motion for a continuance is to be tried contradictorily with the opposing party.	Is every contested motion for continuance to be tried contradictorily with opposing party?
15134	Perkins v. Texas Nat. Bank of Commerce of Houston, 448 S.W.2d 725, 726 (Tex. Civ. App. 1969)	2	Fact that affidavit contains both admissible and inadmissible matters does not render it entirely void.	The fact that an affidavit contains both admissible and inadmissible matters does not render it entirely void.	Will affidavit be rendered void if it contains both admissible and inadmissible matters?
15135	Laurie v. Ezard, 595 S.W.2d 336, 338 (Mo. Ct. App. 1980)	6	Dismissal for failure to prosecute should not be based on remote, even if extended, periods of inactivity.	A dismissal for failure to prosecute should not be based on remote, even if extended, periods of inactivity.	Should dismissal for failure to prosecute be based on remote periods of inactivity?
15136	E. Nat. Bank v. Glendale Fed. Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 508 So. 2d 1323, 1324 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1987)	3	Equitable subrogation is governed by operation of equitable principles rather than legal rules and will not be applied where it would work injustice to innocent third parties.	It is governed by the operation of equitable principles rather than legal rules and will not be applied where it would work an injustice to innocent third parties.	Is the doctrine of equitable subrogation a doctrine based on equity?
15141	Pennsylvania Nat. Mut. Cas. Ins. Co. v. Ins. Com'r of Com. of Pa., 121 Pa. Cmwlt. 618, 626 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 1988)	5	Principal is liable for acts of its agent committed in scope of its employment even though principal did not authorize acts.	A principal is liable for the acts of its agent committed in the scope of its employment even though the principal did not authorize the act.	Can a principal be held liable for an unauthorized act of an agent performed within the scope of his employment?
15142	Lumley v. Bd. of Regents for Univ. of Michigan, 215 Mich. App. 125, 130, 544 N.W.2d 692, 695 (1996)	4	Cause of action accrues when all elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint.	It accrues when all the elements of the claim have occurred and can be alleged in a proper complaint.	Does a cause of action accrue when all elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint?
15143	Home Ins. Co. v. Cincinnati Ins. Co., 213 Ill. 2d 307, 316 (2004)	8	"Indemnification" differs from "subrogation" in that the entity seeking indemnification does so in its own right, while in the latter the subrogee succeeds to another's right to payment.	Indemnification differs from subrogation in that the entity seeking indemnification does so in its own right, while in the latter the subrogee succeeds to another's right to payment.	Does a party seeking subrogation does so as a successor to another party's right to payment?
15147	In re Shavers, 418 B.R. 589, 605 (Bankr. S.D. Miss. 2009)	22	Under Mississippi law, the object of equitable subrogation is the doing of complete, essential, and perfect justice between all parties.	The object of equitable subrogation "is the doing of complete, essential, and perfect justice between all parties."	"Is the object of equitable subrogation the doing of complete, essential and perfect justice between all parties?"
15148	Farrell by Lehner v. John Deere Co., 151 Wis. 2d 45, 83 (Wis. Ct. App. 1989)	12	Individual using personal property without owner's permission is trespasser as to owner of property.	An individual who uses personal property without the owner's permission is a trespasser as to the owner of the property.	Is an individual who uses personal property without the owner's permission a trespasser?

15151	Employers Ins. of Wausau v. Com., Dep't of Transp., 581 Pa. 381, 389 (Pa. 2005)	5	An "assignment" is a transfer of property or some other right from one person to another, and unless in some way qualified, it extinguishes the assignor's right to performance by the obligor and transfers that right to the assignee.	"An assignment is a transfer of property or some other right from one person to another, and unless in some way qualified, it extinguishes the assignor's right to performance by the obligor and transfers that right to the assignee."	What is an assignment?
15153	Beauchamp v. N. Am. Sav. Ass'n, 543 S.W.2d 536, 537 (Mo. Ct. App. 1976)	2	Transaction of "guaranty" is species of contract with at least three parties, a promisor, creditor to whom promise is made and a debtor, that arises when promisor makes promise to creditor either as to solvency of debtor or as to payment of debt.	A transaction of guaranty is a species of contract with at least three parties: a promisor, a creditor (to whom the promise is made) and a debtor. The guaranty arises when the promisor makes a promise to the creditor either as to the solvency of the debtor or as to the payment of the debt.	How many parties are involved in a contract of guaranty?
15155	Amalgamated Transit Union, Local 1756, AFL-CIO v. Superior Court, 46 Cal. 4th 993, 1001 (Cal. 2009)	1	The legal concept of "assignment" refers to the transferability of all types of property, including a cause of action.	The legal concept of assignment refers to the transferability of all types of property, including a cause of action.	Does transfer of assignment refer to all types of property?
15156	Jackson Cty. Bd. of Election Comm'rs v. Paluka, 13 S.W.3d 684, 690 (Mo. Ct. App. 2000)	17	"Implied notice" is knowledge implied from surrounding facts and circumstances, so as to hold one to have known that which he could have discovered by the exercise of ordinary care.	Implied notice is knowledge implied from surrounding facts and circumstances, so as to hold one to have known that which he could have discovered by the exercise of ordinary care.	What are the kinds of notices recognized by law?
15159	Buchta v. Seng, 444 N.E.2d 1250, 1252 (Ind. Ct. App. 1983)	2	Comaker of note can be accommodation party and is liable as maker to principal, but accommodation party's liability to principal does not affect relationship between accommodation party and party accommodated, and accommodation party is not liable to party accommodated and has right to indemnification against the accommodated party. IC 26-1-3-415, 26-1-3-415(5)(1982 Ed.).	Thus, a co-maker of a note can be an accommodation party, Fithian v. Jamar, (1979) 286 Md. 161, 410 A.2d 569, and is liable as a maker to the principal, Id. An accommodation party's liability to the principal does not affect the relationship between the accommodation party and the party accommodated. The accommodation party is not liable to the party accommodated and has a right to indemnification against the accommodated party.	What is the liability of an accommodation party?
15160	United States v. Pipkins, 528 F.2d 559, 563 (5th Cir. 1976)	5	It is vital to claim of attorney-client privilege that the communication was made and maintained in confidence.	It is vital to a claim of privilege that the communication have been made and maintained in confidence.	Is it vital to a claim of attorney-client privilege that the communication has been made and maintained in confidence?
15161	Phillips v. Scalf, 778 N.E.2d 480, 484 (Ind. Ct. App. 2002)	7	Under the rule of "mobilia sequuntur personam," the situs of intangible personal property is the legal domicile of the owner.	Indiana courts have recognized that under the rule of "mobilia sequuntur personam," the situs of intangible personal *484 property is the legal domicile of the owner.	What is the situs of an intangible personal property?

15162	Chavala Co-op. v. Hortman, 93 Ga. App. 505, 505 (Ga. Ct. App. 1956)	6	Unless otherwise stipulated, situs of a debt follows creditor's domicile and is construed according to laws of state in which creditor resides.	Unless otherwise stipulated the situs of a debt follows the domicile of the creditor and is construed according to the laws of the State in which he resides.	Which is the situs of a debt?
15163	S. Owners Ins. Co. v. Cooperativa De Seguros Multiples, 143 So. 3d 439, 442 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2014)	3	The primary elements of ownership of property are the rights of possession, use and enjoyment, the right to change or improve the property, and the right to alienate the property.	The primary elements of ownership are the rights of possession, use and enjoyment, the right to change or improve the property, and the right to alienate the property.	What are the elements and rights of ownership of the property?
15165	Aerojet-Gen. Corp. v. Am. Arbitration Ass'n, 478 F.2d 248, 251 (9th Cir. 1973)	4	Basic purpose of arbitration is speedy disposition of disputes without the expense and delay of extended court proceedings.	The basic purpose of arbitration is the speedy disposition of disputes without the expense and delay of extended court proceedings.	What is the basic purpose of arbitration?
15166	Stark v. Sandberg, Phoenix & von Gontard, P.C., 381 F.3d 793, 803 (8th Cir. 2004)	30	Arbitration is not perfect system of justice, nor is it designed to be; rather, it is designed primarily to avoid complex, time-consuming and costly alternative of litigation.	Moreover, "[a]rbitration is not a perfect system of justice, nor is it [sic] designed to be." Hoffman, 236 F.3d at 462 (citation omitted). Rather, it "is designed primarily to avoid the complex, time-consuming and costly alternative of litigation."	For what purpose is arbitration primarily designed?
15167	Int'l Bhd. of Elec. Workers, Local No. 367, AFL-CIO v. Graham Cty. Elec. Coop., 783 F.2d 897, 899 (9th Cir. 1986)	1	"Interest arbitration" is arbitration over new contract terms and is distinct from "grievance arbitration," which covers disputes regarding compliance with an existing agreement.	"Interest arbitration" is arbitration over new contract terms. Interest arbitration is distinct from "grievance arbitration," which covers disputes regarding compliance with an existing agreement.	Differentiate between interest arbitration and grievance arbitration?
15168	In re Apple iPhone 3G Prod. Liab. Litig., 859 F. Supp. 2d 1084, 1088 (N.D. Cal. 2012)	3	Congress created the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) to overrule the judiciary's longstanding refusal to enforce agreements to arbitrate and place such agreements on the same footing as other contracts. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Congress created the Federal Arbitration Act ("FAA") to "overrule the judiciary's longstanding refusal to enforce agreements to arbitrate ... and place such agreements on the same footing as other contracts."	Is arbitration a forum for resolving disputes more expeditiously?
15173	Merit Ins. Co. v. Leatherby Ins. Co., 714 F.2d 673, 679 (7th Cir. 1983)	11	People who arbitrate do so because they prefer a tribunal knowledgeable about the subject matter of their dispute to a generalist court with its austere impartiality but limited knowledge of the subject matter.	Thus, people who arbitrate do so because they prefer a tribunal knowledgeable about the subject matter of their dispute to a generalist court with its austere impartiality but limited knowledge of subject matter.	Why do parties prefer to arbitrate?
15175	Garanti Finansal Kiralama A.S. v. Aqua Marine & Trading, 697 F.3d 59, 69 (2d Cir. 2012)	13	A plaintiff must explicitly designate a claim as an admiralty claim or else forego admiralty's special procedures and remedies; only if admiralty is the sole possible jurisdictional basis is the designation unnecessary. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 9(h), 28 U.S.C.A.	a plaintiff must explicitly designate the claim as an admiralty claim or else forego admiralty's special procedures and remedies. Only if admiralty is the sole possible jurisdictional basis is the Rule 9(h) designation unnecessary.	What happens when a claim for relief falls within the federal courts' admiralty jurisdiction and also within the court's subject-matter jurisdiction?

15176	Pawn 1st v. City of Phoenix, 239 Ariz. 539, 559 (Ariz. Ct. App. 2016)	8	A zoning board has no powers except those granted by the statutes creating it, and its power is restricted to that granted by the zoning ordinance in accordance with the statute. A.R.S. S 9-462.06.	The Board "has no powers except those granted by the statutes creating it" and "its power is restricted to that granted by the zoning ordinance in accordance with the statute.	Do zoning boards have powers other than those granted by the zoning ordinance?
15178	LaPlace v. Briere, 404 N.J. Super. 585, 598 (App. Div. 2009)	7	A bailment may be created by contract, either express or implied, or by operation of law or statute.	A bailment may be created by contract, either express or implied, or by operation of law or statute.	Can a contract of bailment be created by operation of law?
15180	Ogle Cty. Bd. on Behalf of Cty.of Ogle v. Pollution Control Bd., 272 Ill. App. 3d 184, 191 (Ill. App. Ct. 1995)	5	Unlike court, administrative agency is statutory creation, limited in its authority by statute, and to extent that agency acts outside its statutory authority, it acts without jurisdiction.	Unlike a court, an administrative agency is a statutory creation, limited in its authority by statute. (Newkirk v. Bigard (1985), 109 Ill.2d 28, 37, 92 Ill.Dec. 510, 485 N.E.2d 321.) To the extent that an agency acts outside its statutory authority, it acts without jurisdiction.	"Is the authority of a statutory administrative agency, like the Pollution Control Board, limited by its enabling statute?"
15181	Brecciaroli v. Connecticut Comm'r of Env'tl. Prot., 168 Conn. 349, 357 (Conn. 1975)	8	The "evils" of unreasonable pollution, impairment or destruction of our natural resources are proper subjects for regulation under the police power. C.G.S.A. S 22a-28; C.G.S.A.Const. art. 1, S 11.	The 'evils' of unreasonable pollution, impairment or destruction of our natural resources are proper subjects for regulation under the police power.	Does prevention of pollution come under the purview of the police power?
15183	Atl. Contracting & Material Co. v. Adcock, 161 N.C. App. 273, 277 (N.C. Ct. App. 2003)	5	For purposes of bailment being created by delivery of possession of goods and acceptance of delivery by bailee, "delivery" is defined as bailor's relinquishing exclusive possession, custody, and control to bailee.	This Court has previously held that "[a] bailment is created upon the delivery of possession of goods and the acceptance of their delivery by the bailee." Flexlon Fabrics, 39 N.C.App. at 447, 250 S.E.2d at 726. "Delivery" is defined as the bailor's "relinquishing exclusive possession, custody, and control to the bailee...."	What is delivery in a bailment?
15198	Calvert & Marsh Coal Co. v. Pass, 393 So. 2d 955, 957 (Ala. 1981)	5	Wantonness in a trespass action is established by mere knowledge on the part of the defendant of his invasion of the plaintiff's rights.	Wantonness in a trespass action is established by the mere knowledge on the part of the defendant of his invasion of the plaintiff's rights.	How is the element of wantonness established in a trespass action?
15199	State v. Parsley, 521 N.W.2d 44, 47 (Minn. Ct. App. 1994)	8	Claim of accidental discharge may establish defense to charge of intentional homicide.	A claim of accidental discharge may establish a defense to a charge of intentional homicide.	Can accidental discharge be used as a defense to the charge of intentional homicide?
15200	State v. McCall, 245 Iowa 991, 1000 (1954)	13	"Incest", in short, is sexual intercourse between persons too closely related, and is comparable with "adultery" which is sexual intercourse between persons one or both of whom are married to third persons. I.C.A. S 704.1.	In short, incest is sexual intercourse between persons too closely related. It is comparable with adultery which is sexual intercourse between persons one or both of whom are married to third persons.	Is incest comparable with adultery?
15206	In re Rausch, 213 B.R. 364, 368 (D. Nev. 1997)	12	While right to engage in one's occupation is important right that cannot be denied without due process under the Fifth Amendment, it is not fundamental right. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	While the right to engage in an occupation is an important right that cannot be denied without due process under the Fifth Amendment, it is not a fundamental right.	Is a right to engage in a particular occupation a fundamental right?

15208	Jenoff v. Hearst Corp., 453 F. Supp. 541, 548 (D. Md. 1978), aff'd, 644 F.2d 1004 (4th Cir. 1981)	8	Plaintiff in a defamation action cannot recover punitive or exemplary damages in absence of proof of actual malice. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 1.	It is now well established that a plaintiff in a defamation action cannot recover punitive or exemplary damages in the absence of proof of actual malice under New York Times v.	When can exemplary damages not be recovered by a plaintiff?
15211	State v. Ryan, 249 Neb. 218, 223 (1996)	9	Without element of malice or mens rea, second-degree murder statute would be of doubtful validity and perhaps unconstitutional. Neb.Rev.St. S 28-304(1).	Without the element of malice or mens rea, Neb.Rev.Stat. 28-304(1) (Reissue 1989), the second degree murder statute, would be of doubtful validity and perhaps unconstitutional.	Is malice an essential element of murder?
15216	Green Tree-AL LLC v. Dominion Res., 104 So. 3d 177, 185 (Ala. App. 2012)	3	Because a manufactured home is personal property, it cannot be conveyed by deed and must be conveyed by transferring the certificate of title as required by statute. Code 1975, S 32-20-30(a).	Because a manufactured home is personal property, it cannot be conveyed by deed and must be conveyed by transferring the certificate of title as required by 32-20-30(a) and former 32-8-44(a).	Can a manufactured home be a personal property?
15217	Safer v. Nelson Fin. Grp., 422 F.3d 289, 294 (5th Cir. 2005)	4	There is strong federal policy in favor of arbitration; arbitration should not be denied unless it can be said with positive assurance that arbitration clause is not susceptible of interpretation which would cover dispute at issue.	See Neal, 918 F.2d at 37. Specifically, we have held that arbitration should not be denied "unless it can be said with positive assurance that [the] arbitration clause is not susceptible of an interpretation which would cover the dispute at issue."	Under what circumstances may courts deny arbitration?
15223	Green Tree-AL LLC v. Dominion Res., 104 So. 3d 177, 185 (Ala. App. 2012)	3	Because a manufactured home is personal property, it cannot be conveyed by deed and must be conveyed by transferring the certificate of title as required by statute. Code 1975, S 32-20-30(a).	Because a manufactured home is personal property, it cannot be conveyed by deed and must be conveyed by transferring the certificate of title as required by 32-20-30(a) and former 32-8-44(a).	Is it possible to convey a manufactured home by deed?
15224	Barrett v. Manufacturers Ry. Co., 453 F.2d 1305, 1307 (8th Cir. 1972)	2	Arbitration is favored by the law and the decision of the arbitrators is final and not subject to review on either the merits or procedural issues. Labor Management Relations Act, 1947, S 301, 29 U.S.C.A. S 185.	Arbitration is favored by the law and the decision of the arbitrators is final and not subject to review on either the merits or procedural issues.	Is the decision of the arbitrator subject to review?
15225	Project Reflect, Inc. v. Metro. Nashville Bd. of Pub. Educ., 947 F. Supp. 2d 868, 879 (M.D. Tenn. 2013)	19	In Tennessee, school-age children have a constitutional and statutory right to a public education. West's T.C.A. Const. Art. 11, S 12; West's T.C.A. SS 49-6-3001(c)(1), 49-6-3003.	In Tennessee, school-age children have a constitutional and statutory right to a public education.	Do school-age children have a constitutional and statutory right to a public education?
15228	Graber v. Fuqua, 279 S.W.3d 608, 617 (Tex. 2009)	11	Claims for malicious prosecution arise only after the underlying case reaches a final judgment and all appeals are exhausted.	By definition, Texas claims for malicious prosecution arise only after the underlying case reaches a final judgment and all appeals are exhausted.	When is judgment considered as final for malicious prosecution action?
15232	Camunes v. Frontier Enterprises, 61 S.W.3d 579, 580 (Tex. App. 2001)	3	The only judicially-created exception to the employment-at-will doctrine is the discharge of an employee for the sole reason that the employee refused to perform an illegal act.	The only judicially-created exception to the employment-at-will doctrine recognized by our state supreme court is "the discharge of an employee for the sole reason that the employee refused to perform an illegal act."	Is there any judicial exception to the employment-at-will doctrine?

15235	Lutz v. Erie Ins. Exch., 848 N.E.2d 675, 678 (Ind. 2006)	4	A trial court may judicially notice a party's pleadings, whether or not facts recited in those pleadings are susceptible of judicial notice. Rules of Evid., Rule 201.	It is well settled in Indiana that a trial court may judicially notice a party's pleadings, whether or not facts recited in those pleadings are susceptible of judicial notice.	Can courts take judicial notice of pleadings?
15239	In re Application of Neb. Pub. Power Dist., 281 Neb. 350, 350 (2011)	1	A decision of the Power Review Board (PRB) will be affirmed if it is supported by the evidence and is not arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise illegal.	A decision of the Nebraska Power Review Board will be affirmed if it is supported by the evidence and is not arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise illegal.	When will a decision of the Power Review Board be affirmed?
15240	In re City of N. Platte, 257 Neb. 551, 551 (Neb. 1999)	1	Decision of the Power Review Board (PRB) will be affirmed if it is supported by the evidence and is not arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise illegal.	A decision of the Nebraska Power Review Board will be affirmed if it is supported by the evidence and is not arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or otherwise illegal.	When will a decision of the Power Review Board be affirmed?
15242	Kraft v. Langford, 565 S.W.2d 223, 227 (Tex. 1978)	9	Concepts of temporary and permanent injuries to real property are mutually exclusive and damages for both may not be recovered in same action.	The concepts of temporary and permanent injuries are mutually exclusive and damages for both may not be recovered in the same action.	Can a party recover damages for both permanent and temporary damages in a single action?
15245	Prof'l Real Estate Inv'rs v. Columbia Pictures Indus., 508 U.S. 49, 62 (1993)	7	Probable cause to institute civil proceedings requires no more than reasonable belief that there is chance that claim may be held valid upon adjudication.	Probable cause to institute civil proceedings requires no more than a "reasonabl[e] belie[f] that there is a chance that [a] claim *63 may be held valid upon adjudication" (internal quotation marks omitted).	When does a litigant have probable cause to initiate a suit?
15246	Ray v. Donohew, 177 W. Va. 441, 449 (W. Va. 1987)	5	Doctrine of subrogation means that one who has right to pay, and does pay, that which ought to have been paid by another is entitled to exercise all remedies with creditor possessed against other.	"The doctrine of subrogation is that one who has the right to pay, and does pay, a debt which ought to have been paid by another is entitled to exercise all the remedies which the creditor possessed against that other."	What does the right of subrogation depend upon?
15247	Old Republic Life Ins. Co. v. TransWood Inc., 2016-0552 (La. App. 1 Cir. 6/2/17), 222 So. 3d 995, 1003 (La. Ct. App. 2017)	13	Subrogation may result from either the agreement of the obligor or the obligee or both with a third person, or directly by operation of law. La. Civ. Code Ann. art. 1825.	This means that subrogation may result from either the agreement of the obligor or the obligee or both with a third person, or directly by operation of law. .	What does subrogation result from?
15248	Dawson v. State Law Enf't Div., 304 S.C. 59, 61 (S.C. 1991)	2	State Employee Grievance Committee, as final administrative authority, may not delegate its role as final decision maker to personnel director.	We further conclude the Grievance Committee, as the final administrative authority, may not delegate its role as final decision-maker to the Personnel Director.	Can an administrative body delegate its role of decision making?
15251	Faroldi v. Nungesser, 144 So. 2d 568, 569 (La. Ct. App. 1962)	1	Lease is contract imposing reciprocal obligations on parties by which one party gives to the other the enjoyment of a thing at fixed price. LSA-C.C. art. 2669.	A lease in a contract imposing reciprocal obligations on the parties by which one party gives to the other the enjoyment of a thing at a fixed price.	Are there reciprocal obligations in leases?

15255	Ford Motor Credit Co. v. Ditton, 52 Ala. App. 555, 557 (1974)	2	Gist of action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force which is essential element of action.	The gist of the action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force. Unlawful force is the essential element of the action.	Can the unlawful force which is necessary to constitute trespass be constructive force?
15256	Jocks v. Tavernier, 97 F. Supp. 2d 303, 318 (E.D.N.Y. 2000)	25	Under New York law, damages for false arrest are to compensate for injuries from the beginning of custody to arraignment, while damages for malicious prosecution are to compensate for injuries after arraignment.	Under New York law, damages for false arrest are to compensate for injuries from the beginning of custody to arraignment, and damages for malicious prosecution are to compensate for injuries after arraignment.	What form of remedy is available under a claim of malicious prosecution?
15258	Hannes v. Kingdom of Roumania Monopolies Inst., 260 A.D. 189, 195, 20 N.Y.S.2d 825, 832 (App. Div.), order resettled, 260 A.D. 1058, 26 N.Y.S.2d 856 (App. Div. 1940)	4	The law granting immunity to foreign sovereigns grants like immunity to those representing them, such as ambassadors, and the immunity extends to instrumentalities and property of the sovereigns.	There is no doubt that the law granting immunity to the persons of foreign sovereigns grants like immunity to those representing them, such as ambassadors or similar agents, and that this immunity extends to their instrumentalities and property.	Does the privilege of immunity extend to the property of foreign sovereigns?
15263	Cobin v. Rice, 823 F.Supp. 1419, 1426 (N.D. Ind. 1993)	3	Under California law, conduct of partners which is injurious to partnership constitutes ground for judicial dissolution of partnership. West's Ann.Cal.Corp.Code S 15032(1)(d, f).	Under California law, conduct of a partner which is injurious to the partnership constitutes a ground for judicial dissolution of the partnership.	Can the conduct of a partner be grounds for the dissolution of a partnership?
15264	Zaidi v. Shah, 502 S.W.3d 434, 442 (Tex. App. 2016)	17	Certain formal relationships, such as those between an attorney and client, between partners, and between a trustee and a trust beneficiary, give rise to fiduciary duties as a matter of law.	More commonly, certain formal relationships—such as those between an attorney and client, between partners, and between a trustee and a trust beneficiary—give rise to fiduciary duties as a matter of law.	Does a fiduciary relationship exist between partners in a partnership?
15267	Chase v. Ameriquet Mortg. Co., 155 N.H. 19, 27 (N.H. 2007)	19	Equitable subrogation applies where one who has discharged the debt of another may, under certain circumstances, succeed to the rights and position of the satisfied creditor.	[E]quitable subrogation "applies where one who has discharged the debt of another may, under certain circumstances, succeed to the rights and position of the satisfied creditor.	When does subrogation apply?
15277	Thompson v. Nagle, 118 F.3d 1442, 1448 (11th Cir. 1997)	8	Under Alabama law, conviction for rape requires evidence that victim was alive at time of intercourse. Ala.Code 1975, S 13A-6-61(a).	Under Alabama law, a conviction for rape requires evidence that the victim was alive at the time of intercourse.	Does a conviction for rape require the victim to be alive when it was committed?
15278	Johnson v. Beane, 541 Pa. 449, 456, 664 A.2d 96, 100 (1995)	10	Goal of subrogation is to place burden of debt upon person who should bear it.	The goal of subrogation is to place the burden of the debt upon the person who should bear it.	Does subrogation place the burden on the debt upon the person who should bear it?
15279	Trogub v. Robinson, 366 Ill. App. 3d 838, 842 (Ill. App. Ct. 2006)	1	"Subrogation" is the substitution of one person for another; one person stands in the shoes of another and asserts that person's rights against the defendant.	"Subrogation simply means substitution of one person for another; that is, one person is allowed to stand in the shoes of another and assert that person's rights against the defendant."	Is subrogation the substitution of one person for another?
15280	McShaffry v. Amegy Bank Nat. Ass'n, 332 S.W.3d 493, 498 (Tex. App. 2009)	6	Statute that provides subrogation rights for sureties includes guarantors who have paid a judgment. V.T.C.A., Bus. & C. S 34.04.	Thus, Section 34.04 provides subrogation rights for guarantors who have paid a judgment.	Does subrogation rights are provided to guarantors who have paid a judgment?

15281	In re Steve's Furniture Warehouse, 46 B.R. 80, 82 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 1985)	9	Once guarantor has paid principal's obligation, guarantor is subrogated to creditor's rights. West's Ann.Cal.Civ.Code, S 2848.	Once a guarantor has paid the principal's obligation, the guarantor is subrogated to the creditor's rights. Cal.Civ.Code 2848.	Is a guarantor subrogated to creditor's rights once the guarantor has paid principal's obligation?
15283	Bronco Wine Co. v. Jolly, 129 Cal. App. 4th 988, 1030, 29 Cal. Rptr. 3d 462, 493 (2005)	23	The takings clause protects real property, tangible personal property, and intangible property. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The takings clause protects real property (Lucas v. S.C. Coastal Council (1992) 505 U.S. 1003, 1019, 112 S.Ct. 2886, 2895, 120 L.Ed.2d 798, 815), tangible personal property (Andrus v. Allard (1979) 444 U.S. 51, 65, 100 S.Ct. 318, 326, 62 L.Ed.2d 210, 222(Andrus)) and intangible property.	"Are real, tangible and personal property protected by taking clause?"
15288	Benson v. Shuler Drilling Co., 316 Ark. 101, 107 (Ark. 1994)	3	When party files motion in limine to exclude evidence as hearsay, burden is on offering party to prove admissibility of evidence.	When a party asks for a motion in limine to exclude evidence because it is hearsay, the burden is on the "offering party to prove the admissibility of the evidence." See Robin L.	"When a motion in limine is made, does the proponent of the evidence have the burden of showing that the evidence is admissible?"
15292	Lowder v. All Star Mills, 60 N.C. App. 699, 705 (N.C. Ct. App. 1983)	4	For pretrial motion hearings it is affidavits and not oral testimony that is preferred form of evidence.	For pretrial motion hearings it is affidavits and not oral testimony that is the preferred form of evidence.	What is the preferred form of evidence for pretrial motion hearings?
15293	Rosebrock v. E. Shore Emergency Physicians, 221 Md. App. 1, 12 (2015)	2	Under well-established principles of agency law, an agent's authority terminates upon the death of the principal.	"[Under well-established principles of agency law, an agent's authority terminates upon the death of the principal."	Can agent terminate agency on principals death?
15295	Chicago Rys. Co. v. Com. Comm'n, 336 Ill. 51, 67, 167 N.E. 840, 847 (1929)	10	One purpose of public utility legislation is to protect established utility from destructive competition.	One of the purposes to be served by legislation concerning public utilities is to protect an established public utility in its field from destructive competition.	Does the legislation concerning public utilities protect them from destructive competition?
15297	Cline v. Yamaga, 97 Cal. App. 3d 239, 245, 158 Cal. Rptr. 598, 601 (Ct. App. 1979)	1	A cause of action arises when liability or obligation is established and suit may be brought.	A cause of action arises when the liability or obligation is established and suit may be brought.	Does a cause of action arise when a liability or obligation is established?
15298	Am. Gen. Life & Acc. Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 76 So. 3d 183, 186 (Miss. Ct. App. 2011)	4	A cause of action accrues when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested.	The Mississippi Supreme Court and this Court have long recognized that "a cause of action 'accrues' when it comes into existence as an enforceable claim, that is, when the right to sue becomes vested."	Does cause of action arise when party has right to sue?

15302	El Hoss Eng'g & Transp. Co. v. Am. Indep. Oil Co., 183 F. Supp. 394, 400 (S.D.N.Y. 1960), rev'd, 289 F.2d 346 (2d Cir. 1961)	7	Neither an alleged breach nor a repudiation of a contract precludes arbitration under an arbitration clause, and illegality of contract in whole or in part does not operate to nullify an agreement to arbitrate. 9 U.S.C.A. SS 1, 2, 4.	Neither an alleged breach or a repudiation of a contract precludes arbitration under an arbitration clause. Robert Lawrence Co. v. Devonshire Fabrics, Inc., supra; Almacenes Fernandez, S. A. v. Golodetz, 2 Cir., 148 F.2d 625, 161 A.L.R. 1420; In re Pahlberg's Petition, 2 Cir., 131 F.2d 968; Kulukundis Shipping Co., SA v. Amtorg Trading Corp., 2 Cir., 126 F.2d 978. Similarly, illegality of the contract in whole or in part does not operate to nullify an agreement to arbitrate.	Does an illegal clause in a contract operate to nullify an agreement to arbitrate found in the same contract?
15307	In re Fresh & Process Potatoes Antitrust Litig., 834 F. Supp. 2d 1141, 1179 (D. Idaho 2011)	44	The act of state doctrine is meant to facilitate the foreign relations of the United States; it recognizes thoroughly sound principle that on occasion individual litigants may have to forgo decision on the merits of their claims because involvement of courts in such a decision might frustrate conduct of United States foreign policy.	The doctrine is "meant to facilitate the foreign relations of the United States...." It recognizes "the thoroughly sound principle that on occasion individual litigants may have to forgo decision on the merits of their claims because the involvement of the courts in such a decision might frustrate the conduct of United States foreign policy."	Is the act of state doctrine meant to facilitate the foreign relations of the United States?
15308	Anderson v. Gladden, 188 F. Supp. 666, 670 (D. Or. 1960)	7	The jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory is exclusive and absolute and is susceptible to no limitation not imposed by itself.	The jurisdiction of a nation (Oregon) within its own territory is exclusive and absolute and is susceptible to no limitation not imposed by itself.	Is the jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory exclusive and absolute?
15310	In re Philippine Nat'l. Bank, 397 F.3d 768, 773 (9th Cir. 2005)	6	Act of state doctrine is to be applied pragmatically and flexibly, with reference to its underlying considerations.	"[T]he [act of state] doctrine is to be applied pragmatically and flexibly, with reference to its underlying considerations."	Should act of state doctrine be applied pragmatically and flexibly?
15311	Agudas Chasidei Chabad of U.S. v. Russian Fed'n, 528 F.3d 934, 951 (D.C. Cir. 2008)	20	Under the act of state doctrine, the burden of proving an act of state rests on the party asserting the defense.	The burden of proving an act of state rests on the party asserting the defense.	Does the burden of establishing that the conduct of a foreign government amounts to an Act of State rest with the party asserting the defense?
15315	Maryland Cas. Co. v. NSTAR Elec. Co., 471 Mass. 416, 421 (2015)	4	A public utility's liability for damages may be limited by properly filed and approved tariffs.	In Massachusetts, a public utility's "liability for damages may be limited by properly filed and approved tariffs."	Can a public utility limit its liability in its tariff?
15316	Shenker v. Lockheed Sanders, Inc., 919 F. Supp. 55, 61 (D. Mass. 1996)	13	Under New Hampshire law, a cause of action "arises" when all of the necessary elements are present.	Under New Hampshire law (as opposed to federal law), a cause of action "arises" when all of the necessary elements are present.	"Does a cause of action ""arise"" when all of the necessary elements are present?"
15323	Karaha Bodas v. Perusahaan Pertambangan Minyak, 313 F.3d 70, 92 (2d Cir. 2002)	28	Foreign sovereign's views regarding its own laws merit, although they do not command, some degree of deference.	We also agree with other Courts of Appeals that have suggested that a foreign sovereign's views regarding its own laws merit-although they do not command-some degree of deference.	Does a foreign sovereigns view regarding its own laws merit some degree of deference?

15324	World Wide Mins. Ltd. v. Republic of Kazakhstan, 116 F. Supp. 2d 98, 104 (D.D.C. 2000), aff'd in part, remanded in part sub nom. World Wide Mins., Ltd. v. Republic of Kazakhstan, 296 F.3d 1154 (D.C. Cir. 2002)	11	Act of state doctrine does not demonstrate a lack of jurisdiction, but rather functions as a doctrine of abstention.	The doctrine does not demonstrate a lack of jurisdiction but rather functions as a doctrine of abstention.	Does the act of state doctrine demonstrate a lack of jurisdiction or a lack of function as a doctrine of abstention?
15325	Attorney General of Canada v. R.J. Reynolds, 268 F.3d 103, 125 (2d Cir. 2001)	4	Under "act-of-state doctrine," court presumes validity of foreign state's laws within that state's territory.	Under the act-of-state doctrine, a court presumes the validity of a foreign state's laws within that state's territory.	"Under the act of state doctrine, are courts precluded from inquiring into validity of public acts of recognized sovereign power committed within its own territories?"
15326	Huff Energy Fund, L.P. v. Longview Energy Co., 482 S.W.3d 184, 195 (Tex. App. 2015)	8	Where special exceptions are not filed, court construes the petition liberally in favor of the pleader.	When, as here, special exceptions are not filed, we construe the petition liberally in favor of the pleader.	Will a petition be construed liberally in favor of the pleader when there are no special exceptions?
15327	Kaldis v. Crest Fin., 463 S.W.3d 588, 593 (Tex. App. 2015)	4	In the absence of special exceptions, courts must construe the pleadings liberally in favor of the pleader.	In the absence of special exceptions, as here, courts must construe the pleadings liberally in favor of the pleader.	Are pleadings construed liberally in favor of the pleader?
15330	Krosky v. Ohio Edison Co., 20 Ohio App. 3d 10, 14 (1984)	10	Granting of motion in limine is prospective order and makes no determination as to ultimate admissibility of evidence.	The granting of a motion in limine is a prospective order and makes no determination as to the ultimate admissibility of the evidence.	Are motions in limine prospective and dispositive as to the final admissibility of evidence?
15331	Ball v. Rao, 48 S.W.3d 332, 339 (Tex. App. 2001)	14	Repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	We must also keep in mind that repeated violations of limine orders may result in mistrials or reversals.	Do repeated violations of in limine orders result in a mistrial or a reversal?
15332	Auchan USA, Inc. v. Houston Lighting & Power Co., 961 S.W.2d 197, 202 (Tex. App. 1997)	6	Unless found to be unreasonable, public utility tariffs carry dignity of statutory law. Vernon's Ann.Texas Civ.St. art. 1446c-0, S 1.002.	Unless found to be unreasonable, tariffs carry the dignity of statutory law.	Do tariffs carry the dignity of statutory law?
15337	Trampush v. United FCS (In re Trampush), 552 B.R. 817, 824 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 2016)	17	Wisconsin does not follow either the majority or minority rules that require actual or constructive knowledge of other liens to defeat subrogation; Wisconsin, instead, has adopted the "Restatement Approach" to subrogation, which gives courts freedom in weighing the equitable concerns in each individual case, such that, in Wisconsin, equitable concerns reign supreme.	In that context, Wisconsin does not follow either the majority or minority rules that require actual or constructive knowledge of other liens to defeat subrogation. Wisconsin adopted what is called the Restatement Approach to subrogation. This approach gives courts freedom in weighing the equitable concerns in each individual case. 2 In Wisconsin, equitable concerns reign supreme.	What is Restatement Approach in relation to subrogation?

15338	Commonwealth v. Johnston, 446 Mass. 555, 558 (Mass. 2006)	1	Conviction of assault with intent to murder requires proof of assault and a specific intent to kill that equates with malice, and "malice," in this context, means only the absence of justification, excuse, and mitigation. M.G.L.A. c. 265, S 18(b).	Conviction of assault with intent to murder requires proof of assault and a specific intent to kill that equates with malice. 4 Commonwealth v. Henson, 394 Mass. 584, 590-591, 476 N.E.2d 947 (1985). "Malice" in this context "means only the absence of justification, excuse, and mitigation." Id.	Does intent to murder means intent to kill with malice?
15340	Chapman v. Depuy Orthopedics, Inc., 760 F. Supp. 2d 1310, 1314 (M.D. Fla. 2011)	5	Under Virginia law, cause of action accrues under tort law on date that injury is sustained. West's V.C.A. S 8.01-243(A).	Under Virginia law, the cause of action accrues under tort law on the date that the injury is sustained.	Does a tort cause of action accrue until an injury is sustained?
15342	U.S. v. Hill, 279 F.3d 731, 740 (9th Cir. 2002)	10	Extraterritorial jurisdiction is proper under the "nationality theory," which permits a country to apply its statutes to extraterritorial acts of its own nationals.	Extraterritorial jurisdiction is also proper under the nationality theory, which permits a country to apply its statutes to extraterritorial acts of its own nationals.	"Is extraterritorial jurisdiction proper under the ""nationality theory""?"
15348	Ford Motor Credit Company v. Ditton, 52 Ala. App. 555, 557 (1974)	2	Gist of action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force which is essential element of action.	The gist of the action of trespass is an injury to the possession of personal property by use of unlawful force. Unlawful force is the essential element of the action.	What is the gist of the action of trespass?
15351	Law Project v. State, 239 P.3d 1252, 1254-1255 (Alaska 2010)	1	Supreme Court reviews de novo whether a party has standing to sue, as the issue raises a question of law.	We review de novo whether a party has standing to sue, as the issue raises a *1255 question of law.	Is a party's standing to sue a question of law?
15353	Blue Cross of W. New York, Inc. v. Bd. of Co-op. Educ. Servs. Orleans-Niagara Ctys., 187 A.D.2d 933, 933, 590 N.Y.S.2d 353, 354-55 (1992)	1	Generally, cause of action on contract accrues when extent of damages can be ascertained, and where there is likelihood of setoffs and debits, a claim does not accrue.	Generally, a cause of action on a contract accrues when the extent of damages can be ascertained (Matter of Board of Educ. of Enlarged Ogdensburg City School Dist. [Wager Constr. Corp.], 37 N.Y.2d 283, 372 N.Y.S.2d 45, 333 N.E.2d 353; 355 Carthage Cent. School Dist. No. 1 v. Reddick & Sons of Gouverneur, 67 A.D.2d 808, 412 N.Y.S.2d 930). Where there is a likelihood of setoffs and debits, a claim does not accrue	Does a cause of action on contract accrue when extent of damages can be ascertained?
15356	Lyerly v. Yeadon, 199 S.C. 363, 19 S.E.2d 648, 654 (1942)	2	Legal injury must be sustained before any cause of action in any case arises.	A legal injury must be sustained before any cause of action in any case arises.	Should legal injury be sustained before any cause of action in any case arises?
15357	Gilchrist v. United States, 33 Fed. Cl. 791, 800 (1995)	10	Department of Defense (DOD) directive is controlling authority over Army regulation.	The DOD Directive is the controlling authority over the Army regulation.	Do Department of Defense (DOD) directives control when they conflict with regulations promulgated by the Army?
15359	Cook v. City of Topeka, 232 Kan. 334, 338, 654 P.2d 953, 957 (1982)	3	A clerk of a court is a ministerial officer and, without statutory authority, cannot exercise a judicial function.	A clerk of a court is a ministerial officer, Eldridge v. Deets, 4 Kan.App. 241, 243, 45 P. 948 (1896), and without statutory authority cannot exercise judicial functions.	Can a clerk of a Court exercise judicial functions?

15360	Ferlita v. State, 380 So. 2d 1118, 1119 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1980)	8	A clerk of court acts in purely ministerial capacity, and has no discretion to pass upon sufficiency of documents presented for filing.	A clerk acts in a purely ministerial capacity, and has no discretion to pass upon the sufficiency of documents presented for filing.	Does a court clerk exercise any discretion?
15362	Bailey v. United States, 78 Fed. Cl. 239 (2007)	4	Property owner is free to attempt to invalidate government decision and also to seek compensation if he alleges that decision resulted in taking. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	A property owner is free to attempt to invalidate a government decision and also to seek compensation if he alleges that decision resulted in a taking.	Who is entitled to compensation of a taking under the law?
15367	Sinell v. Town of Sharon, 206 Minn. 437, 289 N.W. 44 (1939)	2	Laches is a strictly equitable defense, as distinguished from the absolute defense afforded by a statute of limitations.	It is a strictly equitable defense as distinguished from the absolute defense afforded by statute of limitations.	"Is laches a strictly equitable defense, distinguished from the absolute defense afforded by a statute of limitations?"
15370	In re Latin Inv. Corp., 156 B.R. 102, 110 (D.D.C. 1993)	9	Whether instrument is negotiable is question of law to be determined solely from face of instrument, without reference to intent of parties. U.C.C. § 9-105(1)(i).	In any event, "[w]hether an instrument is negotiable is a question of law to be determined solely from the face of the instrument, without reference to the intent of the parties."	How should it be determined if an instrument is negotiable?
15371	Hoke ex rel. Reidenbach v. Elizabethtown Area Sch. Dist., 833 A.2d 304, 313 (Pa. 2003)	7	A court is not supposed to be a "super" school board and substitute its own judgment for that of the school district, and therefore, in the absence of a gross abuse of discretion, courts will not second-guess school policies; however, courts can intervene if schools act outside their statutory authority.	It is true that a court is not supposed to be a "super" school board and substitute its own judgment for that of the school district; therefore, in the absence of a gross abuse of discretion, courts will not second-guess school policies. However, courts can intervene if schools act outside their statutory authority.	Can the courts intervene when schools act outside their statutory authority?
15372	Loretto v. Teleprompter Manhattan CATV Corp., 458 U.S. 419, 426 (1982)	2	A permanent physical occupation authorized by government is a "taking" without regard to the public interest that it may serve. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5, 14.	We conclude that a permanent physical occupation authorized by government is a taking without regard to the public interests that it may serve.	What does the term permanent physical occupation encompass under the law?
15373	Wray v. Fitch, 95 Ohio App. 3d 249, 252, 642 N.E.2d 63, 65 (1994)	4	To be considered part of the "taking" in an appropriation case, so that abutting landowner would be entitled to compensation, interference with access to or from property must be substantial, material or unreasonable; "substantial interference" occurs when owner is prevented from enjoying continued use to which property had been previously devoted.	To be considered a part of the "taking" in an appropriation case, so that the abutting landowner would be entitled to compensation, the interference with access to or from the property must be substantial, material or unreasonable. State ex rel. Merritt v. Linzell (1955), 163 Ohio St. 97, 56 O.O. 166, 126 N.E.2d 53, paragraph one of the syllabus; Englewood v. Wagoner (1987), 41 Ohio App.3d 324, 331, 535 N.E.2d 736, 743–744. "Substantial interference" occurs when an owner is "prevented from enjoying the continued use to which the property had been previously devoted."	When does a Substantial interference occur under the taking law?

15379	Lang v. Nissan North America, Inc., 170 S.W.3d 564, 572 (Tenn. 2005)	21	In exchange for no-fault recovery, employees have limited recovery and relinquish certain common-law rights of action against their employers which they might otherwise have had, and thus, delicate compromise between the interests of employers and employees lies at the heart of workers' compensation law.	However, in exchange for no-fault recovery, employees have limited recovery and relinquish certain common-law rights of action against their employers which they might otherwise have had. A delicate compromise between the interests of employers and employees thus lies at the heart of workers' compensation law.	What is at the heart of a workers compensation law?
15381	First Natl. Bank of Kansas City v. Kavorinos, 364 Mo. 947, 953 (Mo. 1954)	4	The right to judgment depends on the facts as they existed at the time of the commencement of the action and not at the time of the trial.	Furthermore, it is said that, in such an action, 'the right to judgment depends on the facts as they existed at the time of the commencement of the action and not at the time of the trial.'	Must a judgment be supported by facts as they existed at the time of the commencement of an action?
15384	State v. Holt, 368 P.3d 409, 413 (N.M. 2016)	7	Privacy interest that modern burglary statute protects is related to, though broader than, the security of habitation. West's NMSA S 30-16-3.	"The privacy interest that our modern burglary statute protects is related to, though broader than, the security of habitation."	What is the interest that the burglary statute protects?
15386	Poorbaugh v. United States, 27 Fed. Cl. 628, 633 (1993)	13	No taking of trees can occur unless government has taken underlying property; destruction of trees without taking of underlying land is characterized as tortious invasion or conversion and is not compensable in Court of Federal Claims. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	However, no taking of trees can occur unless the government has taken the underlying property. See Barnes, 538 F.2d at 874; Baird v. United States, 5 Cl.Ct. 324, 330-31 (1984). Destruction of trees without the taking of the underlying land is characterized as a tortious invasion or conversion and not compensable in this court.	Can taking of trees occur if the government hasnt taken the underlying property?
15390	Travelers Indemnity Co. of Conn. v. the Losco Group, 204 F. Supp. 2d 639, 644 (S.D.N.Y. 2002)	3	Under New York law, claims for gross negligence are not precluded by waivers of subrogation provisions.	It is the law in New York that claims for gross negligence are not precluded by waivers of subrogation provisions.	Can a subrogation waiver bar a claim for gross negligence?
15391	Footlocker v. KK & J, 69 A.D.3d 481, 482, (N.Y. App. 2010)	3	Waiver of subrogation clauses are necessarily premised on the procurement of insurance by the parties.	Paul points out, waiver of subrogation clauses are "necessarily premised on the procurement of insurance by the parties"	Is waiver of subrogation clauses premised on the procurement of insurance by the parties?
15392	Travelers Indemnity Co. of Conn. v. the Losco Group, 204 F. Supp. 2d 639, 644 (S.D.N.Y. 2002)	3	Under New York law, claims for gross negligence are not precluded by waivers of subrogation provisions.	It is the law in New York that claims for gross negligence are not precluded by waivers of subrogation provisions.	Does a waiver of subrogation bar claims of negligence or gross negligence?
15397	Champion Spark Plug Co. v. Reich, 121 F.2d 769, 772 (8th Cir. 1941)	1	Equity is not restricted to an adjustment of rights of parties as such rights existed when suit was brought, but will give relief appropriate to events occurring pending the suit.	That contention ignores the rule that a court of equity is not restricted to an adjustment of the rights of the parties as they existed when suit was brought, but will give relief appropriate to events occurring pending the suit.	Does equity act in the present tense and mold its decree to actualities?

15399	Dunn Indus. Grp. v. City of Sugar Creek, 2002 WL 31548615 (Mo. 2003)	49	Guarantor who is not signatory to contract containing arbitration clause is generally not bound by the arbitration clause, but in most state courts, including Missouri, the strong federal policy in favor of arbitration means arbitration agreements are enforced against guarantors or sureties where the arbitration agreement is incorporated by reference into the guaranty or performance bond.	As such, a guarantor who is not a signatory to a contract containing an arbitration clause is generally not bound by the arbitration clause. Grundstad v. Ritt, 106 F.3d 201, 204 (7th Cir.1997)(quoting Asplundh Tree Expert Co. v. Bates, 71 F.3d 592, 595 (6th Cir.1995)). However, in a majority of state courts including Missouri, due to the strong federal policy in favor of arbitration, arbitration agreements are enforced against guarantors or sureties where the arbitration agreement is incorporated by reference 4 into the guaranty or performance bond.	Is a guarantor who is not a signatory to a contract containing an arbitration clause bound by the arbitration clause?
15400	United States v. McGee, 432 F. Supp. 557, 561 (S.D. Ohio 1977)	4	Providing for the common defense is the obligation of the national military establishment and such obligation runs to all citizens irrespective of location. U.S.C.A.Const. art. 1, S 8.	It is not, however, charged with providing for the common defense. This is the obligation of the military establishment of this nation, an obligation to all citizens irrespective of location.	Is providing for the common defense an obligation of the military?
15405	In re Rebel Rents, 307 B.R. 171, 191 (C.D. Cal. 2004)	21	Like other equitable remedies, right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	Like other equitable remedies, a right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	"Can you lose subrogation rights by waiver, laches, or estoppel?"
15406	Wright v. Smith, 4 Ill. App. 2d 470, 477, 124 N.E.2d 363, 366 (Ill. App. Ct. 1955)	9	Rights of parties in equity are properly determined as of the date of the entry of the decree.	The rights of the parties in equity were properly determined as of the date of the entry of the decree.	Are the rights of parties in equity determined as of the date of the entry of the decree?
15412	Champion Auto Sales, LLC v. Polaris Sales Inc., 943 F. Supp. 2d 346, 351 (E.D.N.Y. 2013)	3	Under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), the Court resolves doubts in favor of arbitration and enforces privately-negotiated arbitration agreements in accordance with their terms. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	In keeping with this policy, the Court resolves doubts in favor of arbitration and enforces privately-negotiated arbitration agreements in accordance with their terms.	How do courts enforces privately-negotiated arbitration agreements?
15413	Consol. Bathurst, Ltd. v. Rederiaktiebolaget Gustaf Erikson, 645 F. Supp. 884 (S.D. Fla. 1986)	1	Under Arbitration Act, arbitration clauses are to be generously construed and all doubts are to be resolved in favor of arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Under the Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. 1, et seq., "[A]rbitration clauses are to be generously construed and all doubts are to be resolved in favor of arbitration."	Should arbitration clauses be generously construed and all doubts resolved in favor of arbitration?
15418	Inland Wetlands & Watercourses Comm'n of the Town of Wallingford v. Andrews, 139 Conn. App. 359, 364 (Conn. App. Ct. 2012)	4	Proper way to vindicate a legal position is not to disobey the court orders, but rather to challenge them on appeal.	The proper way to vindicate a legal position is not to disobey the orders, but rather to challenge them on appeal.	What is the proper way to vindicate a legal position?
15419	Serco Company v. Choice Bumper, Inc., 199 Ga. App. 846 (1991)	1	Although cross appeal may survive dismissal of main appeal, this is true only where cross appeal can stand on its own merit. O.C.G.A. S 5-6-48(e).	Although under OCGA 5-6-48(e), a cross-appeal may survive the dismissal of the main appeal, "this is true only where the cross-appeal can stand on its own merit."	When can a cross appeal survive dismissal of the main appeal?

15422	People v. Mooney, 145 Cal. App. 3d 502, 505, 193 Cal. Rptr. 381, 383 (Ct. App. 1983)	4	In order to commit auto burglary, the vehicle must be locked and entry made without consent of the owner. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 459.	In order to commit auto burglary the vehicle must be locked and entry made without consent of the owner.	How is auto burglary committed?
15424	D.S.S. v. State, 806 So. 2d 554 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2002)	2	Ownership for the purposes of charging burglary is not the same as ownership in property law since burglary is a disturbance to habitable security and not to the fee; actual ownership is not required, rather "ownership" means any possession which is rightful as against the burglar and is satisfied by proof of special or temporary ownership, possession, or control. West's F.S.A. S 810.02.	Ownership for the purposes of charging burglary is not the same as ownership in property law since burglary is a disturbance to habitable security and not to the fee. [Actual ownership is not required, rather] ownership means any possession which is rightful as against the burglar and is satisfied by proof of special or temporary ownership, possession, or control.	Is burglary a disturbance to habitable security?
15425	Bogart v. Unified Sch. Dist. No. 298 of Lincoln Cty., 432 F. Supp. 895, 903 (D. Kan. 1977)	2	Purpose of tenure and continuing contract laws is to give recognition to a constitutionally protectible interest. K.S.A. 72-5411.	The very purpose of tenure and continuing contract laws is to give recognition to a constitutionally protectible interest. "	What is the purpose of tenure and continuing contract laws?
15427	Quick v. Andresen, 238 Or. 433, 435 (Or. 1964)	1	A judgment of nonsuit is the only method of dismissing an action at law, as distinguished from a suit in equity.	A judgment of nonsuit is the only method of 'dismissing' an action at law, as distinguished from a suit in equity.	Is a judgment of nonsuit the only method of dismissing an action at law?
15428	Robinson v. General Mills Restaurants, 110 N.C. App. 633, 636 (1993)	2	Crucial element in notice of dismissal is intention of party actually to dismiss case.	The crucial element in a notice of dismissal is the intention of the party actually to dismiss the case.	"Is the ""crucial element"" of a voluntary dismissal the intention of the party actually to dismiss the case?"
15429	Toscano v. Delgado, 506 S.W.2d 317, 321 (Tex. Civ. App. 1974)	8	Save in exceptional circumstances, the right of plaintiff, on timely demand, to take a nonsuit is unlimited.	We recognize that, save in exceptional circumstances, the right of plaintiff, on timely demand, to take a nonsuit is unlimited.	Is a plaintiff's right to take a nonsuit unlimited?
15430	First American National Bank of Iuka v. Alcorn, Inc., 361 So. 2d 481, 493 (Miss. 1978)	24	Although right of a complainant to take a nonsuit is large, it is not unlimited and lies within discretion of court. Code 1972, S 11-7-125.	Although the right of a complainant to take a nonsuit is large, it is not unlimited and lies within the discretion of the court.	Is a plaintiff's right to take a nonsuit unlimited?
15439	King v. Zimmerman, 266 Mont. 54, 66 (1994)	15	Purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on basis of pretrial orders.	The purpose of pretrial orders is to prevent surprise, simplify the issues, and permit counsel to prepare their case for trial on the basis of the pretrial order.	What is the purpose of pre-trial orders?
15440	Malerbi v. Central Reserve Life, 225 Neb. 543, 544 (Neb. 1987)	8	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify issues, amend pleadings, and avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial and to avoid traps and surprises at trial.	Pretrial conferences are conducted to simplify the issues, amend pleadings, and avoid unnecessary proof of facts at trial. They are also conducted to avoid traps and surprises at trial.	What are Pretrial conferences conducted for?
15441	Frank v. Am. Gen. Fin., Inc., 23 F. Supp. 2d 1346, 1349 (Ala. 1998)	8	Existence of an arbitration agreement between a plaintiff and a defendant does not necessarily mean that all of the plaintiff's claims against that defendant are arbitrable under the agreement.	Second, the existence of an arbitration agreement between a plaintiff and a defendant does not necessarily mean that all of the plaintiff's claims against that defendant are arbitrable under the agreement.	Does the existence of an arbitration agreement between a plaintiff and a defendant mean that all of the plaintiffs claims against the defendant are arbitrable?

15442	People v. Beauchamp, 241 Ill. 2d 1, 8 (2011)	6	The purpose of the burglary statute is to protect the security and integrity of certain specified enclosures, including motor vehicles. S.H.A. 720 ILCS 5/19-1(a).	The purpose of the burglary statute is "to protect the security and integrity of certain specified enclosures, including motor vehicles."	What is the purpose of the burglary statute?
15444	People v. Tatem, 62 Cal. App. 3d 655, 658, 133 Cal. Rptr. 265, 266 (Ct. App. 1976)	2	By statutory definition, petty theft, or theft of any kind, is not a necessarily included offense of burglary, because burglary can be committed without committing theft. West's Ann.Pen.Code, SS 459, 484(a).	By statutory definition, petty theft (or theft of any kind) is not a necessarily included offense of burglary because burglary can be committed without committing theft	Is theft a lesser included offense of burglary?
15447	In re Ashcroft, 888 F.2d 546, 547 (8th Cir. 1989)	3	Pretrial conference discussion of settlement is designed to encourage and facilitate settlement as early as possible, but is not designed to impose settlement on unwilling litigants. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 16 note, 28 U.S.C.A.	Pretrial-conference discussion of settlement is designed to encourage and facilitate settlement as early as possible, but it is not designed to impose settlement upon unwilling litigants. See Fed.R.Civ.P. 16(c)(7), Advisory Committee Note, 1983.	When is the encouragement of settlement a valid subject for consideration in pretrial conference?
15450	Silicon Valley Taxpayers Assn., Inc. v. Santa Clara County Open Space Authority, 44 Cal.4th 431, 442 (2008)	2	Unlike a special assessment, a tax can be levied without reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property.	Unlike a special assessment, a tax can be levied ' "without reference to peculiar benefits to particular individuals or property."	Is special assessment similar to tax?
15453	United States v. Pomrenke, 198 F. Supp. 3d 648, 705 (W.D. Va. 2016)	28	To convict a defendant of bribery, the defendant must have engaged in a quid pro quo. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b).	To convict a defendant of bribery under 201, the defendant must have engaged in a quid pro quo.	Must quid pro quo be present for a bribery conviction?
15454	United States v. O'Brien, 994 F. Supp. 2d 167, 184 (D. Mass. 2014)	22	Phrase "anything of value" in bribery statute is construed broadly, and includes intangible rights and benefits. 18 U.S.C.A. S 666.	The phrase "anything of value" is construed broadly, and includes intangible rights and benefits.	"How should the phrase ""anything of value"" in the bribery statute be construed?"
15456	Hampton Clinic v. District Court of Franklin Cnty., 231 Iowa 65, 300 N.W. 646, 648 (Iowa 1941)	2	The statutes providing for the production of books and papers are remedial and should be liberally construed. Code 1939, SS 11316, 11317.	The statutes providing for the production of books and papers are remedial and should be liberally exercised.	"The statutes providing for the production of books and papers are remedial, should they be liberally construed?"
15459	Schmeer v. County of Los Angeles, 153 Cal. Rptr. 3d 352, 364 (2013)	8	The term "tax" in ordinary usage refers to a compulsory payment made to the government or remitted to the government.	The term "tax" in ordinary usage refers to a compulsory payment made to the government or remitted to the government.	"What does the term ""tax"" in ordinary usage refer to?"
15460	Northwest Fire Dist. v. U.S. Home, 213 Ariz. 489, 494 (Ariz. Ct. App. 2006)	3	Assessment imposed upon a broad class of parties is more likely to be a tax than an assessment imposed upon a narrow class.	Moreover, an "assessment imposed upon a broad class of parties is more likely to be a tax than an assessment imposed upon a narrow class."	Is an assessment imposed on a broad class more likely to be a tax?
15464	Griffin v. Dep't of Local Gov't Fin., 765 N.E.2d 716, 722 (Ind. 2002)	3	The nature of a tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	The nature of a tax "must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	Is it the manner of operation which determines the nature of a tax?
15465	Menz v. Coyle, 117 N.W.2d 290, 293 (N.D. 1962)	7	A "tax" is an enforced contribution for public purposes which is in no way dependent upon will or consent of person taxed.	A 'tax' is an enforced contribution for public purposes which is in no way dependent upon the will or consent of the person taxed.	Is tax in any way dependent upon the will or contract of the person or entity taxed?

15466	Swanson v. State, 249 Neb. 466, 474 (1996)	11	Tax laws represent legislature's definition of measure of every citizen's duty in support of public burdens.	Tax laws, including L.B. 839, represent the Legislature's definition of the measure of every citizen's duty in support of the public burdens.	What do tax laws represent?
15467	State ex Rel. Moore v. Wabash Railroad Co., 357 Mo. 380, 385 (1948)	4	Taxation, which is taking of private property for public use, requires strict compliance with law, and tax may be levied only when proceedings therefor are wholly within terms of statute authorizing it.	It is axiomatic that taxation, the taking of private property for public use, requires strict compliance with the law. A tax may be levied only when the proceedings therefor are wholly within the terms of a statute which authorizes it.	Does taxation require a strict compliance with law?
15468	Clear Channel Outdoor, Inc. v. Mayor & City Council of Balt., 153 F. Supp. 3d 865, 870 (D. Md. 2015)	10	The "classic tax" is imposed by the legislature upon a large segment of society, and is spent to benefit the community at large.	"The 'classic tax' is imposed by the legislature upon a large segment of society, and is spent to benefit the community at large."	"On whom is a ""classic tax"" imposed upon?"
15469	Martin v. Industrial Commission, 75 Ariz. 403, 413 (Ariz. 1953)	14	Workmen's Compensation Law does not provide for general health and accident coverage, and therefore every accidental death of an employee is not compensable.	Our Workmen's Compensation Law does not provide for a general health and accident coverage, hence every accidental death of an employee is not compensable.	What types of acts are not compensable under workmens compensation laws?
15470	Louisiana State Bar Ass'n v. Pitard, 462 So. 2d 178, 181 (La. 1985)	1	One essential element of public bribery is conscious knowing intent to influence person's conduct. LSA-R.S. 14:118.	One of the essential elements of public bribery as set forth in La.R.S. 14:118 is a conscious knowing intent to influence a person's conduct.	Is intent an element of bribery?
15471	People v. Jordan, 15 Ill. App. 3d 672, 675 (1973)	1	A person's receipt of property is not alone enough to sustain a bribery conviction. S.H.A. ch. 38, S 33-1(d).	This statute clearly indicates that a person's receipt of property is not alone enough to sustain a bribery conviction.	Is a persons receipt of property enough to sustain a bribery conviction?
15473	U.S. v. Cohn, 355 F. App'x 98 (8th Cir. 2009)	5	A partner is not chargeable with criminal acts of his copartner or others, acting in behalf of the firm, unless he has knowledge thereof.	It is a rule in criminal cases that a partner is not charged by the criminal acts of his copartners, or others acting in behalf of the firm, unless he has knowledge thereof.	"If a partner possess guilty knowledge of the criminal acts of his copartner, can he be criminally liable?"
15474	Brown v. Bateh, 331 So. 2d 671, 677 (Ala. 1976)	13	A partner has a right to protect his private property from the demands of partnership creditors, if there is partnership property that can satisfy the partnership debts. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 65(d).	A partner has a right to protect his private property from the demands of partnership creditors, if there is partnership property that can satisfy the partnership debts.	Can the private property of individual partners be used to pay off partnership debts?
15475	King v. Mississippi P. L. Co., 244 Miss. 486, 493 (Miss. 1962)	4	It is not sufficient to allege negligence as mere conclusion of pleader, but facts must be pleaded showing actual negligence.	It is not sufficient to allege negligence as a mere conclusion of the pleader, but facts must be pleaded showing actionable negligence.	Is it sufficient to allege negligence as a mere conclusion?
15476	Schowalter v. Washington Mutual Bank, 275 Ga. App. 182, 183 (2005)	2	Claim or issue, though previously raised in pleadings, is waived when it is omitted from the pretrial order.	To analyze this contention, we start with the premise that "[a] claim or issue, though previously raised in pleadings, is waived when it is omitted from the pretrial order.	Is it a waiver if a claim or issue is omitted from the pretrial order even if it appeared in the complaint?

15477	Ned v. Union Pac. Corp., 2014-1310 (La. App. 3 Cir. 4/15/15), 176 So. 3d 1095, 1107, writ denied, 2015-0953 (La. 9/18/15), 178 So. 3d 146	13	A trial court has wide discretion to provide for pretrial orders and to ensure that the terms of the order are enforced. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1551.	A trial court has wide discretion to provide for pretrial orders and to ensure that the terms of the order are enforced.	Does a trial court have the discretion to enter a pretrial order?
15480	Travelers Insu. Co. v. Joachim, 315 S.W.3d 860, 862 (Tex. 2010)	5	A nonsuit extinguishes a case or controversy from the moment the motion is filed or an oral motion is made in open court, and the only requirement is the mere filing of the motion with the clerk of the court. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	A nonsuit "extinguishes a case or controversy from 'the moment the motion is filed' or an oral motion is made in open court; the only requirement is 'the mere filing of the motion with the clerk of the court.' "	Does a nonsuit render the merits of a plaintiff's claims moot?
15481	Bardales v. Duarte, 181 Cal.App.4th 1262, 1269 (Cal. Ct. App. 2010)	4	By definition, a voluntary dismissal without prejudice is not a final judgment on the merits.	"By definition, a voluntary dismissal without prejudice is not a final judgment on the merits."	Is a voluntary dismissal without prejudice a final judgment on the merits?
15482	Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ, 175 N.C. App. 102 (N.C. Ct. App. 2005)	6	Voluntary dismissal of action leaves the plaintiff exactly where he was before the action was commenced. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(a), West's N.C.G.S.A. § 1A-1.	A Rule 41(a) voluntary dismissal " 'leave[s] the plaintiff exactly where he [or she] was before the action was commenced.' "	Does a voluntary dismissal of action leave the plaintiff exactly where he was before the action was commenced?
15483	Internorth Inc., v. Iowa St. Bd. of Tax Review, 333 N.W.2d 471, 476-77 (Iowa 1983)	8	A "tax" is charge levied to pay cost of government; tax is not paid unless amount is transmitted to government, and does not accrue when it is neither charged nor owed.	A tax is a charge levied to pay the cost of government. Newman v. City of Indianola, 232 N.W.2d 568, 573 (Iowa 1975). Under the cases holding against Northern's position, a tax is not paid unless the amount is transmitted to the government, and a tax does not accrue when it is neither charged nor owed.	Does a tax accrue when it is neither charged nor owed?
15486	Automotive Tire Service, Inc. v. First National Bank, 102 Ariz. 512, 513 (Ariz. 1967)	1	A "check" is merely the drawer's order to pay the named payee the amount specified and can be countermanded any time before payment or certification. A.R.S. §§ 6-259, 44-589.	A check is merely the drawer's order to pay the named payee the amount specified. As such, the order can be countermanded any time before payment or certification. Section 6-259, A.R.S.	Can a check be countermanded?
15487	United States v. Corrigan, 144 F.3d 763, 769 (11th Cir. 1998)	10	Military officials need not demonstrate actual harm before implementing a regulation restricting speech and may act to forestall reasonably anticipated harm to morale or to the orderly functioning of the base. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 1.	"[M]ilitary officials need not demonstrate actual harm before implementing a regulation restricting speech," and may act to forestall reasonably anticipated harm to morale or to the orderly functioning of the base.	Do military officials demonstrate actual harm before implementing regulation restricting speech?
15489	Nieves v. United States, 133 Fed. Cl. 306, 313 (2017)	22	The constructive service doctrine only applies to improper terminations from active military service.	The Constructive Service Doctrine only applies to improper terminations from active service.	Does the constructive service doctrine apply only to improper terminations from active military service?
15497	Hozer v. State, Dep't of Treasury, Consol. Police & Firemen's Pension Fund Comm'n, 95 N.J. Super. 196, 199 (App. Div. 1967)	1	A "pension" is a bounty springing from appreciation and graciousness of the sovereign; it is an inducement to conscientious, efficient and honorable service.	A pension is a bounty springing from the apopreciation and graciousness of the sovereign; it is an inducement to conscientious, efficient and honorable service.	Is pension an inducement to honorable service?

15498	Hozer v. State, Dep't of Treasury, Consol. Police & Firemen's Pension Fund Comm'n, 95 N.J. Super. 196, 199 (App. Div. 1967)	2	One fundamental purpose of the pensioning of civil servants is to secure good behavior and the maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	It is axiomatic that one of the fundamental purposes of the pensioning of civil servants is to secure good behavior and the maintenance of reasonable standards of discipline during service.	What is a pension?
15499	Polansky v. Berenji, 393 S.W.3d 362, 366-367 (Tex. App. 2012)	2	A nonsuit is effective when it is filed; it extinguishes a case or controversy from the moment the motion is filed or an oral motion is made in open court. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	A nonsuit is effective when it is filed; it "extinguishes a case or controversy from 'the moment the motion is filed' or *367 an oral motion is made in open court."	Is a nonsuit effective upon the date of its filing?
15501	State v. Owen, 133 N.C. App. 543, 553 (1999)	22	A person who is present, aiding and abetting in a rape actually perpetrated by another, is equally guilty with the actual perpetrator of the crime. G.S. S 14-27.2(a)(1).	A person who is present, aiding and abetting in a rape actually perpetrated by another is equally guilty with the actual perpetrator of the crime.	Is aiding and abetting in a rape equally guilt as rape?
15505	United States Steel Corp. v. State, 65 Wash. 2d 385, 388 (Wash. 1964)	1	Tax is not a "debt" and does not bear interest unless specifically imposed by statute.	A tax is not a debt and does not bear interest unless specifically imposed by statute.	Does a tax bear interest unless specifically imposed by a statute?
15506	City of Evanston v. N. Ill. Gas Co., 229 F. Supp. 3d 714, 727 (N.D. Ill. 2017)	13	In Illinois, a "trespass" is an invasion in the exclusive possession and physical condition of land.	In Illinois, a trespass is "an invasion in the exclusive possession and physical condition of land."	Is trespass an invasion in the exclusive possession and physical condition of land?
15507	State ex Rel. Green, Etc. et al. v. Gibson Cir. Ct., 246 Ind. 446, 449 (1965)	1	An action for trespass quare clausum fregit (trespass to real estate) cannot be maintained for invasion of right-of-way or easement.	Traditionally, it has been held that an action for trespass quare clausum fregit (trespass to real estate) cannot be maintained for an invasion of a right of way or easement.	Can an action for trespass be maintained for an invasion of a right of way or easement?
15509	Swain v. Standard Accident Ins. Co., 81 S.W.2d 258, 259 (Tex. Civ. App. 1935)	1	Workmen's Compensation Act which provides for compensation to employee for injury resulting in his disability only, and to legal beneficiaries for injuries resulting in his death, creates two distinct remedies, although flowing from same accident or injury. Vernon's Ann.Civ.St. art. 8306 et seq.	The Workmen's Compensation Act provides for compensation to the employee for injury resulting in his disability only, and to legal beneficiaries for injuries resulting in his death. The two remedies are separate and distinct, although flowing from the same accident, or injury.	To whom does the workmens compensation act provide compensation?
15513	Sarten v. State, 158 Ind. App. 516, 520 (1973)	3	The essential elements of "safe burglary" are breaking and entering of a building, with intent to commit a felony, and the taking of or an attempt to enter a safe. IC 1971, 35-1-61-1, Burns' Ind.St.Ann. S 10-702a.	The essential elements of safe burglary are (1) a breaking and entering of a building, (2) with an intent to commit a felony, and (3) the taking of or an attempt to enter a safe.	What are the elements of burglary of a safe?
15514	Fleck v. Cablevision VII, Inc., 763 F. Supp. 622, 628 (D.D.C. 1991)	7	Under Iowa law, terms of partnership agreement governed both a dissolution of partnership, and a sale of partnership's assets to one of partners.	Furthermore, under Iowa law, the terms of a partnership agreement govern both a dissolution of the partnership, see Porter, 354 N.W.2d at 227, and a sale of the partnership's assets to one of the partners,	Is the partnership agreement relevant in governing dissolution of partnership?
15515	Krug v. Meehan, 109 Cal. App. 2d 274, 276, 240 P.2d 732, 733 (1952)	1	A mere averment that instrument, such as deed, was procured by undue influence, is statement of conclusion of law.	Of course a mere averment that an instrument was procured by undue influence is a statement of a conclusion of law.	Is the mere averment of undue influence a conclusion of law?

15520	Cotton States Life Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 74 Ga. 220, 220 (Ga. 1884)	12	The continuance of cases on account of the absence of counsel is not favored, and such absence is no cause for postponement, unless in cases of necessity or misconception. Absence without leave, to attend trials of cases pending in other courts, is no ground for continuance.	"The continuance of cases on account of the absence of counsel is not favored, and such absence is no cause of postponement, unless in cases of necessity or misconception. Absence without leave, to attend trials of cases pending in other courts, is no ground for continuance.	Is the absence of counsel is cause of postponement?
15522	Watson v. Geren, 483 F. Supp. 2d 226, 245 (E.D.N.Y. 2007), aff'd, 569 F.3d 115 (2d Cir. 2009)	10	While late application for conscientious objector status may be the basis for suspicion as to petitioner's sincerity, this alone cannot provide a basis in fact for denial of petitioner's application.	While late application for CO status may be the basis for suspicion as to petitioner's sincerity, this alone cannot provide a basis in fact for denial of petitioner's application.	Is a late application alone enough to justify the Army's rejection of an individuals application?
15525	Commonwealth v. Ohle, 291 Pa. Super. 110, 119 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1981)	2	Under section of Crimes Code proscribing bribery in official and political matters, once offer to confer proscribed benefit, or once agreement is made, crime is complete, and there need be no waiting for benefit actually to be conferred. 18 Pa.C.S.A. S 4701.	Under the section of the Crimes Code proscribing bribery in official and political matters, once the offer to confer the proscribed benefit, or once an agreement is made, the crime is complete. There need be no waiting for the benefit to actually be conferred.	Can a defendant be charged with bribery before the benefit is actually conferred?
15526	Fulton v. Baxter, 596 P.2d 540, 543 (Okla. 1979)	4	Good faith is required when one partner is trying to oust another partner.	This Court has consistently held that good faith is most especially required where one partner is trying to oust another partner.	Is it necessary to observe good faith in a partnership when one partner is trying to oust and get rid of another?
15527	Farrands v. Melanson, 438 A.2d 910, 912 (Me. 1981)	1	Following a failure to answer a request for admissions, facts in the request are deemed admitted. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 36.	It is true that following a failure to answer a request for admissions, the facts in the request are deemed admitted.	Are the facts in a failure to answer a request for admissions deemed admitted?
15531	In Matter of Estate of Berth, 157 Wis. 2d 717, 722 (Wis. Ct. App. 1990)	4	Power to take depositions rests entirely upon statute, as power did not exist at common law.	The power to take depositions rests entirely upon statute because this power did not exist at common-law.	Does the power to take depositions rest entirely upon statute?
15533	Comerford v. Pryor Foundry, 987 P.2d 434, 436 (Okla. Civ. App. 1999)	4	The primary consideration in considering tax statutes is that legislative intent be ascertained and given effect.	As with all statutes, the primary consideration in considering tax statutes is that legislative intent be ascertained and given effect. In re Holt, 1997 OK 12, 932 P.2d 1130.	Is the pivotal question in ascertaining the tax statutes imposed by statute that concerning legislative intent?
15534	Shada v. Whitney, 172 Neb. 220, 222 (1961)	1	The Workmen's Compensation Act creates new remedies, new rights and new liabilities and manner in which it operates is to be found in legislation itself. R.R.S.1943, SS 48-173, 48-176, 48-178, 48-181.	The Workmen's Compensation Act creates new remedies, new rights, and new liabilities. The manner in which it operates is to be found in the legislation itself.	Where are rights found under the workers compensation?
15535	Funai Electric v. Daewoo Elec. Corp., 616 F.3d 1357, 1359 (Fed. Cir. 2010)	23	Courts are open to native and alien alike, when affected by a violation of United States law.	However, it is fundamental to the rule of law that the courts are open to native and alien alike, when affected by a violation of United States law.	Are the courts of the United States open to aliens?

15542	Withrow v. Withrow, 278 Ga. 525, 525, 603 S.E.2d 276, 277-78 (2004)	3	The absence of a party's counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement.	Moreover, "[t]he absence 278 of a [party's] counsel, without leave, to attend proceedings in other courts is no ground for continuance or postponement.	Will a postponement be allowed for absence of one of several counsels unless the opposite party consents?
15545	Memphis Pub. Co. v. City of Memphis, 871 S.W.2d 681, 689 (Tenn. 1994)	13	Deposition is inherently public event, at least in sense that opposing party is present when testimony is taken and there is nothing, other than protective order, to prevent opposing party from disseminating information he or she learns at deposition; thus, discovery deposition does not carry with it requisite attribute of confidentiality needed to classify it as "attorney work product." Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 26.02(3).	A deposition, by contrast, is inherently a public event, at least in the sense that the opposing party is present when the testimony is taken. And there is nothing, other than a protective order, to prevent the opposing party from disseminating the information he or she learns at the deposition. Therefore, a discovery deposition does not carry with it the requisite attribute of confidentiality needed to classify it as attorney work product.	Is a deposition an inherently public event?
15546	Mercer v. Andersen, 715 N.W.2d 114, 123 (Minn. Ct. App. 2006)	24	District court has broad discretion to amend scheduling-order deadlines, and appellate courts review its decision for an abuse of discretion.	The district court has broad discretion to amend scheduling-order deadlines, and we review its decision for an abuse of discretion.	Does a court have discretion to amend scheduling-order deadlines?
15547	Friday v. Mutz, 483 So. 2d 1269, 1271 (La. Ct. App. 1986)	5	Generally, when amendment presents new claim or defense which takes opposing party by surprise, continuance must be allowed. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1151.	Generally, when an amendment presents a new claim or defense which takes the opposing party by surprise, a continuance must be allowed.	Does the fact that a complaint is amended in itself entitle the defendant to a continuance?
15548	Echols v. Bridges, 235 S.E.2d 535, 357 (Ga. 1977)	1	Pretrial order should be liberally construed to allow consideration of all questions fairly within ambit of contested issues, and where question of precluding issues is raised, matter is within discretion of trial judge. Code, S 81A-116.	"A pre-trial order should be liberally construed to allow the consideration of all questions fairly within the ambit of contested issues. Where the question of precluding issues is raised, the matter is within the discretion of the trial judge.	Should a pretrial order be construed liberally?
15550	Balandzich v. Demeroto, 10 Wash. App. 718, 720-721 (Wash. Ct. App. 1974)	3	Where action had been commenced in August 1967, plaintiffs had been represented by various counsel and six continuances had been granted, the last continuance was granted on July 29, 1971 to January 12, 1972, a date suggested by plaintiff husband, and, in granting continuance, court imposed condition that plaintiffs should have no more continuances for any reason, denial of a seventh sought by plaintiff was not unreasonable.	In the instant case, the action was commenced in August 1967. Plaintiffs had been represented by various *721 counsel and six continuances had been granted. The sixth continuance was granted on July 29, 1971 to January 12, 1972, a date suggested by plaintiff husband. In granting the continuance, however, the court imposed the condition that 'Plaintiffs shall have no more continuances for any reason.'	Can the court grant the last continuance by imposing a condition that plaintiff should have no more continuances for any reason?
15551	East Bank Realty, Inc. v. Robert, 411 So. 2d 500, 502 (La. Ct. App. 1982)	3	In a mandate, the power must be express and special when it relates to selling or buying property. LSA-C.C. art. 2997.	In a mandate, the power must be express and special when it relates to selling or buying property.	Should the mandate to buy or sell property be express and special?

15558	Biddle v. Martin, 992 F.2d 673, 677 (7th Cir. 1993)	4	Whether particular conduct is disorderly depends not only on conduct itself but also on conduct's unreasonableness in relation to surrounding circumstances.	Whether particular conduct is disorderly therefore depends not only on the conduct itself but also on the conduct's unreasonableness in relation to the surrounding circumstances.	Whether unreasonableness of the conduct depends upon the conduct and the circumstances in which it occurs?
15559	Summit Tp. Road Dist. v. Hayes Freight Lines, 44 Ill. App. 2d 274, 277-278 (1963)	1	Absolute statutory liability may be imposed against any person who damages a highway structure as result of illegal operation on highway. S.H.A. ch. 951/212, S 232.	Under this section it is clear to us that absolute statutory liability may be imposed against any person who *278 damages a highway structure as the result of an illegal operation upon said highway.	Can a person be held liable for damages arising from an illegal operation upon a highway?
15569	United States v. Prejean, 494 F.2d 495, 498 (5th Cir. 1974)	6	Under Texas law, one cannot be convicted of burglary unless he entered the premises without the owner's consent; even if he commits theft once inside, if the owner consented to his entry, he cannot be convicted of burglary. Vernon's Ann.Tex.P.C. arts. 1389, 1391.	Under Texas law the general rule is that one cannot be convicted of burglary unless he entered the premises without the owner's consent. 5 Even if he commits theft once inside, if the owner consented to his entry, he cannot be convicted of burglary.	Does burglary require proof of entry without consent?
15573	In re Ashcroft, 888 F.2d 546, 547 (8th Cir. 1989)	3	Pretrial conference discussion of settlement is designed to encourage and facilitate settlement as early as possible, but is not designed to impose settlement on unwilling litigants. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 16 note, 28 U.S.C.A.	Pretrial-conference discussion of settlement is designed to encourage and facilitate settlement as early as possible, but it is not designed to impose settlement upon unwilling litigants. See Fed.R.Civ.P. 16(c)(7), Advisory Committee Note, 1983.	What is pretrial conference discussion of a settlement designed to do?
15576	Dixon v. Koplar, 102 F.2d 295, 297 (8th Cir. 1939)	3	There is no individual ownership of partnership property until partnership has ceased activity and its debts have been paid.	There is no individual ownership of partnership property until, at least, the partnership has ceased activity and all its debts have been paid.	Can a partner claim individual ownership of partnership property only after the partnership has ceased and the debts are paid off?
15578	Gray v. City of Opelika, 216 So. 3d 431, 434 (Ala. App. 2015)	2	Evidentiary matters may be freely submitted on a motion to dismiss that attacks jurisdiction. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12.	We note first that "[e]videntiary matters may be freely submitted on a motion to dismiss that attacks jurisdiction."	Can a party submit evidentiary matters to support a motion to dismiss that attacks venue?
15582	Liberty National Bank and Trust Co. v. Dvorak, 199 N.W.2d 414, 417 (N.D. 1972)	1	A note is "renewed" when a new note evidencing same obligation is executed and delivered by maker to holder of old note.	A promissory note is 'renewed' when a new promissory note evidencing the same obligation is executed and delivered by the maker to the holder of the old promissory note.	Is there renewal of a note when there is a new note evidencing the same obligation?
15584	Williams v. Alphonse Mortg. Co., 144 So. 2d 600, 602 (La. Ct. App. 1962)	4	Note payable to order of maker and endorsed by her was payable to bearer and transferable by assignment.	As observed hereinabove, the note was payable to the order of the maker and by her endorsed. Thus, the note payable to order and by her endorsed was, in fact, payable to bearer and transferable by assignment.	"Does a note payable to order of maker and endorsed by her, payable to bearer and transferable by assignment or delivery?"
15587	Jones v. Cheney, 253 Ark. 926, 930 (Ark. 1973)	2	Technically, pension constitutes mere gratuity subject to modification or repeal as opposed to vested right not subject to such impairment.	Technically, a pension constitutes a 'mere gratuity' subject to modification or repeal as opposed to a vested right not subject to such impairment.	Is pension a mere gratuity?

15588	Doe v. Lake Oswego School Dist, 242 Or. App. 605, 621 (Or. Ct. App. 2011)	20	Complaint must allege ultimate facts from which the required conclusions are inferable, not a mere possibility, and an inferable conclusion is more than a suspicion, a suggestion, a speculation, or a conjecture.	Rather, a complaint must allege ultimate facts from which the required conclusions are "inferable, not a mere possibility. An inferable conclusion is more than a suspicion, a suggestion, a speculation, or a conjecture; a conclusion is inferable from facts if the conclusion can be logically deduced from the facts.	Must a complaint allege ultimate facts?
15589	Boyles v. Kerr, 855 S.W.2d 593, 601 (Tex. 1993)	6	In absence of special exceptions, petition should be construed liberally in favor of pleader; court should uphold petition as to cause of action that may be reasonably inferred from what is specifically stated, even if element of cause of action is not specifically alleged.	We have recognized that, in the absence of special exceptions, the petition should be construed liberally in favor of the pleader. Roark v. Allen, 633 S.W.2d 804, 809 (Tex.1982). A court should uphold the petition as to a cause of action that may be reasonably inferred from what is specifically stated, even if an element of the cause of action is not specifically alleged.	"Should pleadings be construed liberally in favor of the pleader, in the absence of special exceptions?"
15591	Internorth Inc., v. Iowa St. Bd. of Tax Review, 333 N.W.2d 471, 476-77 (Iowa 1983)	8	A "tax" is charge levied to pay cost of government; tax is not paid unless amount is transmitted to government, and does not accrue when it is neither charged nor owed.	A tax is a charge levied to pay the cost of government. Newman v. City of Indianola, 232 N.W.2d 568, 573 (Iowa 1975). Under the cases holding against Northern's position, a tax is not paid unless the amount is transmitted to the government, and a tax does not accrue when it is neither charged nor owed.	Is a tax considered as paid if the amount is transmitted to government?
15593	United States v. Buenrostro, 781 F.3d 864, 868 (7th Cir. 2015)	2	The $5,000 element of federal bribery statute pertains to subject matter of bribe, which must be valued at $5,000 or more; in other words, the business or transaction sought to be influenced must have a value of $5,000 or more. 18 U.S.C.A. S 666(a)(2).	The $5,000 element of § 666 pertains to "the subject matter of the bribe," which "must be valued at $5,000 or more." United States v. Robinson, 663 F.3d 265, 271 (7th Cir.2011). In other words, the " 'business' or 'transaction' sought to be influenced must have a value of $5,000 or more."	"Is it the subject matter of the bribe that must be valued at $5,000 or more?"
15599	Caffroy v. Fremlin, 198 Cal. App. 2d 176, 182, 17 Cal. Rptr. 668, 671 (Ct. App. 1961)	8	Landowner does not have absolute title to oil and gas in place as corporeal realty but has exclusive right to drill for oil and gas upon his premises.	The owner of land does not have an absolute title to the oil and gas in place as corporeal real property, but rather has the exclusive right to drill for oil and gas upon his premises.	Does the owner of land have the exclusive right on his land to drill for1 and produce oil?
15600	Salzseider v. Brunsdale, 94 N.W.2d 502, 503 (N.D. 1959)	3	In construing a statute, consideration must be given to ordinary sense of words used, their context, and purpose sought to be accomplished.	In construing a statute consideration must be given to the ordinary sense of the words used, their context and the purpose sought to be accomplished.	"Can the court construe the word ""minerals"" according to the classifications of animal, vegetable or mineral or according to the classifications of organic and inorganic substances?"

15611	Helvey v. Sax, 38 Cal. 2d 21, 24, 237 P.2d 269, 271 (1951)	3	The state's taxing power is derived, from its sovereign authority, and not from any grant to it by the owner of the property.	The state's taxing power is derived from its sovereign authority, not from any grant to it by the owner of property.	Is a state's power to tax derived from its sovereign authority?
15612	Continental Motors Corp. v. Township of Muskegon, 365 Mich. 191, 195 (Mich. 1961)	3	The Constitution authorizes only two general methods of taxation, ad valorem and specific. Const. art. 10, S 3.	Auditor General, supra, the Constitution of this state (Constitution 1908, art. 10, 3) authorizes only two general methods of taxation, ad valorem and specific.	Are ad valorem and specific the only two general methods of taxation?
15613	Casey v. Richland County Council, 282 S.C. 387, 389 (S.C. 1984)	3	"Taxes" are imposed on all property for maintenance of government, as opposed to assessments which are placed only on property to be benefited by proposed improvements.	Taxes are imposed on all property for the maintenance of government while assessments are placed only on the property to be benefited by the proposed improvements.	"Are ""taxes"" imposed on all property for maintenance of government?"
15626	State v. Badaracco, 156 Conn. App. 650, 660 (2015)	11	Under federal law, a bribery conviction must be based on more than evidence of mere preparation; it must progress to the point that the defendant made an offer that consisted of an expression of a desire and an ability to pay the public official for performing a proscribed act. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b).	Under federal law, a bribery conviction must be based on more than evidence of mere preparation. It must progress to the point that the defendant made an offer that consisted of an expression of a desire and an ability to pay the public official for performing a proscribed act.	"Under bribery statute, can a bribery conviction be based on evidence of mere preparation?"
15628	Berk v. Sherman, 682 A.2d 209, 216 (D.C. 1996)	9	Under Maryland law, after dissolution, partner can bind partnership by any act appropriate for winding up partnership affairs or completing transactions unfinished at dissolution. Md.Code, Corporations and Associations, S 9-604.	After dissolution, a partner can bind the partnership by any act appropriate for winding up partnership affairs or completing transactions unfinished at dissolution.	"After dissolution, can the partners bind the partnership?"
15635	Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska v. Kline, 283 Kan. 64, 78, 150 P.3d 892, 903 (2007)	19	The right to tax is penal in nature so that, where there is reasonable doubt as to the meaning of a taxing act, it will be construed most favorably to the taxpayer.	Further, the right to tax is penal in nature so that, where there is reasonable doubt as to the meaning of a taxing act, it will be construed most favorably to the taxpayer.	Is the right to tax penal in nature?
15637	Rogers Park Post No. 108 v. Brenza, 8 Ill. 2d 286, 289-290 (Ill. 1956)	1	In Illinois, all property is subject to taxation unless exempt by statute, in conformity with constitutional provisions relating thereto. S.H.A.Const. art. 9, S 1; Ill.Rev.Stat.1953, ch. 120, S 500(7).	It is the well settled rule of law in the State of Illinois that all property is subject to taxation, unless exempt by *290 statute, in conformity with the constitutional provisions relating thereto.	Is all property presumed to be subject to taxation?
15639	Whittaker v. Robinson, 981 S.W.2d 118, 121 (Ky. 1998)	4	Workers' compensation legislation does not create a quasi tort or seek to compensate an injured worker for his or her entire loss; instead, income benefits are awarded on the basis of occupational disability which is equated to a decrease in the injured worker's wage earning capacity. KRS 342.0011(11) (1995)	Workers' compensation legislation does not create a quasi tort or seek to compensate an injured worker for his or her entire loss. Instead, income benefits are awarded on the basis of occupational disability which is equated to a decrease in the injured worker's wage earning capacity, in other words, to how much less money the worker could command in the labor market.	Does workers compensation create a quasi tort?

15640	Parsons v. Steelman Transp, 335 S.W.3d 6, 14 (Mo. Ct. App. 2011)	6	The Court of Appeals is guided by the general rules of statutory construction in interpreting the Workers' Compensation Law. V.A.M.S. S 287.010 et seq.	Therefore, we are bound by the general rules of statutory construction in interpreting the workers' compensation law.	"Is workers compensation law entirely a creature of statute, and what is the court guided by when interpreting it?"
15641	RoadTechs, Inc. v. MJ Highway Technology, Ltd., 79 F. Supp. 2d 637, 640 (E.D. Va. 2000)	3	District court has discretion whether to dismiss or stay action after referring it to arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. S 3.	The decisional law supports the plain meaning of the FAA that it is within the district court's discretion whether to dismiss or stay an action after referring it to arbitration.	Do courts have the discretion to dismiss or stay action after referring it to arbitration?
15643	Auto. Mechanics v. Vanguard Car, 502 F.3d 740, 743 (7th Cir. 2007)	1	Enforcement of a forum selection clause, including an arbitration clause, is not jurisdictional; it is a waivable defense.	Enforcement of a forum selection clause (including an arbitration clause) is not jurisdictional; it is a waivable defense that Vanguard, in fact, waived.	Is enforcement of the forum selection clause of an arbitration agreement jurisdictional?
15647	United States v. Brecht, 540 F.2d 45, 51 (2d Cir. 1976)	7	Difference between commercial bribe taking and extortion is only that extortion involves initiative of defendant and coercion of victim. 18 U.S.C.A. S 1951; Penal Law N.Y. SS 155.05, subd. 2 (e)(ix), 180.05.	The difference between the commercial bribe taking charge and the unlawful activity of extortion is that only the latter involves initiative on the part of the defendant and coercion on the part of the victim.	What is the difference between commercial bribe taking and extortion?
15655	Bosque v. Rivera, 135 So. 3d 399, 401 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2014)	1	Although District Court of Appeal reviews a dismissal for fraud on the court under an abuse of discretion standard, that standard of review is somewhat narrowed to take into account that the dismissal must be established by clear and convincing evidence.	Although this court reviews a dismissal for fraud on the court under an abuse of discretion standard, that standard of review is "somewhat narrowed" to take into account that the dismissal must be established by clear and convincing evidence.	"To support a dismissal for fraud on the court, should the movant establish, by clear and convincing evidence, that a party has sentiently set in motion some unconscionable scheme?"
15656	Chiappetta v. Leblond, 544 A.2d 759, 760 (Me. 1988)	2	Trial court possesses inherent authority to sanction parties and attorneys for abuse of litigation process. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 16(f)(5).	Contrary to Chiappetta's contentions, the trial court does possess inherent authority to sanction parties and attorneys for abuse of the litigation process.	Does a trial court have an inherent power to sanction?
15657	Magruder v. Supplee, 316 U.S. 394, 399 (1942)	6	Realty "taxes" are merely a form of raising revenue for support of government and are not like "rent", and are not paid for privilege of occupying property for any given period of time.	Such taxes are simply one form of raising revenue for the support of government. They are not like rent, nor are they paid for the privilege of occupying property for any given period of time.	"Are realty ""taxes"" merely a form of raising revenue for support of government?"
15660	Nadeau v. Equity Residential Props. Mgmt. Corp., 251 F. Supp. 3d 637, 641 (S.D.N.Y. 2017)	5	Under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), a party seeking to avoid enforcement of an arbitration agreement can invoke a defense that would be available to a party seeking to avoid the enforcement of any contract. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	"Thus, a party seeking to avoid enforcement of an arbitration agreement can ... invoke a defense that would be available to a party seeking to avoid the enforcement of any contract."	Can an arbitration agreement be avoided by a defense that is only applicable to arbitration agreements?
15661	Inter. Pa. v. Schwabedissen Maschinen, 206 F.3d 411, 417-418 (4th Cir. 2000)	11	"Equitable estoppel" precludes a party from asserting rights he otherwise would have had against another when his own conduct renders assertion of those rights contrary to equity.	Equitable estoppel precludes a party from asserting rights "he otherwise would have had *418 against another" when his own conduct renders assertion of those rights contrary to equity.	What does the doctrine of equitable estoppel mean in the context of arbitration?

15667	Horjales v. Loeb, 291 So. 2d 92, 93 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1974)	2	Court has right to dismiss a cause with prejudice when collusion appears between plaintiff and a principal defendant.	Second, does the court have the right to dismiss a cause with prejudice when collusion appears between the plaintiff and a principal defendant.	Does court have right to dismiss a cause with prejudice when collusion appears between plaintiff and a principal defendant?
15669	Szilagyi v. Testa, 99 Nev. 834, 838, 673 P.2d 495, 498 (1983)	4	Court may dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order.	The court may dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order.	Can a court dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order?
15670	Texas Employers' Ins v. Bragg, 670 S.W.2d 712, 715 (Tex. App. 1984)	6	No motion to deem unanswered requests for admissions admitted must be filed. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 169.	No motion to deem unanswered requests for admissions admitted must be filed.	Should no motion to deem unanswered requests for admissions admitted be filed?
15671	Denson v. T.D.C.J.-I.D, 63 S.W.3d 454, 458-459 (Tex. App. 1999)	4	Trial court may dismiss a claim as frivolous when it has no arguable basis in law or fact. V.T.C.A., Civil Practice & Remedies Code S 14.003(a)(2), (b)(2).	A trial court may dismiss a claim as frivolous when it has no arguable basis in law or fact.	Is it an abuse of discretion to dismiss a case that arguably has a basis in law or fact?
15672	Kolsti v. Guest, 576 S.W.2d 892, 894 (Tex. Civ. App. 1979)	6	When a case becomes moot, only proper judgment is one dismissing the cause.	When a case becomes moot, the only proper judgment is one dismissing the cause.	Is the only proper judgment to dismiss the cause when a case becomes moot?
15673	Philadelphia Water Rev. Bureau v. Frempong, 744 A.2d 822, 824 (Pa. Cmmw. Ct. 2000)	4	Party is under same duty to appear at a scheduled conciliation or a pre-trial conference as to appear for trial.	A party is under the same duty to appear at a scheduled conciliation or a pre-trial conference as to appear for trial.	Is a party under the same duty to appear at a scheduled pre-trial conference as to appear at trial?
15676	DuBois v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd., 5 Cal. 4th 382, 388, 853 P.2d 978, 981 (1993)	5	Right to workers' compensation benefits is wholly statutory and is not derived from common law. West's Ann.Cal. Const. Art. 14, S 4.	The right to workers' compensation benefits is wholly statutory and is not derived from common law.	"For workers compensation, is the right to benefits wholly statutory?"
15677	Vorvis v. S. New England Tel. Co., 821 F. Supp. 851, 855 (D. Conn. 1993)	10	Under Connecticut Worker's Compensation Act, employee generally surrenders his or her right to bring common-law action against employer. C.G.S.A. SS 31-275 et seq., 31-284(a).	Under the Workers' Compensation Act, an employee surrenders his or her right to bring common-law action against employer.	"Under the Workers Compensation Act, what does the employee surrender?"
15682	Bond v. Dunmire, 129 Ill. App. 3d 796, 805 (Ill. App. Ct. 1984)	9	Allegations of legal conclusions and allegations of evidence constitute merely formal defects in complaint, and not defects of substance. S.H.A. ch. 110, P 2-612(b).	Under this test, allegations of legal conclusions and allegations of evidence constitute 916 merely formal defects and not defects of substance.	Do allegations of legal conclusions constitute defects of substance?
15683	In re Bustamante, 510 S.W.3d 732, 737 (Tex. App. 2016)	8	A pleading is sufficient when an opposing party can ascertain from the pleading the nature, basic issues, and the type of evidence that might be relevant to the controversy. Tex. R. Civ. P. 47(a).	A pleading is sufficient when "an opposing party can ascertain from the pleading the nature, basic issues, and the type of evidence that might be relevant to the controversy."	When is a pleading sufficient?
15684	Huff Energy Fund, L.P. v. Longview Energy Co., 482 S.W.3d 184, 195 (Tex. App. 2015)	8	Where special exceptions are not filed, court construes the petition liberally in favor of the pleader.	When, as here, special exceptions are not filed, we construe the petition liberally in favor of the pleader.	"Should a petition be construed liberally in favor of the pleader, when there are no special exceptions?"
15689	In re J.B.M, 157 S.W.3d 823, 826 (Tex. App. 2005)	8	In a case where the charge is attempted sexual assault, intent may be inferred from the defendant's actions, words, and conduct. V.T.C.A., Penal Code SS 15.01(a), 22.011(a)(1).	In a case where the charge is attempted sexual assault, intent may be inferred from the accused's actions, words, and conduct.	How is intent for sexual assault inferred?
15690	Rector v. Department of Labor and Industries, 61 Wash. App. 385, 390 (Wash. Ct. App. 1991)	3	Industrial insurance claim is governed by explicit statutory directives and not by common law. West's RCWA 51.04.010 et seq.	An industrial insurance claim is "governed by explicit statutory directives and not by the common law."	Is an industrial insurance claim governed by common law?

15698	Com. Trading Co. v. Trade Bank & Tr. Co., 207 Misc. 510, 512, 137 N.Y.S.2d 339, 340-41 (Sup. Ct. 1954), rev'd, 286 A.D. 722, 146 N.Y.S.2d 570 (App. Div. 1955)	1	The free circulation of negotiable paper is to be encouraged and the law must be interpreted in that light.	It is axiomatic in a business society such as ours that the free circulation of negotiable paper is to be encouraged and the law must be 341 interpreted in that light	Should negotiable instrument law be interpreted in view of free circulation of negotiable paper?
15699	Vinyard v. United States, 335 F.2d 176, 181 (8th Cir. 1964)	2	Legality of initial arrest for refilling of liquor bottles was immaterial in prosecution for subsequent bribery of arresting officers. 18 U.S.C.A. S 201(b)(3); 26 U.S.C.A. (I.R.C.1954) S 5301(C)	Even if we assume, arguendo, that the initial arrest for refilling of liquor bottles was unlawful, the legality of that arrest is immaterial in a prosecution for the subsequent bribery of the arresting officer.	Is the legality of the arrest material for bribery subsequent to arrest?
15701	State v. Schneider, 36 Wash. App. 237, 240-241 (1983)	5	Law of burglary is designed to protect the dweller and, hence, controlling question is occupancy rather than ownership. West's RCWA 9A.52.010(3), 9A.52.030(1).	The law of burglary was designed to protect the dweller, and, hence, the controlling question here is occupancy rather than ownership.	Does the law of burglary protect the dweller?
15703	Sutton v. SM Energy Co., 421 S.W.3d 153, 158 (Tex. App. 2013)	9	Although habendum clause in oil and gas lease typically controls mineral estate's duration, other clauses may extend habendum clause's term.	Although the habendum clause typically controls a mineral estate's duration, other clauses may extend the habendum clause's term.	Does a lease's habendum clause define the mineral estate's duration?
15712	Caraang v. Mortgage, 795 F. Supp. 2d 1098, 1122 (D. Haw. 2011)	22	Lenders generally do not owe their borrowers a duty of care sounding in negligence.	Courts generally hold that lenders do not owe their borrowers a duty of care sounding in negligence.	Does the lender owe borrower a duty of care sounding in negligence?
15714	Cuka v. State, 80 S.D. 232, 233 (S.D. 1963)	5	Under option agreement specifically stating purpose of acquiring plaintiff's property was to secure necessary right of way for highway purposes only, easement was all that state could acquire regardless of form of instrument of conveyance. SDC 1960 Supp. 28.13A01-28.13A03.	In the present case the option agreement specifically stated the purpose of acquiring plaintiff's property was to secure necessary right of way 'for highway purposes only'. An easement was all the state could acquire regardless of the form of the instrument of conveyance.	Can state acquire easement regardless of the form of the instrument of conveyance?
15716	Canning v. N.L.R.B., 705 F.3d 490, 500 (D.C. Cir. 2013)	7	When interpreting a constitutional provision, court must look to the natural meaning of the text as it would have been understood at the time of the ratification of the constitution.	When interpreting a constitutional provision, we must look to the natural meaning of the text as it would have been understood at the time of the ratification of the Constitution.	How should a statute or constitutional provision be interpreted?
15721	Testa v. Roberts, 44 Ohio App. 3d 161, 161 (1988)	3	Creation of power of attorney requires that principal be mentally competent at time power is executed.	The creation of a power of attorney requires that the principal be mentally competent at the time the power is executed.	Should the principal be mentally competent to execute a power of attorney?
15725	Woldert v. Skelly Oil Co., 202 S.W.2d 706, 709 (Tex. Civ. App. 1947), writ refused NRE	8	A stranger to a deed, on the theory of estoppel may not establish his title by recitals in such deed.	Furthermore, a stranger to a deed, on the theory of estoppel may not establish his title by recitals in such deed.	Can a stranger to a deed establish his title by recitals in such deed on the theory of estoppel?
15727	JLG Trucking, LLC v. Garza, 466 S.W.3d 157, 164 (Tex. 2015)	8	Parties may plead conflicting claims and defenses in the alternative so long as they have a reasonable basis in fact and law.	Parties may plead conflicting claims and defenses in the alternative so long as they have a "reasonable basis in fact [and] law."	Can alternative defenses be pleaded?

15728	Lemlem v. Adams, 2004-0281 (La. App. 1 Cir. 2/11/05) (2005)	4	Rule on abandonment is not meant to dismiss actions on mere technicalities, but to dismiss actions that clearly have been abandoned. LSA-C.C.P. art. 561.	Abandonment is not meant to dismiss actions on mere technicalities, but to dismiss actions that clearly have been abandoned.	Is the rule on abandonment meant to dismiss actions on mere technicalities or to dismiss actions that clearly have been abandoned?
15729	Steinberger v. McVey ex rel. Cnty. of Maricopa, 234 Ariz. 125, 138, 318 P.3d 419, 432 (Ct. App. 2014)	12	The plausibility or sufficiency of plaintiff's evidence is not at issue in determining the legal sufficiency of a complaint.	The "plausibility," or sufficiency of Steinberger's evidence, is not, as Respondents suggest, at issue in determining the legal sufficiency of her complaint.	Is the plausibility or sufficiency of plaintiffs evidence not at issue in determining the legal sufficiency of a complaint?
15730	McMillan v. Wells, 924 S.W.2d 33, 35 (Mo. Ct. App. 1996)	4	Missouri law disfavors dismissal of causes for failure to prosecute; law favors trial on merits.	In Missouri the law disfavors the dismissal of causes because of failure to prosecute. "[T]he law favors trial on the merits."	Does law disfavor dismissal of cases because of failure to prosecute?
15734	Jernigan v. Bank One, Texas, N.A., 803 S.W.2d 774, 776 (Tex. App. 1991)	4	Negotiation of commercial paper takes place only when endorsement is made and until then there is no presumption that transferee is owner. V.T.C.A., Bus. & C. S 3.201(c).	Negotiation of commercial paper takes place only when an indorsement is made and until then there is no presumption that the transferee is the owner.	Will Negotiation of Commercial paper takes place when an indorsement is made?
15737	In re Key West Restaurant Lounge, Inc., 54 B.R. 978, 988 (N.D. Ill. 1985)	12	Insurance policy, which does not contain unconditional promise to pay sum certain in money, is not negotiable instrument; therefore, transfer of policy is not covered by Article 3 of Uniform Commercial Code. U.C.C. S 3-101 et seq.	An insurance policy is not a negotiable instrument since it does not contain an unconditional promise to pay a sum certain in money. Therefore, a transfer of the policy is not governed by Article 3 of the Uniform Commercial Code.	"Is an insurance policy, a negotiable instrument?"
15742	de la Garza v. Ryals, 239 S.W.2d 854, 856 (Tex. Civ. App. 1951)	1	A petition is principally a recital of facts which give rise to a cause of action.	The petition, after all, under our rules of pleading is principally a recital of the facts which give rise to a cause of action.	Is a petition a recital of facts which give rise to a cause of action?
15743	Golden Valley Electric Ass'n v. College Enterprises, Inc., 455 P.2d 215, 216 (Alaska 1969)	1	Litigant may plead in the alternative and advance inconsistent claims or defenses, but such right does not relieve litigant of his obligation of setting forth the alternative or inconsistent claims in his pleadings in order to give notice to the opposite side of what it must meet at trial. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 8(e) (2).	It is elementary, as appellant states, that a litigant may plead in the alternative and advance inconsistent claims or defenses. However, this rule does not relieve either party of the obligation of setting forth its alternative or inconsistent claims or defenses in its pleadings in order to give notice to the opposite side of what it must meet at the trial.	Can a litigant plead in the alternative and advance inconsistent claims or defenses?
15744	Lyons v. Lindsey Morden Claims Mgmt, 985 S.W.2d 86, 92 (Tex. App. 1999)	23	An alternative statement in a pleading in conflict with other allegations in the same pleading does not constitute a judicial admission. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 48.	An alternative statement in a pleading in conflict with other allegations in the same pleading does not constitute a judicial admission.	Does an alternative statement in a pleading in conflict with other allegations in the same pleading constitute an admission?
15745	Price v. Holmes, 198 Kan. 100, 100 (1967)	2	It is permissible for pleader to allege a cause of action in the alternative provided the alternatives are not repugnant.	It is permissible for a pleader to allege a cause of action in the alternative, provided the alternatives alleged are not repugnant.	"Can a pleader allege a cause of action in the alternative, provided that the alternatives are not repugnant?"

15748	Faulkenberg v. CB Tax Franchise Sys., LP, 637 F.3d 801, 807 (7th Cir. 2011)	4	A party does not waive its right to arbitrate a dispute by filing a motion to dismiss or a motion to transfer venue. Fed.Rules Civ.Proc.Rule 12(b)(3), 28 U.S.C.A.	"A party does not waive its right to arbitrate a dispute by filing a motion to dismiss or a motion to transfer venue."	Does a motion to transfer venue constitute a waiver of the right to arbitrate?
15749	Nw. Adjustment Co. v. Payne, 173 Or. 229, 241-42 (1944)	3	When an accommodation maker is required to pay note, he may recover from party accommodated amount so paid.	It is the general rule that when an accommodation maker is required to pay the *242 note he may recover from the party accommodated the amount so paid by him.	When is the maker of an accommodation note able to recover from the party accommodated?
15751	Jacobsen v. Bunker, 699 P.2d 1208, 1209 (Utah 1985)	2	Legal effect of promissory notes is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	The rule is the same for promissory notes. Their legal effect is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	Which law governs the legal effect of a promissory note?
15753	Bologna Bros. v. Morrissey, 154 So. 2d 455, 460 (La. Ct. App. 1963)	6	Obligation of endorser or accommodation party is governed by lex loci contractus.	The obligation of an endorser or accommodation party is governed by the lex loci contractus.	Is the obligation of an accommodation party governed by lex loci contractus?
15756	Int'l Turbine Serv. v. Lovitt, 881 S.W.2d 805, 808 (Tex. App. 1994)	4	Affidavit verified by counsel as "true and correct to the best of his knowledge" is insufficient as an affidavit unless authorized by statute.	An affidavit verified by counsel as "true and correct to the best of his knowledge" is insufficient as an affidavit unless authorized by statute.	Is an affidavit insufficient if not authorized by a statute?
15757	Athey v. Mortg. Elec. Registration Sys., 314 S.W.3d 161, 165-66 (Tex. App. 2010)	7	Form defects in an affidavit include the affiant's lack of personal knowledge.	Form defects include the affiant's lack of personal knowledge.	Do form defects in an affidavit include the affiants lack of personal knowledge?
15761	In re Rountree, 330 B.R. 166, 170 (E.D. Va. 2004)	3	Because the policy behind the Bankruptcy Code is to give the debtor a fresh start, the plaintiff has the burden of proving that a debt is nondischargeable. 11 U.S.C.A. S 523(a); Fed.Rules Bankr.Proc.Rule 4005, 11 U.S.C.A.	Because the policy behind the Bankruptcy Code is to give the debtor a fresh start, the plaintiff has the burden of proving that a debt is nondischargeable. Bankr.R. 4005.	Who shares the burden of proof that the debt is excluded from discharge?
15764	NEBCO v. Adams, 270 Neb. 484, 484 (2005)	4	A "guaranty" is a contract by which the guarantor promises to make payment if the principal debtor defaults.	A guaranty is a contract by which the guarantor promises to make payment if the principal debtor defaults.	When the principal debtor defaults can the guarantor make payment?
15769	State v. Tedesco, 175 Conn. 279, 287 (1978)	8	A principal may delegate to agent all that he himself can do except acts peculiarly personal or acts regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally.	It is true that a principal may delegate to an agent all that he himself can do except acts "peculiarly personal" or acts "regulated by statute which are required to be performed personally."	"Can a principal delegate all acts, that he can do himself?"
15770	Whitford v. Gaskill, 119 N.C. App. 790, 792, 460 S.E.2d 346, 347 (1995), rev'd, 345 N.C. 475, 480 S.E.2d 690 (1997), opinion amended on reh'g, 345 N.C. 762, 489 S.E.2d 177 (1997)	1	Power of attorney must expressly confer authority to give gift of real property.	We hold that a power of attorney must expressly confer the authority to give a gift of real property.	Should authority be expressly conferred in a Power of Attorney?
15779	Martin-Trigona v. Univ. of New Hampshire, 685 F. Supp. 23, 25 (D.N.H. 1988)	2	Traditionally, universities possess broad discretion in administration of their internal affairs.	Universities traditionally possess broad discretion in administration of their internal affairs.	Do universities possess broad discretion in administration of internal affairs?

15781	Hawkeye Foodservice Distribution v. Iowa Educators Corp., 812 N.W.2d 600, 609 (Iowa 2012)	11	The only issue when considering a motion to dismiss is the petitioner's right of access to the district court, not the merits of his allegations.	The only issue when considering a motion to dismiss is the "petitioner's right of access to the district court, not the merits of his allegations."	What is the only issue when considering a motion to dismiss?
15783	Advanced Neurological Care, P.C. v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 38 Misc. 3d 750, 754, 956 N.Y.S.2d 416, 419 (Dist. Ct. 2012)	7	Every contract of agency carries with it an implied obligation on the part of the principal to do nothing that would thwart the effectiveness of the agency.	"Every contract of agency carries with it an implied obligation on the part of the principal to do nothing that would thwart the effectiveness of the agency."	Does the principal have any implied duty in an agency?
15784	Polley v. Plainsun Corp., 7 Misc. 2d 605, 610, 166 N.Y.S.2d 184, 189 (Sup. Ct. 1957), modified sub nom. Polley v. Plainshun Corp., 8 A.D.2d 638, 186 N.Y.S.2d 295 (1959)	7	Every contract of agency carries with it an implied obligation on the part of the principal to do nothing that would thwart the effectiveness of the agency.	Every contract of agency carries with it an implied obligation on the part of the principal to do nothing that would thwart the effectiveness of the agency.'	Does the principal have any implied duty in an agency?
15787	Messenger Courier Ass'n of Americas v. California Unemployment Ins. Appeals Bd., 175 Cal. App. 4th 1074, 1091 (2009)	8	Relationships of agency usually contemplate three parties-the agent, the principal, and third parties with whom the agent interacts in some manner.	"Relationships of agency usually contemplate three parties -the agent, the principal, and third parties with whom the agent interacts in some manner."	How many parties does the relationship of agency contemplate?
15792	Kern v. Treeline Golf Club, 433 S.W.2d 215, 216 (Tex. Civ. App. 1968)	2	Even though affidavit may be made by attorney for party it is necessary that affidavit set out authority by which it is made. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 14.	[2] Though Rule 14, T.R.C.P., provides that an affidavit may be made by an attorney for a party, it is nevertheless necessary for the affidavit to set out the authority by which such affidavit is made.	Is it necessary that the affidavit set out the authority by which such affidavit is made?
15798	Korn v. Ray, 434 S.W.2d 798, 804-05 (Mo. App. 1968)	9	Prayer for relief is not part of pleading, and omission thereof does not oust court of jurisdiction of subject matter.	The prayer for relief is not a part of the pleading and the omission thereof does not oust the court of jurisdiction on the subject matter.	Is the prayer for relief a part of the pleading?
15801	Szilagyi v. Testa, 99 Nev. 834, 838, 673 P.2d 495, 498 (1983)	4	Court may dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order.	The court may dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order.	Can court dismiss a complaint for failure to prosecute or for violation of a court order?
15803	Native Ecosystems Council v. Weldon, 697 F.3d 1043, 1056 (9th Cir. 2012)	22	Forest plans are designed to manage forest resources by balancing the consideration of environmental and economic factors. National Forest Management Act of 1976, SS 6, 12(a), 16 U.S.C.A. S 1604.	Forest plans are designed to manage forest resources by balancing the consideration of environmental and economic factors.	How are forest plans designed to manage forest resource?
15807	Wright v. State of Ga., 373 U.S. 284, 291-92, 83 S. Ct. 1240, 1245, 10 L. Ed. 2d 349 (1963)	5	One cannot be punished for failing to obey command of police officer if that command is itself violative of Constitution.	Obviously, however, one cannot be punished *292 for failing to obey the command of an officer if that command is itself violative of the Constitution.	Can a person be punished for failing to obey the command of an officer if the command violates the Constitution?
15808	Martin v. Powers, 505 S.W.3d 512, 518-19 (Tenn. 2016)	16	The basic concept of insurance involves an insurer who, in exchange for a premium, assumes certain risks that otherwise would be the obligation of the insured.	However, *519 the basic concept of insurance involves an insurer who, in exchange for a premium, " 'assumes certain risks that otherwise would be the obligation of the insured.' "	What is the basic concept or principle of insurance?

15809	Dep't of Soc. Servs. v. Romero, 609 P.2d 1323, 1324 (Utah 1980)	2	Whether delay is ground for the dismissal of an action is to be determined on totality of circumstances; this includes the conduct of both parties and the opportunity each has had to move the case forward if they so desire, and also what, if any, difficulty or prejudice may have been caused to the other party by the delay, and most important, whether it appears that any injustice has resulted.	Whether delay is a ground for the dismissal of an action is to be determined on the totality of the circumstances. This includes the conduct of both parties and the opportunity each has had to move the case forward if they so desired; and also what, if any, difficulty or prejudice may have been caused to the other party by the delay; and most important, whether it appears that any injustice has resulted.	Should delay as a ground for the dismissal of an action be determined on totality of circumstances?
15810	O'Donnell v. Union Paving Co., 121 Pa. Super. 68, 72-73 (1936)	2	Corporation intrusting manager with general supervision of particular branch of its business invests him with power of general agent coextensive with business intrusted to his care, and is bound by his contracts on its behalf made within apparent scope of authority.	"When a corporation intrusts a manager with the general supervision of a particular branch of its business, it invests him with *73 the power of a general agent coextensive with the business intrusted to his care * * * and is bound by his contracts on its behalf made within the apparent scope of his authority	"If the principal holds the agent out to the world as a general agent, would any contract made within the scope of the business bind the principal?"
15812	Scott v. City of Seymour, 659 N.E.2d 585, 592 (Ind. Ct. App. 1995)	24	When affiant makes conclusion of fact, it must appear that affiant had opportunity to observe and did observe matters about which he or she testifies.	When an affiant makes a conclusion of fact, it must appear that the affiant had an opportunity to observe and did observe the matters about which he or she testifies.	Is it necessary that the affiant had an opportunity to observe the matters about which he or she testifies?
15813	Sealey v. Johanson, 175 F. Supp. 3d 681, 690 (S.D. Miss. 2016)	5	Equitable estoppel in Mississippi is an extraordinary remedy and should only be invoked to prevent unconscionable results.	And as stated, equitable estoppel in Mississippi "is an extraordinary remedy [that] should only be invoked to prevent unconscionable results."	Should equitable estoppel only be invoked to prevent unconscionable results?
15814	Major League Baseball v. Morsani, 790 So. 2d 1071, 1078 (Fla. 2001)	12	Prime purpose of doctrine of equitable estoppel is to prevent a party from profiting from his or her wrongdoing.	A prime purpose of the doctrine of equitable estoppel, on the other hand, is to prevent a party from profiting from his or her wrongdoing.	Is equitable estoppel meant to prevent a party from profiting from his or her wrongdoing?
15815	Highland Paving Co. v. First Bank, 227 N.C. App. 36, 44 (2013)	12	Where both general and specific allegations are made respecting same matter, latter control.	"Where both general and specific allegations are made respecting the same matter, the latter control."	"Where both general and specific allegations are made respecting the same matter, which controls?"
15817	Patel v. Home Depot USA, 2012 IL App (1st) 103217, ¶ 11 (Ill.App. 1 Dist.,2012)	6	If a claim is based on a written document, the document itself must be attached to the pleading as an exhibit; the exhibit is part of the pleading for purposes of a motion to dismiss. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	Moreover, if a claim is based on a written document, the document itself must be attached to the pleading as an exhibit. The exhibit is part of the pleading for purposes of a motion to dismiss.	"If a claim is based on a written document, should the document itself be attached to the pleading as an exhibit?"
15820	McEver v. State, 352 So. 2d 1213, 1215 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1977)	1	Though nonconsent is not a separate element of crime of breaking and entering with a felonious intent, it must be proven as part of element of breaking.	Though nonconsent is not a separate element of the crime of breaking and entering with a felonious intent, it must be proven as part of the element of breaking.	Is nonconsent an element of breaking?

15821	Cartey v. State, 337 So. 2d 835, 837 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1976)	1	Breaking of an inner door or structure within open building constituted a "breaking" for purposes of burglary statute. West's F.S.A. S 810.05.	In view of these authorities, we hold that the breaking of an inner door or structure within an open building constitutes a breaking for purposes of the burglary statute.	Does breaking of an interior door constitute burglary?
15825	Bodnar v. Matheron, 154 N.Y.S.2d 596, 601 (Sur. 1956)	2	Checks drawn to named payee and endorsed by him in blank are payable to bearer. Negotiable Instruments Law, S 64.	Checks drawn to a named payee and endorsed by him in blank are payable to bearer. Negotiable Instruments Law, 64.	"Whether checks drawn to a payee and endorsed by him in blank, payable to bearer?"
15828	Marrero v. McDonnell Douglas Capital Corp., 200 Mich. App. 438, 443 (1993)	13	Doctrine of estoppel should be applied only where facts are unquestionable and wrong to be prevented undoubted.	The doctrine of estoppel should be applied only where the facts are unquestionable and the wrong to be prevented undoubted.	Should estoppel be applied only where the facts are unquestionable and the wrong to be prevented undoubted?
15829	Adams v. First Nat. Bank of Bells/Savoy, 154 S.W.3d 859, 869 (Tex. App. 2005)	14	A conveyance of an interest in real property must be in writing, signed by the grantor, and delivered to the grantee. V.T.C.A., Property Code S 5.021.	A conveyance of an interest in real property must be in writing, signed by the grantor, and delivered to the grantee.	Should conveyance of an interest in real property be in writing?
15834	Hickman v. Barclay's Int'l Realty, 5 So. 3d 804, 806 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2009)	3	It is the right of control, not actual control or descriptive labels employed by the parties, that determines an agency relationship.	And it is the right of control, not actual control or descriptive labels employed by the parties, that determines an agency relationship	Does the right of control determine an agency relationship?
15837	Indep. Gin Co. v. Parker, 19 Ariz. App. 413, 415 (1973)	5	Agency is question of intention of parties, as evidenced by their acts, and is not dependent upon what particular person in question is called.	Agency is a question of the intention of the parties, as evidenced by their acts, and is not dependent upon what the particular person in question is called.	Is agency a question of the intention of the parties?
15838	Turley v. Kotter, 263 Pa. Super. 523, 529, 398 A.2d 699, 702 (1979)	5	"Servant" is agent employed by master to perform service in his affairs whose physical conduct in performance of service is controlled or is subject to right to control by master.	A "servant" is an agent employed by a master to perform a service in his affairs whose Physical conduct, in the performance of the service is controlled or is subject to the right to control by the master.	Is a servant an agent?
15839	Przekopski v. Przekop, 124 Conn. App. 238, 244 (2010)	4	"Agency" is the fiduciary relationship which results from manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.	"Agency is the fiduciary relationship which results from manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.	"Is the one for whom an action is to be taken, a principal?"
15840	Leary v. Johnson, 159 Conn. 101, 105 (1970)	6	An essential ingredient of agency is that agent is doing something at the behest and for the benefit of the principal.	An essential ingredient of agency is that the agent is doing something at the behest and for the benefit of the principal.	"Is doing something at the behest and benefit of the principal, an essential ingredient of agency?"
15842	White v. Com. Med. Pro. Liab. Catastrophe Loss Fund, 131 Pa. Cmwlth. 567, 571, 571 A.2d 9, 11 (1990)	1	Question of whether enactment is tax or regulatory measure is determined by purposes for which it is enacted and not by its title.	The question of whether an enactment is a tax or regulatory measure is determined by the purposes for which it is enacted and not by its title. City of Wilkes-Barre v. Ebert, 22 Pa.Commonwealth Ct. 356, 349 A.2d 520 (1975).	What determines whether an enactment is a tax or regulatory measure?

15843	State v. Saltzman, 235 Neb. 964, 971, 458 N.W.2d 239, 244 (1990)	14	Terroristic threats statute does not require that recipient of threat be terrorized but, rather, requires that actor have intent to terrorize as result of threat.	Again, Saltzman misconstrues the terroristic threats statute. The statute requires not that the recipient of the threat be terrorized; rather, it requires, in relevant part, that the actor have the intent to terrorize another as a result of the threat.	Does the terroristic threats statute require that the recipient of the threat be terrorized?
15847	Commercial Credit Corp. v. Taylor, 448 S.W.2d 190, 194 (Tex. Civ. App. 1969)	4	Estoppel in pais may be invoked against a party only when he has failed to do that which he had a duty to do, and cannot be invoked because of failure to do that which he owed no duty to do.	The general rule is that estoppel in pais may be invoked against a party only when he has failed to do that which he had a duty to do, and cannot be invoked because of failure to do that which he owed no duty to do.	Can estoppel in pais be invoked when a party has failed to do that which he had a duty to do?
15848	Ingram-Clevenger v. Lewis & Clark Cty., 194 Mont. 43, 50 (1981)	6	Board of county commissioners is given discretion to do whatever is necessary for best interests of county roads. MCA 7-14-2103, 7-14-2103(3), 7-14-2601 et seq.	We must keep in mind that the board of county commissioners is given the discretion to do whatever is necessary for the best interests of county roads.	Does the Board of County Commissioners have discretion to act in matters related to county roads?
15851	Williams v. Nash, 428 So. 2d 96, 99 (Ala. Civ. App. 1983)	2	In those instances in which face of complaint fails to show that action is barred by affirmative defense, it may not be raised by a motion to dismiss but must be raised by an answer. Rules Civ.Proc., Rules 8(c), 12(b).	In those instances in which the face of the complaint fails to show that the action is barred by the affirmative defense, it may not be raised by a rule 12(b), A.R.Civ.P., motion but must be raised by an answer under rule 8(c), A.R.Civ.P.	Will an affirmative defense be raised by a motion to dismiss or by an answer?
15855	Jewett v. Town of Alton, 7 N.H. 253, 253 (1834)	1	Where an authority is given by law to three or more persons, it may, in general, be executed by a major part of the persons to whom it is so delegated; but where corporations or individuals give an authority jointly to three or more persons, in order to bind the principals, all the agents must act.	With respect to the note on which this suit is founded, the rule is that when an authority is given by law to three or more persons, it may in general be executed by a major part of the persons to whom it is delegated. But when individuals or corporations give an authority jointly to three or more persons, in order to bind the principal all the agents must act.	Does authority have to be exercised by a majority when it is given to three or more people?
15856	Violette v. Shoup, 16 Cal. App. 4th 611, 620, 20 Cal. Rptr. 2d 358, 363 (1993)	2	Person does not become agent of another simply by offering help or making suggestion.	A person does not become the agent of another simply by offering help or making a suggestion.	Will a person become the agent of another by offering help?
15857	White v. Revco Disc. Drug Centers, Inc., 33 S.W.3d 713, 724 (Tenn. 2000)	15	An agent may serve two masters simultaneously, so long as the objectives of one master are not contrary to the objectives of the other. Restatement (Second) of Agency § 226.	It is also well settled that an agent may serve two masters simultaneously, so long as the objectives of one master are not contrary to the objectives of the other. See Monroe County Motor Co. v. Tennessee Odin Ins. Co., 33 Tenn.App. 223, 241, 231 S.W.2d 386, 394 (1950).	When can an agent serve two masters simultaneously?

15858	Ferrentino v. Dime Sav. Bank of New York, F.S.B., 159 Misc. 2d 690, 691–92, 606 N.Y.S.2d 554, 555 (Sup. Ct. 1993)	2	Attorney-in-fact is merely special type of agent, and death of principal revokes authority of agent and power of attorney.	With respect to the Power of Attorney, an attorney-in- *692 fact is merely a special type of agent and the death of the principal revokes the authority of the agent and the power of attorney (see Etterle v. Excelsior Ins. Co. of New York, 74 A.D.2d 436, 428 N.Y.S.2d 95 [1980]; New York Life Ins. Co. v. Estate of Haelen, 137 Misc.2d 639, 521 N.Y.S.2d 970 [1987]).	Is an attorney-in-fact a special type of agent?
15861	Lehndorff Geneva v. Warren, 74 Wis. 2d 369, 389 (1976)	12	Power of state to apply its laws exclusively to aliens is exceedingly narrow.	We are mindful that the power of a state to apply its laws exclusively to aliens is exceedingly narrow.	Is the power of a state to apply its laws exclusively to aliens narrow?
15862	Arizona v. United States, 567 U.S. 387, 394–95 (2012)	1	Government of United States has broad, undoubted power over subject of immigration and status of aliens, resting, in part, on its constitutional power to "establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization," and its inherent power as sovereign to control and conduct relations with foreign nations. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 8, cl. 4.	First, the federal government "has broad, undoubted power over the subject of immigration and the status of aliens," authority that rests on the constitutional power to "establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization," Art. I, 8, cl. 4, and on the national government's "inherent power as sovereign to control and conduct relations with foreign nations."	Does the federal government of United States have the power to regulate immigration?
15864	Jacobson v. Fed. Deposit Ins. Corp., 407 F. Supp. 821, 827 (S.D. Iowa 1976)	4	Under Iowa law, a negotiable instrument is discharged when the principal debtor becomes the holder thereof at or after maturity in his own right. I.C.A. SS 541.120(5), 554.3601-554.3606.	Under Iowa law, "a negotiable instrument is discharged when the principal debtor becomes the holder thereof at or after maturity in his own right."	When is a negotiable instrument discharged?
15865	Nat'l Leasing Corp. v. Williams, 80 F.R.D. 416, 419 (W.D. Pa. 1978)	6	Obligations of maker of note are determined by law of state designated on instrument as place of payment.	The obligations of the maker of a note are determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument as the place of payment.	By what law are the obligations of the maker of a note determined?
15866	Jacobsen v. Bunker, 699 P.2d 1208, 1209 (Utah 1985)	2	Legal effect of promissory notes is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	The rule is the same for promissory notes. Their legal effect is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	What law governs the legal effect of a promissory note?
15868	Commercial Bank & Tr. Co. v. Canale, 450 So. 2d 761, 762 (La. Ct. App. 1984)	1	Equitable estoppel is not favored and is invoked sparingly because it bars normal assertion of rights.	Equitable estoppels are not favored in Louisiana and are invoked sparingly because they bar the normal assertion of rights.	Does equitable estoppel bar the normal assertion of rights?
15869	Succession of Valdez, 44 So. 2d 151, 157 (La. Ct. App. 1950)	8	The doctrine of estoppel is applicable only to ignorance of matters of fact, and not to acknowledgments or statements of propositions of law.	The doctrine of estoppel is applicable only to ignorance of matters of fact, and not to acknowledgments or statements of propositions of law.	Is estoppel applicable only to acknowledgements of matters of fact?

15870	Tollett v. Franklin Equities, 586 S.W.2d 96, 97 (Tenn. 1979)	1	Corporate franchise tax is not an ad valorem property tax but is a tax levied upon privilege of engaging in business in corporate form in the state, and is levied upon net worth or capital of the corporation. T.C.A. S 67-2908.	The parties recognize that the corporate franchise tax is not an ad valorem property tax but is a tax levied upon the privilege of engaging in business in corporate form in this state. See Crown Enterprises, Inc. v. Woods, 557 S.W.2d 491 (Tenn.1977). It is levied upon the net worth or capital of the corporation.	What is corporate franchise tax?
15872	Kartman v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 634 F.3d 883, 890 (7th Cir. 2011)	7	Essence of an insurance policy is a promise by the insurer to compensate the insured for the loss of something of value that is covered under the policy, thereby shifting the risk of loss from the insured to the insurer.	The essence of an insurance policy is a promise by the insurer to compensate the insured for the loss of something of value that is covered under the policy, thereby shifting the risk of loss from the insured to the insurer.	What is the essence of an insurance policy?
15874	Prime Locations of CT v. Rocky Hill Dev., 167 Conn. App. 786, 802-03 (2016)	11	The purpose of a complaint is to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and is calculated to prevent surprise.	"The purpose of the complaint is to limit the issues to be decided at the trial of a case and is calculated to *803 prevent surprise.	Is limiting the issues at trial the purpose of a complaint?
15876	F.D.I.C. v. Finlay, 832 S.W.2d 158, 161 (Tex. App. 1992)	2	Trial court may not orally reinstate case that was dismissed for one of prosecution.	For example, a trial court may not orally reinstate a case that was dismissed for want of prosecution.	Can a trial court orally reinstate a case that was dismissed for want of prosecution?
15882	Nat'l Leasing Corp. v. Williams, 80 F.R.D. 416, 419 (W.D. Pa. 1978)	6	Obligations of maker of note are determined by law of state designated on instrument as place of payment.	The obligations of the maker of a note are determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument as the place of payment.	Which law determines the obligations of the maker of a note?
15883	Com. v. Knepp, 307 Pa. Super. 535, 540, 453 A.2d 1016, 1018 (1982)	6	In imposing sentence, sentencing court must consider particular circumstances of offense and character of defendant. 42 Pa.C.S.A. SS 9731 et seq., 9732.	In imposing sentence, the sentencing court must consider the particular circumstances of the offense and the character of the defendant in reaching its determination.	Should the sentencing court consider the character of the defendant in reaching its determination?
15884	United States v. Real Prop. Identified as: Parcel 03179-005R, 287 F. Supp. 2d 45, 56 (D.D.C. 2003)	5	Civil forfeiture does not constitute punishment for the purpose of the Double Jeopardy Clause. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	2135, 135 L.Ed.2d 549 (1996), the Supreme Court held that "civil forfeiture does not constitute punishment for the purpose of the Double Jeopardy Clause."	"Does civil forfeiture not constitute ""punishment"" for purpose of a double jeopardy clause?"
15888	Taranto Amusement Co. v. Mitchell Assocs., 820 So. 2d 726, 729 (Miss. Ct. App. 2002)	3	A waiver presupposes a full knowledge of a right existing, and an intentional surrender or relinquishment of that right.	Under Mississippi case law, a "waiver" presupposes a full knowledge of a right existing, and an intentional surrender or relinquishment of that right.	Does waiver presuppose a full knowledge of a right existing?
15890	United States v. London, 714 F.2d 1558, 1564 (11th Cir. 1983)	3	False writing can be made by any number of artificial means and still fall within ambit of common-law forgery.	We hold that a false writing can be made by any number of artificial means and still fall within the ambit of common law forgery.	Can forgery be made by artificial means including photocopy machine?

15892	Commercial Union Assur. Companies v. Kaplan, 152 N.J. Super. 273, 278, 377 A.2d 957, 959 (Law. Div. 1977)	4	Insurance law recognizes insurance as an instrument of social policy and a means by which innocent victims of negligence are compensated.	This is contrary to the letter and spirit of insurance law in this State which recognizes insurance as an instrument of social policy and a means by which innocent victims of negligence are compensated.	Is insurance an instrument of social policy?
15896	Lake Meredith Reservoir Co. v. Amity Mut. Irr. Co., 698 P.2d 1340, 1344 (Colo. 1985)	2	District courts have inherent power to dismiss claim for failure to prosecute. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b)(1, 2).	The district courts have the inherent power to dismiss a claim for failure to prosecute.	Do courts have inherent power to dismiss claim for failure to prosecute?
15897	Holcomb v. Com., 58 Va. App. 339, 348, 709 S.E.2d 711, 715 (2011)	9	A "threat," in the criminal context, is recognized to be a communication avowing an intent to injure another's person or property.	"A threat, in the criminal context, is recognized to be a communication avowing an intent to injure another's person or property."	How is a threat recognized in the criminal context?
15901	Nat'l Leasing Corp. v. Williams, 80 F.R.D. 416, 419 (W.D. Pa. 1978)	6	Obligations of maker of note are determined by law of state designated on instrument as place of payment.	The obligations of the maker of a note are determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument as the place of payment.	Which law determines the obligation of the maker of a note?
15903	Zettel v. Paschen Contractors, Inc., 100 Ill. App. 3d 614, 617, 427 N.E.2d 189, 191 (1981)	2	An agreement to obtain insurance is not agreement of insurance; person promising to obtain insurance does not by that promise become insurer although he may assume liabilities of one if he breaches agreement.	An agreement to obtain insurance is not an agreement of insurance; a person promising to obtain insurance does not by that promise become an insurer although he may assume the liabilities of one if he breaches the agreement.	Is an agreement to obtain insurance an agreement of insurance?
15908	In Interest of Doe, 7 Haw. App. 582, 584 (1990)	1	Words and hand gestures are not essential elements of crime of harassment. HRS S 711-1106(1)(b).	Words and hand gestures are not essential elements of the crime of harassment as proscribed by HRS 711-1106(1)(b).	Are words and hand gestures essential elements of the crime of harassment?
15914	Velez v. Clarinda Corr. Facility, 791 F.3d 831, 834 (8th Cir. 2015)	2	When defendant has been charged with multiple offenses under same statute and arising out of same transaction, court must look to whether state legislature intended facts underlying each count to constitute separate unit of prosecution, and if unit of prosecution intended by legislature prescribes multiple punishments under same statute and conceivably arising from same incident, the Double Jeopardy Clause is not violated. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	When a defendant has been charged with multiple offenses under the same statute and arising out of the same transaction, we must look to whether the state legislature intended the facts underlying each count to constitute a separate unit of prosecution. Bell v. United States, 349 U.S. 81, 83-84, 75 S.Ct. 620, 99 L.Ed. 905 (1955). If the unit of prosecution intended by the legislature prescribes multiple punishments under the same statute and conceivably arising from the same incident, the Double Jeopardy Clause is not violated.	Does a double jeopardy clause ensure a defendant that he will not suffer more than one punishment or incessant prosecutions for a same breach of law?
15915	Jensen v. Fremont Motors Cody, Inc., 2002 WY 173, ¶ 16, 58 P.3d 322, 327 (Wyo. 2002)	4	While the necessary intent for waiver of a right may be implied from conduct, the conduct should speak the intent clearly.	"While the necessary intent for waiver may be implied from conduct, the conduct should speak the intent clearly."	"While intent for waiver may be implied from conduct, should the conduct speak the intent clearly?"

15917	El Paso Refining v. Scurlock Permian Corp., 77 S.W.3d 374, 384 (Tex. App. 2002)	17	Usury is a personal defense and may not be asserted by a guarantor unless the contract with the guarantor also contains the usurious provision.	This conclusion comports with Texas law which holds that "[u]sury is a personal defense and may not be asserted by a guarantor unless the contract with the guarantor also contains the usurious provision."	Can an individual guarantor assert a defense of usury?
15918	Rubinfeld v. Mappa, 42 Misc. 2d 464, 464, 248 N.Y.S.2d 276, 277 (Sup. Ct. 1964), aff'd, 24 A.D.2d 489, 261 N.Y.S.2d 274 (1965)	2	It is not title of action or prayer for judgment but facts set out in complaint which determine kind and character of action. CPLR S 6501.	It is not the title of the action, nor the prayer for judgment, but the facts set out in the complaint which determined the kind and character of the action (Weisinger v. Rae, 19 Misc.2d 341, p. 346 et seq., 188 N.Y.S.2d 10, p. 17, et seq.).	Does the title of a complaint does determine the character of the action?
15919	Davaloo v. State Farm Ins. Co., 135 Cal. App. 4th 409, 418, 37 Cal. Rptr. 3d 528, 537 (2005)	12	The allegations in the body of the complaint, not the caption, constitute the cause of action against the defendant.	As an initial matter, the allegations in the body of the complaint, not the caption, constitute the cause of action against the defendant.	Do the allegations in the body of the complaint constitute the cause of action against the defendant?
15921	In re Ryan D., 100 Cal. App. 4th 854, 861, 123 Cal. Rptr. 2d 193, 198 (2002)	7	Criminal-threat statute does not require that threat be personally communicated to victim by person who makes threat. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 422.	Section 422 does not require that a threat be personally communicated to the victim by the person who makes the threat.	Does the criminal-threat statute require that the threat be personally communicated to the victim by the person who makes the threat?
15922	Salvatierra v. Calderon, 836 So. 2d 149, 155 (2002)	11	Residence of itself does not constitute domicile, but it has been one of the important elements in determining question of domicile.	Residence of itself does not constitute domicile, but it has been one of the 9 important elements in determining the question of domicile.	Is residence one of the important elements in determining question of domicile?
15923	State v. Schubert, 212 N.J. 295, 304 (2012)	5	A core principal of the jurisprudence of England and America is that no man can be twice lawfully punished for the same offense.	A core principal of "the jurisprudence of England and America ... is that no man can be twice lawfully punished for the same offense.' "	Can a man be twice lawfully punished for the same offense?
15925	In re A.G., 21 N.E.3d 355, 360 (2014)	4	The state constitution provides the same double jeopardy protections as the federal constitution, proscribing both successive prosecutions and successive punishments for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; Const. Art. 1, S 10.	The Ohio Constitution also provides the same double jeopardy protections as the United States Constitution-proscribing both successive prosecutions and successive punishments for the same offense.	What are the constitutional protections double jeopardy provides?
15926	Givens v. State, 144 A.3d 717, 743 (Md. 2016)	8	The Double Jeopardy Clause of the Fifth Amendment is fully applicable to state criminal proceedings; the double jeopardy prohibition is also part of Maryland common law. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	the Double Jeopardy Clause of the Fifth Amendment is fully applicable to [S]tate criminal proceedings. The double jeopardy prohibition is also part of Maryland common law[.]"	Is the double jeopardy prohibition part of the common law?
15929	Skipper v. State, 257 Ga. 802, 804 (1988)	2	Other than penetration of female sex organ by male sex organ, infliction of physical injury is not element of offense of rape. O.C.G.A. S 16-6-1.	Other than the penetration of the female sex organ by the male sex organ, the infliction of physical injury is not an element of the offense of rape. OCGA 16-6-1	Is physical injury an element of rape?
15930	Ex parte Ueno, 971 S.W.2d 560, 562 (Tex. App. 1998)	14	In state court, jeopardy attaches in bench trial when defendant pleads to indictment. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	In Texas, jeopardy attaches in a bench trial when the defendant pleads to the indictment.	Will jeopardy attach in case of bench trial when the defendant pleads to the indictment?

15931	State v. Juarez, 115 Wash. App. 881, 887 (2003)	6	Jeopardy attaches after jury is selected and sworn; it is not necessary that argument or testimony be presented. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, S 9.	Jeopardy attaches after the jury is selected and sworn. It is not necessary that argument or testimony be presented.	Is it necessary to present testimony or argument once jeopardy attaches?
15934	State v. Letell, 103 So. 3d 1129, 1136 (2012)	2	Double Jeopardy Clause protects the accused against multiple punishments for the same offense as well as a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal or conviction. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Double Jeopardy Clause protects the accused against multiple punishments for the same offense as well as a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal or conviction.	Do federal and state constitutions provide that no person shall be put in jeopardy twice for the same criminal offense?
15935	Bies v. Bagley, 519 F.3d 324, 339 (6th Cir. 2008)	17	Double Jeopardy Clause does not allow a state to prevent relitigation of an issue. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The Double Jeopardy Clause, however, has never been applied to allow a state to prevent relitigation of an issue.	Does double Jeopardy Clause allow a state to prevent relitigation of an issue?
15937	People v. Crane, 308 Ill. App. 3d 675, 686 (1999)	13	Where the defendant is acquitted of an offense, the bar of double jeopardy descends, and the State is precluded from reprosecuting the defendant for the same offense. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; S.H.A. Const. Art. 1, S 10.	Where the defendant is acquitted of an offense, the bar of double jeopardy descends, and the State becomes barred from reprosecuting the defendant for the same offense.	"Regardless of whether it is the state or the defendant seeking a trial de novo, do double jeopardy principles preclude the state from reprosecuting the defendant?"
15942	Mountain View/Evergreen Imp. & Serv. Dist. v. Brooks Water & Sewer Dist., 896 P.2d 1355, 1362 (Wyo. 1995)	5	Only duly elected government officials of state, county, or municipality can authorize taxation for public as a whole.	This is necessary because only duly elected government officials of a state, a county, or a municipality can authorize taxation for the public as a whole.	Who can authorize taxation for public as a whole?
15944	Greater Poughkeepsie Libr. Dist. v. Town of Poughkeepsie, 81 N.Y.2d 574, 580, 618 N.E.2d 127, 130 (1993)	5	Power to tax may not be delegated to administrative agencies or other governmental departments. McKinney's Const. Art. 3, S 1; Art. 16, S 1.	The power to tax may not, however, be delegated to administrative agencies or other governmental departments (Gautier v. Ditmar, 204 N.Y. at 27-28, 97 N.E. 464; Matter of Brooklyn Children's Aid Socy. v. Prendergast, 166 App.Div. 852, 861, 151 N.Y.S. 720, affd. 215 N.Y. 705, 109 N.E. 1066).	Can the power to tax be delegated to administrative agencies or other governmental departments?
15945	City of Camden v. Byrne, 82 N.J. 133, 156, 411 A.2d 462, 473 (1980)	17	Even an impost for county and township purposes is a state tax; it can be imposed by no other authority.	Even "an impost for county and township purposes is a State tax; it can be imposed by no other authority."	Is an impost for county and township purposes a state tax?
15948	Matter of R.D., 486 S.W.3d 130, 134 (Tex. App. 2016)	5	It is immaterial to a threat offense whether the accused had the capability or the intention to carry out his threat.	But "it is immaterial to [a threat] offense whether the accused had the capability or the intention to carry out his threat."	Is it material to a threat offense whether the accused has the capability or intention to carry out his threat?
15951	Creative Ventures v. Jim Ward & Assocs., 195 Cal. App. 4th 1430, 1447, 126 Cal. Rptr. 3d 564, 577 (2011)	11	The general rule is that the assignee takes subject to all equities and defenses existing in favor of the maker. West's Ann.Cal.Civ.Code S 1459.	Thus, the general rule is that the assignee takes subject to all equities and defenses existing in favor of the maker.	Does the assignee stand on the same footing with regard to the equities and defenses available to the maker?
15952	Henderson v. U.S Patent Comm'n, Ltd., 188 F. Supp. 3d 798, 801 (N.D. Ill. 2016)	2	A party may not be compelled under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) to submit to class arbitration unless there is a contractual basis for concluding that the party agreed to do so. 9 U.S.C.A. S 4.	Accordingly, "a party may not be compelled under the FAA to submit to class arbitration unless there is a contractual basis for concluding that the party agreed to do so."	Can parties be forced to arbitrate on a class-wide basis?

15953	State v. Yell, 104 N.H. 87, 88 (1962)	2	Word "fraudulent" in indictment charging embezzlement includes "intent" to do act and is descriptive of motive.	The word 'fraudulent' in an indictment charging embezzlement includes an 'intent' to do the act and is descriptive of the motive.	What does the word fraudulent imply in an indictment charging embezzlement?
15954	United States v. Henry, 111 F.3d 111, 113 (11th Cir. 1997)	3	Power of Congress to control immigration is plenary and vests Congress with broad discretion in defining offenses in the area.	The power of Congress to control immigration is plenary and vests Congress with broad discretion in defining offenses in the area.	Does Congress have plenary power over immigration?
15955	Marshall v. Wait, 628 F.2d 1255, 1258 (9th Cir. 1980)	4	An individual who enters a particular industry is put on notice of the likelihood of unannounced nonconsensual warrantless inspections by both the history and degree of regulation and, by accepting the benefits of the trade, he also accepts the burden of regulation and thereby consents to the necessity of inspection; consequently, there can be no reasonable expectation of privacy at least as to administrative inspections. U.S.C.A.Const. Amend. 4.	An individual who enters into a particular industry is put on notice of the likelihood of unannounced nonconsensual warrantless inspections by both the history and degree of regulation. By accepting the benefits of the trade, the entrepreneur also accepts the burden of regulation and thereby consents to the necessity of inspection. See Almeida-Sanchez v. United States, 413 U.S. 266, 270, 271, 93 S.Ct. 2535, 37 L.Ed.2d 596 (1973). Consequently, there can be no reasonable expectation of privacy, at least as to administrative inspections.	Is an individual operating within a highly regulated industry bound to administrative inspection?
15956	Levine v. 418 Meadow St. Assocs., 163 Conn. App. 701, 708 (2016)	5	The right to an appeal is not a constitutional one; rather, it is but a statutory privilege available to one who strictly complies with the statutes and rules on which the privilege is granted.	"The right to an appeal is not a constitutional one. It is but a statutory privilege available to one who strictly complies with the statutes and rules on which the privilege is granted."	Is right to appeal constitutional?
15960	Doe v. Unocal Corp., 110 F. Supp. 2d 1294, 1304 (C.D. Cal. 2000), aff'd in part, rev'd in part sub nom. Doe I v. Unocal Corp., 395 F.3d 932 (9th Cir. 2002), on reh'g en banc sub nom. John Doe I v. Unocal Corp., 403 F.3d 708 (9th Cir. 2005), and opinion vacated, appeal dismissed sub nom. John Doe I v. Unocal Corp., 403 F.3d 708 (9th Cir. 2005)	3	Violations of international law actionable under Alien Tort Claims Act (ATCA) must be of a norm that is specific, universal, and obligatory. 28 U.S.C.A. S 1350.	Actionable violations of international law must be of a norm that is specific, universal, and obligatory.	"Should a ""norm of international law"" be specific, universal, and obligatory?"

15962	Holsomback v. Akins, 134 Ga.App. 543 (Ga.App., 1975)	7	Where check was given by payee's stepmother in consideration of payee's relinquishment of his share of his father's estate, a contract was formed with stepmother which was binding on her estate and which was not revoked by stepmother's death, and in such case the check might be used as evidence in support of payee's claim of indebtedness against the stepmother but not as evidence of the indebtedness itself. Code, S 113-1525.	Appellant's strongest contention is that the check was given in consideration of his relinquishment of his share of his father's estate, and, therefore, a contract was formed with decedent which is binding on her estate. This contract obligation is not revoked by the promisor's death. Code s 113-1525. See e.g. Allen v. Confederate Publishing Co., 121 Ga. 773(1), 49 S.E. 782; Young v. Lewis, 70 Ga.App. 627, 29 S.E.2d 267. In such a case 'the check may in a proper action be used as evidence in support of the payee's claim of indebtedness against the decedent but not as evidence of the indebtedness itself.' Lambeth v.	Can a check be used as evidence in support of the payees claim of indebtedness?
15963	Champion Auto Sales v. Polaris Sales Inc., 943 F. Supp. 2d 346, 351 (E.D.N.Y. 2013)	3	Under the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), the Court resolves doubts in favor of arbitration and enforces privately-negotiated arbitration agreements in accordance with their terms. 9 U.S.C.A. S 2.	In keeping with this policy, the Court resolves doubts in favor of arbitration and enforces privately-negotiated arbitration agreements in accordance with their terms.	How do courts enforce privately-negotiated arbitration agreements?
15964	Wyoming Sawmills Inc. v. U.S. Forest Serv., 383 F.3d 1241, 1250 (10th Cir. 2004)	7	United States Forest Service's action will be reversed only if it is arbitrary, capricious, otherwise not in accordance with the law, or not supported by substantial evidence.	Our standard of review is a deferential one, and we will reverse the Forest Service's action only if it is " 'arbitrary, capricious, otherwise not in accordance with the law, or not supported by substantial evidence.' "	What is the standard of review for reviewing the Forest Services action?
15965	Ellis v. Gilbert, 19 Utah 2d 189, 191, 429 P.2d 39, 40 (1967)	4	Among proper purposes in proceedings before trial is exploration of possibility of resolving dispute without trial.	Cognate to the thought just expressed is the fact that among the proper purposes of the proceedings prior to trial is the exploration of the possibility of resolving the dispute without trial.	What is among the proper purposes in proceedings before trial?
15967	Carnes v. Meadowbrook Exec. Bldg. Corp., 17 Kan. App. 2d 292, 292, 836 P.2d 1212, 1214 (1992)	8	Primary purposes of pretrial conference are to reduce, if not completely remove, uncertainty from trial, to determine exactly what issues are involved, and to establish what procedures are to be followed.	The primary purposes of a pretrial conference are to reduce, if not completely remove, uncertainty from the trial; determine exactly what issues are involved; and establish what procedures are to be followed.	What is the primary purpose of a pretrial conference?
15970	Maharishi Sch. Vedic Scis. v. Connecticut Constitution Assocs. Ltd. P'ship, 260 Conn. 598, 607 (2002)	8	"Apparent authority" is that semblance of authority that a principal, through its own acts or inadvertences, causes or allows third persons to believe the principal's agent possesses.	Apparent authority is that semblance of authority that a principal, through its own acts or inadvertences, causes or allows third persons to believe the principal's agent possesses.	What is an apparent authority in a principal-agent relation?

15972	Soliz v. State, 163 Tex. Crim. 508, 509 (1956)	2	A prosecutrix in a statutory rape case is not an accomplice witness and a conviction for statutory rape can be sustained upon her uncorroborated testimony.	We observe, however, that a prosecutrix in a rape case is not an accomplice witness and a conviction for statutory rape can be sustained upon her uncorroborated testimony.	Can a prosecutrix become an accomplice in a rape case?
15974	Sayers v. Artistic Kitchen Design LLC, 280 Ga. App. 223, 226 (2006)	4	Purpose of requests for admissions is to expedite trial and clarify the issues in a case, not gain tactical advantage over an opponent.	Moreover, "the purpose of requests for admissions is to expedite trial and clarify the issues in a case, not gain tactical advantage over an opponent."	May requests for admissions not be used as a tactical device to trap unwary pro se litigants?
15978	Cropp v. Woelagel, 207 Kan. 627, 627, 485 P.2d 1271, 1272 (1971)	4	In the encouragement of settlement at a pretrial conference, it is not function of trial court to coerce or compel a litigant to make a settlement. K.S.A. 60-216.	In the encouragement of settlement at a pretrial conference, it is not the function of a trial court to coerce or compel a litigant to make a settlement.	Can a court compel a litigant to make a settlement during a pretrial conference?
15981	Hayes v. Midland Credit Co., 173 Minn. 554, 554 (1928)	4	Person lending commercial paper to accommodate another may limit use to be made thereof, unless it passes to holder in due course.	A person who loans commercial paper for the accommodation of another may limit the use to be made thereof, unless it passes to a holder in due course.	Can the accommodation party limit the use of accommodation paper for a specific purpose?
15982	Thomas v. Leonard Truck Lines, 7 So. 2d 753, 756 (La. Ct. App. 1942)	10	A pleader is not "estopped" by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged anyone.	In addition to this, a pleader is not estopped by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged anyone.	Is a pleader estopped by judicial allegations which have neither deceived nor damaged?
15987	John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Fid.-Baltimore Nat. Bank & Tr. Co., 212 Md. 506, 511, 129 A.2d 815, 819 (1957)	3	Generally, law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intend to govern, and, therefore, if bill or note contains express provision that it shall be governed by laws of a particular state, such laws will govern.	It seems generally to be conceded that the proper law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intended to govern. Accordingly, if the bill or note contains express provisions that it shall be governed by the laws of a particular state, those laws govern.	Is the law which the parties to the instrument intended the proper law governing a bill or note?
15991	State ex rel. Pub. Welfare Comm'n v. Malheur Cty. Court, 185 Or. 392, 412 (1949)	8	The power to tax is a legislative power which cannot be delegated to an administrative body, but a county court is a governmental body to which both the power and the duty to tax may be delegated.	The power to tax is a legislative power which cannot be delegated to an administrative body, Multnomah County v. Luihn, supra; but, a county court is a governmental body to which both the power and duty to tax may be delegated.	Can the legislature delegate the power to tax to an administrative board
15992	Bennett v. Van Doren Indus., 262 Kan. 426, 426, 939 P.2d 874, 875 (1997)	1	Legal sufficiency of claim is determined from well-pled facts in petition. Rules Civ.Proc., K.S.A. 60-212(b)(6).	Under K.S.A. 60-212(b)(6), the legal sufficiency of a claim is to be determined from the well-pled facts in the petition.	Is the legal sufficiency of claim determined from well-pled facts in a petition?
15994	Mavrix Photographs v. Livejournal, 873 F.3d 1045, 1055 (9th Cir. 2017)	12	Whether an agency relationship exists depends on the level of control a principal exerts over the agent.	Whether an agency relationship exists also depends on the level of control a principal exerts over the agent.	Does an agency relationship depend on the level of control?
15996	In re Magnani, 223 B.R. 177, 181 (N.D. Iowa 1997)	10	Under Iowa law, dissolution does not effect change in partner's interest in specific partnership property.	Neither does dissolution effect a change in a partner's interest in specific partnership property.	Does dissolution effect a change in a partners interest in partnership property?

15999	Dade Cty. Sch. Bd. v. Radio Station WQBA, 731 So. 2d 638, 646 (Fla. 1999)	15	Doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation is not created by a contract, but by the legal consequences of the acts and relationships of the parties.	"Is ""equitable subrogation"" or ""legal subrogation"" broadly applied in every conceivable type of transaction in which the party invoking the doctrine has been required to pay a debt for which another is primarily answerable?"
16003	Razete v. United States, 199 F.2d 44, 48 (6th Cir. 1952)	4	"Graft" means an advantage which one person by reason of his peculiar position of superiority, influence or trust, exacts from another, and also includes the fraudulent obtaining of public money by the corruption of public officials.	Graft means an advantage which one person by reason of his peculiar position of superiority, influence or trust exacts from another. It also includes the fraudulent obtaining of public money by the corruption of public officials.	"What is the meaning of the word ""graft""?"
16004	Bonin v. Vannaman, 261 Kan. 199, 209 (Kan., 1996)	7	Nature of a claim-whether it sounds in tort or contract-is determined from pleadings and from real nature and substance of facts therein alleged.	The nature of a claim-whether it sounds in tort or contract -is determined from the pleadings and from the real nature and substance of the facts therein alleged.	"Is the nature of a claim, whether it sounds in tort or contracts, determined from the pleadings?"
16008	State Bd. of Ret. v. Bulger, 446 Mass. 169, 179 (2006)	6	The standard for removing a clerk-magistrate from office, where required by the "public good," is broad, and in contrast, the standard for pension forfeiture based on dereliction of duty is more narrow and specific. M.G.L.A. c. 211, S 4; c. 32, S 15(4).	As enunciated by G.L. c. 211, 4, and by our case law, the standard for removing a clerk-magistrate from office, where required by the "public good," is broad. In contrast, the standard for pension forfeiture based on dereliction of duty is more narrow and specific.	What is the standard for pension forfeiture of a clerk based on dereliction of duty?
16012	Schedlmayer v. Trans Int'l Airlines, 99 Misc. 2d 478, 483, 416 N.Y.S.2d 461, 465 (Civ. Ct. 1979)	10	Negligence of bailor which contributes to loss of bailed item will generally exonerate bailee, and burden of proving such contributory negligence is upon the bailee. CPLR 1412.	Negligence of the bailor which contributes to the loss of a bailed item will generally exonerate the bailee (Osborn v. Cline, 263 N.Y. 434, 189 N.E. 483). The burden of proving such contributory negligence is upon the defendant (CPLR 1412).	"Will the negligence of the bailor, contributing to the loss, exonerate the bailee from liability?"
16013	Rinn v. First Union Nat. Bank of Maryland, 176 B.R. 401, 408 (D. Md. 1995)	12	Founded on principles of natural reason and justice, subrogation is highly favored doctrine and expansively applied.	Founded on principles of natural reason and justice, subrogation is a highly favored doctrine and expansively applied.	Is the doctrine of subrogation expansively applied?
16014	City of Columbus v. Anglin, 120 Ga. 785, 48 S.E. 318, 320 (1904)120 Ga. 785	14	The abstract and primary rights and duties of men are determined by the substantive law, which is ever in operation but no action can be based upon substantive law alone. When there is an invasion of primary rights, then, and not until then the adjective or remedial law becomes operative and under it arise rights of action.	The abstract and primary rights and duties of men are determined by the substantive law, which is ever in operation, but no action can be based upon substantive law alone. When there is an invasion of primary rights, then, and not until then, the adjective or remedial law becomes operative, and under it arise rights of action.	When does remedial law become operative in a cause of action?

16015	Countryside Co-op. v. Harry A. Koch Co., 280 Neb. 795, 804–05, 790 N.W.2d 873, 883 (2010)	18	Generally, "subrogation" is the right of one, who has paid an obligation which another should have paid, to be indemnified by the other.	Generally, subrogation is the right of one, who has paid an obligation which another should have paid, to be indemnified by the other.	"Is subrogation the right of one, who has paid an obligation which another should have paid, to be indemnified by the other?"
16018	Lawrence v. Cooper Indep. Theatres, 177 Kan. 125, 130 (1954)	7	Restrictions against assignment of lease constitutes prohibitions against the right of alienation, and they are not favored by court and are to be strictly construed, and are not implied.	Restrictions against assignment constitute prohibitions against the right of alienation. They are not favored by the courts, are to be strictly construed, and are not implied.	Are restrictions on assignments strictly construed?
16019	State v. Longo, 32 N.J.L. 515, 519 (Sup. Ct. 1945)	2	The "person" defrauded, within meaning of forgery statutes, can be a state, county, or other governmental unit.	The 'person' defrauded, within the meaning of forgery statutes, can be a state, county or other governmental unit.	Does the person defrauded within the forgery statutes include government or other authorities?
16020	State v. Spence, 131 Or. App. 392, 395 (1994)	1	One is guilty of forgery when one makes instrument which purports to be authentic creation of its ostensible maker, but is not authentic because ostensible maker is fictitious. ORS 165.002(4), 165.007.	Thus, one is guilty of forgery when one makes an instrument which purports to be an authentic creation of its ostensible maker, but is not authentic because "the ostensible maker is fictitious."	When is one guilty of forgery?
16021	Cattle National Bank & Trust Co. v. Watson, 293 Neb. 943, 944, 880 N.W.2d 906, 912 (2016)	12	A "guaranty" is a contract by which the guarantor promises to make payment if the principal debtor defaults.	A guaranty is a contract by which the guarantor promises to make payment if the principal debtor defaults.	Will a promise to make payment for the default of another amount to guaranty?
16026	Bates v. Northwestern Human Services, 466 F. Supp. 2d 69, 103 (D.D.C. 2006)	23	While accounting is extraordinary remedy, it may nevertheless be appropriate when plaintiff is unable to determine how much, if any, money is due him from another.	While an accounting is admittedly "an extraordinary remedy," it may nevertheless be appropriate when a plaintiff is unable "to determine how much, if any, money is due him from another."	What is accounting?
16027	Eubank v. First Nat. Bank of Bellville, 814 S.W.2d 130, 133 (Tex. App. 1991)	4	Guaranty creates secondary obligation whereby guarantor promises to answer for debt of another and may be called upon to perform once primary obligor has failed to perform.	A guaranty creates a secondary obligation whereby the guarantor promises to answer for the debt of another and may be called upon to perform once the primary obligor has failed to perform.	How does a guaranty create a secondary obligation on the guarantor?
16032	Kelly v. Rainelle Coal Co., 135 W. Va. 594, 604 (1951)	17	A "profit a prendre in gross" is in the nature of an estate in land rather than an easement and is assignable and inheritable.	A profit a prendre in gross is in the nature of an estate in land rather than an easement, and is assignable and inheritable.	Is profit a prendre in gross assignable and heritable?
16033	Andrews v. Jackson Cty., 43 Mich. App. 160, 164, 203 N.W.2d 925, 927 (1972)	7	There is no right to pollute; local government may take reasonable regulatory action under the police power to prevent pollution.	There is no right to pollute and local government may take reasonable regulatory action under the police power to abate or prevent pollution.	Is there a right to pollute?
16036	Chapman v. Chapman, 526 So. 2d 131, 135 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1988)	9	Duty owed by life tenant to remaindermen is comparable to that of a trustee or quasi-trustee, as life tenant cannot injure the property to the detriment of the rights of the remaindermen.	The duty owed by life tenants to remaindermen is comparable to that of a trustee or quasi-trustee, because the life tenant cannot injure the property to the detriment of the rights of the remaindermen.	What is the nature of relationship between a life tenant and a remainderman?

16037	Burton v. Hilltop Care Ctr., 813 N.W.2d 250, 257 (Iowa 2012)	7	When determining whether an agency has been clearly vested with the authority to interpret a provision of law, reviewing court does not focus its inquiry on whether the agency does or does not have the broad authority to interpret the act as a whole; instead, each case requires a careful look at the specific language the agency has interpreted as well as the specific duties and authority given to the agency with respect to enforcing particular statutes. I.C.A. S 17A.19(10)(c, l).	When determining whether an agency has been clearly vested with the authority to interpret a provision of law, [w]e do not focus our inquiry on whether the agency does or does not have the broad authority to interpret the act as a whole. Instead, when determining whether the legislature has clearly vested the agency with authority to interpret, "each case requires a careful look at the specific language the agency has interpreted as well as the specific duties and authority given to the agency with respect to enforcing particular statutes."	Is it required that an agency be vested with express authority to interpret a statute?
16039	Cislo v. City of Shelton, 35 Conn. Supp. 645, 654, 405 A.2d 84, 89 (Super. Ct. 1978)	8	Courts must search for statutory authority for municipal enactment rather than search for a statutory prohibition against it.	Moreover, the courts must search for statutory authority for the enactment rather than searching for a statutory prohibition against it; Avonside, Inc.	Do the courts to search for a statutory prohibition for an enactment while determining whether a regulation was enacted within the authority of the enactor?
16046	Framlau Corp. v. Dembling, 360 F. Supp. 806, 808 (Pa. 1973)	1	Administrative Procedure Act, being remedial and not jurisdictional, cannot serve as an independent basis for jurisdiction. 5 U.S.C.A. S 701 et seq.	Since the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 701 et seq. is remedial and not jurisdictional it cannot serve as an independent basis for jurisdiction here.	Is Administrative Procedure Act a jurisdictional statute?
16048	Merrill v. Davis, 100 N.M. 552, 553 (1983)	2	For a marriage to be valid, it must be formally entered into by contract and solemnized before an appropriate official. NMSA 1978, SS 40-1-1, 40-1-2.	For a marriage to be valid, it must be formally entered into by contract and solemnized before an appropriate official. Hazelwood v. Hazelwood, 89 N.M. 659, 556 P.2d 345 (1976); NMSA 1978, 40-1-1 and -2.	Is a marriage valid without solemnization?
16051	In re Estate of Sterile, 902 So. 2d 915, 918 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2005)	1	A valid marriage according to the law of a foreign nation will be recognized as such in the United States.	"[A] valid marriage according to the law of a foreign nation will be recognized as such in the United States."	Are foreign marriages recognized in the United States?
16052	Dep't of Env't Prot. v. Landmark Enterprises, Inc., 3 So. 3d 434, 437 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2009)	3	Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), as a creature of statute, is governed by statute; it can exercise only the powers granted it by the legislature.	Simply put, the DEP, as a creature of statute, is governed by statute. It can exercise only the powers granted it by the legislature.	Is the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) limited to exercise those powers vested in it by the General Assembly?
16055	State ex rel. Eastvold v. Superior Court of State, Skagit Cty., 44 Wash. 2d 607, 609 (1954)	2	Power of eminent domain does not depend for its existence on specific grant in Constitution but is inherent in sovereignty and exists in sovereign state without recognition thereof in Constitution.	The power of eminent domain does not depend for its existence on a specific grant in the Constitution. It is inherent in sovereignty and exists in a sovereign state without any recognition thereof in the Constitution.	Does the power of eminent domain depend for its existence upon any constitutional provisions?

16056	Head v. Head, 714 So. 2d 231, 236 (La. App. 1998)	7	Goodwill is recognized as incidental property right in connection with commercial businesses, and its value may properly be included in evaluation of community-owned commercial business, in contrast to one-person "professional" corporation where goodwill results solely from identity of professional and his or her personal relationship with patients or clients.	Goodwill is recognized as an incidental property right in connection with commercial businesses. Its value may properly be included in the evaluation of a community- owned commercial business, in contrast to a one-person "professional" corporation where the goodwill results solely from the identity of the professional and his or her personal relationship 10 with patients or clients.	Is goodwill an incidental property in connection with commercial business?
16057	Cafferty v. State, Dep't of Transp., Div. of Motor Vehicle Servs., 144 Idaho 324, 328, 160 P.3d 763, 767 (2007)	6	The Rules of Civil Procedure establish a system of notice pleading. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 8(a)(1).	Our Rules of Civil Procedure establish a system of notice pleading.	Does the Rules of Civil Procedure establish a system of notice pleading?
16058	Stapleman v. State, 680 P.2d 73, 75 (Wyo. 1984)	3	Conversion of property by bailee may be committed by refusing to redeliver to bailor at expiration or completion of bailment.	Conversion of property by a bailee may be committed " * * * by refusing to redeliver to the bailor at the expiration or completion of the bailment."	What acts of the bailee constitute conversion of property??
16060	Gvozdenovic v. United Air Lines, 933 F.2d 1100, 1105 (2d Cir. 1991)	2	Although party is bound by arbitral award only where it has agreed to arbitrate, agreement may be implied from party's conduct.	Although a party is bound by an arbitral award only where it has agreed to arbitrate, an agreement may be implied from the party's conduct.	Is an arbitral award binding only when a party has agreed to arbitrate?
16063	20th Century Ins. Co. v. Garamendi, 8 Cal. 4th 216, 275, 878 P.2d 566, 602 (1994), as modified on denial of reh'g (Sept. 29, 1994)	17	Adoption of regulations by administrative agency is action that is, in nature, quasi-legislative rather than quasi-adjudicative. West's Ann.Cal.Gov.Code SS 11342(b), 11346.	The adoption of regulations by an administrative agency is an action that is, in nature, quasi-legislative rather than quasi-adjudicative. (See, e.g., Gov.Code, § 11346 [implying that the "adoption ... of ... regulations" is an "exercise of quasi-legislative power"]; see also id., § 11342, subd. (b) [defining "regulation" in pertinent part as "every rule, regulation, order, or standard of general application"].)	Is adoption of a regulation by an administrative agency a quasi-legislative act?
16064	Com. v. Fouse, 417 Pa. Super. 534, 538, 612 A.2d 1067, 1069 (1992)	2	Incest statute protects children from parental or familial sexual abuse and lessens chance of genetic defects while promoting solidarity of family unit. 18 Pa.C.S.A. S 4302.	Specifically, "[t]he incest statute protects children from parental or familial sexual abuse and lessens the chance of genetic defects while promoting the solidarity of the family unit."	Does oral intercourse amount to sexual intercourse under incest statutes?
16065	Calvert & Marsh Coal Co. v. Pass, 393 So. 2d 955, 957 (Ala. 1980)	5	Wantonness in a trespass action is established by mere knowledge on the part of the defendant of his invasion of the plaintiff's rights.	Wantonness in a trespass action is established by the mere knowledge on the part of the defendant of his invasion of the plaintiff's rights.	What is the meaning of wantonness in a trespass action?
16066	In re Succession of Dysart, 206 So. 3d 357, 365–66 (2016)	5	Mere mixing of separate funds and community funds in the same account does not of itself convert an entire account into community property. La. Civ. Code Ann. art. 2341.	The mere mixing of separate funds and community funds in the same *366 account does not of itself convert an entire account into community property.	Will it become a community property if separate funds and community funds are deposited in one account?

16069	Daniel v. Morris, 181 So. 3d 1195, 1199 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2015)	7	The injury caused by trespass to real property is the loss of the use and enjoyment of the land or injury to the land. Restatement (Second) of Torts S 158.	The injury caused by trespass to real property is the loss of the use and enjoyment of the land or injury to the land.	When does a trespass occur?
16070	State ex rel. Spiker v. W. Virginia Racing Comm'n, 135 W. Va. 512, 512 (1951)	1	Under the statute conferring power on the West Virginia Racing Commission to prescribe rules, regulations and conditions under which horse races should be conducted in the State, Commission has the authority to promulgate and enforce rules which provide that a horse owned by any person may be suspended when its saliva or urine shows presence of any narcotic, stimulant or drug, and that the purse won by a horse found to have been stimulated should be returned and redistributed. Code 19-23-12 to 19-23-23.	Under the provisions of Section 1, Article 23, Chapter 71, Acts of the Legislature, 1935, Regular Session, conferring power upon the West Virginia Racing Commission to prescribe rules, regulations and conditions under which horse races shall be conducted in this State, such commission has the authority to promulgate and enforce rules which provide that a horse owned by any person may be suspended when its saliva or urine shows the presence of any narcotic, stimulant or drug, and that the purse won by a horse found to have been stimulated shall be returned and redistributed.	Can the Legislature grant regulatory power over horse racing to a State Racing Commission?
16075	Funkhouser v. Ford Motor Co., 285 Va. 272, 280-81 (2013)	3	Manufacturer is not an insurer of its product's safety, and a manufacturer has a duty to warn only if it knows or has reason to know that its product is dangerous.	It is well established that, "[a] manufacturer is not an insurer of its product's safety, and a manufacturer has a duty to warn only if it knows or has reason to know that its product is dangerous."	Does a manufacturer have a duty to warn about the product even if it is unaware of the dangerous nature of its product?
16089	Javitch v. First Union Sec., Inc., 315 F.3d 619, 624 (6th Cir. 2003)	3	Before compelling an unwilling party to arbitrate under Federal Arbitration Act (FAA), the court must engage in a limited review to determine whether the dispute is arbitrable; meaning that a valid agreement to arbitrate exists between the parties and that the specific dispute falls within the substantive scope of that agreement. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	Before compelling an unwilling party to arbitrate, the court must engage in a limited review to determine whether the dispute is arbitrable; meaning that a valid agreement to arbitrate exists between the parties and that the specific dispute falls within the substantive scope of that agreement.	When does the Federal arbitration Act (FAA) provide for a stay of proceedings?
16090	Barrett v. Manufacturers Ry. Co., 453 F.2d 1305, 1307 (8th Cir. 1972)	2	Arbitration is favored by the law and the decision of the arbitrators is final and not subject to review on either the merits or procedural issues. Labor Management Relations Act, 1947, S 301, 29 U.S.C.A. S 185.	Arbitration is favored by the law and the decision of the arbitrators is final and not subject to review on either the merits or procedural issues.	Is the arbitrators decision final?
16091	Bache Halsey Stuart v. French, 425 F. Supp. 1231, 1233 (D.D.C. 1977)	1	Federal Arbitration Act embodies federal policy favoring arbitration of disputes between parties who have contractually agreed to arbitrate, but such policy is not without judicial exception, and where compelling arbitration conflicts with other important federal policies, courts may refuse to order arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. S 4.	As such, Section 4 of the Arbitration Act embodies a federal policy favoring the arbitration of disputes between parties who have contractually agreed to arbitrate. This policy, however, is not without judicial exception. Where compelling the arbitration of disputes conflicts with other important federal policies, the courts have frequently refused to order arbitration.	Can courts refuse to order arbitration?

16092	Hagstrom v. Breutman, 572 F. Supp. 692, 700 (N.D. Ill. 1983)	13	Absent an indication from Congress that arbitration should not be permitted, federal policy in favor of arbitration should be enforced.	Absent an indication from Congress that arbitration should not be permitted, the federal policy in favor of arbitration should be enforced.	When will the federal policy in favor of arbitration not be enforced?
16098	Landau v. Superior Ct., 81 Cal. App. 4th 191, 208, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 657, 672 (1998)	15	No one has fundamental constitutional right to work for, or to have continued employment with, particular public or private employer. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14; West's Ann.Cal. Const. Art. 1, S 7(a); Art. 4, S 16(a).	" '[T]here is no fundamental constitutional right to work for, or to have continued employment with, a particular public or private employer.' [Citations.]" (Kenneally v. Medical Board, supra, 27 Cal.App.4th at p. 496, 32 Cal.Rptr.2d 504.)	Is there a fundamental right to work for a particular employer?
16112	Pyburn v. State, 301 Ga. App. 372, 373 (2009)	4	Adoptive children enjoy the rights and privileges of a biological child, including protection from incest. West's Ga.Code Ann. S 16-6-22(a).	Furthermore, as the jury was charged, adoptive children enjoy the rights and privileges of a biological child, including protection from incest.	Are adoptive children protected from incest?
16117	Rossin v. S. Union Gas Co., 472 F.2d 707, 710 (10th Cir. 1973)	3	A public utility is responsible for damage resulting from its wrongful conduct.	A public utility, like anyone else, is responsible for damages resulting from its wrongful conduct.	Are public utilities responsible for damages resulting from their wrongful conduct?
16121	Fowler v. S. Wire & Iron, 104 Ga. App. 401, 404 (1961)	4	At common law, "trespass" was wrongful act done with force and immediately injurious to person of another.	At common law a trespass was a wrongful act done with force and immediately injurious to the person of another.	Can trespass be committed against the person of another?
16123	Int'l Union, United Auto. Aircraft v. Benton Harbor Malleable Indus., 242 F.2d 536, 538 (6th Cir. 1957)	1	In absence of a statute so providing, a party to a contract cannot as a matter of right have its differences or disputes with the other contracting parties under the contract submitted to arbitration, since there is no common-law right of arbitration.	In the absence of a statute so providing, a party to a contract cannot as a matter of right have his differences or disputes with the other contracting party under the contract submitted to arbitration. There is no common-law right of arbitration.	Is there a common law right of arbitration?
16124	Christenbury Eye Ctr., P.A. v. Medflow, 802 S.E.2d 888, 892 (N.C. 2017)	5	Where the right of a party is once violated the injury immediately ensues and the cause of action arises.	It is well settled that "where the right of a party is once violated the injury immediately ensues and the cause of action arises.	When does an injury ensue and a cause of action arise?
16126	Rock River Lumber Corp. v. Universal Mortg. Corp. of Wisconsin, 82 Wis. 2d 235, 241 (1978)	4	Conventional subrogation is a doctrine of equity, and is applied or denied upon equitable principles.	Although such conventional subrogation has been said to rest on contract, it is a doctrine of equity, and is applied or denied upon equitable principles.	Is subrogation applied or denied on equitable principles?
16128	Olinger v. Smith, 892 N.W.2d 775, 779 (Iowa Ct. App. 2016)	1	Actions to enforce the open meetings law are ordinary, not equitable, actions. Iowa Code Ann. S 21.6.	"Actions to enforce the open meetings law are ordinary, not equitable, actions." Hutchison v. Shull, 878 N.W.2d 221, 229 (Iowa 2016).	Are actions to enforce the open meetings law equitable actions?
16129	Cooper v. WestEnd Cap. Mgmt., L.L.C., 832 F.3d 534, 544 (5th Cir. 2016)	27	The Court of Appeals permits arbitration under non-Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) rules if a contract expressly references state arbitration law. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	"[T]his Court permits arbitration under non-FAA rules if a contract expressly references state arbitration law...."	When do courts permit arbitration under non-FAA rules?
16130	Cooper v. WestEnd Cap. Mgmt., L.L.C., 832 F.3d 534, 544 (5th Cir. 2016)	27	The Court of Appeals permits arbitration under non-Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) rules if a contract expressly references state arbitration law. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	"[T]his Court permits arbitration under non-FAA rules if a contract expressly references state arbitration law...."	When will a court permit arbitration under non-FAA rules?

16131	Volt Info. Scis., Inc. v. Bd. of Trustees of Leland Stanford Junior Univ., 489 U.S. 468, 477, 109 S. Ct. 1248, 1255, 103 L. Ed. 2d 488 (1989)	3	Federal Arbitration Act contains no express preemptive provision nor does it reflect congressional intent to occupy entire field of arbitration. 9 U.S.C.A. § 1 et seq.	The FAA contains no express pre-emptive provision, nor does it reflect a congressional intent to occupy the entire field of arbitration. See Bernhardt v. Polygraphic Co., 350 U.S. 198, 76 S.Ct. 273, 100 L.Ed. 199 (1956) (upholding application of state arbitration law to arbitration provision in contract not covered by the FAA).	Does the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) pre-empt state law that conflicts with federal law?
16137	Anonymous v. Anonymous, 44 Misc. 2d 14, 16, 252 N.Y.S.2d 913, 916 (Fam. Ct. 1964)	2	In contradistinction to ambassadors, consuls are commercial representatives and, as such, their diplomatic immunity is limited at the most to their official acts.	In contradistinction to ambassadors, consuls are commercial representatives and, as such, their immunity is limited at the most to their official acts.	Is the immunity of consuls limited in contradistinction to ambassadors?
16145	Nationwide Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. T & N Master Builder & Renovators, 2011 IL App (2d) 101143, ¶ 9, 959 N.E.2d 201, 205	7	As an action in equity, a claim may be subrogated only in order to prevent injustice or unjust enrichment and will not be maintained when it would be inequitable to do so.	As an action in equity, a claim may be subrogated only in order to prevent injustice or unjust enrichment and will not be maintained when it would be inequitable to do so. Dix, 149 Ill.2d at 319, 173 Ill.Dec. 648, 597 N.E.2d 622.	When is subrogation not allowed?
16146	Peters v. ContiGroup, 292 S.W.3d 380, 385 (Mo. Ct. App. 2009)	2	"Nuisance" is the unreasonable, unusual, or unnatural use of one's property so that it substantially impairs the right of another to peacefully enjoy his property; the focus is on the defendant's unreasonable interference with the plaintiff's use and enjoyment of his land.	"Nuisance is the unreasonable, unusual, or unnatural use of one's property so that it substantially impairs the right of another to peacefully enjoy his property." The focus is on the defendant's unreasonable interference with the plaintiff's use and enjoyment of his land.	What does nuisance entail?
16149	In re Houston, 409 B.R. 799, 810 (D.S.C. 2009)	27	Subrogation is allowed under South Carolina law only upon fact intensive inquiry and a balancing of equity.	Subrogation has been allowed in South Carolina cases only upon fact intensive inquiry and a balancing of equity.	Is the decision whether to grant equitable subrogation necessarily a fact intensive inquiry?
16150	Leitner v. United States, 92 Fed. Cl. 220, 224 (2010)	11	Taxation is not the taking of private property for public purpose, under the Fifth Amendment. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	In addition, taxation is not the taking of private property for public purpose, under the Fifth Amendment.	Is taxation a taking of private property for public purpose?
16151	Reardon v. Keating, 980 F. Supp. 2d 302, 324 (D. Conn. 2013)	12	The mere violation of a state law does not automatically give rise to a violation of federal due process rights. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 14.	However, for constitutional purposes this is a limited concept: "the mere violation of a state law does not automatically give rise to a violation of federal constitutional rights."	Do violations of state eminent domain statutes give rise to federal constitutional claims?
16154	Vimont v. Christian Cnty. Health Dep't, 502 S.W.3d 718, 719–20 (Mo. Ct. App. 2016)	2	Constitutional farming rights are subject to local-government powers duly authorized and conferred by the state constitution. Mo. Const. art. 1, § 35, art. 6, § 1 et seq.	As repeatedly noted above, Vimont's constitutional farming rights, whatever *720 they may be, are subject to local-government powers duly authorized and conferred by article VI of Missouri's constitution. MO. CONST. art. I, § 35.	What government powers are constitutional farming rights subject to?

16155	Kingsway Cathedral v. Iowa Dep't Of Transp., 711 N.W.2d 6, 8–9 (Iowa 2006)	5	Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution makes the Fifth Amendment applicable to the states and their political subdivisions. U.S.C.A. Const.Amends. 5, 14.	The Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution makes the Fifth Amendment applicable to the states and their political subdivisions.	How is Fifth Amendment made applicable to the states?
16158	State Farm Gen. Ins. Co. v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 143 Cal. App. 4th 1098, 1106 (2006)	6	While subrogation has its source in equity and arises by operation of law, it may also arise out of the contractual language of an insurance policy; subrogation provisions of most insurance contracts typically are general and add nothing to the rights of subrogation that arise as a matter of law.	Subrogation has its source in equity and arises by operation of law 5 (legal or equitable subrogation). [Citation.] It can also arise out of the contractual language of the insurance policy (conventional subrogation). [Citation.] The subrogation provisions of most insurance contracts typically are general and add nothing to the rights of subrogation that arise as a matter of law.	From what sources can subrogation arise?
16159	Worden v. Smith, 178 Wash. App. 309, 330, 314 P.3d 1125, 1135 (2013)	17	The purpose of the doctrine of equitable subrogation is to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	The purpose of the doctrine is “ ‘to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.’ ”	Is equitable subrogation a remedy to avoid an unearned windfall?
16160	Bainbridge v. Travelers Cas. Co. of Connecticut, 159 P.3d 748, 751–53 (Colo. App. 2006)	8	Because it is an equitable doctrine, no additional actions are needed before equitable subrogation can occur, and unlike in an assignment, a subrogor need not intend to equitably subrogate the claims to a subrogee; it arises because it is imposed by courts to prevent unjust enrichment.	Furthermore, because it is an equitable doctrine, no additional actions are needed before equitable subrogation can occur. Thus, unlike in an assignment, a subrogor need not intend to equitably subrogate the claims to a subrogee. Cf. Lookout Mountain Paradise Hills Homeowners' Ass'n v. Viewpoint Assocs., 867 P.2d 70, 73 (Colo.App.1993) (intent required for assignment); Ford v. Summertree Lane Ltd. Liab. Co., 56 P.3d 1206, 1209 (Colo.App.2002) (same). It arises "because it is imposed by courts to prevent unjust enrichment."	Are additional actions needed before equitable subrogation can occur as it is an equitable doctrine?
16161	Worden v. Smith, 178 Wash. App. 309, 330, 314 P.3d 1125, 1135 (2013)	17	The purpose of the doctrine of equitable subrogation is to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	The purpose of the doctrine is “ ‘to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.’ ”	Is the purpose of subrogation to avoid an unearned windfall?
16164	In re V. Pangori & Sons, 53 B.R. 711, 721 (Bankr. E.D. Mich. 1985)	10	Surety subrogates to the rights of only those creditors whom it pays on principal's behalf.	It is well-established that the surety subrogates to the rights of only those creditors whom it pays on the principal's behalf.	Does a surety subrogate to the rights of only those creditors whom it pays on the principal's behalf?
16167	State Fid. Mortg. Co. v. Varner, 740 S.W.2d 477, 480 (Tex. App. 1987)	7	Surety who has paid debt of principal is subrogated to right of action against principal for debt so paid.	In general, a surety who has paid the debt of her principal is subrogated to a right of action against the principal for the debt so paid.	Is a surety who has paid the debt of a principal subrogated to a right of action against the principal for debt so paid?
16168	Guillot v. Hix, 838 S.W.2d 230, 232 (Tex. 1992)	2	Generally, rights conferred by subrogation are entirely derivative of subrogor's interests, to which subrogee merely succeeds.	Generally, rights conferred by subrogation are entirely derivative of the subrogor's interests, to which the subrogee merely succeeds.	Are subrogation rights derivative?

16169	Mut. of Enumclaw Ins. Co. v. USF Ins. Co., 164 Wash. 2d 411, 423 (2008)	20	Subrogation has two distinct types; conventional subrogation, which arises by contract, and equitable subrogation, which arises by operation of law.	Subrogation has two distinct types: conventional subrogation, which arises by contract, and equitable subrogation, which arises by operation of law.	Is subrogation of two distinct types?
16172	Nat'l Leasing Corp. v. Williams, 80 F.R.D. 416, 419 (W.D. Pa. 1978)	6	Obligations of maker of note are determined by law of state designated on instrument as place of payment.	The obligations of the maker of a note are determined by the law of the state designated on the instrument as the place of payment.	How are the obligations of the maker of the note determined?
16173	Universal Premium Acceptance Corp. v. York Bank & Tr. Co., 69 F.3d 695, 699 (3d Cir. 1995)	1	One requirement for negotiability is that instrument must be "payable to order or to bearer." 13 Pa.C.S.A. § 3104(a)(3).	One of the requirements for negotiability under 13 Pa.Cons.Stat. Ann. § 3104(a)(3) is that an instrument must be "payable to order or to bearer."	Is it obligatory for a negotiable instrument to be payable to order or to bearer?
16174	City of Austin v. Travis Cty. Landfill Co., 73 S.W.3d 234, 242 (Tex. 2002)	6	Landowner has no right to exclude overflights above its property, because airspace is part of the public domain, and thus a property owner is only entitled to compensation if its property is taken by overflights that immediately and directly interfere with the property's use and enjoyment, which inquiry requires a more extensive factual showing than the mere existence of overflights. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 5; Vernon's Ann. Texas Const. Art. 1, § 17.	A landowner has no right to exclude overflights above its property, because airspace is part of the public domain. *242 Causby, 328 U.S. at 266, 66 S.Ct. 1062. Rather, a property owner is entitled to compensation if its property is taken by overflights that immediately and directly interfere with the property's use and enjoyment. Id. This inquiry requires a more extensive factual showing than the mere existence of overflights.	Do a landowner have right to exclude overflights above its property?
16177	Scalp & Blade, Inc. v. Advest, Inc., 309 A.D.2d 219, 223, 765 N.Y.S.2d 92, 95 (2003)	1	No appeal as of right lies from evidentiary ruling, whether made before or during trial, where ruling has not been embodied in formal order. McKinney's CPLR 5512.	The notion that no appeal as of right lies from an evidentiary ruling, whether made before or during trial, is certainly sound to the extent that the ruling has not been embodied in a formal order (see CPLR 5512; see also 5511, 5701).	"Does an order ruling on motion in limine, even when made in advance of trial on motion papers, constitute an advisory opinion, that is neither appealable as of right nor by permission?"
16181	McDonald v. Rentfrow, 176 Neb. 796, 797 (1964)	8	The legislature may confer judicial power upon public boards or courts to determine facts and equities under which legislation authorizes changes in school district boundaries, and in delegating such power legislature must condition determination by court or board upon reasonable fact standards.	The Legislature may confer upon public boards or courts judicial power to determine the facts and equities under which legislation authorizes changes in school district boundaries. 9. In delegating such power, the Legislature must condition the determination by the court or the board upon reasonable and ascertainable fact standards.	Is the function of determining whether the suggested boundaries for utilities are reasonable for public convenience and welfare legislative in nature?
16182	In re Flamingo 55, 378 B.R. 893, 906 (D. Nev. 2007)	5	"Statutory subrogation" occurs by virtue of a right created by statute.	Statutory subrogation, as one might expect, occurs by virtue of a right created by statute.	Does statutory subrogation occur by virtue of a right created by statute?
16186	Grenier v. Med. Eng'g Corp., 99 F. Supp. 2d 759, 762 (La. 2000)	3	Under Louisiana law, cause of action arises when plaintiff has right to sue.	Under Louisiana law, a cause of action arises when a plaintiff has the right to sue.	Does a cause of action arise when plaintiff has right to sue?

16187	Fetzer v. Wood, 211 Ill. App. 3d 70, 78, 569 N.E.2d 1237, 1242 (1991)	9	In personal injury action arising out of negligence, cause of action accrues at the time of injury.	In a personal injury action arising out of negligence, the cause of action accrues at the time of the injury.	"Does the cause of action accrue at the time of injury, in personal injury action?"
16194	Parisi v. Goldman, Sachs & Co., 710 F.3d 483, 487 (2d Cir. 2013)	7	As a general matter, Title VII claims can be subject to mandatory arbitration. Civil Rights Act of 1964, S 701 et seq., 42 U.S.C.A. S 2000e et seq.	Parisi asserts Title VII claims and, as a general matter, "[c]ourts have consistently found that such claims can be subject to mandatory arbitration." Ragone v.	Can Title VII claims be subjected to mandatory arbitration?
16195	State v. Pierre, 131 So. 3d 319, 324.	4	Specific intent may be inferred from the circumstances surrounding the accused's actions.	Specific intent may be established by the circumstances surrounding an accused's actions.	Can the specific intent be established by the circumstances surrounding an accused's actions for murder?
16196	State v. Wrenn, 279 N.C. 676, 681 (1971)	3	Murder in first degree is unlawful killing of human being with malice and with premeditation and deliberation. G.S. S 14-17.	Murder in the first degree is the unlawful killing of a human being with malice and with premeditation and deliberation. G.S. s 14-17.	What constitutes murder in the first degree?
16197	Omar v. Geren, 689 F. Supp. 2d 1, 7 (D.D.C. 2009)	3	Jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory is necessarily exclusive and absolute.	As the Munaf Court explained, [t]he jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory is necessarily exclusive and absolute.	Is jurisdiction of a nation within its own territory necessarily exclusive and absolute?
16198	Doe v. Exxon Mobil Corp., 69 F. Supp. 3d 75, 87 (D.D.C. 2014)	11	Burden of proving that an act of state occurred lies with the party asserting the defense.	The burden of proving that an act of state occurred lies with the party asserting the defense.	Who bears the burden of proving that an act of state occurred?
16204	Merlino v. W. Coast Macaroni Mfg. Co., 90 Cal. App. 2d 106, 108, 202 P.2d 748, 750 (1949)	5	A demurrer for uncertainty will not lie even as to uncertain and ambiguous allegations if such allegations refer to immaterial matters, and in such event they will be treated as surplusage and will be disregarded.	Moreover, a demurrer for uncertainty will not lie as to even uncertain and ambiguous allegations, if such allegations refer to immaterial matters. In such event, they will be treated as surplusage and disregarded.	Does a demurrer for uncertainty lie as to immaterial matters?
16205	Bova v. Gary, 843 N.E.2d 952, 955 (Ind. Ct. App. 2006)	1	The granting of a motion in limine does not determine the ultimate admissibility of the evidence.	It is well settled, however, that the granting of a motion in limine does not determine the ultimate admissibility of the evidence.	Does the granting of a motion in limine determine the ultimate admissibility of the evidence?
16207	Duran v. Hyundai Motor Am., 271 S.W.3d 178, 192 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2008)	9	A motion in limine should not be used as a substitute for a dispositive motion such as a motion for summary judgment.	Thus, a motion in limine should not be used as a substitute for a dispositive motion such as a motion for summary judgment.	Should a motion in limine be used as a substitute for a dispositive motion such as a motion for summary judgment?
16208	State v. Grubb, 28 Ohio St. 3d 199 (1986)	5	At trial, it is incumbent upon defendant, who has been temporarily restricted from introducing evidence by virtue of grant of motion in limine in favor of State, to seek introduction of the evidence by proffer or otherwise in order to enable trial court to make final determination as to its admissibility and to preserve any objection on record for purposes of appeal.	At trial it is incumbent upon a defendant, who has been temporarily restricted from introducing evidence by virtue of a motion in limine, to seek the introduction of the evidence by proffer or otherwise in order to enable the court to make a final determination as to its admissibility and to preserve any objection on the record for purposes of appeal.	Is a motion in limine a means of raising objection to an area of inquiry to prevent prejudicial questions and statements until the admissibility of the questionable evidence can be determined during the course of the trial?

16209	Brokamp v. Mercy Hosp. Anderson, 132 Ohio App. 3d 850, 859, 726 N.E.2d 594, 600-01 (1999)	2	"Motion in limine" is a tentative, interlocutory, precautionary ruling by a trial court reflecting its anticipatory treatment of an evidentiary issue; in virtually all circumstances, finality does not attach when the motion is granted.	[2] [3] A motion in limine "is a tentative, interlocutory, precautionary ruling by a trial court reflecting its anticipatory treatment of an evidentiary issue. In virtually all circumstances finality does not attach when the motion is granted." 1	"For motions in limine, does finality attach when the motion is granted?"
16212	Broadvox-CLEC v. AT&T Corp., 184 F. Supp. 3d 192, 201 (D. Md. 2016)	8	A court may interpret a tariff by reference to sources other than the language in the tariff itself only when it is ambiguous, so that a literal reading is impossible.	Thus, the court may interpret a tariff by reference to sources other than the language in the tariff itself only when it "is ambiguous, so that a literal reading is impossible." "	Does the language of a tariff have different possible interpretations if it is unambiguous?
16214	Ray v. Leader Fed. Sav. & Loan Ass'n, 40 Tenn. App. 625, 644 (1953)	7	"Suicide" is the willful and voluntary act of a person who understands the physical nature of the act, and intends by it to accomplish the result of self termination.	Suicide is the wilfull and voluntary act of a person who understands the physical nature of the act, and intends by it to accomplish the result of self termination.	Is suicide a voluntary crime?
16216	Davidson v. Bugbee, 227 Mich. App. 264, 269, 575 N.W.2d 574, 576 (1997)	8	Cause of action accrues when all the elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint.	A cause of action accrues when all the elements of the claim have occurred and can be alleged in a proper complaint.	Does a cause of action accrue only when all the necessary elements have occurred?
16218	In re Kaplan, 143 F.3d 807, 816 (3d Cir. 1998)	9	Arbitration agreement may limit its preclusive effects. Restatement (Second) of Judgments S 84(4).	An arbitration agreement may limit its preclusive effects. See Restatement (Second) of Judgments 84(4).	Can an arbitration agreement limit its preclusive effect?
16220	Sumaza v. Coop. Ass'n, 297 F. Supp. 345, 347 (D.P.R. 1969)	3	Arbitration agreement need not follow particular form or phraseology.	An arbitration agreement however need not follow a particular form or phraseology.	Does an arbitration agreement need to follow any particular form or phraseology?
16222	City of New York v. Consol. Edison Co. of New York, 274 A.D.2d 189, 193, 713 N.Y.S.2d 40, 43 (2000)	7	Not every regulatory intrusion on property rights amounts to a taking. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Not every regulatory intrusion on property rights amounts to a taking (Keystone Bituminous Coal Assn. v. DeBenedictis, 480 U.S. 470, 107 S.Ct. 1232, 94 L.Ed.2d 472).	Does every regulatory intrusion on property rights amounts to a taking?
16223	Commonwealth Edison Co. v. United States, 46 Fed. Cl. 29, 40 (2000)	9	A government-imposed obligation to pay "money" is not susceptible to a taking analysis.	However, consistent with Justice Kennedy's concurrence in Eastern, as well as Justice Breyer's dissent, the courts have generally held that a government-imposed obligation to pay "money" is not susceptible to a taking analysis.	Is a government-imposed obligation to pay money susceptible to a taking analysis?
16226	Bank Tejarat v. Varsho-Saz, 723 F. Supp. 516, 517 (C.D. Cal. 1989)	2	Burden of establishing applicability of act of state doctrine rests on proponent.	The burden of establishing the applicability of the doctrine rests on the proponent.	Does the burden of establishing applicability of an act of state doctrine rest on the proponent?
16227	Honduras Aircraft Registry Ltd. v. Gov't of Honduras, 883 F. Supp. 685, 688 (S.D. Fla. 1995)	3	Exceptions to act of state doctrine include those acts by foreign state that are purely commercial or for which no foreign policy goal of the executive branch is impeded.	Exceptions to the doctrine include those acts of state that are purely commercial or for which no foreign policy goal of the Executive Branch is impeded.	Is the act of state doctrine primarily designed to avoid impingement by judiciary upon conduct of foreign policy by Executive Branch?

16228	Interamerican Ref. Corp. v. Texaco Maracaibo, 307 F. Supp. 1291, 1298 (D. Del. 1970)	6	Anticompetitive practices compelled by foreign nations are not restraints of commerce, as commerce is understood in the Sherman Act, because refusal to comply would put an end to commerce. Sherman Anti-Trust Act, SS 1, 2, 15 U.S.C.A. SS 1, 2.	Anticompetitive practices compelled by foreign nations are not restraints of commerce, as commerce is understood in the Sherman Act, because refusal to comply would put an end to commerce.	Are anticompetitive practices compelled by foreign nations violations of the Sherman Act?
16229	Dominicus Americana Bohio v. Gulf & W. Indus., 473 F. Supp. 680, 689–90 (S.D.N.Y. 1979)	11	Conduct related to commercial endeavors is not immunized by the act of state doctrine.	1854, that conduct related to *690 commercial endeavors is not immunized by the doctrine, and the Second Circuit adopted this position in Hunt v.	Is conduct related to commercial endeavors immunized by the act of state doctrine?
16230	R.M.S. Titanic v. Haver, 171 F.3d 943, 965 (4th Cir. 1999)	44	Beyond territorial waters lie the high seas, over which no nation can exercise sovereignty.	And beyond the territorial waters lie the high seas, over which no nation can exercise sovereignty.	Can a nation exercise sovereignty over the high seas?
16232	Story v. Lanier, 166 S.W.3d 167, 175 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2004)	1	What will constitute a partnership is a matter of law, but whether a partnership exists under conflicting evidence is one of fact. West's T.C.A. S 61-1-101(6).	"What will constitute a partnership is a matter of law, but whether a partnership exists under conflicting evidence is one of fact."	Is the existence of a partnership a question of fact or law?
16233	Davis v. Quality Pest Control, 641 S.W.2d 324, 328 (Tex. App. 1982)	4	If opposing party is not misled and if no special exceptions have been filed, petition may even allege legal conclusions.	If the opposing party is not misled and if no special exceptions have been filed, the petition may even allege legal conclusions.	Can a legal conclusion be pleaded?
16235	Connecticut Light & Power Co. v. Gilmore, 289 Conn. 88, 127–28, 956 A.2d 1145, 1170 (2008)	35	A trial court may entertain a motion in limine made by either party regarding the admission or exclusion of anticipated evidence. Practice Book 1998, S 42-15.	A trial court may entertain a motion in limine made by either party regarding the admission or exclusion of anticipated evidence.	Has the motion in limine generally been used in courts to invoke a trial judge's inherent discretionary powers to prevent occurrences that might unnecessarily prejudice the right of any party to a fair trial?
16237	Lamb v. Geovjian, 165 Vt. 375, 379 (1996)	1	Trial court has broad discretion in its pretrial evidentiary rulings.	A trial court has broad discretion in its pretrial evidentiary rulings.	Does a trial court have broad discretion in its pretrial evidentiary rulings?
16239	Pink Dot, Inc. v. Teleport Commc'ns Grp., 89 Cal. App. 4th 407, 415, 107 Cal. Rptr. 2d 392, 397 (2001)	4	If there is an ambiguity in a tariff, any doubt in its interpretation is to be resolved in favor of the nondrafter and against the utility. West's Ann.Cal. Civil Code 4F 1654.	If there is an ambiguity in a tariff any doubt in its interpretation is to be resolved in favor of the [nondrafter and against the utility].	Should the interpretation of an ambiguous tariff be resolved in favor of the non-drafter and against the utility?
16240	Bank of New York v. Nally, 820 N.E.2d 644, 654 (Ind. 2005)	23	Application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case.	We agree with Osterman that application of the doctrine of equitable subrogation depends on the equities and attending facts and circumstances of each case.	On what does the application of equitable subrogation depend?
16242	Cook v. City of Topeka, 232 Kan. 334, 338, 654 P.2d 953, 957 (1982)	3	A clerk of a court is a ministerial officer and, without statutory authority, cannot exercise a judicial function.	A clerk of a court is a ministerial officer, Eldridge v. Deets, 4 Kan.App. 241, 243, 45 P. 948 (1896), and without statutory authority cannot exercise judicial functions.	Is a clerk of the court a ministerial officer?
16249	Gallizzi v. Williams, 218 So. 2d 499, 500 (Fla. App. 1969)	1	Cause of action in slander accrues at time of alleged publication.	Cause of action in slander accrues at the time of the alleged publication.	Does a cause of action in slander accrue at the time of alleged publication?

16251	Williams Companies, Inc. v. Dunkelgod, 2012 OK 96, ¶ 14, 295 P.3d 1107, 1111	2	Cause of action accrues when plaintiff could have first maintained an action.	A cause of action accrues when the plaintiff could have first maintained an action.	Does a cause of action ordinarily accrue when plaintiff could first maintain an action to a successful result?
16255	Nat'l Westminster Bank, USA v. State, 76 N.Y.2d 507, 509, 562 N.E.2d 866, 867 (1990)	2	As clerk of courts, county clerk is state officer for whom State is responsible; but when performing general duties, county clerk acts as local officer, and local government must answer for actions taken.	As a clerk of the courts, the County Clerk is a State officer for whom the State is responsible. But when performing general duties the County Clerk acts as a local officer, and the local government must answer for actions taken.	Are state governments responsible for the actions of a county clerk?
16256	Bormann v. Bd. of Sup'rs In & For Kossuth Cty., 584 N.W.2d 309, 316 (Iowa 1998)	13	Easements are property interests subject to the just compensation requirements of state and federal constitutions. U.S.C.A. Const.Amends. 5, 14; I.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 18.	Easements are property interests subject to the just compensation requirements of the Fifth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.	Are easements subject to the just compensation requirements of the Fifth Amendment to the Federal Constitution?
16259	United States v. Juda, 46 F.3d 961, 967 (9th Cir. 1995)	7	Under international law, nation may generally assert jurisdiction over its citizens.	Under international law, a nation may generally assert jurisdiction over its citizens.	"Under international law, can a nation assert jurisdiction over its citizens?"
16260	R.M.S. Titanic v. Haver, 171 F.3d 943, 965 (4th Cir. 1999)	44	Beyond territorial waters lie the high seas, over which no nation can exercise sovereignty.	And beyond the territorial waters lie the high seas, over which no nation can exercise sovereignty.	Can any nation exercise sovereignty over the high seas?
16263	U. S. Fid. & Guar. Co. v. First State Bank of Salina, 208 Kan. 738, 738, 494 P.2d 1149, 1149 (1972)	1	When a surety on a construction contractor's bond is required to remedy default of its principal, it is subrogated to rights of contractor, laborers and materialmen whose bills it pays, and owner of project.	A surety on a construction contractor's bond who is required to remedy the default of his principal is subrogated to the rights of (a) the contractor, (b) laborers and materialmen whose bills it pays and (c) the owner of the project.	"Is a surety subrogated to rights of contractor, laborers and materialmen, acquire the rights of its principal?"
16264	City of Amsterdam v. Daniel Goldreyer, Ltd., 882 F. Supp. 1273, 1281 (E.D.N.Y. 1995)	18	Trespass to chattel occurs when party intentionally damages or interferes with use of property belonging to another. Restatement (Second) of Torts SS 217-221.	A trespass to chattel occurs when a party intentionally damages or interferes with the use of property belonging to another. Restatement (Second) of Torts 217-221, at 417- 428 (1965).	When does a trespass to chattel occur?
16267	Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. of Pittsburgh, PA v. Keck, Mahin & Cate, 154 S.W.3d 714, 723 (Tex. App. 2004)	10	Because damages are an element of a legal-malpractice claim, the claim does not accrue until the client discovers, or should have discovered, it was legally injured.	Because damages are an element of the legal-malpractice claim, the claim does not accrue until the client discovers-or should have discovered-it was legally injured.	Does a legal malpractice claim accrue when the client discovers or should have discovered that he was legally injured?
16268	Broyles v. Com., 309 Ky. 837, 839, 219 S.W.2d 52, 54 (1949)	4	An action cannot be maintained if commenced before accrual of cause of action sought to be enforced.	On the other hand, an action cannot be maintained if it is commenced before the accrual of the cause of action which is sought to be enforced.	Can an action be maintained if commenced before accrual of cause of action sought to be enforced?
16269	Highline Sch. Dist. No. 401, King Cty. v. Port of Seattle, 87 Wash. 2d 6, 14, 548 P.2d 1085, 1090 (1976)	10	Cause of action accrues on occurrence of last element essential to such action.	A cause of action accrues on the occurrence of the last element essential to the action.	Does cause of action accrue on occurrence of last element essential to the action?

16270	Kane Cty. v. Carlson, 116 Ill. 2d 186, 200 (1987)	3	Circuit clerk is nonjudicial officer of judicial branch of government. S.H.A. Const. Art. 6, S 18(b).	The circuit clerk is a nonjudicial officer of the judicial branch of government (Ill. Const.1970, art. VI, sec. 18(b); 487 574 Drury v.	Are circuit clerks non-judicial officers of the judicial branch of the government?
16275	Kelley v. Mallory, 202 Or. 690, 697 (1954)	3	When instrument relied on is set out in full in pleading, it prevails over allegations as to its legal effect.	When the instrument relied upon is set out in full in the pleading, as in both the Kelley suits, it prevails over the allegations as to its legal effect.	Will an instrument prevail over allegations as to its legal effect?
16277	D.O.F. v. Lewisburg Area Sch. Dist. Bd. of Sch. Directors, 868 A.2d 28, 33 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2004)	8	When schools act outside their statutory authority, courts can intervene.	Moreover, when schools act outside their statutory authority, courts can intervene.	Can the courts intervene when schools act outside their statutory authority?
16279	Carlson v. Lindauer, 119 Cal. App. 2d 292, 302, 259 P.2d 925, 929-30 (1953)	7	Where an allegation of ownership is expressly predicated on specific averments in suit to quiet title, allegation of ownership is a mere conclusion of law and may be disregarded.	Where an allegation of ownership is expressly 930 predicated on specific averments, the allegation of ownership is a mere conclusion of law and may be disregarded.	Should an allegation of ownership be disregarded?
16281	Gen. Commc'ns Sys. v. State Corp. Comm'n, 216 Kan. 410, 410 (1975)	5	The word "necessity" as used in public utility law generally means a public need without which the public is inconvenienced to the extent of being handicapped. K.S.A. 66-101 et seq.	The word 'necessity' as used in public utility law generally means a public need without which the public is inconvenienced to the extent of being handicapped.	What does the word necessity imply in reference to public utilities?
16282	Touchet Valley Grain Growers v. Opp & Seibold Gen. Const., 119 Wash. 2d 334, 341, 831 P.2d 724, 728 (1992)	6	Parties to contract may waive their subrogation rights and, absent fraud, waiver will be valid and enforceable.	Parties to a contract may waive their subrogation rights and, absent fraud, the waiver will be valid and enforceable.	Are anti-subrogation waivers valid and enforceable?
16285	Day Cruises Mar., L.L.C v. Christus Spohn Health Sys., 267 S.W.3d 42, 61 (Tex. App. 2008)	33	Burden is on the party claiming equitable subrogation to establish he is entitled to it.	The burden is on the party claiming equitable subrogation to establish he is entitled to it.	Is the burden on the party claiming equitable subrogation to establish he is entitled to it?
16286	In re Galewitz' Est., 3 A.D.2d 280, 285, 160 N.Y.S.2d 564, 572 (1957), aff'd, 5 N.Y.2d 721, 152 N.E.2d 666 (1958)	4	Equity need not speak with finality until the decree, and when it does, it does with reference to the facts, the law, and equities then existing.	Indeed, equity need not speak with finality until the decree, and when it does, it does with reference to the facts, the law, and the equities then existing.	Does equity need not speak with finality until the decree?
16288	Jones v. Foote, 165 Conn. 516, 521 (1973)	5	A court will grant equitable relief, injunctive or otherwise, only on situation as it exists at time of trial.	A court will grant equitable relief, injunctive or otherwise, only on the situation as it exists at the time of trial.	Does equity deal only with the situation existing at the time of trial?
16289	Perpich v. U.S. Dep't of Def., 880 F.2d 11, 16 (8th Cir. 1989)	1	Authority given to Congress by the army clause is plenary and exclusive. U.S.C.A. Const. Art. 1, S 8, cl. 12.	The authority given to Congress by the army clause is plenary and exclusive.	Is the authority given to Congress by the army clause plenary and exclusive?
16291	People ex rel. Buffalo Util. Co. v. Vill. of Buffalo Grove, 85 Ill. App. 2d 382, 387 (1967)	4	There is nothing to prevent municipally owned utility from competing directly in same area of operation with privately owned utility. S.H.A. ch. 1112/323, SS 10.3, 56.	And there is nothing to prevent a municipally owned utility from competing directly in the same area of operation with a privately owned utility.	Can municipal businesses compete with private utility businesses?

16295	Batchelder v. Tweedie, 294 A.2d 443, 444 (Me. 1972)	1	Substantive rights are fixed at the date on which the cause of action accrues; however, procedural statutes are ordinarily applicable to pending actions.	Substantive rights of the parties are fixed at the date upon which the cause of action accrued. Scammon v. City of Saco, Me., 247 A.2d 108 (1968). Procedural statutes are, however, ordinarily applicable to pending actions.	Are substantive rights fixed at the date on which the cause of action accrues?
16297	Orsi v. Bd. of Appeals of Town of Bethlehem, 3 A.D.3d 698, 700, 770 N.Y.S.2d 774, 776 (2004)	1	Generally, court must apply law as it exists at time of decision.	As a general rule, since this Court must apply the law as it exists at the time of a decision	Should a court apply a law as it exists at the time of a decision?
16299	Bate v. Davis, 309 Ky. 709, 711, 218 S.W.2d 958, 959 (1949)	1	An action cannot be maintained if commenced before accrual of cause which is sought to be enforced, and such an action should be dismissed without prejudice to plaintiff's right to begin a new action on accrual of the cause; and, upon proper and timely objection being made, the nonexistence of a cause of action when suit was started is a fatal defect which cannot be cured by accrual of cause pending suit.	On the other hand, an action cannot be maintained if it is commenced before the accrual of the cause of action which is sought to be enforced. Such an action should be dismissed without prejudice to the plaintiff's right to begin a new action on the accrual of the cause of action, upon proper and timely objection being made the nonexistence of a cause of action when the suit was started is a fatal defect which cannot be cured by the accrual of a cause pending suit.'	Can an action be maintained if commenced before the accrual of the cause which is sought to be enforced?
16301	Int'l Bhd. of Elec. Workers, Local No. 367, AFL-CIO v. Graham Cty. Elec. Coop., 783 F.2d 897, 899 (9th Cir. 1986)	2	Obligation to arbitrate a new contract, i.e., "interest arbitration," may survive the termination of an old contract.	Consistent with Nolde, the obligation to arbitrate a new contract ("interest arbitration") may also survive the termination of an old contract.	Can interest arbitration survive the termination of a contract?
16303	In re Segal, 527 B.R. 85, 90 (Bankr. E.D.N.Y. 2015)	3	The right to voluntarily dismiss a Chapter 7 case is not absolute; the debtor must establish cause for dismissal. 11 U.S.C.A. § 707(a).	The right to voluntarily dismiss a chapter 7 case is not absolute; the debtor must establish cause for dismissal under 707(a).	Is the right to a voluntary dismissal not absolute?
16309	Danson v. Casey, 33 Pa. Cmwlth. 614, 619, 382 A.2d 1238, 1240 (1978), decree aff'd, 484 Pa. 415, 399 A.2d 360 (1979)	2	The power of the state over education falls into that class of powers which are fundamental to our government. Act April 1, 1834, P.L. 102.	Thus, "(t)he power of the State over education . . . falls into that class of powers which are made fundamental to our government."	Does the power of a state over education fall into that class of powers which are fundamental to the government?
16313	In re Western World Funding, 52 B.R. 743, 777 (Bankr. D. Nev. 1985)	64	Partners have an equal legal right to manage, but actual management may be delegated to a single partner or coadventurer without destroying their relationship as coadventurers or partners.	Partners have an equal legal right to manage, but "actual management may be delegated to a single partner or co-adventurer without destroying their relationship as co-adventurers or partners."	Can the management and control of the partnership be delegated?

16314	Pedro v. Pedro, 463 N.W.2d 285, 288 (Minn. Ct. App. 1990)	2	Relationship between shareholders in a closely held corporation is analogous to that of partners, in that each shareholder owes the others a fiduciary duty.	The Minnesota Supreme Court recognizes that the relationship between shareholders in a closely held corporation is analogous to that of partners. Westland Capitol Corp. v. Lucht Engineering, Inc., 308 N.W.2d 709, 712 (Minn.1981). Each shareholder owes the others a fiduciary duty. Evans v. Blesi, 345 N.W.2d 775, 779 (Minn.App.1984).	Is the relationship between shareholders in a closely held corporation analogous to that of partners?
16319	Livitsanos v. Superior Ct., 2 Cal. 4th 744, 752, 828 P.2d 1195, 1201 (1992)	2	Touchstone of workers' compensation system is industrial injury which results in occupational disability or death. West's Ann.Cal.Labor Code S 3201 et seq.	The touchstone of the workers' compensation system is industrial injury which results in occupational disability or death.	What is the touchstone of the workers compensation system?
16320	Jordan v. Horstmeyer, 152 A.D.3d 1097, 1098, 60 N.Y.S.3d 549, 550 (2017)	3	While no appeal lies from an order issued on consent, that rule does not apply where the order differs from or exceeds the consent.	While "[i]t is well settled that no appeal lies from an order issued on consent" (Matter of O'Sullivan v. Schebelski, 138 A.D.3d 1170, 1172, 30 N.Y.S.3d 351 [2016]; see Matter of Culton v. Culton, 2 A.D.3d 1446, 1446, 769 N.Y.S.2d 431 [2003]), that rule does not apply where the order "differs from or exceeds the consent" (Hatsis v. Hatsis, 122 A.D.2d 111, 111, 504 N.Y.S.2d 508 [1986]).	Can an appeal lie from an order issued on consent?
16327	Rice v. Steele, 295 S.W.3d 453, 455 (Ky. Ct. App. 2009)	3	An "indispensable party" is one whose absence prevents the Court of Appeals from granting complete relief among those already parties.	"An indispensable party is one whose absence prevents the Court from granting complete relief among those already parties."	What constitutes an indispensable party?
16328	People v. Kerestes, 38 Ill. App. 3d 681, 683 (1976)	1	Element of intent is an essential part of the crime of burglary which must be properly alleged and proved.	The element of intent is an essential part of the crime of burglary which must be properly alleged and proved.	Is intent an essential part of burglary?
16333	Morley v. Wilson, 261 Mass. 269, 281 (1927)	6	Allegation of arbitrary and capricious conduct states legal conclusion.	The general allegation of arbitrary and capricious conduct states merely a legal conclusion.	Does a general allegation of arbitrary and capricious conduct state a mere legal conclusion?
16334	Ethicon Endo-Surgery v. Gillies, 343 S.W.3d 205, 210 (Tex. App. 2011)	4	The party requesting a non-suit has an absolute right to a non-suit at the moment the motion is filed. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 162.	The party requesting a non-suit has an absolute right to a non-suit at the moment the motion is filed.	Does a plaintiff generally have an absolute right to nonsuit at the moment a motion is filed with a clerk?
16338	Wright v. Steers, 242 Ind. 582, 585, 179 N.E.2d 721, 723 (1962)	3	The nature of tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	It is true that the nature of the tax must be determined by its operation and incidence, rather than by its title or designation made by the legislature.	How is the nature of a tax determined?
16339	InterGen N.V. v. Grina, 344 F.3d 134, 143 (1st Cir. 2003)	7	Courts should be extremely cautious about forcing arbitration in situations in which identity of parties who have agreed to arbitrate is unclear.	The upshot is that courts should be extremely cautious about forcing arbitration in "situations in which the identity of the parties who have agreed to arbitrate is unclear." Id.	When should the courts be cautious about forcing arbitration?

16340	United States v. Walgreen Co., 846 F.3d 879, 880–81 (6th Cir. 2017)	3	In addition to satisfying the False Claims Act's requirements, qui tam plaintiffs must meet the heightened pleading standards of the rule stating that, in all averments of fraud or mistake, the plaintiff must state with particularity the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake. 31 U.S.C.A. S 3729; Fed. R. Civ. P. 9(b).	In addition to satisfying the False Claims Act's requirements, qui tam plaintiffs must meet the heightened pleading standards of Civil Rule 9(b). U.S. ex rel. Bledsoe v. Cmty. Health Sys., Inc., 501 F.3d 493, 503 (6th Cir. 2007). In all averments of "fraud or mistake," the plaintiff must state with "particularity the circumstances *881 constituting fraud or mistake." Fed.	Should circumstances constituting mistake be stated with particularity?
16345	Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, 473 U.S. 614, 615 (1985)	8	Potential complexity of antitrust matters does not suffice to ward off arbitration nor does arbitration panel pose too great a danger of innate hostility to constraints on business conduct that antitrust law imposes. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	So too, the potential complexity of antitrust matters does not suffice to ward off arbitration; nor does an arbitration panel pose too great a danger of innate hostility to the constraints on business conduct that antitrust law imposes	Can potential complexities of antitrust matters suffice to ward off arbitration?
16346	State v. Handy, 156 So. 3d 785, 791 (2014)	6	To establish the crime of simple burglary, it is not required that an actual theft or a taking occur. LSA-R.S. 14:62.	However, to establish the crime of simple burglary, it is not required that an actual theft or a taking occur.	Does simple burglary require theft or taking?
16347	Hood v. State, 860 S.W.2d 931, 935 (Tex. App. 1993)	10	When there is independent evidence of burglary, unexplained possession of recently stolen property can constitute sufficient evidence of guilt to support conviction.	When there is independent evidence of a burglary, the unexplained possession of recently stolen property can constitute sufficient evidence of guilt.	Is possession of goods evidence of burglary?
16350	Bates v. State, 582 S.W.2d 84, 86 (Tenn. Crim. App. 1978)	4	Larceny and attempt to commit larceny are not essential elements of burglary and, hence, are not lesser included offenses of that crime.	"(W)e conclude and hold that the law of this State now is that larceny and attempt to commit larceny are not essential elements of burglary and, hence, are not lesser included offenses of that crime. "	Is larceny an element of burglary?
16351	People v. Givens, 164 Misc. 2d 463, 465–66, 624 N.Y.S.2d 790, 791 (Crim. Ct. 1995)	3	Intent to use burglar's tool unlawfully may be established by circumstantial evidence. McKinney's Penal Law S 140.35.	It is well established that for the charge of possession of burglar's tools the element of intent to use a tool unlawfully *466 may be established by circumstantial evidence.	Can intent be proved by circumstantial evidence for the charge of possession of burglars tools?
16352	McReynolds v. Hartley, 251 Ill. App. 3d 1038, 1041 (1993)	4	Deputy clerk as no independent authority as deputy and may only perform duties under direction of clerk of circuit court.	Also, a deputy clerk has no independent authority as deputy and may only perform duties under the direction of the clerk of the circuit court.	Does a deputy clerk have independent authority?
16354	Blankenship v. Kootenai Cty., 125 Idaho 101, 103–04, 867 P.2d 975, 977–78 (1994)	3	Clerk of court is judicial officer while performing judicial clerical duties for court. I.C. S 1-907.	The clerk of the district court is a judicial officer while performing judicial clerical duties for the court.	Is a clerk of the district court a judicial officer while performing judicial clerical duties for the court?
16356	Progressive Ins. Companies v. Hartman, 788 S.W.2d 424, 427 (Tex. App. 1990)	6	Defendant cannot force plaintiff to prosecute suit against plaintiff's own best interests.	A defendant cannot force a plaintiff to prosecute a suit against the plaintiff's own best interests.	Can a defendant force a plaintiff to prosecute a suit against a plaintiff's own best interests?

16358	Maudsley v. Pederson, 676 N.W.2d 8, 12 (Minn. Ct. App. 2004)	3	Whether or not to enforce its own scheduling order is clearly within the district court's discretion.	And whether or not to enforce its own scheduling order is clearly within the district court's discretion.	Does the court have discretion in enforcing its own scheduling order?
16359	Wilson Foods Corp. v. Turner, 218 Ga. App. 74, 77, 460 S.E.2d 532, 535 (1995)	9	Pretrial order is ineffective for any purpose until it is signed by trial judge.	However, a pretrial order is ineffective for any purpose until it is signed by the trial judge.	Is a pretrial order ineffective for any purpose until it is signed by a trial judge?
16361	In re Carton, 48 N.J. 9, 15–16 (1966)	4	A trial court should not order counsel to sign a pretrial order counsel questions. R.R. 4:29-1(b).	We think, too, that a trial court should not order counsel to sign a pretrial order he questions.	Should a trial court order a counsel to sign a pretrial order counsel questions?
16363	Unruh v. Purina Mills, LLC, 289 Kan. 1185, 1191, 221 P.3d 1130, 1137 (2009)	8	The pretrial order supersedes any pleadings and has the effect of amending the pleadings to conform to it. West's K.S.A. 60-216(e).	The pretrial order supersedes any pleadings and has the effect of amending the pleadings to conform to it.	Does the pretrial order supersede any pleadings and have the effect of amending the pleadings to conform to it?
16364	Misle Chevrolet Co. v. Kometscher, 225 Neb. 804, 804 (1987)	4	Failure to object to specification of issues in pretrial orders waives error claimed in that regard on appeal.	Failure to object to the specification of the issues in the pretrial order waives error claimed in that regard on appeal.	Do issues set out in a pretrial order supplant the issues raised in the pleadings?
16365	Estate of Cooper, 11 Cal. App. 3d 1114, 1122, 90 Cal. Rptr. 283 (Ct. App. 1970)	7	The pretrial order determines issues to be tried; issues that are not designated as being in dispute are no longer issues in the case.	The pretrial order determines the issues to be tried; issues that are not designated as being in dispute are no longer issues in the case.	Do pretrial orders determine the issues to be tried?
16367	Endsley v. City of Chicago, 319 Ill. App. 3d 1009, 1017, 745 N.E.2d 708, 715 (2001)	11	"Taxes" are an enforced proportional contribution levied by the State, by virtue of its sovereignty, for support of the government.	"Taxes are an enforced proportional contribution levied by the State by virtue of its sovereignty for support of the government."	"By virtue of what, are taxes levied by the State?"
16368	Town of Hilton Head Island v. Morris, 324 S.C. 30, 35–36, 484 S.E.2d 104, 107 (1997)	7	Statute levies tax when it fixes amount or rate to be imposed.	A statute levies a tax *36 when it fixes the amount or rate to be imposed.	Does a statute levy tax when it fixes amount or rate to be imposed?
16370	Alabama Power Co. v. Fed. Power Comm'n, 134 F.2d 602, 608 (5th Cir. 1943)	7	"Taxes" are annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for current support of government and are generally an "expense" and not an "investment".	Taxes are the annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for the current support of government, and are generally an expense and not an investment.	Is a tax paid to the government?
16371	Mississippi Power Co. v. Mississippi Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 168 So. 3d 905, 910 (Miss. 2015)	7	A tax is paid to the government, not a privately-owned corporate entity which is not an arm of the State.	A tax is paid to the government, not a "privately-owned corporate entit[y]" which is "not [an] arm[] of the State."	Is a tax paid to a privately-owned corporate entity which is not an arm of the State?

16372	Dean v. Lehman, 143 Wash. 2d 12, 26–27, 18 P.3d 523, 531–32 (2001)	21	In ascertaining whether a governmentally imposed charge is a fee or a tax, the court applies a three factor test, the first factor of which inquires whether the primary purpose of the state is to accomplish desired public benefits which cost money, or whether the primary purpose is to regulate; if the primary purpose of the charges is to raise revenue the charges are a tax, but if the primary purpose is regulatory, the charges are properly characterized as "tools of regulation" rather than taxes.	In ascertaining whether a governmentally imposed charge *27 is a fee or a tax this court adheres to a three factor test, most recently articulated in Covell v. City of Seattle, 532 127 Wash.2d 874, 879, 905 P.2d 324 (1995). The first factor is "whether the primary purpose of the ... [State] is to accomplish desired public benefits which cost money, or whether the primary purpose is to regulate" If the primary purpose of the charges is to raise revenue, rather than to regulate, then the charges are a tax. Conversely, if the primary purpose is regulatory, "the charges are properly characterized as 'tools of regulation' rather than taxes."	Is tax an imposed charge?
16375	Singleton v. Haywood Elec. Membership Corp., 357 N.C. 623, 627, 588 S.E.2d 871, 874 (2003)	2	A claim of trespass requires: (1) possession of the property by plaintiff when the alleged trespass was committed, (2) an unauthorized entry by defendant, and (3) damage to plaintiff.	'Furthermore, a claim of trespass requires: (1) possession of the property by plaintiff when the alleged trespass was committed; (2) an unauthorized entry by defendant; and (3) damage to plaintiff.' "	What are the requisites for a claim of trespass?
16377	Bond v. United States, 47 Fed. Cl. 641, 647 (2000)	1	Although the deference accorded to military actions by the judiciary is substantial, it is not unlimited.	However, although the deference accorded to military actions by the judiciary is substantial, it is not unlimited.	Is the deference accorded to military actions by the judiciary unlimited?
16378	Welder v. Green, 985 S.W.2d 170, 176 (Tex. App. 1998)	18	Partner can be expelled from partnership, without any breach of duty, over disagreements about firm policy or to resolve some other fundamental schism; the fiduciary duty partners owe one another does not encompass a duty to remain partners.	A partner can be expelled, without a breach of duty, over disagreements about firm policy or to resolve some other fundamental schism. Id. The fiduciary duty partners owe one another does not encompass a duty to remain partners. Id.	Can a partner be expelled from the partnership?
16381	Washburn v. Terminal R. R. Ass'n of St. Louis, 114 Ill. App. 2d 95, 102, 252 N.E.2d 389, 392 (Ill. App. Ct. 1969)	8	Purpose of discovery is ascertainment of truth and expedition of disposition of litigation.	The purpose of discovery is the ascertainment of truth and the expedition of the disposition of litigation, Monier v. Chamberlain, 35 Ill.2d 351, 221 N.E.2d 410, 18 A.L.R.3d 471.	Is the purpose of discovery ascertainment of truth and expedition of a disposition of litigation?
16386	Weisblat v. City of San Diego, 176 Cal. App. 4th 1022, 1039, 98 Cal. Rptr. 3d 366, 378 (2009)	5	A tax is a "general tax" only when its revenues are placed into the general fund and are available for expenditure for any and all governmental purposes.	"A tax is general only when its revenues are placed into the general fund and are available for expenditure for any and all governmental purposes. [Citation.]"	"Is a tax considered as a general tax"" when its revenues are placed into the general fund?"

16387	Arbuckle-Coll. City Fire Prot. Dist. v. Cnty. of Colusa, 105 Cal. App. 4th 1155, 1164, 130 Cal. Rptr. 2d 182, 189 (2003)	2	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are "general taxes" and include ad valorem property taxes; whereas, taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are "special taxes."	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are general taxes and include ad valorem property taxes. (See Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal.4th 220, 232, 45 Cal.Rptr.2d 207, 902 P.2d 225.) Taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are special taxes. (Ibid.)	"Is a tax considered as a general tax"" when its revenues are placed into the general fund?"
16389	City of Lebanon Junction v. Cellco P'ship, 80 S.W.3d 761, 764 (Ky. Ct. App. 2001)	2	The character of any tax is to be determined by its incidents, and the name by which it is described in the legislation imposing it is without significance.	However, "the character of any tax is to be determined by its incidents, and the name by which it is described in the legislation imposing it is without significance."	Is the character of a tax determined by its incidents?
16390	City of Lebanon Junction v. Cellco P'ship, 80 S.W.3d 761, 764 (Ky. Ct. App. 2001)	2	The character of any tax is to be determined by its incidents, and the name by which it is described in the legislation imposing it is without significance.	However, "the character of any tax is to be determined by its incidents, and the name by which it is described in the legislation imposing it is without significance."	Is the character of a tax determined by its name?
16392	Pub. Advocate & Consumers Educ. & Protective Ass'n v. City of Philadelphia, 662 A.2d 686, 689 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 1995)	3	Necessary predicate to finding of unlawful tax is direct taking of customer funds.	A necessary predicate to the finding of an unlawful tax is a direct taking of customer funds.	What is the necessary predicate to finding of unlawful tax?
16393	Mayor & City Council of Ocean City v. Purnell-Jarvis, Ltd., 86 Md. App. 390, 405 (1991)	9	Act is "revenue raising" measure when it appears from act itself that revenue is its main objective.	Generally, an act is a revenue raising measure when it appears from the act itself that revenue is its main objective.	"Is an Act a ""revenue raising"" measure when it appears from act itself that revenue is its main objective?"
16402	Hamilton v. City of Shreveport, 180 So. 2d 30, 32-33 (La. Ct. App. 1965)	2	General allegation of negligence is merely pleader's conclusion of law.	Moreover, it is well settled that a general allegation of negligence *33 is merely the pleader's own conclusion of law.	Is a general allegation of negligence merely the pleaders own conclusion of law?
16404	Hoyt Properties v. Prod. Res. Grp., 716 N.W.2d 366, 376 (Minn. App. 2006)	14	A district court has discretion to determine whether a voluntary dismissal should be with prejudice. 48 M.S.A., Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41.01(a).	The court also has discretion to determine whether the dismissal should be with prejudice.	Does a district court have discretion to determine whether a voluntary dismissal should be with prejudice?
16405	Wells Fargo Bank, Nat. Ass'n v. Voorhees, 194 So. 3d 448, 451 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2016)	2	The use of admissions obtained through a technicality should not form a basis to preclude adjudication of a legitimate claim. West's F.S.A. RCP Rule 1.370(b).	"The use of admissions obtained through a technicality should not form a basis to preclude adjudication of a legitimate claim." Sterling, 595 So.2d at 285.	Should the liberal standard for relief from a technical admission be decided upon their merits rather than technical rules of default?
16408	Jaynes v. Commonwealth, 276 Va. 443, 459, 666 S.E.2d 303, 311 (2008)	10	"Trespass" is the unauthorized use of or entry onto another's property.	Trespass is the unauthorized use of or entry onto another's property.	Is the unauthorized use of or entry onto another's property a trespass?

16411	Wait v. Travelers Indem. Co. of Illinois, 240 S.W.3d 220, 224–25 (Tenn. 2007)	4	Workers' Compensation Act should be liberally construed in favor of compensation, and any doubts should be resolved in the employee's favor; however, this liberal-construction requirement does not authorize courts to amend, alter, or extend its provisions beyond its obvious meaning. West's T.C.A. S 50-6-101 et seq.	The Act should be liberally construed in favor of compensation and any doubts should be resolved in the employee's favor. Knox v. Batson, 217 Tenn. 620, 399 S.W.2d 765, 772 (1966). However, this liberal construction requirement *225 does not authorize courts to amend, alter, or extend its provisions beyond its obvious meaning.	Is Workmens compensation law a social welfare statute?
16414	Kelly v. Cent. Bank & Tr. Co. of Denver, 794 P.2d 1037, 1043 (Colo. App. 1989)	11	Negotiation of order paper requires authorized endorsement of named payee. C.R.S. 4-3-202.	Negotiation of order paper requires the authorized indorsement of the named payee. See 4-3-202, C.R.S.	Does a negotiation of an order paper require the authorized indorsement of the named payee?
16419	People v. Hornaday, 400 Ill. 361, 365 (1948)	8	Indictment for forcible rape need not aver that the female was not the wife of accused.	An indictment for forcible rape need not aver that the female was not the wife of the accused.	Does an indictment for forcible rape require that the female not be the wife of the accused?
16421	House v. United States, 99 Fed. Cl. 342, 347 (2011), aff'd, 473 F. App'x 901 (Fed. Cir. 2012)	5	Where a member of the military resigns or retires, his decision is presumed to be voluntary, for purposes of invoking Military Pay Act. 37 U.S.C.A. S 204.	Where a member of the military resigns or retires, his decision is presumed to be voluntary.	Is a decision of a member of the military to resign or retire presumed to be voluntary?
16422	Kim v. United States, 47 Fed. Cl. 493, 498 (2000)	8	A choice between two unpleasant alternatives does not make the decision to retire from the military involuntary.	A choice between two unpleasant alternatives does not make the decision to retire involuntary.	Does a choice between two unpleasant alternatives yield a voluntary decision to retire?
16423	Thomas v. United States, 42 Fed. Cl. 449, 452 (1998)	4	Court of Federal Claims does not have the authority to order the re-enlistment of a serviceman beyond the date on which his term of enlistment would have expired.	Further, even if the retirement were involuntary, this court does not have the authority to order the re-enlistment of a serviceman beyond the date on which his term of enlistment would have expired.	Does a court have authority to order reinstatement?
16424	United States v. Mariano, 983 F.2d 1150, 1159 (1st Cir. 1993)	13	Essential difference between bribe and illegal gratuity is intention of bribe-giver to effect quid pro quo and, thus, bribery sentencing guideline applies when transfer of money has corrupt purpose, such as inducing public official to participate in fraud or to influence official actions. U.S.S.G. SS 2C1.1, 2C1.1, comment. (backg'd.), 18 U.S.C.A.App.	The essential difference between a bribe and an illegal gratuity is the intention of the bribe-giver to effect a quid pro quo. See United States v. Muldoon, 931 F.2d 282, 287 (4th Cir.1991). Hence, a bribery guideline, section 2C1.1, applies when a transfer of money has "a corrupt purpose, such as inducing a public official to participate in a fraud or to influence his official actions." U.S.S.G. 2C1.1, comment. (backg'd)	What is the distinction between a bribe and an illegal gratuity?
16425	Kirby v. Gaub, 75 S.W.3d 916, 917 (Mo. Ct. App. 2002)	3	Voluntary dismissal of civil action is effective on date it is filed with court. V.A.M.R. 67.02.	A voluntary dismissal is effective on the date it is filed with the court.	Is a voluntary dismissal of civil action is effective on date it filed with court?
16435	Wilentz v. Hendrickson, 133 N.J. Eq. 447, 469, 33 A.2d 366, 381 (Ch. 1943), decree aff'd, 135 N.J. Eq. 244, 38 A.2d 199 (1944)	24	Interest does not inhere in a tax as a legal incident, but may be attached to a tax by legislative enactment.	It must be acknowledged that interest does not inhere in a tax as a legal incident, but interest may be attached to a tax by legislative enactment.	Can interest be attached to a tax by legislative enactment?

16440	Lamar v. State, 603 So. 2d 1113, 1114 (Ala. Crim. App. 1991)	2	Material element of crime of bribery is defendant's intent at time he attempted to bribe witness. Code 1975, S 13A-10-121.	A material element of the crime of bribery is the defendant's intent at the time he attempted to bribe the witness.	What is a material element of the crime of bribery?
16444	Coughlin v. City of Milwaukee, 227 Wis. 357, 279 N.W. 62, 67 (1938)	5	A mere averment of duress, without setting out facts justifying such averment, is a conclusion of law.	A mere averment of duress, without setting out the facts justifying such averment, is a conclusion of law.	Is the mere averment of duress a conclusion of law?
16445	Matter of Wong, 252 Mont. 111, 117 (1992)	4	Seeking a continuance due to lack of representation does not ensure grant of continuance.	Seeking a continuance due to lack of representation does not ensure the grant of a continuance.	Does seeking a continuance due to lack of representation not ensure the grant of a continuance?
16447	Sands v. State Through Louisiana State Med. Ctr., Sch. of Dentistry, 458 So. 2d 960, 961 (La. Ct. App. 1984)	1	A continuance is not due on a naked showing that a client has discharged his or her lawyer; to discharge one's lawyer, even without any cause, would otherwise enable one to delay going to trial forever.	We deem it beyond question that a continuance is not due on a naked showing that a client has discharged his or her lawyer. To discharge one's lawyer, even without any cause, would otherwise enable one to delay going to trial forever.	Is a continuance not due on a naked showing that a client has discharged his or her lawyer?
16448	Miller v. Marina Mercy Hosp., 157 Cal. App. 3d 765, 769, 204 Cal. Rptr. 62, 65 (Ct. App. 1984)	4	Failure to answer a request for admissions is deemed an admission of matters contained in request. West's Ann.Cal.C.C.P. S 2033.	Failure to answer a request for admissions is deemed an admission of matters contained in the request.	Is failure to answer a request for admissions deemed an admission of matters contained in the request?
16449	Robbins v. Allstate Ins. Co., 362 Ill. App. 3d 540, 542-43 (2005)	2	The failure to respond to a request for admission results in the admission of the facts contained in the request. Sup.Ct.Rules, Rule 216(a).	Quite simply, the failure to respond to a request for admission results in the admission of the facts contained in the request.	Does the failure to respond to a request for admission result in the admission of the facts contained in the request?
16451	Pandozy v. Shamis, 254 S.W.3d 596, 601 (Tex. App. 2008)	10	Generally, the court should grant a continuance if a party has no attorney through no fault of his own. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 251.	Generally, the court should grant a continuance if a party has no attorney through no fault of their own.	"Generally, should the court grant a continuance if a party has no attorney through no fault of his own?"
16452	Wilentz v. Hendrickson, 133 N.J. Eq. 447, 469, 33 A.2d 366, 381 (Ch. 1943), decree aff'd, 135 N.J. Eq. 244, 38 A.2d 199 (1944)	24	Interest does not inhere in a tax as a legal incident, but may be attached to a tax by legislative enactment.	It must be acknowledged that interest does not inhere in a tax as a legal incident, but interest may be attached to a tax by legislative enactment.	Does interest inhere in a tax as a legal incident?
16453	Friedman v. Am. Sur. Co. of New York, 137 Tex. 149, 160 (1941)	7	The exercise of the power of "eminent domain" takes property and not money, whereas the exercise of the power to "tax" takes money alone. Vernon's Ann.St.Const. art. 1, S 17.	The exercise of the power of eminent domain takes property-not money. The exercise of the power to tax takes money alone.	"Does the exercise of the power of ""eminent domain"" take property?"
16455	Kuhn v. Tumminelli, 366 N.J. Super. 431, 441 (App. Div. 2004)	2	The misappropriation of funds from a check is unauthorized, but does not convert an authorized endorsement into a forgery.	The misappropriation of the funds is unauthorized, but does not convert an authorized endorsement into a forgery.	"If misappropriation of the funds is unauthorized, does that convert an authorized endorsement into a forgery?"
16460	Alford v. Zeigler, 65 Ga. App. 294, 297 (Ga. App. 1941)	1	Reasonable definiteness and certainty in pleading is all that is required, and factitious demands by special demurrer should not be encouraged.	"Reasonable definiteness and certainty in pleading is all that is required; and factitious demands by special demurrer should not be encouraged."	Is reasonable definiteness all that is required in a pleading?
16465	Henke Grain Co. v. Keenan, 658 S.W.2d 343, 347 (Tex. App. 1983)	9	Deemed admissions can be used to support granting of summary judgment.	Deemed admissions can be used to support the granting of a summary judgment.	Can deemed admissions be used to support granting of summary judgment?

16467	Gen. Acc. Fire & Life Assur. Corp. v. Cohen, 203 Va. 810, 814 (1962)	5	Matters admitted for want of answer to request for admissions are admitted only as stated in the request. Code 1950, S 8-111.1.	Matters admitted for want of an answer to a request for admissions are admitted only as stated in the request.	Are matters admitted for want of answer to request for admissions admitted only as stated in the request?
16469	Kawasaki Kisen Kaisha, Ltd. v. Plano Molding Co., 696 F.3d 647, 653 (7th Cir. 2012)	8	Intermediaries entrusted with goods are cargo owners' agents only in their ability to contract for liability limitations with carriers downstream.	As the Supreme Court has recognized, "intermediaries, entrusted with goods, are 'agents' only in their ability to contract for liability limitations with carriers downstream." Id.	"Are intermediaries entrusted with goods, agents?"
16474	Lambert v. Bunge Corp., 169 So. 2d 207, 209 (La. Ct. App. 1964)	2	Illness of principal counsel in trial of case is good ground for continuance. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1601.	The cases are numerous in our jurisprudence that illness of principal counsel in the trial of a case is good and sound grounds for a continuance. See LSA-C.C.P. art. 1601.	"Is the sickness of the principal counsel of the defendant, the other not being prepared to go on to trial, good ground for a continuance at the cost of the defendant?"
16475	Bienenfeld v. Mortg. Comm'n, 161 Misc. 311, 312, 291 N.Y.S. 739, 741 (City Ct. 1936)	4	Before an examination will be ordered, complaint must allege a cause of action.	Before an examination will be ordered, the complaint must allege a cause of action. Goldstein v. Valentine, 246 App.Div. 610, 284 N.Y.S. 373.	"Before an examination will be ordered, must a complaint allege a cause of action?"
16480	In re Frank A. Smith Sales, 32 S.W.3d 871, 874 (Tex. App. 2000)	5	Settlement agreements, including the amount of the settlement, are discoverable where they are shown to be relevant. Vernon's Ann. Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 166b, subd. 2, par. f(2) (Repealed).	Settlement agreements, including the amount of the settlement, are discoverable where they are shown to be relevant. TEX.R.CIV.P. 166b(2)(f)(2); Ford Motor Co. v. Leggat, 904 S.W.2d 643, 649 (Tex.1995).	"Are settlement agreements, including the amount of the settlement, discoverable where they are shown to be relevant?"
16481	Moe v. Zitek, 75 N.D. 222, 227 (1947)	3	Employment of attorney need not be directly by client, but agent with proper authority may employ attorney to bring suit in principal's name.	The employment of an attorney need not be made directly by the client. An agent with proper authority may employ an attorney to bring suit in the name of his principal.	Can an agent employ an attorney for his/her principal?
16484	Flynn v. Currie, 130 Me. 461, 157 A. 310, 311 (1931)	5	Where drawer of check stops payment thereon, he is liable to holder of check for consequences of his conduct.	Where the drawer of a check stops payment thereon, he is liable to the holder of the check for the consequences of his conduct.	Can a drawer be liable for the consequences of stopping a payment?
16485	In re Winborne's Will, 231 N.C. 463, 465 (1950)	2	A "check" is nothing more than a bill of exchange drawn on a bank and it does not operate as an assignment of any part of funds to the credit of drawer with the bank until it is presented to and accepted by the bank on which it is drawn and drawer may at any time before acceptance by the bank stop payment or withdraw his funds from the bank. G.S. SS 25-192, 25-197.	A check is nothing more than a bill of exchange drawn on a bank, G.S. s 25-192, and it does not operate as an assignment of any part of the funds to the credit of a drawer with the bank until it is presented to and accepted by the bank on which it is drawn. G.S. s 25-197. The drawer is at all times, prior to acceptance by the bank, at liberty to stop payment or to withdraw his funds from the bank.	Does the drawer have authority to withdraw his funds or stop the payment from the bank anytime?

16486	Smith v. McKeller, 638 So. 2d 1192, 1195 (La. Ct. App. 1994)	3	The word "promise" does not have to be used ritualistically to confect a promissory note; instead, words "to be paid on demand" are sufficient to confect a promissory note.	However, Louisiana jurisprudence provides that the word "promise" does not have to be used ritualistically to confect a promissory note. Fejta v. Werner Enterprises, Inc., 412 So.2d 155, 158 (La.App. 4th Cir.), writ denied, 415 So.2d 953 (La.1982). Instead, the words "to be paid on demand" are sufficient to confect a promissory note.	Does the word promise have to be ritualistically used to confect a promissory note?
16487	Pennsylvania Pub. Sch. Employees' Ret. Sys. v. Morgan Stanley & Co., 772 F.3d 111, 123 (2d Cir. 2014)	20	Under New York law, specific incantations of "assignment" are unnecessary to perfect a transfer of a note.	On the one hand, New York law is clear that specific incantations of "assignment" are unnecessary to perfect a transfer.	It is necessary to have specific incantations of assignment to perfect a transfer?
16488	United States v. Forszt, 655 F.2d 101, 103 (7th Cir. 1981)	1	In Indiana it is soliciting or receiving of money by official to influence him with respect to his official duties that is gravamen of offense of bribery. Burns' Ind.St.Ann. S 10-602.	As defendant correctly states, "in Indiana it is the soliciting or the receiving of money by an official to influence him with respect to his official duties that is the gravamen of the offense of bribery" (Br.	What is the gravamen of the offense of bribery?
16492	Bedell v. Duniven, 77 Cal. App. 2d 145, 148, 174 P.2d 666, 667 (1946)	2	A pedestrian crossing a roadway within a pedestrian crosswalk has duty to exercise reasonable care.	It is the duty of a pedestrian crossing the roadway within a pedestrian crosswalk to exercise reasonable care at all times. O'Brien v. Schellberg, 59 Cal.App.2d 764, 768, 140 P.2d 159.	Does a pedestrian have the duty to exercise reasonable care?
16493	Bell v. Nat'l Life & Acc. Ins. Co., 41 Ala. App. 94, 97, 123 So. 2d 598, 599-600 (Ala. Ct. App. 1960)	2	It is sometimes permissible and necessary for a pleader to draw conclusions where facts are alleged that tend to support such conclusion, and it is only "mere conclusions" or "bald conclusions" without supporting facts which are objectionable in pleading.	It is sometimes permissible and necessary for a pleader to draw conclusions where facts are alleged that tend to support the 600 conclusion. Birmingham Ry., Light & Power Co. v. Gonzalez, 183 Ala. 273, 61 So. 81, Ann.Cas.1916A, 543. It is only 'mere conclusions' or 'bald conclusions,' without supporting facts which are objectionable in pleading.'	When is it necessary for the pleader to draw conclusions?
16501	United States v. Fernandez, 722 F.3d 1, 8 (1st Cir. 2013)	2	State legislators are not categorically exempt from prosecution under the federal bribery statute; the plain language of the statute includes a "representative" of a "government" in the list of positions that fall under the statute's definition of "agent," and there is no more classic government "representative" than a legislative branch officer. 18 U.S.C.A. S 666(d)(1).	At the outset, we reject any notion that state legislators are categorically exempt from prosecution under 666. Indeed, the plain language of the statute includes a "representative" of a "government" in the list of positions that fall under the statute's definition of "agent," 18 U.S.C. 666(d)(1), and there is no more classic government "representative" than a legislative branch officer.	Are state legislators categorically exempt from prosecution under the federal bribery statute?

16502	People v. Nichols, 196 Cal. App. 2d 223, 227, 16 Cal. Rptr. 328, 330 (Ct. App. 1961)	4	Burglarios intent could be justifiably inferred from evidence of unlawful and forcible entry. West's Ann.Pen.Code, S 459.	Here, the evidence unquestionably established an unlawful and forcible entry of the Lawton school. From this alone, burglarious intent could be reasonably and justifiably inferred (People v. Michaels, 193 Cal.App.2d 194, 13 Cal.Rptr. 900; People v. Stewart, 113 Cal.App.2d 687, 689, 248 P.2d 768).	Can intent to commit burglary be inferred from forcible entry?
16504	Guy v. Arthur H. Thomas Co., 55 Ohio St. 2d 183, 186 (1978)	2	Genesis of workers' compensation was the inability of the common-law remedies to cope with modern industrialism and its inherent injuries to workers. R.C. S 4123.01 et seq.	The genesis of workers' compensation in the United States and Ohio was the inability of the common-law remedies to cope with modern industrialism and its inherent injuries to workers.	What is the genesis of workers compensation?
16508	Purdy & Fitzpatrick v. State, 71 Cal. 2d 566, 579, 456 P.2d 645, 654 (1969)	7	Discrimination on basis of alienage invokes strict standard of review.	Labor Code section 1850 discriminates on the basis of alienage, and such classification invokes a strict standard of review.	Does discrimination on the basis of alienage invoke a strict standard of review?
16509	Matter of Spangler, 56 B.R. 990, 992 (D. Md. 1986)	2	Whether an agreement is a lease or sale under U.C.C. S 1-201(37) requires, at the threshold, determination of intent of parties to the transaction.	Whether an agreement is a lease or sale requires, at the threshold, a determination of the intent of the parties to the transaction.	Does the intent of the parties determine the transaction?
16512	Neal v. Bradley, 238 Ark. 714, 719 (1964)	1	Generally, recordation statutes do not apply to assignments of notes unless specifically so stated.	The general rule is that recordation statutes do not apply to assignment of notes unless specifically so stated by statute.	Do recordation statutes apply to assignment of notes?
16515	United States v. Allen, 10 F.3d 405, 411 (7th Cir. 1993)	1	Extortion under color of official right and bribery are really different sides of the same coin; extortion under color of official right equals the knowing receipt of bribes and it is extortion if the official knows that the bribe is motivated by a hope that it will influence him in the exercise of his office and if, knowing that, he accepts the bribe.	As the law has evolved, extortion "under color of official right" and bribery are really different sides of the same coin. "Extortion 'under color of official right' equals the knowing receipt of bribes.... [I]t is extortion if the official knows that the bribe ... is motivated by a hope that it will influence him in the exercise of his office and if, knowing this, he accepts the bribe."	Are extortion and bribery different sides of the same coin?
16519	Ledwith v. Bankers Life Ins. Co., 156 Neb. 107, 126 (1952)	30	A pension, granted for services previously rendered, fully paid for when rendered, and giving rise to no legal obligation for further compensation, is a gratuity.	A pension is a gratuity where it is granted for services previously rendered and which, at the time they were rendered, were fully paid for and gave rise to no legal obligation for further compensation.	When can a pension be regarded as a gratuity?

16524	Covington v. Int'l Ass'n of Approved Basketball Officials, 710 F.3d 114, 120 (3d Cir. 2013)	6	Vicarious liability due to an agency relationship can be based on apparent authority; "apparent authority" arises in those situations where the principal causes persons with whom the agent deals to reasonably believe that the agent has authority despite the absence of an actual agency relationship.	Vicarious liability can also be based on apparent authority. "Apparent authority arises in those situations where the principal causes persons with whom the agent deals to reasonably believe that the agent has authority' despite the absence of an actual agency relationship.	Can Vicarious Liability be based on Actual Authority?
16525	First Ins. Co. of Hawaii v. Jackson, 67 Haw. 165, 167, 681 P.2d 569, 571 (1984)	2	In classical subrogation action, burden of proof is upon party claiming subrogation to show that he is entitled to it.	In a classical subrogation action, the burden of proof, of course, is upon the party claiming subrogation to show that he is entitled to it.	Who has the burden to prove an entitlement while claiming subrogation?
16529	Fields v. Blake, 349 F. Supp. 2d 910, 920 (E.D. Pa. 2004)	15	Commanding officer of a military base has wide discretion as to whom he can exclude from the base.	The commanding officer of a military base has wide discretion as to whom he can exclude from the base.	Does the Commanding officer of a military base have wide discretion as to whom he can exclude from the base?
16543	Skelton v. Gen. Candy Co., 539 S.W.2d 605, 612 (Mo. App. 1976)	10	A party is not conclusively bound by estimates of time, speed or distance.	It is undoubtedly for just such reason that the rule has evolved that a party is not conclusively bound by estimates of time, speed or distance. Vaeth v. Gegg, 486 S.W.2d 625 (Mo.1972).	"Is a party not conclusively bound by estimates of time, speed or distance?"
16553	Callaway v. City of Overland Park, 211 Kan. 646, 651, 508 P.2d 902, 907 (1973)	7	An "ad valorem tax" is a tax imposed on the basis of the value of the article or thing taxed.	An ad valorem tax is a tax imposed on the basis of the value of the article or thing taxed.	"Is an ""ad valorem tax"" a tax imposed on the basis of the value of the article or thing taxed?"
16559	Orr v. Calicott, 2009 Ark. App. 857, 3 (2009)	4	A dismissal for improper venue does not go to the merits of whether the plaintiff can recover; all that has been determined is that the plaintiff brought suit in the wrong county.	On the other hand, a dismissal for improper venue does not go to the merits of whether the plaintiff can recover. All that has been determined is that the plaintiff brought suit in the wrong county.	Does a dismissal for improper venue does not go to the merits of whether the plaintiff can recover?
16563	Hamilton v. Morris Res., Ltd., 225 S.W.3d 336, 346 (Tex. App. 2007)	23	The exclusion of an exhibit not listed in a pretrial order is not an impermissible sanction. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 166(a).	The exclusion of an exhibit not listed in a pretrial order is not an impermissible sanction.	Is the exclusion of an exhibit not listed in a pretrial order not an impermissible sanction?
16567	Pourier v. Bd. of Cty. Comm'rs of Shannon Cty., 83 S.D. 235, 240 (1968)	8	Taxation of Indians by federal government does not impliedly authorize taxation by the state.	Taxation of Indians by the Federal Government does not impliedly authorize taxation by the state.	Does the taxation of Indians by federal government impliedly authorize taxation by the state?
16568	Commonwealth Edison Co. v. Montana, 453 U.S. 609, 622, 101 S. Ct. 2946, 2956, 69 L. Ed. 2d 884 (1981)	13	States have considerable latitude in imposing general revenue taxes.	This Court has indicated that States have considerable latitude in imposing general revenue taxes.	Do states have considerable latitude in imposing general revenue taxes?
16569	United States v. City of Roanoke, 258 F. Supp. 415, 418 (W.D. Va. 1966)	6	Waiver of immunity from taxation must not only be express but it must also be strictly construed.	It should be remembered that a waiver of immunity from taxation must not only be express but it must also be strictly construed.	Should the waiver of immunity from taxation be express and strictly construed?
16570	Collier Cty. v. State, 733 So. 2d 1012, 1014 (Fla. 1999)	1	Power of state and local governments to levy taxes is governed by the Constitution. West's F.S.A. Const. Art. 7, S 1(a).	The power of state and local governments to levy taxes is governed by the constitution.	Is the power of state and local governments to levy taxes governed by the Constitution?

16572	Collector of Taxes of City of Boston v. Revere Bldg., 276 Mass. 576, 578, 177 N.E. 577, 578 (1931)	5	"Tax" on realty, in its nature, is not "debt", but monetary burden for support of government laid on owner and secured by lien on realty. M.G.L.A. c. 60 S 35.	A tax on real estate in its nature is not a debt but a monetary burden for the support of government laid upon the owner and secured by lien upon the real estate.	"Is a ""tax"" on realty a ""debt""?"
16573	Flynn v. City & Cnty. of San Francisco, 18 Cal. 2d 210, 215, 115 P.2d 3, 6 (1941)	12	Tax levied by reason of ownership of property is a "property tax" rather than "occupation tax".	A tax levied by reason of ownership of property is a tax on property rather than an occupation tax.	"Is a tax levied by reason of ownership of property a ""property tax"" rather than ""occupation tax""?"
16577	People v. Gaio, 81 Cal. App. 4th 919, 933, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 392, 402 (2000)	4	Bribery involves a payment designed to alter the outcome of any matter that could conceivably come before the official, and a large number of such matters may provide alternative predicates for the offense. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code SS 67.5, 68.	Bribery involves a "payment[] designed to alter the outcome of any matter that could conceivably come before the official...." (Diedrich, supra, 31 Cal.3d at p. 276, 182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971.)A large number of such matters may provide alternative predicates for the offense. (See id. at pp. 276–277, 182 Cal.Rptr. 354, 643 P.2d 971.)	What type of payments does bribery involve or prohibit?
16579	People v. Lymore, 25 Ill. 2d 305, 308 (1962)	5	"Burglary" is entry of building with felonious intent, and when such entry and intent are shown, crime is complete and further allegation or proof that specific items were taken is not essential.	Burglary is the entry of a building with felonious intent. When such an entry and requisite intent are shown, the crime of burglary is complete and further allegation or proof that specific items were taken is not essential.	Does burglary require specific items to be taken?
16586	Chira v. Glob. Med. Rev., Inc., 160 Misc. 2d 368, 369, 609 N.Y.S.2d 511, 512 (Sup. Ct. 1994)	2	Improper venue is not a jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of the action.	Improper venue is not a jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of the action (State by Abrams v. Cohen, 123 Misc.2d 51, 473 N.Y.S.2d 98).	Is improper venue not a jurisdictional defect requiring dismissal of an action?
16589	State ex rel. Seaboard Air Line R. Co. v. Gay, 160 Fla. 445, 456 (1948)	9	Obligation to pay taxes is purely statutory, and taxes can be levied, assessed, and collected only in express method pointed out by statute, and statute may not be construed to impose a tax unless its terms definitely so provide.	The answer to this proposition is that the obligation of a citizen to pay taxes being purely of statutory creation, taxes can be lawfully levied, assessed, and collected only in the express method pointed out by statute. 51 Am.Jur., Taxation, Sec. 651, p. 617. An act, therefore, may not be construed to impose a tax unless its terms definitely so provide.	Is payment of taxes a statutory liability on the owner of property?
16592	Davis Plumbing Co. v. Burns, 967 So. 2d 94, 98–99 (Ala. Civ. App. 2007)	6	An action brought under the Alabama workers' compensation laws is purely statutory.	An action brought under the Alabama Work[ers'] Compensation laws is purely statutory.	Is an action brought under the workers compensation laws purely statutory?
16595	United States v. Sorrow, 732 F.2d 176, 180 (11th Cir. 1984)	5	Compulsion is not element in Hobbs Act prosecution of public official. 18 U.S.C.A. S 1951.	Compulsion is not an element in a Hobbs Act prosecution of a public official.	Is compulsion an element in a Hobbs Act prosecution of a public official?

16600	Beckman v. Farmer, 579 A.2d 618, 635 (D.C. 1990)	15	Winding up can be contemporaneous with dissolution when partners expressly or impliedly agree to transfer their shares of business to continuing partner; transfer is for sum which may include outgoing partner's percentage of profits from unfinished business earned before date of dissolution, and take form of agreed-upon accounting concurrent with dissolution.	Winding up can be contemporaneous with dissolution when the partners expressly or impliedly agree to transfer their shares of the business to the continuing partner. Gibson v. Deuth, 270 N.W.2d 632, 635 (Iowa 1978), citing Wolf v. Murrane, 199 N.W.2d 90 (Iowa 1972). The transfer is for a sum which may include the out-going partner's percentage of profits from unfinished business earned before the date of dissolution, id., at 635, and can take the form of an agreed-upon accounting concurrent with dissolution.	Can winding up and settling of partnership affairs be contemporaneous with dissolution?
16604	Haddix v. Am. Zurich Ins. Co., 253 S.W.3d 339, 346 (Tex. App. 2008)	10	If the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, dismissal is appropriate.	If, however, the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, dismissal is appropriate.	"If the pleadings affirmatively negate the existence of jurisdiction, is dismissal appropriate?"
16607	Uthe v. Baker, 629 N.W.2d 121, 123 (Minn. Ct. App. 2001)	3	District court must dismiss an action where service of process is insufficient.	Where service is insufficient, a district court must dismiss an action where service of process is insufficient.	"Should a district court dismiss the action, absent proper service of process or a waiver thereof?"
16609	Wilder v. Wilder, 146 N.C. App. 574, 578, 553 S.E.2d 425, 428 (2001)	4	Three factors that the trial judge must address before dismissing claim for failure to prosecute are: (1) whether the plaintiff acted in a manner which deliberately or unreasonably delayed the matter; (2) the amount of prejudice, if any, to the defendant; and (3) the reason, if one exists, that sanctions short of dismissal would not suffice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b), G.S. S 1A-1.	We believe that the factors recognized in Hillig, as well as in our previous cases, together give rise to three factors that the trial judge must address before dismissing for failure to prosecute under Rule 41(b). They are: (1) whether the plaintiff acted in a manner which deliberately or unreasonably delayed the matter; (2) the amount of prejudice, if any, to the defendant; and (3) the reason, if one exists, that sanctions short of dismissal would not suffice.	"Under the rule of procedure governing dismissals of actions, can a claim be dismissed for one of three reasons?"
16610	Davis v. DND/Fidoreo, 317 N.J. Super. 92, 99, 721 A.2d 312, 315 (App. Div. 1998)	5	Dismissal of the action is the appropriate relief when there is a claim of improper service.	Furthermore, defendants have never sought a dismissal of the action, the appropriate relief when there is a claim of improper service.	Is dismissal of the action the appropriate relief when there is a claim of improper service?
16611	Christianson By & Through Christianson v. Educ. Serv. Unit No. 16, 243 Neb. 553, 554, 501 N.W.2d 281, 284 (1993)	27	Courts have inherent power to dismiss action for disobedience of court order.	Courts have the inherent power to dismiss an action for disobedience of a court order.	Do courts have the inherent power to dismiss action for disobedience of a court order?
16613	Bert Cattle Co. v. Warren, 238 Neb. 638, 641-42, 471 N.W.2d 764, 767 (1991)	7	Courts have the inherent power to dismiss an action for disobedience of a court order.	'[I]t has almost universally been held or recognized that courts have the inherent power to dismiss an action for *642 disobedience of a court order....	Do courts have inherent power to dismiss action for disobedience of a court order?

16616	Brown v. Diaz, 184 Ga. App. 409, 410, 361 S.E.2d 490, 491 (1987)	2	Dismissal of frivolous action is appropriate to prevent abuse of process.	The dismissal of a frivolous action is appropriate to prevent an abuse of process.	Is dismissal of frivolous action appropriate to prevent abuse of process?
16617	Duncan Pub. v. City of Chicago, 304 Ill. App. 3d 778, 782 (Ill. App. 1999)	1	A claim is "moot" when no actual controversy exists or events occur which make it impossible for a court to grant effectual relief.	A claim is moot when no actual controversy exists or events occur which make it impossible for a court to grant effectual relief.	Will actions be dismissed as moot once plaintiffs have secured what was originally sought?
16620	Methodist Hosps. of Dallas v. Texas Workers' Comp. Comm'n, 874 S.W.2d 144, 147 (Tex. App. 1994)	3	When cause becomes moot only proper judgment is one dismissing cause.	When a cause becomes moot, the only proper judgment is one dismissing the cause.	"When a cause becomes moot, is the only proper judgment one which dismisses the cause?"
16623	Port Auth. of Allegheny Cty. v. Div. 85, Amalgamated Transit Union, 34 Pa. Cmwlth. 71, 78 (1978)	2	A recognized exception to the doctrine that a case will be dismissed if at any stage of the judicial process it is rendered moot is illustrated by cases in which technically moot issues are nevertheless decided on the merits because they are of a recurring nature, capable of repeatedly avoiding review, and involve issues of important public interest.	A case will be dismissed if at any stage of the judicial process it is rendered moot. A recognized exception to this doctrine is illustrated by cases in which technically moot issues were nevertheless decided on the merits because they were of a recurring nature, capable of repeatedly avoiding review and involved issues of important public interest.	Will a case be dismissed if at any stage of the judicial process it is rendered moot?
16626	N. Carolina Chiropractic Ass'n v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., 89 N.C. App. 1, 6 (1988)	4	Workers' Compensation Act does not take away common-law rights that are unrelated to employer-employee relationship. G.S. S 97-1 et seq.	"The [Workers' Compensation Act] does not take away common law rights that are unrelated to the employer-employee relationship." N.C.	Does the Act take away common law rights that are unrelated to the employer-employee relationship?
16630	People v. Elsey, 81 Cal. App. 4th 948, 959, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 269, 277 (2000)	8	Term "other building," within the meaning of the burglary statute, is intended to expand the definition of burglary to cover structures beyond those listed; it was not meant to bar multiple counts of burglary based on multiple entries into separate offices, apartments, or rooms, simply because they happen to be inside a larger structure. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 459.	In short, the term "other building" is intended to expand the definition of burglary to cover structures beyond those listed; it was not meant to bar multiple counts of burglary based on multiple entries into separate offices, apartments, or rooms, simply because they happen to be inside a larger structure.	Can a room within a building be subject to burglary?

16632	In re Amber S., 33 Cal. App. 4th 185, 187, 39 Cal. Rptr. 2d 672, 672–73 (1995)	2	"Building" under California's burglary statute is any structure that has walls on all sides and is covered by roof; "walls" can take various forms and need not reach roof, but they must act as significant barrier to entrance without cutting or breaking. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 459.	It has long been the rule that a "building" within the meaning of California's burglary statute "is any structure which has walls on all sides and is covered by a roof." (People v. Stickman (1867) 34 Cal. 244, 245; accord, People v. Gibbons (1928) 206 Cal. 112, 114, 273 P. 32; People v. Brooks (1982) 133 Cal.App.3d 200, 204, 183 Cal.Rptr. 773; People v. Coffee (1921) 52 Cal.App. 118, 120, 198 P. 213.) The walls can take various forms and need not reach the roof (People v. Brooks, supra, 133 Cal.App.3d at pp. 203–204, 183 Cal.Rptr. 773), but they must "act as a significant barrier to entrance without cutting or breaking." (Id. at p. 206, 183 Cal.Rptr. 773.)	Do building structures under burglary law require four walls and a roof?
16633	Henderson v. C-K, 261 Or. 15, 21, 492 P.2d 266, 268 (1971)	3	Obedience is required only to stop signs installed or authorized by public bodies or officials. ORS 483.138.	Our statutes require obedience only to stop signs which are installed or authorized by public bodies or officials.	Is a person required to obey only stop signs installed by officials?
16636	Kissman v. Bendix Home Sys., 587 S.W.2d 675, 677 (Tex. 1979)	4	A prayer for relief must be consistent with facts stated as basis for relief; accordingly, only relief consistent with theory of claim reflected in petition may be granted under a general prayer.	The prayer for general relief is of no assistance because a prayer must be consistent with the facts stated as a basis for relief. Starr v. Ferguson, 140 Tex. 80, 166 S.W.2d 130 (1942). Only the relief consistent with the theory of the claim reflected in the petition may be granted under a general prayer.	Should a prayer be consistent with the facts stated as a basis for relief?
16644	United States v. Fallon, 407 F.2d 621, 623 (7th Cir. 1969)	3	Exemptions from military service for conscientious objectors and ministers of religion are matters of legislative grace. Universal Military Training and Service Act, S 1 et seq. as amended 50 U.S.C.A. App. S 451 et seq.; U.S.C.A.Const. art. 1, S 8.	Congress did grant various exemptions from military service such as conscientious objectors and ministers of religion, but such exceptions were matters of legislative grace.	Is ministerial exemption a matter of legislative grace?
16653	State v. Conn, 420 So. 2d 1123, 1124 (La. 1982)	1	It is not necessary for a person to be present in the house at the time of the burglary in order to satisfy the "inhabited dwelling" requirement of the burglary statute. LSA-R.S. 14:62.2.	It is not necessary for a person to be present in the house at the time of the burglary in order to satisfy the "inhabited dwelling" required of R.S. 14:62.2.	Is it necessary for the building to be occupied to constitute burglary?
16655	Stottlemeyer v. Crampton, 235 Md. 138, 142 (1964)	2	Under right to use public roads, person may use highway for purpose of leading or driving cattle. Code 1957, art. 66C, S 467.	"Under this right [to use public roads], a person may use the highway for the purpose of leading or driving cattle".	Can cattles be driven in public highway?
16657	Skivolocki v. E. Ohio Gas Co., 38 Ohio St. 2d 244, 313 N.E.2d 374, 375 (1974)	3	Right to strip mine is not incident to ownership of a severed mineral estate.	The right to strip mine for coal is not implicit in the ownership of a severed, mineral estate.	Is the right to strip mine incident to ownership of a mineral estate?
16660	Argence v. Box Opportunities, 2011-1732 (La. App. 4 Cir. 5/23/12), 95 So. 3d 539, 541 (2012)	4	Dismissal of an action on grounds of abandonment may only be made without prejudice. LSA-C.C.P. arts. 561, 2129, 2164.	A dismissal of an action on the grounds of abandonment may only be made without prejudice.	Can dismissal of an action on grounds of abandonment be made without prejudice?

16663	Matter of Johner, 643 P.2d 932, 934 (Wyo. 1982)	3	Workers' compensation is a statutory responsibility and any change or addition to the law is a function of the legislature and not the courts.	We have also recognized that worker's compensation is a statutory responsibility and any change or addition to the law is a function of the legislature and not the courts.	Is workers compensation a statutory responsibility?
16667	Ex parte Burson, 615 S.W.2d 192, 194–95 (Tex. 1981)	3	Veterans Administration benefits, unlike air force disability retirement benefits, are not divisible or assignable; they are not property. 38 U.S.C.A. S 3101.	Veterans Administration benefits, unlike Air Force disability retirement benefits, are not divisible or assignable. They are not property. 38 U.S.C. s 3101;	Are Veterans Administration (VA) benefits divisible?
16668	Neely v. Comm'n for Lawyer Discipline, 302 S.W.3d 331, 341 (Tex. App. 2009)	9	There are no constitutional rights to privacy affected by disclosure of banking records or in personal financial records.	However, there are no constitutional rights to privacy affected by disclosure of banking records or in personal financial records.	Do financial records have a constitutional right to privacy?
16675	Newell v. Cincinnati, N.O. & T.P. Ry. Co., 246 Ky. 628, 55 S.W.2d 662, 663 (Ky. 1932)	9	Powers of fiscal court to levy tax are limited by statute, and must be strictly construed.	And it is uniformly held that the powers of the fiscal court to levy a tax are limited by statute and must be strictly construed.	Can the fiscal court of a county levy taxes?
16681	Cotter v. Dias, 130 A.3d 164, 169, 171 (R.I. 2016)	6	A mere delay is not enough to warrant a dismissal for lack of prosecution. Superior Court Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 41(b).	"[a] mere delay * * * is not enough to warrant a dismissal for lack of prosecution.	Is mere delay enough to warrant dismissal for lack of prosecution?
16685	Allstate Ins. Co. v. Eagle-Picher Indus., 410 N.W.2d 324, 328 (Minn. 1987)	5	Rights afforded by Workers' Compensation Act are incidents of employment relationship and are contractual in nature. M.S.A. S 176.001 et seq.	The rights afforded by the Workers' Compensation Act are incidents of the employment relationship and are contractual in nature.	Is the right to compensation contractual in nature?
16688	Boyd v. Lane, 869 S.W.2d 305, 307 (Mo. Ct. App. 1994)	2	Express contract and implied contract may be pleaded in the alternative without the pleading being struck for insufficiency.	An express contract and an implied contract may be pleaded in the alternative without the pleading being struck for insufficiency.	Can an express contract and an implied contract be pleaded in the alternative?
16689	Stamatiou v. El Greco Studios, 898 S.W.2d 571, 574 (Mo. Ct. App. 1995)	2	Pleader is not admitting anything other than uncertainty when stating facts in alternative, but if alternative fact allegations are not based on genuine doubt, they may be considered admissions against interest.	The pleader is not admitting anything other than uncertainty when stating facts in the alternative. Id. If alternative fact allegations are not based on genuine doubt, however, they may be considered admissions against interest.	"Is the pleader admitting anything other than uncertainty, when stating facts in the alternative?"

16691	Otte v. Edwards, 370 S.W.3d 898, 900 (Mo. Ct. App. 2012)	2	When reviewing a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, the Court of Appeals applies the following standard of review: A motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action is solely a test of the adequacy of the plaintiff's petition; it assumes that all of plaintiff's averments are true, and liberally grants to plaintiff all reasonable inferences therefrom; and no attempt is made to weigh any facts alleged as to whether they are credible or persuasive, instead, the petition is reviewed in an almost academic manner, to determine if the facts alleged meet the elements of a recognized cause of action, or of a cause that might be adopted in that case.	When reviewing a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, we apply the following standard of review: A motion to dismiss for failure to state a cause of action is solely a test of the adequacy of the plaintiff's petition. It assumes that all of plaintiff's averments are true, and liberally grants to plaintiff all reasonable inferences therefrom. No attempt is made to weigh any facts alleged as to whether they are credible or persuasive. Instead, the petition is reviewed in an almost academic manner, to determine if the facts alleged meet the elements of a recognized cause of action, or of a cause that might be adopted in that case.	"In order to avoid dismissal for failure to state a cause of action, should a petition invoke substantive principles of law entitling plaintiff to relief?"
16697	Matthews v. Simmons, 589 S.W.2d 156, 159 (Tex. Civ. App. 1979)	8	Pleadings can be in the alternative, and a petition using the term "and/or" is not too indefinite to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.	Pleadings can be in the alternative, and a petition using the term "and/or" was not too indefinite to state a claim upon which relief could be granted.	Can pleadings be in the alternative?
16700	In re Estate of Capuzzi, 470 Mich. 399, 402 (2004)	4	A duly authorized agent has the power to act and bind the principal to the same extent as if the principal acted.	It is a longstanding legal principle that a duly authorized agent has the power to act and bind the principal to the same extent as if the principal acted.	Does the agent have the power to act and bind the principal to the same extent as if the principal acted?
16701	Matter of Reyes Compania Naviera S.A., 649 F. Supp. 789, 792 (S.D.N.Y. 1986)	3	Parties' intention to arbitrate can be determined not only by initial arbitration clause, but also by text of submission agreement.	Thus, "the parties' intention to arbitrate [can] be determined not only by the initial arbitration clause, but also by the text of the submission agreement." Island Creek Coal Sales Co.	How do courts determine the parties' intention to arbitrate?
16702	Am. Sugar Ref. Co. v. The Anaconda, 138 F.2d 765, 767 (5th Cir. 1943)	7	An arbitration agreement may be repudiated, waived, or abandoned by one or both of the parties to it.	But an arbitration agreement may be repudiated, waived or abandoned by one or both of the parties to it.	"Can the parties to an arbitration agreement repudiate, waive or abandon it?"
16705	Collinwood Shale, Brick & Supply Co. v. Binder, 60 Ohio App. 2d 91, 91, 395 N.E.2d 907, 908 (Ohio Ct. App. 1978)	1	All possible security interests which are retained or could be acquired in consumer's residence in any consumer credit transaction must be clearly explained to consumer in separate statement in order to comply with requirement of "meaningful disclosure" under federal Truth in Lending Act. Truth in Lending Act, S 102 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601 et seq.	All possible security interests which are retained or could be acquired in the consumer's residence in any consumer credit transaction must be clearly explained to the consumer in a separate statement in order to comply with the requirement of "meaningful disclosure" under the federal Truth-in-Lending Act.	Does the consumer have the right to rescind credit transaction in which a security interest is or will be retained or acquired in a consumer's home?
16709	Field v. Webber, 132 Me. 236, 169 A. 732, 734 (1933)	5	Driving to left of middle of road which clear vision discloses unobstructed is not necessarily evidence of negligence. Rev.St.1930, c. 29, SS 2, 70-72, 74.	Driving to the left of the middle of the road which a clear vision discloses unobstructed is not necessarily evidence of negligence.	Is driving on the left negligent?

16710	M.S.P.C. v. U.S. Cust. and Border Protec., 60 F. Supp. 3d 1156, 1163 (D.N.M. 2014)	7	The scope of judicial review of expedited orders of removal is extremely narrow. Immigration and Nationality Act, S 235(b)(1), 8 U.S.C.A. S 1225(b)(1).	"The scope of judicial review of orders of removal under 1225(b)(1) is extremely narrow."	Is the scope of judicial review of orders of removal narrow?
16714	Gidden Motor Co. v. Johnston, 155 Miss. 328, 124 So. 367, 367 (Miss. 1929)	3	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Nonnegotiable instruments which partake of the nature of commercial paper are assignable by indorsement and delivery.	Can nonnegotiable instruments be assigned by indorsement and delivery?
16721	McHarry v. Bowman, 274 Ill. App. 487, 490 (Ill. App. Ct. 1934)	2	A power of attorney should be so construed as to limit power to clear and obvious intent of agency therein created.	A power of attorney should be construed so as to limit the power to the clear and obvious intent of the agency therein created.	Should a Power of Attorney be strictly limited to intent of parties?
16724	Jacobsen v. Bunker, 699 P.2d 1208, 1209 (Utah 1985)	2	Legal effect of promissory notes is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	The rule is the same for promissory notes. Their legal effect is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	Are promissory notes governed by the law of the place where they are executed?
16725	Jacobsen v. Bunker, 699 P.2d 1208, 1209 (Utah 1985)	2	Legal effect of promissory notes is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	The rule is the same for promissory notes. Their legal effect is governed by the law of the jurisdiction where they are executed and delivered.	Are promissory notes governed by the law of the place where they are delivered?
16729	Diemar & Kirk Co. v. Smart Styles, 261 N.C. 156, 159 (1964)	8	Drawer of check has right at any time prior to acceptance by bank, to stop payment of check.	The drawer of a check has the right, at any time prior to acceptance by the bank, to stop its payment.	Does a drawer of a check has a right to stop its payment?
16731	Esteban v. Cent. Missouri State Coll., 415 F.2d 1077, 1088 (8th Cir. 1969)	10	School has latitude and discretion in its formulation of rules and regulations and of general standards of conduct.	We further agree that a school has latitude and discretion in its formulation of rules and regulations and of general standards of conduct.	What discretion does a school have in its formulation of standards of conduct?
16732	Florence Cty. Sch. Dist. Four v. Carter By & Through Carter, 510 U.S. 7, 13–14 (1993)	3	IDEA was intended to ensure that children with disabilities receive education that is both appropriate and free. Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, S 602(a)(18), as amended, 20 U.S.C.A. S 1401(a)(18).	Moreover, IDEA was intended to ensure that children with disabilities receive an education that is both appropriate and free.	What ensures appropriate education to children with disabilities?
16738	Florida-Georgia Chem. Co. v. Nat'l Labs., 153 So. 2d 752, 754 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1963)	6	Revocation of agency becomes operative as to agent from time he has actual notice thereof, but notice to third parties will not effect revocation as to agent.	Such revocation, as far as the agent is concerned, becomes operative from the time he has actual notice thereof, but notice to third parties will not effect a revocation as to the agent.	When is revocation effective or operative?
16740	Michigan Employment Sec. Comm'n v. Patt, 4 Mich. App. 228, 233 (1966)	3	Essential characteristics of a "tax" are that it is not a voluntary payment or donation, but an enforced contribution, exacted pursuant to legislative authority.	68: '* * * the essential characteristics of a tax are that it is not a voluntary payment or donation, but an enforced contribution, exacted pursuant to legislative authority'.'	What is the essential character of a tax?

16742	Weaver v. Prince George's Cnty., 281 Md. 349, 357, 379 A.2d 399, 403 (1977)	6	"Property tax" is a charge on the owner of property by reason of his ownership alone without regard to any use that might be made of it.	The consensus of opinion appears to be that a property tax is a charge on the owner of property by reason of his ownership alone without regard to any use that might be made of it, Bromley v. McCaughn, 280 U.S. 124, 136, 50 S.Ct. 46, 74 L.Ed. 226 (1929); Dawson v. Kentucky Distilleries Co., 255 U.S. 288, 294, 41 S.Ct. 272, 65 L.Ed. 638 (1921); Flint v. Stone Tracy Co., 220 U.S. 107, 152, 31 S.Ct. 342, 55 L.Ed. 389 (1911); Herman v. M. & C.C. of Baltimore, 189 Md. at 197, 55 A.2d 491; a tax on the mere right to own or hold property is a property tax. Flynn v. City & County of San Francisco, 18 Cal.2d 210, 115 P.2d 3, 6 (1941).	What is property tax?
16744	Reyes v. Arco Wentworth Mgmt. Corp., 83 A.D.3d 47, 54, 919 N.Y.S.2d 44, 50 (2011)	7	Absence of translator's affidavit, required of foreign language witnesses, renders a foreign language witness's English language affidavit facially defective and inadmissible. McKinney's CPLR 2101(b).	This Court has held that the absence of a translator's affidavit, required of foreign language witnesses, renders the witness's English affidavit facially defective and inadmissible (see Martinez v. 123–16 Liberty Ave. Realty Corp., 47 A.D.3d 901, 902, 850 N.Y.S.2d 201).	Should a translated affidavit be accompanied by an affidavit from the translator?
16745	Gorman v. Am. Honda Motor Co., 302 Mich. App. 113, 120 (2013)	12	An unsworn, unsigned affidavit may not be considered by the trial court on a motion for summary disposition. MCR 2.116(C)(10).	Defendants correctly argue that an unsworn, unsigned affidavit may not be considered by the trial court on a motion for summary disposition.	Can an unsigned affidavit be considered by the court?
16751	Barnes v. Chase Home Fin., 825 F. Supp. 2d 1057, 1060 (D. Or. 2011)	3	As a consumer-protection statute, TILA is liberally construed in favor of consumers and is strictly enforced against creditors. Truth in Lending Act, S 102, 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601.	As a consumer- protection statute, TILA is liberally construed in favor of consumers and is strictly enforced against creditors.	Is TILA strictly enforced against creditors?
16754	Lattin v. Adams Cty., 149 Idaho 497, 502 (2010)	15	A public road may be acquired: (1) if the public uses the road for a period of five years, and (2) the road is worked and kept up at the expense of the public; the County must prove these elements by a preponderance of the evidence. West's I.C.A. S 40-202(3).	"[A] public road may be acquired: (1) if the public uses the road for a period of five years, and (2) the road is worked and kept up at the expense of the public." The County must prove these elements by a preponderance of the evidence.	How can a public road be acquired?

16755	HSBC USA v. Lugo, 127 A.D.3d 502, 503, 9 N.Y.S.3d 6, 7 (2015)	1	Defendant waived her right to seek dismissal of complaint as abandoned, where defendant did not object to plaintiff's treatment of her untimely answer as notice of appearance, and she thereafter sought documents from plaintiff. McKinney's CPLR 3215(c).	Defendant waived her right to seek dismissal of the complaint as abandoned pursuant to CPLR 3215(c), because she did not object to plaintiff's treatment of her untimely answer as a notice of appearance and because she thereafter sought documents from plaintiff (see Myers v. Slutsky, 139 A.D.2d 709, 527 N.Y.S.2d 464 [2d Dept.1988]).	Can a defendant waive the right to seek a dismissal?
16756	Hope Lutheran Church v. Chellew, 460 N.E.2d 1244, 1247 (Ind. Ct. App. 1984)	3	Elements of actual agency relationship are manifestation of consent by principal, acquiescence by agent, and control exerted by principal.	In short, the elements of an actual agency relationship are three: manifestation of consent by the principal; acquiescence by the agent; and control exerted by the principal.	What are the elements of actual agency?
16763	Klinge v. Ithaca Coll., 167 Misc.2d 458, 464, 634 N.Y.S.2d 1000, 1004 (Sup. Ct. 1995), aff'd as modified, 235 A.D.2d 724, 652 N.Y.S.2d 377 (1997)	7	Where a college has adopted a rule, the law requires substantial compliance.	Where a college has adopted a rule, the law requires substantial compliance (Tedeschi v. Wagner College, 49 N.Y.2d 652, 660, 427 N.Y.S.2d 760, 404 N.E.2d 1302).	"If a college adopts a rule, does the law require substantial compliance?"
16764	Sluder v. Steak & Ale of Little Rock, 368 Ark. 293, 299 (2006)	4	A dismissal with prejudice is as conclusive of the rights of the parties as if there were an adverse judgment as to the plaintiff after a trial.	Moreover, it is a well-settled rule of law that a dismissal with prejudice is as 119 conclusive of the rights of the parties as if there were an adverse judgment as to the plaintiff after a trial.	Is the dismissal of a claim with prejudice conclusive as to the rights of the parties on that claim?
16769	Ford Motor Co. v. Kentucky Unemployment Comp. Comm'n, 243 S.W.2d 657, 659 (Ky. 1951)	2	The powers of an agent must be specifically granted or necessarily inferred, and they cannot be created carte blanche.	The powers of an agent must be specific or necessarily inferred; they cannot be created carte blanche.	Can the powers of an agent be created carte blanche?
16770	People ex rel. Curren v. Schommer, 392 Ill. 17, 22 (1945)	2	A "tax" is a mode of raising revenue for public needs for a public purpose.	The essential meaning of a tax is that it is a mode of raising revenue for the public needs for a public purpose.	Is tax a mode of raising revenue for the public needs for a public purpose?
16774	DRFP L.L.C. v. Rep??blica Bolivariana de Venezuela, 151 F. Supp. 3d 809, 829 (S.D. Ohio 2015)	36	While Ohio courts have long espoused that the point of estoppel is to prevent fraud, estoppel is not actionable fraud and is not treated like actionable fraud; there is usually no need for scienter, an intent to deceive, in estoppel cases.	While Ohio courts have long espoused that the point of estoppel is to prevent fraud, "estoppel is not actionable fraud and is not treated like actionable fraud. There is usually no need for scienter, an intent to deceive, in estoppel cases, for example."	Is estoppel not actionable fraud?
16776	Pantoja-Cahue v. Ford Motor Credit Co., 375 Ill. App. 3d 49, 52 (2007)	1	A motion to dismiss is based on the pleadings rather than the underlying facts. S.H.A. 735 ILCS 5/2-615.	A motion to dismiss filed pursuant to section 2-615 is based on the pleadings rather than the underlying facts.	Is a motion to dismiss based on the insufficiency in the pleading rather than on the underlying facts?
16777	City of Dallas, Tex. v. F.C.C., 118 F.3d 393, 397 (5th Cir. 1997)	6	Franchise fees are not a tax, but essentially a form of rent, the price paid to rent use of public right-of-ways.	Franchise fees are not a tax, however, but essentially a form of rent: the price paid to rent use of public right- of-ways.	Are franchise fees a tax?

16785	Spence v. Spence, 368 S.C. 106, 128 (2006)	28	Dismissal of a complaint "with prejudice" is intended to bar relitigation of the same claim.	In contrast, dismissal of a complaint "with prejudice" is intended to bar relitigation of the same claim.	"Is a dismissal of a complaint ""with prejudice"" intended to bar relitigation of the same claim?"
16790	McCullough v. Stepp, 91 Ga. App. 103, 104 (1954)	3	An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument indorsed in blank is payable to bearer and may be negotiated by delivery. Code, S 14-405.	An indorsement in blank specifies no indorsee, and an instrument indorsed in blank is payable to bearer and may be negotiated by delivery. Code, 14-405.	Does indorsement in blank specifies any indorsee?
16791	In re Mason's Est., 194 Misc. 308, 310, 86 N.Y.S.2d 232, 233 (Sur. 1948)	4	Rule that validity of a contract is governed by law of place where contract is made is applicable to a check.	The rule that the validity of a contract is governed by the law of the place where the contract is made is applicable to a check.	Is the validity of a contract governed by the place where the contract was made?
16792	Vacuum Sys., Inc. v. Bridge Const. Co., 632 A.2d 442, 444 (Me. 1993)	3	Estoppel is a doctrine that should be carefully and sparingly applied and requires clear and satisfactory proof.	Estoppel, however, is a doctrine that should be "carefully and sparingly applied." Milliken v. Buswell, 313 A.2d 111, 119 (Me.1973). It requires "clear and satisfactory proof."	Does estoppel require clear and satisfactory proof?
16793	Campbell v. First Baptist Church of City of Durham, 51 N.C. App. 393, 395, 276 S.E.2d 712, 714 (1981)	2	In an "exchange" of property, specific property is given in consideration of property other than money, although one of the parties may pay a sum of money in addition to the property.	In an exchange, specific property is given in consideration of property other than money, although one of the parties may pay a sum of money in addition to the property.	What constitutes an exchange?
16795	Fairfield Mountain Prop. Owners Ass'n v. Doolittle, 149 N.C. App. 486, 487 (N.C. App. 2002)	2	A dismissal for failure to join a necessary party is not a dismissal on the merits and may not be with prejudice. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12(b)(7), West's N.C.G.S.A. S 1A-1.	A "dismissal for failure to join a necessary party is not a dismissal on the merits and may not be with prejudice."	Is a dismissal for failure to join indispensable party not an adjudication on the merits and cannot be granted with prejudice?
16798	Rice v. Crow, 81 Cal. App. 4th 725, 733, 97 Cal. Rptr. 2d 110, 116 (2000)	2	Dismissal with prejudice is the modern name for a common law retraxit.	A dismissal with prejudice is the modern name for a common law retraxit.	Is Dismissal with prejudice the modern name for a common law retraxit?
16800	Jose v. Indiana Nat. Bank of Indianapolis, 139 Ind. App. 272, 276 (1966)	6	The practical effect of a judgment by way of a motion to dismiss and by a motion for summary judgment are the same and they both result in a final determination of controversy at trial level so that the party who is adversely affected has a right to appeal. Burns' Ann.St. SS 2-1007, 2-1011, 2-2524.	The practical effect of a judgment by way of a motion to dismiss, and by a motion for a summary judgment are the same. They both result in a final determination of the controversy at the trial level, and if the party who is adversely affected at that level wishes to pursue the matter, he has the right to appeal.	Are the practical effects of a judgment by way of a motion to dismiss and by a motion for summary judgment the same?
16801	Hehr v. Swendseid, 243 Cal. App. 2d 142, 151, 52 Cal. Rptr. 107, 113 (Ct. App. 1966)	8	Dismissal obtained "without prejudice" will nevertheless be "with prejudice" if obtained in contravention of statute. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. S 581.	Concisely, a dismissal obtained 'without prejudice' will nevertheless be 'with prejudice' if obtained in contravention of the statute.	"Will a dismissal obtained ""without prejudice"" nevertheless be ""with prejudice"" if obtained in contravention of statute?"

16803	CTL/Thompson Texas v. Starwood Homeowner's Ass'n, 461 S.W.3d 627, 630 (Tex. App. 2015)	4	A dismissal with prejudice operates as res judicata to bar the dismissed claims; but a dismissal without prejudice means that the same claims may be refiled in an entirely new cause.	That is, a dismissal with prejudice operates as res judicata to bar the dismissed claims. See, e.g., Travelers Ins. Co. v. Joachim, 315 S.W.3d 860, 865-66 (Tex.2010).But a dismissal without prejudice means that the same claims may be refiled in an entirely new cause.	Does a dismissal with prejudice operate as res judicata to bar the dismissed claims?
16804	Metro. Transit Auth. v. Ry. Exp. Agency, 323 Mass. 707, 709 (1949)	5	A discontinuance is not a bar to the maintenance of a subsequent action brought for the same cause.	As a discontinuance it was not a bar to the maintenance of a subsequent action brought for the same cause.	Is discontinuance a bar to the maintenance of a subsequent action brought for the same cause?
16805	Nordstrom Credit v. Dep't of Revenue, 120 Wash. 2d 935, 941 (1993)	7	Agency requires that both parties consent to relationship and that principal exercise control over agent.	Agency requires that both parties consent to the relationship and that the principal exercise control over the agent.	Does an agency require both parties consenting to the relationship?
16809	Basile v. H & R Block, 563 Pa. 359, 367, 761 A.2d 1115, 1120 (2000)	6	Agency results only if there is an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship with control by the beneficiary.	"[A]gency results only if there is an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship with control by the beneficiary."	Can agency be a result of an agreement for the creation of a fiduciary relationship?
16810	Przekopski v. Przekop, 124 Conn. App. 238, 244 (2010)	4	"Agency" is the fiduciary relationship which results from manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.	"Agency is the fiduciary relationship which results from manifestation of consent by one person to another that the other shall act on his behalf and subject to his control, and consent by the other so to act.... The one for whom action is to be taken is the principal....	Who is a principal?
16812	In re NetBank, 459 B.R. 801, 816 (M.D. Fla. 2010)	6	Essential characteristic of agency relationship is that agent acts subject to principal's direction and control.	An essential characteristic of an agency relationship is that the agent acts subject to the principal's direction and control.	What is the essential characteristic of an agency relationship?
16819	Handy v. Anchor Mortg. Corp., 464 F.3d 760, 764 (7th Cir. 2006)	3	The sufficiency of TILA-mandated disclosures is determined from the standpoint of the ordinary consumer. Truth in Lending Act, S 102 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1601 et seq.	"The sufficiency of TILA-mandated disclosures is determined from the standpoint of the ordinary consumer."	Is the sufficiency of TILA-mandated disclosures determined from the standpoint of the ordinary consumer?
16826	Ankeny v. Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., 88 Cal. App. 3d 531, 537, 151 Cal. Rptr. 828, 832 (Ct. App. 1979)	5	Pleading must allege facts and not conclusions and material facts must be alleged directly and not by way of recital.	It is settled law that a pleading must allege facts and not conclusions, and that material facts must be alleged directly and not by way of recital.	Should material facts be alleged by way of recital?
16827	Cuthbertson v. Harry C. Harter Post No. 839 of the V.F.W., 245 Iowa 922, 929, 65 N.W.2d 83, 88 (1954)	8	The issues of a law suit should be presented in an open and forthright manner, and there is no justification for a pleading by innuendo.	The issues of a law suit should be presented in an open and forthright manner. There is no justification for a pleading by innuendo in our procedure.	Should the issues of a law suit be presented in an open and forthright manner?
16831	Dir. of Ins. ex rel. State v. A & A Midwest Rebuilders, 383 Ill. App. 3d 721, 726, 891 N.E.2d 500, 505 (2008)	8	Federal law draws a distinction between dismissing an action and dismissing a complaint; the former is a final judgment but not the latter.	Federal law draws a distinction between dismissing an action and dismissing a complaint. See Paganin v. Blonstein, 3 F.3d 1067, 1070 (7th Cir.1993).The former is a final judgment but not the latter.	Does federal law draw a distinction between dismissing an action and dismissing a complaint?

16832	Mobil Oil Corp. v. Bransford, 648 So. 2d 119, 121 (Fla. 1995)	4	Dismissal of any claim against apparent agent also requires dismissal of same claim against apparent principal.	We merely note for the instruction of the courts below that the dismissal of any claim against an apparent agent also requires dismissal of the same claim against the apparent principal.	Does dismissal of any claim against an apparent agent also require dismissal of a same claim against an apparent principal?
16834	Ortega v. Transamerica Ins. Co., 91 N.M. 31, 33 (1977)	1	Effect of a dismissal without prejudice is that it ordinarily imports further proceedings.	The effect of a dismissal without prejudice is that it ordinarily imports further proceedings.	Is an effect of a dismissal without prejudice that it ordinarily imports further proceedings?
16838	Arsand v. City of Franklin, 83 Wis. 2d 40, 48 (Wis. 1978)	2	An agent may or may not be a servant; if he is not a servant, his principal is not vicariously liable for his negligent physical conduct except under certain circumstances.	An agent may or may not be a servant; 5 and if he is not a servant, his principal is not vicariously liable for his negligent physical conduct except under certain circumstances.	Can an agent be a servant?
16839	California Real Est. Loans, Inc. v. Wallace, 18 Cal. App. 4th 1575, 1581, 23 Cal. Rptr. 2d 462, 466 (1993)	5	For purposes of liability to third parties for torts, real estate salesperson is agent of broker who employs him or her, and broker is liable as matter of law for all damages caused to third persons by tortious acts of salesperson which were committed within course and scope of salesperson's employment.	It is settled that for purposes of liability to third parties for torts, a real estate salesperson is the agent of the broker who employs him or her. The broker is liable as a matter of law for all damages caused to third persons by the tortious acts of the salesperson committed within the course and scope of employment	"Is a salesperson, the agent of the broker?"
16845	Lehndorff Geneva v. Warren, 74 Wis. 2d 369, 378 (1976)	6	Resident aliens enjoy the heightened judicial solicitude of a suspect class.	It is also beyond doubt that resident aliens enjoy the 'heightened judicial solicitude' of a suspect class.	Are resident aliens a class of people who are appropriate for heightened judicial solicitude?
16851	Veschi v. Nw. Lehigh Sch. Dist., 772 A.2d 469, 473 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2001)	5	Parents have constitutionally protected right to decide where child goes to school.	The crux of the Veschi's argument, and one with which we agree, is that they have a constitutionally protected right to decide where Vincent goes to school under Pierce v. Society of Sisters, 268 U.S. 510, 45 S.Ct. 571, 69 L.Ed. 1070 (1925), and Wisconsin v. Yoder, 406 U.S. 205, 92 S.Ct. 1526, 32 L.Ed.2d 15 (1972).	Do parents have a constitutional right to decide where their child attends school?
16852	Collett v. Collett, 217 S.W.2d 60, 63-64 (Tex. Civ. App. 1948)	4	There can be no estoppel in pais in absence of deception, which cannot exist when the party pleading estoppel has full knowledge of the truth of the matter.	There can be no estoppel in pais in the *64 absence of deception. There can be no deception when the party pleading the estoppel had full knowledge of the truth of the matter.' Shear Co.	Can there be no estoppel in pais in the absence of deception?
16853	Lone Mountain Prod. Co. v. Nat. Gas Pipeline Co. of Am., 710 F. Supp. 305, 311 (D. Utah 1989)	22	Because test for estoppel is objective in nature, party asserting estoppel must show that his reliance was reasonable under the circumstances.	Because the test for estoppel is objective in nature, the party asserting it must show that his reliance was reasonable under the circumstances.	Is the test of estoppel objective?
16855	State ex inf. Shartel, ex rel. City of Sikeston v. Missouri Utilities Co., 331 Mo. 337, 347 (1932)	2	Power to grant franchises resides in state, and city, in granting franchise, acts as state's agent.	The power to grant franchises resides in the state, and a city, in granting a franchise, acts as agent for the state.	Does the city act as agent of the state while granting franchises?

16861	Farmers Ins. Exch. v. Enter. Leasing Co., 281 Va. 612, 620, 708 S.E.2d 852, 857 (2011)	12	Self-insurance does not involve the transfer of a risk of loss, but rather a retention of that risk, making it the antithesis of insurance.	In fact, self-insurance does not involve the transfer of a risk of loss, but rather a retention of that risk, making it the "antithesis of insurance."	Does self-insurance involve risk of loss?
16862	Twin Hills Golf & Country Club v. Town of Forest Park, 2005 OK 71, ¶ 13, 123 P.3d 5, 8 (2005)	8	The state sales tax is an excise tax rather than a property tax or an income tax. 68 Okl.St. Ann. SS 1351, 1354.	The state sales tax is an excise tax rather than a property tax or an income tax.	Is the state sales tax an excise tax rather than a property tax or an income tax?
16864	Mr. B's v. City of Chicago, 302 Ill. App. 3d 930, 934 (1998)	5	A "sales tax" is commonly understood to be a tax on the sale of tangible personal property.	In contrast, a sales tax is commonly understood to be a tax on the sale of tangible personal property.	"Is a ""sales tax"" commonly understood to be a tax on the sale of tangible personal property?"
16869	Tenneco Inc. v. Enter. Prod. Co., 925 S.W.2d 640, 643 (Tex. 1996)	3	Party's express renunciation of a known right can establish waiver.	A party's express renunciation of a known right can establish waiver.	Can a party's express renunciation of a known right establish waiver?
16876	Sec. & Exch. Comm'n v. Variable Annuity Life Ins. Co. of Am., 359 U.S. 65, 73 (1959)	8	Underwriting of risk is the one earmark of insurance as it has commonly been conceived of in popular understanding and usage.	14 *73 There 623 is no true underwriting of risks, 15 the one earmark of insurance as it has commonly been conceived of in popular understanding and usage.	Can the earmark of insurance be described as the underwriting of risks?
16881	William A. White & Sons v. Doelger, 232 N.Y.S.2d 1, 3 (Sup. Ct. 1962)	5	It is essential on application to vacate dismissal that affidavit of merits be submitted.	Further, it is essential on an application to vacate a dismissal to submit an affidavit of merits.	Is it essential on an application to vacate dismissal that an affidavit of merits be submitted?
16882	Gallucci v. Phillips & Jacobs, 418 Pa. Super. 306, 314 (1992)	4	Complaint should not be dismissed where there is a reasonable probability that amendment can be successfully completed.	Further, in Itri the court stated the well-settled rule of procedure that a complaint should not be dismissed where there is a reasonable probability that amendment can be successfully completed.	Should a complaint not be dismissed where there is a reasonable probability that amendment can be successfully completed?
16888	Rokowsky v. Gordon, 501 F. Supp. 1114, 1121 (D. Mass. 1980)	7	Demand note is payable at place of residence of maker, if no place of payment is named in the note.	A demand note is payable at the place of residence of the maker if no place of payment is named in the note.	Where is a demand note payable if no place of payment is named in the note?
16890	Hongkong & Shanghai Banking Corp. v. Lazard-Godchaux Co. of Am., 207 A.D. 174, 179, 201 N.Y.S. 771, 775 (App. Div. 1923), aff'd, 239 N.Y. 610, 147 N.E. 216 (1925)	2	The law of the place of payment as to days of grace on a foreign bill of exchange applies.	As to the days of grace, the law of the place of payment applies to a foreign bill of exchange, such as was drawn here.	Which law applies to the foreign bill of exchange?
16891	State v. York, 252 S.W.3d 245, 249 (Mo. Ct. App. 2008)	4	Double jeopardy does not attach when a defendant consents to termination of the proceeding. U.S.C.A. Const. Amend. 5.	Double jeopardy does not attach when a defendant consents to termination of the proceeding.	Does double jeopardy not attach when a defendant consents to termination of the proceeding?

16892	United States v. Johnson, 396 F.3d 902, 905–06 (7th Cir. 2005)	4	A specific dialogue with the judge is not a necessary prerequisite to a valid waiver by defendant if there is other evidence in the record demonstrating a knowing and voluntary waiver; thus, most waivers are effective when set out in writing and signed.	However, "a specific dialogue with the judge is not a necessary prerequisite to a valid waiver" if there is other evidence in the record demonstrating a knowing and voluntary waiver. See United States v. Agee, 83 F.3d 882, 886 (7th Cir.1996) (expressly rejecting argument that appeal waiver is valid only if accepted after colloquy with defendant). *906 Thus, "most waivers are effective when set out in writing and signed.	Are most waivers effective when set out in writing and signed?
16895	Gibbs v. Mayo, 162 N.C. App. 549, 566 (2004)	14	"Insurance" is a contract whereby, for a stipulated consideration, one party undertakes to compensate the other for loss on a specified subject by specified perils.	"Insurance is '[a] contract whereby, for a stipulated consideration, one party undertakes to compensate the other for loss on a specified subject by specified perils.' "	What is insurance?
16896	Walsh v. Ellingson Agency, 188 Mont. 367, 372, 613 P.2d 1381, 1384 (1980)	1	Partnership may be created for purchase and sale of real estate for a profit.	It is well established that a partnership may be created for the purchase and sale of real estate for a profit.	Can a partnership be created for the purchase and sale of real estate?
16897	Albright v. Hughes, 107 Ind. App. 651, 26 N.E.2d 576, 579 (1940)	2	A "particular partnership" is one where the parties have united to share benefits of a single individual transaction or enterprise, and particular partnership agreements are not lacking in mutuality or void for want of consideration.	Such a partnership is defined as "one where the parties have united to share the benefits of a single individual transaction or enterprise." Gilmer v. Graham, Tex.Com.App., 1932, 52 S.W.2d 263, 266. Such contracts are not lacking in mutuality nor void for want of consideration.	What is a particular partnership?
16899	Eagle Signal Corp. v. Wittig, 766 S.W.2d 390, 392 (Tex. App. 1989)	2	If a trial court reinstates a case when it has no authority to do so, order of reinstatement is void.	If a trial court reinstates a case when it has no authority to do so, the order of reinstatement is void.	"If a trial court reinstates a case when it has no authority to do so, is an order of reinstatement void?"
16901	Rozner v. Korshak, 55 Ill. 2d 430, 432–33 (1973)	1	Power to regulate and power to tax are distinct powers, but each may be exercised by the imposition of a license fee.	The power to regulate and the power to tax are distinct powers, but each may be exercised by the *433 imposition of a license fee.	Can a tax be exercised by the imposition of a license fee?
16903	S. S. Kresge Co. v. Bowers, 2 Ohio St. 2d 113, 116 (1965)	4	Power and right to tax, for any reason, rest with government and give rise to power and right to collect and police the tax.	It is elementary that the power and right to tax, for any reason, rest with the government, whether that government be federal, state, or municipal in character. The power and right to tax give rise to the power and right to collect and police that tax.	Does the power to tax rest with the government?
16904	Anderson v. City of Joplin, 646 S.W.2d 727, 728, (Mo., 1983)	3	"Sales tax" is assessed against taxpayer as percentage of price of goods.	On the other hand, a sales tax is assessed against the taxpayer as a percentage of the price of the goods.	"Is the ""sales tax"" assessed against taxpayer as percentage of price of goods?"

16909	John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Fid.-Baltimore Nat. Bank & Tr. Co., 212 Md. 506, 511, 129 A.2d 815, 819 (1957)	3	Generally, law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intend to govern, and, therefore, if bill or note contains express provision that it shall be governed by laws of a particular state, such laws will govern.	It seems generally to be conceded that the proper law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intended to govern. Accordingly, if the bill or note contains express provisions that it shall be governed by the laws of a particular state, those laws govern.	Is the law which the parties to the instrument intended the proper law governing a bill or not
16910	John Hancock Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Fid.-Baltimore Nat. Bank & Tr. Co., 212 Md. 506, 511, 129 A.2d 815, 819 (1957)	3	Generally, law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intend to govern, and, therefore, if bill or note contains express provision that it shall be governed by laws of a particular state, such laws will govern.	It seems generally to be conceded that the proper law governing a bill or note is the law which the parties to the instrument intended to govern. Accordingly, if the bill or note contains express provisions that it shall be governed by the laws of a particular state, those laws govern.	Is the law that the parties intend to govern the proper law governing a bill or note?
16911	Seymour v. Principi, 245 F.3d 1377, 1379, (C.A.Fed., 2001)	3	Under statutory scheme for veterans' benefits, disability compensation is generally payable only to veterans, while death benefits are payable to survivors.	In our previous decisions holding that disability claims do not survive a veteran's death, we explained that under chapter 11's statutory scheme, disability compensation is generally payable only to veterans, while death benefits are payable to survivors.	Is Veterans Affairs disability Compensation payable only to veterans?
16914	State ex rel. Core v. Merrifield, 202 W. Va. 100, 109 (1998)	9	A circuit judge can prevent a deputy clerk from being transferred from his courtroom. Const. Art. 8, S 3.	This means of course, and Rutledge makes crystal clear, that a circuit judge can prevent a deputy clerk from being transferred from his courtroom.	Can a circuit judge prevent a deputy clerk from being transferred from his courtroom?
16920	People v. Reese, 491 Mich. 127, 144 (2012)	9	Elements of voluntary manslaughter are included in murder, with murder possessing the single additional element of malice.	Accordingly, Mendoza concluded that "the elements of voluntary manslaughter are included in murder, with murder possessing the single additional element of malice."	Are the elements of voluntary manslaughter included in murder?
16921	In re Simasko Prod. Co., 52 B.R. 676, 678 (Bkrtcy.D.Colo., 1985)	1	"Production payments" are interests in real property which are carved out of lessee's interest; production payments are identical to overriding royalties, except that production payment is limited in amount to stated volume of production or until specified sum has been realized from production.	Production payments, like overriding royalties are interests in real property which are carved out of the lessee's interest. Id. Davis v. Lewis, 187 Okl. 91, 100 P.2d 994 (1940). In fact, production payments are identical to overriding royalties, except that a production payment is limited in amount to a stated volume of production or until a specified sum has been realized from production.	Is an overriding royalty an interest in real property?
16925	Binyon v. State of California, 17 Cal. App. 4th 952, 955, 21 Cal. Rptr. 2d 673, 675 (1993)	3	Trial courts have inherent authority to dismiss for delay in prosecution.	It is well settled that the trial courts have the inherent authority to dismiss for delay in prosecution.	Do trial courts have inherent authority to dismiss for delay in prosecution?

16926	In re Ryan D., 100 Cal. App. 4th 854, 861, 123 Cal. Rptr. 2d 193, 198 (2002)	8	Criminal-threat statute was not enacted to punish emotional outbursts; it targets only those who try to instill fear in others. West's Ann.Cal.Penal Code S 422.	Nevertheless, we emphasize that the statute "was not enacted to punish emotional outbursts, it targets only those who try to instill fear in others."	What was the criminal-threat statute not enacted to punish?
16928	Prince v. Baton Rouge Gen. Hosp., 449 So. 2d 90, 91, (La.App. 1 Cir., 1984)	1	An employer-employee relationship must exist before provisions of Workers' Compensation Law apply. LSA-R.S. 23:1021 et seq.	An employer-employee relationship must exist before the provisions of the workers' compensation law apply. LSA- R.S. 23:1021 et seq.	What must exist for workers compensation to apply?
16931	Thomas v. Eighth Judicial District Court in and for Cnty. of Clark, 402 P.3d 619, 624, 133 Nev. 468, 471-72 (Nev., 2017)	8	Generally, a state may not put a defendant in jeopardy twice for the same offense. U.S. Const. Amend. 5; Nev. Const. art. 1, S 8.	Generally, a state may not put a defendant in jeopardy twice for the same offense. U.S. Const. amend. V; Nev. Const. art. 1, 8.	Can a state put a defendant in jeopardy twice for the same offense?
16932	El Marocco Club v. Richardson, 746 A.2d 1228, 1234, (R.I., 2000)	7	The key element of an estoppel is intentionally induced prejudicial reliance.	Moreover, "[t]he key element of an estoppel is intentionally induced prejudicial reliance."	Is the key element of an estoppel intentionally induced prejudicial reliance?
16935	Moore v. Drennan, 269 Or. 189, 193, (Or., 1974)	4	A statement of fact in a party's pleadings is an admission that the fact exists as stated.	A statement of fact in a party's pleading is an admission that the fact exists as stated.	Is a statement of fact in a party's pleading an admission that the fact exists as stated?
16936	Meyer v. Frakes, 884 N.W.2d 131, 141 (Neb., 2016)	16	A primary purpose of the Double Jeopardy Clause is to preserve the finality of judgments. U.S. Const. Amend. 14.	A "primary purpose" of the Double Jeopardy Clause is "to preserve the finality of judgments."	Is the primary purpose of double jeopardy to preserve the finality of judgements?
16940	State v. Dorman, 225 N.C. App. 599, 618 (2013)	2	Under both the federal and state constitutions, jeopardy does not attach until, among other things, a jury is impaneled and sworn. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's N.C.G.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 19.	Under both the federal and North Carolina constitutions, jeopardy does not attach until, among other things, a "jury is impaneled and sworn."	When is a jeopardy attached under the federal and state constitutions?
16942	State v. Swafford, 206 W. Va. 390, 394 (1999)	6	Double jeopardy can be implicated where the jury is discharged before it has arrived at a verdict. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; Const. Art. 3, S 5.	Double jeopardy can also be implicated where the jury is discharged before it has arrived at a verdict.	Can double jeopardy be implicated where the jury is discharged before it has arrived at a verdict?
16943	Sivri v. Strange, 338 F. Supp. 2d 357, 360 (D. Conn. 2004)	1	Acquittal terminates jeopardy for double jeopardy purposes, but reversal of a conviction does not. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Acquittal terminates jeopardy for double jeopardy purposes, reversal of a conviction does not.	"Does acquittal terminates jeopardy for double jeopardy purposes, but reversal of a conviction does not?"
16944	State v. Miles, 160 A.3d 23, 29, (N.J., 2017)	4	The Double Jeopardy Clause protects against: (1) a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal; (2) a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction; and (3) multiple punishments for the same offense. U.S. Const. Amend. 5; N.J. Const. art. 1, par. 11.	The Double Jeopardy Clause contains three protections for defendants. It protects against (1) "a second prosecution for the same offense after acquittal," (2) "a second prosecution for the same offense after conviction," and (3) "multiple punishments for the same offense."	What protection does double jeopardy provide under the law?
16946	State v. Nappo, 185 N.J. Super. 600, 603 (1982)	1	Dismissal unrelated to guilt or innocence is functional equivalent of a mistrial.	A dismissal, as here, unrelated to guilt or innocence, is the functional equivalent of a mistrial.	Is a dismissal unrelated to guilt or innocence a functional equivalent of a mistrial?

16947	Losey v. Frank, 268 F. Supp. 2d 1066, 1071, (E.D.Wis., 2003)	4	Under double jeopardy principles, an unreversed verdict results in finality, and thus, acquittals are an absolute bar to appeal or to a new trial, and unreversed convictions are an absolute bar to a new trial. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Under double jeopardy principles, an unreversed verdict results in finality. Thus, acquittals are an absolute bar to appeal or to a new trial, and unreversed convictions are an absolute bar to a new trial.	"Under double jeopardy principles, does an unreversed verdict result in finality?"
16949	People v. Davidson, 159 Cal. App. 4th 205, 212 (2008)	15	No plea of double jeopardy can properly be made where the defendant is tried only once. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend.5; West's Ann.Cal. Const. Art. 1, S 15.	Furthermore, " 'no plea of double jeopardy can properly be made where the defendant is tried but once.' "	Can a plea of double jeopardy be properly made where the defendant is tried only once?
16950	McGraw v. State, 688 So. 2d 764, 767 (Miss. 1997)	2	Double jeopardy right attaches when jury is sworn and empaneled to hear case. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; Const. Art. 3, S 22.	[2] [3] A double jeopardy right "attaches" when the jury is sworn and empaneled to hear the case.	Does a double jeopardy attach when the jury is sworn?
16951	People v. Haller, 174 Cal. App. 4th 1080, 1089 (2009)	6	The double jeopardy clause prohibits successive punishment for the same offense; the policy of the clause therefore circumscribes the relevance of recidivism. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	The double jeopardy clause prohibits successive punishment for the same offense. The policy of the clause therefore circumscribes the relevance of recidivism. [Citations.]	Does the double jeopardy clause prohibit successive punishment for the same offense?
16952	State v. Mosley, 16 So.3d 398, 404 (La.App. 5 Cir.,2009)	5	Double jeopardy principles are inapplicable to sentence enhancement proceedings. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Double jeopardy principles are inapplicable to sentence enhancement proceedings.	Are double jeopardy principles inapplicable to sentence enhancement proceedings?
16953	State v. Benn, 161 Wash. 2d 256, 261 (2007)	2	Double jeopardy clauses prohibit the State from prosecuting a defendant for the same offense after acquittal. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; West's RCWA Const. Art. 1, S 9.	The double jeopardy clauses prohibit the State from prosecuting a defendant for the same offense after acquittal.	Does an acquittal of an offense terminates jeopardy and prohibits the State from trying the defendant a second time for the same offense?
16954	State v. Prop. Located at No. 70 Oakland St., 98-929 (La. App. 5 Cir. 1/26/99), 727 So. 2d 1240, 1245	10	Civil forfeiture of interest in property does not constitute double jeopardy. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5.	Therefore, the civil forfeiture of Whalen's interest in the property does not constitute double jeopardy.	Does civil forfeiture of interest in property not constitute double jeopardy?
16955	Appeal of News Pub. Co., 12 Kan. App. 2d 328, 332, (Kan.App., 1987)	3	Entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute; legislature is empowered to provide means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matter of taxation.	The entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute. The legislature is empowered to provide the means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matters of taxation.	The entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute.
16956	Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. v. State Treasurer, 140 Mich. App. 635, 645 (1985)	3	Taxing authority may not be exercised unless expressly conferred by legislature.	Inasmuch as taxing authority may not be exercised unless expressly conferred by the Legislature, Borden, Inc.	Can the taxing authority be exercised without being expressly conferred by legislature?
16957	Welch v. Town of Ludlow, 136 Vt. 83, 87, 385 A.2d 1105, 1108 (1978)	4	Legislature, having the power to tax, can confer that power upon towns in such a manner as it pleases; state has ultimate control over methods used for local taxation. 32 V.S.A. S 3431; S 3408, Laws 1965, No. 178.	The Legislature, having the power to tax, can confer that power upon the towns in such measure as it pleases. Caverly-Gould Co. v. Village of Springfield, 83 Vt. 396, 403, 76 A. 39, 42 (1910). Clearly the State has ultimate control over the methods used for local taxation.	Do states have ultimate control over methods used for local taxation?

16958	Eckerd Corp. v. J & S, 647 F. Supp. 2d 388, 393, (D.N.J., 2009)	1	Assignability of rights may be limited by operation of law or by public policy.	The assignability of rights may be limited by operation of law or by public policy.	Does the operation of law or public policy limit the assignability of rights?
16959	Patrick v. Burget, 486 U.S. 94, 99-100, (U.S.Or., 1988)	2	Sherman Act was not intended to restrain state action or official action directed by state. Sherman Anti-Trust Act, S 1 et seq., 15 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	The Sherman Act, the Court held, was not intended "to restrain state action or official action directed by a state."	Can the Sherman Act restrain an official action by the state?
16960	Benavidez v. United States, 177 F.3d 927, 931, (C.A.10 (N.M.), 1999)	5	Mere allegation of negligence does not turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct.	Of course, a mere allegation of negligence does not turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct.	Can a mere allegation of negligence turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct?
16961	Weigle v. Pifer, 139 F. Supp. 3d 760, 780 (S.D.W. Va. 2015)	19	A mere allegation of negligence does not turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct.	However, "a mere allegation of negligence does not turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct."	Can a mere allegation of negligence turn an intentional tort into negligent conduct?
16962	Cook v. Winfrey, 975 F.Supp. 1045, 1049 (N.D.Ill.,1997)	2	Under Illinois conflicts law, when multi-state defamation case arises, applicable law is that of victim's domicile.	Under Illinois conflicts law, when a multi-state defamation case arises, the applicable law is that of the victim's domicile.	What is the law applicable to multi state defamation cases?
16967	Monster Content v. HOMES.COM, 331 B.R. 438, 443 (N.D.Cal., 2005)	8	Actual knowledge of a bankruptcy proceeding does not supplant the requirement of formal notice for a known creditor. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 5; 11 U.S.C.A. S 1141(d).	Ninth Circuit law, however, rejects the proposition that actual knowledge of a bankruptcy proceeding supplants the requirement of formal notice for a known creditor.	Will actual knowledge supplant a formal statutory notification?
16968	Pomeroy v. Sam Thorpe Min. Co., 37 Ariz. 541, 553-554 (1931)	12	Notice of unrecorded instrument is equivalent to recording of it, with respect to person having such notice.	* * * It is an elementary rule in the construction of recording laws that notice of an unrecorded instrument is equivalent to the recording of it, with respect to the person having such notice.'	"Is a notice of unrecorded instrument equivalent to the recording of it, with respect to the person having such notice?"
16971	Kubel v. San Marco Floor & Wall, 967 So. 2d 1063, 1064 (Fla.App. 2 Dist., 2007)	2	Circuit court has the inherent authority to dismiss a complaint for fraud.	While a circuit court has the inherent authority to dismiss a complaint for fraud...	Does a circuit court have the inherent authority to dismiss a complaint for fraud?
16976	United States v. Sum of $70,990,605, 991 F. Supp. 2d 154, 168, (D.D.C., 2013)	29	Even if the domestic court's factual findings must necessarily cast doubt upon the validity of the foreign sovereign's acts, the act of state doctrine is inapplicable if the foreign act of state does not need to be invalidated.	6 Even if this court's factual findings must necessarily "cast doubt upon the validity of the foreign sovereign's acts," the act of state doctrine is inapplicable if the foreign act of state does not need to be invalidated.	"Under the act of state doctrine, is it not sufficient that a court's factual findings would impugn the foreign state's actions or should the claims call for the invalidation of those actions?"
16981	City of Norfolk v. Norfolk Cty., 194 Va. 716, 720, (Va., 1953)	1	In absence of statute or rule of court, matter of dismissing an action, or of taking a nonsuit, is controlled by common law.	In the absence of statute or rule of court, the matter of dismissing an action, or of taking a nonsuit, is controlled by the common law.	Does the right of a plaintiff to take a voluntary nonsuit come from common law?
16982	Stein v. Dowling, 867 F. Supp. 2d 1087, 1096, (S.D.Cal., 2012)	12	Members of military are not excluded from protection granted by First Amendment. U.S.C.A. Const.Amend. 1.	As a result, "members of the military are not excluded from the protection granted by the First Amendment."	Are military members excluded from the protection granted by the First Amendment?

16985	Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. v. Whirlpool Corp., No. B145197, 2002 WL 228208, at *11 (Cal. Ct. App. Feb. 15, 2002)	8	Unlike other discovery sanctions, an award of expenses for failure to respond to request for admission is not a penalty; instead, it is designed to reimburse reasonable expenses incurred by a party in proving the truth of a requested admission when any trial would have been expedited or shortened if the request had been admitted. West's Ann.Code Civ.Proc. S 2033(o).	Unlike other discovery sanctions, an award of expenses under section 2033, subdivision (o) is not a penalty. (Ibid.) Instead, it is designed to reimburse reasonable expenses incurred by a party in proving the truth of a requested admission when any trial would have been expedited or shortened if the request had been admitted.	"Is an award of expenses for failure to respond to request for admission, a penalty?"
16986	McKissick v. Jackson, 15 Kan. App. 2d 508, 509 (Kan.App., 1991)	4	Awarding expenses in preparing for trial is a reasonable condition for continuance.	Awarding expenses in preparing for trial is a reasonable condition for a continuance.	Is awarding expenses in preparing for trial a reasonable condition for continuance?
16990	In re WRT Energy Corp., 202 B.R. 579, 581 (Bkrtcy.W.D.La., 1996)	1	Under Louisiana law, oil and gas are not owned by the landowner or any other person until reduced to possession.	It is thus hornbook law that, in Louisiana, oil and gas are not owned by the landowner, or any other person, until reduced to possession.	Are oil and gas not owned until reduced to possession?
16992	Morgan Guar. Tr. Co. of New York v. Staats, 428 Pa. Super. 479, 488 (Pa.Super., 1993)	7	Every holder of negotiable instrument is deemed prima facie holder in due course.	Every holder of a negotiable instrument is deemed, prima facie, a "holder in due course."	Is a holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course?
16993	Stottlemeyer v. Crampton, 235 Md. 138, 142 (1964)	2	Under right to use public roads, person may use highway for purpose of leading or driving cattle. Code 1957, art. 66C, S 467.	"Under this right [to use public roads], a person may use the highway for the purpose of leading or driving cattle". 40 646 C.J.S. Highways 233, p.	Can cattles be driven in public highways?
16994	Univ. State Bank v. Gifford-Hill Concrete Corp., 431 S.W.2d 561, 574 (Tex. Civ. App. 1968), writ refused NRE (Nov. 20, 1968)	23	Although theories of recovery on contract and on quantum meruit bases are inconsistent, they may be plead alternatively. Rules of Civil Procedure, rules 47, 48.	Although the two theories of recovery are inconsistent, they may be plead alternatively under the provisions of Rules 47 and 48, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, as the Trustee did in this case.	Can inconsistent theories of recovery be pled in the alternative?
16996	Ford Motor Co. v. Kentucky Unemployment Comp. Comm'n, 243 S.W.2d 657, 659, (Ky. 1951)	2	The powers of an agent must be specifically granted or necessarily inferred, and they cannot be created carte blanche.	The powers of an agent must be specific or necessarily inferred; they cannot be created carte blanche.	Should the powers of an agent be specific or necessarily inferred?
16999	Johnson v. State, 529 S.W.3d 36, 40, (Mo.App. W.D., 2017)	6	Double jeopardy clause does not bar retrial if defendant requests, or consents to, a mistrial. U.S. Const. Amend. 5.	As York recognizes, it is well established in that context that "[t]he double jeopardy clause does not bar retrial if the defendant requests, or consents to, the mistrial." State v.	"After a mistrial not requested by defendant, but not objected to by him or her, do state and federal double jeopardy clauses not bar a second trial?"
17001	Mississippi Cty. v. City of Osceola, 515 S.W.3d 96, 99, (Ark., 2017)	1	An "illegal exaction" is a tax that is either not authorized by law or is contrary to law.	An illegal exaction is a tax that is either not authorized by law or is contrary to law.	Is illegal exaction a tax that is either not authorized by law or is contrary to law?
17002	Anadarko Petroleum Corp. v. Thompson, 94 S.W.3d 550, 554, (Tex., 2002)	10	Lease's habendum clause defines the mineral estate's duration.	A lease's habendum clause defines the mineral estate's duration.	Does a lease's habendum clause define the mineral estate's duration?
17005	Cornelius v. River Ridge Ranch Landowners Ass'n, 202 P.3d 564, 572, (Colo., 2009)	15	A unilateral resumption of prosecution should not insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution.	A "unilateral resumption of prosecution should not insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution.	Should a unilateral resumption of prosecution not insulate a plaintiff from dismissal for lack of prosecution?

17007	Ralph v. State Dept. of Natural Resources, 286 P.3d 992, 993–94, 171 Wash.App. 262, 266 (Wash.App. Div. 1, 2012)	2	The nature of a claim for relief is determined by the facts alleged in the complaint and as adduced thereunder, and by the relief requested.	"The nature of a claim for relief is determined by the facts alleged in the complaint and as adduced thereunder, and by 994 the relief requested."	How is the nature of a claim for relief determined?
17010	KBD & Assocs. v. Great Lakes Foam Techs., 295 Mich. App. 666, 673, (Mich.App., 2012)	1	Sales agents are entitled to post-termination commissions for sales they procured during their time at the former employer.	"The law in Michigan is that sales agents are entitled to post-termination commissions for sales they procured during their time at the former employer."	Is an agent entitled to post termination commission for sales they procured?
17011	Fablok Mills v. Cocker Mach. & Foundry Co., 125 N.J. Super. 251, 261, (N.J.Super.A.D., 1973)	15	Where noncompliance with rules can be remedied by other measures, dismissal ordinarily will not be required. R. 4:23-5.	However, we decline to dismiss at this juncture because where noncompliance with the rules can be remedied by other measures, dismissal ordinarily will not be required.	"Where noncompliance with rules can be remedied by other measures, will dismissal ordinarily not be required? "
17014	U.S. v. McGregor, 879 F.Supp.2d 1308, 1313 (M.D.Ala.,2012)	2	A campaign contribution transforms into a bribe when it is tied to a specific act; in other words, when there is a quid pro quo or a this for that.	But a campaign contribution transforms into a bribe when it is tied to a specific act. In other words, when there is a quid pro quo or a "this for that.	When is a campaign contribution a bribe?
17015	State v. Voyles, 691 S.W.2d 452, 454 (Mo.App. S.D., 1985)	2	An indictment or information must allege all elements of crime intended to be charged and if such elements are missing they cannot be supplied by intendment or implication.	An indictment or information must allege all elements of the crime intended to be charged and if such elements are missing they cannot be supplied by intendment or implication.	Does an indictment require all elements of the offense alleged?
17016	Terry Contracting, Inc. v. State, 51 Misc. 2d 545, 546, 273 N.Y.S.2d 528, 530 (Ct. Cl. 1966), rev'd, 27 A.D.2d 499, 280 N.Y.S.2d 450 (1967)	1	Cause of action "accrues" when a suit may be maintained thereon.	Black's Law Dictionary, Fourth Edition, at page 37, states 'A cause of action 'accrues' when a suit may be maintained thereon.'	"Does a cause of action ""accrue"" when a suit may be maintained thereon? "
17020	Southern Farm Bureau Cas. Ins. Co. v. Tallant, 362 Ark. 17, 26 (2005)	1	"Subrogation" is the substitution of one party for another; the party asserting subrogation is making a demand under the right of another.	Subrogation is the substitution of one party for another. Welch, supra. The party asserting subrogation is making a demand under the right of another.	Is subrogation the substitution of one party for another?
17023	State Bd. of Ret. v. Bulger, 446 Mass. 169, 175 (2006)	5	A clerk of a court is a public officer clothed with official functions of a highly important nature.	"A clerk of a court is 'a public officer clothed with official functions of a highly important nature.' "	Is a clerk of a court a public officer?
17025	Osborne v. Jauregui, 252 S.W.3d 70, 78, (Tex. App., 2008)	15	Absent a contractual provision, subrogation is based on equitable principles.	Absent a contractual provision, subrogation is based on equitable principles and we will not disturb a trial court's balancing of the equities unless "it would be inequitable to allow the judgment to stand.	Is subrogation based on equitable principles absent a contractual provision?
17026	Poole v. William Penn Fire Ins. Co., 264 Ala. 62, 65 (1955)	4	Intentional relinquishment of a known right amounts to a waiver of subrogation rights.	216, the rule was mentioned that 336 an intentional relinquishment of a known right amounts to a waiver of subrogation rights.	Does intentional relinquishment of a known right amount to a waiver of subrogation rights?

17029	Atlanta Int'l Ins. Co. v. Bell, 438 Mich. 512, 521-522, (Mich., 1991)	3	"Equitable subrogation" is legal fiction that permits one party to stand in shoes of another.	[3] Equitable subrogation has been described as a "legal fiction" that permits one party to stand in *522 the shoes of another.	Is equitable subrogation a legal fiction?
17031	Bel Air & Briney v. City of Kent, 358 P.3d 1249, 1252, 190 Wash.App. 166, 173 (Wash.App. Div. 1, 2015)	1	Subrogation is an equitable remedy, and is founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	Subrogation is " 'an equitable remedy,' " and is " 'founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.' "	Is equitable subrogation founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case?
17034	Flowers v. Bedford Tp., 849 N.W.2d 51, 54, 304 Mich.App. 661, 665 (Mich.App., 2014)	4	A "life estate" gives the holder the right to possess, control, and enjoy the property during the holder's lifetime.	A life estate gives the holder the right to possess, control, and enjoy the property during the holder's lifetime.	What interest vests with the holder of a life estate?
17038	Weihing v. Dodsworth, 100 Conn. App. 29, 39, 917 A.2d 53, 60 (2007)	16	Affidavits are insufficient to determine the facts unless they disclose that no genuine issue as to a material fact exists.	"[A]ffidavits are insufficient to determine the facts unless ... they disclose that no genuine issue as to a material fact exists. 1 Stephenson, Conn. Civ. Proc. (2d Ed.1982 Sup.) § 108d p. 5 73." (Emphasis added; internal quotation marks omitted.)	Are affidavits insufficient to determine facts?
17039	Costanzo v. Costanzo, 248 N.J. Super. 116, 121, (N.J.Super.L., 1991)	3	Any "specific thing," debt, or chose in action may be subject of assignment, but that which is not in existence or cannot be identified cannot be assigned.	Any "specific thing," debt or chose in action may be the subject of an assignment. 6 Am.Jur.2d 1. Obviously, that which is not in existence or cannot be identified cannot be assigned.	Can any specific thing be assigned to effectuate a legal assignment?
17044	AT & T Technologies, Inc. v. Communications Workers of America, 106 S.Ct. 1415, 1418, 475 U.S. 643, 648 (U.S.,1986)	1	Arbitration is matter of contract and party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit.	The first principle gleaned from the Trilogy is that "arbitration is a matter of contract and a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute which he has not agreed so to submit."	Can parties submit to arbitrate any dispute that they have not agreed to arbitrate?
17049	In re Holt, 28 A.D.2d 201, 205, 284 N.Y.S.2d 208, 212 (1967)	2	A right to future performance under an obligation existing at time of assignment is an "existing right" as opposed to a "future right".	A right to future performance under an obligation existing at the time of assignment is an existing right as opposed to a future right.	Can a right to future performance of an obligation be assigned?
17050	Hoye v. Like, 958 S.W.2d 234, 238, (Tex. App. 1997)	14	Even though bailment contract may arise by implication, it cannot arise from nothing, nor from mere conjecture or possibility.	Under Rust, even though a bailment contract may arise by implication, it cannot arise from nothing, nor from a mere conjecture or possibility.	When does a bailment arise?
17052	Consumers Power Co. v. Pub. Serv. Comm'n, 189 Mich. App. 151, 176, (Mich.App., 1991)	2	Generally, statute which grants power to administrative agency is to be strictly construed; administrative authority must be affirmatively or plainly granted, for doubtful power does not exist.	Generally, a statute which grants power to an administrative agency is to be strictly construed. Administrative authority must be affirmatively or plainly granted, for doubtful power does not exist.	Is strict construction applied to statutes that grant power to administrative agencies?
17059	Bramlett v. Overnite Transp., 102 N.C. App. 77, 82, (N.C.App., 1991)	4	North Carolina recognizes three types of bailments: bailments for sole benefit of bailor; bailments for sole benefit of bailee, or gratuitous bailments; and bailments for mutual benefit of both parties.	North Carolina recognizes three types of bailments: (1) bailments for the sole benefit of the bailor; (2) bailments for the sole benefit of the bailee-gratuitous bailments; and (3) bailments for the mutual benefit of both parties.	What are the different types of bailments?

17060	Hadfield v. Gilchrist, 343 S.C. 88, 95 (2000)	4	A "gratuitous bailment" is, by definition, one in which the transfer of possession or use of the bailed property is without compensation.	"A gratuitous bailment is, by definition, one in which the transfer of possession or use of the bailed property is without compensation."	What is a gratuitous bailment?
17063	United States v. Dial, 757 F.2d 163, 170, (C.A.7 (Ill.), 1985)	6	It is fraud to impose enormous risk of loss on one's employer through deliberate misrepresentation even if risk does not materialize.	so it is fraud to impose an enormous risk of loss on one's employer through deliberate misrepresentation even if the risk does not materialize.	Can an act come under the offence of embezzlement if the risk did not materialize?
17064	People v. Mahumed, 381 Ill. 81, 84, (1942)	6	Sending letters through the mails threatening to expose one's past for the purpose of extorting money is "blackmail".	Sending letters through the mails threatening to expose one's past for the purpose of extorting money is blackmail.	Are the terms blackmail and extortion synonymous?
17067	Ostroff v. Alterra Healthcare Corp., 433 F. Supp. 2d 538, 542, (E.D.Pa., 2006)	1	Court cannot direct parties to arbitration unless agreement to arbitrate is valid.	A court cannot direct parties to arbitration unless the agreement to arbitrate is valid.	Can a court direct parties to arbitrate if the agreement to arbitrate is not valid?
17072	Robertson v. Southwestern Bell Yellow Pages, 190 S.W.3d 899, 902 (Tex. App. 2006)	8	Statements about very large groups generally will not support an action for defamation.	For this reason, statements about very large groups generally will not support an action for defamation.	Can statements against large groups of people support an action for defamation?
17076	Turner v. Mullins, 162 S.W.3d 356, 366, (Tex.App.-Fort Worth, 2005)	18	In determining the ownership of property, courts apply the law of the jurisdiction in which the land is located.	In determining the ownership of property, we apply the law of the jurisdiction in which the land is located.	What law is applied in determining the ownership of a property?
17077	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	8	Entry upon the land that interferes with the landowner's right to exclusive possession results in trespass whether that interference was reasonably foreseeable or whether it caused damages.	Under Minnesota trespass law, entry upon the land that interferes with the landowner's right to exclusive possession results in trespass whether that interference was reasonably foreseeable or whether it caused damages.	Does the right to exclusive possession of the property have an important role in the tort of trespass?
17082	Lasher v. Redevelopment Auth. of Allegheny Cty., 211 Pa. Super. 408, 412 (Pa.Super., 1967)	5	When grantor remains in possession after a conveyance of the premises he is a "tenant at will," especially where he has consent of the grantee.	When a grantor remains in possession after a conveyance of the premises he has been regarded as a tenant at will, especially where he has the consent of the grantee.	Do grantors who continue to remain in possession after a deed hold possession as tenants at will?
17089	Bellows v. Ziv, 187 N.E.2d 265, 267, 38 Ill.App.2d 342, 347 (Ill.App. 1962)	2	Where a tenant holds over after expiration of a lease for a year or years, landlord may elect to accept and treat him as a tenant from year to year.	Where a tenant holds over after the expiration of a lease for a year or years, the landlord may elect to accept and treat him as a tenant from year to year.	Is a tenant who holds over considered a tenant from year to year?
17095	Davis v. Houston Lighting & Power, 990 F.Supp. 515, 516 (S.D.Tex.,1998)	2	When confronted with question of arbitrability, a district court must determine, as a threshold matter, whether grievance before it is subject to arbitration.	When confronted with the question of arbitrability, a District Court must determine, as a threshold matter, whether the grievance before it is subject to arbitration.	Does national policy favor arbitration?
17096	Hopi Tribe v. U.S. Envtl. Prot. Agency, 851 F.3d 957, 960 (9th Cir. 2017)	2	United States has a general trust relationship with Indian tribes.	The United States has a general trust relationship with the Indian tribes.	Does the United States owe a general trust responsibility to Indian tribes?

17098	Heritage Bank v. Kasson, 853 N.W.2d 868, 874 (Neb.App. 2014)	9	Party asserting that a partnership relationship exists has the burden of proving that relationship by a preponderance of the evidence.	The party asserting the partnership relationship exists has the burden of proving that relationship by a preponderance of the evidence.	Who has the burden of proving the existence of a partnership?
17099	Boyer v. First Nat. Bank of Kokomo, 476 N.E.2d 895, 898, (Ind.App. 4 Dist., 1985)	7	Joint venture is similar to a partnership except a joint venture contemplates only a single business transaction; partnership, on the other hand, is formed for general business of a particular kind.	Finally, a joint venture is similar to a partnership except a joint venture contemplates only a single business transaction. A partnership, on the other hand, is formed for general business of a particular kind.	Is a joint venture limited to a single transaction?
17102	Estate of Prather v. Sherman Hosp. Systems, 35 N.E.3d 198, 211, 393 Ill.Dec. 806, 819, 2015 IL App (2d) 140723, ¶ 50 (Ill.App. 2 Dist., 2015)	22	When a plaintiff chooses his home forum or the site of the accident or injury, the choice of forum is most likely convenient; however, when a plaintiff is foreign to the chosen forum and when the action giving rise to the litigation did not occur in the chosen forum, the plaintiff's choice of forum is accorded less deference.	When the plaintiff chooses his home forum or the site of the accident or injury, the choice of forum is most likely convenient. Fennell, 2012 IL 113812, 18, 369 Ill.Dec. 728, 987 N.E.2d 355. When the plaintiff is foreign to the chosen forum and when the action giving rise to the litigation did not occur in the chosen forum, the plaintiff's choice of forum is accorded less deference.	Is the plaintiff's choice of venue entitled to the same weight in all cases?
17104	Window Rock Unified Sch. Dist. v. Reeves, 861 F.3d 894, 899 (9th Cir. 2017), as amended (Aug. 3, 2017)	5	Federal government may limit tribe's power either by treaty or by statute.	The federal government may, however, limit a tribe's power either by treaty or by statute.	How does the federal government limit a tribe's sovereignty?
17108	Bolduc v. Bailey, 586 F. Supp. 896, 900, (D.Colo., 1984)	4	Gravamen of action for defamation is damage to one's reputation in the community caused by the defamatory statements.	The gravamen of an action for defamation is the damage to one's reputation in the community caused by the defamatory statement(s).	What is the gravamen of an action for defamation?
17119	Elk v. U.S., 87 Fed.Cl. 70, 78 (Fed.Cl.,2009)	1	Treaty with Indian tribe is a contract and should be interpreted to give effect to intent of signatories.	A treaty with an Indian tribe is a contract and should be interpreted to give effect to the intent of the signatories.	Is a treaty with an Indian tribe a contract?
17120	Elk v. U.S., 87 Fed.Cl. 70, 78 (Fed.Cl.,2009)	1	Treaty with Indian tribe is a contract and should be interpreted to give effect to intent of signatories.	A treaty with an Indian tribe is a contract and should be interpreted to give effect to the intent of the signatories.	How should a treaty between the United States and an Indian tribe be interpreted?
17127	Kaplan v. Inc. Vill. of Lynbrook, 12 A.D.3d 410, 412, 784 N.Y.S.2d 586, 588 (2004)	5	Person entering upon the land of another without permission, whether innocently or by mistake, is a trespasser.	It is well settled that "a person entering upon the land of another without permission, 'whether innocently or by mistake, is a trespasser' " (Golonka v. Plaza at Latham, 270 A.D.2d 667, 669, 704 N.Y.S.2d 703 quoting 104 N.Y. Jur. 2d, Trespass, § 10, at 464).	Can a trespass occur by mistake?

17132	Selby v. State, 76 Md. App. 201, 209 (1988)	1	Murder is common-law crime, proof of which requires showing that criminally responsible human being, with malice, killed another human being.	In Maryland, murder is a common law crime, the proof of which requires a showing that a criminally responsible human being, with malice, 1 killed another human being.	Is murder a common law crime?
17136	Kiser v. A.W. Chesterton Co., 285 Va. 12, 21 (Va., 2013)	6	A "right of action" is the remedial right accorded a person to enforce a cause of action and arises only when a person's rights are infringed; consequently, a right of action cannot arise until there is a cause of action.	A right of action "is the remedial right accorded [a] person to enforce a cause of action [and] arises only when [a] person's rights are infringed." Roller, 238 Va. at 327, 384 S.E.2d at 326. Consequently, a right of action cannot arise until there is a cause of action,	"When does a ""right of action"" arise?"
17137	Parker v. Town of Milton, 169 Vt. 74, 77 (Vt., 1998)	6	To have standing, plaintiff must, at minimum, show (1) injury in fact, (2) causation, and (3) redressability.	Vermont has adopted a three-part test to determine whether a plaintiff has standing. A plaintiff must, at a minimum, show (1) injury in fact, (2) causation, and (3) redressability.	What must a plaintiff show for standing to bring a case?
17141	Luster v. Retail Credit Co., 575 F.2d 609, 614 (8th Cir. 1978)	7	In defamation case mental anguish and embarrassment are proper elements of damages.	In a defamation case mental anguish and embarrassment are proper elements of damages.	Can mental anguish be an element of damages in defamation?
17142	Com. v. De Pofi, 362 Pa. 229, 238, (Pa., 1949)	2	Every willful and deliberate and premeditated murder is a "heinous offense".	Every wilful and deliberate and premeditated murder is a heinous offense.	"Is every willful, deliberate and premeditated murder a heinous offense?"
17146	Houston v. Bank of Am. Fed. Sav. Bank, 119 Nev. 485, 490 (2003)	5	"Equitable subrogation" is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Equitable subrogation is an equitable remedy to avoid a person's receiving an unearned windfall at the expense of another.	Is equitable subrogation a remedy?
17158	Reagan v. Baird, 140 Ill. App. 3d 58, 66, (Ill.App. 4 Dist., 1985)	9	Facts set forth and exhibits attached to complaint control over allegation of complaint itself.	" Since facts set forth in exhibits attached to a complaint control over the allegations of the complaint itself.	Will exhibits attached to a complaint control over the allegations of the complaint?
17163	Levy v. HLI Operating Co., 924 A.2d 210, 221 (Del.Ch., 2007)	9	Subrogation differs from contribution because its operation rests on concepts of primary and secondary liability among obligors; thus, it acts to place an entire loss, not just a portion, on another party.	Subrogation differs from contribution because its operation rests on concepts of primary and secondary liability among obligors. 25 Thus, it acts to place an entire loss, not just a portion, on another party.	"Are ""contribution"" and ""subrogation"" distinct?"
17172	Vega v. La Movida, Inc., 294 Ga. App. 311, 314, 670 S.E.2d 116, 120 (2008)	7	Trial court may modify a ruling on a motion in limine.	This argument fails, however, because a trial court may modify a ruling on a motion in limine.	Can a trial court modify a ruling on a motion in limine?
17174	Am. Ins. Co. v. Ohio Bur. of Workers Comp., 62 Ohio App. 3d 921, 924, 577 N.E.2d 756, 758 (1991)	3	Surety is traditionally subrogated to rights of the one it pays, the obligee.	A surety is traditionally subrogated to the rights of the one it pays, the obligee.	Is a surety traditionally subrogated to the rights of the one it pays?

17186	United States v. One (1) 43 Foot Sailing Vessel Winds Will, License O.N. 531317/U.S. & Equip., 405 F. Supp. 879, 882, (S.D.Fla., 1975)	9	No nation may exercise sovereignty over the waters of the high seas.	Since no nation may exercise sovereignty over the waters of the high seas, Art. 1, C.H.S., the maintenance of public order on the world's oceans depends upon effective control in accordance with their treaty obligations by the nations of the world over vessels flying their flag.	Can any nation exercise sovereignty over the waters of the high seas?
17189	Vega v. La Movida, Inc., 294 Ga. App. 311, 314, 670 S.E.2d 116, 120 (2008)	7	Trial court may modify a ruling on a motion in limine.	This argument fails, however, because a trial court may modify a ruling on a motion in limine.	Can a trial court modify a ruling on a motion in limine?
17212	Johnson v. Smith, 215 N.C. 322, 1 S.E.2d 834, 836 (1939)	3	Damages to personal property may be recovered in a trespass action.	Damages to personal property may also be recovered in a trespass action.	Can damages to personal property be recovered in an action for trespass?
17218	Russell v. Am. Real Estate Corp., 89 S.W.3d 204, 210 (Tex. App. 2002)	5	"Trespass to personalty" is an injury to, or interference with, possession of the property, unlawfully, with or without the exercise of physical force.	Trespass to personalty is an injury to, or interference with, possession of the property, unlawfully, with or without the exercise of physical force.	What is trespass to personalty?
17219	Weicht v. Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis, Inc., 32 S.W.3d 592, 600 (Mo. Ct. App. 2000)	25	A "trespass to personal property" is defined as a wrongful taking of chattels.	A trespass to personal property is defined as a "wrongful taking of chattels." Id. at 1509.	Can the wrongful taking of chattels constitute a trespass to personal property?
17220	Poff v. Hayes, 763 So. 2d 234, 240 (Ala. 2000)	14	Trespass to real property is similar to trespass to chattels in that trespass, generally, is a wrong against the right of possession.	Trespass to real property is similar to trespass to chattels in that trespass, generally, "is a wrong against the right of possession."	Is trespass a wrong against the right of possession?
17221	Fordham v. Eason, 351 N.C. 151, 155 (1999)	3	The basis of a trespass to chattel cause of action lies in injury to possession.	The basis of a trespass to chattel cause of action lies in "injury to possession."	What is the basis of a trespass to chattel cause of action?
17222	Calabrese v. McHugh, 170 F. Supp. 2d 243, 257, (D.Conn., 2001)	17	In Connecticut, cause of action accrues when plaintiff suffers actionable harm.	In Connecticut, a cause of action accrues when a plaintiff suffers actionable harm.	Does cause of action accrue when plaintiff suffers an actionable harm?
17225	Nationwide Ins. Co. v. Ohio Dep't of Transp., 61 Ohio Misc. 2d 761, 765-66 (Ohio Ct.Cl., 1990)	5	After cause of action has accrued, it can neither be taken away nor diminished; cause of action accrues when claim or right on which it is founded has matured so that action can be brought upon it, which is usually completed at moment when wrong done by defendant produces injury to plaintiff.	After the cause of action has accrued, it can neither be taken away nor diminished. State, ex rel. Slaughter v. Indus. Comm. (1937), 132 Ohio St. 537, 8 O.O. 531, 9 N.E.2d 505. A cause of action accrues when the claim or right on which it is founded has matured so that an action can be brought upon it. This is usually completed at the moment when the wrong done by the defendant produces the injury to the plaintiff.	Can a cause of action be taken away or diminished after it has accrued?
17233	Miller v. Mod. Motor Co. of Glendale, 107 Cal. App. 38, 41, 290 P. 122, 124 (Cal. Ct. App. 1930)	2	Where waiver is relied upon, in bringing action, facts constituting waiver must be set forth.	We believe, upon general demurrer, that these allegations sufficiently comply with the rule that where a waiver is relied upon, the facts constituting the waiver must be set forth.	Should facts constituting waiver be pleaded if a waiver is relied upon?

17236	Tampa Aluminum Prod. Co. v. Watts, 132 So. 2d 414, 418, (Fla., 1961)	6	Workmen's compensation cases, like other lawsuits, must generally be determined by their peculiar facts.	(2) Workmen's compensation cases, like other lawsuits, must generally be determined by their peculiar facts and the facts in these cases do not warrant the amount awarded.	Should each workers compensation case turn on its facts?
17237	Southern Bell v. MacDonald, 671 So.2d 207, 209–10 (Fla.App. 1 Dist.,1996)	3	Employer must offer or furnish workers' compensation benefits when employer knows or should know that benefits are due.	An employer must offer or furnish benefits when the employer knows, or should know that benefits are due.	Should an employer offer or furnish benefits when the employer knows or should know that benefits are due?
17247	Davis v. Gerstenslager Co., 302 F. Supp. 742, 744, (W.D.Pa., 1969)	4	Subrogation is legal right, but it may be waived as part of insurance contract.	Subrogation is a legal right but it may be waived as part of the insurance contract.	Can subrogation be waived as part of an insurance contract?
17248	Labarre v. Rateau, 210 La. 34, 54, (La., 1946)	17	The presumption of laches arising from lapse of time may be rebutted by competent testimony.	The presumption of laches arising from lapse of time may be rebutted and overcome by competent testimony.'	Can the presumption of laches be overcome by competent testimony?
17249	Aspero v. Shearson Am. Exp., 768 F.2d 106, 108, (C.A.6 (Tenn.), 1985)	3	Although created by contract, duty to arbitrate does not necessarily end when contract is terminated.	Although it is created by contract, the duty to arbitrate does not necessarily end when the contract is terminated.	Does the duty to arbitrate end when the contract terminates?
17252	In re Rebel Rents, 307 B.R. 171, 190 (C.D.Cal. 2004)	21	Like other equitable remedies, right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	Like other equitable remedies, a right to subrogation may be lost by waiver, laches, or estoppel.	Can a right to subrogation be lost?
17253	Factory Mut. Ins. Co. v. Citizens Ins. Co. of Am., 2006 WI App 16, ¶ 11, 288 Wis. 2d 730, 736, 709 N.W.2d 82, 85	4	A party to a contract may waive subrogation explicitly in writing.	First, there is no dispute that a party to a contract may waive subrogation explicitly in writing.	Can a party to a contract waive subrogation explicitly in writing?
17254	Footlocker v. KK & J, 69 A.D.3d 481, 482, (N.Y. App. 2010)	5	A waiver of subrogation may bar a claim for gross negligence.	Paul's contention, a waiver of subrogation may bar a claim for gross negligence.	Can a waiver of subrogation bar a claim for gross negligence?
17256	Kiker v. Pennsylvania Financial Responsibility Assigned Claims Plan, 742 A.2d 1082, 1086 (Pa.Super.,1999)	8	Extinguishing a subrogee's statutory right to be reimbursed is generally disfavored.	Thus, extinguishing a subrogee's statutory right to be reimbursed is generally disfavored.	Is extinguishing a subrogee's statutory right to be reimbursed disfavored?
17261	Hensel Phelps Const. Co. v. C.I.R., 703 F.2d 485, 487 (10th Cir. 1983)	1	Intent of parties is critical factor in determining when partnership began.	The intent of the parties is a critical factor in determining when the partnership began.	Is the intent of the parties a critical factor in determining when a partnership shall commence?
17269	Hughes v. York County Dept. of Soc. Serv, 36 Va. App. 22, 25 (2001)	2	A "necessary party" to an appeal is one whose interests are likely to be defeated or diminished by a successful appeal.	A necessary party is one whose interests are likely to be defeated or diminished by a successful appeal.	Who is a necessary party for the purpose of an appeal?

17273	Wiltz v. Esso Standard Oil Co., 126 So. 2d 649, 652 (La. Ct. App. 1961)	4	A plaintiff is not required to set forth details of proof or of evidence which he relies on, and only allegations of fact that are required in a petition are those of ultimate facts which are conclusions drawn from evidentiary facts.	Further, a plaintiff is not required to set forth the details of the proof or of the evidence which he relies on to support his case. Neilson v. Haas, La.App., 199 So. 202; Honeycutt v. Carver, La.App., 25 So.2d 99. The only allegations of fact that are required in a petition are those of ultimate facts which are the conclusions drawn from the evidentiary facts. State v. Hackley, Hume and Joyce, 124 La. 854, 50 So. 772.	Are ultimate facts conclusions drawn from evidentiary facts?
17274	Washington-Youree Hotel Co. v. Union Indem. Co., 146 So. 342, 343 (La. Ct. App. 1933)	2	Exception of no cause of action admits well-pleaded facts, but not conclusions of law.	An exception of no cause of action admits the facts well pleaded, but not conclusions of law.	Does an exception of no cause of action admit conclusions of law?
17279	Messmer v. St. Farm Cty. Mut, 972 S.W.2d 774, 779 (Tex. App. 1998)	7	Plaintiff's right to nonsuit is absolute and trial judge has no discretion to refuse to grant dismissal.	The plaintiff's right to a non-suit is absolute and the trial judge has no discretion to refuse to grant a dismissal.	Is a plaintiff's right to nonsuit an absolute one?
17281	Rocky Mountain Exp. Co. v. Colquitt, 179 Cal. App. 2d 204, 206, 3 Cal. Rptr. 512, 514 (Ct. App. 1960)	2	The purpose of pretrial proceedings is to expedite and not to obstruct administration of justice.	The purpose of pretrial proceedings is to expedite and not to obstruct the administration of justice.	Is a pretrial proceeding aimed at expedition and not obstruction of the administration of justice?
17288	Sammons v. Doctors for Emergency Services, 913 A.2d 519, 528 (Del. 2006)	4	Scheduling orders are not merely guidelines but have full force and effect as any other order of the Superior Court.	"Parties must be mindful that scheduling orders are not merely guidelines but have full force and effect as any other order of the [Superior] Court."	Are scheduling orders mere guidelines?
17292	Hall v. State Farm Fire Cas. Co., 937 F.2d 210, 213 (5th Cir. 1991)	3	Trial court has great discretion in interpreting pretrial order.	A trial court has great discretion in interpreting a pretrial order.	Is the interpretation of pretrial order within the discretion of trial court?
17293	Bill DeLuca Enterprises v. Commissioner, Revenue, 431 Mass. 314, 727 N.E.2d 508, 322 (Mass. 2000)	10	Essence of any system of taxation is that it should produce revenue ascertainable, and payable to the government, at regular intervals, since only by such a system is it practicable to produce a regular flow of income and apply methods of accounting, assessment, and collection capable of practical operation.	"It is the essence of any system of taxation that it should produce revenue ascertainable, and payable to the government, at regular intervals. Only by such a system is it practicable to produce a regular flow of income and apply methods of accounting, assessment, and collection capable of practical operation."	What is the essence of any system of taxation?
17295	Alabama Power Co. v. Federal Power Commission, 134 F.2d 602, 608 (5th Cir. 1943)	7	"Taxes" are annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for current support of government and are generally an "expense" and not an "investment".	Taxes are the annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for the current support of government, and are generally an expense and not an investment.	To whom is the tax paid to?

17296	Arbuckle-Coll. City Fire Prot. Dist. v. Cnty. of Colusa, 105 Cal. App. 4th 1155, 1164, 130 Cal. Rptr. 2d 182, 189 (2003)	2	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are "general taxes" and include ad valorem property taxes; whereas, taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are "special taxes."	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are general taxes and include ad valorem property taxes. (See Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal.4th 220, 232, 45 Cal.Rptr.2d 207, 902 P.2d 225.) Taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are special taxes. (Ibid.)	When is a tax a general tax?
17301	Newman Grove Creamery Co. v. Deaver, 208 Neb. 178, 178 (Neb. 1981)	9	Purpose of pretrial conference is to simplify and to narrow issues of case and to avoid traps and surprises.	The purpose of a pretrial conference is to simplify and to narrow the issues of the case and to avoid traps and surprises.	What is the purpose of pretrial conference and what does it simplify?
17305	Borger v. Conner, 210 A.2d 546, 548 (D.C. 1965)	4	Generally party is bound by pretrial order, but rigid adherence to it should not always be exacted.	While generally a party is bound by the pre-trial order, rigid adherence to it should not always be exacted.	Is a party bound to rigidly adhere to a pretrial order?
17306	Arbuckle-Coll. City Fire Prot. Dist. v. Cnty. of Colusa, 105 Cal. App. 4th 1155, 1164, 130 Cal. Rptr. 2d 182, 189 (2003)	2	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are "general taxes" and include ad valorem property taxes; whereas, taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are "special taxes."	Taxes that provide revenues that are available for all purposes of the governmental entity are general taxes and include ad valorem property taxes. (See Santa Clara County Local Transportation Authority v. Guardino (1995) 11 Cal.4th 220, 232, 45 Cal.Rptr.2d 207, 902 P.2d 225.) Taxes that provide revenue for a specific or limited purpose are special taxes. (Ibid.)	When is a tax a general tax?
17309	Circle "C" Coal Co., Inc. v. Com, 628 S.W.2d 883, 885 (Ky. Ct. App. 1982)	2	Character of tax is not determined by label placed upon it by legislature, but by its operation and effect.	The character of the tax is not determined by the label placed upon it by the legislature, but by its operation and effect.	Is the character of a tax determined by its label?
17310	Huntington Pub. Co. v. Caryl, 180 W. Va. 486, 486 (1988)	2	In tax matters, it is substance, not form of transaction, that determines tax liability.	In tax matters, it is the substance, not the form of a transaction that determines tax liability.	Is it the form of transaction that determines tax liability in tax matters?
17311	Weekes v. City of Oakland, 21 Cal. 3d 386, 392, 579 P.2d 449, 452 (1978)	4	The character of a tax is ascertained from its incidents, not its label; the legislative designation of a particular tax is persuasive but not determinative as to its nature. (Per Curiam, with three Justices concurring and two Justices concurring specially.)	We have said, of course, that the legislative designation of a particular tax, though persuasive, is not determinative as to its nature. (Ex parte Braun, supra, 141 Cal. 204, 206, 74 P. 780; In re Johnson (1920) 47 Cal.App. 465, 466, 190 P. 852; see Beamer v. Franchise Tax Board (1977) 19 Cal.3d 467, 475, 138 Cal.Rptr. 199, 563 P.2d 238.) The character of a tax is ascertained from its incidents, not its label.	Is the legislative designation of a particular tax persuasive as to its nature?

17312	German v. Com., 410 Mass. 445, 448, 574 N.E.2d 336, 338 (1991)	1	"Tax" is revenue-raising exaction imposed through generally applicable rates to defray public expense; nature of monetary exaction will be decided by studying its operation rather than how it has been characterized by legislature.	The Justices have defined a tax as "a revenue-raising exaction imposed through generally applicable rates to defray public expense." Opinion of the Justices, 393 Mass. 1209, 1216, 471 N.E.2d 1266 (1984). When the characterization of a monetary exaction is in doubt, "the intention of the Legislature, as it may be expressed in part through its characterization ... deserves judicial respect, and especially so where the constitutionality of the exaction depends on its proper characterization." Emerson College v. Boston, 391 Mass. 415, 424, 462 N.E.2d 1098 (1984), quoting Associated Indus. of Mass., Inc. v. Commissioner of Revenue, 378 Mass. 657, 667-668, 393 N.E.2d 812 (1979). In the final analysis, however, the nature of a monetary exaction will be decided by studying its operation rather than how it has been characterized by the Legislature. Emerson, supra 391 Mass. at 424, 462 N.E.2d 1098.	How is the nature of a monetary exaction decided?
17316	Fortenberry v. Weber, 18 Cal. App. 3d 213, 222, 95 Cal. Rptr. 834, 840 (Ct. App. 1971)	7	Normally, pretrial conference order will control as against inconsistent pleadings. Cal.Rules of Court, rule 216.	Normally the pretrial conference order will control, as against inconsistent pleadings. (Calif. Rules of Court, Rule 216.)	Will a pretrial conference order control as against inconsistent pleadings?
17322	City of Houston v. Church, 554 S.W.2d 242, 245 (Tex.Civ.App. 1977)	8	Entry and possession without claim of right is nothing more than a trespass and unless true owner has actual knowledge of hostile claim, possession must be so open, visible and notorious as to raise the presumption of notice that the rights of true owner are invaded intentionally and with purpose of asserting claim of title adverse to his, so potent that owner could not be deceived, in order to mature title by adverse possession.	Entry and possession without a claim of right is nothing more than a trespass. Unless the true owner has actual knowledge of the hostile claim, the possession must be so open, visible, and notorious as to raise the presumption of notice that the rights of the true owner are invaded intentionally and with the purpose of asserting a claim of title adverse to his, so potent that the owner could not be deceived, in order to mature a title by adverse possession.	Can the entry and possession of land without a claim of right be held as a trespass?
17327	Freeman v. Leader Nat. Ins. Co., 58 S.W.3d 590, 595 (Mo. 2001)	4	The trial court loses jurisdiction as of the date of dismissal of a case.	When a plaintiff voluntarily dismisses an action without prejudice before introduction of evidence at trial, the trial court loses jurisdiction as of the date of dismissal.	Does the trial court lose jurisdiction as of the date of dismissal of a case?

17331	Western Iowa Farms Co. v. First Savings Bank, 135 F.3d 1257, 1259 (8th Cir. 1998)	3	Endorsement consisting simply of name of payee turns check into bearer paper; anyone who comes into possession of it can assert ownership, and persons dealing with instrument in good faith and without reasonable suspicion can deal with that person as true owner.	The endorsement consisted simply of the name of the payee. This sort of endorsement turns the check into bearer paper. Anyone who comes into possession of it can assert ownership, and persons dealing with the instrument in good faith and without reasonable suspicion can deal with that person as the true owner.	How is a check turned to bearer paper?
17336	Hesse v. Wagner, 475 S.W.2d 55, 61 (Mo. 1972)	6	Pleadings in the case are for the court and the parties, not the jury; they define and limit the issues.	The pleadings in a case are for the Court and the parties, not the jury; they define and limit the issues.	Do the pleadings limit and define issues of the case?
17339	Gustafson v. Riggs, 10 Ariz. App. 74, 75 (1969)	3	Taxes fall naturally into three classifications: (1) capitation or poll taxes, (2) taxes on property, (3) excises.	Taxes fall naturally into three classifications: (1) capitation or poll taxes, (2) taxes on property and (3) excises.	How many classifications do taxes naturally fall into?
17349	City of Columbus v. Atlanta Cigar Co., 111 Ga. App. 774, 143 S.E.2d 416, 775 (Ga. Ct. App. 1965)	2	Basic nature of tax must be determined by what it does and not by name given it by taxing authority.	64-9 is designated as a 'license tax' is not controlling, as the basic nature of a tax must be determined by what it does and not by the name given it by the taxing authority.	Is the basic nature of a tax determined by its name or label?
17350	Owens v. Fosdick, 153 Fla. 17, 20 (Fla. 1943)	1	The nature of a tax must be determined by its operation rather than by its terminology.	The issue being thus clearly defined, it becomes our duty to ascertain for ourselves upon what the tax is laid, keeping in mind that the nature of the tax must be determined by its operation rather than by its terminology.	Should the nature of the tax be determined by its operation rather than by its terminology?
17351	Alabama Power Co. v. Federal Power Commission, 134 F.2d 602, 608 (5th Cir. 1943)	7	"Taxes" are annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for current support of government and are generally an "expense" and not an "investment".	Taxes are the annual compensation paid to government for annual protection and for the current support of government, and are generally an expense and not an investment.	Are taxes an expense?
17352	American Transmission v. Channel 7 of Detroit, 239 Mich. App. 695, 705 (Mich. Ct. App. 2000)	9	A "trespass" is an unauthorized invasion upon the private property of another.	A trespass is an unauthorized invasion upon the private property of another.	Is trespass an unauthorized invasion of the private property of another?
17354	Howard v. Howard, 200 N.C. 574, 578 (1931)	8	"Comity" is recognition which one nation allows within its territory to legislative, executive, or judicial acts of another nation.	The extent to which the law of one nation shall be allowed to operate within the dominion of another nation depends upon the rule of comity; and comity is the recognition which one nation allows within its territory to the legislative, executive, or judicial acts of another nation.	What is comity or international comity?
17360	Gilbert v. United States, 165 F.3d 470, 474 (6th Cir. 1999)	6	Drug trafficking is an economic enterprise that substantially affects interstate commerce in numerous ways.	"Drug trafficking is an 'economic enterprise' that substantially affects interstate commerce in numerous ways."	Does possession of illegal drugs impact interstate commerce?

17367	Lambert v. Bunge Corporation, 169 So. 2d 207, 209 (La. Ct. App. 1964)	2	Illness of principal counsel in trial of case is good ground for continuance. LSA-C.C.P. art. 1601.	The cases are numerous in our jurisprudence that illness of principal counsel in the trial of a case is good and sound grounds for a continuance. See LSA-C.C.P. art. 1601.	"Where a defendant swears that his principal counsel is unable to attend, as he is informed and believes, from severe illness, and that he cannot safely go to trial without him, is he entitled to a continuance?"
17378	Rospert v. Old Fort Mills, Inc., 81 Ohio App. 241, 244 (1947)	8	The doctrine of res ipsa loquitur being a rule of evidence, it is not necessary to be pleaded.	'That doctrine [res ipsa loquitur] being a rule of evidence, it is not necessary to be pleaded.'	Should the doctrine of res ipsa loquitur be pleaded?
17396	Fischer v. Fischer, 197 S.W.3d 98, 101 (Ky. 2006)	2	Right to dissolve is inseparably incident to every partnership, and there can be no indissoluble partnership.	The right to dissolve is inseparably incident to every partnership, and there can be no indissoluble partnership.	Is the right to dissolve a partnership an inseparable incident to every partnership?
17401	Trantham v. State Disbursement Unit, 313 Mich. App. 157, 882 N.W.2d 170, 169 (Mich. Ct. App. 2015)	7	Fees charged by a government entity must be reasonably proportionate to the direct and indirect costs of providing the services for which the fee is charged; a fee is presumed reasonable unless it is facially or evidently so wholly out of proportion to the expense involved that it must be held to be a mere guise or subterfuge to obtain the increased revenue.	Fees charged by a government entity must be reasonably proportionate to the direct and indirect costs of providing the services for which the fee is charged. Kircher v. Ypsilanti, 269 Mich.App. 224, 231-232, 712 N.W.2d 738 (2005). A fee is presumed reasonable unless it is facially or evidently so " 'wholly out of proportion to the expense involved' " that it " 'must be held to be a mere guise or subterfuge to obtain the increased revenue.' " Merrelli v.	Is a tax designed to raise revenue?
17407	Johnson v. Village of Libertyville, 146 Ill. App. 3d 834, 496 N.E.2d 1219, 838 (Ill. App. Ct. 1986)	1	Pleader is not required to set out his evidence; only ultimate facts to be proved should be alleged, and not evidentiary facts tending to prove ultimate facts.	A pleader, however, is not required to set out his evidence. Only the ultimate facts to be proved should be alleged, and not the evidentiary facts tending to prove such ultimate facts.	Is a pleader required to set out his evidence?
17408	Rusch v. Cox, 130 Conn. 26, 31-32 (1943)	4	Motions for continuance are within the discretion of the trial court and their denial is not error unless that discretion is abused.	Motions for a continuance are within the discretion of the trial court and their denial is not error unless that discretion is abused.	Will a refusal of continuance on ground of absence of witnesses be an abuse of discretion?
17411	Draper & Kramer, Inc. v. King, 24 N.E.3d 851, 2014 Ill. App. 132073, 867 (Ill. App. Ct. 2014)	24	Under the law, there is a clear preference for disposing of issues based on the merits.	Moreover, under the law, there is a clear preference for disposing of issues based on the merits.	Is there a clear preference for disposing of issues based on the merits?
17420	VLIW Tech., LLC v. Hewlett-Packard Co., 840 A.2d 606, 611 (Del. 2003)	9	Under Delaware's judicial system of notice pleading, a plaintiff need not plead evidence; rather, the plaintiff need only allege facts that, if true, state a claim upon which relief can be granted.	Accordingly, under Delaware's judicial system of notice pleading, a plaintiff need not plead evidence. Rather, the plaintiff need only allege facts that, if true, state a claim upon which relief can be granted.	"In a system of notice pleading, must a plaintiff plead evidence?"

17423	Terry v. Terry, 160 Ind. App. 653, 666 (Ind. Ct. App. 1974)	13	Under proper circumstances, illness of a party litigant is sufficient grounds for a continuance.	It cannot be doubted that under proper circumstances, the illness of a party litigant is sufficient grounds for a continuance.	"Is illness of a party, sufficient ground for a continuance?"
17428	Barcon, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equalization, 845 P.2d 373, 377 (Wyo. 1992)	2	Power to tax is legislative power which includes power to say what shall be taxed, who pays it and what tax shall be.	The power to tax is a legislative power which includes the power to say what shall be taxed, who pays it and what the tax shall be.	"Does the power to tax include power to say who shall be taxed, who shall pay it, and what the tax shall be?"
17429	Newman v. City of Indianola, 232 N.W.2d 568, 573 (Iowa 1975)	5	There is a distinction between a "tax" and an "assessment"; a "tax" is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	There is a distinction between 'taxes' and 'assessments.' A tax is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred	"Is there a distinction between a ""tax"" and an ""assessment""?"
17430	City of Huntington v. Bacon, 196 W. Va. 457, 473 S.E.2d 743, 467 (W. Va. 1996)	16	Essential characteristic of ad valorem tax is that tax is levied according to value of property.	"The essential characteristic of an ad valorem tax, as its name suggests, is that the tax is levied according to the value of the property.	"Is an ""ad valorem tax"" one imposed on property according to its value?"
17438	Continental Sales v. Stookesberry, 170 Colo. 16, 459 P.2d 566, 24 (Colo. 1969)	12	Primary function of complaint is to give notice, and theories of action are no longer significant.	Under the Colorado Rules of Civil Procedure and the great weight of authority in other jurisdictions with similar rules, the primary function of the complaint is to give notice, and theories of action are no longer significant.	Is giving notice the primary purpose of a complaint?
17449	Bader v. Cox, 701 S.W.2d 677, 686 (Tex. App. 1986)	25	Function of a pleading is to define issues at trial, not to state evidence.	The function of a pleading is to define the issues at trial, not to state evidence.	Is defining issues or stating evidence the function of pleading?
17450	Stop & Shop Supermarket Co. v. Cnty. of Bergen, 450 N.J. Super. 286, 291 (App. Div. 2017)	3	Mootness is threshold justiciability determination rooted in notion that judicial power is to be exercised only when party is immediately threatened with harm.	"Mootness is a threshold justiciability determination rooted in the notion that judicial power is to be exercised only when a party is immediately threatened with harm."	Is excluding the testimony of a witness a harsh remedy which should be invoked sparingly?
17477	Davis v. Laster, 130 So. 2d 479, 483 (La. Ct. App. 1961)	2	Payment of royalty under an oil, gas and mineral lease is payment of rent and not payment of a price for oil or gas rights as if they were sold.	The payment of royalty under an oil, gas and mineral lease, as well established in the jurisprudence of this State, is the payment of rent and is not the payment of a price for the oil or gas rights as if they were sold.	Is the payment of royalty the payment of rent?
17487	Oddo Asset Mgmt. v. Barclays Bank PLC, 19 N.Y.3d 584, 593, 973 N.E.2d 735, 741 (2012)	4	A debtor and creditor have no special relationship of confidence and trust, and the relationship is generally controlled by contract.	A debtor and creditor have no special relationship of confidence and trust (see Dobroschi v. Bank of Am., N.A., 65 A.D.3d 882, 884, 886 N.Y.S.2d 106 [1st Dept.2009], lv. dismissed 14 N.Y.3d 785, 899 N.Y.S.2d 117, 925 N.E.2d 919 [2010]) and the relationship is generally controlled by contract.	What controls a creditor debtor relationship?
17502	State v. Daughtry, 340 N.C. 488, 516 (1995)	25	First-degree sexual offense is not specific intent crime; intent to commit crime is inferred from commission of act.	First-degree sexual offense is not a specific-intent crime; the intent to commit the crime "is inferred from the commission of the act."	Is first-degree sexual offense a specific-intent crime?

17509	Newman v. City of Indianola, 232 N.W.2d 568, 573 (Iowa 1975)	5	There is a distinction between a "tax" and an "assessment"; a "tax" is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	There is a distinction between 'taxes' and 'assessments.' A tax is a charge to pay the cost of government without regard to special benefits conferred.	What distinguishes tax from assessment?
17510	Bank of Danielsville v. Seagraves, 167 Ga. App. 135, 305 S.E.2d 790., 140 (Ga. Ct. App. 1983)	2	Assignment of note means transfer of title to instruments so that recipient may bring an action thereon.	Was there an effective assignment of the notes prior to November 1, 1979? Assignment of a note means transfer of the title to the instrument so that the recipient may bring an action thereon.	What is meant by assignment of a note?
17513	In re Estate of Capuzzi, 470 Mich. 399, 402 (2004)	4	A duly authorized agent has the power to act and bind the principal to the same extent as if the principal acted.	It is a longstanding legal principle that a duly authorized agent has the power to act and bind the principal to the same extent as if the principal acted.	Can a duly authorized agent bind his principal?
17524	Unlimited Adjusting Grp., Inc. v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., 174 Cal. App. 4th 883, 890, 94 Cal. Rptr. 3d 672, 676 (2009)	5	The intended payee of a check may negotiate the check by indorsing it and depositing it in his or her bank account.	The intended payee may negotiate a check by indorsing it and depositing it in his or her bank account.	Can a payee negotiate a check by depositing it or transferring it to another person?
17529	Gusma Props., L.P. v. Travelers Lloyds Ins. Co., 514 S.W.3d 319, 323 (Tex. App. 2016)	2	Where an agent misappropriates payments intended for its principal, it is the principal that bears the loss because, after the payment has been made to the agent, the payment is deemed to have been made to the principal.	Texas courts hold that where "an agent misappropriates payments intended for its principal, it is the principal that bears the loss because, after the payment has been made to the agent, the payment is deemed to have been made to the principal."	Does payment to authorized agent constitute payment to principal even if funds are misappropriated?
17545	BE & K Construction Co. v. United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners, 90 F.3d 1318, 1326 (8th Cir. 1996)	7	Agency requires manifestation by principal that agent shall act for him, agent's acceptance of undertaking, and understanding of parties that principal is to be in control of undertaking.	Agency requires "manifestation by the principal that the agent shall act for him, the agent's acceptance of the undertaking and the understanding of the parties that the principal is to be in control of the undertaking."	What are the elements of agency?
17546	In re Richard P., 227 W. Va. 285, 293 (2010)	14	At common law, a parent or legal guardian may transfer medical, educational, and other legal decision-making authority for his or her child or ward to another adult through the execution of a power of attorney, and such instruments are revocable and automatically terminate upon disability or incapacity of the principal.	Although the record is unclear as to whether the Appellants had executed this type of power of attorney, to prevent any future confusion, the Court now clarifies that, at common law, a parent or legal guardian may transfer medical, educational, and other legal decision-making authority for his or her child or ward, to another adult through the execution of a power of attorney. Such instruments are revocable and automatically terminate upon disability or incapacity of the principal.	Does a power of attorney terminate upon the death of the principal?

17547	In re Richard P., 227 W. Va. 285, 293 (2010)	14	At common law, a parent or legal guardian may transfer medical, educational, and other legal decision-making authority for his or her child or ward to another adult through the execution of a power of attorney, and such instruments are revocable and automatically terminate upon disability or incapacity of the principal.	Although the record is unclear as to whether the Appellants had executed this type of power of attorney, to prevent any future confusion, the Court now clarifies that, at common law, a parent or legal guardian may transfer medical, educational, and other legal decision-making authority for his or her child or ward, to another adult through the execution of a power of attorney. Such instruments are revocable and automatically terminate upon disability or incapacity of the principal.	Can a power of attorney grant someone the authority to act as an agent?
17548	Cole v. McWillie, 464 S.W.3d 896, 902 (Tex. App. 2015)	11	An agent's authority to bind his principal terminates upon the principal's death.	Appellees' argument likens a principal's incapacity to a principal's death; the law is clear that an agent's authority to bind his principal terminates upon the principal's death.	Does an agents authority terminate upon the principals death?
17549	Eugene Theatre Co. v. City of Eugene, 194 Or. 603, 637 (Or. 1952)	20	An "excise tax" is something cut off from the price paid on a sale of goods as a contribution to the support of the government.	While the distinction sometimes is not recognized and inexact expressions regard the two as synonymous, an excise tax is in its proper sense 'something cut off from the price paid on a sale of goods as a contribution to the support of the government.	What is an excise tax?
17556	Brenny v. Bd. of Regents of the Univ. of Minn., 813 N.W.2d 417, 279 Ed. Law Rep. 1209, 420 (Minn. Ct. App. 2012)	1	University of Minnesota is a legal entity within the State of Minnesota; the university has autonomous status as a constitutional corporation.	The University of Minnesota is a legal entity within the State of Minnesota. The university has "autonomous status" as *421 a "constitutional corporation."	Is a university a constitutional corporation?
17561	Nuzum v. Spriggs, 357 Pa. 531, 534 (Pa. 1947)	3	Where agent has authority to exercise discretion, his exercise thereof will bind principal.	"Where the agent has authority to exercise discretion his exercise thereof will bind the principal." Cardon's Estate, 278 Pa.	"When an agent has authority to exercise discretion, will his exercise bind the principal?"
17568	Appling v. Stuck, 164 N.W.2d 810, 812 (Iowa 1969)	1	A pleading must present a legally justiciable issue; a deficiency will not be supplied by the court.	What these rules mean is that a pleading must present a legally justiciable issue. A deficiency will not be supplied by the court.	Will a deficiency in the pleadings be supplied by the court?
17571	Laurie v. Ezard, 595 S.W.2d 336, 338 (Mo. Ct. App. 1980)	5	Whether case is prosecuted diligently must be decided on case-by-case basis.	Whether a case is prosecuted diligently must be decided on a case by case basis.	"Is a case that is prosecuted diligently, decided on case-by-case basis?"
17575	Berg v. State Board of Agriculture, 919 P.2d 254, 259 (Colo. 1996)	4	Equitable estoppel, because it is based on misrepresentation of facts, is fundamentally tort theory.	Equitable estoppel, because it is based on the misrepresentation of facts, is fundamentally a tort theory.	Is equitable estoppel fundamentally a tort theory?
17576	Lampton v. LaHood, 94 Md. App. 461, 476 (Md. Ct. Spec. App. 1993)	5	All that is needed to create equitable estoppel is: voluntary conduct or representation, reliance, and detriment.	Indeed, all that is needed to create an equitable estoppel is (1) voluntary conduct or representation, (2) reliance, and (3) detriment.	What is needed to create an equitable estoppel?

17588	In re King Memorial Hospital, Inc., 19 B.R. 885, 891 (S.D. Fla. 1982)	3	Estoppel means nothing more than application of rules of fair play.	Estoppel means nothing more than the application of the rules of fair play	Does estoppel mean nothing more than the application of fair play?
17589	Sun Oil Co., 626 S.W.2d 726, 734 (Tex. 1982)	8	Estoppel is a defensive theory and does not create a contract right that does not otherwise exist.	Estoppel, however, is a defensive theory. It does not create a contract right that does not otherwise exist.	Does estoppel create a contract that does not otherwise exist?
17591	Board of County Comm'rs v. DeLozier, 917 P.2d 714, 716 (Colo. 1996)	5	While doctrine of promissory estoppel is applicable to promises, doctrine of equitable estoppel is applicable to misstatements of fact.	The doctrine of promissory estoppel should not be confused with the doctrine of equitable estoppel. While the doctrine of promissory estoppel is applicable to promises, the doctrine of equitable estoppel is applicable to misstatements of fact.	Is equitable estoppel applicable to misstatements of fact?
17593	Allin, Ins. Com., v. Motorists' Alliance of A., Inc., 234 Ky. 714, 29 S.W.2d 19, 723 (Ky. Ct. App. 1930)	2	One cannot change nature of insurance business by declaring in contract that it is not insurance.	No one can change the nature of insurance business by declaring in the contract that it is not insurance.	Will the nature of insurance business change if it is expressly declared in the contract that it is not insurance?
17601	Edgar County Bk. T. Co. v. Paris Hospital, 57 Ill. 2d 298, 312 N.E.2d 259, 302 (Ill. 1974)	2	The dismissal of one defendant, with prejudice, does not bar an action against other defendants who might be held jointly or severally liable.	Although this court has not previously considered the question, the appellate court has held that the dismissal of one defendant, with prejudice, does not bar an action against other defendants who might be held jointly or severally liable	"Once having dismissed an action, does the trial court have no jurisdiction to grant affirmative relief to the parties based on their subsequent petitions for affirmative relief?"
17602	Watson v. Gen. Motors Corp., 479 S.W.2d 104, 106 (Tex. Civ. App. 1972)	1	Until interlocutory judgment of dismissal is set aside, it is valid and binding.	Until an interlocutory judgment is set aside, it is valid and binding.	"Until interlocutory judgment of dismissal is set aside, is it valid and binding?"
17603	Frasier v. Palmetto Homes of Florence, Inc., 323 S.C. 240, 245 (1996)	12	Agency may not be established solely by declarations and conduct of alleged agent.	Moreover, an agency may not be established solely by the declarations and conduct of an alleged agent.	Can an agency be established solely by the declarations of an agent?
17605	Desai v. ADT Security Systems, Inc., 78 F. Supp. 3d 896, 903 (N.D. Ill. 2015)	2	Under Colorado law, an "agent" is generally one who acts for, or in place of, another i.e., the principal, or is entrusted with the business of another.	Under Colorado law, "[a]n 'agent' is generally one who acts for, or in place of, another [i.e., the principal], or is entrusted with the business of another."	Who is an agent?
17613	Fiandaca v. Niehaus, 570 S.W.2d 714, 716 (Mo. Ct. App. 1978)	8	Only if affirmative defense is irrefutably established by petition can petition be dismissed on such ground.	Only if an affirmative defense is irrefutably established by the plaintiff's petition can a petition be dismissed on that ground.	Can a petition be dismissed only if affirmative defense is irrefutably established by petition?
17614	Carver v. Morrow et al, 213 S.C. 199, 48 S.E.2d 814, 204 (S.C. 1948)	10	Authorized acts of agents are acts of principal, and agent's exercise of authority is an execution of principal's continuing will.	The reason for this rule is that the authorized acts of the agent are in their nature the acts of the principal, and by legal fiction the agent's exercise of authority is regarded as an execution of the principal's continuing will.	Is an agents exercise of authority regarded as execution of the principals continuing will?
17615	Carver v. Morrow et al, 213 S.C. 199, 48 S.E.2d 814, 204 (S.C. 1948)	9	Generally, when not coupled with an interest, agency terminates on death of principal.	Generally, where not coupled with an interest, the agency terminates upon the death of the principal.	Does an agency terminate upon the death of the principal when not coupled with an interest?

17616	First Jackson Sec. v. B.F. Goodrich Co., 253 Miss. 519, 176 So. 2d 272, 532 (Miss. 1965)	4	"Agent" is one who stands in shoes of his principal, and his principal's alter ego; word "employee" is not synonymous with "agent".	Ferguson was an employee of appellant, but the word 'employee' is not synonymous with the word 'agent', because an agent is one who stands in the shoes of his principal; he is his principal's alter ego. In 2 C.J.S.	Is employee synonymous with agent?
17617	Chou v. University of Chicago, 254 F.3d 1347, 1362 (Fed. Cir. 2001)	18	A fiduciary duty in Illinois may arise in one of two ways: it automatically arises from particular relationships, such as attorney-client and principal-agent, as a matter of law; and it may also arise from the special circumstances of the parties' relationship, such as when one party justifiably places trust in another so that the latter gains superiority and influence over the former.	A fiduciary duty in Illinois may arise in one of two ways. A fiduciary relationship automatically arises from particular relationships, such as attorney-client and principal-agent, as a matter of law. A fiduciary relationship may also arise from the special circumstances of the parties' relationship, such as when one party justifiably places trust in another so that the latter gains superiority and influence over the former.	Can a fiduciary relationship arise from attorney-client relationships?
17623	Syracuse Rur. Fire Dist. v. Pletan, 254 Neb. 393, 394 (1998)	5	"Franchise" is property or a vested right, protected by the Constitution that, if accepted and acted on, does create a contract.	A franchise is property or a vested right, protected by the U.S. Constitution that, if accepted and acted on, does create a contract.	Is a franchise a vested right?
17628	Capelle v. Makowski, 93 Misc. 2d 436, 447, 402 N.Y.S.2d 904, 912 (Sup. Ct. 1977), aff'd, 62 A.D.2d 1167, 404 N.Y.S.2d 473 (1978)	17	Fact that tax is more burdensome to some than others will not invalidate tax which legislature has determined to be necessary, nor will the fact that the tax imposed is a regressive one.	The fact that it is more burdensome to some than to others will not invalidate a tax which the legislature has determined necessary, nor will the fact that the tax imposed is a regressive one.	"What is a ""regressive tax""?"
17630	Xerox Corp. v. Cnty. of Orange, 66 Cal. App. 3d 746, 756, 136 Cal. Rptr. 583, 589 (Ct. App. 1977)	8	Sales tax law imposes a tax at a fixed rate upon the gross receipts and not on the individual sales, and fact that law authorizes a bookkeeping method to compute the amount of tax separately from the sales price does not change the character of the tax. West's Ann.Rev. & Tax.Code, S 6051.	The law imposes a tax at a fixed rate upon the gross receipts and not on the individual sales, and the fact that the law authorizes a bookkeeping method to compute the amount of the tax separately from the sales price does not change the character of the tax.	Does the sales tax law imposes a tax at a fixed rate upon the gross receipts?
17638	Am. Ins. Co. v. Saulnier, 242 F. Supp. 257, 261 (D. Conn. 1965)	7	Function of policy is to divide economic duty to make reparation to injured party, not to keep the peace.	The function of an insurance policy is not to keep the peace— it is to divide the economic duty to make reparation to the injured party.	What is the function of an insurance policy offered by an insurance company?
17640	Barragan v. Banco BCH, 188 Cal. App. 3d 283, 299, 232 Cal. Rptr. 758, 767 (Ct. App. 1986)	17	Motion to dismiss may be substituted for demurrer as first pleading, and if denied, it is treated as demurrer overruled without leave to amend.	A motion to dismiss may be substituted for a demurrer as the first pleading. If denied, it is treated as a demurrer overruled without leave to amend.	Can a motion to dismiss be substituted for demurrer as a first pleading?

17643	Hampton v. Marvin, 105 N.H. 34, 35 (1963)	1	Power of taxation is attribute of sovereignty belonging to people and, under Constitution, is vested in Legislature. Const. pt. 2, art. 2.	The law is well established in this state that the power of taxation is an attribute of sovereignty belonging to the people which under our constitution is vested in the legislature. Const. Pt. II, Art.	Is the power of taxation vested in the legislature?
17648	Hahn v. Oregon Physicians Service, 689 F.2d 840, 842 (9th Cir. 1982)	3	Insurance is a contractual relationship which exists when an insurer, for consideration, agrees to reimburse an insured for loss cause by designated contingencies; the underwriting and subsequent spreading of the policyholder's risk is the primary element of the insurance contract.	The insurance contract involves a contractual relationship which exists when an insurer, for consideration, agrees to reimburse an insured for loss caused by designated contingencies. This underwriting and subsequent spreading of the policyholder's risk is the primary element of the insurance contract and is, therefore, the "business of insurance."	What are the primary elements of an insurance contract?
17655	State of Ohio v. Eubank, 295 Mich. 230, 234 (1940)	5	In case of a note, place of contracting is where note is first delivered for value.	In the case of a promissory note, the place of contracting is where the note is first delivered for value.	Is the place where the note is first delivered for value the place of contracting?
17657	Adams v. United States, 117 Fed.Cl. 628, 671 (Fed.Cl., 2014)	7	Interpretive doubt regarding the reading of a statute pertaining to veterans is to be resolved in the veteran's favor.	The court also notes that "interpretive doubt" regarding the reading of a statute pertaining to veterans "is to be resolved in the veteran's favor."	Are statutes pertaining veterans to be construed in the veterans' favor?
17661	Comm'r v. Estate of Sanders, 834 F.3d 1269, 1279 (11th Cir. 2016)	8	While a person may have only one domicile at a time, a person may have multiple residences simultaneously.	Additionally, while a person may have only one domicile at a time, cases have recognized the possibility that one person may have multiple residences simultaneously.	"Can an individual have multiple residences, but only one domicile as a basis for personal jurisdiction?"
17662	In re Murrin, 461 B.R. 763, 783 (D. Minn. 2012)	17	"Domicile" and "residence" are not synonymous; person can reside in one place while being domiciled in a different place.	Domicile and residence are not synonymous terms; a person can reside in one place while being domiciled in a different place.	Can a person reside in one place while being domiciled in a different place?
17664	Hedged Inv. Partners v. Norwest Bank Minnesota, N.A., 578 N.W.2d 765, 772 (Minn. Ct. App. 1998)	5	Course-of-conduct waiver is based on the theory of estoppel and requires detrimental reliance.	A course-of-conduct *772 waiver is based on the theory of estoppel and requires detrimental reliance.	Is course-of-conduct waiver based on the theory of estoppel?
17665	In re Farley, Inc., 237 B.R. 702, 722 (N.D. Ill. 1999)	24	Under Ohio law, there can be no liability upon part of guarantor if there is no valid obligation against principal debtor.	Under Ohio law, "there can be no liability upon the part of a guarantor if there is no valid obligation against the principal debtor." Banana Sales Corp.	Is a guarantor liable to pay a debt which a principal debtor is not bound to pay?
17669	Brown v. Mutual of New York Life Ins. Co., 213 F. Supp. 2d 667, 669 (Dist. Court, SD Mississippi 2002)	3	Domicile, more than where the party resides, is the place a person calls home; thus, when determining a party's domicile, a court looks to such factors as where the person resides, where he works, goes to school, pays his taxes, is registered to vote, the place of his drivers license, and location of family, among others.	"Domicile is, however, more than where the party resides-it is the place a person calls home. Thus, when determining a party's domicile, a court looks to such factors as where the person resides, where he works, goes to school, pays his taxes, is registered to vote, the place of his drivers license, and location of family," among others.	"Is a domicile, more than where the party resides, the place a person calls home?"

17673	Midway Motor Lodge v. Hartford Ins. Group, 226 Wis. 2d 23, 35-37 (Wis. Ct. App. 1999)	10	Ad damnum clause is not a substantive part of the complaint; it is nothing more than an "asking price."	Similarly, a demand in the ad damnum clause for "incidental and consequential damages suffered as a result of Hunzinger's negligence" is unsatisfactory because the ad damnum clause is not a *36 substantive part of the complaint, see John v. John, 153 Wis.2d 343, 367, 450 N.W.2d 795, 806 (Ct.App.1989); it is nothing more than an "asking price," see Affett v. Milwaukee & Suburban Transp. Corp., 11 Wis.2d 604, 614, 106 N.W.2d 274, 280 (1960).	Is the ad damnum clause a substantive part of the complaint?
17676	CRDA v. CITY OF ATLANTIC CITY, 18 N.J. Tax 463, 477 (Tax 1999)	9	Tax exemptions in favor of governmental agencies should be liberally construed.	As a general background matter, it should be kept in mind that "[tax] exemptions in favor of governmental agencies should be liberally construed."	How should the tax exemptions in favor of governmental agencies be construed?
17691	Sturbridge Builders v. Downing Seaport, 890 A.2d 58, 65 (R.I. 2005)	14	Waiver is the voluntary, intentional relinquishment of a known right; it results from action or nonaction.	"[W]aiver is the voluntary, intentional relinquishment of a known right. It results from action or nonaction.	Does waiver result from action or nonaction?
17693	Frunzar v. Allied Property and Cas. Ins. Co., 548 N.W.2d 880, 888 (Iowa 1996)	15	Professional statements of litigant's attorney are treated as affidavits, and attorney making statement may be cross-examined regarding substance of statement.	Under Iowa law, professional statements are treated as affidavits and the attorney making the statement may be cross-examined regarding the substance of the statement.	Do professional statements have the effect of an affidavit?
17694	Lackawanna v. St. Louis County, 497 F.3d 832, 836 (8th Cir. 2007)	2	In the absence of a formal agreement, an indefinite bailment arises under Missouri law from the relationship between a lender and a museum and is terminable at will.	In the absence of a formal agreement, the indefinite bailment arises from the relationship between a lender and a museum and is terminable at will.	Is a formal agreement required for a bailment?
17697	United States v. Neelly, 207 F.2d 281, 284 (7th Cir. 1953)	3	Burden of proof in establishing alienage in deportation proceedings is on the government.	The burden of proof in establishing alienage in deportation proceedings is of course on the government.	Who bears the burden of proof in establishing alienage in deportation proceedings?
17699	Stiles v. Clifton Springs Sanitarium Co., 74 F. Supp. 907, 909 (W.D.N.Y. 1947)	2	At common law, suicide was a crime and consequence was forfeiture of property of offender.	At common law suicide was a crime and the consequence was the forfeiture of the property of the offender.	Is the forfeiture of the offenders property a consequence of suicide?
17705	Costanzo v. Costanzo, 248 N.J. Super. 116, 590 A.2d 268, 121 (Law Div. 1991)	3	Any "specific thing," debt, or chose in action may be subject of assignment, but that which is not in existence or cannot be identified cannot be assigned.	Any "specific thing," debt or chose in action may be the subject of an assignment. 6 Am.Jur.2d 1. Obviously, that which is not in existence or cannot be identified cannot be assigned.	Can any specific thing be assigned to effectuate a legal assignmen?
17718	Waldor Realty Corp. v. Town Clerk of Bellingham, 350 Mass. 669, 671, 216 N.E.2d 453, 454 (1966)	2	Averments of crucial facts in pleading should be clear, direct and unequivocal.	Averments of crucial facts in a pleading should be clear, direct, and unequivocal.	Should averments of crucial facts in a pleading be direct and unequivocal?

17720	American Express v. First Continental Bank, 579 F. Supp. 1305, 1309 (W.D. Mo. 1984)	1	Under Kansas law, surety bond is treated as contract for insurance, and bond is subject to same rules of construction that apply to insurance contracts.	Under Kansas law a surety bond is treated as a contract for insurance. The bond is subject to the same rules of construction that apply to insurance contracts.	Are surety bonds considered as insurance policy?
17724	Lower Nueces River Water Supply Dist. v. Live Oak County, 312 S.W.2d 696, 701 (Tex. Civ. App. 1958)	5	Roads and bridges of state, although constructed by county, are property of state and not county.	Roads and bridges of the State, although constructed by a County, are property of the State and not the County.	Are the roads and bridges of the State constructed by a County the property of the State?
17725	Appeal of News Pub. Co., 12 Kan. App. 2d 328, 332, (Kan.App., 1987)	3	Entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute; legislature is empowered to provide means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matter of taxation.	The entire matter of taxation is legislative and does not exist apart from statute. The legislature is empowered to provide the means and agencies for carrying out its responsibilities in matters of taxation.	Does the entire matter of taxation exist apart from statute?
17726	Procella v. Beto, 319 F. Supp. 662, 672 (S.D. Tex. 1970)	7	In Texas, as a general rule, affidavits which are notarized by counsel offering them into evidence are void.	In Texas, as a general rule, affidavits which are notarized by the counsel offering them into evidence are void.	Are affidavits which are notarized by the counsel void?
17728	Metmor Financial, Inc. v. Landoll Corp., 976 S.W.2d 454, 461 (Mo. Ct. App. 1998)	9	Subrogation compels ultimate payment of debt by one who, in justice, equity and good conscience, should pay it.	"Subrogation compels the ultimate payment of a debt by one who, in justice, equity and good conscience, should pay it." Id.	What does equitable subrogation compel?
17730	Schmidt v. Cal-Dive Int'l, Inc., 240 F. Supp. 3d 532, 542 (W.D. La. 2017)	6	In Louisiana, defamatory words are divided into two categories: those that are defamatory per se and those that are susceptible of a defamatory meaning.	In Louisiana, defamatory words have traditionally been divided into two categories: those that are defamatory per se and those that are susceptible of a defamatory meaning.	What are the two categories of defamatory words?
17737	In re Investigation into Injury of Brooks, 143 N.C. App. 601, 604 (2001)	2	If, during the course of litigation, an action becomes moot, it should usually be dismissed.	It is axiomatic that if, during the course of litigation, an action becomes moot, it should usually be dismissed.	Should an action be dismissed if during the course of litigation it becomes moot?
17740	Care Grp. Heart Hosp. v. Sawyer, 80 N.E.3d 190, 206 (Ind. App. 2017)	26	Purpose of the discovery rules is to allow for minimal trial court involvement and to promote liberal discovery.	We are, as ever, mindful that "[t]he purpose of the discovery rules is to allow for minimal trial court involvement and to promote liberal discovery."	What is the purpose of discovery rules?
17741	Rayonier, Incorporated v. Polson, 400 F.2d 909, 919 (9th Cir. 1968)	22	Under Washington law, standing timber owned by owner of real property on which it is growing is regarded as real property.	In Washington, standing timber owned by the owner of the real property upon which it is growing has always been regarded as real property.'	Is standing timber real property?
17743	Oxford Health Plans LLC v. Sutter, 133 S. Ct. 2064, 2066 (2013)	1	Class arbitration is matter of consent: arbitrator may employ class procedures only if parties have authorized them.	[1] Class arbitration is a matter of consent: An arbitrator may employ class procedures only if the parties have authorized them.	Is class arbitration a matter of consent?
17744	Ga. Cas. & Sur. Co. v. Woodcraft by MacDonald, Inc., 315 Ga. App. 331, 726 S.E.2d 793, 796 (2012)	1	The right of subrogation can arise from either equity, contract, which is referred to as "conventional subrogation," or statute.	"The right of subrogation can arise from either equity, contract, which is referred to as 'conventional subrogation,' or 797 statute."	Can the right of subrogation arise from contract?

17753	Osterman v. Baber, 714 N.E.2d 735, 738 (Ind. Ct. App. 1999)	5	Equitable subrogation is a highly favored doctrine, which is to be given a liberal application.	Equitable subrogation is " 'a highly favored doctrine, which is to be given a liberal application.' " Nally, 820 N.E.2d at 652 (quoting Osterman v.	Is subrogation a highly favored doctrine that demands liberal application?
17756	First Bank Trust v. Novak, 12 Kan. App. 2d 407, 407 (Kan. Ct. App. 1987)	3	Restriction against assignment is restraint on alienation, and as such it is strictly construed against party urging restriction.	A restriction against assignment is a restraint on alienation, and as such it is strictly construed against the party urging the restriction.	Are restrictions on assignments strictly construed?
17757	SCA Services, Inc. v. Transportation Insurance, 419 Mass. 528, 532 (1995)	8	Basic purpose of insurance is to protect against fortuitous events and not against known certainties; parties wager against occurrence or nonoccurrence of specified event, and carrier insures against risk, not certainty.	Stated differently, the basic purpose of insurance is to protect against fortuitous events and not against known certainties. Parties wager against the occurrence or nonoccurrence of a specified event; the carrier insures against a risk, not a certainty.	Does insurance provide protection against known certainties?
17759	DeCespedes v. Prudence Mut. Cas. Co., 193 So. 2d 224, 227 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1967)	12	An assignment generally refers to or connotes a voluntary act of transferring an interest.	By contrast, an assignment generally refers to or connotes a voluntary act of Transferring an interest.	Will an assignment which is the transfer of an interest be voluntary in nature?
17762	State v. Dunbar, 361 S.C. 240, 247 (Ct. App. 2004)	6	An affidavit differs from an oath in that an "affidavit" consists of statements of fact which is sworn to as the truth, while an "oath" is a pledge.	"An affidavit is a voluntary ex parte statement reduced to writing and sworn to or affirmed before some person legally authorized to administer an oath or affirmation ... It differs from an oath in that an affidavit consists of statements of fact which is sworn to as the truth, while an oath is a pledge...."	Is there any difference between an affidavit and an oath?
17764	Zinner v. Louis Meyers & Son, 181 Misc. 344, 344-45, 43 N.Y.S.2d 319, 320 (Sup. Ct. 1943)	4	A "deposition" is testimony given under oath, pursuant to notice, upon oral or written interrogatories, and with opportunity for cross-examination.	An affidavit is an exparte statement, made without notice, and with no opportunity for cross-examination; a deposition is testimony given under oath, pursuant to notice, upon oral or *345 written interrogatories, and with opportunity for cross-examination.	Can an affidavit be subjected to cross examination?
17765	Grieve v. Mullaly, 211 Cal. 77, 79, 293 P. 619, 620 (1930)	3	An offer to contract is purely personal to offeree, and not assignable.	It is equally elementary that an offer to contract is not assignable; it being purely personal to the offeree.	"Is an offer to contract purely personal to offeree, and not assignable?"
17769	Business Loan Center v. Nischal, 331 F. Supp. 2d 301, 310 (D.N.J. 2004)	24	Title to real estate is governed by laws of place where it is situated.	"Courts and jurists everywhere agree that the title to real estate is governed by the laws of the place where it is situated."	Which law governs the title to real estate?
17772	Greenwood v. Compucredit Corp., 615 F.3d 1204, 1208 (9th Cir. 2010)	6	The act of suing in a court of law is distinctly different from arbitration.	The statute does not provide a right to "some form of dispute resolution," but instead specifies the "right to sue." The act of suing in a court of law is distinctly different from arbitration.	Is the act of suing in a court of law the same as arbitration?
17776	Prime Prod. v. S.S.I. Plastics, 97 S.W.3d 631, 637 (Tex. App. 2002)	20	Bailment generally does not create formal, fiduciary relationship between bailee and bailor.	A bailment generally does not create a formal, fiduciary relationship between bailee and bailor.	Is the relationship between a bailor and a bailee a fiduciary relationship?

17777	McAdams v. McAdams, 267 So. 2d 908, 910 (La. Ct. App. 1972)	4	Judgment of separation dissolves community and vests each of parties with an undivided one-half interest therein.	Of course, the judgment of separation dissolved the community and vested each of the parties with an undivided one half interest therein.	Does the community property dissolve after separation?
17779	McConico v. Alabama Dept. of Corrections, 893 So. 2d 577, 579 (Ala. Crim. App. 2004)	2	The Board of Pardons and Paroles is a legislative agency, rather than an administrative agency.	However, as both this Court and the Court of Civil Appeals have recognized, the Board of Pardons and Paroles is a legislative agency, rather than an administrative agency.	Is Board of Pardons and Paroles an administrative agency?
17780	Nissan North America, Inc. v. Haislip, 155 S.W.3d 104, 108 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2004)	9	The type of bailment which constitutes a loan is a bailment for the sole benefit of the bailee; it is an uncompensated lending in which the bailee is the sole beneficiary.	By contrast, the type of bailment which constitutes a "loan" is a bailment for the sole benefit of the bailee. Id. 18. It is an uncompensated lending in which the bailee is the sole beneficiary. Id. A loan is a "bailment without reward." Black's Law Dictionary 844 (5th ed.1979).	Is a loan a form of bailment?
17782	Ten Broeck Dupont, Inc. v. Brooks, 283 S.W.3d 705, 733 (Ky. 2009)	33	Negligence and assault and battery claims are mutually exclusive.	In fact, "[i]t is well settled that negligence and assault and battery claims are mutually exclusive."	Are negligence and assault and battery claims mutually exclusive?
17790	Pace v. Pace, 160 S.W.3d 706, 715 (Tex. App. 2005)	23	Proceeds from the sale of separate property are the separate property of the spouse whose property was sold.	But proceeds from the sale of separate property are the separate property of the spouse whose property was sold.	Are proceeds from the sale of a spouses separate property considered as separate property?
17799	Cortiza v. Rosenblat, 291 So. 2d 425, 428 (La. Ct. App. 1974)	5	A partnership is a separate legal entity from its partners and has the procedural capacity to be sued in its own name. LSA-C.C.P. art. 737.	A partnership is a separate legal entity from its partners and has the procedural capacity to be sued in its own name.	Can a partnership be sued in its own name?
17801	Okanogan Highlands Alliance v. Williams, 236 F.3d 468, 479 (9th Cir. 2000)	10	Federal agencies owe fiduciary responsibility to Native American tribes.	Federal agencies owe a fiduciary responsibility to Native American tribes.	Do federal agencies hold a fiduciary relationship with Indian tribes?
17803	Hall v. Luby Corp., 232 N.J. Super. 337, 346 (1989)	6	Term "fixture" and phrase "improvement to real property" are not synonymous; a fixture by definition is an improvement to real property, but an improvement to real property need not be a fixture.	While analogizing to fixture law is helpful in construing the statutory provision, the term "fixture" and the phrase "improvement to real property" are not synonymous: a fixture, by definition, is an improvement to real property, but an improvement to real property need not be a fixture.	Are fixtures real property?
17809	Durden v. State, 250 Ga. 325, 328 (Ga. 1982)	7	Physical injury is not required for criminal responsibility for homicide.	We hold that a physical injury is not required for criminal responsibility for homicide.	Is physical injury required for criminal responsibility for homicide?
17813	Hendrick v. Caldwell, 232 F. Supp. 3d 868, 879 (W.D. Va. 2017)	12	A "cause of action" is the set of operative facts which, under the substantive law, gives rise to a right of action.	"[A] cause of action is a set of operative facts which, under the substantive law, may give rise to a right of action."	What is a cause of action?
17818	Brown v. Collins, 402 F.2d 209, 213 (D.C. Cir. 1968)	10	Statement to be privileged as communication preliminary to a judicial proceeding must be made in character of a litigant.	A statement to be privileged as a communication preliminary to a judicial proceeding must be made 'in character' of a litigant.	What is a privileged communication?

17822	Harris Cty. Flood Control Dist. v. Kerr, 445 S.W.3d 242, 258 (Tex. App. 2013)	29	Proximate cause is an essential element of a takings case; without causation, there is no taking.	Proximate cause is an essential element of a takings case. "[W]ithout causation, there is no 'taking.' "	Is proximate cause an essential element in takings claim?
17824	Pittsburgh v. Pa. P.U.C., 165 Pa. Super. 519, 69 A.2d 844, 528 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1949)	4	The property of a public utility is private property, but it is also property devoted to public service and is impressed with a public interest.	The property of a public utility is still private property, but it is property devoted to the public service and impressed with a public interest.	Is property of a public utility still private property?
17828	State v. Rumble, 680 S.W.2d 939, 941 (Mo. 1984)	1	At common law, a homicide was either murder or manslaughter.	We initially observe that "at common law, a homicide was either murder or manslaughter"	Was homicide considered as either manslaughter or murder at common law?
17833	Dieden v. Schmidt, 104 Cal. App. 4th 645, 654, 128 Cal. Rptr. 2d 365, 371 (2002)	16	Doctrine of equitable subrogation invokes court's equitable jurisdiction.	As its name suggests, the doctrine of equitable subrogation invokes the court's equitable jurisdiction.	Does the doctrine of equitable subrogation invoke a trial court's equitable jurisdiction?
17837	Chamber of Commerce of U.S. v. Nat'l Labor Relations Bd., 879 F. Supp. 2d 18, 27 (D.D.C. 2012)	7	Abstaining voter is counted in determining presence of a quorum.	Indeed, it is axiomatic that "[a]n abstaining voter ... is counted in determining the presence of a quorum."	Is an abstaining voter counted when determining the presence of a quorum?
17838	McKeel v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 722 F.2d 582, 588 (9th Cir. 1983)	12	United States embassies are not within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States.	Thus, United States embassies are not within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States.	Are United States embassies within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States?
17841	Alexander v. State, 126 Tex. Crim. 625, 629 (Tex. Crim. App. 1934)	1	Incest is offense against society in which both parties ordinarily engage with same intent and purpose as principals.	Incest is an offense against society in which both parties ordinarily engage with the same intent and purpose; hence both parties to the offense are principals and equally guilty.	Is incest an offense against society?
17850	Bochenek v. Walgreen Co., (N.D.Ind. 1998), 18 F. Supp. 2d 965, 971 (N.D. Ind. 1998)	10	Under Indiana law, if a communication is defamatory per se, damages need not be specially pleaded or proved, and malice will be implied.	If a communication is defamatory per se, damages need not be specially pleaded or proved, and malice will be implied.	When is malice implied in an action for defamation?
17857	Union Planters Bank, N.A. v. FT Mortgage Co., 341 Ill. App. 3d 921, 794 N.E.2d 360, 925 (Ill. App. Ct. 2003)	6	There are two types of subrogation: (1) contractual or conventional rights, and (2) common law or equitable rights.	There are two types of subrogation - contractual or conventional rights and common law or equitable rights.	Are the two types of subrogation conventional and equitable?
17858	Bel Air & Briney v. City of Kent, 190 Wash. App. 166, 358 P.3d 1249, 190 Wn. App. 166, 173 (Wash. Ct. App. 2015)	1	Subrogation is an equitable remedy, and is founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	Subrogation is " 'an equitable remedy,' " and is " 'founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.' "	Does equitable subrogation depend on the facts and circumstances of each case?
17859	Cont'l Cas. Co. v. Ryan Inc. E., 974 So. 2d 368, 376 (Fla. 2008)	18	Equitable (sometimes referred to as legal) subrogation arises by operation of law.	Unlike conventional subrogation, which is created by an express agreement, equitable (sometimes referred to as legal) subrogation arises by operation of law.	Does subrogation arise by operation of law or agreement?
17860	In re North American Rubber Thread Co., Inc., 333 B.R. 164, 168 (D. Mass. 2005)	7	Doctrine of equitable subrogation is available when there is no express subrogation agreement.	The doctrine of equitable subrogation is available where there is not an express subrogation agreement	Is the doctrine of equitable subrogation available when there is no express subrogation agreement?

17861	Dieden v. Schmidt, 104 Cal. App. 4th 645, 654, 128 Cal. Rptr. 2d 365, 371 (2002)	16	Doctrine of equitable subrogation invokes court's equitable jurisdiction.	As its name suggests, the doctrine of equitable subrogation invokes the court's equitable jurisdiction.	Does the Doctrine of equitable subrogation invoke a court's equitable jurisdiction?
17868	Others First, Inc. v. Better Bus. Bureau of Greater St. Louis, Inc., 829 F.3d 576, 582 (8th Cir. 2016)	16	Alleging a conflict of interest is not defamatory under Missouri law unless it implies undisclosed defamatory facts.	Alleging a conflict of interest is not defamatory unless it implies undisclosed defamatory facts.	Are allegations of conflict of interests defamatory?
17869	Harris v. Walette, 538 So. 2d 728, 732 (La. Ct. App. 1989)	5	Whether parties have used the word "partnership" is immaterial in determining whether their enterprise is a partnership.	Whether the parties have used the word "partnership" is immaterial in determining whether their enterprise is a partnership.	"If the parties do not use the words partners or partnership, will that affect the existence of the partnership?"
17871	In re Funneman, 155 B.R. 197, 200 (S.D. Ill. 1993)	4	Under Illinois law, partners' rights in partnership property are secondary to rights of partnership creditors; until creditors of partnership are satisfied, no partner has right to any distribution from partnership.	Moreover, partners' rights in partnership property are secondary to the rights of partnership creditors. " 'Until the creditors of the partnership are satisfied, each partner has no right to any distribution from the partnership.' "	Are partners rights in partnership property secondary to the rights of partnership creditors?
17872	McGurren v. City of Fargo, 66 N.W.2d 207, 210 (N.D. 1954)	2	A demurrer does not admit inferences and conclusions unless they appear clearly drawn from the facts alleged.	[2] A demurrer however, does not admit inferences and conclusions unless they appear clearly drawn from the facts alleged.	Does a demurrer admit the inferences or conclusions from the facts alleged in the complaint?
17874	Jakobsen v. Colonial Pipeline Company, 237 Ga. App. 441, 446 (1999)	15	Trial court can modify a ruling on a motion in limine.	However, "a trial court can modify a ruling on a motion in limine." Helton v.	Can a trial court modify a ruling on a motion in limine?
17875	Bifano v. Young, 665 S.W.2d 536, 541 (Tex.App. 13 Dist.,1983)	13	Granting of a motion in limine is not a final ruling on the evidence.	The granting of a motion in limine by the trial court is not a final ruling on the evidence.	Is the granting of a motion in limine not a final ruling on the evidence?
17876	Fed. Ins. Co. v. Hartford Steam Boiler Inspec, 415 F.3d 487, 494 (6th Cir. 2005)	2	Equitable subrogation is a flexible, elastic doctrine of equity.	Equitable subrogation is a "flexible, elastic doctrine of equity."	"Is equitable subrogation a flexible, elastic doctrine of equity, whose application should and must proceed on case-by-case analysis characteristic of equity jurisprudence?"
17877	In re Cone Constructors, Inc., 265 B.R. 302, 309 (Fla. 2001)	4	Under Florida law, surety is entitled to right of equitable subrogation with respect to any contract funds owed by owner of project, where contractor has defaulted on public construction project, and surety has performed its obligations under bond.	Based on the authorities discussed above, the Court finds that a surety is entitled to a right of equitable subrogation with respect to any contract funds owed by the owner of a project, where a debtor/contractor has defaulted on a public construction project, and the surety has performed its obligations under a bond.	Is a surety that satisfies its obligations under payment or performance bond subrogated to rights of party that he paid?

17878	Vang Chanthavong v. Aurora Loan Servs., Inc., 448 B.R. 789, 797 (E.D. Cal. 2011)	13	Under California law, a claim accrues when an action could have been brought.	A claim accrues when an "action could have been brought[.]" Id. Under California law, a claim accrues when a "wrongful act is done and the obligation or the liability arises[.]" Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Ass'n v. City of La Habra, 25 Cal.4th 809, 815, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 369, 23 P.3d 601 (2001).	Does a claim or cause of action accrue when an action could have been brought?
17879	Pioneer Roofing Co. v. Mardian Constr. Co., 152 Ariz. 455, 463 (Ct. App. 1986)	4	Accrual of cause of action means right to institute and maintain suit.	The accrual of a cause of action means the right to institute and maintain a suit.	Does cause of action arise when party has a right to file suit?
17880	Whitney v. Whitney, 316 Mass. 367, 370, 55 N.E.2d 601, 602 (1944)	2	Actual injury and not anticipated injury is the ground of legal recovery.	'Actual injury and not anticipated injury is the ground of legal recovery.' Daniels v. Newton, 114 Mass. 530, 539, 19 Am.Rep. 384.	Is actual injury and not anticipated injury the ground of legal recovery?
17882	Eck v. Godbout, 444 Mass. 724, 831 N.E.2d 296, 730 (Mass. 2005)	5	A claim arises at the time of the underlying incident giving rise to the claim.	A "claim" arises at the time of the "underlying incident" giving rise to the claim.	Does a claim arise at the time of the underlying incident?
17884	BARBER v. TADAYASU ABO, 186 F.2d 775, 777 (9th Cir. 1951)	5	Mere renunciation of one citizenship does not of itself create another, and it is only by the law of the nation of the successor citizenship that the renunciant may attain it.	Mere renunciation of one citizenship does not of itself create another. It is only by the law of the nation of the successor citizenship that the renunciant *778 may attain it.	Does mere renunciation of one citizenship create another?
17886	Stserba v. Holder, 646 F.3d 964, 973 (6th Cir. 2011)	16	It is within each state's domestic jurisdiction to decide who are its nationals.	"The basic rule under international law is that it is within each state's domestic jurisdiction to decide who are its nationals."	Is it within each states domestic jurisdiction to decide who its nationals are?
17890	Eckler v. Allen, 231 S.W.3d 379, 383 (Tenn. Ct. App. 2007)	1	Trial judges have the right to set and enforce deadlines.	Clearly, trial judges have the right to set and enforce deadlines.	Do trial judges have the right to set and enforce deadlines?
17897	Slater v. Jackson, 163 Ga. App. 342, 342 (1982)	1	Where no pretrial order is entered, pretrial proceedings end with commencement of trial proper and taking of evidence, and unfettered right to amend ceases and party may amend his pleading only by leave of court or by consent of adverse party. Code, S 81A-115.	In a case such as the one before us, where no pre-trial order is entered, "pre-trial proceedings end with the commencement of the trial proper and the taking of evidence. The unfettered right to amend ceases and a party may amend his pleading only by leave of court or by the consent of the adverse party.	When do pretrial proceedings end?
17898	Chavis v. Director, State Worker's Compensation Division, 924 S.W.2d 439, 446 (Tex. App. 1996)	13	Motion in limine is not valid substitute for objection or motion to strike.	A motion in limine is not a valid substitute for an objection or motion to strike.	Is a motion in limine a valid substitute for an objection or motion to strike?
17900	Rupp v. Transcon. Ins. Co., 627 F. Supp. 2d 1304, 1326 (D.Utah, 2008)	22	Under Utah law, subrogation must not work any injustice to the rights of others.	Furthermore, subrogation must not work any injustice to the rights of others.	Is it required that subrogation must not work any injustice to the rights of others?
17907	Compuserve Inc. v. Cyber Promotions, 962 F. Supp. 1015, 1024 (S.D. Ohio 1997)	6	Use of personal property exceeding consent is trespass. Restatement (Second) of Torts S 256.	The use of personal property exceeding consent is a trespass. City of Amsterdam v.	Can the use of personal property exceeding consent constitute a trespass?

17908	Konecny v. United States, 388 F.2d 59, 65 (8th Cir. 1967)	10	A cause of action accrues at the time when an action thereon can be commenced.	'A cause of action accrues at the time when an action thereon can be commenced.' Pettibone v.	Does a cause of action accrue at the time when an action thereon can be commenced?
17910	Coca-Cola Co. v. Harmar Bottling Co., 218 S.W.3d 671, 682 (Tex. 2006)	6	A statute will not be given extraterritorial effect by implication but only when such intent is clear.	We start with the principle that a statute will not be given extraterritorial effect by implication but only when such intent is clear.	Will a statute be given extraterritorial effect by implication?
17916	Hartford Life Ins. Co. v. Title Guarantee Co., 520 F.2d 1170, 1173 (D.C. Cir. 1975)	1	Right to sue did not accrue until plaintiff had a cause of action.	The right to sue did not accrue until the plaintiff had a cause of action.	Did right to sue accrue until plaintiff had a cause of action?
17917	Republic Ins. Co. v. Culbertson, 717 F. Supp. 415, 419 (E.D. Va. 1989)	2	Essential elements of a cause of action are a legal obligation, a breach, and consequential damage.	The essential elements of a cause of action are a legal obligation, a breach, and consequential damage.	Is occurrence of an injury essential for a cause of action?
17921	Com. Trading Co. v. Trade Bank & Tr. Co., 207 Misc. 510, 512, 137 N.Y.S.2d 339, 340-41 (Sup. Ct. 1954), rev'd, 286 A.D. 722, 146 N.Y.S.2d 570 (App. Div. 1955)	1	The free circulation of negotiable paper is to be encouraged and the law must be interpreted in that light.	It is axiomatic in a business society such as ours that the free circulation of negotiable paper is to be encouraged and the law must be 341 interpreted in that light.	How should the Negotiable Instrument Law be interpreted?
17925	Robinson v. Martel Enterprises, Inc., 337 So. 2d 698, 702 (Miss. 1976)	9	Waiver is conclusion of law, and facts constituting such excuse must be pleaded.	Waiver is a conclusion of law, and the facts constituting such excuse must be pleaded.	Should facts constituting waiver be pleaded?
17930	First Am. Title Ins. Co. v. Cumberland Cnty. Bank, 633 F. Supp. 2d 566, 583 (M.D. Tenn. 2009)	19	Under Tennessee law, burden is on party claiming subrogation to prove entitlement.	The burden is on the party claiming subrogation to prove an entitlement.	Is the burden on the party claiming subrogation to prove entitlement?
17931	Kofoed v. Industrial Com'n of Utah, 872 P.2d 484, 487 (Utah Ct. App. 1994)	5	Workers' compensation is centered on relationship between employer and employee.	Workers' compensation is centered on the relationship between employer and employee.	Is workers compensation centered on the relationship between the employer and employee?
17939	Crawford v. Cushman, 531 F.2d 1114, 1120 (2d Cir. 1976)	2	The military is subject to the Bill of Rights and its constitutional implications.	At the same time, a succession of cases in this circuit and others had reiterated the proposition that the military is subject to the Bill of Rights and its constitutional implications.	Is the military subject to the bill of rights and its constitutional implications?
17942	In re Spree.com Corp., 295 B.R. 762, 773 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2003)	11	Under Pennsylvania law, subrogation rights do not exist unless asserted by subrogee.	More importantly, subrogation rights do not exist unless asserted by the subrogee.	Do subrogation rights exist unless asserted by a subrogee?
17943	S.C. Nestel, Inc. v. Future Const., Inc., 836 N.E.2d 445, 452 (Ind. Ct. App. 2005)	16	Negligence and breach of contract do not supersede a waiver of subrogation.	And as noted in Midwestern, negligence and breach of contract do not supersede a waiver of subrogation.	Does negligence and breach of contract supersede a waiver of subrogation?
17945	Footlocker v. KK & J, 69 A.D.3d 481, 482, (N.Y. App. 2010)	3	Waiver of subrogation clauses are necessarily premised on the procurement of insurance by the parties.	Paul points out, waiver of subrogation clauses are "necessarily premised on the procurement of insurance by the parties"	Does a party need insurance to waive of subrogation clauses?

17946	In re Spree.com Corp., 295 B.R. 762, 772 (Bankr. E.D. Pa. 2003)	9	Under Pennsylvania law, subrogation is not self-executing, but is right which must be pursued with reasonable diligence by the alleged subrogee or it is lost.	To the contrary, subrogation is not self-executing. Rather, it is a right which must be pursued with "reasonable diligence" by the alleged subrogee or lost.	Can subrogation be self-executing?
17947	Noroton Props., LLC v. Lawendy, 154 Conn. App. 367, 372 (2014)	2	A "promissory note" is nothing more than a written contract for the payment of money, and, as such, contract law applies.	"A promissory note is nothing more than a written contract for the payment of money, and, as such, contract law applies.... The rules governing contract formation are well settled....	Is a promissory note a contract?
17950	Rodgers v. Rab Investments, Ltd., 816 S.W.2d 543, 548 (Tex. App. 1991)	13	Ouster of partner is sufficient expression of will to dissolve partnership; partnership continues to exist, at least for purposes of winding up, and only on termination of partnership does relationship end.	An ouster of a partner is a sufficient expression of will to dissolve the partnership. The partnership continues to exist, at least for the purposes of winding up. Only on termination of the partnership does the relationship end.	Is the ouster of a partner a sufficient expression of the will to dissolve the partnership?
17952	Vincent v. Vincent, 06-419 (La. App. 5 Cir. 10/31/06), 945 So. 2d 114, 115	3	An appeal is not the appropriate remedy to attempt to annul a consent judgment.	However, an appeal is not the appropriate remedy to attempt to annul a consent judgment.	Is an appeal the appropriate remedy to obtain relief from a consent judgment?
17956	Clark v. Elza, 286 Md. 208, 406 A.2d 922, 211 (Md. 1979)	1	Consent of the litigants cannot vest jurisdiction in an appellate court.	Nevertheless, the consent of the litigants cannot vest jurisdiction in an appellate court. Recently in Biro v.	Can the consent of the litigants vest jurisdiction in an appellate court?
17958	Antonuk v. United States, 445 F.2d 592, 594 (6th Cir. 1971)	3	Discretionary rulings by the Army are beyond the power of review of civilian courts.	On the contrary, recently decided cases have held unanimously that discretionary rulings by the Army are beyond the power of review of civilian courts.	Can discretionary rulings of an army be subject to judicial review?
17959	Caledonia National Bank v. McPherson, 116 Vt. 328, 75 A.2d 685, 328 (Vt. 1950)	6	In revoking or countermanding a check the drawer takes upon himself all consequences of his act.	In revoking or countermanding a check the drawer takes upon himself all the consequences of his act.	Do the consequences of revoking a check falls on the drawer?
17965	Romanus v. Biggs et al, 217 S.C. 77, 85 (1950)	1	Motions for nonsuit are not entertained or granted in suits in equity.	and motions for nonsuit not being entertained or granted in suits in equity,	Are motions for nonsuit entertained or granted in suits in equity?
17984	Gorney v. Gorney, 136 Ind. App. 96, 98 (1962)	1	Term "fraud" need not be used in the pleading if facts are alleged which show fraud.	It is a settled rule in this state that the term 'fraud' need not be used in the pleading if facts are alleged which show fraud.	Should the term fraud be used in the pleading?
17985	Sigala v. Anaheim City Sch. Dist., 15 Cal. App. 4th 661, 671, 19 Cal. Rptr. 2d 38, 43 (1993)	3	Major purpose of settlement conference is not to "clear the docket," but to achieve justice.	We hasten to add that the major purpose of a settlement conference is not to "clear the docket," but to achieve justice.	What is the Major purpose of settlement conference?
17990	Pitcher v. Laird, 421 F.2d 1272, 1278 (5th Cir. 1970)	3	Army cannot apply regulations in arbitrary or capricious manner.	Once regulations have been provided, however, the Army cannot apply them in an arbitrary or capricious manner.	Is the Army allowed to apply regulations in an arbitrary or capricious manner?
17991	Reed v. Franke, 187 F. Supp. 905, 910 (E.D. Va. 1960)	9	The Armed Forces are free to regulate their internal affairs.	It is a well-settled principle of law that the Armed Forces are free to regulate their internal affairs.	Are the armed force free to regulate their internal affairs?

17992	L-3 Commc'ns EOTech v. United States, 85 Fed. Cl. 667, 677 (2009)	19	Courts are especially deferential to discretionary decisions of the military in times of war.	Furthermore, courts are especially deferential to discretionary decisions of the military in times of war.	Are the courts deferential to military decisions?
17993	Koch v. Seventh St. Realty Corp., 205 Va. 65, 71 (1964)	5	Facts out of which fraud arises must be alleged as well as proved to justify relief on that ground.	Fraud is a conclusion of law from facts, and 'it is a well settled rule of pleading, both at law and in equity, that the facts out of which the fraud arises must be alleged as well as proved to justify relief on that ground.'	Is fraud a conclusion of law from facts?
17995	Allen v. Samuels, 204 Cal. App. 2d 710, 714-15, 22 Cal. Rptr. 528, 530 (Ct. App. 1962)	3	A pretrial conference order, where inconsistent with complaint, will supersede the complaint.	The pretrial conference order, where inconsistent *715 with the complaint, will supersede the complaint.	"Will a pretrial conference order, where inconsistent with a complaint, supersede the complaint?"
18003	Jensen v. Henneford, 185 Wash. 209, 217, 53 P.2d 607, 610 (1936)	2	Legislative body cannot change real nature and purpose of act by giving it a different title or by declaring its nature and purpose to be otherwise.	But the legislative body cannot change the real nature and purpose of an act by giving it a different title or by declaring its nature and purpose to be otherwise, any more than a man can transform his character by changing his attire or assuming a different name.	Is the character of a tax determined by its name?
18004	Cooper v. City of Charleston, 218 W. Va. 279, 624 S.E.2d 716, 285 (W. Va. 2005)	3	The character of a tax is determined not by its label, but by analysis of its operation and effect.	The character of a tax is determined not by its label but by analyzing its operation and effect.	Is the character of a tax determined by analysis of its operation and effect?
18009	City of North Little Rock v. Graham, 278 Ark. 547, 647 S.W.2d 452, 548 (Ark. 1983)	1	"Taxes" are enforced burdens exacted pursuant to statutory authority.	Taxes are enforced burdens exacted pursuant to statutory authority.	Are taxes exacted pursuant to statutory authority?
18015	Rehman v. ECC International Corp., 698 So. 2d 921, 923 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1997)	5	Voluntary dismissal terminates pending action instantaneously.	A voluntary dismissal terminates a pending action instantaneously.	Does voluntary dismissal terminate pending action instantaneously?
18016	Juengain v. Tervalon, 223 So. 3d 1174, 1186 (La. Ct. App. 2017)	19	A dismissal without prejudice is considered as if the suit has never been filed.	A dismissal without prejudice is considered as if the suit has never been filed; hence, any new suit that Mr.	"Is an action treated as if it never had been filed, following a voluntary dismissal without prejudice?"
18022	Merchants Nat. Bank of Aurora v. Frazier, 329 Ill. App. 191, 201 (Ill. App. Ct. 1946)	5	An agent, as such, does not have title to the property of the principal, though he may be intrusted with possession and though he may have power to pass title.	An agent as such does not have title to the property of the principal, although he may be entrusted with possession and although he may have power to pass title; a trustee has title to the trust fund.	Does Agent have title to the property of the principal?
18027	Potter v. Tucker, 11 Ala. App. 466, 469 (Ala. Ct. App. 1914)	5	Date in general is not essential to a bill or note; if there be no date it will be considered as dated at the time it was made.	"Date in general is not essential to a bill or note. If there be no date, it will be considered as dated at the time it was made."	How is the actual date considered when no date is mentioned in a bill or note?
18028	Fleming, etc. v. Sierra, 14 Teiss. 168, 171 La.App.Orleans 1917)	3	When no date is expressed in the bill or note, it dates from the day when it was made or issued or from delivery.	"When no date is expressed in a bill or note, it dates from the day when it was made or issued or from delivery."	What happens when no date is expressed in the bill or note?

18030	Southern Ind. Gas v. Dept. of Highways, 533 N.E.2d 1289, 1293 (Ind. Ct. App. 1989)	6	In absence of statutory provision to the contrary, ownership of public highways lies in State.	Thus, in the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, ownership of public ways lies in the State. Lamphier v. State (1915), 59 Ind.App.	Does the ownership of the public way lie with the state?
18032	Caggiano v. Fontoura, 354 N.J. Super. 111, 804 A.2d 1193, 123 (App. Div. 2002)	3	While a voluntary dismissal may be a judgment, it is not necessarily a final judgment; the additional inquiry must be whether the stipulation of dismissal ended the case on all issues as to all parties. R. 2:2-3(a)(1); R. 4:37-1(b).	While a voluntary dismissal may be a judgment, it is not necessarily a final judgment. The additional inquiry must be whether the stipulation of dismissal ended the case on all issues as to all parties.	"While a voluntary dismissal may be a judgment, is it necessarily a final judgment?"
18037	Ropo, Inc. v. City of Seattle, 67 Wash. 2d 574, 579 (1965)	8	Character of a particular tax is not determined by the mode adopted for its payment.	The character of a particular tax is not determined by the mode adopted for its payment.	Is the character of a tax being imposed determined by mode adopted in fixing its amount?
18040	Ivory v. Int'l Bus. Machines Corp., 116 A.D.3d 121, 129, 983 N.Y.S.2d 110, 116 (2014)	9	The elements of a trespass cause of action are an intentional entry onto the land of another without permission.	On the merits, a trespass claim represents an injury to the right of possession (see 104 N.Y. Jur. 2d, Trespass, § 10 at 471), and the elements of a trespass cause of action are an intentional entry onto the land of another without permission (see Phillips v. Sun Oil Co., 307 N.Y. 328, 331, 121 N.E.2d 249 [1954]; Hand v. Stray Haven Humane Socy. & S.P.C.A., Inc., 21 A.D.3d 626, 628, 799 N.Y.S.2d 628 [2005])	What does a trespass claim represent?
18051	Pope v. United States, 15 Cl. Ct. 218, 221 (1988)	3	Army has discretionary authority to choose whether to reinstate a reserve officer to active duty. 10 U.S.C.A. 55 681(a), 1211, 1211(a)(1, 2, 4).	Therefore, the court concludes that the Army has discretionary authority to choose whether or not to reinstate a reserve officer to active duty.	Does the Army have discretion in both releasing and reinstating a reserve officer from or to active duty?
18054	8182 Maryland Associates v. Sheehan, 14 S.W.3d 576, 581 (Mo. 2000)	6	Under common law, a partnership is dissolved by the admission of a new partner.	Under Missouri common law, a partnership is dissolved by the admission of a new partner.	Is a partnership dissolved upon admission of a new partner?
18065	Bogert v. Herrick, 37 Misc. 2d 907, 909, 236 N.Y.S.2d 512, 514 (Co. Ct.), aff'd, 19 A.D.2d 681, 241 N.Y.S.2d 449 (1963)	1	Matters of examinations before trial are matters of practice and are not jurisdictional in nature.	In our opinion, matters of examinations before trial are matters of practice and are not jurisdictional in nature.	Are matters of examinations before trial matters of practice and are not jurisdictional in nature?
18066	Aydin Co. Exchange v. Marting Realty, 118 Ohio App. 3d 274, 279 (Ohio Ct. App. 1997)	5	It is not necessary that trial court give reasons for refusing a continuance.	"[W]e do not believe that it is necessary that a court give reasons for refusing a continuance.	Is it necessary for a court to give reasons for refusing a continuance?
18068	Wissam Abdullateff Sa'eed Al-Quraishi v. Nakhla, 728 F. Supp. 2d 702, 718 (D. Md. 2010)	7	Courts of the United States have traditionally been open to nonresident aliens.	"The courts of the United States have traditionally been open to nonresident aliens."	Are the courts of the United States open to aliens?

18078	Bailey v. Iowa Beef Processors, Inc., 213 N.W.2d 642, 647 (Iowa 1973)	7	Motion to dismiss admits only well pleaded facts; conclusions of law or conclusions of fact are not allowed except where underlying facts are first alleged. 58 I.C.A. Rules of Civil Procedure, rule 111.	We have consistently held a motion to dismiss (a demurrer in earlier cases) admits only Well pleaded facts. Conclusions of law or conclusions of fact have not been allowed except where underlying facts are first alleged.	Will a motion to dismiss admit only well pleaded facts?
18081	Trina Solar US, Inc. v. JRC-Servs. LLC, 229 F. Supp. 3d 176, 185 (S.D.N.Y. 2017)	12	Under New York law, an agent binds his principal when he enters into a contract within the scope of his authority.	JRC Was Acting As Jasmin's Agent When It Executed the PV Module Sales Contract [12] [13] "It is black letter law that an agent binds his principal when he enters into a contract within the scope of his authority.	"Can a contract made by an agent, be considered the principals contract?"
18087	Thompson v. Bank of Am., N.A., 773 F.3d 741, 749 (6th Cir. 2014)	7	Under Tennessee law, assignment of a note is enforceable regardless of whether it is recorded.	An assignment of a note is enforceable regardless of whether it is recorded.	Is an assignment of note enforceable regardless of whether it is recorded?
18088	Roob v. Von Bereghshasy, 866 S.W.2d 765, 766 (Tex. App. 1993)	2	Trial court has no discretion to reject uncontroverted facts set out by party in a sworn motion for continuance.	The trial court has no discretion to reject uncontroverted facts set out by a party in a sworn motion for continuance.	Does a trial court lack the discretion to reject the uncontroverted facts established in a party's first motion for continuance?
18089	Capobianco v. United Wire Supply Corp., 83 R.I. 405, 117 A.2d 4362, 408 (R.I. 1955)	1	On motion for continuance, burden of proof is on moving party.	On a motion for a continuance the burden of proof is on the moving party.	Is the burden of proof on the moving party on motion for continuance?
18094	AIAN, SEAN, KOULE, INC. v. S/V "CORSTA V, 286 F. Supp. 2d 1367, 1374-75 (S.D. Ga. 2003)	12	Under the federal common law of agency, one event that conveys notice of a termination of apparent authority to a third party is the termination of the agent's employment.	One event that conveys notice of the termination of apparent authority to a third party is the termination of the agent's employment.	Does apparent authority terminate when a third party has notice of termination?
18097	People v. Henderson, 138 Cal. App. 2d 505, 509, 292 P.2d 267, 269 (1956)	7	Burglariious intent may be inferred from the forcible and unlawful entry alone. West's Ann.Pen.Code, S 459.	Indeed, burglariious intent could be inferred from the forcible and unlawful entry alone.	Can intent to commit burglary be inferred from forcible entry?
18098	Messmer v. St. Farm Cty. Mut, 972 S.W.2d 774, 779 (Tex. App. 1998)	7	Plaintiff's right to nonsuit is absolute and trial judge has no discretion to refuse to grant dismissal.	The plaintiff's right to a non-suit is absolute and the trial judge has no discretion to refuse to grant a dismissal.	Is the right to nonsuit absolute?
18104	In re Monetary Group, 2 F.3d 1098, 1105 (11th Cir. 1993)	9	Partners are liable to each other for fruits of misappropriated partnership property.	Thus, partners are liable to each other for the fruits of misappropriated partnership property.	Are partners liable to each other for the fruits of misappropriated partnership property?
18110	FFP Marketing Co. v. Long Lane Master Trust IV, 169 S.W.3d 402, 409 (Tex. App. 2005)	4	Negotiation or assignment can change ownership of a promissory note.	While negotiation or assignment can change ownership of a promissory note, 19 the endorsement of a non- negotiable promissory note does not create a presumption of ownership in the transferee.	Can negotiation or assignment change ownership of a promissory note?
18111	Phoenix Assur. Co. v. Davis, 126 N.J. Super. 379, 386 (Law Div. 1974)	3	Any negotiable instrument payable to payees jointly and not in the alternative may be assigned but not negotiated without endorsement of all payees.	Any negotiable instrument made payable to payees jointly and not in the alternative may be assigned, but not negotiated, without the endorsement of all payees.	Is endorsement of all payees necessary?

18114	Bundren v. Holly Oaks Townhomes Ass'n, Inc., 347 S.W.3d 421, 430 (Tex. App. 2011)	1	Texas follows a "fair notice" standard for pleading, which looks to whether the opposing party can ascertain from the pleading the nature and basic issues of the controversy and what testimony will be relevant. Vernon's Ann.Texas Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 47(a).	Texas follows a "fair notice" standard for pleading, which looks to whether the opposing party can ascertain from the pleading the nature and basic issues of the controversy and what testimony will be relevant.	Does the fair notice pleading standard serve to give the opposing party information to prepare a defense?
18119	Ludman v. Davenport Assumption High Sch., 895 N.W.2d 902, 917 (Iowa 2017)	18	A witness who is qualified by knowledge and experience can testify to a custom or usage's existence in a particular trade or business, and the testimony does not have to call for the opinion of the witness as an expert; instead, the record must establish the custom as a matter of fact, not as a matter of opinion.	A witness who is qualified by knowledge and experience can testify to a custom or usage's existence in a particular trade or business. McCrady, 254 Iowa at 861, 118 N.W.2d at 595. The testimony does not have to call for the opinion of the *918 witness as an expert. Gibson v. Shelby Cty. Fair Ass'n, 246 Iowa 147, 153, 65 N.W.2d 433, 437 (1954). Instead, the record must establish the custom as a matter of fact, not as a matter of opinion.	Do customs exist only as a matter of fact?
18121	Reich v. Lopez, 858 F.3d 55, 63 (2d Cir. 2017)	18	Owning property in forum does not alone establish domicile; one may have more than one residence in different parts of country or world, but person may have only one domicile.	Owning property in a forum does not alone establish domicile. "One may have more than one residence in different parts of this country or the world, but a person may have only one domicile."	Can a person have only one domicile?
18126	Beggs v. Brooker, 79 S.W.2d 642, 643 (Tex.Civ.App. 1934)	6	Right of application of partnership assets to partnership debts is right which partners themselves have.	The right of application of partnership assets to partnership debts is a right which *644 partners themselves have.	Do the partners have the right of application of partnership assets to partnership debts?
18127	Farrell v. Theriault, 464 A.2d 188, 191 (Me. 1983)	1	Motion for continuance should be filed promptly after need for continuance arises. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 40(b).	A motion for continuance should be filed promptly after the need for a continuance arises.	Should a motion for continuance be filed promptly after the need for continuance arises?
18131	Moore v. Mitchell, 30 F.2d 600, 602 (2d Cir. 1929)	4	Enforcement of revenue laws rests on force and authority, not on consent.	The enforcement of revenue laws rests, not on consent, but on force and authority.	Do enforcement of revenue laws rest on consent?
18133	W.S. Butterfield Theatres, Inc. v. Dep't of Revenue, 353 Mich. 345, 353, 91 N.W.2d 269, 273 (1958)	5	Power of taxation is fundamental to very existence of government of the state.	The power of taxation is fundamental to the very existence of the government of the states.	Is the power of taxation fundamental to the existence of government of the state?
18136	Gustafson v. Riggs, 10 Ariz. App. 74, 75 (1969)	3	Taxes fall naturally into three classifications: (1) capitation or poll taxes, (2) taxes on property, (3) excises.	Taxes fall naturally into three classifications: (1) capitation or poll taxes, (2) taxes on property and (3) excises.	What are three classifications of taxes?
18138	Murray v. Albert Lea Home Investment Co., 202 Minn. 62, 65 (1938)	1	A custom, no matter how well established, will not be recognized if it is contrary to common sense.	But in any case a custom, however well established, will not be recognized if it is contrary to common sense.	Will a custom be recognized if it is contrary to common sense?
18139	Walker v. United States, 2007-NMSC-038, ¶ 46, 142 N.M. 45, 58, 162 P.3d 882, 895	14	Customary practice is irrelevant when inconsistent with New Mexico law.	In addition to the fact that custom does not support the Walkers' claim, we recently held that customary practice is irrelevant when inconsistent with New Mexico law.	Is a customary practice irrelevant when inconsistent with law?

18140	PLM, Inc. v. Consolidated Rail Corp., 490 F. Supp. 194, 197 (E.D. Pa. 1980)	7	Under Pennsylvania law, custom which conflicts with a statute or rule of law is void.	Under Pennsylvania law a custom that conflicts with a statute or rule of law is said to be "void".	"If a custom conflicts with a statute or rule of law, then is it void?"
18150	Semenza v. Kniss, 329 Mont. 115, 120 (2005)	9	Special appearance is not required to contest personal jurisdiction; party may challenge a court's personal jurisdiction simply by raising the issue in its initial response to a claim. Rules Civ.Proc., Rule 12.	However, a special appearance is no longer required to contest personal jurisdiction, as "Rule 12, M.R.Civ.P., abolished the distinction between special and general appearances." Knoepke v. Southwestern Railway Co. (1980), 190 Mont. 238, 243, 620 P.2d 1185, 1187. Hence a party may challenge a court's personal jurisdiction simply by raising the issue in its initial response to a claim.	Does the rule permitting motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction (Rule 12 M.R.Civ.P.) effectively abolish the distinction between general and special appearances?
18151	Bologna v. Schlanger, 995 So. 2d 526, 528 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2008)	2	Dismissal for fraud is warranted where it can be demonstrated, clearly and convincingly, that a party has sentiently set in motion some unconscionable scheme calculated to interfere with the judicial system's ability to impartially adjudicate a matter by improperly influencing the trier of fact or unfairly hampering the presentation of the opposing party's claim or defense.	Dismissal for fraud is warranted "where 'it can be demonstrated, clearly and convincingly, that a party has sentiently set in motion some unconscionable scheme calculated to interfere with the judicial system's ability to impartially adjudicate a matter by improperly influencing the trier of fact or unfairly hampering the presentation of the opposing party's claim or defense.' "	Is the dismissal of a lawsuit for fraud on the court an extraordinary remedy to be utilized only when a deliberate scheme to subvert the judicial process has been clearly and convincingly proved?
18156	Gilreath v. Westgate Daytona, Ltd., 871 So. 2d 961, 967 (Fla. App. 2004)	8	An "ad valorem tax" is a tax assessed upon the value of property.	An ad valorem tax is a tax assessed upon the value of property.	"Is an ""ad valorem tax"" a tax assessed upon the value of property?"
18160	Ivax Corp. v. B. Braun of America, Inc., 286 F.3d 1309, 1318 (11th Cir. 2002)	10	Participating in litigation is not the only way to waive the right to arbitration.	[10] The district court is correct in assuming that participating in litigation is not the only way to waive the right to arbitration.	Is participating in litigation the only way to waive the right to arbitration?
18172	Scallan v. Marriott, 995 So. 2d 1066, 1068 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2008)	3	Although a trial court has discretion to dismiss a complaint for noncompliance with a court's discovery order, it is for the very reason that the trial judge is granted so much discretion to impose this severe sanction that it has been determined that an order for dismissal should contain an explicit finding of willful noncompliance.	Although a trial court has discretion to dismiss a complaint for noncompliance with a court order, "it is for the very reason that the trial judge is granted so much discretion to impose this severe sanction that we have determined that [an order for dismissal] should contain an explicit finding of willful noncompliance."	Does a trial court possess the discretion to dismiss a complaint when there is clear and convincing evidence that the plaintiff has committed fraud upon the court?
18173	Bd. of County Comm. v. Dist. Ct., 632 P.2d 1017, 1021 (Colo. 1981)	4	It is the substance of the action and not the form which controls the venue of case.	Even though the situs of the property affected by the land use regulations lies within Eagle County, it is the substance of the action and not the form which controls the venue of the case.	Is it the substance of the action or the form of the action which controls the venue of the case?

18178	Kadrmās v. Sauvageau, 188 N.W.2d 753, 754 (N.D. 1971)	1	Warranty deed which described land conveyed, and excepted and reserved one-half of minerals to grantors, conveyed surface and one-half of the minerals.	A warranty deed which describes the land conveyed, and excepts and reserves one-half of the minerals to the grantors, conveys the surface and one-half of the minerals.	"Does a general conveyance of land, without any exception or reservation of the minerals, carry with it the minerals as well as the surface?"
18184	Cal v. Forward Air Sols., Inc., 199 So. 3d 312, 314 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2016)	1	Trial court's entry of an order dismissing a complaint as a discovery sanction is reviewed for an abuse of discretion.	The trial court's entry of an order dismissing a complaint as a sanction is reviewed for an abuse of discretion.	Can a trial court dismiss a complaint as a sanction if it finds that a party has willfully disregarded a court order?
18192	Frye v. Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, Inc., 877 F.2d 396, 398 (5th Cir. 1989)	2	Despite strong federal policy favoring arbitration, right to arbitration may be waived.	Despite the strong federal policy favoring arbitration, the right to arbitration may be waived.	Can the right to arbitrate be waived?
18211	Larson-Hegstrom & Assocs., Inc. v. Jeffries, 145 Ariz. 329, 332, 701 P.2d 587, 590 (Ct. App. 1985)	2	"Valuable consideration" implies a benefit to promisor or detriment to promisee, and may consist of any benefit or detriment, not necessarily monetary.	In general, "valuable consideration" implies a benefit to the promisor or detriment to the promisee. Sapp v. Lifrاند, 44 Ariz. 321, 36 P.2d 794 (1934). Monetary consideration is not required; any benefit or detriment is sufficient, Mack v. Coker, 22 Ariz.App. 105, 523 P.2d 1342 (1974).	Does valuable consideration implies profit to the promisor and loss to promisee?
18213	Burkey v. United States, 25 Cl. Ct. 566, 575 (Cl.Ct.,1992)	2	The general rule that a straight mineral reservation did not include sand and gravel where the surface of the land was sand and gravel, could be overcome in a given case by an examination of the usage of the term in the vernacular of the mining world or world of commerce, or by consideration of what the particular parties contemplated.	The court observed that "It seems to be the general rule that where the surface of land is sand and gravel, a straight mineral reservation does not include the sand and gravel ..." Id., 270 P.2d at 192. The general rule can be overcome in a given case, however, by an examination of the usage of the term in the vernacular of the mining world or world of commerce, or by consideration of what the particular parties contemplated.	Are sand and gravel generally included within the definition of minerals in a reserved estate?
18214	Hanson v. Birmingham, 92 F. Supp. 33, 43 (N.D. Iowa 1950)	21	At common law, if parties have rights of partners they have duties imposed by law on partners.	If the parties have the rights of partners, they have the duties imposed by law on partners.	"If parties have the rights of partners, do they have the duties imposed by law on partners?"
18216	Wydel Assocs. v. Thermasol, Ltd., 452 F. Supp. 739, 742 (W.D. Tex. 1978)	10	Under Texas law, a contract cannot be adopted in part and rejected in part because act of ratification extends to entire contract.	A contract cannot be adopted in part and rejected in part because the act of ratification extends to the entire contract.	Can a contract be adopted and rejected in part?
18217	In re Grubin, 476 B.R. 699, 709 (E.D.N.Y. 2012)	8	Under New York law, once principal ratifies act of agent, the principal is bound as if he had authorized the act in first place. Restatement (Second) of Agency S 82; Restatement (Third) of Agency S 4.02(1).	Once a principal ratifies the act of an agent, the principal is bound as if s/he had authorized the act in the first place. Restatement (Second) of Agency 82; Restatement (Third) of Agency 4.02(1).	"If a principal ratifies the acts of his agent, is he responsible for those acts?"
18222	Adams v. United States, 117 Fed.Cl. 628, 671 (Fed.Cl., 2014)	7	Interpretive doubt regarding the reading of a statute pertaining to veterans is to be resolved in the veteran's favor.	The court also notes that "interpretive doubt" regarding the reading of a statute pertaining to veterans "is to be resolved in the veteran's favor."	Should statutes benefiting veterans be construed in the veterans' favor?

18223	Standard Furniture Co. v. Smith, 32 F.2d 176, 178 (8th Cir. 1929)	3	Bills and notes founded on illegal consideration cannot be enforced.	Bills and notes are not excepted from the well-established rule that contracts founded on an illegal consideration cannot be enforced.	Can bills and notes founded on illegal consideration be enforced?
18232	In re Weisband, 427 B.R. 13, 22 (Bankr. D. Ariz. 2010)	21	Under Arizona law, if a note is endorsed in blank, it is enforceable as a bearer instrument.	Moreover, if a note is endorsed in blank, it is enforceable as a bearer instrument.	Is a note endorsed in blank enforceable as a bearer instrument?
18240	AFSCME Council 25 v. Faust Pub. Libr., 311 Mich. App. 449, 459, 875 N.W.2d 254, 259 (2015)	10	In general, parties are permitted to plead inconsistent claims and facts in the alternative. MCR 2.111(A)(2).	In general, parties are permitted to plead inconsistent claims and facts in the alternative. See MCR 2.111(A)(2).	Can a party plead inconsistent claims?
18249	Curiano v. Suozzi, 63 N.Y.2d 113, 117, 469 N.E.2d 1324, 1327 (1984)	7	Prima facie tort may be pleaded in the alternative with a traditional tort.	While prima facie tort may be pleaded in the alternative with a traditional tort, once a traditional tort is established the cause of action for prima facie tort disappears (Board of Educ. v. Farmingdale Classroom Teachers Assn., 38 N.Y.2d 397, 406, 380 N.Y.S.2d 635, 343 N.E.2d 278, supra)	Can prima facie tort be pleaded in the alternative?
18250	L.D.G., Inc. v. Robinson, 290 P.3d 215, 218 (Alaska 2012), as modified (Mar. 12, 2013)	2	When reviewing an order granting a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, the Supreme Court deems all facts alleged in the complaint true and provable.	"We review de novo an order dismissing a complaint ... for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted." When reviewing such an order, we deem all facts alleged in the complaint true and provable.	Is a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim looked upon with disfavour?
18254	Ware v. Multibank 2009-1 RES-ADC Venture, LLC, 327 Ga. App. 245, 252, 758 S.E.2d 145, 151 (2014)	9	An "allonge" is a piece of paper attached to a promissory note on which parties write endorsements for which there is no room on the instrument itself.	¹⁴ "An allonge is a piece of paper attached to a promissory note on which parties write endorsements for which there is no room on the instrument itself." (Citation omitted.) Milestone v. David, 251 Ga.App. 832, 832, n. 1, 555 S.E.2d 163 (2001).	What is an Allonge?
18261	Finn v. Meighan, 325 U.S. 300, 65 S. Ct. 1147, 303 (1945)	5	"Insolvency" in the equity sense means an inability of debtor to pay his debts as they mature.	Moreover, insolvency in the equity sense has always meant an inability of the debtor to pay his debts as they mature.	What does the term insolvency mean in the equity sense?
18265	Trail Clinic v. Bloch, 114 Mich. App. 700, 319 N.W.2d 638, 705 (Mich. Ct. App. 1982)	2	Checks are considered to be property of designated payee and may be subject of a suit for conversion.	Checks are considered to be the property of the designated payee and may be the subject of a suit for conversion.	Are checks the property of the payee?
18267	J.P. Morgan Delaware v. Onyx Arabians II, Ltd., 825 F. Supp. 146, 150 (W.D. Ky. 1993)	4	Under Kentucky law, secured party has burden to show that it acted with commercial reasonableness.	In Kentucky, a secured party has the burden to show that it acted with commercial reasonableness.	Who has the burden to prove the commercial reasonableness of an act under a contract?

18270	Nationstar Mortg., LLC v. MacPherson, 56 Misc. 3d 339, 344, 54 N.Y.S.3d 825, 831 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 2017), abrogated by Bank of New York Mellon v. Dieudonne, 171 A.D.3d 34, 96 N.Y.S.3d 354 (2019)	8	Where the note is endorsed in blank, it may be negotiated by delivery alone. McKinney's Uniform Commercial Code SS 3-202(1), 3-204(2).	" 'Bearer' means ... a person in possession of a negotiable instrument" (UCC 1-201[b][5]), and where the note is endorsed in blank, it may be negotiated by delivery alone (see UCC 3-202[1], 3-204 [2]).	"When a note is endorsed in blank, can it be negotiated by delivery alone?"
18271	Kelly v. Central Bank, 794 P.2d 1037, 1042 (Colo. App. 1989)	7	"Indorsement" means the indorser's writing of his or her signature on an instrument or affixing of the indorser's name or some designation identifying the indorser on the instrument, and a check simply inscribed for deposit only to an account other than payee's account and without the payee's signature is not an effective "indorsement.".	The term "indorsement" is generally understood to mean the indorser's writing of his or her signature on the instrument or the affixing of the indorser's name or some designation identifying the indorser on the instrument. La Junta State Bank v. Travis, 727 P.2d 48 (Colo.1986). A check simply inscribed "For deposit only" to an account other than payee's account and without the payee's signature is not an effective "indorsement."	Does the word indorsement mean transfer upon the instrument?
18278	Uniprop, Inc. v. Morganroth, 260 Mich. App. 442, 678 N.W.2d 638, 448 (Mich. Ct. App. 2004)	7	Principal has the right to control the conduct of his agent with respect to the matters entrusted to the agent.	The principal has the right to control the conduct of his agent with respect to the matters entrusted to him.	Can a principal control the conduct of an agent?
18286	Johnson v. Univ. of Iowa, 408 F. Supp. 2d 728, 747-48 (S.D. Iowa 2004)	28	Public university need not articulate its reasons for establishing a policy.	By extension, a public university *748 need not articulate its reasons for establishing a policy. Inclusion of a purpose statement in a policy does not change the fact that the policy, like most legislative acts, is the product of multiple, discrete purposes acting in concert to reach a final result.	Should a university articulate its reasons for establishing a policy?
18297	Watson v. McCabe, 527 F.2d 286, 289 (6th Cir. 1975)	10	In Tennessee, person seeking to charge an alleged principal with acts of an agent has burden of proving agency.	The person seeking to charge an alleged principal with the acts of an agent has the burden of proving agency.	Does an agency agreement have to be in writing?
18298	Jay v. Dollarhide, 3 Cal. App. 3d 1001, 1022, 84 Cal. Rptr. 538, 551 (Ct. App. 1970), disapproved of by Morris v. Thogmartin, 29 Cal. App. 3d 922, 105 Cal. Rptr. 919 (Ct. App. 1973)	17	Generally, power of attorney is terminated by the death of either the one granting the power or the one receiving.	It is the general rule that a power of attorney, being an agency, is terminated by the death of either the one granting the power or of the one receiving it.	Can death of either principal or agent terminate the relationship?
18300	Merchants Nat. Bank of Aurora v. Frazier, 329 Ill. App. 191, 201 (Ill. App. Ct. 1946)	5	An agent, as such, does not have title to the property of the principal, though he may be intrusted with possession and though he may have power to pass title.	An agent as such does not have title to the property of the principal, although he may be entrusted with possession and although he may have power to pass title; a trustee has title to the trust fund.	Does an agent have title to the property of the principal?

18301	Matter of Craig Coal Min. Co., Inc., 33 B.R. 204, 209 (Bankr. W.D. Pa. 1983)	1	Where agent has authority to exercise discretion, exercise thereof will bind principal.	[1] [2] Where the agent has authority to exercise discretion, the exercise thereof will bind the principal.	"Does an agents exercise of discretion, bind the principal?"
18306	Edlund v. Bounds, 842 S.W.2d 719, 726 (Tex. App. 1992)	14	Rules of construction governing contracts are applicable to notes, and note must be construed as a whole.	It is well established in Texas that the rules of construction governing contracts are applicable to notes, and a note must be construed as a whole.	Does a note have to be construed as a whole?
18319	Myers v. Majors, 242 Ark. 326, 328 (Ark. 1967)	2	Courts regard substance of pleadings, rather than form.	We have stated many times that courts regard the substance of pleadings, rather than form, and we have also said that pleadings under the code are to be liberally construed.	"Do courts regard the substance of pleadings, rather than form?"
18323	Myers v. Moyars, 667 N.E.2d 1120, 1121 (Ind. Ct. App. 1996)	1	Standard of review for granting of motion to dismiss is twofold: all facts in complaint must be taken as true, and every reasonable inference and intendment must be drawn in plaintiff's favor from alleged facts.	Preclusion of 1983 Claim [1] [2] The standard of review for the granting of a motion to dismiss is twofold. All facts in the plaintiff's complaint must be taken as true, and every reasonable inference and intendment must be drawn in her favor from the alleged facts.	Is the standard of review for granting of motion to dismiss twofold?
18327	F.D.I.C. v. 32 Edwardsville, Inc., 873 F. Supp. 1474, 1480 (D. Kan. 1995)	7	Equal Credit Opportunity Act (ECOA) does not provide for invalidation of guaranty as remedy for ECOA violation. Consumer Credit Protection Act, SS 701(a)(1), 706(a-d), as amended, 15 U.S.C.A. SS 1691(a)(1), 1691e(a-d); 12 C.F.R. S 202.7(d)(1).	The ECOA does not provide for the invalidation of a guaranty as a remedy for an ECOA violation, and defensive use of the ECOA in this case is therefore impermissible.	Does the ECOA provide for the invalidation of a guaranty as remedy for an ECOA violation?
18334	Ex parte Edmonds, 383 S.W.2d 579, 581 (Tex. 1964)	4	Mere defect in pleadings does not make proceeding void, but pleadings may be subject to amendment after proper objection has been sustained.	A mere defect in pleadings does not make the proceedings void, as respondents contend. They may be subject to amendment after proper objection has been sustained.	Will a mere defect in pleadings make the proceedings void?
18342	Straw Pond Assocs., LLC v. Fitzpatrick, Mariano & Santos, P.C., 167 Conn. App. 691, 729 (2016)	47	Interpretation of pleadings is always a question of law for the court.	[T]he interpretation of pleadings is always a question of law for the court....	Is the interpretation of pleadings always a question of law for the court?
18352	N. L. R. B. v. Local 254, Bldg. Serv. Emp. Int'l Union, AFL-CIO, 359 F.2d 289, 291 (1st Cir. 1966)	3	Words harmless in themselves can take on sinister meaning in context in which they are used.	Words harmless in themselves can take on a sinister meaning in the context in which they are used.	"For the purposes of identifying a threat, can harmless words take on a sinister meaning?"
18360	Franklin v. St. Paul Fire Marine Ins. Co., 534 S.W.2d 661, 666 (Tenn. App. 1975)	6	Estoppel is available to protect right but not to create one.	Estoppel is available to protect a right but not to create one.	Is estoppel available to protect a right but not create one?
18361	First Investors Corporation v. Rayner, 738 So. 2d 228, 95 CA 614, 233 (Miss. 1999)	3	Equitable estoppel is a doctrine that is to be applied cautiously; it is to be used as a shield and not a sword.	Equitable estoppel is a doctrine that is to be applied cautiously. It is to be used as a shield and not a sword.	Is equitable estoppel a shield and not a sword?
18362	Black v. TIC Investment Corp., 900 F.2d 112, 115 (7th Cir. 1990)	2	Estoppel principles generally apply to all legal actions, and it is exception to that general rule to deny use of doctrine.	It should be noted at the outset that estoppel principles generally apply to all legal actions. It is an exception to that general rule to deny the use of the doctrine.	Do estoppel principles generally apply to all legal actions?

18363	State ex rel. Willcox v. Credit Suisse Sec. (USA) LLC, 140 A.D.3d 622, 623, 36 N.Y.S.3d 89, 90 (2016)	3	Complaint is properly dismissed if it is based on pure speculation.	A complaint is properly dismissed if it is "based on pure speculation" (HT Capital Advisors v. Optical Resources Group, 276 A.D.2d 420, 420, 715 N.Y.S.2d 837 [1st Dept.2000];	Is a complaint properly dismissed if it is based on pure speculation?
18365	La Chona, Llc. v. Aberra, 797 S.E.2d 895, 900 (2017)	3	A voluntary dismissal of a complaint without prejudice is not on the merits.	Additionally, a voluntary dismissal of a complaint without prejudice is not on the merits.	Is a voluntary dismissal of a complaint without prejudice not on the merits?
18366	Atkins v. Jester, 309 S.W.3d 418, 422-423 (Mo. Ct. App. 2010)	3	A dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice is deemed to be without prejudice.	The applicable *423 general rule is that "[a] dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice is deemed to be without prejudice."	Is a dismissal failing to indicate that it is with prejudice deemed to be without prejudice?
18367	Times Picayune Publishing Corp. v. Board of Supervisors, 845 So. 2d 599, 606 (La. Ct. App. 2003)	8	Once there has been a final judgment dismissing it, a claim ceases to be pending.	Therefore, once there has been a final judgment dismissing it, a claim ceases to be pending.	"Once there has been a final judgment dismissing it, does a claim cease to be pending?"
18369	Thrift Mart v. State Farm Fire Cas. Co., 251 Neb. 448, 558 N.W.2d 531, 448 (Neb. 1997)	5	Dismissal of cause of action is equivalent of discontinuance of it in court; rights of parties in cause of action are determined insofar as court rendering order of dismissal is concerned.	A dismissal of a cause of action is the equivalent of a discontinuance of it in the court. The rights of the parties in the cause of action are determined insofar as the court rendering the order of dismissal is concerned.	Is dismissal of cause of action equivalent of discontinuance of it in court?
18371	Heard v. Miles, 32 Tenn. App. 410, 418 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1949)	2	Principal and agent relationship is one of trust and confidence.	To hold otherwise would do violence to fundamental and well-settled principles of the law governing the relationship of principal and agent. This relationship is one of trust and confidence, and a real estate agent is a fiduciary.	"Is the relationship of principal and agent, one of trust and confidence?"
18374	Citibank South Dakota v. Santoro, 210 Or. App. 344, 150 P.3d 429, 349 (Or. Ct. App. 2007)	6	The law of contracts requires only evidence of mutual assent, whether that assent is expressed through an offer and an acceptance or is manifested by conduct.	[T]he law requires only evidence of 'mutual assent,' whether that assent is expressed through an offer and an acceptance or is manifested by conduct." Bennett v.	Can a party assent to a card member agreement by using a credit card?
18376	Commonwealth v. Ubilez, 43 N.E.3d 327, 88 Mass. App. Ct. 814, 333 (Mass. App. Ct. 2016)	9	To find a "breach of the peace," an act must at least threaten to have some disturbing effect on the public.	"To find a breach of the peace ... an act must at least threaten to have some disturbing effect on the public."	What does the term breach of the peace mean as an offense?
18379	Penn v. Aetna Casualty Surety Company, 719 A.2d 749, 750 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1998)	1	Fidelity bond is a contract of insurance, and the rules of interpretation of insurance policies apply.	A fidelity bond is a contract of insurance, and the rules of interpretation of insurance policies apply.	Are fidelity bonds a contract of insurance?
18385	Bird v. Kornman, 152 S.W.3d 154, 161 (Tex. App. 2005)	10	A dismissal for want of prosecution is not a decision on the merits and should not be with prejudice.	For example, a dismissal for want of prosecution is not a decision on the merits and should not be with prejudice.	Is a dismissal for want of prosecution a decision on the merits and should it be with prejudice?

18392	In re Greenfield Direct Response, Inc., 171 B.R. 848, 855 (N.D. Ill. 1994)	13	Under Illinois law, word "agent" is broader than word "broker" and more comprehensive in its legal scope; while every broker is in a sense an agent, every agent is not a broker.	The word "agent" is broader than the word "broker" and more comprehensive in its legal scope; while every broker is in a sense an agent, every agent is not a broker.	Can every agent be considered as a broker?
18394	Robinson v. Quicken Loans Inc., 988 F. Supp. 2d 615, 637 (S.D.W. Va. 2013)	39	The burden of proving an agency relationship under West Virginia law rests upon him who alleges the existence of the agency; however, once a prima facie showing of the agency relationship has been made, a principal denying agency must show that the principal neither controlled, nor had the right to control, the alleged agent's work.	"[T]he burden of proving an agency [relationship] rests upon him who alleges the existence of the agency." However, once a prima facie showing of the agency relationship has been made, "a principal denying agency must show that the principal neither controlled, nor had the right to control, the [alleged agent's] work...."	Who has the burden of proving the agency relationship?
18396	League of United Latin American Citizens v. Wilson, 908 F. Supp. 755, 768 (C.D. Cal. 1995)	11	Since power to regulate immigration is unquestionably exclusively federal power, any state statute which regulates immigration is constitutionally proscribed.	Since the "[p]ower to regulate immigration is unquestionably exclusively a federal power," id. at 354, 96 S.Ct. at 936, any state statute which regulates immigration is "constitutionally proscribed."	Is every state enactment which in any way deals with aliens considered a regulation of immigration?
18400	Groton v. Yankee Gas Services Co., 224 Conn. 675, 620 A.2d 771, 685-686 (Conn. 1993)	7	Grant of a nonexclusive franchise does not carry with it right to be free from competition from another entity that has been granted a valid franchise; however, it does embody right to be free from unauthorized competition, and if party enters franchisee's territory without such authorization, injunction is proper remedy.	The grant of a nonexclusive franchise does not carry with it the right to be free from competition from another entity that has been granted a valid franchise. It does, however, embody a right to be free from unauthorized *686 competition, and if a party enters a franchisee's territory without such authorization, an injunction is a proper remedy.	What are nonexclusive franchises?
18406	Fort Bragg Unified Sch. Dist. v. Solano Cty. Roofing, 194 Cal. App. 4th 891, 910 (2011)	9	Whereas insurance protects the principal against risk, a performance bond protects the obligee against the principal's default; there will seldom be overlapping coverage between such a bond, which guarantees performance of a contract, and the contractor's liability insurance policy, which indemnifies the contractor from injury claims based on negligence or accident.	Whereas insurance protects the principal against risk, the performance bond protects the obligee against the principal's 159 default. There will seldom be overlapping coverage between such a bond, which guarantees performance of a contract, and the contractor's liability insurance policy, which indemnifies the contractor from injury claims based on negligence or accident.	How is a performance bond different from insurance?
18411	Baker v. McCue-Moyle Development Co., 695 S.W.2d 906, 911 (Mo. Ct. App. 1985)	4	Generally, each partner is at once a principal and agent of partnership and other partners in matters pertaining to partnership business.	Generally, each partner is at once a principal and an agent of the partnership and the other partners in matters pertaining to the partnership business.	"In a partnership, is each partner both a principal and an agent of the partnership?"

18412	McCann Real Equities v. David McDermott, 93 Conn. App. 486, 491 (Conn. App. Ct. 2006)	5	The right of a plaintiff to recover is limited to the allegations of his complaint.	"It is fundamental in our law that the right of a plaintiff to recover is limited to the allegations of his complaint.	Is the right of a plaintiff to recover limited to the allegations of his complaint?
18417	Home Builders Ass'n of Greater Des Moines v. City of W. Des Moines, 644 N.W.2d 339, 346 (Iowa 2002)	7	An "excise tax" is a tax imposed on a transaction or as a condition to the exercise of a privilege.	If the fee at issue here is determined to be a tax, it would fall within the category of an excise tax-a tax imposed on a transaction or as a condition to the exercise of a privilege.	"Is an ""excise tax"" a condition to the exercise of a privilege?"
18424	State v. Desirey, 909 S.W.2d 20, 34 (Tenn. Crim. App. 1995)	23	Offenses which overlap with the same intent can make concurrent sentencing appropriate.	We note that our supreme court has considered the fact that offenses which overlap with the same intent can make concurrent sentencing appropriate.	Are concurrent sentencing appropriate given overlapping offenses?
18425	Mazik v. Decision Making, Inc., 449 A.2d 202, 204 (Del. 1982)	3	Validity of a waiver depends upon totality of circumstances.	The validity of a waiver depends upon the totality of the circumstances.	Does the validity of a waiver depend upon the totality of the circumstances?
18428	S.E. C. v. Variable Annuity Co., 359 U.S. 65, 71 (1959)	6	In common understanding, "insurance" involves a guaranty that at least some fraction of benefits will be payable in fixed amounts.	For in common understanding 'insurance' involves a guarantee that at least some fraction of the benefits will be payable in fixed amounts.	Does insurance involve a guarantee?
18430	Wharff v. Iowa Methodist Hosp., 219 N.W.2d 18, 21 (Iowa 1974)	2	General policy in jurisdiction is to allow trial on the merits.	The general policy in this jurisdiction has been to allow trial on the merits.	Is the general policy in jurisdiction to allow trial on the merits?
18438	Tax Commissioners v. Jackson, 283 U.S. 527, 537 (1931)	1	Power of taxation is fundamental to very existence of government of several states.	The power of taxation is fundamental to the very existence of the government of the states.	Is the power of taxation fundamental to the very existence of the government of a state?
18445	Diocese of Winona v. Interstate F. Cas. Co., 89 F.3d 1386, 1392 (8th Cir. 1996)	5	It is fundamental premise that insurance policy protects insured from fortuitous loss.	A review of Minnesota and Eighth Circuit decisions recognizes the fundamental premise that an insurance policy protects an insured from fortuitous loss.	Does an insurance policy protect insured from fortuitous losses?
18446	Price v. Vattes, 161 S.W.3d 397, 400 (Mo. Ct. App. 2005)	6	Party asserting the existence of a partnership has the burden of proving a partnership.	The party asserting the existence of a partnership has the burden of proving a partnership.	Does the party asserting the existence of a partnership have the burden of proving a partnership?
18449	State ex Rel. Parish v. Young, 327 Mo. 909, 915 (Mo. 1931)	4	Power to levy and collect taxes is purely statutory.	The power to levy and collect taxes is purely statutory, and has been confided to the Legislature and not the courts.	Is the power to levy and collect taxes purely statutory?
18463	Aspen Investments Corp. v. Holzworth, 587 So. 2d 1374, 1377 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1991)	5	Conduct is not held to constitute "waiver" unless it does so clearly.	Conduct is not held to constitute a waiver unless it does so clearly.	Is conduct held not to constitute waiver unless it does so clearly?
18464	American Somax Ventures v. Touma, 547 So. 2d 1266, 1268 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1989)	5	Waiver does not arise merely from forbearance for reasonable time.	Furthermore, waiver does not arise merely from forbearance for a reasonable time.	Does waiver arise merely from a forbearance for a reasonable time?

18465	Alzado v. Blinder, 752 P.2d 544, 549 (Colo. 1988)	1	Guaranty agreement is not enforceable if the underlying obligation upon which it is based is void.	In general, a guaranty agreement is not enforceable if the underlying obligation upon which it is based is void.	Can a guaranty agreement be enforced if the principal obligation is invalid?
18478	Zimmerman v. Zimmerman, 175 Or. 585, 590, 155 P.2d 293, 295 (1945)	2	At common law, "residence" indicates merely a factual place of abode and is not synonymous with "domicile".	At common law, residence and domicile are not synonymous. Residence indicates merely a factual place of abode.	"Are the words ""inhabitant"" and ""resident"" not synonymous?"
18480	Hill v. Goodwin, 722 S.W.2d 668, 671 (Tenn. Ct. App. 1987)	2	Whether waiver is expressed or implied, it must be intentional.	However, whether the waiver is expressed or implied, it must be intentional.	Whether waiver is express or implied must it be intentional?
18481	Stowers v. Harper, 376 S.W.2d 34, 40 (Tex. Civ. App. 1964)	10	Intention is prime factor in determining question of waiver.	Intention is a prime factor in determining the question of waiver.	Is intention a prime factor in determining the question of waiver?
18482	In re Dena Corp., 312 B.R. 162, 163 (2004)	4	There cannot be a true lease where "lessor" has no ownership interest at end of lease term.	There cannot be a true lease where the "lessor" has no ownership interest at the end of the lease term.	Can there be a true lease when the lessor has no ownership interest?
18487	Blount v. State, 169 Ga. App. 215, 216 (Ga. Ct. App. 1983)	3	Mistrial is not per se acquittal barring second prosecution.	A mistrial is not per se an acquittal barring a second prosecution.	Is mistrial not per se an acquittal barring second prosecution?
18495	Torok v. Moore's Flatwork & Foundations, LLC, 106 A.D.3d 1421, 966 N.Y.S.2d 572, 2013 N.Y. Slip Op. 3898, 1421 (N.Y. App. Div. 2013)	8	No warranty attaches to the performance of a service; if the service is performed negligently, the cause of action accruing is for negligence, and, likewise, if it constitutes a breach of contract, the action is for that breach.	"No warranty attaches to the performance of a service. If the service is performed negligently, the cause of action accruing is for that negligence. Likewise, if it constitutes a breach of contract, the action is for that breach"	Does no warranty attach to the performance of a service?
18496	Aliya Medcare Finance, LLC v. Nickell, 156 F. Supp. 3d 1105, 1131 (C.D. Cal. 2015)	23	Under Nevada law, where only pecuniary loss results, liability for negligent misrepresentation is not based on general duty rules; rather, liability is only imposed on a party who has supplied false information, where that information is for the guidance of others and where the party knows that the information will be relied upon by a foreseeable class of persons.	This is because "where only pecuniary loss results, liability for negligent misrepresentation is not based on general duty rules"; instead, "[l]iability is only imposed on a party who has supplied false information, where that information is for the guidance of others and where the party knows that the information will be relied upon by a foreseeable class of persons."	"When economic loss occurs as a result of negligence in the context of commercial activity, can contract law be invoked to enforce the quality expectations derived from the parties' agreement?"
18504	Richard T. Blake & Assocs., Inc. v. Aetna Cas. & Sur. Co., 255 A.D.2d 569, 570–71, 681 N.Y.S.2d 73, 75 (1998)	3	Assignee stands in the shoes of the assignor and takes the assignment subject to any pre-existing liabilities.	It is well established that an assignee stands in the shoes of the assignor and takes the assignment subject to any pre-existing liabilities	Does an assignee stand in a better position than that of the assignor?
18508	In re Salcedo, 34 S.W.3d 862, 866 (Mo. Ct. App. 2001)	1	Right to appeal is purely statutory; where no statute grants such right, none exists.	The AG acknowledges the right to appeal is purely statutory; where no statute grants such a right, none exists.	"If there is no statutory right to appeal, can a right to appeal exist?"
18514	Associated Int'l Ins. Co. v. Scottsdale Ins. Co., 862 F.3d 508, 510 (5th Cir. 2017)	1	Texas courts recognize the subrogation doctrine to its fullest extent.	As we answer it in the first instance, we keep in mind the longstanding *510 principle of Texas courts to "recognize the [subrogation] doctrine ... to its fullest extent."	To what extent do courts recognize the subrogation doctrine?

18515	In re Katrina Canal Breaches Consol. Litigation, 629 F. Supp. 2d 601, 609 (E.D. La. 2009)	6	Cause of action for property damage arises under Louisiana law when damages are incurred; it is only once damages are incurred that cause of action is considered to have vested.	A cause of action for property damage arises when damages are incurred. It is only once the damages are incurred that the cause of action is considered to have vested.	Does a cause of action for property damage arise when damages are incurred?
18517	Merwin v. Ziebarth, 252 N.W.2d 193, 198 (N.D. 1977)	6	Concept of "ostensible partnership" is essentially equivalent to the concept of "partnership by estoppel" defined in statute. NDCC 45-06-08.	[6] The trial court found also that there was an "ostensible partnership" between Olson and Tenold. As we shall develop more fully, the concept of "ostensible partnership" is essentially equivalent to the concept of "partnership by estoppel" defined in Section 45-06-08, N.D.C.C.	Is ostensible partnership equivalent to the partnership by estoppel?
18518	Noroton Props., LLC v. Lawendy, 154 Conn. App. 367, 372 (Conn. App. Ct. 2014)	2	A "promissory note" is nothing more than a written contract for the payment of money, and, as such, contract law applies.	"A promissory note is nothing more than a written contract for the payment of money, and, as such, contract law applies....	Is a promissory note is a contract?
18519	Jarecki Mfg. Co. v. Merriam, 104 Kan. 646, 180 P. 224, 225 (1919)	2	Legislative body cannot change real nature and purpose of act by giving it a different title or by declaring its nature and purpose to be otherwise.	But the legislative body cannot change the real nature and purpose of an act by giving it a different title or by declaring its nature and purpose to be otherwise, any more than a man can transform his character by changing his attire or assuming a different name.	Is the character of a tax determined by its incidents?
18523	Baker Taylor v. Alphacraze.com Corp., 602 F.3d 486, 490 (2d Cir. 2010)	2	Federal Arbitration Act's proarbitration policy does not operate without regard to wishes of contracting parties. 9 U.S.C.A. S 1 et seq.	The Federal Arbitration Act's " 'proarbitration policy does not operate without regard to the wishes of the contracting parties.'	Is there anything irrevocable about an agreement to arbitrate?
18525	Kosmowski v. Atlantic City Medical Center, 175 N.J. 568, 575 (N.J. 2003)	5	The ultimate sanction of dismissal with prejudice should be imposed only sparingly.	Although the request for an adjournment is addressed to the trial judge's discretion, the ultimate sanction of dismissal with prejudice should be imposed "only sparingly."	Should the ultimate sanction of dismissal with prejudice be imposed only sparingly?
18528	Word of Life Christian Ctr. v. West, 2004-1484 (La. 4/17/06), 936 So. 2d 1226, 1232	3	Use tax applies when the transaction is consummated outside the taxing jurisdiction, and the goods are subsequently imported and used in the taxing jurisdiction.	The use tax applies when the transaction is consummated outside the taxing jurisdiction, and the goods are subsequently imported and used in the taxing jurisdiction.	Are sales and use taxes consumption taxes?
18534	State v. Young, 136 Idaho 113, 120 (2001)	20	An order granting a motion in limine is not a final order; the trial court can reconsider the issue at any time.	An order granting a motion in limine is not a final order. The trial court can reconsider the issue at any time.	Is a granted motion in limine a final order?
18536	Syscomm Intern. v. Synoptics Communications, 856 F. Supp. 135, 137 (E.D.N.Y. 1994)	1	Antitrust claims arising from domestic transactions are arbitrable.	Because Syscomm and SynOptics agree that the arbitration clause applies to Syscomm's antitrust claims against SynOptics, the issue presented is whether antitrust claims arising from domestic transactions are arbitrable where the parties have agreed to arbitrate them.	Are antitrust claims arising from domestic transactions arbitrable?

18537	Allstate Ins. Co. v. Palumbo, 109 Conn. App. 731, 952 A.2d 1235, 735 (Conn. App. Ct. 2008)	6	Equitable subrogation derives from the equitable principle against unjust enrichment.	Equitable subrogation "derives from the equitable principle against unjust enrichment...."	Does equitable subrogation derive from the equitable principle against unjust enrichment?
18541	O'Donnell v. Reivitz, 144 Wis. 2d 717, 724–25 (Ct. App. 1988)	4	"Tax" is an exaction, usually of money, by government to support government. W.S.A. Const. Art. 8, S 1.	We disagree. *725 [4] A tax is an exaction, usually of money, by the government to support the government.	"Is tax an exaction, usually of money, by government to support government? "
18542	Williams v. E. Coal Corp., 952 S.W.2d 696, 698 (Ky. 1997)	2	Workers' compensation is creature of statute, and remedies and procedures described therein are exclusive. KRS 342.011 et seq.	Workers' compensation is a creature of statute, and the remedies and procedures described therein are exclusive.	What is workers' compensation a creature of?
18547	Development Specialists, Inc. ex rel. Coudert Brothers LLP v. Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP, 480 B.R. 145, 155 (S.D.N.Y. 2012)	5	Under New York law, a partnership can dissolve for several different reasons, including an agreement by the partners to dissolve, the death of a partner, or the decision of a partner to withdraw. N.Y.McKinney's Partnership Law S 62.	Under the Partnership Law, a partnership can dissolve for several different reasons. Among them is an agreement by the partners to dissolve, the death of a partner, or the decision of a partner to withdraw. See Partnership Law 62	What can cause the dissolution of a partnership?
18548	Abdulaziz v. Metropolitan Dade County, 741 F.2d 1328, 1331 (11th Cir. 1984)	3	Diplomatic immunity can be waived by continuing to assert a claim while at same time seeking immunity from a counterclaim.	Diplomatic immunity can be waived by continuing to assert a claim while at the same time seeking immunity from a counterclaim.	Can diplomatic immunity be waived?
18551	Bel Air & Briney v. City of Kent, 190 Wash. App. 166, 358 P.3d 1249, 190 Wn. App. 166, 173 (Wash. Ct. App. 2015)	1	Subrogation is an equitable remedy, and is founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.	Subrogation is " 'an equitable remedy,' " and is " 'founded in the facts and circumstances of each particular case.' "	Does the application of equitable subrogation depend on the facts and circumstances of each case?
18554	In re Hamada, 291 F.3d 645, 649 (9th Cir. 2002)	6	There are various types of subrogation, that are most commonly categorized as conventional (or contractual) subrogation, legal (or equitable) subrogation, and statutory subrogation.	There are various types of subrogation, most commonly categorized as "conventional" or "contractual" subrogation, "legal" or "equitable" subrogation, and statutory subrogation.	What are the types of subrogation?
18558	Davidson v. Bugbee, 227 Mich. App. 264, 575 N.W.2d 574, 269 (Mich. Ct. App. 1997)	8	Cause of action accrues when all the elements of claim have occurred and can be alleged in proper complaint.	A cause of action accrues when all the elements of the claim have occurred and can be alleged in a proper complaint.	When does a cause of action accrue?
18559	Skopp v. Weaver, 16 Cal. 3d 432, 438, 546 P.2d 307, 311 (1976)	3	Allegations of a complaint must be construed liberally in favor of the pleader.	A basic rule commands us to construe the allegations of a complaint liberally in favor of the pleader.	Are allegations of a complaint construed liberally in favor of the pleader?
18560	In re Texas Ass'n of School Boards, Inc., 169 S.W.3d 653, 659 (Tex. 2005)	8	There is no premium due until risk attaches, and once risk has attached premiums have been earned and are non-returnable, absent a statutory or contract provision to the contrary.	As a result, there is no premium due until risk attaches, and once risk has attached premiums have been earned and are non-returnable, absent a statutory or contract provision to the contrary.	What is considered as the foundation of insurance?

18561	Esparza v. Scott and White Hlth. Plan, 909 S.W.2d 548, 551 (Tex. App. 1995)	2	Principal purpose of insurance contract is to protect insured from loss, thereby placing risk of loss on insurer.	The principal purpose of an insurance contract is to protect the insured from loss, thereby placing the risk of loss on the insurer.	What is the purpose of insurance?
18562	Burns v. California Fair Plan Assn., 152 Cal.App.4th 646, 61 Cal. Rptr. 3d 809, 653 (Cal. Ct. App. 2007)	8	The very meaning of the term indemnity excludes all idea of profit to the insured.	The very meaning of the term 'indemnity' excludes all idea of profit to the insured."	Does indemnity exclude profit to the insured?
18563	Conticommodity Services v. Philipp Lion, 613 F.2d 1222, 1224 (2d Cir. 1980)	1	Arbitration is intended to provide the parties to a dispute with a speedy and relatively inexpensive trial before specialists. 9 U.S.C.A. S 4.	Arbitration is intended to provide the parties to a dispute with a speedy and relatively inexpensive trial before specialists.	What is the intention of the Arbitration process?
18565	Hale v. Osborn Coal Enterprises, 729 So. 2d 853, 855 (Ala. App. 1999)	4	Zoning of property by municipality, being legislative in character, cannot be bargained or sold.	Zoning of property by a municipality being legislative in character cannot be bargained or sold.	Can zoning of property by a municipality be bargained?
18573	In re Estate of Stanford, 221 Ill. App. 3d 154, 154 (1991)	6	Where party was given notice, he cannot complain that others were not notified.	Where a party was given notice, he cannot complain that others were not notified.	Can a party who has received notice complain that the others were not notified?
18580	In re Wolverine Fire Apparatus Co. of Sherwood Michigan, 465 B.R. 808, 818 (Bankr. E.D. Wis. 2012)	9	Under Wisconsin law, every consignment involves a bailment of sorts, because goods are entrusted to a third party, but not every "bailment" is a "consignment."	Foremost, the Court must point out that while every "consignment" involves a "bailment" of sorts because goods are entrusted to a third party, not every "bailment" is a "consignment."	Is consignment a type of bailment?
18581	Voss v. State, 208 Miss. 303, 304-05, 44 So. 2d 402, 402 (1950)	1	There was no such offense in common law as embezzlement; and it is made such by statute, being a statutory larceny.	In Hampton v. State, 99 Miss. 176, 183, 54 So. 722, 723, it is said: 'There was no such offense at common law as embezzlement; it is made such by statute; it is a statutory larceny.'	Is embezzlement a common law offence?
18584	Kent v. State, 651 F. Supp. 2d 910, 962 (S.D. Iowa 2009)	61	Under Iowa law, defamation consists of twin torts of libel and slander.	Under Iowa law, defamation consists of the twin torts of libel and slander.	What are the twin torts under defamation?
18586	Abrams v. Stone, 154 Cal. App. 2d 33, 41, 315 P.2d 453, 458 (1957)	6	Statutes effecting changes in civil procedure or remedy may have valid retrospective application.	It is also well established that statutes effecting changes in civil procedure or remedy may have valid retrospective application	Can matters of venue operate retrospectively?
18588	Kirby v. N.C. Dep't of Transp., 239 N.C. App. 345, 360 (2015)	17	Rights of property are subject to such limitations as are demanded by the common welfare of society, and it is within the range and scope of legislative action to declare what general regulations shall be deemed expedient; this is very different from the right of eminent domain, the right of a government to take and appropriate private property to public use, whenever the public exigency requires it, which can be done only on condition of providing a reasonable compensation therefor. West's N.C.G.S.A. Const. Art. 1, S 19.	"Rights of property are subject to such limitations as are demanded by the common welfare of society, and it is within the range and scope of legislative action to declare what general regulations shall be deemed expedient." Id. "This is very different from the right of eminent domain, the right of a government to take and appropriate private property to public use, whenever the public exigency requires it, which can be done only on condition of providing a reasonable compensation therefor."	How is taking in relation to the eminent domain defined?

18596	Hill v. Hill, 262 A.2d 661, 663 (Del. Ch. 1970)	1	Law of situs of real property determines effect of actions involving its ownership.	It is well established that the law of the situs of real property determines the effect of actions involving its ownership.	What does the law of situs govern?
18599	Sarnoff v. Florida Department of Highway Safety & Motor Vehicles, 825 So. 2d 351, 354 (Fla. 2002)	1	A challenge to the facial constitutionality of a statute cannot be resolved by an administrative agency.	It is well accepted that a challenge to the facial constitutionality of a statute cannot be resolved by an administrative agency.	Do administrative agencies have the authority to determine the facial validity of a statute?
18602	Bank One, Tex., N.A. v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am., 939 F. Supp. 533, 542 (N.D. Tex. 1996)	11	"Holdover tenant" is one who continues to occupy leased premises after term has expired.	A holdover tenant is one who continues to occupy leased premises after the term has expired.	What is a holdover tenant?
18615	Wells v. Liddy, 1 F. Supp. 2d 532, 536 (D. Md. 1998), rev'd, 186 F.3d 505 (4th Cir. 1999)	2	In ordinary defamation cases it is appropriate under Maryland's lex loci doctrine presumptively to apply substantive defamation law of plaintiff's domicile, and it is only in atypical circumstances, such as where plaintiff's alleged injury is loss of business opportunities in state other than her domicile or where plaintiff has suffered humiliation by hearing defamatory remarks about her in state other than her domicile, that lex loci doctrine requires application of nondomiciliary law.	Therefore, in ordinary cases it is appropriate under the lex loci doctrine presumptively to apply the substantive defamation law of the plaintiff's domicile. It is only in atypical circumstances, such as where a plaintiff's alleged injury is a loss of business opportunities in a state other than her domicile or where the plaintiff has suffered humiliation by hearing defamatory remarks about her in a state other than her domicile, that the lex loci doctrine requires application of non-domiciliary law.	What is the law applicable to multi state defamation cases?
18620	Lund ex rel. Wilbur v. Pratt, 308 A.2d 554, 557 (Me. 1973)	2	Caption is no part of pleading, unless made so by express reference thereto in pleading itself.	The caption is no part of the pleading, unless made so by express reference thereto in the pleading itself.	Is the caption a part of the pleading?
18628	Hendrick v. Caldwell, 232 F. Supp. 3d 868, 879 (W.D. Va. 2017)	13	"A right of action" is the remedial right accorded to a person to enforce a cause of action and arises only when a person's rights are infringed.	"A right of action, on the other hand, 'is the remedial right accorded to a person to enforce a cause of action and arises only when a person's rights are infringed.' "	"What is a ""right of action""?"
18646	Aames Capital Corporation v. Interstate Bank, 315 Ill. App. 3d 700, 706 (Ill. App. Ct. 2000)	14	"Equitable subrogation" is a creature of chancery that is utilized to prevent unjust enrichment.	Equitable subrogation is a creature of chancery that is utilized to prevent unjust enrichment.	s equitable subrogation a creature of the common law?
18648	Holston River Elec. Co. v. Hydro Elec. Corp., 17 Tenn. App. 122, 66 S.W.2d 217, 217 (1933)	2	Electric companies are quasi public corporations subject to state's control.	These companies, as stated, are quasi public corporations, and hence subject to state control.	Are Electric companies termed as quasi-public corporations?
18650	Crown Wisteria, Inc. v. F.G.F. Enterprises Corp., 168 A.D.2d 238, 241, 562 N.Y.S.2d 616, 618 (1990)	3	Only party to proceeding complained of as malicious prosecution is entitled to maintain action for malicious prosecution.	Only a party to the proceeding complained of as a malicious prosecution is entitled to maintain an action for malicious prosecution	Who has the standing to bring a malicious prosecution action?
18654	Portland Valve, Inc. v. Rockwood Systems, 460 A.2d 1383, 1387 (Me. 1983)	3	Issue whether contract language is ambiguous is a question of law for the court.	The issue of whether contract language is ambiguous is a question of law for the Court.	Can ambiguity in the terms of the contract be determined by the court?

18657	State v. Winston, 71 Ohio App. 3d 154, 158 (1991)	2	No reviewable error results from denial of motion in limine unless proponent of evidence later offers it at trial, opponent then objects, and trial court erroneously overrules objection or mere asking of question creates unfair prejudice.	If the court denies the motion, no reviewable error results unless the proponent of the evidence later offers it at trial, the opponent then objects, and the court erroneously overrules that objection, or the mere asking of the question creates unfair prejudice.	Does the motion in limine ask the court to exclude the evidence unless and until the court is first shown that the material is relevant and proper?
18658	Casteel v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 66 Ark. App. 220, 989 S.W.2d 547, 223 (Ark. Ct. App. 1999)	3	There is no affirmative duty on a trial court that grants motion in limine to subsequently make evidentiary rulings on its own motion.	Furthermore, 549 there is no affirmative duty on a trial court to subsequently make evidentiary rulings on its own motion.	Is there an affirmative duty on a trial court that grants motion in limine to subsequently make evidentiary rulings on its own motion?
18663	Pac. Atl. S.S. Co. v. United States, 120 F. Supp. 753, 754 (D. Or. 1954)	1	Damages need not be liquidated before a cause of action can arise.	It is well established that damages need not be liquidated before a cause of action can arise.	Should damages be liquidated before a cause of action can arise?
18673	U.S. v. Noriega, 746 F. Supp. 1506, 1519 (S.D. Fla. 1990)	7	Under doctrine of head of state immunity, head of state is not subject to jurisdiction of foreign courts, at least as to official acts taken during ruler's term of office.	Grounded in customary international law, the doctrine of head of state immunity provides that a head of state is not subject to the jurisdiction of foreign courts, at least as to official acts taken during the ruler's term of office.	Does the Act of State doctrine address the court's permissible scope of inquiry into certain governmental acts?
18682	People v. Perez, 50 Cal. 4th 222, 230 (Cal. 2010)	3	The mental state required for attempted murder is the intent to kill a human being, not a particular human being.	We answered the inquiry affirmatively, explaining that, "The mental state required for attempted murder is the intent to kill a human being, not a particular human being."	Does murder require specific intent to kill?
18683	Davis v. Macon Telegraph Publishing Co., 93 Ga. App. 633, 92 S.E.2d 619, 633 (Ga. Ct. App. 1956)	1	It is libel per se to charge a person with offense of misdemeanor.	It is libel per se to charge a person with the offense of misdemeanor.	Is it libel per se to charge a person with misdemeanor?
18685	eBay, Inc. v. Bidder's Edge, Inc., 100 F. Supp. 2d 1058, 1069-1070 (N.D. Cal. 2000)	8	Under California law, in order to prevail on claim for trespass based on accessing computer system, plaintiff must establish: (1) defendant intentionally and without authorization interfered with plaintiff's possessory interest in computer system; and (2) defendant's unauthorized use proximately resulted in damage to plaintiff.	In order to prevail on a claim for trespass based on accessing a computer system, the plaintiff must establish: (1) defendant intentionally and without authorization *1070 interfered with plaintiff's possessory interest in the computer system; and (2) defendant's unauthorized use proximately resulted in damage to plaintiff.	Is an unauthorized electronic contact with a computer system that causes harm trespass?
18687	Republic Ins. Co. v. Culbertson, 717 F. Supp. 415, 419 (E.D. Va. 1989)	2	Essential elements of a cause of action are a legal obligation, a breach, and consequential damage.	The essential elements of a cause of action are a legal obligation, a breach, and consequential damage.	Does a cause of action arise until the injury occurs?

